

53 GRADUATES PLACED AT PRESENT

THIRTY RURAL STUDENTS HAVE TEACHING JOBS

Eight Alumni Placements Are Made; Advancements Are Reported By Others

Fifty-three college graduates have been placed in schools throughout Wisconsin by the training school and Rural department.

Others Promised

The Rural department has been most successful this season in placing its students. Nineteen of the one-year group and eleven of the students who have taken advanced courses already have contracts for positions for next fall. Director Oscar W. Neale states that there are at least ten more who have been promised contracts but because of delinquent school board action have not yet signed them.

Six Primaries

To-date there have been four placements among the High School department grads. One Home Economics and six Primary co-eds have contracts for positions. The Intermediate Department has placed two and the Grammar and Jr. High, one each.

In addition to these, eight of last year's grads, who did not have positions previously, have been placed. Also eight former graduates have reported they have advanced to other positions.

Twelve Students Finish Course At Training School

Tuesday, June 5, Mary D. Bradford Training School graduated from its halls twelve members of the class of 1934. They are: Twyla Barge, Elmer Felio, Irma Fitzmorris, Opal Holts, Janet Jablonski, Jean Luxem, William Miller, Cyril Piotrowski, Jessie Ripton, Helen Roeder, William Shafranski, and Robert Wilson.

Quite different from other graduation exercises of the elementary schools in this vicinity, the class was honored with a very impressive commencement program, in which Miss Roach was the principal speaker. Mr. Burton R. Pierce, principal of the Junior High, presented the certificates of graduation.

The Class colors are Purple and Gold. The Class Flowers are the Marigold and the Blue Gentian. Their motto is: "Look back, look at, look forward".

Most of these young men and women are planning to attend the local high school for further education.

INDEBTED TO ASSOCIATES

In this, the final, issue of the '34 Pointer I wish to express a feeling of indebtedness to the members of this year's Pointer Staff, for their untiring services during the past school year. Students who are unacquainted with the 'strings' of publishing a school newspaper are not able to realize the vast amount of work and time necessary to carry out such a project. Benefits derived of being a member of the staff are comparatively small considering the amount of work the individual is required to do.

Each person on the staff has, without doubt, done his share of the work and some of them have done considerably more and deserve a reward for it. May I ask the cooperation of the student body in showing our appreciation for these faithful services when these people receive their awards in assembly tomorrow, Friday, at ten o'clock.

I am also indebted to the student body and faculty for their contributions.

EDITOR.

THE 1934-35 POINTER

Custom demands that the editor-elect add a small contribution to the edition that brings to a close the journalistic year. In keeping with this practice we submit the following message:

Those who have tread the path of journalism before us have given freely of their time and thought. They have set up standards that will serve as goals and ideals; they have seen fit to improve the paper as the school which the paper represents has progressed. Their efforts were presented in printed form to more than a thousand readers. They can rest assured that next year's paper will owe much to them.

It is yet too soon to write or tell of the paper that will represent Central State next year in the newspaper field — the proof lies in the pudding and the pudding is still in recipe form. We assure you, however, that we will do our level best; and that your aid and cooperation will aid greatly in turning out a paper worthy of our growing college.

To those of you who will not be back with us next year we wish all possible good fortune; to those who will be back to keep C.S.T.C. on the map we say: "Your efforts and acts will be the basis on which the school next year is judged. Do worthy deeds, and we will present your exploits to twelve hundred critical readers in printed form."

FRANK KLEMENT,

Editor-elect of
'34-'35 Pointer.

HONOR FOR FORTY YEARS OF SERVICE

The room was brightened by the warm sun of a beautiful May day. A grey-haired, kindly faced professor sat at a desk at the close of that busy day and thought of the years that had passed. He looked at the busy room and in memory compared it to his first used room. And then into his mind there came a picture of the multitude of men and women whose future was made successful by the work that he had done; he saw there also the host of men and women who had helped and were still helping to make the work possible, and a smile of contentment lighted his countenance until it shone with a joy and love that was almost divine. He straightened his shoulders and pushed back his chair as if to say, "Carry on, the forty years have been worthwhile," gave a thought on the morrow and departed.

The professor was Dr. Joseph Victor Collins, instructor of mathematics. The scene was the library of Central State Teachers' College in Stevens Point with friends in all walks of life, far and near.

