

Men's Glee Club At Almond Tonight

The Central State Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, will make its second out-of-town appearance of the year tonight in the Methodist Church at Almond. A similar concert was given at Almond last spring, but several new features in tonight's program should add greatly to the evening's entertainment. Two quartettes are featured this year as well as soloists and musical selections, and some of the seniors have already begun directing members in preparation for the annual spring concert.

Tonight's program follows:

- I. March of the Musketeers .. Friml
Steal Away Hall Johnson
Ave Maria Stella Grieg
(Directed by Neal Brown)

NORMAN KNUTZEN

- Dance of the Gnomes MacDowell
- II. Tenor: The Rosary Nevin
The Rose of Tralee Glover
(Soloist, Roger Hoffman)
- III. Quartette: Anchors Aweigh
Kentucky Babe Zimmermann
Just Singing Along Moore
(James Scribner, Dick Larson, Tony Klein, Waldo Nelson)
- IV. Trombone: Parade of the Wooden Soldiers Jessel
(Richard Parrette)
- V. Were You There? (Spiritual)
Burleigh
(Directed by Arthur Stapel)
Wayfarer's Night Song
Songs My Mother Taught Me
Dvorak
(Soloist, Jerry O'Doherty)
The Lost Chord Sullivan
(Soloist, Russell Frederick)
(Directed by Arthur Stapel)
- VI. Baritone: Londonderry Air
Hin Koon
(Soloist, Tony Klein)
- VII. Quartette: Selected numbers (Jerry O'Doherty, Herbert Upright, Gerald Torkelson, Harold Torkelson)
- VIII. Moonlight Madonna
Fibich
(Directed by Neal Brown)
- I Dream of Jeanie Foster
Cossack Love Song Kountz
Gute Nacht German Folk Song

Department Of Social Sciences Decides On New Requirements

The Department of Social Sciences hereby notifies all students interested in Geography, History, or Social Science that on October 24, 1939 the department passed the following resolution:

"That on or before January 15, 1940 and on or before January 15 and May 15 of each year thereafter the Social Science department shall prepare a list of students acceptable to the department as candidates for majors and minors in History, Social Science, and Geography.

It Shall Be Understood That:

1. Only those students whose names appear on this list will be considered for majors or minors in the above mentioned fields.
2. Only those students whose names appear on this list will be considered for departmental recommendations for teaching positions in the above mentioned fields.
3. If the quality of work of any student whose name appears on this list should decline, his name may be removed from the list at the end of the next semester.
4. A student whose name is not on this list may continue to register for courses in the above mentioned fields, and if the quality of his work improves, his name may be included at the end of the next semester.
6. No students name may appear on this list unless he has previously registered with the chairman, of the department, Mr. Steiner, and has continued to keep his departmental record up to date."

It is imperative that all candidates for majors or minors in Geography, History, and Social Science, register with Mr. Steiner immediately and continue to fill in their record blanks each semester.

Mrs. W. A. Tyler Presents Gifts To C.S.T.C. Library

The C.S.T.C. library is very much indebted to Mrs. W. E. Tyler for a gift of illustrated editions of Washington Irving, Victor Hugo, Charles Dickens, William Makepeace Thackeray, and Bulwer Lytton which were published in 1880.

In addition to the illustrated books she also presented the library with a steel engraving of Shakespeare at the court of Queen Elizabeth. The steel engraving will be hung in Mr. Burrough's room.

Young Progressives Hold Reorganization Meeting

Edward R. Lightbody, Kenneth Anderson Are Principle Speakers

The Young Progressives met Tuesday night, October 25, to reorganize their group in the college. The meeting was held in Mr. Nixon's room and was attended by forty-five members.

"--- And So To Bed", Three Act Comedy At Assembly Program

The Coffe-Miller Players will present "And So To Bed", a farce comedy in three acts, Friday morning, October 27, in assembly.

The scene of this comedy is London during the time of the restoration of Charles the II to the throne of England. During this period of history, comedy prevailed as the theatrical type of play. "---And So To Bed" is said to be characteristic of the customs and literary tastes of that period in history.

The main characters of this play are Samuel Pepys, the famous diarist, and his wife, Elizabeth. The theme is built around a husband attempting to make an escape and his discovery by his wife whom he supposed was not clever enough to discover his plan.

Martha Miller and Jess Coffe, who will present this three act, costume, farce-comedy on Friday, have long been working with characterization in classic comedies.

