ENGLISH DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES NEW REGULATIONS

The English Department makes the following announcement pertaining to majors and minors in English:

1. All Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors who wish to minor or major in English, or minor in speech must register with the Chairman of the department during registration week.
2. The chairman of the department requires that each student keep thereafter a cumulative record of his work in English or speech on a permanent record sheet in Room 207. On or before January 15 and May 15 of each year, the English department will prepare a list of students acceptable to the department as candidates for majors or minors in English or minors in Speech.
4. Names of candidates whose grades decline in quality may be deleted from the approved list.
5. Names of students whose cumulative record improves in quality may be added to the approved list.
6. On or before January 15 and May 15 of each year, the English Department will prepare a composite letter of recommendation for the placement office of all seniors on the approved list.
7. A student whose name is not on the approved list of the department may continue to take courses in all fields of concentration.

New Museum For Conservation Work

An educational center for popularizing conservation methods, the Caledonia Conservation Museum built by the National Youth Administration in Michaux State Forest near Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, was dedicated Thursday, October 26, with Aubrey Williams, NYA Administrator as principal speaker.

The museum was sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters and constructed by boys from the National Youth Administration. Built of native stone and timber, the structure will house exhibits demonstrating methods used by state and federal agencies in carrying on conservation work. Exhibits will range from mounts depicting the life cycle of insect pests to scale models of huge flood control dams.

Initial Program Presented Sat.

As the initial program for this year originating from the new studios of Central State Teacher's college, "The Purposes of American Democracy" was presented Saturday morning at 11:30 A. M. to commemorate American Education Week. This subject "The Purposes of American Democracy", was the official theme for schools over the entire United States during American Education week, and was a part of the special observance by the Mary D. Bradford Junior High School.

Red Cross Calls College Students

In recent years America has looked increasingly to the colleges and universities for leaders in all walks of life. Not the least of the organizations which rely on these institutions is the American Red Cross.

There are more than 3,700 chapters throughout the country. All this work requires leadership and its success depends on the quality of its leaders. For that reason the organization has always sought to interest the students on the campus.

The annual Roll Call, when the Red Cross, as servant of the people, goes before the country with an accounting of its services and a request for renewed faith and affiliation for the future, is another period when educational institutions demonstrate their cooperation with the organization.

During this year's Roll Call, which began November 11th and continues through November 30th, the Red Cross is planning to enlist at least 1,000,000 new members, many of them from America's colleges and universities. Participation in this work will be more than welcome.

This week is especially set aside for members of the Newman Club as Newman Week. During this period members are urged to start building in themselves the spirit of 20th century crusaders, by supporting peace, praying that men's minds will be invulnerable to propaganda, stimulating in themselves a more spiritual and intellectual mind-set, doing their part in making this college a leader by developing unity and coherence among the student body.

Calendar for Newman Week
November 13-19 Wear Badges
November 14-7:30 P. M. Attend devotions at St. Stephen's Church. Pray for peace.
November 19-Sunday-Communion in a body. Meet in church basement at 8:45. Breakfast after!
November 19-2:30 to 4:00-Study club. Entertainment.

The speaker at the communion breakfast at St. Stephen's Auditorium, Sunday morning, will be Dr. T. H. Harrington, resident doctor of the River Pines Sanatorium. He helped organize the first Newman Club in a non-sectarian college in Pennsylvania.

NOTICE

School will be dismissed for Thanksgiving recess on Wednesday noon, November 29. Classes will be resumed on Monday A. M. December 4. There will not be a holiday on November 23.

We Interview Ted Shawn

All is not quite as it seems on the stage when a production is shown. Your columnist got up early this morning to interview Ted Shawn, but because he was slightly delayed I spent an hour watching the stage crew at work. I found that dancing isn't the only thing this group could do.

The production, as a whole, was the element of perfection, probably due to (quoting Mr. Shawn) "not letting a thing reach its peak and die a natural death, but cutting it at the peak."

We found, to our surprise, that Ted Shawn will disband the troupe after the 1940 tour. Shawn feels that he has achieved what he set out to do. He plans to add another chapter in his career. However, he does not give any information as to what this new work will be. The team will continue in various fields of dance—solo dances on Broadway, physical education work, and concert dances.

