

OSHKOSH MEETS POINT NOVEMBER 11

PLATTEVILLE PEDS PLAY POINTERS IN SATURDAY'S TILT

The swashbuckling Pioneers from Platteville invaded the local roost this week and will provide strong opposition for the home boys. Undefeated thus far this season, and having just emerged from a victory over Milwaukee, Platteville expects to add the Pointers to their victory string. The Pioneers will be led by "Butch" Perkins, an all-conference fullback from last year who has lived up to his reputation this year. Staffeldt and Curt Sheehan round out a backfield that has baffled all opposition in recent games. In the line, such stalwarts as Gagewski, Huttenberg, and Brostrom present an impregnable guard combination.

In the Point line-up, the return of Jim McGuire adds strength to the Pointers running attack. Ted Fritsch who showed up as a good ball carrier last week, and Jim Hanig, another fancy stepper, give the Central State a running attack that is one of the best in the conference. At fullback, Winkler and Houck will alternate, and give Point two first class destroyers. Fred Nimz, recently converted to halfback, has proven to be a very able ball-carrier. In the line, Captain Bill Loewecke still snacks "em down pretty handily. Also Oscar Copes, Charlie Bureh, Ed. Slotwinski, and Hank Nimz can dish it out as well as take it. Although the Pointers will take the field a definite underdog, it can not be denied that they are very capable of coming out on top. They proved last week that their offense can click even under the most adverse conditions.

The probable starting line-ups:

St. Pt.	Pos.	Platteville
Winkler	F	Perkins
McGuire	LH	Sheehan
Fritsch	RH	Staffeldt
Cashin	OB	Moran
Bohan	E	MacAllister
Slotwinski	T	Gajewski
Bureh	G	Guler
Warner	C	Huttenberg
Loewecke	G	Harper
Copes	T	Brostrom
H. Nimz	E	Turnell

ATTENTION SENIORS

Turn In Senior Rating Cards

There are still some seniors who did not fill in Senior Rating Cards last spring. Those who have not please do so at once and turn the cards in at the Registrar's Office. If your application for Senior Rating Cards has not been turned in, it may affect your graduation in that you may be short credits.

Secretary to the Advanced Standing Committee.

Wisconsin Teachers To Meet Next Week

The Wisconsin Educational Association holds its annual teachers' convention at Milwaukee on November 3, 4, and 5. There will be no school!! The faculty has voted to attend. There will be many talks by well-known speakers which will illustrate the newest trends in the field of education.

* Many Interesting Speakers

Some of the more interesting speakers will be Channing Pollock, world-famous author, playwright, and lecturer; Raymond Gram Swing, "ace high" commentator and author of current events; Paul Van Zeeland, ex-Prime Minister of Belgium; Sonia Tomara, world-renowned newspaper woman, and other prominent people in the field of current events.

Not all the time of the faculty will be spent listening to speeches, as many of our members will conduct meetings or deliver addresses of their own. Those actively participating are:

Pres. Falk To Address Supervisors

President Falk will give an address to the County Superintendents and Supervising Teachers on "Trends in Character Education". He will be on a joint program with John Burke, Acting Warden, Waupun State Prison, who will give a talk on "Crime and Delinquency".

Colman To Preside Over Luncheon

Miss Colman, President of the Wisconsin Kindergarten-Primary Association will preside at the annual luncheon on Friday at the Club Room of the Schroeder Hotel and at the Council meeting of the State Association which will be held Wednesday evening at the Wisconsin Hotel.

This organization is the state teachers' branch of the National Association of Childhood Education of which the Primary Council is a student branch. The luncheon will be attended by approximately 175 kindergarten and primary teachers and supervisors of the state.

Staff Adopts "Pointer" In New Flag As Symbol Of Alertness And Power

With this issue the Pointer Staff initiates its new flag. The new banner is much more complicated in design and construction than the one formerly used. There is also to be found the "Pointer Dog." This symbol can be seen quite often around school on sport shirts and it has also been used on some of the athletic equipment. The same picture is painted on the school bus.

Old Flag Inadequate

The inadequacy of the old flag prompted the search for a new one. Editor Olson approached Miss Carlsen with the problem and she offered to get her art students to work on a new flag. Several were presented to the staff for their consideration with the following result.