All-Expense Tour Grand Prize In Essay Contest

I. An all-expense, seven-day tour to New Orleans is the grand prize in a contest being sponsored by the officials of the Illinois Central Railroad for the best essays submitted by the students of the college.

II. Prizes will be awarded for the best factual essays not exceeding 1500 words and written on the subject, "Why is New Orleans known as America's most interesting city?" or "What part did the railroads play in the development of New Orleans and the Mississippi Valley?"

III. The 32 best essays will be submitted to the professional judging service of the Donnelley Corporation for judgement by the objective rating system on basis of originality, neatness, and appropriateness.

The general aim of this group will be educational, social and discussonal meetings. Topics relating to state, national, and immediate political issues will be the leading articles for discussion. How state government, and especially how the present administration, affects students at the colleges will also be brought up.

Constitution Adopted

A constitution was adopted at the meeting and officers elected. Appointments to various committees were made and plans for further programs were drawn up.

Edward R. Lightbody, state organizer for the Young Progressives, addressed the gathering. He urged the members of the new group to be active, vigilant and to be careful in their activities. At a later date he will address the group on matters pertaining to the past legislature where he served as a messenger.

Mr. Kenneth Anderson, local lawyer, urged cooperation with the county unit of the Young Progressives and reported on the State Convention at Wausau last summer.

Lutheran Students Plan To Attend Nov. Convention

Plans are being made by the C.S.T.C. chapter of the Lutheran Student Association of America to send six delegates to the Land O'Lakes regional conference of the association at the University of Minnesota, November 10-12.

More than 500 representatives of the 40 colleges in Southern Minnesota, Iowa, Northern Michigan and Wisconsin which have Lutheran Student groups will attend the conference to make plans for next year's program and to study the topic, "The Faith For Our Day". This theme was studied also at the national conference of Lutheran Students in Hickory, North Carolina this summer.

Lutherans on the campus interested in attending the conference should see Harold Torkelson. Registrations must be in by November 1.

IV. These contests are being conducted with the hope of increasing student interest in travel which is visual education at its best.

FREE THOUGHT

The other evening, not long ago, a group of college men had spent an evening discussing, in general, practically everything. It had been a regular "bull" session, in which real ideas, sincere and well-thought, had been dragged out in the open and ripped up or agreed upon, as occasion demanded. The talk had finally taken a turn to the foreign situation, as most talks do now, and much time had been spent analyzing all of the circumstances, backgrounds, results, etc. of the 1939 European war. The usual ideas were set forth in regard to the blame carried by the Versailles treaty in responsibility for the present conflict, the attitude of the British, the position of the French the part Hitler has played, the Russo-German pact, the "encirclement" policy of Great Britain, all the ins and outs of the confused picture of Europe today. But one thing was most evident, the usual rancor, prejudice, blind dogmatic thinking, or rather, "opinionating" that most people do about this question was entirely lacking. Instead of a narrow unthinking, one-sided view, the thought was fair, on the whole unprejudiced, and entirely lacking in the thoughtless mind-set usually present in any discussion of our newest war. In other words, these young men could see both sides of the question, they did not shut their minds to the fact that no side of any question is entirely right, or entirely wrong. They could see right, see reason, on both sides of the German-British-French conflict. They saw the selfish interest of Britain in keeping her present Empire intact, and the French fear of Germany becoming a stronger power, apt to replace the British-French "policy-power" in Europe. They saw Germany's struggle to become a great nation, economically healthy, and her problem in regard to the small Slavic "thorns" of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Moravia, Bohemia etc., that surround her and fester in her sides. They saw too the unfortunate need for a state government of the Nazi type in Germany, the evident ruthlessness and perhaps cruelty of a government of this kind, and the unreasonable man at its head. They made at least an attempt, and it was a good one, to see both sides of the question.

The point is this. Is this fairness, this intellectual broadness common to all people—laborer, college student, lawyer, college professor, doctor? The answer is of course, NO! And we are inclined to think that college students are, on the whole, fairer, broader thinkers than the average man of the adult, "out-of-college" (or shall we say educational?) world. In fact, most people of America, our usual person, thinks in a manner most blind and set. He thinks in a manner that will and has gotten us into war!

