THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Greetings To Alumni

We are closing the sixty-third year of our college. 1956-57 has been a good year for us in many ways. We have been improving our laboratory facilities and the lighting in our classrooms in the old main building. All of this will contribute to more effective classroom and laboratory work for many years to come. Our staff is gradually growing. We were authorized to add six more teachers for next year. We are rapidly approaching the point where adequate classroom space will be more critical than adequate faculty.

We expect that both the new men's dormitory and the Student Union will be under construction sometime during the summer and early fall. The new dormitory is to be ready for occupancy in September of 1958. We hope that you can pay us a visit from time to time just to keep yourself up to date on the physical growth of the college, not to mention the faculty members and old friends here who would like to see you.

Our best wishes to you in your chosen work. If you find some good students who would like to go to college and you want to do them a favor, you might suggest they think of us.

FROM THE DEAN'S OFFICE -- EMPLOYMENT NOTES

Many alums who are teaching in the field often find themselves advisors for those who are planning to go to college. Many times highschool students wish to know what employment possibilities are available on this college campus and what they must do to secure work. Perhaps a few observations from our experiences may answer some of their questions.

First, it always helps if one has had experience in the work which he hopes to do to supplement his college funds. For the girls, ironing, waitress work, babysitting, typing, library work, nurse's aid and office work are a few of the more prevalent openings. For the boys, filling stations, grocery stores, factories, retail stores, restaurants and various odd jobs around the college and community.

Secondly, it usually helps if a student can bring a letter of recommendation from a previous employer with him.

Thirdly, students should not expect to earn all of their expenses if they plan to carry a full academic load.

There are many openings for students in our college library, dormitories and cafeteria. Applications for these jobs should channel through the Dean's offices.

Most positions also require a personal interview. Campus jobs are filled before school opens, those in the community usually after registration.

MAY ROACH SCHOLARSHIP AND LOAN FUND

No doubt many of you remember that last year, shortly before her retirement, a Student Scholarship and Loan Fund was set up in May Roach's name by the local Chamber of Commerce and CSC Alumni. Many of you contributed to this Fund. In addition to the general fund from which loans might be made and scholarships awarded, fourteen Stevens Point business firms and organizations contributed special $125 scholarships to be given each year to promising students. These are given on the basis of scholarship, leadership and need.

During the past year six $75 scholarships were granted from the Principal and the Board of Directors has voted to grant five more of them next year.

The loans are short term loans and are made without interest. Our philosophy is that the fund should be used as an emergency to tide students over unforeseen difficulties rather than for a big loan for all college expenses as there are other loan funds for these contingencies. During the past year twenty-seven students have used money from it for various needs such as tuition, food for a week or two, convention expenses, room rent, bus fare, and so forth. Over and over they have indicated how glad they were to be able to obtain money for such emergencies.

The freshman legislative scholarships and other funds available for college freshman have made it possible for many to come to college who would not be able to otherwise. However, many of these people would not be able to return another year if some help were not provided for them. This the May Roach scholarships have proven to be part of the answer to this serious problem.

Those of you who generously gave to the Fund may be assured your money was well invested in the future of American education. To those of you who did not contribute to it but would like to do so, let me say that no matter how small the sum may be, it will be greatly appreciated and donations will always be welcomed. Unless we continue to build our general fund, in time, we shall have to cease awarding scholarships from it. During 1956-57 twenty students have received scholarship help through the Fund.

May I quote from two of last year's scholarship winners, Nancy Hager, a Junior from Wabeno, "Without this scholarship I don't think I could stay in school. At least it would take me a longer time to finish"; and Lavern Luebstorff, a Sophomore from Milwaukee, "This scholarship makes it much easier on my parents and on myself for me to go through school."

Your continued support will be appreciated.

EAGON NAMED DEAN OF MEN

Dr. Burdette Eagon was named Dean of Men to succeed John Roberts who has become executive secretary of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association. Dr. Eagon was formerly assistant director of teacher education and placement. He received his bachelor's degree from Oshkosh State College and holds a master of science degree in education from George Peabody College for Teachers.

FROM THE OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF MEN

As the school year draws to a close it is time to look forward as well as back over the accomplishments of the year. Now is the time to take an inventory of ourselves and ask, "What is it I need or where am I now, as a teacher, in comparison to what I want to be?" The problem is to close this gap. It is recognized that relaxation, travel, or a change of employment for summer may be stimulating. In some respects they may help us toward our goal. However, it is apparent that continued study is necessary if we are to become better teachers. This study, of course, can take various forms such as further academic degrees, selected reading programs, or guided workshop groups.

The danger faced here is procrastination. We cannot allow ourselves to keep saying "next year". A teacher, to gain professionally, must keep learning day after day, year after year, just as he expects his students to do.

In looking back, our personal inventory will reveal indicators as to the direction we should take toward self-betterment. This inventory, kept in mind when selecting and pursuing a program of continued study, will raise the caliber of our teaching and move the standard of our profession upward.

Burdette Eagon
Dean of Men

FROM YOUR PLACEMENT OFFICE

Our sincere appreciation is extended to those alumni who have arranged early in the year to have their credentials brought up-to-date and available for early spring placement services. We hope that this number will significantly increase for next year so that a greater number of our capable graduates will be available for well-deserved professional promotions.

