Fiendish Filosopher Feeds Friends Friperies, and Things

"Who could discontented be Amid such great variety?"

'Tis thus that the words of the immortal Hoffenstein ring out in my ears of a summer's morn as I ponder the infinite variety of things, and things, and innocently wonder how anger, anguish, and despair could even exist among the aforementioned variety of things, and things.

If thou likest not spinach;
Then, there is cheese,
Heck! I've lost the words
To end this wheeze.

At any rate, fair reader, you know exactly what I mean, I hope. My mind is a hopeless jumble of things, and things as I philosophize to myself in a gallant attempt to bring order and quietude to an embattled bean; you know exactly what I mean. (Poetry a la Walt Whitman, — only this rhyme.)

My word! I'm calming down. In fact, here I calm. Think I'll stick to poetry and philosophy. Mayhap I should return to my things, and things. As I sit here in class, the words of the professor ring in my ears. The words of my last professor ring in my ears. The snoring of the fellow beside me rings in my ears. The voices of the birds (bless 'em) ring in my ears. In fact, my head is a veritable carillon tower. But who am I to be discontented? Think of all the Africans with rings in their ears. They don't complain. The very thought of it makes me ill!

"And the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la,"
Have nothing to do with the case.
Two home runs, three strikes,
two outs, tra la
And a man on second base.
And now I shall finish this blurb,
tra la,
I hope no one ever finds out who wrote this stuff,
Would I be red in the face!

Representatives Of Organizations Meet, Plan Social Calendar

Heads and faculty advisors of all the organizations on the campus will meet with Mr. T. A. Rogers, chairman of the social committee, next Thursday evening, May 24, at 7:30 o'clock in his room on the first floor.

At this time the various groups will select dates for their social functions of the coming year, and a complete social calendar for the year will be outlined.

Organizations desiring the assurance of desirable dates for their '35 social events must have representatives present at the meeting to select those dates.

Glenn Geneva And Orchestra To Play At Omega Formal

Coeds are busy rounding up dates for the last spring formal dance of the school year which will be held at Hotel Wausau, Friday evening, May 25, when Omega Mu Chi sorority will hold its spring banquet and dance.

Glenn Geneva and his orchestra from Green Bay will play for

Sigma Zeta Sends Six Delegates To Annual Conclave

Six delegates from this college are now on their way to attend the national convention of Sigma Zeta, honorary science society, held at Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio, tomorrow, Friday, May 18, and Saturday, May 19. Those who will represent the local chapter of the organization are: Roberta Sparks, Marguerite Groves, Reinetta Reisinger, Richard Schwahn, Edward Leuthold, and Professor T. A. Rogers. The first four mentioned left by train last evening, while the two latter are travelling by bus.

Richard Schwahn will give a report to the gathering on "The Children of the Depression". Mr. Rogers is national treasurer of the society.

dancing from 9 to 1 o'clock. A 6:30 o'clock dinner for active and alumnae members and their boy friends will precede the dance. The Omegas have made it a tradition to hold their spring party at Wausau. Maybe this is one of the factors that makes it one of the most successful social frolics of the season.

RURALS GIVE ANNUAL PLAY NEXT TUESDAY

Excellent Cast, Clever Comedy, Popular Prices Insure Play's Success

"Playing the Game", a smart comedy drama in three acts, by Wilbur Braum, will be presented by the Rural Life Club in the college auditorium Tuesday, May 22. Rehearsals are progressing very satisfactorily and the play will be a finished production before Tuesday, according to Miss Mary Hanna, dramatic coach for the Rural Department.

Theme Is Service

Service is the theme of the play, with the leading characters revealing the various types that people may give to the community. "Playing the Game" is a comedy of the sure-fire variety with the necessary elements of suspense and local color that make for a successful evening's entertainment.