Forty years! A long time, indeed, for any man to devote entirely to one thing! What great changes had occurred in that time! Had you ever given yourself time to think of these changes? They had just come in the natural course of events and as the results of heroic labors. Many had been made to meet new and unusual conditions. Some had been made after long and bitter struggles, but all had been of advantage, and none had ever been rescinded except to move forward as conditions warranted.

In the span of forty years, a young man's auburn hair turns to gray. A young man's springy step turns to a slower, firmer tread. A young man's dream becomes a reality or turns to ashes in his mouth. A young man's impetuous nature becomes a conservative counsel.

Forty years ago, horse-drawn vehicles were our usual means of transportation. Telephones and electric lights were but curiosities forty years ago and automobiles were all but unknown.

To many men the span of life is finished in forty years or less. Nations rise and fall again and governments completely change within that length of time. Great leaders rise and point our way and then give way to others in less than forty years.

And yet in all this changing world, Dr. Collins worked on, filled with fire and ambition and willing to work long hours. He came to us in young man's ways; his auburn hair has turned to silver but his springy step and his dream are with him yet. Too great was his heart to surrender his dream; too strong his purpose to lessen his labor.

He has gone on, working for us every day of all of these forty years. He has counseled and led many through troublous times and good times. He has planned his work for us so wisely that our institution has grown stronger with each year of its age. He has given us all that a man can give.

Ruby is the stone of the Fortieth Anniversary and now in this ruby year of his work let us crown him with honor. Not with jewels that give joy to the vain and unfeeling, but with the only jewels that a College knows, the finest in word and deed. In congratulating him, let us pour out our hearts in the ruby of service and make this Fortieth Anniversary the greatest of his busy life.

Forty years of happy memories!

Forty shining, ruby years!

Congratulations! And may the Happiness of this event

Linger long with you, Dr. Collins!

BILL'S BULL

Well! It's the end of the trail and time to say good-bye. We have come to the end of a most successful school year, not only in sports but in other fields as well.

A championship football team was molded out of almost entirely new material. Hats off to Coach Kotal!

Our basketball team labored under inexperience and the loss of Co-captain Krumm before the season even began. However the boys came through to end up in third place, winning at least one game from every team except Milwaukee.

We have seen the inauguration of boxing as an intercollegiate sport. Golf, tennis, baseball, volleyball, and intramural contests have come increasingly into the foreground.

And thus and so we end up our time as sports scribe. It's been fun writing and we hope it's been worth reading.

receipt of a diploma from any course offered in this college the bearer automatically becomes a member of this organization. There are no fees or charges of any kind connected with being a member of the Association. Anyone being a member is also qualified to hold an office within its circles.

Any member of this organized association is welcome to attend any and all of its sponsorings. An alumni reunion and banquet is held each fall when teachers of the state gather at Milwaukee for their annual convention. However, we are anticipating that the reunion on June 8 may be the largest gathering of graduates ever known in the history of the school.

DR. GESELL '99 WILL ADDRESS '34 GRADUATES

Alumnus Of This Institution; Active In Extra-curricular Work; Interstate Champion

When Dr. Arnold Gesell, now a member of the faculty at Yale University, returns to the campus of his alma mater to deliver the commencement address to the 1934 graduates of Central State Teachers College, he will find a greatly changed outlay from the one he frequented during his undergraduate days here. The main building has been enlarged; Nelson Hall, the training school, Orthman Demonstration School, Schmeekle Athletic Field and the new heating plant have been erected since his departure.

Former News Editor

During the school year of 1897-98 Dr. Gesell was a member of the Normal Pointer staff, as the local editor, a position which corresponds to the news editor on the present staff. That same year Mr. Gesell entered the local oratorical contest but failed to place. He talked on "John Brown: The Man".

State Champion Orator

In 1898-99 he was appointed Editor-in-chief of the school paper, and again participated in forensic work. His oration "The Development of the Spirit of Youth" was accorded first place in the local, state, and interstate contest. Rather strangely, we think, the Pointer gives considerable space to the local and state contests, and only mentions by way of reference that Mr. Gesell won the interstate match. It does say, however, that of course every one knows the outcome and infers that there is no need to print ancient history in a newspaper.