The procedure in qualifying for this service is very easy. Any graduate who will write us requesting that his credentials be brought up-to-date and available for promotional opportunities will receive a form upon which to list additional preparation, experience, and the names of qualified individuals who are capable of providing an appraisal of professional services and a statement relative to his personal and social habits. This information and appraisals are then included in the credentials during the early winter months and made available for placement services. School administrators are vitally interested in credentials of quality.

On occasion we receive a request for a set of credentials to be sent immediately to a school administrator only to find that the credentials have not been brought up-to-date for some time, and, in some instances, there are no credentials available in the files. To eliminate this unfortunate situation, we urge each alumnus to be assured that his credentials are complete and up-to-date and renewed every two or three years.

It is of interest to each of our alumni that an official record of his position be recorded in our Placement Office, as well as an accurate and up-to-date address available, in order for us to provide maximum placement services. Whenever a new position is accepted, we urge that this information be supplied to the Placement Office to avoid unnecessary delays in reaching a candidate when needed. There are no charges for any placement services for the graduates of this college.

A new brochure has just been distributed from the Office of the Board of Regents of State Colleges entitled "WISCONSIN STATE COLLEGES now graduate students with LIBERAL ARTS degrees." In this brochure a review of the inception of the liberal arts program is described, and reference is made to its steady growth. The major and minor areas are listed, which are available at the various State Colleges. The same type of placement services are available for liberal arts graduates as that provided for those selecting teaching as their profession. The names of State College administrators and placement officials are listed for each State College on the brochure. We hope that you will not only find this information of value to you but that you will pass it on to your colleagues and to students under your direction.

We have deeply appreciated the excellent cooperation and assistance of our loyal alumni, who have encouraged so many outstanding students to enroll at CSC. With the rapid growth of our liberal arts program, as well as pre-professional opportunities, we expect this number to increase rapidly each year. The opportunities available to youth who are adequately prepared are unusually attractive.

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS AT CSC

Dr. Howard Weinstein, a native of New York City, is the biology department's newest addition. He did his undergraduate work at Cornell University, and in 1950 moved to the State University of Iowa, where he has been until this past February, when he received his Ph. D in zoology. He began teaching zoology here at the beginning of this semester; and, except for part time assistantships at Iowa, this is his first fulltime teaching assignment.

Mr. Robert Moore began teaching voice here at the beginning of this semester. His early work was completed at Pueblo College in Colorado. He then came east to Chicago where he earned his Master of Music degree. He has done advanced study at Northwestern University and, to complete his cross-country education, at Boston University.

Mr. Moore's professional singing career is impressive and interesting. He has toured with the well known Lauritz Melchoir, besides singing over Radio Station WGN, Chicago.

He is married and the father of two children.

Mrs. Lila M. Hibbs is a new supervisor in Junior high school. She teaches seventh grade math and eighth grade history and geography.

Mrs. Hibbs was born in Charleston, West Virginia, and attended school there. She received her B. A. degree from Morris Harvey College, Charleston, in sociology. Her Master of Arts degree in secondary education was earned at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. She has taught school in Michigan.

Mr. Paul Yambert has been added to the teaching staff of the Conservation Department. Mr. Yambert comes to CSC after three years of teaching biology and conservation at Ann Arbor (Michigan) High School. Previous to that he had served as a field representative for the Boy Scouts.

Mr. Yambert earned his B. S. degree in Forestry and Wildlife, M. S. in General Conservation, M. A. in Conservation Outdoor Education and is currently working on a Doctorate in Conservation at the University of Michigan. Besides his wife, he has three sons and one daughter.

FACULTY HONORS

Miss Pauline Isaacson has obtained her Ph. D. from the Graduate School of the University of Wisconsin. Her major work was in Public Address and Theatre in the Department of Speech; her minor field was History.

SOCIOLOGY MINOR NOW AVAILABLE

The Sociology Department here is providing a jumping off place for numerous students interested in the field of social work. His interest beginning in the areas of sociology and social work as an undergraduate, Dr. Nixon worked in these fields until now he has started the department here. His objectives are as follows: to provide training for students in other areas, to provide a minor in sociology, to provide an introduction in anthropology, and to provide an introduction in the field of social work.

There are various levels in the field of social welfare which can be served by the program here. One may range in activity, interest, experience, and development from the bachelor's to the master's level.

As a matter of fact, some of CSC's former students are already so engaged.

Geraldine Beyerstedt, after graduation, began with the Division of Public Welfare, moved to the Division of Children and Youth, and next fall will enroll at the University of Denver with a state scholarship to pursue a Master's Degree. Miss Beyerstedt (1956) began in Marquette County and is now located in Stevens Point.

Duane Folz (1956) is now with the Division of Public Welfare at Florence, and David Martell (1955) is with the same division at Eau Claire. Eugene Trimberger and Ronald Reetz (January graduates) are at Sheboygan and Oshkosh respectively, in the Division of Public Welfare. Other students are now waiting for possible appointments.