Designed by Student

This new banner was drawn by Frank Jacobson, a Freshman here at C.S.T.C., and an enthusiastic art student. Frank, (Continued to page 3, col. 3)

Art Group Organizes In Students League

Last Tuesday evening a group of students, interested in Art, met in the Art room and organized the "Art Student's League."

The group will meet in the Art room on Wednesday evening of each week to sketch and paint. Occasionally an art program will be given and art exhibits will be sponsored by the League during the year.

This is the first Art Club that has ever been organized in Central State Teachers College. There are very few teachers' colleges in the state who further art interests in such a way.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year—
Louis Hamel ..... President
Frank Jacobson ..... Vice President
Evelyn Sonnenberg, Sec. and Treas.
Eileen Coey ..... Corresponding Sec.
Miss Carlsen ..... Advisor

Colleges To Close For Day; Several Bands To Take Part And Parade To Mark Event

Weather Disappoints; Rainy Homecoming

There was just enough of a frosty tinge in the air to make a bonfire seem just the thing after the snake dance last Friday night. The "Chain gang" of enthusiastic students started at the Public Square at 7:00 o'clock Friday night. The dance proceeded down Main Street led by the C. S. T. C. Band. The long string of shouting and laughing students and "alums" paused frequently at street corners to burst out into songs. At Schmecke Field, roaring fire was built. Later in the evening, apple cider and doughnuts served in the gym just "hit the spot".

Phi Sig Formal

A large number of students and alums attended the Phi Sigma Epsilon Semi-formal dance at Hotel Whiting, for which the Castilians played.

Rain Prevents Parade

The big event of Saturday was to have been the Homecoming Parade in the morning. But alas!! Alas!! Fate decreed that it had to rain. The steady downpour of rain continued as 10 o'clock, the time scheduled for the parade, came around. Mr. Evans, chairman of Homecoming, postponed the parade until one o'clock in the afternoon, but the rain continued, so the parade had to be called off. The rain continued all afternoon — even during the football game.

All-School Dance

An all-school dance was held Saturday evening in the P. J. Jacob's High School Gym. The Castilians again played for the affair. During the evening, Sara Anderson, popular freshman girl, was crowned Homecoming queen, and led the grand march.

The Oshkosh football game originally scheduled for November fifth will be held on Armistice day November the eleventh. The game will be a feature of celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice. This date and information was revealed to the Pointer staff on Tuesday by Mr. Schmecke who is a member of the Athletic Committee. It is the culmination of the plans drawn up at Waupaca by representatives of both colleges a week ago.

Legion Secures Cooperation

Planned as a citywide celebration the Legion has secured the cooperation of the local business establishments in "closing shop" for a greater portion of the day. Captain Hirzy is in charge of the entire demonstration and is rapidly completing the organization for the event.

Five Bands Participate

There will be a fitting memorial service in the morning and then at 1:00 P. M. there will be a huge parade. Comprising this parade will be the CSTC and the CSTC bands, the high school band, national guard, the American legion bands from nearby posts and other patriotic organizations. Game at Schmecke Field 2:00 P. M.

Plan Well Received

Acceptance of the plan encountered a great deal of enthusiasm on the part of the Oshkosh fans. They are backing the tilt by closing school and will undoubtedly send a delegation of students expected to exceed well over three hundred students. There will be several dances and added attractions planned for the day. It is expected that this game to be played with our arch rivals will climax the events of homecoming.

Annual Affair?

Quoting Mr. Schmecke, "I hope that it will be an annual affair." It is also the desire of Pointer to see this rivalry game become an Armistice day game yearly.

BLOND FROSH CHEERLEADER WINS POPULARITY TROPHY

At the Homecoming dance held at the P. J. Jacobs High School gymnasium Saturday night, October 22, Miss Sara Margretha Anderson, 19 year old freshman from Rosholt, Wisconsin, was crowned Queen of the Homecoming of C.S.T.C. Miss Anderson was awarded the royal coronet by Betty Schwahn of the Homecoming committee who made a short speech of presentation. Upon being awarded the crown and the bronze loving cup which attends the honor, the diminutive blonde Queen in a voice pregnant with emotion said, "Thank you. I'm awfully happy. I can not say any more. I am too hoarse."

