BOARD ACTION KILLS HOME EC. MAJOR HERE

Training School Houses WLBL

September sixth marked the first formal broadcast from the new studios of WLBL and C. S. T. C. became the first Teacher's College in the state to house a radio station.

Dedication speeches were given by Frank Hyer, former C. S. T. C. President, Mayor Blood, C. L. Hill, former chairman of the Department of Agriculture and Markets, and Attorney General O. S. Loomis.

The studio is located in the Training School and provides for a reception room, two offices, two studios, a "silent" room, a conference room, and a control room.

The larger studio will be used for band and choral assemblies while the smaller one will be for interviews, small musical groups, and similar programs.

The control room is glass enclosed, permitting observation of the programs in progress in either studio.

The new equipment, composition walls, venetian blinds, and the lighting fixtures, make WLBL one of the most up-to-date studios in Wisconsin.

Police Chief Urges Student Cooperation

Chief of Police A. W. Risch, in a "Pointer" interview, announced a proposed policy of close cooperation between the student body at Central State Teachers College and the Stevens Point Police Department. "We have always had excellent cooperation from the college faculty and students, and we will do everything in our power to see that this relationship is maintained," remarked Chief Risch.

"The few regulations we put down provide equal privileges for all, and the use of the streets with the greatest amount of safety," the Chief continued. "Liberty must not slide into license."

Chief Risch calls to the special attention of students and teachers who drive automobiles to school the following provision of the state statutes: "Law prohibits parking of vehicles on the side of the street adjacent to a highway."

Resolved, That at the Central State Teacher's College at Stevens Point the Home Economics major be dropped and that no new students be enrolled in this course commencing September, 1938, and that the president report on a plan of completely closing out this course at the February 1939 meeting of the board. This resolution was unanimously adapted at the July meeting of the Board of Regents.

Reason For Action

The declining enrollment in the department, the high cost per capita student (500 dollars a year per student), expense of maintenance and renewal of equipment, satisfactory work done at Stout Institute (made Industrial Arts College with Teacher's College standing), necessity of avoiding duplication of courses, and the unequal allocation of funds and

Faculty Women Hurt In Auto Crack-Up

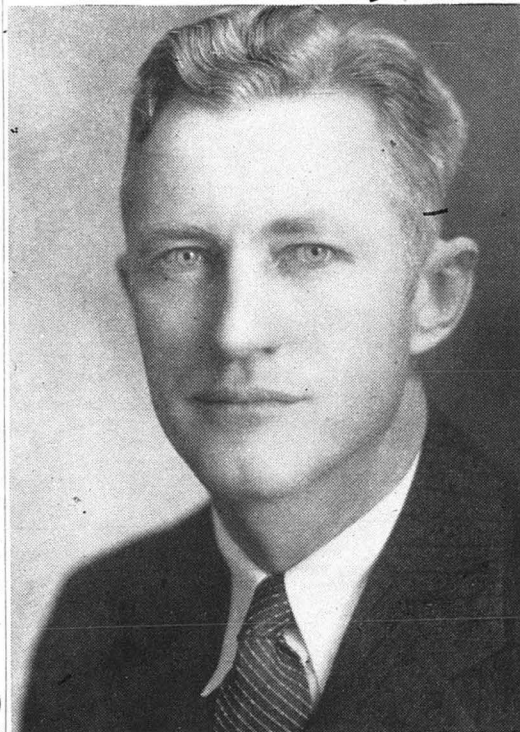

SPECIAL — Three members of the faculty here were injured and bruised, and a fourth occupant of the car badly shaken up, in an auto accident which occurred near Sheridan, Wyoming, August 5th. The injured were Miss Bessie May Allen, head of the now defunct home economics department here, Miss Nancy Jane Church, of the department, Miss Gladys Van Arsdale, of the Training School, and Miss Cleora Lemon, a cousin of Miss Allen's.