It might surprise the general public to know that it is not a matter of just rehearsing and offering. Mr. Shawn states that for every hour

The pledging season for the Greek organizations of C.S.T.C. will come to an end Friday night, November 17, when initiations, banquets, and the Pan-Hellenic dance will be held. The dance, which is at the Whiting Hotel, will be the grand climax of the pledge period. Dancing will begin at 9:00 and will continue to 1:00, music to be furnished by Benny Graham.

Banquets at 6:30

The initiations and banquets as usual will be pompous affairs. Omega Mu Chi Sorority will hold forth in the Whiting Club Room, while the Tau Gamma Beta sorority will entertain in the Main Dining Room.

Chi Delta Rho fraternity will hold its services at the Dorm and Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity will stage its initiation at the fraternity house and its banquet at the Belmont Hotel. Services will commence soon enough to enable the banquets to be held at 6:30. They will end early so that a very enjoyable dance may be held. We know that the boy and girl pledges have gone through plenty; so, with the ending of such a period, the individuals should be thoroughly relaxed and out for a good time. The party is expected to be one of the biggest and best social events of the year.

performance, there are five hundred hours of rehearsal plus his own time for creation of the program. The music is born with the program. Both are worked up jointly. In this production itself work was done from two to three years before it was offered to the public.

These dancers are not picked up at random as one might believe, but any boy interested may contact Mr. Shawn and attend the school. Out of thousands the cream of the group is chosen and three or four years are spent in training. The men are chosen for character, talent and physique. Shawn lays down no exact rules for training, but expects his men to use good judgment in diet, smoking, drinking, and sleeping so as to produce fitness and perfection in the man as well as the artist.

Mr. Shawn classes the big city audience as the most enthusiastic and intelligent, second, the college audience, and third, the small town general public.

To Ted Shawn, the pioneer, who proved to be gracious in this interview, we wish the best of luck in his new chapter.

A STEP FORWARD

Just recently the Pointer carried an article describing some changes made in the set-up of majors and minors selected by students in the Social Science Department. Requirements, likewise, have been drawn up for the English Department. We want to congratulate you who have worked so long to finally accomplish these changes. They will benefit the school and every prospective graduate planning to teach.

All through high school we are taught that we must learn to be independent,—we must learn to go ahead and do our work by ourselves as much as possible, because when we got to college there would be no one to stand over us and tell us when and how to do things. After getting into college, the guidance is often missed despite the fact that we should have been prepared to go on alone. These thoughts and the obvious results have prompted the action taken.

By having an accurate record of a student's work in a major or minor field, and by knowing just how many are graduating with a real degree in that field, the student is doubly benefited. In the first place, if he is not doing a good grade of work all along, he has a fair chance to improve, or know that he will not be recommended for a job. He has been notified far enough in advance so that the responsibility is his. If he is without a job, it is no one's fault but his own. On the other hand, the graduate who knows he has done well enough to keep his name on the list, has a far better chance to be placed. The number of prospects will probably be cut down, because the standards will be raised. Those who are sliding through with an "I don't care attitude" will be eliminated.

Thus those who are handling the placements will have an easier time. They may go to the files when asked for a history teacher, for example, and select one of those listed, confident that this individual is well qualified. He has proven himself by four years of steady, college-level work. He is the one that has shown himself deserving and who will probably do the best work out in the field.

Now, it is up to us. Our professors have made another stride of progress. We, individually, and as a group, are the ones for whom it was done. Begin now to utilize this opportunity that is a greater insurance of our positions, and show that we appreciate the efforts that have been expended.

ARE WE EDUCATED?

Some members of the College Theater group have requested us to compliment the audience on its fine attitude at the plays last Wednesday evening. We are glad to do this, as we feel that there has been much improvement along this line during the last year.

But how about using a little more judgment regarding assembly?