Our college or "educated" thinking, must circulate and grow, if right thinking is to come to us. We must strive always, to keep our educational institution a shrine of freedom of thought and fairness of mind. We must push from our minds the blind, set, dogmatic ideas so prevalent among our great American man. We must do this to save our America, our own ideas, our own freedom, for thinking otherwise we'll eventually plunge ourselves into a war, on the allied side, that will destroy and crush, in our own country the very things we think we would save by fighting.

IN THE MAIL BOX

Dear Editor, Last week there appeared in the mail box a very nicely written article concerning the subject of what the men of C.S.T.C. should wear to our dances. The article was in my mind undoubtedly written by a woman because from the article I can see the individual does not know much about men's clothes—Also I don't believe that the individual quite realizes the situation on the Stevens Point Campus—looking at the question from a fellow's standpoint I can see that there are quite a few (Continued on page 3, col. 2)

Gleanings From The Homecoming Listing Post

Bob Broome, who battled Ray Weingartner for the center post on the '34 Kotal eleven, will go to the post with Omeg alum Beulah Turinski come Monday at Tomahawk. . . Although they aren't putting out any dope on their honeymoon, Bob did admit that they plan to spend their first wedded night with Mr. and Mrs. Weingartner at Mattoon. . . Mrs. Weingartner is the former Allie Sorenson. . . That tall, dark and handsome gentleman with "Sis" Nason, Omeg alum, Friday night at the Pan-Hellenic dance was Dick Johnson of Waupaca. . . He was promising at the U. a couple of seasons ago. . . And Saturday night, Sis's escort was Mike Ellingson of Oshkosh. . . The Dearborn Spindler—Betty Smith and Charlie Mase—Anita Madsen duos were unpleasantly surprised by Stevens Point's ever alert junior G-men (cops to you) Saturday night. . . Location: Well, it doesn't matter, they'll have to change it now, anyway. . .

Add nifty looking alums: Betty Schwahn and Peggy Glennon—and freshmen, they used to go to school here! . . . "Snookie" Van Dyke and Tau Gam Millie Bowers looked to be having a good time Saturday night. . . Phil Thorson had a . . . of a good time Friday night—so they told him. . . Louis Posluszny's "Dead End Kids" pals from Chicago Heights kept things moving over at the Chi Delt House over the weekend. . . Add sharp lookers: Beverly Murty, a frosh. . . That was Katey Mullen, Oshkosh co-ed, with Johnny Steiner. . . Incidentally, Johnny, who went here four years, forgot that the formal was Friday night instead of Saturday, and spend considerable time in needless worry over the possibility that she might not like it. . .

Ed Lightbody was noticeably present (as if he isn't always) during the class elections last week. . . But confidentially, he had less to do with the independent organization than some believe. . . We have it on fairly good authority that there were at least 125 more votes in the sophomore class election than voters. . . Don Olson and "Strange As It Seems" Sara Anderson are reported to be reconnoitering in the same sector down at Madison. . . That was Thelma Lockery, Lawrence co-ed, with Jim Murat Saturday night. . . Gladys Malinowski was looking as classic as ever Saturday P. M. . . Noticeably absent were Phyllis Gikling, Don Johnson, Guy Krumm, Ash Shorey et al. . .

Ray Harris and his Indiana Aristocrats ought to change their name to the Arpin Plebians. . . It would be a closer description, they tell us. . . They weren't as bad as we expected, however. . . Michelson's alumni band idea was a corker. . . Somebody was passing out cigars last week on Clark Street. . . Meta Mogansen, one of the sharper numbers around here last year, renews numerous acquaintances here this weekend. . . We can say unauthoritatively that she is engaged and will sport her diamond by Christmas. . . That was one classy bunch of gals at the Tau Gam banquet Saturday night. . . Same to you, Omegs. . .

Mrs. Miner and associates gave the Chi Delt all they could ask for at their banquet Saturday. . . Surprise of the weekend: Bud Menzel with Millie Larson of the Pffiffer-Larson duo. . . That's class, Bud! . . . Georgie Cashin and Alice Taylor are an item. . . Bet that Margie Judd didn't look too bad to Georgie this weekend, however. . . Fay Wendorf was sporting her housemate's (Norma Ferguson) old boyfriend, Don Bremmer, at Friday's formal, which should mean something.