From the April '99 issue we take the following quotation dealing with the state meet. "At last the... eve of March 17 arrived... The great hall was packed with 200 visitors, and Stevens Point was there en masse. Seats were at a premium. The faculty of the local normal had surrendered theirs and were perched in state upon the top most rows of the gallery..."

"The president of the INQL announced the program of the evening". (One of the speakers was E. G. Doudna, representing Platteville Normal, now secretary of the state board of regents). After the contest "the president of the INQL came forward, bearing in her hand the judges' decision... Distinctly came the words... and first place is awarded to Mr. Gesell of Stevens Point. If ever a crowd of 400 went crazy with delight it was after these words of moment had been uttered. In an

New College Courses

At a recent meeting of the Board of Regents, the following resolution, which will be of special interest to students who plan on entering this college for the first time on June 18, was adopted:

"Resolved, That after September 1, 1934, all elementary curricula except in rural departments shall be at least three years in length, and on that date no freshman shall be enrolled in any curriculum for elementary teachers, except in rural departments, of less than three years! All curricula of less than three years in elementary education for which students have enrolled before September 1, 1934, shall be completed not later than September 1, 1937. All rural curricula shall be at least two years in length after September 1, 1934."

No One Year Course

Beginning with September, 1934, the one year curriculum for the training of rural school teachers, and the two year curricula for the training of primary, intermediate, and grammar grade teachers will be discontinued. Two year, three year, and four year curricula in the rural division, and a three year curriculum for intermediate and grammar grade teachers will be offered; and only four year curricula will be offered in the other divisions in the college.

NELSON HALL

Miss Ethel Hussey has arrived from Grafton, Illinois to visit her sister at Nelson Hall for a month.

Girls are getting ready to leave for the summer vacation. Between tests they are seen busily packing their trunks and discarding accumulated refuse. The girls can tell you that the easiest way to get rid of old material is to put it in your neighbors' beds or throw it over their transoms.

Nelson Hall was the scene of festivities last Sunday afternoon when President and Mrs. Hyer entertained members of the graduating class in the reception room.

Many interesting and exciting plans are being made for the summer months. Traveling seems to be on top of the list. Thyrza Iverson left for Cape May, New Jersey to visit her home. Jean Lynn will be her guest for a month. Thyrza will also vacation at Joy Camp at Hazelhurst.

Shirley Webster, Genevieve Eastling, and Lillian Frawley will go West. Lillian will visit at Denver, Colorado; Genevieve at Portland, Oregon and other points along the west coast. Shirley will travel through Salt Lake City, Utah, possibly returning by way of California.

Ella Mortenson plans on traveling through several eastern cities — New York, Philadelphia, and Niagara Falls are among the most important ones.

Elmira Blecha and Genette Beggs intend to visit at Detroit, Michigan. Later Genette will visit at various cities in Ill.

Wedding bells will ring! Ivy Sommermeyer is sporting a new sparkler. Miss Hussey tells us she is filled with envy. It is a gorgeous ring, though. Ivy informs us that her marriage will take place August 3rd at her home in Plainfield. The lucky man is Mr. Roy Christiansen of that place.

LOCAL FACULTY WOMAN WRITES BOOK ON TRAVEL

Miss Mildred Davis Compiles Information Gained By Extensive Travel

Miss Mildred Davis, head of the foreign languages department of Central State Teachers College has just completed the compilation of information gained through extensive travelling throughout the United States, Canada, and Europe, and has that material bound into book form. The volume, which consists of between three and four hundred pages, is divided into three parts as follows; West, from Iowa to the Pacific; East, Iowa to the Atlantic and Canada; Europe, England, Holland, Belgium, Germany (Bavaria, Passion-Play), Switzerland and France.

Many Illustrations

The book contains several pen and ink illustrations portraying an etched effect which Miss Davis has drawn herself. Among the pictures to be found there are: San Buenaventura Mission, The Bells San Gabriel, Elbert Hubbard, Faneuil Hall, Thousand Islands, Empress of France, The Old Curiosity Shop, Kemp Hall, Magdalen Tower and Bridge, The Christus and Chateau de Chillon, Carcassonne.

The typed sheets of buff, and the illustration sheets of soft green have been beautifully bound into book form with a dark leather cover by the Worzalla Publishing Company of this city.

