ALUMNI AND THEIR ALMA MATER

William C. Hansen,
 President C.W.S.C.

An alumnus may be proud of his college because of the athletic victories it wins, or the endowments it receives, or its elaborate building program, or because of the prominence of some of its faculty members. All these factors can be important if viewed in their proper perspective. This is no attempt to belittle them, but we believe a graduate can look to his college for other satisfactions.

He should expect his college to maintain good standards of achievement on the part of its students. Its reputation in this area will always be a compliment to him as a graduate.

He should expect his college to maintain its collegiate integrity. It should be and do what it represents itself to be and do. How else can it build integrity in its students? How can it develop moral fiber and responsibility in its students if it does not itself possess these characteristics?

He should expect his college to make a constructive approach to its problems and to attempt to make that attitude a personal characteristic of its students. In a day when the successful technique seems to be to attack and vilify and intimidate, it is refreshing and encouraging to see someone with courage enough to use the other approach.

He should expect his college to be alert to the problems and issues of the day, and to take an impersonal and objective point of view, willing to study the problem and to arrive at conclusions in the light of the facts. This is what his college taught him to do and he should expect no less of it. These are among some of the genuine satisfactions a graduate should enjoy as he looks back at his college. It is a sobering responsibility for a college, sometimes more difficult to attain than new buildings, or winning football teams, or professors who write books.

EDUCATION

Warren Blodgett, President Alumni Association
 Hobbies are part of the life of a normal boy or girl. They are more and more becoming a part of the life of adults.

To you alumni, I suggest a hobby that will give more satisfaction than any other that could engage your attention and absorb your interest. It is none other than EDUCATION. To you who are teachers, it would seem that your profession could hardly be placed in the category of recreation. Yet that is exactly what it could and probably should become. For those who are not teachers, EDUCATION offers unlimited opportunities for happy avocational activity and when retirement from your chosen profession or occupation comes, a hobby that continues zest for life.

EDUCATION is a broad term. It may be interpreted in many ways, and one's interest in EDUCATION applied in diverse manners. It is not my purpose to discuss here the interpretations of the term nor many of the possible applications of one's interest in EDUCATION. However, there are held out to you particular things for you to do at least once in each college year and to make definite dates for doing them as the dates of any athletic, forensic, or social event are made: — First, visit the college and acquaint yourself with its physical growth. Second, talk to one of the administrators and one of the teachers. Let them share with you their problems, programs, and purposes; and ask them what, if anything, you can do to assist them in carrying on the great cause of Education here in our section of the State, the very heart of Wisconsin.

Help us attain this goal.

MR. MICHELSEN'S RETIREMENT ANNOUNCED

When the College Band and Girls Glee club met for their Annual Homecoming banquet at Trinity Lutheran church Saturday night, March 15, President William C.

Hansen announced that C.S.C.'s music director, Peter J. Michelsen, is retiring at the end of the current school year.

In announcing Mr. Michelsen's forthcoming retirement, President Hansen paid high tribute to him. That tribute was echoed by the many band and glee club members, alums, and guests at the banquet. Arnold Jendrick, Sparta, this year's president of the band alumni association, and Francis White, Ashland, the new president, spoke of Mr. Michelsen's constant help and encouragement to the alumni. The high standards set for them while in college has been an inspiration to those who have directed the music in the schools of the State of Wisconsin. Best wishes and happy days were the wish of his many loyal students, given Mr. and Mrs. Michelsen on this occasion.

At the program given Sunday, March 16, Norman Hinkley, Portage, directed a number he wrote, "Salute To Peter J." Francis White directed a number he wrote, "Musician's Man". Mr. Jendrick, on behalf of the alums, presented Mr. Michelsen with the dog tag for a Boxer dog, "Lum", which he and his wife will receive soon. "Happy Birthday" was played and sang for Mrs. Michelsen, whose love and affection has been felt by alums and students these many years.

Peter J. Michelsen

A TRIBUTE

The retirement of Peter J. Michelsen, Director of Music C.S.C., was announced at the Band Homecoming banquet. He will be missed by those who have worked with him and come to honor and respect him as a teacher and a friend.

Mr. Michelsen came to this country from Norway where he attended the Military School Of Music for two years and then graduated from the Music Conservatory at Oslo. After his graduation he came to the United States. While he was learning the English language, he directed the city band at Westby, Wisconsin. From Westby he went to West Salem where he played in a 30 piece orchestra and directed the West Salem Military Band.