Car Skids On Curve

The accident occurred shortly before six in the evening, and was due to the car's skidding in the loose sand on a curve near Sheridan. Miss Allen was the most seriously injured of the group, suffering a broken collar bone and shoulder bone, and internal injuries. Miss Van Arsdale broke several small bones in her body, and Miss Church was bruised. Miss Lemon was the least injured of the group, escaping with a severe shaking up.

Miss Allen Here

Miss Allen is at present convalescing at the Dr. W. F. Cowan home, 839 Main Street. Her progress has been rapid, and she will assume her position here in a short time. Both Miss Van Arsdale and Miss Church have recovered, and have taken over their positions here again for the new year.

DR. PHILIP H. FALK

To The Students

It is with sincere pleasure that I welcome you to the campus of C. S. T. C. This college has for many years rendered a distinct educational service to the State of Wisconsin. Many of the most significant achievements of distinguished alumni can be traced to the inspiration and guidance received at this institution.

Much, educationally, remains to be done in Wisconsin. It is our privilege to share in this future. May our efforts individually and collectively be worthy of the splendid tradition we inherit at Central State Teachers College.

Sincerely,
P. H. FALK, President

The teachers and students of Central State Teachers College welcome you as new members of an ever growing family. They believe that you will find a spirit of friendly helpfulness here. You will have opportunity for sound growth amidst ideal conditions. May you be happy and successful in your new environment.

Sincerely,
H. R. STEINER

Numerous Changes Made In Faculty

Students of Central State Teachers College will be greeted by some new faces among the ranks of the college faculty. Six new instructors have been named by Dr. Philip H. Falk, president.

The position of women's physical education director has been given to Miss Helen Gormley. She succeeds Miss Beatrice J. Richardson, who is on leave of absence to teach in a California college. Miss Gormley has a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. She has taught in a girls' college and comes to Stevens Point from Lake Forest where she has been teaching in an elementary school. Miss Mary Jane Vanderaa has been elevated to the position of secretary to the advanced standing committee, a position formerly held by Mrs. E. J. Sturm. Miss June Lindeman, a civil service applicant, will be the new office secretary.

Miss Lulu M. Mansur of Stevens Point, is taking the place of Professor George C. Allez, on leave of absence for

DR. FALK SUCCEEDS HYER BY REGENTS' JUNE DECISION

The announcement of the Board of Regents of the selection of forty-one year old Dr. P. H. Falk as President of Central State Teachers College, gives the school the distinction of having the youngest Wisconsin teacher's college president. Dr. Falk's appointment was announced June 17, and he succeeds retiring President F. S. Hyer.

Served At Waukesha

Dr. Falk was acting principal of the junior-senior high school at Waukesha in 1936-1937, and served as President of the Southern Wisconsin Education Association in 1937. During the first semester of 1937-1938, Mr. Falk was acting superintendent of schools at Madison. He returned to Waukesha for the second semester to become superintendent of schools, a position he held from February, 1938, until his appointment as President of Central State Teachers College.

Wisconsin Man

The new president was born at Stoughton in 1897, and was graduated from the Lake Mills High School. In 1916 he enrolled at the University of Wisconsin. Entering the navy in 1918, he was commissioned as an ensign the following year. He returned to the University in 1919 and that year was awarded a "W" in baseball. He was elected a member of Kappa Sigma, a social fraternity, and served on the Student Senate, the inter-fraternity governing body. He was chosen a member of Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholarship and activity fraternity, and in 1921 received the Bachelor of Arts degree, having completed his major in political science.

Coached Athletics

From 1921 to 1924, President Falk taught social studies and coached athletics at Lake Mills. He became principal of the senior high school, and later of the junior-senior high school at Stoughton, holding these positions from 1924 to 1929. He received the Master of Arts degree from the University of Wisconsin, having completed work in the field of educational administration, and in 1935 received the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Dr. Falk participated in a cooperative study of secondary school standards conducted by

A NEW START

Fall is here. School has started. And thirty million young Americans are beginning and completing long courses of academic work. Many of them are timid youngsters anxiously starting kindergarten. A large number are enrolled in the high schools. Others are in the colleges and universities where they will add a little more to their stores of knowledge.

