HAWKES-WINNER IN SCIENCE CONTEST

Four Others Receive Honorable Mention

Announcement has been made that Esther Hawkes is the winner of the chemistry essay contest for this year. The subject of the winning essay is "How Chemistry Brought About the Development of Photography."

Rogers Donates Prize

This contest is to be sponsored each year by the chemistry department. The name of the writer of the winning essay will be engraved upon a beautiful loving cup. This cup is the gift of Professor T. A. Rogers, director of the contest.

Honorable Mention

There are also a number of excellent essays which have been given honorable mention. These essays are as follows, the order not indicating any rank:

Henry Klimowitz, subject: "Chemistry in Aviation".

Ida Lahti, subject: "Chemistry and Better Food."

Augusta Miller, subject: "How Chemistry has Enriched Life in the Last Twenty-five Years."

Bonita Blumenstein, subject: "The Story of Sugar."

The judges for this contest were Miss Bertha Hussey, Mrs. C. F. Watson, Mr. Leland Burroughs, and Mr. T. A. Rogers.

Enter Nat'l Contest

These essays will be sent in to compete in the American Chemical Society annual contest.

The prizes offered in the Normal School and Teachers College division of the national contest are: Six prizes of $500, six prizes of $300, and six prizes of $200.

C. S. T. C. Radio Program For Friday

The program for the regular C. S. T. C. Purple and Gold radio hour Friday from 3 to 4 will be as follows:

College News — Mr. L. M. Burroughs.

Speech Period — College Oration, "Mafia of America" by Celestine Nuesse of Sturgeon Bay.

Music Period — Piano Solos by Alex Peterson, of Stevens Point.

Dramatic Period — One-act play, "Open Window" adapted from story of H. H. Monroe, by Dolores Chilsen of Merrill.

Cast: Mr. Nuttle—Earl Karl Koch of Stevens Point.

Mrs. Sappleton—Ruth Lippke, of Wausau.

Vera—Mrs. Fretheim, of Stevens Point.

Many New Books In College Library

Central State's library often receives gifts of books and has been fortunate in recently getting several interesting ones from Miss Katherine A. Rood of Stevens Point.

Among the books which Miss Rood gave are the following:

Bound volumes of the "Musicians" dating from 1897 to 1915. These give illustrated accounts of famous musicians of that time.

Valuable German books including a "Dictionaire of Technologie" in French, English, and German.

Colloquial Phrases and Dialogues in German and English (1847).

Two books for the old Book File — "Hartford Selection of Hymns 1816"; and "Sacred Lyrics from German — 1859.

Many new books from the publishers have been received, some of the most interesting are:

Four more volumes of a set of thirteen: "Mythology of all Races" — beautifully illustrated and the subject covered very well.

Smithsonian Scientific Series — new set very wonderfully illustrated.

"Metal Crafts in Architecture" and "Wrought Iron in Architecture," by Geerlings. (On page 168 in last book are pictures of the doors of the Hardware Insurance Building in Stevens Point).

Fourth Volume of Mark Sullivan's "Our Times" called "Pre-War America."

Beards "The American Leviathan, The Republic in the Machine Age."

Wingfield — Stratford, "History of British Civilization."

"Modern Archery," by Lamberth which is a textbook on the art of shooting.

"The Fly and Minnow," by Reynolds, which is of special interest to fishermen.

Steiner Honor Guest At Primary Party

Members of the Primary Club spent an enjoyable evening at the home of Alice Turrish, president of the club. The party was in honor of Mr. Steiner who acted as the primary director the first semester. The evening was spent in playing Bunco. First prize was won by Alta Atwood, consolation by Beatrice Chvala. A door prize was given to Mareella Kuehl, who held the lucky number.

As a token of appreciation, the Primaries presented Mr. Steiner with a gift.

A delicious lunch was served at 10:30 o'clock.

EAU CLAIRE BOWS TO POINT QUINT IN CONFERENCE GAME

Debaters Have Heavy Program This Week

During this week the debate teams have been carrying out an intensive program. On Monday, evening at 8 P. M. the C. S. T. C. Affirmative debated the River Falls Negative. Tuesday noon two men from our Affirmative and two from our Negative debated before the Kiwanis Club. Wednesday evening both of our teams debated before an audience composed of employees of the Hardware Mutual Insurance Company. Today is another busy day. The Central State Affirmative travels to Eau Claire while the Eau Claire Affirmative comes to the Point for a debate with our Negative this evening.