THE MUSIC PARADE

From all reports the newly organized alumni band was a "bang-up" success last week-end. About thirty of Mr. Michelson's music "prodigies" returned to greet their former band-mates and add zest to the Homecoming. The "Beer Barrel Polka" seemed to be their theme song and you'll have to admit it did sound "kinda" good. Perhaps the instrumentation wasn't so complete but the noise was terrific and the group proved most entertaining to the football fans during the half. In the course of their maneuvering (if it may be termed as such) one of the Training School pupils was heard to say, "Do you mean to tell me they're teachers?" It was fun having our musical alumni back and, thanks to Mr. Michelson, a new tradition has been started in C.S.T.C.

The Alpha Kappa Rho luncheon, held at the Methodist Church, turned out to be quite a reunion. Forty-five musicians were present, including Mr. and Mrs. Michelson, President and Mrs. E. T. Smith, former President and Mrs. F. S. Hyer, Dean and Mrs. H. R. Steiner, band alumni, and members of Alpha Kappa Rho. After the luncheon election of officers was held for the Alumni Band and they agreed to hold an annual meeting every Homecoming. The following were chosen to hold office:

- President Oscar Christianson, Bloomer, Wis. Vice President Otis Michelsen Stevens, Point, Wis. Secretary-Treasurer Frederick Parfrey, Blair, Wis.

Orchids to our new drum major who made a fine appearance Saturday both in the parade and on the field. Thanks to him C.S.T.C.'s band received many compliments on its marching and maneuvering.

CLUB AND SOCIETY

"CHI DELT" BANQUET

About 45 alumni and active members of Chi Delta Rho fraternity attended that group's annual homecoming banquet Saturday night at Nelson hall. The group was largely made up of alumni members.

Included among the guests were President E. T. Smith, Dean H. R. Steiner, R. M. Rightsell and H. M. Tolo, faculty advisors.

Dearborn Spindler, president, was toastmaster and besides the above named faculty, he introduced Henry Warner, representing the active members, and Norman Hinckley as an alumni representative.

After the banquet and program, the Chi Deltas had a "jive session" with Ray Weingartner at the piano.

NEWMAN CLUB TO MEET

The Newman Club will hold its regular meeting Thursday, October 26 at 7:30 on the third floor. The program will consist of a business meeting, and musical selections and a talk by Father McGinnely, pastor of St. Stephen's Church.

All those who were not present at the last initiation and still wish to become members are invited to attend this meeting. A special initiation will be held.

Initiation Held

About 65 Catholic students became members of C.S.T.C.'s Newman Club Thursday, October 12. After the unusual and impressive initiation service, the old members formed a receiving line and welcomed the new. Then refreshments were served and everyone was requested to attend the dancing that was being held in the old gym.

"PHI SIGS" ENTERTAIN

Phi Sigma Epsilon entertained twenty-three alumni members and as many actives at their annual homecoming banquet Saturday evening. The dinner held at the fraternity house and was featured by informal singing and swapping of stories, some quite "talls" and others supposedly tame experiences.

Among the returning brothers were several of last year's graduates as well as a few of the old-timers, members of Phi Lambda Phi, the forerunner of the present Phi Sigma Epsilon.

After a hearty meal the fellows tried their voices with a little harmony (?) led by Charlie Burch. Toastmaster Phil Thorson then called on several alums for a few words. Several of the speakers were Burch, Bjorn Christianson, Ben Laske, and Burton Hotvedt. The latter is a graduate of the class of '32 and has served as historian on the National Council of Phi Sigma Epsilon.

Y.W.C.A. INITIATION

The Y.W.C.A. will hold its candlelight initiation Thursday, October 26, at 7:30 o'clock in the recreation room at Nelson Hall. All college girls are cordially invited to become members. Refreshments will be served.

Reminder

Bring your nickels for those delicious cup cakes that the Y.W.C.A. girls sell every Wednesday from nine o'clock on.

"TAU GAMM" CELEBRATE THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Tau Gamma Beta, the oldest Greek organization on the campus, celebrated its thirtieth anniversary in connection with the Homecoming activities this past week-end.

Three groups of Tau Gams were present at the formal dinner which was held at the Hotel Whiting. The group, totaling seventy persons, was made up of alumnae members representing classes from 1914 through 1939, active Tau Gams, and pledges.

Gold and white chrysanthemums and tapers decorated both the speaker's and small tables.

Miss Anne Mainland, sorority president, presided with Miss Dorothy Richards as toastmistress. The speakers were Mrs. Ernest T. Smith and Mrs. Frank N. Spindler, patronesses, Mrs. Frederick Vetter, a representative of the alumnae group, and Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, president of the Alumnae Association.

