DEP'T CAGERS AWAIT BELL

POINT LOSES SIXTH ONE-POINT GAME TO MARQUETTE

Cream City Cagemen Take Rough Week-end Conference Tilt.

The Michigan State Normal of Marquette Michigan took the midweek game before the Milwaukee tilt, in a hotly contested battle in which the Purple led until the very last. The Point shooting was fine in the first half, and the period ended with Hunting's players ahead 19-13. Marquette had very poor luck with their shots during this period. Shot after shot spun the ring and dropped out, while the Point continued to score steadily.

The second half Marquette located the ring, and proceeded to bring the score up. With only a few minutes to play, Anderle, Marquette right forward sank one which tied the score. The coaches immediately agreed on an overtime period of five minutes. The Point had several chances at the basket but luck was against them.

Bill Marsh brought the Point tally up one place, but Elnes, the Michigan left forward set his team's count up with a field goal, making the count 30-31 and giving Stevens Point the dubious honor of having played the sixth game in which the score differed but one point.

Milwaukee Battle Rough

The Cream City cagers took the Friday game in a frenzied rush in which fouling went on indiscriminately on both sides and which left the fans wondering just what the whole proposition was about. Stevens Point threatened Milwaukee all during the game, tying the score and never much behind, leading only once. Coach Hunting put in all new men at times, with the sole exception of Forrest MacDonald, who was also taken out finally.

The visitors piled up a 15-9 lead at one time, but the Purple pulled up and held its end of the score almost even. The climax of the whole game came at the very last. Paukert shot from the east side of the court just as a personal was given him. The field goal was chalked up on scoreboard, as were also the two free throws which Paukert made. To all outward appearances, this tied the score. However, when the game ended, the referee claimed that Paukert's field goal hadn't counted and consequently Stevens Point had lost the game 24-26. The game was practically allowed to run itself.

Pointer Wins 1st With Editorials

The POINTER, in a journalistic contest which closed last week, captured first place in its editorial section and second places in humor, make-up and sports. The contest was sponsored by the Lambda Psi, national journalistic fraternity, at Ripon, Wisconsin. Bruce Barton, celebrated editorialist, selected the editorials of the POINTER for first place over the other Normal Schools of the state. H. N. Swanson, editor of College Humor, judge of the humor sections, judged the POINTER humor section second; Prof. W. G. Bleyer, University of Wisconsin journalism head, judging journalistic make-up, gave the POINTER second, and Westbrook Pegler, Chicago Tribune sports editor, named the POINTER sport accounts second.

Though the POINTER has been a weekly paper less than three months, the Milwaukee Normal paper, the ECHO alone was able to rate above it. The Milwaukee paper succeeded in making a score but two points better than that of the POINTER. The ratings of the various schools are as follows:

	Normal	Editorials	Humor	Make-up	Sports	Total
Milwaukee	2	1	1	1	1	5
Stevens Point	1	2	2	2	2	7
River Falls	3	4	3	3	3	13
Stout	4	3	4	4	4	15

To Debate Farm Bill Here Friday

The McNary-Haugen Farm Bill, which has just recently been vetoed by President Coolidge, is to be the topic for debate in the inter-Normal debates which will be held this week. The Stevens Point Negative team will journey to Oshkosh where it will engage the Oshkosh Affirmative team Friday, March 4th, at 8:00 P. M. The Negative team is composed of Elizabeth Kelly, Arthur McNown, Donald Vetter and Alma Hougum (alternate). Professor Weaver of the University of Wisconsin will be the judge.

The Affirmative team on the same day at 4:15 will meet the La Crosse Negative team here. Bernice Vinkle, Allen McVey and Irving Gordon, with John Pralowski as the alternate will uphold the Stevens Point end.

The teams have been working diligently and a great fight is expected in each case.

THE CALENDAR

Friday, March 4 — Basket Ball Game — Eau Claire vs S. P. N. — here. Debate — La Crosse — here — Auditorium — 4:15 P. M.

Monday, March 7 — Margaret Ashmun meeting — 4:15 — Auditorium. Girls' Basket Ball Game Gymnasium — 7:30.

Wednesday, March 9 — Girls' Basket Ball Game — Gymnasium — 7:30.

Opera Club Plans Musical Drama

"The Maid and the Middy" will be produced by the Opera Club under the direction of Mr. Percival, instructor of music, in the auditorium Friday evening, April 1st. The opera will be enhanced with special costumes and scenery, and the school orchestra will supply accompaniment.

"The Maid and the Middy" is a modern opera with a "Broadway Flavor", so the critics say, and has been given frequently by home-talent organizations. The music is catchy and the dialogue is full of keen, clean humor. Characteristically, there is much trouble for both the hero and the heroine, but it all ends as such romances should end.

