LOCAL SQUAD TRIMS DE PERE IN FAST GAME

Block High Man For De Pere
Marsh And Gregory
Point's Best

Coach Eddie Kotal and his Purple and Gold Wave ushered in the 1934 season Monday night by again trouncing St. Norbert's 27 and 19. Scoring honors went to Block the husky De Pere guard with his five baskets and two free throws. Nolan Gregory and "Jug" Marsh proved themselves worthy of the 1933 championship honor as Greg got five buckets and a free toss while Marsh slipped the ball into the net four times.

Line-up Shifted

The game was fast throughout and often rough. Sometimes the Pointers showed real class but the boys need a lot more practice before we can grow optimistic. Unferth showed up well especially on defense where he consistently stopped plays. Abel looked good at guard where he has been playing since Marsh was shifted to forward. Collins played well but needs more experience. His offensive strength was offset by the defense of Bob Tardiff who stopped plays continually when he was in the game.

Van Sistine Stopped

The St. Norbert's squad was fast and clever with the ball, but couldn't stop the local's offense. Van Sistine who ran wild against Oshkosh was completely stopped leaving Block to do the scoring from far out in the court.

Harlequins Sponsor Dance In New Gym Fri.

Harlequin Club is sponsoring a dance to be given Friday evening, in the new gymnasium, January 12th, from 8:30 until 11:30. The admission for the dance will be twenty cents. Townspeople are welcome.

Music will be furnished by the Collegians.

Miss Elmore Proves She's Personality Plus

Miss Lucille Elmore, Broadway Star and "vest pocket comedienne", was enjoyed by many at the auditorium last night in her versatile selections of dancing, singing, and impersonating.

Harlequin Players Rehearse Parts For 'Daddy Long Legs'

Wednesday evening, February 7th, the Harlequin Club will present Jean Webster's Play, "Daddy Long Legs".

"Daddy Long Legs", a comedy in four acts, first appeared in novel form. Later as a play, it enjoyed two years on Broadway. Mary Pickford played the leading role in the picturization with great success.

The story concerns one Judy Abbott, a founding girl who rebels against the tyranny of the John Grier Home in which she has grown from babyhood to adolescence. Jervis Pendleton, admires her independence and determines to give her what she desires. He arranges to send her to a fashionable college for girls, where she will have pretty frocks to wear, money to spend and the companionship of girls more fortunate than herself.

The only stipulation Pendleton imposes is that the girl is not to know the identity of her benefactor. Although she does not see her mysterious guardian, she manages to catch a glimpse of his elongated shadow cast on the asylum walls by the headlights of his automobile and promptly nicknames him "Daddy Long Legs".

Harlequin Club feels justified in saying that it has a very capable and well-suited cast, owing to the fact that the selection was made from the student body as a whole.

College Hour Composed Of Local Talent

The 1934 model of the Purple and Gold radio hour made its first public appearance of the new year yesterday afternoon, Wednesday, at the regular 3:00 o'clock hour, over the local station, WLBL.

Vocal Selections

Kirkwood Lykes of Vesper, tenor, gave some vocal selections accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen O'Neill. Leonard Huth, Wausau, rendered a piano solo. Ward Fonstad, Stevens Point, presented saxophone solo numbers. He was accompanied by Miss Margaret Miller, also from Stevens Point.

Present Arguments

Floyd Cummings of Tomahawk and Gerald Porter of Stevens Point each presented a six minute argument on the subject: Resolved; "That the power of the president should be increased as a settled policy".

They each handled different sides of the subject. Both are prospective debaters on this year's squad.

Ignatius Mish again gave a review of the college news and Jack Burroughs did the announcing.

IT'S HERE

A collegiate student talent program will be held in the auditorium this morning at 10 o'clock featuring crooners, accordion numbers, jazz hits, tap dances and other specialties.

Burroughs Pairs Off Prospective Teams For Meets

All students out for debate, 22 in number, in this college met in Mr. Burrough's room yesterday. Considerable time was spent on the development of tentative issues to be used in active competition.

Starting some day next week the following divisions will be paired off against each other in a series of intra-school debates.