Queen In Grand March

As a fitting climax to the crowning, the new Queen, preceded by her eight pages, attired in the royal purple and gold colors of the school, led the grand march around the hall, hand in hand with Miss Schwahn.

New Ceremony

The awarding of the cup and the crown was in innovation to the homecoming festivities this year and it proved so successful that it will be an annual event. The idea was conceived by two enterprising men of the student body, Phil Thorson and Ben Laske. Laske explained the plan to the student body at a general assembly held on Thursday, October 20, and the favorable reception the idea received led to its being made an actuality.

Big Attendance

The dance itself was a signal success with an attendance of over 200 couples. Norm Hinkley and his Castilians played for the affair which was managed by Mr. Rightsell, Mr. Burroughs, Mr. Schmecke, and Mr. Rogers, all of the faculty.

MISS DAVIDOFF TO AID MISS GORMLEY

Miss Adele Davidoff has been added to the faculty as an Assistant to Miss Gormley in the women's athletic division. She is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and received her master's degree from Columbia University.

Miss Davidoff will have charge of most of the college classes and the W. A. A. Miss Gormley will devote her time to her Training School classes, creative dance work, and the mixed sport groups.

Published Weekly except holidays and examination periods, at Stevens Point by the students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College. Subscription Price $2.00 per year.

Entered as second-class matter May 26, 1927, at the post office at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

SENATE

Student Affairs Student Controlled

It is rather amusing that a Democratic tradition, over one-hundred and fifty years old, should meet any obstacles which are hard to overcome.

A Student Senate elected at large from a panel drawn up by the faculty department heads and the College President would eliminate political elements from getting too strong a foothold in the elections. It would be well to restrict membership on the Senate to Juniors and Seniors that have at least a 1.5 average.

The choosing of representatives from classes is for several reasons undesirable, among them—Freshmen and Sophomores are inexperienced in school affairs, and classes are not closely enough bound together. Representatives, on the contrary, should be the choice of the student body as an entity rather than divisional or sectional.

THIS TEXTBOOK PROBLEM

Next week at the Milwaukee Convention the Wisconsin State Teachers College Association will vote on a petition requesting that the present text-book be abolished. The petition was drawn-up at last year's meeting, received some consideration, and shelved until next week's conference.

If the petition is approved by the college association, it will go to the Board of Regents for their consideration.

According to the exponents of the petition, the present system has many drawbacks. It adds an extra load on the libraries. Also, when texts are loaned to a student, they are not his property and cannot be used to record notes which may be valuable for future reference. It is also contended that if the loan system were abolished the tuition would be lowered enough to take care of the extra cost that buying books would entail for each individual student.

These arguments sound very feasible but let's think them over.

It is true that keeping textbooks in circulation incurs an extra cost for the libraries, but, what would our training school library do without a state-supported library? It would be practically impossible to get the children or their parents to provide the type of books they are now using.

As for students keeping books for future reference. How many students would keep their books? Very few. Most students are anxious to get a little cash after school is out in the spring or they would sell them in the fall to help buy more new books.

And, would the reduction in tuition be enough to buy textbooks? The tuition, not counting the student activities fee, is now $15. The average cost of textbooks per semester may be estimated at $8 or $10. It seems hardly possible that the tuition would be cut to $5 or $7.

Faculty members, when you are asked to vote on this petition next week, think of what the outcome might be. Think of the probable effect such a ruling might have on our training school, think of the financial difficulties buying books would incur on students—many of whom are just getting along—and vote "thumbs down."

POISON'S PRUNINGS

A few of our new faculty members are "put on the spot" quite often by student's free discussion of faculty members and their assets and liabilities as the student sees the situation. To begin with, few upper classmen are blind. To continue, observation reveals to you many things that have been given little thought. Never have I heard a student discuss a faculty member, what he dislikes about him, and then quit. The close bond of friendship between faculty and students here makes for a more thorough understanding of what must be expected when we go out on our own. Of course, we recognize competition and differences of opinion among our faculty. Why shouldn't we? We see it in our churches, fraternal orders, extra-curricular functions and among ourselves. We speak of our friends and their qualities quite fluently. The off-campus informality between student and faculty gives us much more respect for that faculty member in his classroom. So don't become shocked, you new faculty members. We're for you, not "out for you". Welcome to an institution that gives an education in many ways besides that given in a classroom procedure. It seems to me that this college offers a true education.