The cast of the production includes a considerable amount of excellent talent and was selected entirely from students in the Department of Rural Education. They are: Gail Wardell, a wealthy New York girl — Elizabeth Brockbank; Julie, her maid — Eleanor Marshall; Thorbin Wright, her lawyer — Gerhardt Holmes; Denton Vane, a novelist — Robert Neale;

Michelsen Plans Open Air Concerts

Peter J. Michelsen's college band plans to entertain college students and townspeople with at least two open air campus concerts as soon as the weather permits.

Last week's trip was satisfactory in spite of the fact that sand and wind nearly blinded the musicians, and blew away the music at just about every stop. During the day, six towns were visited in which six concerts were given before large crowds.

Already Mr. Michelsen is making plans for next year. He is writing to fifteen high schools in Wisconsin looking forward to favoring them with an opportunity to hear his band. The proposed tour would extend south as far as Reedsburg, north to Antigo, and west to Neillsville.

Tentative plans call for three concerts to be given daily, making the journey five days in length.

NUMBER OF APPLICATIONS INCREASED BY 100%

We are inclined to believe that business conditions in general are on the "up-grade". Likewise there is an exceptionally large "turn-over" in the teaching field this year. The number of applications made by graduates this year increased almost a 100% over those of last year, and certainly exceeds those of the past few years considerably. However, it is the experience of this year's graduate, more so than at any other time in the life of these young people, that experience in teaching is a qualification of extra-ordinary importance when seeking a position for next fall. Comparatively, the inexperienced graduate seems to be left out of the question of employment almost entirely, because of the large number of experienced teachers, many with Masters and few with Doctors degrees, applying for the same positions.

Contracts for teaching positions at present do not exceed those of a year ago, however it is anticipated that at least the same and probably a larger percentage of graduates will be placed by the close of the school term. Consequently, a larger number of graduates this year would mean more placements, if the above, anticipation is realized.

In the way of optimism we feel that placements would naturally "lag" somewhat behind this year, due to the numerous applications for each position, tending to allow Boards of Education more time to choose a good teacher to fill the vacancy. Another element which may result in considerable importance later on is that almost everywhere teachers, who are holding positions at the present time, are signing their contracts, under any and all conditions, to return next fall; no doubt, for the reason of wanting "to be sure of a job". A large majority of these are on the "look-out" for a more advanced position, and naturally some of them will succeed in making such advancement, thereby leaving further openings at late dates for graduates.

It seems to be the general attitude of graduating students to "take whatever job you can get". This consequently is a right attitude, that is, for those who are absolutely sure they are unable to continue their education into the graduate field. But for those who can afford such, there is no better time. If not being kept busy in school and without a job — it means loaf!! Certainly an education is valuable to everyone.

A VALUE

Have you ever heard a perplexed homemaker say, "I wonder if this color will harmonize with my rugs, or if that chair will look all right alongside of this table?" If a person is properly trained, these and many other similar questions are easily answered.

A Home Economics major can solve these problems, because, not only is a course in Interior Decoration included in her program, but also practical application of this knowledge is required as a part of her work. Such things as being able to arrange furniture or to select color schemes, curtains, and rugs all help to make a home attractive. L. K.

NOTICE!!!

There will be a special meeting of the Margaret Ashmun Club to be held in Mr. Burroughs' room on Monday evening, May 21. The meeting is to start promptly at 7:15. This is the last meeting of this organization for the year. Members are requested to be present.

Schwahn Gridders Triumph. Tilt Ends Spring Football

The handful of spectators who watched the football scrimmage last Thursday saw a few sparks of the old fire that carried the Purple and Gold to a championship last year. The Schwahn "Bear Cats" defeated the Miller "River Rats" to end the spring grid session.

Golds Score First

Miller's gold team scored first when Marrs tackled Nugent behind the goal line for two points. The strong wind had pushed Bucky's men far into their own territory and Nugent was attempting a punt. In the last quarter the purple squad triumphed when Broome blocked McGuire's punt and Bader fell on it for a touchdown.