Work In Art

We might mention in this connection that while a student at the University of Iowa, Miss Davis did considerable undergraduate and graduate work in art. She illustrated with technical diagrams showing the adjustment of the organs of speech for each sound, a teacher's book of phonetics by Barrows-Cordyz.

"What is the secret of achieving beauty?" one very efficient young woman asked me recently.

"It's no secret", I answered — "it's just a matter of commonsense." And so it is! But the subject of beauty has been treated so emotionally, and has been placed upon such a pedestal that often this point is forgotten.

Compare beauty to some of the more ordinary things in your life, and you will see what I mean. For example, if you were going to move in to a new house you would look at it from a practical point of view. You would want that house to be constructed of the finest materials. In beauty consider that too. You want the purest ingredients in your beauty aids and cosmetics. Otherwise, the first worry of trouble that you meet will age and line your skin, render it an easy prey to sallowness and dullness. You want ingredients that actually benefit your skin — rich, rare oils, soothing lotions, pure vegetable colorings in your cosmetics.

Next, if you were moving, you would consider ways and means to move. You would hire a van, and engage a man who was known to be careful and experienced. So in beauty you ought to consider ways and means. You should find out from an expert the correct movements to use in handling your skin. You want advice from one who is experienced; who has the reputation of being successful in beauty.

Lastly, when you have moved, you consider the question of decoration. You wouldn't buy new curtains or rugs for any room without thinking of the color, the shape of the room, and the amount of sunlight that reaches it. In beauty, makeup must be considered from the same point of view. The colors needed for your skin type, the way cosmetics are applied to suit the shape of your face; the question of daylight and evening makeup — all must be thought of if you are to be truly happy in your new beauty home.

But although we approach beauty from the standpoint of common sense, the effect is entirely emotional when it is well done. Beauty brings admiration, joy, happiness, love! I hope you have all these things — and I know you can have them — in the years to come.

It is easier for the average man to draw the line than it is for him not to step over it later.

BOARD GRANTS MISS EVA SEEN A YEAR'S LEAVE

Will Attend University Of New York; Is Candidate For Ph. D. Degree In Education

The state board of regents has granted Miss Eva Seen, director of women's physical education at this college, a one year leave of absence starting in September 1934 and ending June 1935. She will return to the faculty in time to take charge of her department during the summer session of that year. While absent from her pedagogical duties Miss Seen will be a student in the graduate school of New York University where she will be a candidate for a Ph. D. degree in education, with major work in physical education. As The Pointer goes to press Miss Seen's substitute has not yet been announced.

Masters From Wis. "U"

Miss Seen received her bachelor's degree from Knox College of Galesburg, Ill. Perhaps rather strangely, during her undergraduate days she majored in economics and minored in psychology. Her high school experience included the teaching of mathematics and English. In 1926 she was awarded the degree, Master of Arts, by the University of Wisconsin, and has put in one year at that institution, in the medical school, beyond her Master's, toward the degree for which she is now a candidate. Before coming here seven years ago Miss Seen held a position, similar to the one she now holds, for one summer at State Normal University of Normal, Illinois.

Ripon College Days,

In the fall of 1894 every man in Ripon college who weighed over 100 pounds was given a football suit and ordered out to practise. Scores like 80-0 against Lawrence and 90-0 against Oshkosh Teachers proved the success of the program.

What tact and understanding! Just like a faculty member!

SET OF RULES PROPOSED BY SOCIAL HEADS

Reorganization Is Tentative;
Various Changes In Social
'Set-up' Being Considered

At the meeting of the social committee and the heads of the various organizations held two weeks ago, tentative plans for the reorganization of extra-curricular activities were drawn up. The tentative rules governing this new administration are as follows:

I-No student may be an officer or chairman of committee of more than one organization at one time. Note: This rule applies to all organizations, including classes as well as Editor and Business Manager of Iris and Pointer.

II-No student is eligible for office unless he maintained an average of 1.5 honor points during the semester preceding election to office. The same average must be maintained during the term of office, or the student officer shall be automatically relieved from office.

III-Students are urged to participate in extra-curricular activities, but are limited to membership in three of the existing functioning societies. Following is a list of societies to which this rule applies:

PROFESSIONAL

Home Economics Club, Forum, Primary Council, Round Table, and the Rural Life Club.