In a year, some will be first graders. Others will be graduated from high schools and looking forward to careers in various lines of work. Some will emerge from the higher institutions of learning in caps and gowns—Others will lose their ways and in desperation hop aboard the "Sore-Eye Special."

Now, however, all are looking forward to a new start, to new opportunities.

The 700 of the 30,000,000 who are enrolled in Central State have much to look forward to in the next nine months.

The Freshmen have all the new experiences in store for them that makes the first year of college life fly past so rapidly. First of all, the excitement of enrollment and the Freshman party keep away the homesick feeling. Then classes and they begin to distinguish some of the younger teachers from students—sometimes much to their distress. Then in a few short weeks Homecoming and all its attendant hilarity breaks up the routine and brings in the alumni—many of whom have brought honor to themselves and C. S. T. C. in different fields. By Christmas, of course, the "greenies" will know it all and enter the second semester as old hands—or will they?

The faculty and upperclassmen, while Mr. Hyer's absence causes an inexpressible feeling of regret, can expect to see new goals attained and new work accomplished under the friendly leadership of Dr. Falk.

There are three major divisions of Central State, each of which is dependent on and must cooperate with the others to make the college progress—the student body, the faculty, and the administration. This year has seen many changes in each department. The new members of the student body and faculty can be assured that every possible effort will be made to make their life on the campus of Central State an enjoyable and profitable one.

We especially welcome Dr. Falk, who in the opinion of many, already is the most popular man on the campus.

A FRIEND DEPARTS

"We shall meet but we shall miss him." For years these words have been echoed to denote the departure of a friend. Sometimes they are used in jest. Now, we speak in all seriousness. That tall, slender, grey haired figure whom we knew and loved as President Hyer has left us. Three times he declared his intentions to retire. Three times the Board of Regents, realizing his worth, persuaded him to stay.

President Hyer has earned his vacation. For half a century he has been an educator in the truest sense of the word. That is the best compliment we can pay him and we know he'll agree with us because to him education is life itself.

We hope you'll be happy in whatever you decide to do, Mr. Hyer. Enjoy yourself, rest, take things as they come, but don't stay away from us too long. Old friends are the best friends, it is said, and if you give us a chance and come back for a visit soon, we'll prove that to you.

POISON'S PRUNINGS

SCANDAL! SCANDAL! Inside dope, legitimate information, things that you should know and other interesting sidelights are among the bits of information that this column hopes to bring to you. We hope to provide a little humor and all the latest developments among Cupid's better customers on the campus.

Now, as for your part, why not drop us amusing incidents in the College, Training School or dorm, things that we can publish and others can have a hearty laugh at after a hard day over their books? (Excuse me while I cough.)

All kiddin' aside though, Freshmen; your upper classmen are the most regular and congenial collection of young people you'll ever care to mix with. If anyone gives you the high hat after a legitimate greeting or question for information on your part, rest assured that they can't be over a C average individual, personally, and it's a sure bet that they're not active on the campus scholastically or otherwise.

We really had a session. Nice weather all summer. Only one or two warm days and no real hot ones that would tempt you to cut. Talk about crowded halls! The last time I checked up we had an enrollment of 810 and still going strong. We almost got beat out of the biggest event of the season—the picnic. No arrangements had been made but a bit of gentle agitation fixed that. It was a well organized picnic, enjoyed by all and it's too bad we regular "sessioners" can't have one. Charlie Burch, Ben Laskey and their appointees handled men's events. The women were also provided with games and events and prizes were given. The cats just can't be surpassed at those picnics. Everything was held at Iverson Park and bus service between the college and the park was in operation all afternoon.

Incidentally, Freshmen, be careful about the similarity of the first and second floors.