CENTRAL STATE NAMES COUNSELL GRID COACH

Duane Counsell, a Central State Graduate with eight years of high school experience, has been named the new football coach at his alma mater.

Presently concluding his only year at West Allis Central High School, Counsell coached for seven years at Wisconsin Dells after graduating from summer school here in 1949.

The new 32-year old coach will succeed John Roberts who left the college in January to become executive secretary of the Wis. Interscholastic Athletic Association. Roberts coached foot ball and wrestling and was Dean of Men and head of the Physical Education Department.

Hansen said Counsell will assist in other college sports and teach in the Physical Education Department in addition to his head coach duties in foot ball. He also is prepared to teach driver education which may be re-offered after a two-year lapse at the college.

Not particularly known for his college athletic abilities, Counsell was a standout student here. He played one year of football, that in 1948 when he was quarterback on Coach Hale Quandt's team. Quandt is athletic director and basket ball coach at the college, and Gene Brodhagen is the other member of the physical education department here.

Born in Oshkosh, Counsell grew up in Wisconsin Dells where he became a star high school athlete. After graduating, he went into the navy. Part of his three years in the service was taken up by two terms of study at Rhode Island State College at Kingston. He came here in 1946 and was a student for three years plus summer school in 1949 after which he was graduated.

Counsell went to his hometown at Wisconsin Dells to coach football and basketball as well as take charge of the entire athletic program. His seven years at the Dells ended a year ago when he took the football coaching job at the West Allis school.

Counsell is married to the former Wanda Tofson, also of Wis. Dells, and a CS graduate. They have two children.

TED FRITSCH SPEAKS AT PACELLI'S BANQUET

Ted Fritsch, former Central State College and Green

Bay Packer Great spoke at an athletic banquet for Pacelli High School's major letter winners.

Fritsch, now coaching at Green Bay Premontre High School, is the only CSC athlete to make his mark in pro football. A Spencer boy who never played highschool football, the burly fullback starred at Central State before his graduation in 1942. He was also a member of the CSC team which went to the NAIA basketball tournament at Kansas City in 1942.

His coach, Eddie Kotal, a former Packer star, returned to the Bays as a scout that year, and Fritsch went along with him. He played with the Packers for nine seasons, through 1950, and was named to the National Professional Football League's all-star team in 1945 and 1946. He was the league's scoring champion in the latter year.

Fritsch is second, behind his teammate Don Hutson, on the Packers' alltime scoring list. He scored 392 points on 37 touchdowns, 62 field goals and 36 extra points.

His 52-yard field goal against the old New York Yanks in 1950 is the longest in Packer history.

In yards gained in rushing, Fritsch is third among Green Bay players. He picked up 2,094 in 99 games, averaging 3.4 yards a try.

Fritsch was a member of the Bay's 1944 championship team and the 1945 club which defeated the College All-Stars.

MILLER PACELLI'S CAGE COACH

Norbert "Nubbs" Miller, one of Stevens Point's all-time great athletes, will be the head basketball coach at Pacelli High School, in Stevens Point, next season.

Miller, who is single, is the son of John D. Miller, 439 Elk Street. A native of Stevens Point, he is a graduate of St. Joseph's Parochial School and P. J. Jacobs High School.

In high school, he played football under Coach John Roberts and basketball under Coach Nolan Gregory. The stocky fullback was a member of the undefeated 1949 team which ended Wausau's long Wisconsin Valley Conference reign. A guard in basketball, he played on the 1949-50 team which was one of the best in the high school's history.

At Central State, Miller played two years of Basketball under Coach Hale Quandt and four years of football - the first two under Quandt and the last two under Roberts. He also lettered in track.

The 1955 football team on which he starred was the first unbeaten, untied squad in CSC's history and the first to win an undisputed title.

His eligibility used up, Miller was an assistant coach of Central State's football team last fall, under Roberts.

CONSERVATION NEWS

David B. Froggatt has been named Portage County game warden.

Not a stranger to Stevens Point, Frogatt attended Central State for two years prior to taking his first conservation assignment as game warden of Brown County.

The 27-year old Frogatt was born in Des Plaines, Ill., but moved with his parents to Wisconsin Rapids as a youngster. He is a graduate of Lincoln High School in Rapids, and he served two years in the army (1947-49) before coming to Central State where he was enrolled in the course of conservation from 1951-1953. He has been warden in Brown County since leaving here, a period of nearly four years.

Frogatt is married and the father of a 16-month old son.

CONSERVATION EDUCATION DEPT. RECEIVES GIFTS

Leo Gwidt, a local businessman who has always taken an interest in matters of wildlife, has presented the Conservation Education Department with a series of eight beautifully framed wildlife groupings. The pictures will be helpful as a classroom aid in wildlife identification.

A former CSC student, Dick Schwebke was instrumental in obtaining a display of fishing baits manufactured by the Weber Fly Company.

CSC PLANS OUTDOOR PROGRAM

A six-week outdoor education workshop will be conducted during the summer at Central State College as a part of its summer session June 17 through July 26.