Expect Bader Back

Bader, although not attending school now, plans to enter next semester. Many of the veterans were unable to compete because of track or baseball but they'll get plenty of chance next year, since

Coach Eddie Kotal has arranged one of the toughest schedules ever attempted here. Milton Anderson and Ray Nugent showed enough punch to cause this writer to think that those boys are the hardest hitting backs seen here for years.

The starting line-ups:

Purple	Pos.	Gold
Broome	c	Breitenstein
Pophal	rg	Marrs
Rothman	rt	Copes
F. Menzel	re	Spiehl
Maurer	lt	Firgens
B. Slotwinski	lg	T. Menzel
Schwahn	le	Klement
Murray	q	Gregory
Schmidt	rh	Miller
Trindell	lh	McGuire
Nugent	f	M. Anderson

Substitutions: Bader for Trindell, Loren Olson for Rothman, Ray Urbans for Pophal, Don Lieser for Broome.

Referee, Eddie Kotal; linesmen, Myron Fritsch and Gerhardt Holm.

BILL'S BULL

This isn't Bill's Bull; it's Arb's Bull. Now don't blame me. Ringness suggested that we change jobs for a week.

He figures that I'm going to take a crack at him for the publicity he gave me on the soup deal. Well, he's wrong. I still believe Mahatma Gandhi's passive resistance doctrine is the most practical philosophy.

Ofentimes it is remarked by college students, particularly athletes, that they get more out of extra curricular activities than they do from their academic work. Judging from some of the athletes that we have known, we certainly hope that is true. It would be too bad if they wasted four years of their lives.

Don't misunderstand me. I don't want to see anyone become a book worm. In fact I wish I could punt like Becker, tackle like Anderson, dribble like Gregory, shoot like Krumm, run like Scribner, heave the shot like Fritsch, serve like Neale, and drive like Kingston. I envy them.

I wish too, however, that I could talk like Nuesse, think like Mills, sing like Likes, write like Wied, play the piano like Halverson, slay the women like Maurer, and remember like E. T. Smith.

One man in the field of sports, who recently gained national recognition, seems to embody a goodly share of those desirable features. Do you remember Barry

Wood of Harvard? He played football, basketball, tennis, and baseball, and was a member of the crew. Yet somehow or other he managed to make Phi Beta Kappa.

There's a man for you.

Mr. Frank Klement
Editor, 1934-35 Pointer

Dear Friend:

One year from today you will be in an excellent position to give your fellow students a real insight into the relative intrinsic values of extra-curricular activities and academic work. You have had three years of competition in football and a similar number in basketball. You have a good reputation as a scholar. By this time next year you will have had a trial at amateur journalism. You will be able to tell us whether athletics have meant as much to you as extra work of a different type. I hope that you will make this the subject of at least one editorial of considerable length. A. J. S.

When we hear big time coaches talk, and they speak mostly of idealism, we are forced to evaluate what they say. There is only one man (in my opinion), if we are to judge by the report of the Carnegie Foundation, who really coached athletics for the benefit of the athletes received from the game. That man was (is) a clergyman by profession. His name is Amos Alonzo Stagg. The majority are out to win games all right — but, not for the glory of the alma mater, or to build the character of the participants. Primarily it is to bring to the coach headlines in the paper, and a new contract.

CHI DELTS EVEN SERIES; DEFEAT PHI SIGS 13-12

Game Won in Last Half Seventh Inning on Urbans' Single; Andy hits 2 homers

In another of those rousing games which never end until the last inning, the Chi Delts evened up the inter-fraternity kittenball series by defeating the Phi Sigs 13 and 12. The first game was won by the Phi Sigs in an extra inning. By the time this paper is in your hands another game is over and either the Chi Delts or the Phi Sigs have won two out of three games because yesterday the third game was played.