It has always been a rule here that practice teachers may be excused for leaving assembly when the bell rings, and because of this they are asked to sit in the back of the room. But why must others interrupt by walking out before the program has been finished? The type of program to be held is always known in advance. If disinterested, why attend? If in attendance, why not remain and give it respectful attention until it is finished? That is a mark of an educated person.

Shoatin' from the Pipe

It is upon us again. Hell Week in its full literal meaning has once more raised its ever so ugly phiz as inevitably as night follows day and "Killer" follows Gracie.

It is just about right now that pledges, men and women alike, are beginning to wonder why they ever let themselves get into such a mess.

Gee, you can hardly blame the poor people for looking real mad at those actives. Look at the socks they have to wear all the time. And those onion bags around their necks and only one half of the face made up! Just how can a girl get kissed in such a condition?

And the men! Those red bow ties are really awfully silly, don't you think? Ask some of them about the rest of their formal attire. Up to now the boys figured pledging was a pipe. But now they, poor fellows, are a disillusioned lot. How can there be so many sadists in any one school they ask? How can anyone who calls himself a man beat a fellow's pants so thin that there is only one side left. And for what? For no apparent reason at all, mind you. Gosh the poor pledge hasn't a chance at all. Everything he does is either wrong or made to appear as such. A guy can't do anything without getting paddled—and quite severely, too. A guy can't ignore an active anyplace; he can't call them by their first or other appropriate names, except of course, where no one will hear him. He can't even entertain certain redheads for absent actives without being quite amply rewarded. (Gosh, did that come out of me?) And such a reward. Eat standing up for a week that's what! Who the heck is going to buy one of those fish we have to sell downtown? It's all so cruel.

IN THE MAIL BOX

Dear Editor:

We are living at a time when it has become popular to dedicate a week of the year to an intensive program for some special activity. Good Book Week, American Education Week, National Music Week, and National Art Week are only a few of the scores which call attention to certain interests.

It is a source of pleasure and personal satisfaction to me to study the program of the Newman Club which is being carried out this week. In the whirl in which we live and at a time youth must hear its irreligion the subject of much discussion, it speaks well for a group of students to initiate and carry through a week's activities, the only purpose of which is to secure greater fervor in their own religious lives.

The final test of the success of this week's project must be measured finally by the carry-over which will be evident in the regular meetings of Newman Club on the second and fourth Thursdays during the rest of the year, and in the practical

Such are very likely the views of this term's crop of pledges. However, very soon it will be all over and they will all have become actives in the club of their choice. Any grudges that may have cropped up will disappear with the cessation of the rough initiation. The whole pledge period will then afford them many laughs and to all the future pledges they can say "Don't yelp. You should have taken the dirt I did when I pledged".

THE MUSIC PARADE

Alpha Kappa Rho is sponsoring a dance Friday night, November 24th, in the Training School Gym. Music will be furnished by Frances Mae and her Coeds. Let's have a good turnout and a good time.

Every week we hear of the progress of our 1939 graduate band directors. Last week a letter came from Fred Parfrey who is teaching in Blair, Wis. He writes: "Upon my arrival in Blair I found that the only equipment that they had was new uniforms and the instruments already owned by the students, and a few by the high school. The room in which they used to practice was a basement room with a stone foundation wall on all sides. This was whitewashed. All in all, the music department needed a very good going over to make it more pleasing and attractive to band students.

First of all, we built a band room of sound-proof material in two colors. A carpet was laid, plants placed in the windows, and new light fixtures installed.

Instead of leaving the instruments in the halls as previously done, an instrument room was built containing all sizes of shelves for the instruments. This was built next to the band room.

There was no music so we had to start a new library. A special cabinet was made which will hold enough music to last a band at least ten years, if a different concert were to be given every month for nine months. We order music on the average of twice a month and continually add to our repertoire.

Several new instruments were bought along with steel chairs and music stands.

At the present time the band is composed of 51 members. There is a squad of 21 girls taking twirling, and eight seniors interested in directing who are taking a special course in this work. We have a band of about 25 beginners who are quite interested in their work and are progressing rapidly.

The band makes public appearances as often as possible, and the public being very music minded turns out in full strength to support the band."