A total of six college credits may be earned in art, conservation and physical education with a maximum of three credits in any one of the areas. Enrollment will be limited to 30 students and a laboratory fee will be charged to cover transportation costs and miscellaneous expenses in addition to the regular summer session fee. Inquiries and applications may be addressed to Clyde W. Hibbs, director of the workshop.

Teachers in other of the college departments will be invited to assist with the instructions and resource persons from outside the school will be asked to participate in the program.

The course is designed to acquaint students with opportunities for using the outdoors as a laboratory in teaching. Such activities as school camping, field trips, crafts, nature study, conservation of natural resources and special projects will be included in the program. The workshop will be conducted from 8 to 12 A.M. daily, with the exception of planned all-day field trips and two all-night campouts. Emphasis will be placed on direct experience in the outdoor environment.

Although most of the time will be spent outside, students will also have opportunity to participate in discussion groups, symposia and demonstrations. They will be encouraged to select and develop special projects.

ROY SWENSON CONSERVATION CO-ORDINATOR IN MILWAUKEE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Milwaukee is the only large city in the United States, possibly in the world, which employs a conservation coordinator in its public schools. He is Roy Swenson, a graduate of Wisconsin State College, Stevens Point, who came to this position in 1949 from the University of Michigan. The school board had acquired the Milton C. Potter school forest, between Whitnall Park and Forest Home Avenue, in 1947 and wanted someone to take charge of it and develop means of using it for instruction.

There is no regular conservation course in the grade school, and only one experimental course in the high schools (four classes at Washington). Through their interest in animals, birds, flowers and insects, young children are led into basic conservation principles and an understanding that everything they eat, wear and use comes from natural resources.

The teaching is done as the pupils study such subjects as reading, writing and even arithmetic, by using material concerned with conservation. Later, soil, water and minerals and even phases of forestry fit into the science program. These and recreational, scenic and historic resources fit into social courses.

New teachers are made aware of the importance of teaching conservation and informed about the curriculum guides and other aids. Swenson conducts in-service-classes for teachers, and some of them attend the summer workshop at the Trees For Tomorrow camp at Eagle River, sponsored by Wisconsin Colleges, or the two week sessions held throughout each summer at the Audubon Society's Saronia Camp.

Eventually, all of the high schools may have regular conservation courses. One difficulty is to find teachers qualified to instruct and lead such classes; another is to arrange the necessary field trips.

"From 'way back, Milwaukee had good leadership and still has it. Teachers make up the curriculum committee - from all grades - and they have helped immensely in putting over this program. In the end, though, success has to depend on the principals and the teachers in the classrooms, and their co-operation has been wonderful!" Swenson says.

CSC HOME EC STUDENT GETS SCHOLARSHIP

Jeanette Fuller, Ripon, a junior student in Home Economics at CSC, has been awarded a $100 scholarship by the Home Economists in Homemaking group of Milwaukee for her senior year of study.

The Milwaukee group, which includes seven graduates of the CSC home economics division, awards one scholarship each year to a worthy and needy student in a state school who is specializing in the teaching of home economics within the state of Wisconsin.

Miss Fuller, who came to CSC on a scholarship, is an

"A" student in her home economics education courses and is working her way through school

MINTON IN GERMANY

M/Sgt. Raymond R. Minton, Waupaca, recently completed a basic hunting instructor-examiner course at Southern Area Command headquarters in Munich, Germany. Minton was graduated from Central State College in 1949.

Edward Wenzel (1955) holds a position with Rand Corporation and is presently situated at McGuire Air Force Base, New Jersey.

Robert Beste (1953) holds an engineering position with Western Electric at Berwyn, Illinois.

Ellen Eide (1955) is teaching first grade in Mesa, Ariz.

MISS BRAATZ TO STUDY IN GERMANY

A year's scholarship by the German state through the student exchange service of Germany to a student at Central State College has been awarded to Miss Mary Braatz, 205 North Minnesota Ave., Stevens Point.

Miss Braatz was selected on the basis of scholarship, her knowledge of German and participation in extracurricular activities by a college foreign scholarship board composed of Pres. William C. Hansen and Profs. Gordon Haferbecker, dean of instruction, and Peter A. Kroner, head of the college German department.

The scholarship is offered for any university in Germany of the recipient's choice. Although the necessary correspondence has been completed, final confirmation of the grant has not been received yet from Bonn, capital of West Germany. Miss Braatz will attend one of two universities she favors, the University of Munich, Bavaria, which is a large school, or the University of Freiburg, located in the Black Forest and on the border of Switzerland.

The scholarship winner will complete her junior year at the local school before going to Germany. She is an English major with speech and German minors. In Germany she will remain in the field of humanities and her studies will include literature. The scholarship, which will include tuition and living expenses, was offered to a CSC student with a good knowledge of German; one who maintains a high college standard and one with a high record scholastically and in extra activities. Academically, Miss Braatz has maintained a perfect 3.0 grade average.

It is her wish to be able to live in a German private home. The school of her choice will begin on November 1.

JACK FRISCH AWARDED HISTORY FELLOWSHIP

One of CSC's 1956 graduates, Jack Frisch, has recently been awarded a University Fellowship in history from the University of Illinois in Urbana. Jack has been teaching this past year at Reedsburg.