Score At 11 All In 7th

The Phi Sigs started off with a bang by grabbing 7 runs in the first inning. Before long the boys found themselves going into the seventh and last inning with the score knotted at 11 all. Milton Anderson then socked out a home run to give the Phi Sigs the lead. However, the Chi Delts won the won the game when Urbans' single scored McDonald and Schwahn.

Summary: Home runs, Peterson, Anderson 2, Zylka; three base hits, W. Schwahn, J. Collins; two base hits, Bremmer, Anderson, Gregory, Unferth, MacDonald, Menzel; bases on balls, off Klement 7; struckout, by Klement 3; by Collins 2; umpires, Gordon and Redfield.

That isn't pessimism, it isn't alarmism. It is merely stating a human character common to all men. It isn't derogatory to inter-collegiate athletics, or to the coaches. After all we need plenty of football and basketball in our curricula. The character building is there all right but it is a secondary consideration.

Schwahn Gridders Triumph. Tilt Ends Spring Football

The handful of spectators who watched the football scrimmage last Thursday saw a few sparks of the old fire that carried the Purple and Gold to a championship last year. The Schwahn "Bear Cats" defeated the Miller "River Rats" to end the spring grid session.

Golds Score First

Miller's gold team scored first when Marrs tackled Nugent behind the goal line for two points. The strong wind had pushed Bucky's men far into their own territory and Nugent was attempting a punt. In the last quarter the purple squad triumphed when Broome blocked McGuire's punt and Bader fell on it for a touchdown.

Expect Bader Back

Bader, although not attending school now, plans to enter next semester. Many of the veterans were unable to compete because of track or baseball but they'll get plenty of chance next year, since

Coach Eddie Kotal has arranged one of the toughest schedules ever attempted here. Milton Anderson and Ray Nugent showed enough punch to cause this writer to think that those boys are the hardest hitting backs seen here for years.

The starting line-ups:

Purple	Pos.	Gold
Broome	c	Breitenstein
Pophal	rg	Marrs
Rothman	rt	Copes
F. Menzel	re	Spieth
Maurer	lt	Firgens
B. Slotwinski	lg	T. Menzel
Schwahn	le	Klement
Murray	q	Gregory
Schmidt	rh	Miller
Trindell	lh	McGuire
Nugent	f	M. Anderson

Substitutions: Bader for Trindell, Loren Olson for Rothman, Ray Urbans for Pophal, Don Lieser for Broome.

Referee, Eddie Kotal; linesmen, Myron Fritsch and Gerhardt Holm.

BILL'S BULL

This isn't Bill's Bull; it's Arb's Bull. Now don't blame me. Ringness suggested that we change jobs for a week.

He figures that I'm going to take a crack at him for the publicity he gave me on the soup deal. Well, he's wrong. I still believe Mahatma Gandhi's passive resistance doctrine is the most practical philosophy.

Oftentimes it is remarked by college students, particularly athletes, that they get more out of extra curricular activities than they do from their academic work. Judging from some of the athletes that we have known, we certainly hope that is true. It would be too bad if they wasted four years of their lives.

Don't misunderstand me. I don't want to see anyone become a book worm. In fact I wish I could punt like Becker, tackle like Anderson, dribble like Gregory, shoot like Krumm, run like Scribner, heave the shot like Fritch, serve like Neale, and drive like Kingston. I envy them.

I wish too, however, that I could talk like Nuesse, think like Mills, sing like Likes, write like Wied, play the piano like Halverson, slay the women like Maurer, and remember like E. T. Smith.

One man in the field of sports, who recently gained national recognition, seems to embody a goodly share of those desirable features. Do you remember Barry

Wood of Harvard? He played football, basketball, tennis, and baseball, and was a member of the crew. Yet somehow or other he managed to make Phi Beta Kappa.

There's a man for you.