HONOR SOCIETIES

Margaret Ashmun Club, Sigma Tau Delta, Sigma Zeta and Blo.

DRAMATICS

The Harlequin Club.

SOCIAL

Omega Mu Chi, Tau Gamma Beta, Phi Sigma Epsilon and Chi Delta Rho.

Change List

The above rules have not been definitely established as yet. It is quite probable that some changes will be made before they are voted upon by the heads of the department. It is believed that the group of Professional organizations listed in rule III will be canceled from that list. Other groups, such as Glee Clubs and Band are also being considered for addition to the list.

Further probable changes in the '35 social set-up are that all professional groups will be scheduled to meet on Tuesday evenings. Because of night school the building is open and lighted on that night, thus operating expenses will be reduced.

The religious organizations meeting in the building will probably meet on Wednesday evening, and the various social groups will gather on Thursday evenings.

A Modern Bedtime Story, With A Moral

Once upon a time the band members of Central State Teachers College with their director Mr. Michelsen went upon a picnic down at the chain o'lakes at Waupaca, Wis. The day was one of those beautiful spring affairs that everyone appreciates and poets write about. There was romance in the air and everything, — and that's the reason — for the moral. Well, everyone had a lovely time. Some of the boys got with some of the girls, and a general spirit of good will prevailed. As evening drew nigh the gallant Mr. Michelsen, hovering o'er his charges like a knight of old, induced them to enter into the school omnibus, and take themselves home for the day, and let well enough alone.

Not So Good —

Two members of the band had anticipated just this move on the part of their director and had taken steps to foil his plans. The names of these two have been forgotten except by the old patriarchs of the tribe, but legend has it that the dashing young Romeo played a trombone in the band, and had often appeared with Benny Graham's orchestra, a popular dance band of the times. The adroit little Juliet was a very talented musician, being one of the finest pianists enrolled in the college. In the band she worked with the section wherein one "snare drum" Nason ruled supreme by hitting the bass drum.

The Climax

Now the Juliet had arranged to take her automobile for the trip. After the rest of the group had returned, these two lingered to rejoice in the fragrance of May breezes, and to drink the atmosphere when the moon glided silently over the slightly ruffled waters. Yes, it is often said that environment can easily intoxicate one, and surely this is a perfect illustration. After considerable dilly dallying the youthful couple decided it was time to take themselves home. The heroine was so imbued with the conquering spirit of the hero that she consented to allow him the privilege of driving the car. All was well until they were about half way home, and then the hero's hand that had been upon the steering wheel suddenly slipped and errrrr smash — another auto had run into the musicians.

Now the moral is this: Don't linger in the twilight after the rest of the crowd has gone home, and always drive your own car, and always listen and do as your elders do.

Another Incident

Beyond a doubt automobiles are bad medicine for college students. One other popular young gentlemen discovered to his sorrow that Stevens Point has both speed laws and motorcycle cops. Yes sir! this dashing, collegiate speedster had just remarked at the fine time he had made coming back to school after a week end at home. As a matter of fact he was showing his friends some of the intricacies of driving a car swiftly through thick traffic. To his surprise a motorcycle in this city moved more rapidly than he in the same traffic. The man on the wheel motioned to him and the boy, being a friendly chap, waved back. Finally the gentleman in the blue uniform, wearing dark glasses, and sporting a gun indicated rather forcibly that he desired to have a brief conference with the driver of the car.

instant the unsuspecting victor was on the football shoulders of his yelling comrades and borne upon the stage in the midst of roof raising pandemonium...No wonder! It was the purple and gold that fluttered highest now!"

With the state contest being held in this city and at this college it is only natural that the local publication should devote considerable space to that event. In his editorial of the issue from which we have taken the quotation Mr. Gesell apologized to his fellow students for finding it necessary to mention his own name in connection with the occasion.

"Nuff Said"

After a very few interchanges of greetings the cyclist decided he liked the boy so well that he gave him a calling card and informed him that he desired the lad to meet some of his uniformed friends the following morning at 9 o'clock sharp. Well, rather unsuspectingly, the chap appeared at the designated time. Much to his dismay, when he left the gathering his pocketbook contained about eight dollars less than it did when he entered.