The Fellowship includes a stipend of $1200 and all tuition fees for two semesters and the following summer session. As a pleasant requirement, Jack is to do no services under the terms of the Fellowship; he must only carry a full load of academic subjects. Since the University of Illinois was tops on the list of about 20 schools to which Jack applied, he was especially pleased to have this offer come from there. The school has a library of three million volumes, with an excellent department and arrangements in Jack's field of Social and Intellectual American History.

Jack intends to be back in the college field some day, for his purpose in going to graduate school is to eventually receive a Ph.D. in history and to do some college teaching.

WISCONSIN COLLEGE LOAN SYSTEM IS SUCCESSFUL

Wisconsin parents, who buy a television set, a new car, or a house on credit, often shy away from purchasing a college education for their child in the same way. They may be ignoring their most preferred credit risk.

Since 1933 more than a million dollars have been loaned to Wisconsin college students from a loan fund administered by the state department of Public Welfare. The percentage of loss has been "extremely low"; according to department officials.

Until now only students already enrolled in a four-year college in the state could apply for the loan. But the legislature is considering broadening the plan so that high school students, through their principal, can apply for the money to assist them during their freshman year in college.

The student may borrow up to $440 a year for a total of not more than $1,200 for the four years of college. There is no interest charged while the student is in college but four per cent interest must be paid beginning the last date of the student's attendance. The loan matures two years later.

Students now apply through the college they attend but if the legislature approves, the first application may be made this fall directly through their high school principal. Endorsed by the college authorities, the application is OK'd by the department of Public Welfare after a routine check has been made.

There is money waiting to be borrowed by Wisconsin young people who are capable of doing well in college. The fund with a present balance of $78,000 has never been exhausted.

A college degree, cash or credit, is within reach of every qualified Wisconsin youngster.

RETIREMENTS

DR LYNESS' LONG CAREER NEARS END AT CSC

A teaching career which began more than half a century ago in a Kansas rural school will end this June when Dr. Arthur S. Lyness of CSC retires.

Dr. Lyness, who started teaching before he went to college, has been at CSC, mostly in the Biology Department, since 1934. He also served as CSC's registrar for about ten years, until the late 1940's, and was director of summer sessions during this same period.

A dinner honoring Dr. and Mrs. Lyness was held at the Stevens Point Country Club. About 120 persons, mostly current and retired faculty members and wives were in attendance.

Dr. Pauline Isaacson served as mistress of ceremonies, and others at the speaker's table included Regent Wilson S. Delzell, President Wm. C. Hansen, Dr. Edgar F. Pierson, head of the Biology Dept., Dr. Lyness, and their wives.

On behalf of the faculty, Dr. Pierson presented the retiring teacher with a portable radio. Thanking the faculty for the dinner and the gift, Dr. Lyness, who is 70, told his audience that he is 'pretty sure I have a better start on the second 70 years than the first.'

Also on the program was a faculty quintet, directed by Dr. Peter Kroner and accompanied by Norman E. Knutzen, who sang German songs.

Dr. Lyness, born and raised on a Kansas farm near Walnut, graduated from Walnut High School and then got his start in teaching through the old county institute system.

Under this system, the county superintendent of schools hired a qualified teacher to conduct an institute in the principle city of the county. Students, after four weeks of study, took an examination and those who passed would receive a certificate to teach in rural schools.

Dy. Lyness earned his certificate and began teaching in a rural school outside Walnut, walking two and one-half miles back and forth to the school each day.

His teaching qualifications improved through attendance at other institutes, he moved on to elementary schools in Walnut and Chant, Okla. taught science at Reading, Kans., and was principal and high school teacher in Simpson, Kans.

Meanwhile, he began his college work at Kansas State Teachers College in Emporia in 1907, and by taking time off from his teaching career and attending summer school, he graduated in 1916.

From then until 1931 he was an elementary school principal and junior high school assistant principal in Ardmore, Okla., superintendent of schools in Sturgis, Ky., and junior high school principal in Indianola, Iowa.

Then from 1931 to 1934 he attended the University of Iowa, winning his master's degree and finishing his work for his doctorate.

The late Frank S. Hyer was CSC President then, and he contacted Dr. Lyness and brought him to Stevens Point.

His first four years were spent at the Campus School, then the Mary D. Bradford Junior High School, where he was in charge of English in the 7th, 8th, and 9th grades. Since then he has been associated with the biology department, teaching botany.

Not many teachers at the college have been on the faculty longer than Dr. Lyness. The faculty has changed, the student body has grown from between 500 and 600 to nearly 1,500 and, as Dr. Lyness puts it, "The college has outgrown its buildings."

Where there used to be two or three in the biology department, he points out, there are now six.

Academically, the college has improved, he said. In 1934, he commented, CSC wasn't a member of the North Central Association, the principal accrediting agency for colleges and universities, and only a couple of faculty members had doctor's degrees.

The fact that he had completed work for his doctorate, he said, was one of the reasons President Hyer hired him - he was trying to get more faculty members with doctor's degrees in order to meet the standards of the North Central Association.