Besides such an intensive weeks' program there will be three debates next week:

C. S. T. C. Affirmative vs Lawrence Negative at New London, March 1.

C. S. T. C. Affirmative vs University of Wisconsin Negative at Forrest, March 2.

Conference Debates

C. S. T. C. Affirmative vs Platteville Negative at Stevens Point, March 6.

C. S. T. C. Negative vs Whitewater Affirmative at Whitewater, March 6.

Chi Delta Rho Gets Mardi Gras Prize

Central State's annual Mardi Gras was a success financially according to reports from the business manager Elizabeth Rogers. About $250 was cleared on the affair, which tends to net that amount each year. This money is used to decrease Iris expenses.

A prize is awarded each year to the organization which takes in the most money, at its side show. The prize this year will go to the Chi Delta Rho Fraternity. The Rural Life Club should be mentioned for running a close second.

Gents Outnumber The Ladies At A. A. Dance

A dance, sponsored by the Athletic Association, was held last Saturday night in the old gym after the Eau Claire game.

Ray Jacobs' Orchestra furnished the music.

There was but one rarity that being the fact that the gentlemen outnumbered the ladies.

POINTERS TAKE LEAD IN LAST HALF TO WIN 23-14

Coach Bill Zorn added another to his defeats Saturday night. After trailing 6-7 at the end of the first half Stevens Point took the lead away from Eau Claire soon after the second half began. During the first half the Pointers could not find the hold in the net. There was a great deal of shooting but the ball would go into the loop and out.

E. C. Leads at Half

Eau Claire took the lead in the first minutes when Neau, center, caged a tap-in shot. A free throw by Schroeder started the scoring for the Point. A short shot by Hansen and a tap-in shot from under the basket gave the Point a score of 6 for the first half as against Eau Claire's 7.

Coach Kotal had to use about all the combinations possible the first half. Nine men were used and yet no one could make a basket.

Point Takes Lead

The Point began scoring in the second half when Vic Vrobel made a basket from mid-court. This started the Point, and from then until the last of the game the Pointers gradually extended their lead.

Capt. Neuberger was high-point man with two field goals and two free throws. Ted Chvala who was scoring ace in the first part of the season was unable to cage a single goal.

Reserves Beat Amherst

In a preliminary game the Reserves of the College played Am-

IMPOLITE TEACHERS — AND CHILDREN

HERE is an editorial which appeared in the January issue of "The Household Magazine." It was inspired by an article in that issue written by a layman and presenting the view of some parents in respect to teachers. In terms of food for thought, this editorial should furnish a good square meal of mental nutrition for anyone interested in teaching, or in becoming a teacher. It could be applied to our own assembly meetings as well as to annual meetings at Milwaukee, with profit.

The editorial is as follows:

The article by Archie Chadbourne, 'I Have a Teacher Complex,' in this number of the magazine set me to wondering what the main deficiencies of teachers are. The first thing that came to my mind is lack of politeness.

I do not mean that every teacher is impolite; I know many teachers who are the soul of courtesy. As a whole, however, I believe teachers are less polite than any other group that I have ever encountered except the Communists. And the Communists, at that have some excuse; stirring up a row is part of their program — they believe in it. Teachers are thoughtlessly impolite.

I attended recently a gathering of teachers addressed by one of the most distinguished of Americans. The meeting was in turmoil from the time he began. Teachers talked in audible whispers to each other; they scraped chairs on the floor; they moved in and out of the room, making as much noise as a company of soldiers just awakened by a top sergeant.

Nor is this a solitary example. Time after time I have observed the same sort of thing in meeting of teachers. Speakers have related their experiences with teacher's conventions and most of them have been unfavorable. One man tells me he always charges more than his regular fee when asked to address teachers, because of the nervous strain in speaking to such an audience.

I mentioned this the other day to a teacher. She agreed with me on the impoliteness of her profession. She attributed it to the fact that teachers are clothed with authority — their word is law to their pupils, or at least they think it is — and they develop an authority complex; the teacher, like the king, "can do no wrong." I am not sure this is the right explanation, for the clergy are likewise clothed with authority yet few audiences are more polite and attentive than gatherings of ministers or priests.

Whatever the cause, impoliteness on the part of teachers is a mighty bad sign. We complain a great deal about the discourtesy of modern youth, and I wonder if they don't get it from their instructors. For example always preaches louder than precept. I believe that children should be trained to be polite — for their own sake, if for no other reason. Few assets are universally more valuable. The best salesman that I know does not dash ahead of everybody in the office and try high-pressure tactics; rather, he is invariably courteous to everybody, from the office boy to the president of the firm on which he is calling, and he speaks with the utmost politeness and good will of his most scurrilous competitor. One of the outstanding characteristics that have made my own employer, Senator Arthur Capper, successful in both business and politics, is his thorough-going politeness; always he is a gentleman. I could mention a dozen other instances of politeness as a tangible asset in any other walk in life.