Thanks for the flag. Many have remarked about the pleasing difference it makes. (Don't get me wrong, Parks. I didn't mean to bawl you out.)

How about that Homecoming? I've seen weather so miserable that the parade was delayed and the situation quite gloomy, but I've never thought that fate could be as unkind as it was Saturday. My sympathy goes out to those faithful individuals who made the floats and stayed by them in anticipation and hopes that the skies would clear. That isn't stupidity; that's loyalty.

But when a football team comes running onto a field covered with water, some puddles being 30 feet in diameter and an inch or two deep, and wallow quite thoroughly in what eventually becomes a carpet of soft mud, while the band sits in the stand shivering within the protection of gloves, blankets, and top coats and figuring every way to keep instruments warm enough to make playing somewhere near comfortable—well, I don't know any adjectives that could generalize that situation. The occupants on the bleachers stayed until it began to rain and then beneath blankets, coats and umbrellas some remained and some ran for a more healthful shelter.

It's too bad but under such circumstances a game becomes a business proposition more than a determination to give the students a Homecoming game. I'll settle for half the price of cleaning and "wear and tear" on Roger Bernstein's uniform. At the half both sides had the same color uniforms anyway. (What was that treatise concerning the contrast of uniforms that Charlie Burch raved all over the place about?)

Anyway, the band worked out some nice parade maneuvers that we'll present some day in assembly.

Think about the Homecoming we could have had and then many, many hours spent in preparation. Dame Fate dealt us quite a let-down, didn't she?

In spite of all, we didn't get cheated out of Friday night's snake dance or the two big dances. Many "alums" enjoyed the week-end in spite of the weather.

The campus is flooded with vacant and unnecessary expressions. Some individuals appear much more ridiculous than usual. Gloves and umbrellas, children's toys, evening wear and extreme costume jewelry, huge artificial flowers and girls without make-up. (Don't they look terrible?) are a few of the earmarks of the Pledge. Wherever you find pledges you'll see part or all of these combinations and the season is in full swing. In a few weeks all will be over and the campus will settle back to its former, more normal self. Paddles will be treasured souvenirs of the past and the memories that go with it will be an indelible impression.

Why has the American public such a lust for scandal and gossip? Last week I eased up on the campus gossip and offered a little legitimate information for a change. I was stormed from seven sides because my column was definitely going from bad to worse. Why don't a few of you critics stick your neck out for a change and see how it is to face your issues? (How about it Doc Ben?)

Flash! What prominent campus politician (and fraternity man) set out to prove that the independents, if organized, could beat the fraternities and sororities at their own game? The Homecoming Queen won by such a huge majority that too many of her votes were not needed. It seems that this reversal deserves a bit of gentle thought and concentration.

THE WISDOM CORNER

By "DOC" BEN

—Why Not a Little Art—

It is exceedingly amusing to me that when people look for "color" during Homecoming, they seldom go to the right place.

Credit for floats is given to organizations and chairmen—However, has anyone ever thought of recognizing the Department where the real color lies?

Perhaps if you had taken a trip to the Art Room (in the Northwest end of the building on the second floor) any time during the past week, you would have seen that Miss Carlsten and her students deserve the real credit for making Homecoming floats successful—From one end to the other, her room was literally covered with paints, brushes, paper, and workers—Through it all, Miss Carlsten showed her real merit in cooperation.

I gave up the hope of being a musician long ago—but I could learn to appreciate good music—Why not Art—It is all around us, just everywhere. You need not be artistic to take a course of this type.

Miss Carlsten sets her standards as:

1. Complete living today, both within school and without, calls for a program of integration—the combining of forces to weave subjects together.

"We don't train artists, but give you a sense of the appreciation and value of the beautiful".

2. The Art Program provides the tools—creative work in paint, clay, wood, textiles, and other materials, necessary for a "progressive educational program."

This participation on the part of young people in our schools holds the richest promise for the continual supply of creative artists and appreciators of beauty and art in every phase of American Life.

Every child is born with the power to create; that dynamic force if released early and developed wisely may become for him the key to joy and wisdom.