As for the students, they haven't changed much, he believes. "I don't enjoy students who don't work," he said, adding, "I've had a number of very brilliant young people."

Dr. and Mrs. Lyness, who live at 1206 College Ave., have made no definite plans for the future. "We have talked of moving away but we have so many friends here," he said.

"I know I'm going to enjoy retirement," declared Dr. Lyness. "I have some wonderful books at home I've never had time to read, and we'll travel some."

He has a son, Paul, in Princeton, N. J., who is vice president of the Gallup-Robinson advertising firm. Dr. and Mrs. Lyness plan to visit him this summer, as they have in past summers.

RETIREMENTS

NEWS OF LOUISE JANE DIVER - CSC 1908 - 1911

Information has reached the college of the recent retirement of Miss Louise Jane Diver, formerly of Nelsonville, from a position of teaching in the Athens, Ohio, High School. Miss Diver enrolled as a student in our then Normal School in the summer of 1908 when John Sims was president of the school, finishing the English H. S. course June 22, 1911. She often refers, in her contacts with local friends, to the advice and encouragement she received at the time from Mr. Spindler of the Dept. of Pedagogy when the 'going' was tough and arduous.

Miss Diver has been located for some time in the Athens High School and anticipates keenly the rest and relaxation that will soon attend her.

R. B. WOODWORTH

The retirement of R. B. Woodworth as principal at Roosevelt Junior High School at Fond du Lac at the end of the current term was announced recently. Woodworth, a boyhood resident of Stevens Point, a graduate of Stevens Point High School and the Stevens Point Normal, will have reached automatic retirement age at that time. He has been principal of Roosevelt School since 1923.

Woodworth also attended Ripon College, where he received his bachelor's degree, and the University of Wisconsin, where he obtained his master's degree. He taught at Chippewa Falls and Ladysmith before going to Fond du Lac. His wife, the former Lois Jenness, was formerly a member of the office staff at the college.

NECROLOGY (FACULTY)FRANK S. HYER, FORMER CSC PRESIDENT, DIES

Frank S. Hyer, President Emeritus of Central State College, died at St. Petersburg, Fla. He was 87 years old.

Mr. Hyer first came to Stevens Point on August 25, 1904 and his work and residence here have been marked by active participation in the social and political life of the community. He was the only person who ever served as president of two state colleges. He was president at Whitewater from 1919 until 1930, when he was named president of the local college. He retired in 1938.

He was born near Aztalan on May 28, 1869. He "never had the privilege of attending high school or college", but he accumulated credits throughout the years and received his B. A. degree from Ripon College in 1911, long after he had entered the teaching field.

He received his first teaching certificate at the age of 17 and went to Osceola Mills and then to Jefferson County, where he became county superintendent of schools.

The Hyers were married at Milwaukee in 1896 and as newlyweds went to Sheboygan where Mr. Hyer was principal of a school for a year, after which he accepted a position as supervising principal of the city schools at Rhineland. The couple remained at Rhineland three years, and then moved to Milwaukee, and later to Rogers Park, Illinois, while Mr. Hyer traveled for the Houghton-Mifflin Company, book publishers.

In 1901, the Hyers moved to Manitowoc, where Mr. Hyer organized the third county training school in the state. In 1904 they came to Stevens Point Normal School and Mr. Hyer started work that gained him renown throughout the Midwest, as conductor of institutes. He traveled throughout the area giving refresher courses for teachers. Six years later he was named principal of the Training School and in 1919 was chosen President of Whitewater Normal School.

The Hyers returned to Stevens Point in 1930 when Mr. Hyer became the president of CSC, and they have remained here since. Since Mr. Hyer's retirement in 1938, the couple lived at their Clark Street home, spending many winters in the South.

Throughout the years, in his zeal to keep abreast of the changing thought and theories, Mr. Hyer compiled a private library of more than 2,200 volumes, many of which he gave away to friends in recent years and also to the Central State College Library. Six hundred volumes were presented to the CSC library in November, 1955.

He is survived by his wife, Harriet; two sons, Frank Hyer, Jr., of Wilmington, Del., and Harold Hyer, Grosse Point, Mich., and one daughter, Mrs. A. I. Leishman, of Elmhurst, Illinois.

OSCAR W. NEALE, EDUCATOR AND LEGISLATOR, DIES

Oscar W. Neale, an educator for half a century and a former member of the state Senate, died at St. Michael's Hospital in Stevens Point. Mr. Neale, who was 83, resided at 402 Church Street, Stevens Point.

Until his retirement in 1944, he was director of CSC's rural-state graded division. Two years later, he ran for senator from the old Portage-Waupaca County district and was elected to a four year term. He was re-elected four years later and held the post until 1955, when Portage County was joined with Wood and Clark counties in a new district, leaving him with no office to run for.

After his term ended, he retained his interest in public affairs and, though past 80, was on a Legislative Council committee which studied state institutions.

Mr. Neale's educational activities were varied, ranging from country schools to the college level. He authored elementary school textbooks on art, and was widely known as a public speaker.

From 1929 to 1932 he was a member of the White House Conference on Child Health, receiving his appointment from President Hoover.