LOSS TO PLATTEVILLE ENDS SEASON

Perkins Routs Our Team Singlehanded

Led by Captain Perkins, who passed for three touchdowns and plunged for one, the Platteville Pioneers trounced the local Peds to the tune of 26 to 0. Without Perkins it was anybody's game, but with him it was Platteville's day. He plunged, passed, and kicked like an All-American.

Point dominated the play the first quarter, but were stopped twice by fumbles within the thirty-yard line. The Pioneers came back the second quarter to score on a pass by the plunging Perkins. His attempt at the extra point was blocked by "Snooky"

With the football season a thing of the past our thoughts naturally stray to the coming basketball season. With the loss of the Nimz brothers and possibly Captain Bandow, the outlook is not too brilliant. However, Coach Kotal will have an experienced group of men to start the season. The veterans include Hank Warner, captain of last year's team, Pete Terzynski, Bob Olk, Tony Anderson, "Rube" Belongia, "Slats" Seffern, Fe Bohan, Van Dyke, Fritsch, Stein, Red Smith, and Jim Bagnall. Little is known of the Freshman prospects, but there will undoubtedly be some shining lights among the newcomers.

It looks like a dull winter for the fellows who were looking forward to intra-mural basketball. With no funds for supervision of this program it is not likely that any league will be formed. However, it might be possible to use the gym if anyone cares to organize a team. If the gym is available and if there is enough interest, this department will undertake to work out a schedule. Let us know if you are interested. Drop a note in the Pointer mail-box.

It looks like a great year for the boxers, folks. We were tipped off by Coach (Get up Louie) Drobnick that he has the biggest squad in years and most of the boys are plenty tough. Led by Louie Lange, who was undefeated last year, and backed up by promising freshmen stock who can dish it out and take it, we should see lots of blood and thunder under the big lamp in a couple of months.

Coach Kotal took an awful ribbing down at Platteville from the sidelines, but it didn't affect him very much. The other schools get so few chances to razz him that you can't blame them. If he didn't coach so many winning teams he wouldn't have to hear so much when he does lose for a change.

LaCrosse Teachers might thank the Pointers for their championship. At any rate Superior blames their defeat at the hands of Eau Claire on the large number of injured players who were on the sidelines. Most of these men were hurt by Points' hard tackling the week before.

Van Dyke, and the half ended with Platteville leading 6 to 0. From then on the Pointers didn't have a chance. Perkins ran wild and wasn't stopped until three more touchdowns were chalked up on the Pioneer ledger.

Captain Fe Bohan and Ed Slotwinski playing their last college game, gave all they had but they couldn't do it alone. Frankie Koehn starred offensively, but couldn't get away. Coach Kotal used many lower classmen and by the looks of things "Slats" Seffern, and Sharky should see lots of action next year.

SPORTS - IN - SHORTS

There is a great variety of sports offered the girls of C.S.T.C. this year. Are you taking advantage of this opportunity to relax and enjoy yourself? If you aren't, but would like to, ask Miss Davidoff or any W.A.A. member for details.

The ping pong ladder tournament is well under way and important games are being played every hour. Girls interested in badminton will meet for the first time Wednesday, November 15, at 5; the mixed group at 7:00, and the basketball season begins Monday, November 20, at 4 p. m.

Just Guessin'

Sticking our necks out again, we are going to prognosticate, as best we can, the outcome of Saturday's games. We wouldn't advise gambling on our choices but here we go anyhow.

Purdue at Wisconsin—The Badgers are in for a dismal homecoming. Illinois at Ohio State—Illinois was lucky last Saturday but even that luck couldn't beat the Buckeyes. Michigan at Pennsylvania—The Wolverines should return to their winning ways.

Indiana at Michigan State—The Big Ten team is too strong. Minnesota at Iowa—Kinnick and company are plenty tough but the Gophers seem to have hit their stride. Our guess is Minnesota.

Oberlin at Chicago—Everybody's doing it—why not Oberlin?

Marquette at Texas Tech—Marquette on a hunch.

CLUB AND SOCIETY

WOLF RIVER CLUB

The members of the Wolf River Schoolmaster's Club will gather for a dinner at Nelson Hall tonight, Nov. 15. The speaker of the evening will be Superintendent Robert Lowe of Chippewa Falls. Musical numbers will be provided by college talent.