JERRY KREMBS had a miserable time here his first three years. These two floors were so confusing that for seven solid weeks he never sat in the right class on the right floor. His only alternative was to get help. He had two choices, a "Seeing Eye" police dog (to show him about) or some tolerant girl. He chose Zip because she could talk. But then again, a dog is cheaper to feed. Krembs has never been "awfully" blind. Either that or he was lucky when he got Zip. She's had a number of "better" offers since but she seems quite contented.

I guess that this time Parfrey's really in love. (Cupid, you scoundrel, why can't you do as well for me?)

FLASH! Kenny Storandt had quite an epidemic of badminton and the Joy residence on Clark St. this summer. He spent most of his time there while Park Joy and Bill Mailer were gone. Kenny couldn't join the boys because his golf is bad so he just "sat" home and entertained Park's mother. (Or was it Park's sister?) Anyway, he was as regular as the milkman. Watch this column for developments.

THE WISDOM CORNER

By "DOC" BEN

It doesn't take much to get along in college. I should know. Folks do get along with less than I have, or maybe they have more in another place. I never stopped to look.

The Dodo was a mess to begin with. His tail was in the wrong place, a terrible looking beak, wings too small and weak for flight, and a belly out of proportion gave him an appearance that no one could get along in.

Since 1755 there has not even been a stuffed dodo in any museum, they will pay you a fortune for one dead or alive... find one... that's your job, but I'll wager that there are several lurking around the corners... watch the halls.

If you have ability in extra-curricular work, someone may find you, but you could hurry things along a bit if you knew how and where to look. If I keep at this long enough I may get in a hint here and there.

I know some folks who have the head of Napoleon, the physique of Helen or Achilles, the charm of Cleopatra or Adonis, a truly unequalled combination.

But alas, the mentality of a Dodo and the ambition of a Ground Sloth do not mix with the above salad. This particular species is not longer in demand.

Much is said today about the broadening effects of extra-curricular activities — myself, I haven't gotten very fat, but then maybe mental cynicism is against me. (This does not include you if you have no mind).

Several prominent 'extraists' are like a snake, the only trouble with them is that they spread themselves out too thin and the head is always reaching out farther than the tail and body can assimilate. The difference being that they have not learned from the snake the technique of the manipulation of all the elements.

From time to time, if I have room in this column, I shall write about the history, policy, merits, and demerits of different organizations in school.

There used to be a prevailing opinion around campuses that any pretty little thing that was looking for a good time in college, expected to do very very little academic work but a great deal of "social" labor with the school sheiks, enrolled in the Primary Department. This blissful age has passed into oblivion, although much to our regret. The above mentioned department is now one of the most active professionally minded organizations in school. Time and effort were not spared by the likeable Director of the Primary Department in this elevation.

Last year the Division rose to new heights by becoming a branch of the National Association of Childhood Education. According to Article II of the A. C. E. Constitution "The purpose of this organization shall be to gather and disseminate knowledge of the movement for the education of young children; to bring into active cooperation all childhood education interests, in-

FROM THE FILES

FORTY YEARS AGO TODAY (First Issue—1898)

I had imagined the reception would be a formal affair, with a sort of program; but upon arriving, found to my surprise, it was very different. After I had found a slip with my name, and had pinned it on, I was introduced to a few Normal girls. I had hardly escaped—no discredit to the young ladies—before I was seized by the good-natured German professor who hurriedly expressed his sorrow and regret that I had met no ladies as yet. (I had, but he would not give me a chance to say so.) He took hold of my arm, as I have sometimes seen teachers take mischievous young lads in school and hurrying me up to about half-a-dozen girls, rattled off their names with mine alternating, while I stood there with a grin and a bow after each name, excepting my own. Then in his smooth voice, he remarked, "I want you ladies to entertain this young gentleman," and glided serenely away. Fortunately someone was singing; so it was not as embarrassing as it might have been. After a while, I escaped again, and sat down, breathing freer, and looking on with enjoyment.