A distinctive feature of the program was the "Tau Gam Trio" composed of Doris Soderberg, La Rae Winch and Eileen Rose, who sang a group of specially arranged songs.

"OMEGAS" HOLD REUNION

At a table shaped in the Greek letter, Omega, sat 67 sisters of Omega Mu Chi. The occasion was the annual alumni dinner given at Hotel Whiting last Saturday evening.

Grace Melchoir, the president, presided over the meeting and introduced the speakers. Eleanor Rucht, an active, spoke and Mrs. Cashin, a patroness, gave a word of greeting. Roberta Lindow spoke in behalf of the alumni. Each "alum" introduced herself and told what she is doing at the present time. The alumnae held a meeting before the dinner and elected Betty Jacobs as president.

NELSON HALL, HOTEL

Nelson Hall harbored forty-five extra girls within its walls last week-end. But homecoming is homecoming and who cares to be exclusive, or "live alone and like it." Some of the old "Nellies" were Katherine Becker, the Dopp's, Gladys Malinowsky, Jayne Akins, Marguerite Adams Westphal, Marjorie Judd, Marcy Schultz, Marguerite Carmody, Margaret Kratz, and Lorraine Brown.

The Y.W.C.A. girls attractively decorated the living rooms with pennants and streamers.

Botany Bits

Early this fall fifty botany students gathered varied specimens, large and small, of Nature's beautiful flowers and studied deeply into their secrets of producing fruits and seeds.

Walter Jacobson brought a bag of potato fruits, and the class really observed, Portage County potato seeds. Seeing is believing, there is a difference between potato seed and seed potatoes.

Wisconsin's gorgeous display of color in our trees was explained by Miss Jones, some understanding how and why nature paints adds to our joy of fall scenery.

Art Room Proves Very Interesting

Your columnist dropped in at the Art Room the other day and observed things that should prove of great interest to the student body. This year's crop of budding artists is certainly putting forth a great deal of creative effort.

A screen, found in the front corner of the room, is covered with lettering and monograms, all of them very individualistic and showing traces of definite artistic trend. The south wall of the room is covered with all sorts of panel designs, both conventional and abstract. They include animals, fish, fruit, and flowers.

SICK LIST

Jane Rogers, a popular young freshman, has been confined to St. Michael's Hospital, having undergone an appendectomy.

Janie is feeling O.K. now and friends will be welcome.

T. A. Rogers has been ill at his home since last Wednesday. His condition has improved and he has returned to school.

Robert Baker has been seriously ill after a major operation, but he is much better now, thank you. He would like visitors (the room is 107) —Says the four walls are beginning to make faces at him.

Training School Feats Hallowe'en

The three primary grades of the Training School will have their Hallowe'en party Friday afternoon, October 27, from 2:00 to 3:30 P. M. The students will dress in costumes and prizes will be awarded for the most original ones.

The entertainment will consist of games and group singing. Refreshments will also be served.

Verna Lueck is the general chairman of the Primary Hallowe'en party, and is assisted by the following committee chairmen: Ruth Robinson, Eileen De Horn, Grace Melchoir, and Marguerite Sargeant.

Intermediate

The Grand March will open the festivities of the Annual Intermediate Costume party which is to be held in the Training School Gym at four o'clock Friday afternoon. This is the only costume affair held during the year. It is unique in that it is sponsored and managed entirely by Committees of student teachers for the children of the Intermediate department.

Immediately following the Grand March the boys and girls will be divided into groups to play games. To satisfy the famished appetites of the young ones, refreshments will be served in the Training School Gym from 4:30 to 5:00. This will climas the party for the season of 1939.

Junior High

The Junior High grades of the training School will hold a Hallowe'en Party in the Training School Gymnasium, Friday, October 27, at seven o'clock.

The party will begin with a grand march at which time the costumes will be judged and prizes awarded to those having the best and most original costumes.

Each grade will present a program of students which consists of musical numbers, dances, plays, and other selections.

The students will later be entertained by games and dancing, after which refreshments will be served.

The student teachers are on various committees to plan the party. The following are chairmen of committees: Claire Williams, Dearborn Spindler, John Yurkovitch and Joseph Ophoven.