Between fifty and sixty alumni are expected to attend. Those present who have not seen the Ted Shawn dancers are planning to attend the evening performances at the P. J. Jacobs High School.

ALPHA KAPPA RHO

Alpha Kappa Rho pledge service was held at the home of Ula Mae Knutson last Thursday evening, November 9th. The nine students taking the oath were Rollie McManners, Frank Pliner, Gerald O'Doherty, Leone Kulas, Dorothy Nelson, Arthur Stapel, Marvin Yost, Charles Dodge, and Henry Hryniewicki. Pictures were taken for the Iris and lunch was served.

During the business meeting it was decided that Formal Initiation would be held at the Hotel Belmont club room the evening of November 27th.

At this meeting the new members became acquainted with other members of the organization. The pledges are:

James Bray, James Kulidas, Russell Frederick, Rosalyn Dubinski, John Frane, Dorothy Luck, James Scribner, Jack Vincent, Bill Winsor, Beryl Joosten, Guy Roberts, Bob Aulik, Melvin Wunsch, Viola Gruenke, and Edward Grgorzewski.

During the first semester the new members will be required to learn the technicalities of photography. In the second semester an exhibition of the work of the Photo Club will be given.

MISS PFEIFFER ILL

Miss Lydia Pfeiffer is confined with a streptococcus throat infection. In her absence, Herbert Upright will assume her duties as the fifth grade critic teacher.

A speedy recovery to you, Miss Pfeiffer.

Lutheran Students Attend Conference

Seven students from C.S.T.C. attended a L.S.A.A. Conference on the Campus of the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis last week end. They are: Ethel Hill, Charlotte Reichel, and the Torkelsons, Elida, Elouise, Gerald, and Harold.

The theme of the convention was "The Faith for Our Day" with Rev. Alvin N. Rogness, Iowa State College, conference speaker.

Thirty-two colleges were represented at this inspiring conclave.

Honorary Fraternities Begin Fall Pledging

The several honorary fraternities have begun fall pledging on our C.S.T.C. campus. Gay little pledge ribbons designate these lucky persons, but many a harrassed face is seen as initiations are drawing to a close.

The pledges of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English Fraternity, must write free-lance stuff—essay, poetry, short story, just anything—but write them true.

These inspired authors are:

The Music Fraternity, Alpha Kappa Rho, is requesting that its pledges compose a bit of music. To be eligible they must pass a music test given by Mr. Peter J. Michelson. The Formal initiation and honorary banquet will be held November 27 at the Belmont Hotel.

Sigma Zeta, honorary Science Fraternity, is adding many names to its roll this semester. This organization is planning a full and varied program.

Those people who have made application for active membership are:

The associate members are Don Lewis, Wallace Bartoz, Elizabeth Pannon, Ingeborg Enderlien, and Melvin Mech.

Dr. Nestor Elodin and Dr. Edgar Pierson are being initiated as honorary members.

In order to pledge this fraternity the student must have a high scholastic average and have either a major or a minor in science.

Faculty Gives Formal Dinner

The faculty held a formal dinner in honor of President and Mrs. E. T. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Delzell at Hotel Whiting last Wednesday evening. During the dinner music was furnished by several students. Eileene Rose, La Rae Winch, and Doris Soderberg sang three selections. Evelyn Schwingel played a marimba solo. Gerald O'Doherty, Herbert Upright, Harold Torkelson and Gerald Torkelson sang as a male quartet accompanied by Ula Mae Knutson. Solos were sung by Charlotte Reichel, contralto, and Gertrude Rondeau, soprano.

Mr. T. A. Rogers acted as toastmaster during the after-dinner program. A toast to Regent Delzell was proposed by Mr. Neale. This was followed by short talks by Mr. Delzell, Mr. Watson, President Smith, and retired President Hyer. Miss Susan Colman sang two solos.

W.A.A.

The regular monthly meeting will be held in the Game Room tonight at 7:00 sharp. It will be followed by a board meeting. Everybody please be there.