Competition Keen

Bob Steiner, Willard Hanson; Cletus Collins, Celestine Nuesse; Donald Mills, Mike Zylka; Gladys Boursier, Evelyn Weiss; Minerva Busse, Rosalie Timm; Gennette Beggs, Irene Lonsdorf; Jack Ogg, Floyd Cummings; Donald Bryan, Loretta Rebman; August Gabriel, Phillip Kunding; George Maurer, Elmer Krause; Gerald Porter, Ole Schelssness.

The meetings, all of which will be audited by Mr. Burroughs, are to be judged by speech classes.

Initiate New Bloc Honoraries Tonight

Bloc Honorary will meet at the home of John Wied at 402 Pine St. this evening. Meeting will begin at seven-thirty. Arba Shorey and Edward Leuthold, newly elected members, will be formally admitted at this time.

The faculty and student body wish to express their sympathy to Miss Bertha Hussy, who lost her brother through death, and to Mr. Victor E. Thompson, who lost his sister recently.

NAME SOCIAL LEADERS FOR DISTRICT MEET

Walraven And Judge Owen Will Preside At Institute
January 11 - 12

Ten Stevens Point persons have been invited by the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work as leaders in the discussions to take place in connection with a short course in social problems to be held at the Whiting hotel, Stevens Point, Jan. 11 and 12. Seventeen other discussion leaders represent the surrounding counties of Marathon, Wood, Portage, and Waupaca which make up the fourth short course district.

Meet At Whiting

The invited leaders are: Mrs. Raymond Rightsell, Miss Ethel Fonstad, Pres. F. S. Hyer, Joseph Kanz, Mrs. H. S. Todd, D. E. Nebal, Miss Margaret Butler, P. M. Vincent, Miss Alice Rogers, and Miss Charlotte Bard, all of Stevens Point.

Presiding at the discussions on the first day will be C. E. Nebal, Ernest Zieper, and Judge W. F. Owen. Presiding on the second day will be W. F. Collins and City Manager Peter Walraven.

Excellent Speakers

The following persons will speak at the various sessions: F. M. Wilcox, formerly chairman of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission, now secretary of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work; Dr. Charlotte Calvert, director of the bureau of child welfare, state board of health; Mrs. Edwin G. Thompson, member of the executive committee of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, student of illiteracy problems, and prominent in social work; J. K. Marshall, superintendent of high schools in Wisconsin for the past 12 years and director of Boy Scout activities and vocational guidance; Mrs. F. M. Crowley, trained social worker and active in the League of Women Voters; Miss Nora Hovrud, former director of religious education at Luther Memorial church, Madison, St. James Lutheran church, New York, and the Y. W. C. A., Bridgeport, Conn.; and Miss Ethel Brubaker, juvenile department, state board of control.

This is the fourth of a series of short courses in social and economic problems being conducted under the auspices of the University Extension division and under the direction of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work. It is part of the federal co-operative project in adult education.

CHARLES F. WATSON

Mr. Watson is a native of the Badger State and comes from the district where that name was first applied to the early settlers in the territory that later became known as Wisconsin. Mr. Watson was born on a farm in the lead and zinc region of southwestern Wisconsin, the region which first received a large immigrant population. These immigrants were attracted to the district by the discovery of lead near Hazel Green in 1824. By the winter of 1825 so many people had come in that buildings enough to house them were not available. Those who could not buy or build log huts to protect them during the cold of the first winter were forced to live in prospect holes and tunnels in the ground. One of the native animals of Wisconsin and Illinois is supposed to live in burrows in the ground in a similar manner and it is therefore, not surprising that some miner with a fertile imagination saw the comparison and christened the inhabitants of the new country "Badgers". When the territory grew up and became a state the name still clung to us and Wisconsin has been known ever since as the "Badger" state.

Mr. Watson attended the same country school that gave John William Livingston, a former member of our Normal School faculty, his early education. After completing the rural school he entered and completed a four year course at Platteville State Normal School in 1901.

On graduating from the normal school Mr. Watson was elected assistant principal of the Montfort high school. He served one year in this position after which he became principal of the Linden, Wisconsin, high school for two years. He resigned this position to enter the University of Chicago in the fall of 1904. Funds becoming scarce at Xmas time in 1906 (Doesn't that sound familiar?) Mr. Watson withdrew from school to take a teaching position in the Southwestern Louisiana Industrial Institute at Lafayette, Louisiana, for the remainder of the year. The next year Mr. Watson went to Drury College at Springfield, Missouri, where he filled the position as Instructor in Geology and Foot ball coach. At the end of two years he returned to the University to complete the work for his Bachelors Degree.