The production is sponsored by the Entertainment Committee of which Mr. Schmeckle is Chairman, Mr. Watson, Mr. Garby, Miss Jones and Mr. Percival are members. It is this committee which has been instrumental in bringing some very fine artists to Stevens Point. The committee is planning on bringing other professional recitals to the city.

Mr. Burroughs, with the Public Speaking Class, shares in contributing talent and scenery; Miss Foster will have charge of three important features of the opera; Miss Carlsten will have charge of the costumes, and Mr. Evans will make-up the performers. The Girls Glee Club will furnish a specialty number.

COTTAGE GIRLS IN CRY FOR MASCULINE HELP

The fire department with its attending large audience and all its characteristic excitement paid a visit to the Cottages where a small fire broke out last week. The source of the fire has not

GIRL'S BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT TO START MONDAY

Coaches Have Teams Ready For Stiff Contest.

The annual tournament of the women's teams of the various departments will begin next Monday. The teams have been practicing under the direction of coaches picked from the men's team, and show a great deal of material progress and adaptation to the intricacies of the game.

The women's rules are considerably different than the rules followed by the men. Six players are permitted on the floor, and each two players are limited to a certain section of the court. It is claimed that this type of play is less strenuous and more suited to the dignity of the fair sex.

Tickets can be purchased of members of the G. A. A. Announcement was to be made in assembly this morning concerning prices. The games will begin at 7:30 P. M. each evening until the tournament has run itself out. Miss Evelyn Roth, women's athletic director of the city High school will officiate all games.

The coaches of the teams are as follows:

Primaries, Joe Gunning, and Harold Foss (assistant); Home Economics, Frank Wierenzinski, and Harold Paukert (assistant); High Schools, Bill Marsh, and Edwin Groh (assistant); Grammars, Gregory Charlesworth, and Everett Bright (assistant); and Rurals, Harold Holmes, and Lyle Holmes (assistant).

SPRAGUE APPOINTED AS ANNAPOLIS ALTERNATE

Leonard D. Sprague, of the Grammar Department, has been appointed first alternate to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. In a recent examination in which he scored highly he gained the right to be the third Wisconsin man to be represented at the Academy. Congressman Edward E. Browne of Waupaca in appointing him declared that he had ample reason to make intensive studying for the final examination worth while.

been exactly determined thus far, so the actual danger of repetition has not been eliminated.

The girls at the Cottages say that they will appreciate a volunteer night watchman, for fear that they will be surprised in the wee sma' hours.

NEW SPRING BONNETS

In a week or more Spring will make its official bow and most girls will be casting about for an idea for a new hat, a spring bonnet. Hats, like other apparel, have a profound influence upon the peace of mind of the wearer. The average girl would no more think of wearing a hat that was the rage two years ago than she would think of wearing a bustle. Yet, as someone or other has said, "there is nothing new under the sun". The hats being worn this year are so similar to the hats worn in the staid days of 1837 that they could be worn today almost interchangeably without fear of social ostracism.

To go back nearly a century is not believed outrageous, but to delve into our own pasts as much as two years is nothing short of lunacy. Styles, however, are the breath of individuality, and we feeble humans can do no more, or less, than to conform slavishly.

WILD WOMEN

Since the cataclysmic howl of the war the perennial yelps have been about the degeneracy, yea, even the vile wantonness of the nation. The yelps have increased with each passing day until now they have swelled into a stentorian, indistinguishable rhapsody. The world — except the offenders — believes it has finally and unquestionably started post haste for perdition. It has thrown up its hands in futility muttering the age-worn "I told you so."

Just as a few million are howling that the morality of the world is in its death throes, just so a few hundred thousands are presenting pretexts that the millions are calamity howlers. The whole melee has taken on the semblance of a back-fence squabble with the honors divided somewhat in favor of the millions.

The millions crying unintelligible things about "fire and brimstone" present as evidence the modern girl. They point to her and say naughtier things than any publisher would dare to present in printed form. They have no misgivings about saying these things. They are convinced, and yet they can only say things that they have heard, or that they have allowed to come within the range of their own experiences.

But consider. The war ended in 1918. The post war conditions were reactionary, and the flower of all this was the flapper who, as we have come to know her, emerged about 1920. Those girls who were the "very much too young" flappers of that day have, by this time, been largely supplanted by the next set. Or, perhaps, by even a second set. The girls of 1927 have grown up into a social code that has been in existence as long as they can remember. Their older sisters were flappers long before they were old enough to care seriously about the angle of their hats. They grew up into a social code that called for so much clothing of this sort; so much of that sort; this kind of shoes, and that kind of hair cut. They wear this scanty clothing just as naturally as the mid-Victorians wore their peculiar foibles. It does not seem outlandish to them. Yet, the howling millions would presume that youth is a stable thing; that youth is fixed, deliberate and furtively vicious. They presume that each and every girl is a sophisticated, winsome, imal; an animal who is colluding with circumstances to bring about the gratification of her own licentious whims. They presume that each and every girl is conversant with the best of the current slang; with the best of physical poses, and with the best of bootleggers. They presume that youth is tripping, dancing, playing, singing its way to certain destruction.