In 1922, he went to Richland Center. He directed the Richland Center High School band until 1931. While at Richland Center his bands took all honors in the state and national tournaments. After 9 successful years at Richland Center he came to Central State where he started the college band and organized the music department of the school and has served in this position for the past 23 years.

Mr. Michelsen is a member of the Wisconsin School Music Association and a member of the American Bandmasters Association, which is a national honorary group with such outstanding musicians as Edwin Franko Goldman, Hubert L. Clark and the late John Phillip Sousa in its ranks.

Mr. Michelsen is not only known throughout the state and the midwest for his directing abilities but also as a music tournament judge. He has judged state tournaments in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa and a national tournament for bands in Denver, Colorado.

As for the future, Mr. Michelsen has no definite plans. He expects to stay around Stevens Point and enjoy the company of Mrs. Michelsen and Lum, his new Boxer pup, which was presented to him by the Band Alumni.

Whatever he does in the future, he has our sincere best wishes, for an enjoyable retirement.

DR. DOUDNA RETURNS FROM MISSION

Dr. Quincy Doudna, Dean of Administration, spent two weeks early in March in Rubio, Venezuela, on the special "Point IV" assignment. Doudna represented the Foreign Operations Administration at a conference of the Organization of American States held to make final plans for the opening of a new Inter-American Rural Normal School in Rubio.

Rubio is a small city in a picturesque coffee-growing valley near the border of Venezuela and Colombia. The temperature is about 75 degrees at this time of the year. Dr. Doudna found the climate a pleasant change from Wisconsin winter. The village is 7 degrees north of the equator.

Alumni who are teachers will be interested in the rather novel idea back of the Inter-American school. The Venezuelan government has a Rural Normal School with about 250 students at Rubio located on the same campus. Rural Normal School teachers from the various Latin American countries will come to the Inter-American Normal School and will use the Venezuelan Normal School as a kind of "demonstration" school in much the way that C.S.C. uses the Training School, except that in Stevens Point elementary and high school teachers are being prepared instead of normal school teachers. The Inter-American Normal School will have about 75 to 100 students from various Latin American countries. The staff members are also from different nations.

This is the second foreign assignment Dean Doudna has had in the past few months. Last summer he spent four or five weeks in Egypt as a consultant at a conference at Alexandria. In 1950-1951, he spent a year in Lima, Peru.

EXPANDING ALUMNI PLACEMENT SERVICES

Dr. Raymond Gotham, Director

During the past several years an increasing number of CSC alumni have availed themselves of our alumni placement services. This service is free to all CSC graduates and a welcomed service of the placement office. It is a genuine pleasure to assist our capable graduates in locating well deserved promotions to positions of greater responsibility and professional leadership. Too often a teacher, supervisor or administrator remains too long in the same position when the challenge to his or her abilities are no longer present. To be recommended for one of the many excellent promotions available, credentials must be brought up-to-date. A form is sent each alum, who requests this service, to provide the placement office with a record of experience, added education and any military service completed. This information and the appraisal of services rendered are added to the original credentials. They are then submitted to school officials where vacancies are reported.

We have many more vacancies reported than capable candidates with credentials up-to-date to recommend. All C.S.C. graduates with excellent records who are interested in a promotion are urged to write the placement office requesting this service. We congratulate late the many C.S.C. graduates who are making excellent teaching records, completing their graduate study and are qualifying for promotions. This number is increasing from year to year.

AREA ALUMNI GROUP MEETING A SUCCESS

The Public Relations Service; Dr. Raymond Gotham, Chairman; and a group of loyal C.S.C. graduates in the Waupaca area planned an interesting alumni group meeting at the Waupaca City Library Thursday, February 4, 1954. Melvin H. Brenner, Sales Manager, Edison Wood Products Company, New London, acted as toastmaster. Robert Schunk, High School, Clintonville; acted as secretary. General arrangements were under the direction of Mrs. Helma T. Amundson, Supervising Teacher, Waupaca County. A short program consisting of brief remarks, colored films of college activities, reports of recent progress at the college, outlines of plans for future meetings and special music, was given. Dessert and coffee were served.

