

MARDI GRAS TUESDAY NIGHT

EVERYTHING IN READINESS FOR IRIS SPONSORED MARDI GRAS

Low Cost To Predominate, says Schwahn, Chairman

Touched off by the nominations for the Queen of the Mardi Gras, what promises to be the gayest and most hilarious social event of the year is getting under way.

This year's Mardi Gras will excel all others in extent and detail. Never before has interest in a social event reached such a high pitch, and it is mainly due to the students' desire for a real Mardi Gras and not just a dance. In cooperation with the desires of the students, the Iris, sponsors of the Mardi Gras, are bringing in features never before used — such as voting for a Queen only (and she picks the King!) — voting for the most popular professor and professoress — bringing back the grand and glorious Midway with its sideshows, barkers, and banners — plus the "one and only" palm-reader, Madame Yogi-Yogi!

The Castillians, led by that key-tinkling maestro, Don Halverson, have been engaged as the Mardi Gras orchestra, and besides playing for the Main Show, will furnish the rhythm for the dance.

Menzel, Dance Chairman

Frank Menzel, in charge of the dance, announces that all is in readiness. Two gold thrones, mounted on a dias, have been erected at the east end of the floor. There the King and Queen will be regally crowned as the Mardi Gras "Royalty". The decoration theme will follow the Mardi Gras spirit, and will be gay and fantastic.

The faculty as well as the students have entered into the spirit of the Mardi Gras — for Miss Carlsen is helping the students of her art classes design and put together their costumes. These costumes are designed to portray the dress of man from the Caveman period up to the present. The pictures of these costumes are on display in the Art Rooms and everyone is invited to inspect them at their leisure. Miss Allen, head of the Home Economics Department, has arranged a costume exhibit that is now on display, and which is being conducted by members of her classes.

We all long to forget our troubles for at least one night, and be happy, carefree, and gay! We say—COME TO THE MARDI GRAS! We offer you gayety... dancing... laughter... an evening dedicated to your desire for hilarious fun, sweet music, and soft lights!

BAND CONCERT IS WELL RECEIVED

With a presentation of the works of both earlier and modern composers, Central State Teacher's College Concert Band presented its second public concert for this year in the college auditorium Wednesday evening.

P. J. Michelson

Featured on the program were the operatic overtures "Bohemian Girl," and "Undine." These with "Hungarian Fantasy" by Tobani, were the band's selections for the earlier composers while "Headlines" by Colby, a modern rhapsody showing in a musical way the hustle and bustle of American life today, represented the more modern type.

Large Crowd Pleased

Pleasing contrasts to these numbers were the descriptive tone poem "In a Chinese Temple Garden," played by the entire band; the trombone Quartette, "Come Where the Lilies Bloom," played by Clarence Speidel, Samuel Winch, Charles Klein, and Clifford Elliott; and the saxophone quartette, "Humoresque," played by Ward Fonstad, Ralph Abrahamson, Gerald Eyster, and Norman Hinkley.

Judging from the good crowd present at the concert and the excellent reception that they accorded the band this concert was even more favorably received than the first.

BALLOT RESULTS TABULATED; VOTE SHOWS STUDENT INTEREST

Three Hundred Votes Cast

Undoubtedly many of you will remember that when the last Pointer was issued, ballots were passed out which should have been filled in and returned. Three hundred students, one hundred forty women and one hundred sixty men, responded and filled out the ballots; so the staff has been busy tabulating these results during the past week.

Results on Page Two

Those of you who returned the ballots will remember that the first set of questions was answerable by a check in the proper column. On page two of this issue may be found a facsimile of the ballot which includes the classified information.

Finances Omitted

The question concerning the amount of money spent this year, not counting tuition, was so varyingly answered that the results are not usable. Probably many students were unaware of the basis on which they should have based this calculation.

Criticisms Contradictory

The twelfth question, which asked the student to name the activity in school which was overemphasized and the one which was neglected, was answered in a majority of ways, varying from clubs, athletics, and music stressed too much to the same things underemphasized. The longest single bloc of opinion stated that athletics are overemphasized and music neglected. However, a group almost as large was sure that every activity was getting its proper amount of publicity. A typical comment from this latter group was the following: "The Pointer is a well-balanced publication with the activities stressed according to their importance." (This was taken verbatim from one of the ballots.)

Faculty Votes Also

The voting was also open to the faculty, both of the college and of the training school. Their ballots were generally favorable, and many worthwhile criticisms were received from their ballots.

EDITOR UNDERGOES APPENDECTOMY

And just when everybody else was packing up to go home, our editor left suddenly and probably without even stopping to pack, for St. Michael's hospital where he lost that unnecessary and troublesome appendage known as the appendix. Fortunately, he's been reported as doing very well, so we can stop worrying long enough to get out this Pointer. It's a tough job, Frank, we miss you. But we'll carry on and try to put out a paper that will be a credit to you. (A credit you know, not the kind you get for sleeping three hours a week in a certain class, but the kind our mothers ask us to be to them — ask us cheerfully but without much hope — just as we're doing this Pointer.)