To you who are everlastingly criticizing our columns, might we mention the fact that an assignment like ours is no snap. The first week or so of writing is fun and it's easy, but after this length of time it gets kind of tough to find anything new, different, and interesting so if it bores you to read what we write keep in mind that we might not always be just brimming with news and crazy to write it... It's nice to see Nan Steiner around again, and all the nicer because we didn't expect to see her so soon... Doris Soderberg's sister was here for the weekend. She's plenty nice, we understand... Whenever we simultaneously hear the buzzer on second and the piano in the living-room we know that De Horn's heart interest from Eau Claire is among those present... Pan-Hel dance this weekend will, as usual, probably reveal some new and more or less surprising affairs... Among the dates already contracted, we find Don Aucutt and Katzy Mozuch... Hatch, who hates like mad to be written up, was seen at the Glee Club dance Friday night with some cute little brunette job... Where did you find her Hatch—Incidentally, it was a nice dance. Too bad there wasn't a bigger crowd... Some of the fellows who stayed at Madison over the weekend had sort of a tough time getting back to Point. Have you discovered where Rio is yet, fellows... It seems that Charlie Mase is teaching a class of Senior girls in practice at Stout, and that one Anita Madsen is plenty worried about it... We've heard of people trying to talk themselves up to A grades from C's, but never before have we heard of them talking themselves down to a C from an A. That's really just not good sense, Spin... Fred Kalkofen was forced to call one of his friends at the Phi Sig House to come and give his car a tow home from a date. It seems that it was out of gas—Why don't you try a new one Fred... Physical Exam Is Rated Valuable

A physical examination, if it is to be of much value, must be made carefully and recommendations presented in such a way that the confidence is inspired. The examiner should be some one with whom the students come in frequent contact.

Health practice is considered as synonymous with physical activities or physical education. In reality it should include all preventive and therapeutic health measures advocated by the health department whether or not such measures have to do with physical activities. In the college program the student should be urged to develop into a healthier and more complete physical being just as he is urged to develop mentally. This may include attention to decayed teeth, softened gums, imperfect vision, flatfeet, weight and postural defects, blood pressure, heart and lung conditions, nose and throat trouble, and many other defects that may be picked up by the physical examination.

Before the student has left college he should have learned to regard regular medical and dental inspections with their subsequent preventive measures as necessary and sensible steps in health economy. College graduates should be leaders wherever they go. They should be leaders in the movement for better health in their community.

Among the most common types of deformities prevalent among college students are lateral spinal curvature, flatfeet, or fallen arches, flat chest, stoop shoulder, round neck, hollow back, or protruding abdomen, general muscular weakness caused by previous illness or lack of exercise, and unnatural or excessive corpulence. Corrections are made by massage and the right kind of physical exercise along with Medical advice.

College Theater Observes Third Anniversary

October 19 marked the third birthday of Central State's College Theater. This dramatic organization was established on October 19, 1936 as a successor to the old Harlequin Club, and has enjoyed three very successful years of play production.

Runkels Contributions

College Theater's first president was Phil Runkel, a last year's grad, whose interest and effort contributed in large measure towards organizing the theater group. Many productions of the past three years were directed by Runkel, and one of his own plays, A Penny a Day, was produced on C.S.T.C.'s stage.

Due in part to Phil's intense efforts to better the facilities for play production here, a project to remodel the auditorium stage was granted, the plans for this work being drawn by Runkel himself. The switchboard now in use on the stage was designed and co-built by Runkel and Don Colby, now on the C.S.T.C. faculty. A patent has been granted on this electrical device, perhaps one of the best, for its size and cost, ever built for the amateur stage.

Alums Present

Guests at the Theater party included Phil Runkel, Kathryn Becker, and Myron Ropella, alums, and Miss Susan Colman and Miss Lulu Mansur of the college faculty. Joe Ophoven, present president of the organization, introduced several speakers of the evening who discussed past experiences and future plans for College Theater. Kathryn Becker cut the huge cake bearing three candles and a happy birthday "inscription", and Phil served apple cider punch in masterly fashion.