Having majored in Geology Mr. Watson now had some idea of getting into the mining business. He, therefore applied for and secured the position of superintendent of schools in one of the large copper mining camps at East Ely, Nevada. The two years spent here convinced him that he did not want to change his business or profession. Perhaps this decision was due in part to the fact that 1909 and 1910 were two very bad years for the mining business, with the prices of copper, lead and zinc down as low as they were during the early part of the past year.

In the fall of 1911 Mr. Watson was made head of the Geography Department of Indiana Normal School at Indiana, Pennsylvania. This position was held for a year but at the end of that time he secured a Fellowship at the University of Chicago and returned for graduate work in his chosen field, Geography. He remained at the University until he was elected to his present position in the fall of 1913. Since coming to Stevens Point, W. Watson has returned to the University of Chicago for summer school work to the extent of about a full year. In 1928 he was given the M. S. Degree.

Mr. Watson came to S. P. N. as head of the Geography Department and assistant coach in foot ball. In 1919 he was made Director of the Grammar Department. Since coming to Stevens Point Normal Mr. Watson has contributed a number of articles to the Journal of Geography, the Magazine published by the Mississippi Valley Association, an organization of business and professional men for the improvement of navigation, on the Mississippi River, and has published the "Geography of Wisconsin" a text book for use in the grades. His most extensive work is a research project done for the Department of Geography of the University of Chicago on "The Evolution of the Lead and Zinc Region of Southwestern Wisconsin".

DID YOU KNOW THAT?

The semester closes Friday, February 2, 1934 and the second term starts Monday; Feb. 5 with registration on that day. The week of Jan. 29 will be utilized for final examinations. Watch the main bulletin board on the second floor for a posted schedule of examinations.

For those interested, the program for the second semester can be found on the side board in Dean Steiner's room on the first floor.

NELSON NEWS

by MILDRED SIMONSON

Nelson Hall became alive again when the girls began to return on Sunday. Everyone reports a pleasant vacation and a resolution to return to work with fresh vigor.

One of the Nelson Hall girls has a "yen" for collecting animals. Little by little she has added to her menagerie. Over the holidays this number has increased to an alarming extent. Now a visitor is greeted by the menacing store of no less than seven dogs. There is even a replica of one of her ancestors hanging from an improvised limb in the corner.

Who says there is a depression? We have confirmed information that a young man decided to begin the New Year right by paying a telephone bill of $13.50 for calls made to a certain girl in the dorm.

FIRST CONFERENCE GAME FRIDAY

LOCALS FACE TOUGH GAMES THIS WEEKEND

Platteville And Whitewater Furnish Opposition On Successive Nights

Coach Eddie Kotal will give his cagers their first taste of conference ball as they journey to Platteville on Friday, and Whitewater on Saturday. The Pointers closed a fairly successful group of practice games, winning three and losing two. Wins were scored over St. Paul's Luther, and two over St. Norbert's while games were dropped to the University and alumni.

12 Men Back

The Platteville Pioneers have a team who have made it tough for all opponents this season, and there is no reason to think that Coach Leitl's squad will not be out to stop the 1933 state champs. The Pioneers have twelve of last year's sixteen men returning and they are led by Captain Marvin Babler, stellar defensive guard. Although losing to Milwaukee, they showed surprising strength in holding Guy Penwell's strong quintet to a 35 and 29 score.

Quakers Sat. Nite

Coach Chick Agnew and the Whitewater hardcourters will be out to avenge the two beatings the Pointers handed them last year. In the first tilt the Quakers fell 28 and 19 while the second game ended with the Pointers on the long end of a 46 and 24 score. Among the veterans who will again face the champs are Kinzer, Janiesek, Stevenson, Converse, and Hahn. The House of David and DeKalb have defeated the Agnewmen in non-conference tilts this year.