Mr. Frank Klement
Editor, 1934-35 Pointer

Dear Friend:

One year from today you will be in an excellent position to give your fellow students a real insight into the relative intrinsic values of extra-curricular activities and academic work. You have had three years of competition in football and a similar number in basketball. You have a good reputation as a scholar. By this time next year you will have had a trial at amateur journalism. You will be able to tell us whether athletics have meant as much to you as extra work of a different type. I hope that you will make this the subject of at least one editorial of considerable length. A. J. S.

When we hear big time coaches talk, and they speak mostly of idealism, we are forced to evaluate what they say. There is only one man (in my opinion), if we are to judge by the report of the Carnegie Foundation, who really coached athletics for the benefit the athletes received from the game. That man was (is) a clergyman by profession. His name is Amos Alonzo Stagg. The majority are out to win games all right — but, not for the glory of the alma mater, or to build the character of the participants. Primarily it is to bring to the coach headlines in the paper, and a new contract.

CHI DELTS EVEN SERIES; DEFEAT PHI SIGS 13-12

Game Won in Last Half Seventh Inning on Urbans' Single; Andy hits 2 homers

In another of those rousing games which never end until the last inning, the Chi Delts evened up the inter-fraternity kittenball series by defeating the Phi Sigs 13 and 12. The first game was won by the Phi Sigs in an extra inning. By the time this paper is in your hands another game is over and either the Chi Delts or the Phi Sigs have won two out of three games because yesterday the third game was played.

Score At 11 All In 7th

The Phi Sigs started off with a bang by grabbing 7 runs in the first inning. Before long the boys found themselves going into the seventh and last inning with the score knotted at 11 all. Milton Anderson then socked out a home run to give the Phi Sigs the lead. However, the Chi Delts won the won the game when Urbans' single scored McDonald and Schwahn.

That isn't pessimism, it isn't alarmism. It is merely stating a human character common to all men. It isn't derogatory to inter-collegiate athletics, or to the coaches. After all we need plenty of football and basketball in our curricula. The character building is there all right but it is a secondary consideration.

LEGION TAKES NEW INTEREST IN EDUCATION

Hirzy, Commander Of Local Post
Appoints Committee; Allez
Chairman, Two Assistants

In connection with steps toward relief for Wisconsin Teachers, the American Legion has taken upon itself to assist in the efforts to maintain a better standard for teachers.

Plan and Execute Program

Commander F. A. Hirzy of the Romulus Carl Berens Post No. 6 of Stevens Point has appointed a committee to plan and execute a program in support of education. Mr. George C. Allez, member of the local faculty, will be chairman with Paul M. Vincent, Principal of Schools of Stevens Point, and Joseph Koehn, a local business man, as assistant.

Present Declaration

The stand of the American Legion in the present educational crisis is expressed in the following declaration:

"We stand directly in opposition to national groups which advocate fixing the limit of free public education at the elementary school level, and to leagues and alliances backed by financial and industrial leaders which are trying to emasculate the public school program to protect their wealth from taxation."

"We are unalterably opposed to any movement to place the burden of this depression upon the backs of little children. The recession or withdrawal of state support for the education of normal or mentally and physically handicapped children is an attempt to evade the social obligation of our commonwealth."

"We insist that public education should be free from partisan politics. The administration of schools, the development of school policies, the selection of teachers, and enactment of educational legislation should be determined solely upon their contribution to the common welfare."

Present Sketch

The program which they have outlined has been approved by the school administrators, Department of Public Instruction, and the Council on Education of the Wisconsin Teachers Association.

Today, at 4 P.M., the activities of the committee will begin with a presentation of a sketch demonstrating the Legion's interests and activities in education in the past, over the local radio station.

Active support of necessary educational legislation will be a part of their program.

State Women's Club To Meet Here, May 18, 19

Tomorrow, Friday, May 18, and Saturday, May 19, Stevens Point Business and Professional Women's Club will be host to the state convention of The Wisconsin Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. Miss Eva Seen, director of women's athletics at this college, is president of the local chapter, while Miss Bessie Mae Allen, director of the Home Economics department, is general chairman of the conclave. Practically every woman member of the college faculty is affiliated with this organization which is international in scope.