Other things being equal, a polite boy or girl will always get the preference for a job. What is more, politeness is frequently the determining factor in holding a job, and in gaining promotion. This fact should be impressed on young people — and impressed by example, the best way of teaching."

DEFEAT STOUT!

LET'S have a real turnout tomorrow night to help our team swamp Stout!

HUMOR MORE OR LESS

Do you remember the absent-minded professor who kissed the door and slammed his wife?

"I didn't know I was lame when I left home this morning," said the absent-minded professor as he walked down the street with one foot on the curb and one foot in the gutter.

Firp — "Do you believe it is unlucky to marry on Friday?"
 Jack — "Why should Friday be an exception?"

A man never gets into trouble chasing women, it's after they're caught that the trouble begins.

Kissing doesn't shorten life; it just makes the time pass more quickly. —P. M.

Miss Hussey — "Isn't that young man rather fast?"
 Alta — "Yes, but I don't think he will get away."

She was just an Optician's daughter, but oh, boy! two glasses and she made a spectacle of herself.

Dick — "I'm going to see my girl tonight. What kind of a shirt should I wear."
 Ced — "A clean one."

Micky — "Do you think it is unlucky to postpone a wedding?"
 Jack — "Not if you keep on doing it."

When there is nothing more to be said Miss Roach always says it!

Margaret — "Yes, papa; I was just showing him some of my picture postcards."

Mr. Disher — "Well, the next time he wants to stay late you just show him some of the light bills."

Kissing a girl just because she expects you to is like scratching a place that doesn't itch.

When Helen heard that an attempt was being made to revive oratory she exclaimed: "Oh, was he at that party too?"

Have you heard of the Scotchman who poured water over his head and let it freeze so that he could break off his hair to save his getting a haircut?

Perhaps some of our co-eds could substitute this method for that of acquiring longer locks because of the high price of haircut.

Did you ever see the first pin worn by a Phi Lambda Phi?
 If not, ask Kermit Frater about it!

Famous last words at the dormitory — the door was locked.

SPIELEND SPRECHEN FRED COCHRANE

Wie Gehts.

C. S. T. C. 23 — Eau Claire 14

The Worm has turned.

Had the boys been "on" with the old eagle eye the score would have read C. S. T. C. umpteen umpt — Eau Claire 8.

Mr. Mott has quite a few tricks up his sleeve. During the half he demonstrated the disappearance of the magic ball. The mysterious words will do it. He promises a good handkerchief for some future date. Don't miss it!

Angry guide: "Why didn't you shoot at the tiger?"

The timid hunter: "He didn't have the right kind of expression on his face for a rug."

Penn. Punch Bowl.

John complains that he has been very busy lately spraying the campus oaks. This warm weather is a boom to tree sitters. Oh winter, where is thy sting! Come ye to John's assistance.

According to the "Jester", the girl who swallows swords in the sideshow has nothing to the one who inhales "Camels" in a restaurant.

Let's take Stout for a ride! Don't let their jibe at our "cracker-box" pass unnoticed.

herst high school. The result of this game was a 9-5 victory for the reserves.

Friday night's game here with Stout will bring the season's conference schedule to a close. If the Point wins this contest it will place Central State in the upper half of the list in the finals. Stout presents an admittedly formidable team, having recently defeated River Falls, the defending champions. A large turnout of the student body is expected to help their team win in the final chance to raise their standing in the conference.

NELSON HALL NOTES

Greetings:

What is your Lenten resolution? Around this time of year, one's will power is tried to the breaking point. It isn't so bad if your friends are in the "same boat", but if they insist on teasing you into eating candy and what not, it's just too bad. It's one time when a "girl needs a friend" who won't treat.

The epidemic of flu is slightly tardy this year, but managed to gain a slight hold on some of our individuals. Ruth Meifert, Velva Funk, Mina Hunt, Lucille Johnson and Mildred Lonsdorf are now enjoying convalescence from the illness. Miss Hussey has also recovered from a severe cold. We're also glad to welcome back Mrs. Gregory to the kitchen. We missed her delicious pies this week.

The "germ" seems to have descended upon Miss Rowe this week. Early Monday morning, the doctor was seen entering Nelson Hall, and later Miss Rowe was absent from her usual place in the office. She received orders to retire to her "sanctum sanctorium", and was presented with a somber-looking gray envelope containing capsules and a white envelope containing pink tablets. These together with the good old fashioned remedies ought to return Miss Rowe to us soon.