PEDS MEET SUPERIOR FRIDAY NIGHT

Milwaukee Beats Pointers 27-6

Cinches Chance For Championship

Milwaukee's green gulls invaded Stevens Point Saturday and before they left they had cinched at least a share of the Southern Half Championship. Playing the visitors to a standstill throughout the afternoon and looking far superior at times, the Pointers were the victims of what Coach Kluge of Milwaukee termed a "lucky win". However nothing can be taken away from an alert Milwaukee team that played bang-up football and was quick to take advantage of any break. Four times Point's plays went amiss and four times Milwaukee scored.

Slotwinski Scores

Even in defeat, Point's twin speed merchants, Posluszny and Koehn, looked like all-conference ball carries. Reeling off gains of from six to twenty yards at a time, these two boys gave the opponents plenty to worry about. Captain Bohan playing his heart out in his last homecoming game also gave an exhibition of fancy stepping after he took Duecker's pass and ran to the fifteen yard line where he passed to Slotwinski who scored Point's lone score. Outstanding in Point's line were the old reliables, Slotwinski and Otto, along with Dorscha, Parr and Bernstein.

FRANKIE KOEHN

Milwaukee's scoring was quite evenly distributed with Janski, Jablonski, and Krzoska scoring touchdowns and the latter kicking three extra points. The green gulls attack was led by Eckenrod, Janski, and Reagan with Krzoska, Jablonski Tews, and Drjer playing good ball in the forward wall.

The starting lineups:

Point	Milwaukee
Bohan	L. E. Jablonski
Dorscha	L. T. Drejer
Otto	L. G. Kuzevich
Sybdon	C. Iwgrelli
Bernstein	R. G. Dunnar
Slotwinski	R. T. Tews
Warner	R. E. Krzorka
Cashin	Q. B. Eckenrod
Trankle	L. H. Janski
Posluszny	R. H. Lieber
Ruppel	F. B. Reagan

Don Unferth, Central State gridiron and cage hero for four years, calls our attention to an inadvertent error made in one of our sports stories last week. Unferth as a Pointer sports-ed in '35. Part of his letter follows:

"In your homecoming issue of the Pointer, you gave a summary of the homecoming contests played to date. You stated that in 1933, Whitewater defeated Stevens Point 13 to 6. It was the other way around. We won 13 to 6. As I remember it, Ted Menzel blocked a punt and ran for some 20 yards for the winning touchdown. I ought to remember that game as I came out of it with the most perfect specimen of a black eye I've ever received. All the scoring in that game took place in the first half, Whitewater scoring in the first few minutes of play."

Knowing Unferth as we do as a walking encyclopedia of sporting records of every kind, we didn't even bother to look this up... Unferth won a trip to the All-Star baseball game at Boston several seasons ago by picking the starting lineups for both teams quite a few weeks before the game was played... One bright spot on the Central State football horizon this week at least was the report that Bradley Tech defeated Long Island University 33 to 0... At least, on paper, we're better than Long Island—and that's no small school, folks!... Bob Broome, center in 1935, joins the ranks of the benedicts next Monday... He will spend his first night of married life with Ray Weingartner, who battled him for the center post in 1935... Ron Murray, flashy halfback on the championship '34 team and alternate halfback on the Central State All-Time team for the 1924-34 period, was among the returning alums... So All-Star Warren Becker and Mike Fritsch, Milt Anderson, Dick Schwahn, Al Bucholz, Frankie Hitze, Gib Pophal, Frank Menzel and many others too numerous to mention.

Just Guessin'

Two weeks ago we tried our hand at prognosticating and although the results weren't too good we think that they were close enough to warrant another attempt. In our first attempt we picked ten right, five were wrong, and four games ended in a tie. If our arithmetic isn't too rusty, we are batting .666. Anyway, here goes—

Central State at Surperior—Point should be due.

Milwaukee at De Kalb—The Green Gulls are in for a disappointment.

Platteville at Whitewater—Whitewater in a close contest.

La Crosse at River Falls—The phyed boys look like the winners.

Eau Claire at Stout—Eau Claire.

Iowa at Wisconsin—The Badgers are improving and should take this one.

Illinois at Northwestern—Northwestern is our choice.

Purdue at Santa Clara—a long way to travel to take a licking.

Michigan at Yale—Also a long trip but the victory will be worth the trouble.

Cornell at Ohio State—The Buckeyes have lots of scoring punch and should win.

Arizona at Marquette—The Golden Avalanche, easily.

Notre Dame at Carnegie Tech—Another win for the Irish.

Mount Union at Heidelberg—We'll take the Blatz team easily.