Suddenly I saw the professor clutch another green fellow. After standing him in front of some girls, and threatening him if he moved, the professor found a chair, and made the young man sit down; and with the same modulated tone of voice, and the very same advice to the girls, hurried away, with the thought that he had made another young fellow comfortable.

SPINDLER ANNOUNCES STAFF VACANCIES

Vacancies on this year's Iris staff will be filled during the next week, according to an announcement by Editor Dearborn Spindler. Applications should be made at once for the staff must be completed and work begun.

"Those of you who have preferences as to the work you wish to do will be accommodated as far as possible", said Editor Spindler. If the applicant has no special preference, he will be helped in making his choice.

Some of the positions open are: men's and women's athletes, copy editors, organization editors, music editors, typists, index editors, and photographer.

"Either call at the office or see the Editor as soon as possible, for it is your money that is making the book, thus it is your book, and your opportunity", concluded the Editor.

the year, as librarian, Professor Allez will be acting director of the library school at the University of Wisconsin. Miss Syble E. Mason, a former library assistant, is taking Miss Mansur's place as assistant librarian. Miss Mason's work will be taken over by John P. Herling of Madison. Mr. Herling was also selected from a civil service list.

Dr. Arthur S. Lyness will be an instructor in the biology department for the coming year and his position as critic teacher of English in the Junior High School will be filled by Miss Bella Loomer of Madison. Miss Loomer is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, where she received both her bachelor and master degrees.

Miss Gertie L. Hanson, who has asked for a year leave of absence to study at the University of Wisconsin, is being succeeded by Miss Harriet Stull of Ferguson, Missouri, as an instructor in social studies in the junior high school. Miss Stull, a member of Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Iowa received a Master's degree at the College of Education, Greeley, Colorado.

The final faculty change brings Miss Frances R. Dearborn of Red Oak, Iowa, as second grade critic teacher. She succeeds Miss Betty Mae Bauer and holds her master's degree from the University of Iowa. Miss Dearborn is the author of a group of children's books.

cluding parent education; to promote the progressive type of education in nursery school, kindergarten and primary grades, and to raise the standard of the professional training for teachers and leaders in this field."

The objectives are well stated in the Certificate of Membership:

1. We shall attempt to increase our professional knowledge so that we may become better and more resourceful teachers.

2. We shall attempt to promote a more general understanding of the value of early childhood education so that this necessary training can be made available to a greater number of children.

3. We shall encourage progressive changes so that our profession may improve and grow.

4. We shall work constantly to improve the standard of professional training for teachers and leaders in this field so that we, and those who follow us, may be more ably equipped to guide young children.

5. We shall actively cooperate with all who work for the betterment of early childhood education so that any movement for the good of our profession may have the support it deserves.

Although professionally inclined, the personnel of this group has time for social, and varied extra curricular activities being well represented in both.

Each student enrolled automatically becomes a member of the Primary Council that holds meetings every first Monday of each month. At the meetings, professional topics are discussed, usually with engaged speakers, music, and lunches to offer variation. The group holds a fall picnic, a Christmas party, and a spring picnic. 50 to 150 girls can have an enjoyable time together.

SOCIETY LIFE IN BRIEF

Our Faculty Takes Vacations

This summer vacation found the college faculty either traveling or camping, visiting friends and relatives, or staying at home. Madison, not "Mesoola", brought Professor Faust an attack of chicken-pox—teething rash, as Mr. Steiner stated. Mr. Mott spent a greater part of the time juggling figures for his grade survey of the college. Mr. Nixon, Dr. Reppen, Mr. Knutzen, and Coach Kotal participated in some real "Stevens Point loafing", as the Coach remarked.