The large attendance of alumni and the fine spirit of the group was evidence of the success of the meeting. The alumni expressed a desire for another meeting next year and a hope that it would be an annual affair. At the close of the meeting John Check was elected chairman for the next meeting to be held in the spring of 1955. Isabelle Stelmahoski and Harlen Stoltenberg were elected to serve on the committee of arrangements.

It is the wish of the Public Relations Committee that other area groups will express a desire for such meetings.

HOME ECONOMICS GROUP STAGES OPEN HOUSE

The first days of spring find us surveying our C.S.C.T.V. open house, "We'll Be Seeing You" of March 18. We were so pleased many of you attended and brought your students. The total estimated attendance was 1,100 at the two performances. We are proud to be able to put on a program that entertains and perhaps informs others of the broad horizons Home Economics offers. The success of the Open House goes to the Home Economics Club members, their enthusiasm, cooperativeness and willingness to work. One college freshman in H.E. said, "It was a lot of work, but didn't we have fun!"

Our seniors are signing contracts for next year. As usual there are more openings than graduates. You know that means a challenge to everyone to encourage capable students to consider a field that gives a double-value preparation.

When you are on the campus be sure to see the new addition to the H.E. Department. — The student lounge has been converted into a second clothing laboratory.

We are proud of your success this year. We have many fine reports about C.S.C.H.E. alumni. Be sure to send clippings about yourself and your activities so we can keep up with the big moments in your lives.

MISS ROACH HONORED

On January 20, 1954, the Junior Chamber of Commerce named Miss May Roach as "Stevens Point's Distinguished Citizen of 1954". Miss Roach received an engraved plaque and a citation at the Annual Dinner held at Hotel Whiting. "Miss Roach has long been known here and throughout the state for the energy and enthusiasm with which she undertakes her many and varied activities."

On February 18, 1954, at a meeting of the Southern Wisconsin Education Association Miss Roach was upheld to 4,500 teachers as "A Great Teacher".

OUR ALUMNI

MARRIAGES—

One of the first marriages of the new year was solemnized at the Scandinavia Lutheran church when Miss Violet Hansen, Scandinavia, became the bride of Donald Westley, Nelsonville. The new Mr. and Mrs. Westley will live at 402 Pine Street, Stevens Point. Mr. Westley is employed by the Portage County Oil company. ### CONGRATULATIONS ALUMNI!

Miss Gretchen Holstein received her master's degree in English at the University of Wisconsin at the mid-year convocation. Gretchen graduated from C.S.C. in June 1952.

Jack Davis was elected president of the Stevens Point Welfare Council, a group organized to co-ordinate charity and welfare services in the city.

A star athlete, who attended Stevens Point High School and C.S.C. half a century ago is soon to be honored at Ithaca College at Ithaca, N. Y. The college yearbook will be dedicated to Lawrence (Larry) Hill, who is completing 25 years as dean of health and physical education at the college.

"Lincoln and Wisconsin" — how the state played an important role in the life of the Great Emancipator — was the topic of a lecture given at the University Extension Center by Prof. Frank Klement of the Marquette University History Department. Prof. Klement is a graduate of the Shawano High School and of Wisconsin State College at Stevens Point. He holds M.A. and Ph. D. degrees from U. W. and has been on the history faculty at Marquette since 1948.

Dr. Carl Lindow, a scientific consultant in foods and feeds, recently made public the process which he has developed. A year ago, Dr. Lindow resigned as director of research for the Kellogg company in Battle Creek. Prior to holding that post he had been on the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. He has also been affiliated with Western State Teachers College, Bowling Green, Kentucky, and Central State Teachers College, Stevens Point.

Recently Vice President Richard Nixon took time off from politics to enjoy a few days at the Key Biscayne hotel on Key Biscayne, Florida. Managing director of the hotel is Robert Neale, graduate of C.S.C. and son of Senator and Mrs. Oscar Neale, Stevens Point.

Students learn by doing in conservation classes at Town of Dewey school. Pupils, guided by Mrs. Lenore Jacobson (Lenore Bras), their teacher, built an exhibit showing the effects on uncared-for land and what it could look like if conservation projects are carried out. Pupils from all eight grades of the one-room, 33-pupil school, aided in the project.

SECONDARY TEACHERS BIG FACTOR IN CHOICE OF COLLEGE

A study made by Eugene R. McPhee, director of the nine Wisconsin State Colleges, revealed that the most important single influence in determining whether young people go to college is the high school teacher. More freshmen at the state colleges this year came because of their high school teacher's influence than for any other reason, according to a study by the office of the board of regents of state colleges. Parents rank second to high school teachers, and college students come next in order of importance.