The average flapper of today is a product of a mode of living that has been in existence for almost a third of her life. She is living a perfectly rational, perfectly natural life. Her life, as she is living it, is not superficial. It is life to her in the only way she knows how to live it. She has never seen life lived any other way. Yet she is pointed out and given credit for being as shrewd, as wily, as wilful, as designing, as sophisticated as the most naturally astute woman might — with a great deal of practice — be at forty.

HUMOR

MORE OR LESS

NATURAL EQUIPMENT.

Schroeder — I wish to become a lineman in your wireless telegraph division. Higher and Fyer — But we must have a man of few words and many actions.

Schroeder — That's me all over; St. Vitus Dance.

CLOTHES TO WRONG.

Everett Bright — Have you ever read the Knickerbocker History of New York?

Margaret Reading — I'm not interested in the clothing industry.

You can never tell how chick a girl may become until she is fully hatched. In that sense, college fellows are excellent incubators.

Many a poor student laboring under the impression that he is really trying to work is merely a victim of that famous "college daze."

Never pass judgment on Normal pluck until you've seen the eye brows.

TIED DECISION.

Joseph G. (aside) — She said I might kiss her on either cheek.

Samuel S. (aside) — Howzatt?
Joseph G. (inside) — I hesitated a long time between them.

IRVING GORDON (in study)

"The Day of hearts is gone but my dear heart still functions in Unity."

HELP! KITCHEN POLICE!

— (Tenderly stroking his placid brow) Are you the Captain of your soul?

— (Clutching her madly to his heart) Naw, only a buck private.

KEPT BUSY.

Professor — Who knows what the worm does?

Student — He supports ma and me.

Mr. Rightsell — In order to reduce the size of an image always use a convex mirror.

Maurice Rice (in a matrimonial daze) Eureka! Eureka! Eureka! Men ought to provide their wives with convex mirrors and they would not have to listen to so much REDUCING propaganda.

REAL "SINKING."

Mr. Percival, (conducting song-fest last Thursday — "Dip, Boys, Dip The Oar; without the piano this time.")

Just discrimination, Mr. Percival!

POETICALLY SPEAKING.

Leo Grassman recently imported a large shipment of Italian eggs. Victims of the "egg malted" are hoping they are not the "lays of ancient Rome."

AND GREEN IN JUDGMENT.

Boone — When are a man's salad days, Ben?

Ben — I guess they're when he is most particular about his dressing.

OR NONE.

Irv. Gordon — What will the modern girl be twenty years from now?

Don. Vetter — Up, gang, A real one this time.

Irv. Gordon — An old girl.

Catch what you can;
Can what you catch.

The ranks of the "Catch-Can Club" are growing. Contributions are pouring in day by day. Send in your little pet peeve or some of that "dirt" that only YOU know. Send in anything that you have: poems, puns or palaver.

And so it came to pass that the word "absolutely" came to be adopted into the English language, and from that day to this Mr. Roberts has found life vivid and inadequate without it. That is absolutely bona fide!

INVESTOR'S GUIDE.

Stock is now being sold on the Jack Pine Limited Railroad. The J. P. Line is an organization like the Isaac Walton League, trying hard to stop the ever increasing death rate of cows and other small animals that travel by mail. Shares are being sold at extra low prices this week only. See William Albrecht and help this company by buying a few shares at the low price of $3.98. H. C.

OUR WEAKLY BOOK REVIEW.

Best seller of the week: "Tend 'Em Tandem" or "Naughty Pedals" by Don. Gosofas. Unexpurgated account of cycling life of the passionate nineties. Rather lurid in portions, but very convincing. Few readers will emerge unscathed.

Craving evil thrills, the hero clutches his gal's waistband between finger and thumb, extracts her from the eyes of her father, and, attaching her to the rear seat of his tandem, gives eight miles of turn-pike the "once-over." They are busily drinking in the ginger-ale ads, which are still visible though the speed is terrific, when the wind ruffles the ruffles of Lena (which is her name) causing maidenly embarrassment.

Complications set in immediately. Oswald (which is his name) throws on the ponderous New Departure. It refuses to function. With a manly thrust of the massive handle-bars, he throws the machine off its course and they retire through the center of a Fisk signboard. They get up, disheveled as an Italian band-master, and looking like a pair of epileptic twins suffering a relapse. Both walk back with their honor intact.
Moral: You can't go wrong on a bicycle.

Mardi Gras Ends In Gay Revelry

It's all over now! And who could say but that this year's Mardi Gras was a decided success from start to finish?