The Smiths Visit In East

One of the most outstanding vacations was a trip to West Point, New York, taken by the Smiths. Due to the fact that Colonel Crawford, is an officer in the medical division of the school, the Smiths learned the inside story of West Point life. The freshmen entering this institution are ignored completely by the upper classmen for one year. At "mess" the "yearlings"—students who have had a year to their credit—see to it that the freshmen pull their stomachs and chins in so far that eating is an impossibility. As a result, most of these people are nearly starved. One of the cadets admitted that he had lost eight pounds in two weeks. The freshmen are not allowed to raise their eyes, and to make matters increasingly difficult, glasses are thrown across the room by upper classmen and the new fellows are expected to catch them—even though they are not allowed to look up. If the glasses are caught, no praise is given, but if they are missed, the cadets are ridiculed. Three "hops", formal dances, are given a week, and the cadets must dance. There aren't half enough girls to the number of cadets—so imagine the popularity of the girls! At ten-thirty, the "hop" is ended and the cadets are given thirty minutes to say good-night to their "drag", another name for their date, and return home. The students are not allowed to spend any money but their escorts can spend any money but their escorts can spend any amount on the cadets. In case a rule is broken, the cadet is given "area" or in other words, he must dress in full uniform and walk for hours between two dormitory buildings. Beautiful buildings, landscaped grounds, a swimming pool, and tennis courts located on the banks of the picturesque Hudson River make this one of the outstanding spots in the country.

Vast improvements are being carried on in the form of a building program at Pennsylvania College, an institution which added to the chemical category of Professor Rogers. A 2½ million dollar girls' dormitory has recently been completed. Leaving the college, he visited the Alleghenies, Lake Erie, Buffalo, crossed into Canada to the Niagara Falls, and home.

Burroughs Visits Home

Mr. Burroughs visited his former home state, Indiana, and then toured to St. Louis, Missouri. The high lights of the trip were the Municipal Opera, which had an audience of ten thousand people, and the Cubs baseball game, which very nearly came being a no hit no run game.

Tolo Goes West

Dr. Tolo spent a rather prosaic vacation among the grasshoppers in the Dakotas and Iowa. For the pessimistic farmers in Wisconsin, Dr. Tolo stated that some of the sections in the Dakotas had no crops for 15 years. For the first time in 11 years, business men were sending statements to their creditors. Notwithstanding these handicaps, there is no complaining. In conclusion, he states that if a fellow can go out to the Dakotas and gain four pounds, there is hope for America.

Other Reports On Vacations

The remaining members of the faculty spent their vacations in the following places: Mr. Matravers' cottage at Minniqua afforded a very pleasant relaxation for the entire family; Mr. Neale toured through the northern part of Wisconsin into Michigan—"roughing it" for three days in a seven thousand dollar cottage on Burt Lake, Michigan. Mr. Thompson spent most of his time in summer school at the University of Minnesota; Mr. Schmeckle asked, "Was there a vacation?"; Mr. Watson made a trip into South Dakota; Mr. Evans had a "wonderful time" travelling through Ohio and Virginia; Mr. Jayne spent the summer working on his thesis. When asked how she spent her vacation, Miss Davis said, "I wish I had something very exciting to tell you, But—I spent my time trying to avoid accidents." Mr. Jenkins and Mr. Michelsen had a "fine rest" in town. Miss Mes-ton and her sister visited in Illinois and Nebraska. After the summer school session was completed, Miss Jones went to her home in Minneapolis for a rest.

Colman Caught In Flood

Flash!! Now it can be told!! This disastrous flood can be blamed on Miss Colman, for she admitted to yours truly that she came down from northern Wisconsin last Friday "with the flood—and in it."

Farewell Party

A "novel" theme was carried out in the scheme of a party Monday night at which 14 coeds were dressed to represent characters from popular novels. The party was given as a farewell for Margie Rogers, who is leaving Friday for Madison, where she will attend the University.

A picnic lunch was served by the hostess, Mary Hoppen, in real picnic style—even to the extent of the table decorations which consisted of cups "sans" handles, old dishes with plenty of cracks, and an old fashioned lamp in the center of each table.

Bridge was played during the evening, and each story-book girl admitted that she "had herself a time".