The influence of the college is felt when the new student begins to plan his profession or occupation. Almost half the freshman class at the colleges were influenced to enter teaching by the college. Most of these visited the campus to watch modern teaching methods in practice before enrolling.

The state college study reports that freshmen are enrolled in the Wisconsin State colleges from 400 public high schools and 25 private high schools in Wisconsin. There are students from 19 other states and from five foreign countries. The freshmen usually plan to be teachers, but there is a group of 685 in the liberal arts program or in the professional courses.

The college plans to continue its efforts to recruit students, realizing that its effort is only one of the many factors of influence. Loyal secondary alumni is probably the most effective influence.

Dear Alumni of C.S.C.

It becomes my assignment and my privilege to write greetings to you for this issue of the Alumni News Bulletin at the invitation of Burton R. Pierce, our faithful and efficient executive secretary.

Whenever I refer to our beloved Alma Mater as C.S.C., I am wondering if it sounds a bit strange to those of you who in the early years cheered for S.P.N. or somewhat more recently yelled lustily for C.S.T.C.. Let one who has been on this campus through all these changes assure you that though names, curricula, buildings, as well as faculty and student personnel may change, the spirit and the atmosphere which was here in those days continue to keep our Alma Mater the institution we love.

Now and then when I count my earthly blessings, high in the list is the stroke of luck which brought me back in 1914 so I have had the chance to know the graduates through a long period of time. As I meet various groups of people all over the State and occasionally in neighboring states, I am always expecting the cordial greeting and hearty handshake of some one who began his college life in C.S.C. Never am I disappointed. Sometimes the name is gone from my mind, but never have I forgotten the face.

One night last fall when I entered a banquet room in Sheboygan and found my place, seated almost in front of me was Frances Bannach Dickerson, looking as enthusiastic as she did when she was a student at S.P.N. or the superintendent of Portage County schools. After we had exchanged somewhat noisy greetings, I learned that she had asked for an invitation to come and sit in front of me to see if I would recognize her. How could I forget a Bannach, that family which had sent nine sons and daughters to our campus!

In the last few months many messages have come to me from Stevens Pointers far and near. How I wish I could share them with the readers of this bulletin, but time and space makes that impossible. One mail brought a letter from Mrs. James B. Roherty of Rockford, Illinois, who was Catherine Garvin when she was here. The next week a message came from her sister, Alice Garvin Mulrooney of St. Paul full of family news and messages for those with whom she had spent happy days in Stevens Point. Also from Rockford came a newsy letter from Lois and Emery Fritch, both of whom are teaching in that city. Lucy Doyle wrote from Modesta, California, where she has been a member of the teaching staff since she left the Stevens Point schools several years ago.

When I was home in Eau Claire recently, I learned from a mutual friend that Celestine Nuesse was in Germany again loaned by Catholic University to work on an assignment for the U.N. There is a lad who has made real contributions in the field of social science and says he got his start at C.S.T.C.

One day last week I found a letter in my mail box which Herb Steiner had received from George Everson; "Stiffy" we used to call him, and "Stiffy" he signed his letter. He had enclosed two newspaper clippings. One told about his oldest son, a graduate of the University of Florida, who is the sports editor for the Gainesville Daily Sun.

The other clipping will bring sad news to all of you who knew Bill Dineen as it did to us. He recently passed away in a Jacksonville hospital after a long illness. He had graduated from Law School at Stetson University and had become dean of the Jacksonville Law School.

"Stiffy" Everson is an attorney in St. Augustine, and if we can judge from his long, newsy letter, he has as much pep as he did in the old days.

The C.S.C. people who have spent the winter or part of it in Florida are now returning. Gertie Hanson has enjoyed her first winter vacation there. The Hyers will soon be back to enjoy their summer home at Waupaca Lakes, and Mr. and Mrs. Neale have been guests of Bob at Key Biscayne Hotel in Miami where he is general director. They have just returned in time for Senator Neale's attendance at meetings of the two legislative interim committees of which he is a member.

And so I could go on. Plan to pay a visit to your Alma Mater one of these days. Write about yourself and your family. There are many who want that news. Keep the communication lines open and active.

May the Lord continue to bless and support you.

Sincerely,

May M. Roach, Class of 1910