Interest in the annual fete of the Stevens Point Normal School was aroused early this year by the popularity contest, which was by far the most interesting one ever held. At the last moment a "dark horse" candidate was put into the field, in the form of Asel Weldon, and for a time it was expected that he would win the laurels for the handsomest man on the campus. But at the last moment the High School Department rallied, which resulted in a landslide for their department.

The Matinee dance, held from 4:15-6:00, was well attended, considering the amount of work everyone found to do at the last minute. Many then repaired to the tea-room, where the Home Ees presided.

At seven o'clock the departmental stunts started, and continued until eight fifteen. Judging from the happy expressions on the faces of the people coming out of these shows, they must surely have been good.

The second annual Union Vaudeville was received by a capacity house with much enthusiasm. There were four acts, each one so totally different that it was an exceedingly difficult task to judge which was to receive the prize. The skit entitled "C'legiately Yours", with Walter Jonas and Leander Van Hecke featured in singing numbers, accompanied by Margaret Jonas on the piano, was finally chosen as the best.

The White Elephant sale, which netted the Senior class a goodly sum, was made possible by the merchants, who donated freely.

The last thing on the program of events was a dance, at which the winners of the popularity contest were crowned.

A grand march of the masquers was then held, and the judges decided that the following were the most deserving of prizes: Most comical couple, Hilda Hollender of Stevens Point, and Ray Boone, of Stevens Point; the prize for the best dressed girl went to two girls, as they were dressed alike, Dorothy Giddings, Fond du Lac, and Inez Smith, Soldier's Grove; Honorable mention was given the faculty.

The Senior class wishes to thank faculty, students and townspeople, who so ably cooperated with the committees in charge, to make this the most glorious event of the second semester.

NUPTIALS ANNOUNCED FOR TWO STUDENTS

Miss Marie Fritz whose withdrawal from the Home Economics Department was announced in a recent issue of the POINTER was married at 8:00 o'clock Monday morning, February 28th, at St. Stephens church, to Joseph Walsh.

Saturday, February 26th, Dorothy Carley, High School Department Sophomore, was married to Ward Leary at high noon at the home of the bride. The maid of honor was Miss Jean Mainland, of Stevens Point, while Mr. Luman Precourt of Stockton was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Leary have gone to visit friends at Oshkosh on their honeymoon.

Whether Mr. Rogers permitted his 8:00 o'clock chemistry class to attend the Fritz-Ward nuptials for an incentive or a warning we have not been able to determine. Never-the-less the POINTER staff joins with the student body in wishing each of the happily married couples much happiness and good fortune.

G. A. A. SPONSORS DANCE AFTER MIL- WAUKEE GAME

A dance sponsored by the Girl's Athletic Association after the basketball game Friday night was very well attended by Normal students and their friends. Music was furnished by "Pug" Moen's orchestra, attired in blue and gray blazers. Dancing continued until 11:15.

Campus Gleanings

Just wait until the middle of May, when the Iris appears! Some of the stuff which will be printed will make a good many blushes, hot words and cold glances, what WE mean. And that's no eppel-sass — believe one who has beheld!

That fire they had over at the cottages came from too much sparking in the living room the evening before. Anyway that's our opinion. At least it does not seem probable that any such goings-on could have taken place during broad daylight.

Life is full of queer things. Some poor fish laughed over a Pointer joke in the last issue. 'Tis such stuff editors dreams are made of!

Boy, these weddings! Bring on the J. P.'s Ministers, etc! Let's get hitched! Rah! Rah! Collegiate! Wuff!

The epidemic seems to be growing stronger and stronger. Soon the life's peace of you lonely bachelor will not be safe. These women are becoming entirely too dependent. They can't be content with themselves, but must bring in those of us who have always been at peace with the world. Back to slavery, we shout!

This Mardi Gras business is too draining on material resources. Next year some of us are going to use the old bean and get a job somewhere so we can get in free.

IRIS TO INTRODUCE DISTINCTIVE FEATURES

All Iris proof is off to the Engravers at last, which is a sure indication that the annual will be ready for distribution by the middle of May.

The Engravers have written to say that it is some of the best copy they have had. The representative also has congratulated the staff on its choice of paper. The paper selected is called "Laid tone" and is a new glazed surface paper which has never been used in annual publications before but which paper companies predict is to be the paper from now on.

The printing is being done by the Worzalla Publishing Company, who did such commendable work on the last year's Iris.

PRESIDENTS DISCUSS POLICIES AT OSHKOSH

The presidents of the nine State Normal Schools of Wisconsin were in session at the Oshkosh Normal school Saturday, February 12.

The meeting was called at the suggestion of E. J. Dempsey, president of the Normal school board of regents. Educational policies of the Normal school system and the budget recommendations of the state board of public affairs were discussed. The presidents also collected data for presentation at the regent's meeting, which was held February 15 and 16, at Madison.