Dear Editor:

It seems to me that some arrangement could be made in regard to those who come in late and leave early in assembly.

For the practice teachers who cannot avoid this, the back row could be left vacant. This worked satisfactorily in past years.

For those who are not interested in the program, or just don't get there on time, perhaps some plan such as College Theater uses could be made. That is, the doors could be opened only between acts on the program. If people must go in and out during a performance, why can't they sit near the back? It must be annoying for an entertainer to be continually interrupted by members of the audience walking back and forth, especially when the floor squeaks.

I believe it should be made clear to those who have eleven o'clock classes on Thursday, as to whether or not they are supposed to stay until assembly is concluded.

Former Student Has Wartime Experiences

Mildred Holmberg, who attended C.S.T.C. last year, enrolled in the University of Manitoba this year, according to a letter received by Miss Mildred Davis of the faculty. Miss Holmberg won a two hundred dollar scholarship for her outstanding scholastic attainment.

In her letter she relates the following wartime incidents:

"I've just come home from a coded meeting. We are starting a campaign to aid our soldiers, that is, doing such things as knitting, planning entertainments, working behind the scenes to raise funds, etc. Winnipeg is practically composed of soldiers now. The different regiments are always marching. Every morning the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders march up Broadway past the U. At first it seemed strange but now it's quite a matter-of-fact."

Miss Holmberg would enjoy hearing from her C.S.T.C. friends. Her address is 312 Inglewood Str., Manitoba, Winnipeg, Canada.

Dey Jes' Worried Him To Death

I think I can truthfully say that my Uncle Bill is the best joke teller in the business. Every time I see him, which is about four times a year, he has always a few new ones, but he must also always tell me his favorite one. Here it is—

Three Jews were traveling across America on their way from Hollywood to New York—film executives, I suppose. They came through, all the way, in the same Pullman with the same Pullman porter. Morning, noon, and night they had the colored porter on the run, opening bags, closing bags, and running endless errands. Not once during the entire four day journey did they give him so much as a dime. Just before pulling into New York the porter brushed them off in style—still no tip.

The three Jewish gentlemen picked up their bags as though about to start off. Then, with sudden recollection, one of the group paused, thrust his hand into his pocket, and came up with a five dollar bill, which he presented to the despairing servitor. The second, taking the cue, produced a ten spot, and the third, not to be outdone, came forth with a crisp twenty dollar note.

Accepting these gratuities with profuse thanks, the Pullman potentate mopped his perspiring brow and turned to an associate. "Sam," he said, a relieved note creeping into his voice, "Sam, ah bets you de Jews didn' crucify Christ. Dey jes' worried him to death!"

Twenty-First Anniversary Of Book Week Is Observed

The twenty-first anniversary of Book Week, the oldest living week, is being observed from November 12 to the 18.

This week is steadily growing in importance and many organizations such as the YMCA, and YWCA, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H Clubs and Parent-Teacher Associations are helping to promote the interest of the movement.

The purpose of observing this week is to influence all people to read good books.

"Books Around The World"

This year's slogan for Book Week is "Books Around the World." In collaboration with Book Week the librarians have on display many of the well known books which are of current interest. The largest Book Week Exhibit is in the Training School. However, there are many books on display in the college library, such as: Richard Halliburton's Second Book of Marvels, Alone by Richard E. Byrd, Across the Gobi Desert, by Sven Hedin, My Austria by Kurt Schuchnigg, Edgar Snow's Red Star Over China, and Stephen H. Robert's book, The House That Hitler Built.

Silent Ministers

John Adams Lowe of the Public Library in Rochester says "Books of themselves are silent things but in them are recorded the tales told and the songs sung generation after generation. Into books, men have gathered experiences, imaginations, unfulfilled desires, outward readings of the heart and mind. Books minister to man in his search for the enlightenment which reveals the meaning of life."

NOTICE TO NYA WORKERS

During the November-December payroll period (November 14 to December 15), NYA workers should put in from twelve to thirteen hours extra to apply on the Christmas vacation.

At the meetings, plans were made for the annual National Childhood Education meeting which will be held this next spring at Milwaukee.