SUMMER SESSION FACTS

This summer saw one of the largest summer sessions ever assembled at Central State; the total enrollment was well over eight hundred students. Of the total enrollment seventy-five percent of the students were women and a vast majority of the remaining twenty-five percent consisted of married men. There were approximately one hundred and seventy five pupils in the training school. Over fifty percent of the college enrollment was in the rural department; the other fifty percent was divided between the elementary and secondary divisions. Only thirty six special students were listed. Thirty diplomas and twenty four degrees were awarded at the graduation exercises.

The new president was a visitor in Stevens Point this spring, when he delivered an address at an afternoon session of the annual convention of the Wisconsin Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. Falk is a graduate of La Crosse State Teachers College and has taken an active part in the educational program. She has taught summer school sessions in the University of Wisconsin and George Washington University. She has served as Elementary Curriculum Director of the Madison Schools and is the author of several textbooks on education. Mrs. Falk suggests that while she will not remain active in the teaching field, she may continue with her writing.

POLAND'S HISTORIC TRUMPET

Every day at noon an historic episode of more than 700 years ago is to be recalled at Poland's Building in the New York World's Fair 1939. At that hour daily, a trumpeter will ascend the building's reproduction of a 150-foot tower and sound the "hejnal", a national call which ends abruptly on an unfinished note. During the Tartar invasion of Poland in 1241, a Polish trumpeter blew the call to warn of the enemy's approach. The call was cut short when an arrow struck the trumpeter in the throat. Ending on this unfinished note, the call has been blown daily ever since from St. Mary's steeple in Cracow.

SURVEY SHOWS WIDE LISTING

Report On The Results Of a Survey On The Subject Of Extra-Curricular Activities

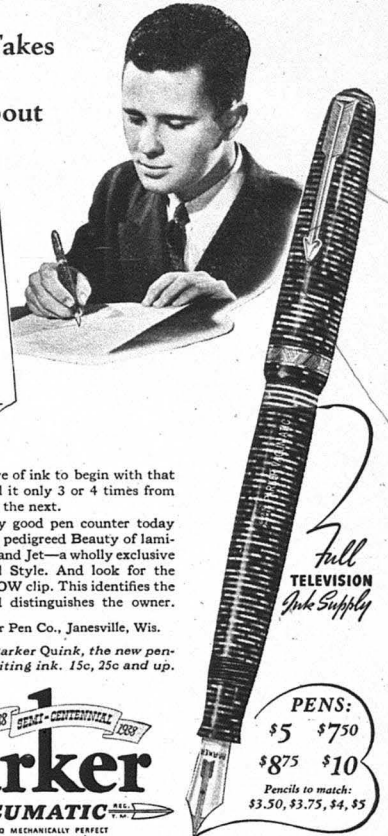

The object of this report which was carried on by Philip Runkel, a Senior of Central State was "Of what value to his future employer is the prospective teacher's participation in college extra-curricular activities?"

Runkel sent questionnaires to all schools which had employed graduates of C. S. T. C. within the last five years and received answers from one hundred and fifty-five of them. He requested that a listing be made of all the different activities in each school and received the following data:

Activity	No. of Schools	Per cent

Friday - P.M.

Dear Mother and Dad,
We got our first quarter quiz grades today and I think you'll be pleasantly surprised at mine:

92 Economics 89 math
90 English Lit. 86 Biology
94 Political Science

Incidentally, some of the credit ought to go to the New Parker Vacumatic Pen I bought. It sure makes writing easier.

You can SEE the level of ink at all times—see when to refill—so it won't run dry in classes or tests

Naturally, your Parents want you to start the new term on a par with anyone else in your class. That's why they'll want you to back your brains with a Pen like the revolutionary new Parker Vacumatic.

Its Scratch-proof Point of Platinum and 14-K Gold writes like a breeze because it's tipped with jewel-smooth Osmiridium, twice as costly as ordinary iridium. And the Parker Vacumatic won't let you down by running dry unexpectedly in classes or quizzes. Held to the light it shows the ENTIRE ink supply—shows when to refill. And it holds such a copious reserve of ink to begin with that you need fill it only 3 or 4 times from one term to the next.