Heran at Allegheny—We reckon the mountaineers are to rugged.

Colby at Bowdoin—Too bad Wiesig your team will get beat.

Game Under Lights To Be Tough Battle

Friday nite will find the local peds battling a strong undefeated Superior team on the yellowjackets homefield. Superior has always been rated the strongest football team in the northern conference, and with three victories and a tie under their belts, they are again living up to their reputation. This is the first encounter between the two schools in many years, so it should be a good game.

Co-Captains

The yellowjackets are led by Co-Captains Cirilli and Rich, two all-conference men of last year. Cirilli plays end and is one of the outstanding place-kickers of the Northwest. Rich is a fancy-stepping back who can also sling the pigskin when needed. With these two men as a nucleus, the Superior Peds should present a very formidable foe.

Revamped Team

We wouldn't be surprised if a revamped team will start at Superior for the locals. Watch for a freshman back by the name of Sharkey who looked good in the short time he played last Saturday. With this in mind we won't try to pick a starting line up this week, for your guess may be as good as our.

Homecoming Visitor

When I first noticed him he was being swept along toward the refreshment table, crushed in amidst a crowd of students. He had doubled his fists and was pushing and straining to keep from being tumbled on. A sudden push hurtled me forward, and I had to brace myself to keep from falling on him. He was just a little fellow and so dirty he was cute.

The faded grey suit-coat he wore over his overall had obviously belonged to some more fortunate older brother. It came clear to his knees and the sleeves had been turned back a couple of times. His hair had been cut at home-bowl fashion.

When I spoke to him, he gave me a quick, distrustful look as if he were afraid I wanted to kick him out. I got back of him and tried to maneuver him toward the food. As we got close I found a hole and pushed him through, but I saw the man in charge shake his head at him and before I could call out my little pal had darted out of sight.

As soon as I was served I looked around, and spying him near the door I went over and held out my doughnuts and cider. His eyes grew big but he shook his head.

"That gy'd see ye," he said mournfully. "I ain't supposed to be in here."

I assured him it was none of the gentleman's business if I chose to give away what was mine. After throwing a couple of doubtful glances at "the guy", he grinned his acceptance and I handed it over. He immediately tried to put the whole doughnut in his mouth, and not wishing to embarrass him by watching him eat I went back to my friends who had been watching in amusement.

When we were ready to leave, I looked for him, and the last I saw of my young friend he was right back in the line again.

The teacher had forbidden the eating of candy and chewing of gum during school time. One day she became suspicious of a lump in Jimmie's cheek.

"Jimmie, are you eating candy or chewing gum?"
"No," replied Jimmie, "I'm just soaking a prune to eat at recess."

NOTICE! FRESHMEN!

fellows who, if they wanted to, couldn't wear the set up decided upon by the person who wrote last week's article. Then again there is this little thing when a girl wears what she likes to wear she is considered nonchalant, but again when a fellow does the same he is sloppy. Is that right? If it is, well, maybe I'm wrong. As to what other campus's will think about the situation. It so happens that I have spent considerable time on a prominent campus and find that the same situation exists in more places than just Stevens Point, and it so happens that this college is quite a bit more prominent than Oshkosh. There is, of course, the old saying, "When in Rome, do as the Romans do." That of course might be partially the cause—you know how styles and fashions start. So that's that. I hope I'm right as I think I am.

We Pause To Pay Homage

Homecoming has come and gone. To many this will mark a milestone in their lives. The parade was one of the best in many years. The organizations presented new and original floats. The freshmen were appropriately initiated with the responsibility of the bonfire. Dances, parties, etc., all played a major part in the festivities. The pleasure of meeting old friends and making the acquaintance of old alums proved a fitting and happy experience to the students who now attend C.S.T.C. Yes, homecoming is the time of year to be cherished and held dear in the hearts of many. But behind all of this glamour and hilarity there is someone who is forgotten. As we exert ourselves in this celebration we fail to notice the people who are responsible for a great deal of its success. We move so fast we do not notice people working until the wee small hours of the morning, straining their eyes to put a last dab of paint in place to highlight a letter or two so that a float might make a creditable appearance. These people somehow are left out of the picture, and yet they, more than anyone, deserve a great deal of credit. In saying goodbye to homecoming, and waiting for a more enjoyable one next year, a word to the organizations. Don't forget the people who made it possible for you to win a prize whether in the parade or in any other undertaking you might have undergone. Give them a hand so that they will realize that you appreciate their effort.