Frank Klement

Frank is recovering from the effects of the operation nicely and expects to return home in three or four days.

EDITORIAL COLUMN

In the issue of the Pointer for February 14, the statement was made that the policy of the publication for this semester would be governed by the results of the student ballot conducted by the Pointer. We are grateful for your criticisms and suggestions and will carry out all the ideas that are practicable. In this issue you will notice by careful scrutiny, that already the staff is beginning to incorporate some of the desired changes. More changes will follow.

However, we believe that some of the criticisms carry little weight because of lack of student knowledge concerning the Pointer.

About 300 ballots were turned in. With the enrollment of C. S. T. C. near the 700 mark this representation is less than half. Are we to understand that the other 400 students have no interest in the Pointer? If not, why not? If it is that you 400 are dissatisfied, it was your duty to your school to fill out this ballot and present your reasons for your dissatisfaction. We conclude by your silence that you are satisfied with present conditions.

Inasmuch as you are citizens of the school as well as citizens of the nation, may we infer that you seldom read the daily papers which should mean a great deal to you. A good citizen keeps abreast of the times. The public press is the principal method one can utilize in knowledge of current topics. A half hour a day spent looking through a daily paper will repay one in his increased ability to talk intelligently of timely articles.

Too many students have the funny paper complex; reading the comics, humor, and scandal, and allowing the valuable items, of which there are many in every paper, to escape unnoticed. Are you one of these? Remedy it for your own good. Perhaps a large discussion group dealing with current topics would find its presence on the campus a desirable feature.

The majority of the suggestions were obviously the result of intelligent thought by the students. We appreciate this type of criticism believing it to be the only method of presenting a paper of value to everyone. The Pointer Staff thanks you for your cooperation.

Margaret Ashmun Club Sponsors Radio Program

In yesterday's radio program the life and works of Margaret Ashmun, well-known authoress and graduate of C. S. T. C. for whom the club was named, were presented by Adeline Bellman. Marian Murgatroyd reviewed "Men in White", by Sidney Blackmer, last years Pullitzer prize play, and Jean Lynn gave some of the highlights on Alexander Woolcott's entertaining book "While Rome Burns".

Sigma Zeta is now planning a new type of project. It is the desire of this group to present a Science Exhibition dealing with the curricular work of the science department. This will be open to the public, and should prove of particular interest to prospective C. S. T. C. students. It is the belief of this paper that projects such as this that emphasize curricular activity have a very definite place in a school program.

We believe that extra curricular activities should maintain the position they hold in creating prospective students' interest in a college, but this type of function is common throughout all colleges.

Exhibition of curricular activities are overlooked by many colleges. We believe that Sigma Zeta should be encouraged in this new type of program. Other phases of college activity would do well to investigate the possibilities of a project of this type.

We hope that in the Mardi Gras poll for the Queen, one fellow will be broad-minded enough so that one girl will get three votes; hers, her boy-friend's, and said broad-minded fellow's.

New regulations in force at the dormitory point to the fact that some persons are not cooperating with the student government. The value of the present situation is well known. The only way to keep more stringent rules from being made is to cooperate. Please bear in mind that one person's thoughtlessness can cause inconvenience to many.

The Pointer staff welcome any opportunity to acquaint anyone with information concerning the Pointer. Come up and see us sometime.

Due to the editor's illness Ye Associate has taken up the reins.

Russ Walters To Furnish Prom Music

Preparations and plans for the Junior Prom are in full swing and promises to provide the students and their friends who attend, the most enjoyable evening of their college career. The date of the climax of the social calendar is set for April 26.

Francis Bremmer, chairman of the music committee, announces that Russ Walters' band will officiate at this gala event. As you may know, this is the orchestra that made such a hit at the University of Wisconsin Prom a short time ago. For an indication of their ability just ask anyone who attended that event.

Plan now and begin saving your sheekles in anticipation of this event.

SHOTS AT RANDOM

GLEANINGS:— SUNDRY and DEVIOUS

It is the purpose of this column to bring to the attention of Pointer readers interesting items concerning fellow students and faculty members — and anything else that comes to the writer's mind.

The fact that college students are the target for so many disparaging remarks can be attributed to their retiring natures, and the fact that little knowledge of their talents, ingenuity, thoughts or actions penetrate further than their immediate circle of acquaintances.

Such remarks must be dissipated and shown by specific illustrations to be unfounded.

Victor Kilmer, who is half philosopher and half wit, has made the amazing discovery that one-half of the married people in this country today are women.

Those of you who saw the "Bowery" chorus in the "Gay Nineties" Revue will understand what I mean by "uncovering" student talent.

An elderly man of convivial habits, but also bookish, was hailed before the bar of justice in a small country town.

"Ye're charged with bein' drunk and disorderly," snapped the magistrate. "Have ye anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced."

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn," began the prisoner, in a flight of oratory. "I am not so debased as Poe, so profligate as Byron, so ungrateful as Keats, so intemperate as Burns, so timid as Tennyson, so vulgar as Shakespeare, so—?"

"That'll do, that'll do," interrupted the magistrate. "Seven days, and, officer, take down that list of names he mentioned and bring 'em in. They're as guilty as he is."

Webb Berard, casting his vote for the nomination of the Queen of the Mardi Gras made his ballot out as follows: "On general principles I vote for Lolita Weeks." What could he have meant by the phrase "general principles"?

All readers of this column are qualified to buy five cent cigars anywhere in the country for a nickel, or if they don't smoke, to remove their dandruff with Dr. Gunderson's Dandruff Remover.

Antigo Wins District Debate Tournament

The Antigo High School debate teams, coached by Celestine Nuesse, a last year's graduate of C. S. T. C., won the district tournament held here last Friday and Saturday. Twenty-two schools were entered in the tournament, the first of its kind held here. The Merrill teams, coached by C. J. Styza, another alumnus of C. S. T. C., were eliminated in the semifinals.

Nuesse was prominent in forensic activities during his college career, and deserves great credit for such success in his first year of teaching.

Other alumni of the school having teams in the tournament were H. C. Bender of Colby, Joseph Gunning of Adams-Friendship, Max Neuwald of Mattoon, and Mr. Gordon.

Harry C. Bender of Colby, Chairman of the Central Wisconsin Forensic group assisted the local faculty in making arrangements.

Guy Krumm Elected New Greek Prexy

On last February 14, the Greek Council met for the first time this semester with the express purpose of electing its officers. However, the members decided that they should have only one official, a president. Guy Krumm was chosen to fill this responsible position. Guy is a member of Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity. He is prominent about school in athletics and other activities.

At the same meeting, the Council followed the custom of the day and prepared a Valentine for prospective pledges by setting the dates of pledging from March 7 to April 13, with the crowning touch of bleeding hearts and no cupids during Hell Week, April 6-13. Informal rushing has been going on during the week just past, and formal rushing during this week. Invitational week, formerly known as the week of silence, will be from March 3 to 7.

POINTERS CINCH FIRST PLACE

DEFEAT OF OSHKOSH BY STEVENS POINT GIVES LOCALS UNDISPUTED CHAMPIONSHIP FOR SECOND TIME IN THREE YEARS

RESUME OF LAST 3 OSHKOSH STUBBORN GAMES SHOWS POINT Foe BUT YIELDS POWER IN PINCHES BY 27-26 SCORE

Stevens Point opened a crucial two-day trip successfully by overcoming the tail end Whitewater eagles, 27-24. The game was a ragged affair and the Point showed only a few flashes of the form which has enabled them to lead the conference.

Whitewater jumped into a brief lead when Werbelow sank two charity tosses. Captain Marsh then started the Pointers on their way by dropping in a free throw. Eckerson sank a pot shot for the first field goal of the encounter after which Johnston dipped in two long shots and Unferth a short goal to give the Pointers a fair lead midway in the first half. The Agnew-men rallied though and trailed by one point, 13-12 at half time. The Kotalmen led by three points with two minutes to play. Stevens Point successfully stalled the remaining time and emerged victorious, 27-24.

Marsh — Johnston Out

Marsh and Johnston, regular Point guards, were forced from the game late in the final half via the four foul route. Captain Marsh tallied eight points, Unferth nine, Johnston six, and Eckerson four points for the Purple and the Gold. Werbelow and Hahn were Agnew's chief scorers while Farina played an excellent floor game.

Why do these politicians have to do business just when a guy wants to spend his time fishing?

Central State 40; Platteville 32

Central State scored their second road victory in two nights by administering a 40-32 whipping to Platteville. The victory cinched at least a share of the championship for Eddie Kotal's boys. The game was of vital importance because by winning Platteville could have tied for first place.

Reserves Start

Kotal surprised everyone by starting a reserve lineup. After five minutes of play Platteville had tallied eight straight free throws while the Pointers' scoring was confined to a long shot by Unferth. Then "Eddie" rushed in Krumm, Marsh, Eckerson, and Johnston, Krumm immediately scored on a long heave from the center of the court which was followed by two free throws by Eckerson. Stevens Point continued its attack and led at half time 21-15.

Jug Marsh

Rhemstedt, Platteville center, was the leading scorer of the game with 13 points. Unferth made 10 points and Eckerson 7 for the Purple and the Gold.