Sunday seems to be the day which some of the Nelson Hall girls anticipate, especially if they know that the "folks" from home are coming. This week-end Velva Funk entertained friends and relatives from Rib Lake. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Funk, Mrs. Talbot, "Billy" Funk and Mrs. Berfield. Mrs. Berfield had another interest, in coming to see her daughter, Helen.

Miss Reinetta Reisinger entertained Peter Johnson this week end. Peter declared that he loved all the teachers and especially Miss Hussey and Miss Rowe. He seems to have been very much attracted to Miss Hussey and spent nearly an hour with her during the afternoon. Peter is Reinetta's five year old cousin.

Miss Gertrude Conklin entertained at a special table last Thursday in honor of her birthday. Sweet peas and place cards decorated the table. The girls sharing the birthday cake were: Virginia Thiele, Thurza Iverson, Helen Jordan, Imogene Smith, Carolyn Hanson, "Jo" Schroeder, Louise Kersten, Lucille Smith and

Phi Lambda Phi's Pledge New Members

The Phi Lambda Phi Fraternity have started their annual pledging of new members for this semester. At a meeting held last Wednesday, the following men were pledged. Harvey Doeka, Kimbal Bloomquist, Celestine Neusse, Melvin Andre, Harry Klimowitz and Alvin Buege. This is perhaps the reason for the wave of etiquette which has swept the campus for several days. Don't be surprised if you are greeted with a "How-do-you-do, sir!" some morning or afternoon. The pledges would probably appreciate your sympathy.

Don't forget that the Phi Lambda's are sponsoring the dance together with the athletic association after the Stout game. Watch for announcements on their bulletin board outside the office.

W. A. A.

Last night the W. A. A. took several new members into their fold, and now these girls feel their responsibility as promoters of interest in athletics in this college. These girls are: Kathryn Wiggins, Olga Leonardson, Wilma Gutnecht, Ailee Lyman, Ailee Sorenson, Georgiana Atwell, Edna Crocker, Thurza Iverson, Kathryn Sawyer, and Kathryn Slowey. Jennie Newsome, Lila Kenyon, and Evelyn Davies are to be given due credit for the proper initiation of these new members.

The new constitution has been stenciled, and copies are being distributed to each member.

Hiking seems to be the vogue now days, and is advised as a preventive against flu if you keep your feet dry!. This weather is both good and bad, as it is favorable to both athletics and flu. Let us fight the flu with fresh air and invigorating exercise.

MARGARET ASHMUN

New pledges for the Margaret Ashmun Club were voted upon at the last meeting. The members of this honorary literary society must have an average of ninety to become a member. Those who have accepted the invitation to join the club are Florence Schoaf, Murilla Roberts, Ann Jeselun, Margaret Morris, and Frances Anderson.

LOYOLA

A very interesting program has been planned for the Loyola meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Rural Assembly. All Catholic students are urged to attend. The program will be as follows:

Current Events — Eileen Leahy.
Instrumental Numbers — Two members of the High School Band.

One act play — "The Woman of It" — Florence Schoaf, Ann Jeselun, Earl Karl Koch.

Topic of the Day—Rev. Chylinski.

Janice Bounsall.

Miss Katherine Reichert thinks that the refrigerator has been moved up to room 135 despite the plumbers efforts to bring all the steam up to that quarter.

Although the excitement of the Mardi-Gras has fairly worn off, Miss Hussey is still worried. She made a rash statement in saying that she would give a treat to any girl in costume winning a prize. To Miss Thurza Iverson belongs the prize. Perhaps it wasn't the costume, but anyway she has a treat in store.

Miss Esther Hawkes welcomed her brother back to the school routine Monday. Sam has just recovered from a case of measles.

Easter is again approaching and together with thoughts of Spring are thoughts of clothes. Several of the dorm girls found that 1117 Main Street was a splendid place to see some of the newest styles. All the girls are invited to look over the new dresses which have just arrived at the shop.

Rivalry for the attention of the fair maidens at Nelson Hall is an old story, but not until recently has much amusement arisen over the competition. The vendors of the "Saturday Evening Post", "Pictorial Review", and "Ladies Home Journal" show all the marks of high class salesmanship. One of the young men gallantly opens the door for the ladies, while another will take off his cap and ask every maiden passing the table in the hallway. The smallest salesman has such an enticing smile that the girls come running back with their dimes for the magazines. Oh, these winning smiles of the masculine gender!

Hope I haven't missed anyone this week.