Many New Books Added To Library

Practical, entertaining and enlightening are some of the characteristics of the new books which have been added to C.S.T.C.'s library.

A book of practical value is My Ten Years In A Quandary and How They Grew by Robert Benchley. It is said of the characters in his story, "You'll like them all, and you'll laugh your way from beginning to end of this supreme example of Benchley's 'divine insanity.'"

H. V. Morton, "The Greatest Living Travel Writer", relates his experiences in traveling through the lands of the Bible in his book, Through Lands of the Bible. H. V. Morton traveled from the Euphrates to the Oasis of Siwa and various other lands of Biblical history which he well describes in his book. His manner of writing is such that "he takes the reader with him every step of the way; to watch the sunset on the broad Euphrates, to smell the fragrance of spring in the Sinai mountains, to listen to the joyous din of an Egyptian market place, to relive the unforgettable events of the Bible in their modern settings."

Propaganda For War, the campaign against American neutrality 1914-1919, was written by H. C. Peterson. This book is a result of his interest and study of propaganda. After Mr. Peterson had graduated from Cornell University, he began a concentrated study of the reasons back of America's entrance into the World War.

The Armistice by Ray Stannard Baker, completes the series "Woodrow Wilson Life and Letters." The Armistice is the eighth volume of the series which was written by the President's personal friend and authorized biographer. The story covers the period of the World War from February 1918 to the signing of the Armistice on November 11, 1918. "This concluding volume rounds out in symmetry the life of a man whose intellect and great courage guided America through one of the great crises of her national life, and whose statesmanship made an indelible impression upon all Europe."

As a reference book on music the library has purchased The International Cyclopedia of Music and Musicians edited by Oscar Thompson. This reference book gives stories of operas, composers lives and describes different types of music.

Let's Knock 'Em Down And Drag 'Em Out

What's your opinion of a fellow who sneaks up on you, blackjacks you, hits you below the belt and jumps on you when you're down?

There are fellows like that in our community. He likes to maim people—to twist and disfigure them until they pray for death! He breaks up families! He picks on kids—makes them suffer! He robs them of their birthright to an active life and even takes their parents from them.

What are we going to do about this fellow? He's tough and cruel and dirty—but we can lick him if we get together—so let's gang up on him and give him the works!

We've got to see him and drive him from the community. His name—as you may have guessed—is "Old Man Accident"—and his sidekick is "Death". His tools are ignorance, thoughtlessness, and carelessness.

We'll have to fight him by (a) preaching safety to the boys and girls in our Training Schools, (b) sending safety thoughts into the homes with the children, and (c) practicing what we preach.

So, come on, students of C.S.T.C. Let's go over the top and knock 'em down and drag 'em out.

Homecoming Proves Successful In Two Out Of Three Ways

Although Milwaukee succeeded in spoiling the homecoming game with a lopsided score, homecoming in general proved to be a success. The day started out with an excellent parade. Every float showed original ideas which were worked out cleverly. Although a brisk wind was blowing it did not in any way spoil the parade.

The parade was led by the college band followed by floats, then the alumni band followed by the remainder of the floats. Judges were stationed at various points and their final decision was to award the Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity, first place, the Pointer, second, and Tau Gamma Beta Sorority, third.

The "Phi Sigs" used the clever idea showing Hitler riding in a large, open car, well surrounded by his storm troopers. Signs reading "Milwaukee 'Nazi' tough", "Czech Milwaukee", "Feuhrer touchdowns" completed the display.

The Pointer worked up the slogan "It's open season on Green Gulls, we'll get the limit", by having a Pointer dog in the brush pointing up to a Green Gull in the sky.

The "Tau Gam's" used the idea "Laurels Never Lost" taken from the school song, and worked out their idea in a beautiful Grecian float. The school colors were carried out in the costumes that the girls wore. A Greek goddess dressed in white was surrounded by maidens in lavender gowns.

The college band was given great praise for their work and the alumni band received honorable mention for their display of activity.

The two dances proved very successful—Friday night the Greek-sponsored formal proved to be a fine thing with the music of Benny Graham's band. Saturday night brought forth the homecoming dance at the P. J. Jacobs Gym. Music was furnished by Ray Harris' orchestra. A good congenial crowd turned out and a good time was had by all. Thus ended a very unique and successful weekend for Stevens Point State Teachers.