A native of Cambridge, Ohio, he was born Dec. 17, 1873. He attended Kimbolton (Ohio) High School, Denison University at Granville, Ohio, and Fremont (Neb.) college. Later he did graduate work at the Universities of Chicago and Minnesota.

Mr. Neale's first three years of teaching were in rural schools in Lincoln County Neb. Next he was grade principal at North Platte, Neb. for two years, then high school principal at Sutherland, Neb. for two years, and Lincoln County superintendent of schools for four years.

He then began his college teaching career, becoming one of the first faculty members of Central State Teachers College at Kearney, Nebraska. Ten years later in 1915, he came to Stevens Point, serving on the college faculty here for 29 years until his retirement in 1944.

Art appreciation was one of Mr. Neale's principal interests. One day while county superintendent in Nebraska, he stopped at a school where the teacher, a dressmaker's daughter, was pasting pictures from a women's magazine on the school's walls. "I realized then," Mr. Neale recalled, "that we were not paying enough attention to the artistic side of life for the children."

After coming to CSC, then the Stevens Point Normal School, he introduced a course in art appreciation.

He was the author of two widely-used texts, "Picture Study in the Grades" published in 1925, and "World Famous Pictures" published in 1933.

As a speaker, he traveled to high schools in this area talking to prospective college students, and gave hundreds of commencement addresses and other speeches.

It was his practice to visit nearly every teacher who graduated under him during that teacher's first year in the field. "I couldn't do a good job training teachers unless I saw them at their work," he said.

Mr. Neale and his wife celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary last July 6. They were married in North Platte, Nebraska in 1898.

One of their neighbors in North Platte was "Buffalo Bill" Cody.

While living in Nebraska, Mr. Neale exhibited and explained his collection of art works on the old Chautauqua circuit, appearing with William Jennings Bryan, three time Democratic presidential nominee, and Billy Sunday, famed evangelist.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Glenn, of 1303 Clark St., Stevens Point, and Robert, Key Biscayne, Fla.

DR. SYLVESTER OF CSC FACULTY DIES AT 38

WALTER SYLVESTER

Dr. Walter R. Sylvester, associate professor of conservation at Central State College, died at St. Michael's Hospital, in Stevens Point. He was 38 years old.

Dr. Sylvester, who resided in Plover, was hospitalized for a month starting March 1, and then re-entered three days before he passed away.

His conservation career extended over more than 20 years and he had been a member of the CSC faculty since 1947. The Conservation Department at Central State was the first ever established in an American college or university, and Dr. Sylvester joined it only two years after Prof. Fred J. Smeeckle founded it in 1945.

His doctor in philosophy in conservation degree was earned in 1954 from the University of Michigan, and was only the second ever granted.

His thesis, "Grass Roots' Conservation", is being published this spring by the Conservation Department of the University of Michigan's School of Natural Resources.

Dr. Sylvester was born in Milwaukee Nov. 30, 1918, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Sylvester.

He studied pre-forestry at the University of Wisconsin Extension in Milwaukee from 1936-38, earned his bachelor of science in forestry degree from the University of Michigan in 1941, and his master of science degree from Pennsylvania State College in 1943. To study for his doctorate at the University of Michigan, he took a two-year's leave of absence from CSC. He also studied at Cornell University in the summer of 1948.

Dr. Sylvester held seasonal jobs with the Wisconsin Conservation Department in 1940 and 1941, and was with the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in 1943-44 as a soil scientist and a forester in Arkansas and Louisiana.

From 1944 until joining the CSC faculty, he was with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service as assistant refuge manager, Kentucky Woodlands National Wildlife Refuge.

At Central State, he witnessed the growth of the Conservation Department almost from scratch to its present level. Last fall, there were 283 students enrolled in conservation majors or minors here.

His thesis on "Grass Roots' Conservation" deals with private land use practices in middle Michigan, with special emphasis on federal agricultural agencies. But because it is a study of the effectiveness of various approaches used to obtain people's cooperation in getting conservation practices applied on the land, it also has an application for other areas and programs.

Dr. Sylvester, through a co-operative agreement between CSC and the Wisconsin Conservation Department, arranged summer study camps where college students learned conservation in the field. He directed camps at both Devil's Lake and Peninsula State Parks.

He helped organize and was secretary of the Park Ridge Volunteer Fire Department, and was a member of the Plover Volunteer Fire Department. He was pack master of Cub Scout Pack No. 105 in Plover, which he helped organize.

He was a member of several national scholastic honor societies, including Phi Kappa Phi science fraternity, Gamma Sigma Delta agriculture fraternity, and Kappa Kappa Psi music fraternity.

His marriage to Charlotte La Rue of Ann Arbor, Mich. took place August 29, 1942. Mrs. Sylvester's father, Dr. George R. LaRue of Hyattsville, Md., is a professor emeritus in zoology at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Sylvester's survivors include his wife; three sons, Donald, 12; George, 10½; and Paul, 6; his parents, in Milwaukee, and a brother, William A. Sylvester, Merrill, Wis.

Lyle R. Lueschow presently teaching at the Emery Jr. High School at Fort Atkinson is enrolled in graduate study at the University of Wisconsin. He is enrolled in the field of Administration and Supervision.