Attention is called to the following features of the Art Course at the Training School.

a. Free play of the child's creative spirit and imagination.

b. Growth through creative design.

c. Variety in manipulative experiences.

d. Tools, materials, and processess.

e. Encouragement of the flexibility of creativeness.

f. Teacher initiative in choices of creative problems and subject matter.

g. Integration with other subject matter in the curriculum.

A vast, far reaching program for College students—an inclusive schedule for the Training School, and the supervision of nine Practice Teachers in an immense job—Can you imagine "one" Art instructor doing all in "one" tiny room?

The irony of it all—Not even an effort made on the part of the Authorities to provide adequate classroom facilities—Perhaps not even an effort

TO THE EDITOR

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This department is conducted for students and faculty members whose opinions have no other means of printed dissemination. The letters do not represent the Pointer editorial policy, however, and the right of editing and rejecting contributions is reserved.)

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this way of thanking all those who voted for me as their choice for Homecoming Queen. Thanks a lot. I can think of no one better to be defeated by than Sara.

Jean Holman

Dear Editor:

Despite the unpleasant weather which greeted the campus natives on last Saturday, it seems to me the Homecoming weekend must be recorded as a distinct success. More alumni were present than ever before. There was evidence that all the group luncheons were heartily enjoyed.

Yet the real purpose of this note was to commend the fine work done by several of the College Athletic Committee members in the sponsoring and managing the alumni dance at the new high school gymnasium. Mr. Schmeckle, Mr. Steiner, and Mr. Rightsell, and aided part-time by the ever gracious Mr. Burroughs,—all were present and gave the alumni and the undergraduates the finest Homecoming dance on record. It seems apparent that behavior at dances is always better when it is not necessary to crowd the dancers too much. Sociologists have known this for a long time, and this dance illustrated it locally. All in all, it was managed much like a big-time university function, and it turned out to be a brilliant success. So, members of the athletic board, we salute you!

Harold M. Tolo

It would be fine if more students took art classes, but with such meagre facilities dare one suggest that they do—

Tau Gam Supper

Active members and alumnae of Tau Gamma Beta Sorority held a happy reunion at the home-coming supper Saturday at six-thirty. The supper was served in buffet style, with an appropriate color scheme carried out in the table decorations. The informal reception before the supper welcomed back the alumnae members of the sorority, and enabled them to get acquainted with the new members. Miss Gormley and Miss Davis were present.

Phi Sig Dinner

Fifty-one active and alumni members of Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity were present at the Home-coming six-thirty dinner at the House. President Don Olson presided at the dinner. Short speeches were given by alumni: Pete Peterson, Celestine Neusse, Charles Torben-son, and Cletus Collins, and active Fred Parfrey, Leland Burrough of the faculty was a guest at the dinner. A purple and gold color scheme was carried out in the flowers and table decorations. The dinner was undoubtedly a success, and Joe Bloom's statement "I ate good" could also be voiced by practically all the other members present.

Omeg Banquet

The Omega Mu Chi Sorority was hostess to the alums at a six-thirty dinner in the club dining room at Hotel Whiting, Saturday, October 22. The active members and the alums, some of whom had not returned for eight years, numbered fifty-seven. Eleanor Ruchti, the president of the sorority, welcomed those present in a short speech; Betty Schwahn followed with a talk on the activities of the sorority. Mrs. B. A. Weronke, an alumna, spoke on the subject, "The formation of the Alumnae Association". The former members of the Omegas then introduced themselves individually and gave a resume of their work. Among the guests of the evening were: Mrs. Charles Cashin and Mrs. Palmer Taylor, patronesses of the sorority; Mrs. H. Tolo and Mrs. Schwahn, honorary members; Miss Carlsten, faculty advisor; and Miss Coleman, a guest.

"SIZING 'EM UP"