Hard Schedule

The Pointers will have to begin getting used to this traveling from place to place. It's hard enough on a team to play games on consecutive nights at home, but it's plenty tougher to travel in between. The 1934 schedule calls for a lot of this from the Kotalmen and makes it necessary for the coach to develop capable reserves so that the regulars can get all the rest possible. Later in the year the cagers meet Oshkosh, Carroll, and Milwaukee twice — four games in eight days — as they travel from place to place. What makes it worse is the fact that these four games are the toughest on the schedule. The toll of the hard work will probably prevent the Purple and Gold from making as good a showing as they would like against Carroll whom we play for the first time in the history of the school.

BILL'S BULL

Coach Art Thompson of the "B" squad and Captain of last year's championship quintet, has been playing basketball with the Oshkosh All-stars. This aggregation, made up of stars from throughout the nation, has won from the Green Bay Packers and other professional teams of high caliber.

Eddie Kotal shifted Marsh to forward where his experience will add scoring punch to the forward wall. "Jug" had hard luck on his shots in the St. Norbert's game but the change in lineup seems to bring good results.

After the St. Norbert's tilt, the DePere boys were plenty mad. One of them showed decidedly poor sportsmanship by taking a sock at little Harry Ringdahl, coach of the city high school athletics. As far as we could ascertain Harry did nothing to merit this burst of anger. It spoils the fun in sports to get mad when you loose and puts a black mark on the school. As Coach Klandrud of Wisconsin Rapids, who officiated at the tilt, said, "It's in the cards that you've got to lose sometime. so why not take it on the chin and shut up?" We found that out ourselves when the University boys gave us a thorough drubbing, but the boys didn't get mad. They played clean, hard ball all the time.

Nolan Gregory seems to find that no matter how good you are, you can always learn. In the past, there have been very few games in which Greg didn't get a few fouls called on him. However, in the tilt Monday not one foul was charged against him although his defense was as strong as ever. Good work, Greg! Of course we realize that a guard, especially a short one, must do a lot of intentional fouling to prevent so-called "sucker" shots. We fully expect to see fouls chalked up against our guards when they run into faster competition, possibly more than usual since the guards are being used in the offense more and more. This often enables a fast-break of the opponents to shake a man loose under our basket, but the scoring punch that the guards add, more than offsets the opponents' chances.

ART THOMPSON LEADS ALUMNI IN 33-29 WIN

Regulars Peter Out Before Onslaught Of Grads. Tommy Stars

Only six alumni were in uniform on the last day of 1933, but they were enough to beat the varsity 33 and 29. They took an early lead but the dopsters thought that the "old" men would soon tire. However, the six men were probably in better condition at the end of the game than the ten regulars who opposed them.

Thompson Stars

Art Thompson and little Art Schroeder starred for the alumni, Tommie getting six baskets and a free throw and Schroeder dropping three field goals and five charity tosses. Unferth, Gregory, and Tardiff provided the little scoring punch that the college boys showed. Of course, the team hadn't been working together because of the holidays, but then the alumni combination had never worked together.

Free Throws a Loss

If the boys could have made even a fair share of their free throws they could have won the game. They missed fifteen out of twenty-four. Art Thompson and Forrest McDonald of the alumni each had six personal fouls but Coach Kotal made them stay in the game.

On Monday evening, January 15th, at 8:00 o'clock, the Rural Life Club will sponsor a program in the main auditorium presenting Howard Cleaves a Photo Naturalist, Lecturer, and Writer.

Mr. Cleaves, who has been official photographer with the Pinchot South Sea Expedition has a first-hand account of the 15,000-mile voyage of the schooner Mary Pinchot. Away seven months, the party brought back more than 25,000 scientific specimens, including a number of live animals for Americans Zoos.

This presentation will take the place of the regular meeting of the 'Ruralites'. The student body is invited to attend this unusual attraction.

MIXIN' 'EM UP

by the crew

A large individual certainly has an advantage over a smaller person. For example; "Punk" Winn is bound to be a big man in his field no matter what field he may enter.

This story can't be verified, but it sounded good when it was told to me, so we'll take a chance on a libel suit. "Bucky" Berdoll is the only member of the band who had one of the new uniforms last Monday night. Now Bucky, as you remember, pulled into the game about an hour late. His idea was this; why not slip over to the college and put on the new outfit and make the rest of the band feel cheap? Well, the fellow that caught Bucky in the act of putting the suit on, made him take it off, and, afterward that fellow told the story to me just as you see it here.