Mr. and Mrs. William Williams, teachers for the past nine years at Iola, will join the faculty of Waupaca schools next fall. Mr. Williams, a graduate of CSC, will be grade school principal and Mrs. Williams, also a CSC graduate, will teach fourth grade.

Russell Roberts, who graduated from the Marquette School of Dentistry last spring, and married soon after, is now serving the armed forces as a doctor of dentistry. He serves in appointed areas within the United States borders. During the latter part of 1956 he was serving in the south-eastern part of this country. His wife travels with him.

Dr. George Dearborn Spindler, teaching and doing research in the departments of anthropology, social sciences, and in the School of Education at Leland Stanford University, California, was awarded a fellowship under the endowment of the Ford Foundation of that University. Here, selected scholars and specialists are invited to spend paid sabbaticals working together to analyze further the essential problem of man: Why do people act as they do? What are the underlying motivations and influences?

In the mornings the 38 who have been awarded fellowships - economists, political scientists, psychiatrists, biologists, sociologists, statisticians, and anthropologists, pursue their individual studies in isolated rooms, or secluded offices. In the afternoon they congregate in the central rooms for conferences and seminars exchanging and clearing up theories. The whole building reminds one of the early history of California - monkish in its simplicity and furnishings, relieved by the warm redwood of the outside finish. The quietness and sincerity of the projects further impress one of scholarship in serious humane study of the Behavioral Sciences. Mr. Spindler's year at the Center ends at the close of the summer session at Stanford.

PLOETZ TO HEAD CUDAHY SCHOOLS

In 1948, Ploetz was named superintendent of schools in Phillips, where he helped organize one of the largest integrated 12-grade districts in the state.

He was named to his present post at Platteville in '52. Under his jurisdiction, curricula in both secondary and elementary schools were expanded, the first department for mentally handicapped children in southwestern Wisconsin was started and a new 14-room addition was completed.

Ploetz is president of the Platteville Kiwanis Club and Secretary of the Southwestern Wisconsin Education Assn. He is married and is the father of two daughters.

He was stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, during basic training. He then attended Clerk Typist School at Fort Leonard Wood. He arrived at Fort Lewis, Wash. on March ninth, and sailed for Korea on March 25. When Uncle Sam releases him, he plans to return to the Madison Public School System, probably by September, 1958.

Anyone wishing his address, may contact his parents: Mr. and Mrs. Chester Collins, Westfield, Wisconsin. Larry would appreciate letters from former college friends.

TO ALL ALUMNI WHAT YOU CAN DO

There are things we feel our alumni can do to assist

Central State in finding the right kinds of young people. The opinions of our alumni have a great influence upon the thinking of high school young people when they begin to think about going to a college.

THINK CSC ----- TALK CSC

CSC ALUMNI GET TOGETHER HELD MAY 1

A get-together of students and alumni of Central State College was held May 1, at the college.

For the past several years county alumni get-togethers were held in adjacent counties. This year the program was expanded to include everyone who has attended the college. Dessert was served in Nelson Hall's new dining room at 7:30 p.m. At 8:00 p.m. a program, including entertainment, a report on recent developments of the college by the president, and several special features were given.

This was an opportunity for CSC graduates to meet classmates and renew acquaintances of former years.

ANOTHER SERVICE FOR OUR ALUMNI

Your college has obtained a supply of Handbooks for Wisconsin Teachers. A copy will be mailed to any alumnus for $1.00 if he will send in this amount with his name and address. It is our hope that every CSC teacher will have a copy of the Handbook on his desk for ready reference concerning professional matters.

Alumni Association

Dear Alum of C. S. C.

We have all had a busy year. We hope that you are considering keeping up your membership in the Alumni Assn. We need the support of all alumni in order to be able to keep you posted about the happenings at CSC.

This year we have had an Open House for alumni at Delzell Hall, an annual meeting in the auditorium, a luncheon at the new Y.M.C.A. at Milwaukee at convention time, Open House at Hotel Schroeder, published two bulletins and one news letter and are planning a Tea for Graduates of the 1957 class.

Your temporary executive secretary asked to be relieved of her duties at the end of the first semester. We are hoping that an alumni office might be established with clerical help provided either on a part time basis or for full time. Many more of our graduates would be able to be contacted and class records could be kept up-to-date. For the past years there has been an ever growing need for this service at the college.

There is a need for the constitution of the organization to be brought up-to-date. Some committee should do this.

Mrs. Welch, one of your directors, has consented to act as secretary-treasurer until something else is done.

An election of directors for a three year term has been held. L. Culver from Seymour, Wisconsin and Lois Schlottman, Westfield High School teacher were elected. They will replace Phyllis Jarnick and Raymond Clausen whose terms will expire this June.

I have enjoyed my work with the association over the past six or seven years in the capacity of Faculty Alumni Chairman and Executive Secretary. I shall be glad to continue to do all that is possible to help, but feel that doing the publications, plus the arrangements at Milwaukee, plus the secretarial work, and a full load of classes was more than was possible for any one person to do well.

Sincerely,
Marjorie Kerst