International Theme

Miss Edna Carlsten is in charge of the decorations for the convention. For several days, work has been done under her direction on various kinds of panels to be used in the embellishment of St. Peter's auditorium, where two of the main dinners will be held. For the banquet Friday evening an international theme will be followed. Painted on ten panels four by six feet in size, are colored scenes of folk life from Holland, Argentine, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Norway, Sweden, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland. Each of these countries have National Federations of the club. For Saturday evening Miss Carlsten has prepared several large panels with the emblem of the society, the winged lady, artistically displayed.

Burroughs Gives Lecture

At the Friday noon luncheon Mr. L. M. Burroughs will give a lecture reading, "The Rise and Fall of the Mustache", a humorous recital showing the growing adolescent.

It is estimated that between three hundred and fifty and four hundred women will attend the meetings.

If a man ever feels religious it's when he finds himself in a tight place.

PLAY DAY

The gods were propitious, and last Saturday the rain of 6:30 P. M. was followed by a clear sunny day.

The guests of the day were from nine High Schools: Stevens Point, Antigo, Wisconsin Rapids, Merrill, Neenah, Wausau, Marshfield, Amherst, and Crandon. And how they entered into the spirit of the day!

Did we gourmandize (see Funk and Wagnalls) at the 12:30 luncheon? This part of the day was pleasing to the sight as well as to the inner pangs. The table decorations were in purple and gold, the center pieces being miniature may poles with dainty, colored streamers falling from crystal candlestick holders. The flowers on the tables were purple lilacs and yellow forsythia, and at each person's plate was a small central tower, made of paper, representing our main building flying a play day flag.

The luncheon program was begun by Kate Slowey's introducing Miss Hussey and Miss Seen who in their turn extended greetings to the guests, and there were 160 of them. The entertainment following was made up of two groups of tap dances, a skit, three selections played by an all girl's orchestra, and movies of activities at the Joy Camp at Hazelhurst, Wis.

By 4 o'clock, when the rain began, we were high and dry in the new gym dancing to the music of the Collegians and drinking lime punch at break neck speed. (did I say we?)

The old grads back for the day were Ann McWilliams who teaches at Coloma, Vivian Enge at Milwaukee, Blanche Tyler at Crandon, and Elizabeth Kelly, Amherst.

The day was all in all a "Beamer" (in other words a success), and we want to thank everyone who assisted us, and particularly the band members who played for the march and also several fellows who did heavy work.

A lime to this year's play day and may the next be as much fun!

Baseball

The line-up of the four kittenball teams that are playing off the spring series looks pretty promising. Many who played on last year's team are back this year and in addition there are a number of new ball players. The members of the teams are:

It might be well to remember in this connection that the Golden Age of Athens, when world civilization probably reached its cultural zenith, was an era in which great emphasis was laid upon athletics. As a matter of fact the International Olympic Games are but a modern counterpart of track and field meets held twenty five hundred years ago.

This is Bill speaking. If you'll pardon me, Arb, there are a few items that ought to go in here.

A practice golf meet with Lawrence was held there yesterday too late for reports. Marrs, Kingston, Maurer, and Gregory made up the Point team. A return match is being arranged for next week here. The Lawrence squad is of plenty high calibre since they've been working daily with a professional.

In case anyone should ask you, Coach Kotal plays a plenty fine game of golf, himself. He consistently shoots in the seventies. Since he has been here, Eddie has had athletic functions of all kinds going; football, basketball, track, baseball, volleyball, tennis, boxing, wrestling, tumbling, and golf are among the variety.

The tennis team, if they ever get through the tournament, is slated to travel with the track team to Whitewater where they will sock the ball around the cement. Arrangements were being made to bring the Oshkosh tennis team here this week and a return match next week.