Platteville Final Foe

The Platteville Teachers will be here Saturday evening to try and score accounts for the defeat of last week-end. Led by Captain Rheel, sharp-shooting forward and the giant freshman center, Remstedt, the Platteville forces will present the same lineup as last week.

Point 27; Oshkosh 26

Captain Jug Marsh and his mates picked a tartar when they took on Oshkosh, but the final gun found the Pointers in possession of the lead, the ball game and their second basketball championship in three years by a 27-26 score, in what will long remain a basketball classic to the many Point fans who accompanied Kotal's men to the sawdust city.

The locals picked up a semblance of a lead just before the first half closed, but a flurry of alien baskets set the margin at 17-12 in favor of Oshkosh as time for the rest session rolled around.

An inspirational pep-talk between halves by Coach Kotal must have registered for Krumm and Johnston coordinated in a basket apiece, only to see those pesky Winnebagoans step out again and the Kolfmen were kicking dust in our eyes with a 21-28 lead.

Reserves Contribute

Collins must have been humming, "It's a Big Time In Town For the Irish," when he was inserted in the line-up, contributing a three point addition. Anderson, Kotal's other leading pinch-hitter, also registered, all of which caused Coach Kolf to ejaculate on the sidelines, "Holy Smokes, every guy he (Kotal) puts in is better than the last one!"

Guy Krumm, who had already rang up two buckets in the fray, registered another and the Purple and the Gold seemed in fair way to cop by a 25-22 count as the game drew to a close. Lautenschlager (Oshkosh) ruled otherwise, however, and a one handed shot put Oshkosh in the running again 25-24. Lefty Unferth sped past the Black and Gold guards to lay in another tally. Two more free throws were registered by Oshkosh, making the final count read Stevens Point 27, Oshkosh 26.

Fine Team-Work

It would be hard to pick any individual star in the Pointer line-up; the whole squad worked together, as they have all season, to bring home a win. Marsh and Johnston shone defensively every game, and their scoring totals are right up there. Eckerson turned in another polished performance at center, and Unferth and Krumm, with Eckerson, were high scorers of the evening, besides turning in great defensive games. The men who went in for relief work (Collins, Anderson, Rinka) came through with fine performances to contribute the margin of victory.

Debating isn't a particularly popular thing, and debates usually aren't interesting to the casual listener. However, those who were present at the high school tourney held at the college appreciate the fine work some of those prep school students have done.

Incidentally, the championship was won by Antigo. Those two teams show the result of training under a coach who knows his business. That coach is Celestine Nuesse — the name needs no further introduction to regular readers of The Pointer.

Again the Greek pledging season comes around. Again a few thoughts concerning those organizations come to mind. The first one is that no freshman should be allowed to join. The new student is unacquainted with the organizations and the sororities or fraternities are not able to judge the calibre of new students in one semester. Many mistakes are made, some of them unfortunate, which could easily be avoided. Everyone concerned, including the faculty social committee, should at least think about that idea.

The second thought is that this student body needs a sort of grand council. One that would include, through representation, every student in the college. We now have no chance for unified action.

That body ought to be made up of men and women whose personal qualities give them prestige and whose opinions and judgments would be respected. The Greek organization representatives ought to be limited to the minority they represent.

On issues strictly concerning students, and the spending of student funds, the decision of, shall we call it a council or senate, ought to carry weight with the administration. The faculty should be represented on the council too.

In our education classes we speak of training students for society, for the need of gaining experience that will adjust itself to the responsibilities of worldly living. We talk — but that's all — Action speaks louder than words. Yes, in a democratic society, the school, which ought to train citizens to the duties as well as the privileges of democracy, is one of the most autocratic of institutions.

Vacation: a Post Mortem

What did you do? Sleep and eat, of course, but besides that? Clean your dwelling place, wash and iron clothes, and darn socks? Or did you do more exciting things, like buying new silver slippers for the dance Friday night, and having two dates a day? Whatever, it was, we hope you enjoyed it enough to want to join in three rousing cheers for George Washington's birthday, and the holiday we had thereof and consequently.

DEBATERS CLIMAX HEAVY SEASON

The debate teams end up the tournament season this week at St. Paul, where the Men's teams enter the mid-west tourney at St. Thomas Academy and the girls' teams compete in a similar contest at St. Catherine's.

Those who left Monday to debate in the contests Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, were Jack Ogg and Charles Cather; Helene Waterman and Virginia Watson; Gladys Boursier and Jane Reedal; and Arba Shorey and Donald Hickok.

About 110 teams enter the St. Thomas tournament annually. Last year Donald Mills and Celestine Nuesse went through to the semi-finals. The teams are accompanied on their trip by Leland M. Burroughs, debate coach, and Susan Colman.