For the second consecutive year now Phylvis has taken our Homecoming day as one to show his wares. Point's offense checked pretty fair considering the conditions of the field—Ted Fritch showed up as a good mudder. He carried the ball around end on several plays for good yardage—By the way the people yelled at the pep meeting, we expected to hear some real cheering at the game. The rain, however, dampened any enthusiasm which might have become apparent—The punting in last week's game was particularly outstanding—The kicks on both sides were better than average even for a dry field—Freddie Nimz made his first start as a back and carried the ball well—Jimmie Cashin does all right in the field general department—Hanig was the most consistent ground gainer for Point, averaging 1.6 yards in 13 tries—That place kick that Mankato tried didn't miss by very much—Hoffman of Mankato averaged 4.4 yards in 5 tries—Point made eight first downs to their three—Too bad that we couldn't have had a parade; some of the organizations were said to have had some pretty good, as well as original, floats—Away from our own campus for a second Wisconsin took it on the chin from Purdue—Mike Bylene, a sophomore, showed his heels to the Badgers for a seventy-two yards winning touchdown run—Incidentally, Bylene is from Harry Stuhldreher's home town—Back again to Stevens Point—The new cheer leader was justly rewarded for her efforts to make this bunch of dead pans cheer when she was crowned queen of the Homecoming by popular student vote—We haven't heard any late results on the Whitewater protest but expect some definite information most any time—so stand by—A few of the loyal supporters usurped the band stand for the second half of the game Saturday—By the way, who is this Bill Zanki person who has suddenly become the talk of the student body—Apparently he is an all around man which includes athletics, scholarship, politics, and, in general, a jack of trades—We'd like to meet the man.

POINT HOMECOMING FINANCIAL FAILURE

This year at C.S.T.C. Homecoming proved to be one of the most disastrous, financially that it has been the lot of the Athletic Committee to meet for some time.

The Homecoming dance at the local high school was a monetary success, much in contrast to the afternoon's game which proved to be a dismal failure in gate receipts. The cold biting wind coupled with the constant drizzle kept the attendance low.

The following table gives complete data on the receipts disbursements:

Homecoming 1938

COED'S COLUMN

Did you notice the bright yellow spots in the grey mist Saturday? Those spots were "Mums" which braved the terrible weather that tried as hard as it could to spoil our Homecoming. Everything went off slick except the parade. Tough luck!

Know what? Speedball is all the rage this year—training school's doing it—college gals are doing it—and maybe the fellows, too. The Training School is having their tournament this Saturday morning. They aren't satisfied to play with the College Coeds, but they want to defeat them, too. If more gals would come out we could make up a swell team and let those kids try to beat us. Here's hoping to see more of you out on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Come on girls! More time, more new sports and a new assistant, Miss Davidoff has finally put in her appearance. Let's keep her busy, girls.

MILLERS AND EAGLES ARE LEADING LEAGUE

The Miller Flashes and the Eagles are still leading the respective divisions in the intra-mural six-man football league. The Flashes have the best offensive record, having scored 91 points to 12 for the opposition. The Eagles have the best defensive record and are also pacing the Independent league having scored 52 points while holding the opponents scoreless.

Title Games To Be Played

Championship games will be played the latter part of next week and medals will be awarded to members of the winning team. A mythical all-star team will be selected after the play-off. The present standings:

Union League	W	L	TP	OP
Miller Flashes	3	0	91	12
Chi Deltas	2	1	25	16
Scheel House	1	2	21	58
Phi Sigs	1	2	18	38
Minocqua Maulers	1	3	27	58

Independent League	W	L	TP	OP
Eagles	2	0	52	0
Pointers	1	1	19	32
Panthers	1	1	13	40
Wildcats	0	2	18	32

T.P.—Total points.
O.P.—Opponent points.

Point Ties Mankato In Listless Game

An overrated Mankato Teachers was easily outplayed here Saturday but were able to hold the Point gridiron to a scoreless tie. A soggy field and a steady rain caused both teams to restrict their attack to straight football. Each team missed an attempted placekick, the Point attempting theirs from the 30 and Mankato booting theirs from the 35.

Pointers Hold Edge In Three Periods

The Pointers picked up 123 yards from scrimmage, while holding the opposition to 58 and held an 8 to 2 margin in first downs. Several times Point touchdown marches were halted within the 25, twice on fumbles and once on several incompleated passes.

Freshmen Star

Hanig and Fritsch, two Freshmen, were the most consistent ground gainers for the Point, each averaging better than 3 yards per try. Copes, Loewecke and Slotwinski were the outstanding players in the Point line. For Mankato, Lopata, Hoffman, and Tews were outstanding in the backfield while Burquist and Bueck looked best in the forward line.

Despite the inclement weather, a large crowd was on hand at the start of the game. As the first half ended however, the rain drove most of the people from the bleachers and only a small crowd remained for the final period.