Go to any good pen counter today and try this pedigreed Beauty of laminated Pearl and Jet—a wholly exclusive and original Style. And look for the smart ARROW clip. This identifies the genuine and distinguishes the owner.

space in proportion to their enrollment, were among the main reasons for abolishing the department.

Present Students Cared For
President Falk, with the Board's consent assures that the students already enrolled in the course will be taken care of either here or by transferring credits to some other college.

No Immediate Changes

A course in radio and visual education to start September 1938, will gradually be substituted and built up as Home Economics is discontinued. These changes will be made over a period of two or three years.

Sims Cottage

The suggestion for the ultimate disposition of Sim's Cottage are: conversion of the building into the health center of the school... making it the office of the college's physician and nurse in combination with an infirmary for communicable diseases; using the cottage for housing purposes; creating a recreational center of the building for the use of the students and faculty of the college. No decision has, as yet, been reached.

Early Practices Show Strong Squad

A squad of about fifty men both newcomers and veterans reported to Coach Kotal for the initial football practice Monday afternoon. Although the loss by graduation of McAllen, Rathke, Pophal, Weingartner, Bucholz, Charrier, Olsen and Johnston is severe, there are several promising new men who bid fair to more than offset the loss.

Number Missing

Among the missing because of various reasons, are Don Bremmer, halfback, Ed Luenser, center, Alvin Sell, halfback, Jack Larson, quarterback, Roy Otto, tackle and Lyle Brunner, tackle. Harry Olingy, a strong contender for an end position has not as yet reported.

Veterans Return

Among the candidates who have already reported are: Franklin Hitzke, Merrill; Oscar Copes, Tomahawk; Charles Honek, Ed Slotwinski, Jim Cashin, Charlie Burch, Jim McGuire, and Charles Kohls, Stevens Point; Fred and "Hank" Nimz, Wausau; Jim Duecker, Kiel; Bill Carley, Plover; Rodger Bernstien, Brodhead; Dan Young, Bancroft; Fe Bohan, Waupaca; La Verne Van Dyke, Little Chute; Vernon Hendricks, Marshfield; Ernie Ruppel, Appleton; Jerry Jones, Oconto; Bob Bishop, Antigo; Elmer Hoffman, Gillett; Ted Fritsch, Spencer; "Hatch" Berard, Wisconsin Rapids; Jim Hanig, Merrill; and Jim Manning, Minocqua.

The team opens its season at Dubuque, September 23, making it necessary to curtail extensive preliminary training in favor of signal drills.

Sports

FROM THE SIDELINES

Greetings everybody! The opening practice uncovered several promising new men ... These boys will go a long way towards making up the loss due to graduation ... Jim McGuire and Ted Fritch were the class performers in the punting drills ... Fifty and sixty yard kicks were a steady diet with the Point veteran while one of Fritch's efforts carried eighty yards on the fly ... Hoffman, a new center candidate from Gillette was named All-American on the country's leading six team football selections ... Oscar Copes, former star tackle from Central State returned to school this year and weighed in at two forty ... Wisconsin should finish close to the top in big ten competition this fall. The Badgers have several outstanding performers including Jack Murray, center, and Howie Weiss, fullback ... Pre-season dope favors Minnesota or Purdue for the big ten champs this fall ... The Marquette squad is bolstered by some eighteen or twenty letterman ... Place your bets now on the October 5th meeting of Wisconsin and Marquette ... We're a little inclined to favor the Badgers ... Pittsburgh U. has a backfield composed of Goldberg, Stebbens, Checkerno, and Cassiano, which some experts believe will surpass the feats of Notre Dame's famous four horsemen, remember them?

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Seven games have been scheduled to date by Coach Eddie Kotal and an eighth game will be arranged if possible. The games definitely scheduled are:
