

C.S.T.C. FACULTY INCREASED

Pfiffner, Glennon and Menzel Added

Three new members have been added to the Central State Teacher's College faculty this fall. Mrs. Elizabeth Collins Pfiffner of Stevens Point has been made Dean of Women. Heretofore, Miss Mary Neuberger has held this title, but due to increased responsibility as school nurse, has been forced to give up her duties as Dean.

Mrs. Pfiffner received her Bachelor of Education degree from Central State Teacher's College in 1929 and her Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1937. She has been a teacher of history at the local high school since 1934, and head of the history department and guidance director there for the last two years. In connection with her duties as Dean of Women, she will also carry on guidance work at the college. Her office is located on the first floor, Room 154, in the room formerly used as a teacher's lounge.

Another loss to the high school and gain to our faculty is Miss Bertha Glennon, teacher of English, also from Stevens Point. She is temporarily replacing Miss Hanna, who was forced to discontinue teaching because of a sudden stroke during the summer. Miss Glennon, formerly a student at C.S.T.C., received her Bachelor of Arts and Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. She has been head of the

THIRD FLYING CLASS BEGUN

Ground School Work Taught At College; Flying At Wis. Rapids

Air program arrangements have been completed for the fall flying course for beginners, such as completed last spring and in the summer session. All persons interested are urged to get in touch with Mr. Rightsell immediately.

Available information shows that our 1940-41 allotment will be four times as large as last year. There will be arrangements made for a class of twenty each semester. All upper classmen, or non-college students who have two years of college work, men or women, are eligible. Tuition fees are twenty-five dollars. Anyone interested should contact Mr. Rightsell at once.

During the interim between summer session and the beginning of the current school year, Mr. Rightsell, Director of Civil Pilot Training, was in Madison, lecturing to flying instructors from Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin, as well as to the University's sixty primary and ten secondary students.

To The Freshmen:

Probably no period in our history has made clearer demands on the American people for clear and intelligent thinking. We are living in a world that is crumbling—devoting its intelligence and energy to destruction. From any point of view, the outlook is not good,—destruction rather than construction seems to be the order of the day.

Our schools were created to train men and women for clear thinking. The schools were and are set up for the purpose of making our citizens intelligent. Never was there a more obvious need for such service.

So, as president of this Teachers College, I wish to congratulate the young people who have entered this fall in the expectation of giving such service in our schools. There is no more important public service that anyone can render and I hope that our entrants will see the importance of their prospective work and prepare themselves thoroughly for the service.

E. T. Smith

773

The enrollment, to date, has reached 773. This is somewhat smaller than last year's enrollment for the first semester, which was 830, and larger than the enrollment for 1938-39, which numbered 741. However, the enrollment is expected to increase during the next few weeks. Statistics are not yet available for the various departments.

NEW RADIO COURSE OFFERED — COLBY

A new course in radio technique, Speech 222, is being initiated here this fall, according to announcement made by Mr. J. Donald Colby of the radio department. It is a two hour course to be taken as an elective or toward a minor in speech. A study of experimental productions of programs, writing radio script, announcing, acting, sound effects, and microphone placement will be included, using the college studios as an experimental laboratory. The technique of recording and broadcasting will be emphasized. Students interested in this course should contact Mr. Colby.

NOTICE

All men interested in the Men's Glee Club get in touch with Mr. Knutzen this week. There are still several vacancies to be replaced by new men. Tryouts are being held this week in the rehearsal room.

Public Schools Furnish Training For NYA Youth

Administrator Aubrey Williams announced recently that the National Youth Administration hereafter will depend entirely upon public schools for furnishing training, both academic and vocational, to out-of-school youth workers employed by NYA.

The NYA out-of-school work program, he emphasized, will concentrate its activities on part-time work experience. There are now approximately 300,000 young men and women, 17 to 25 years of age, employed on this program.

Mr. Williams' announcement was based on an agreement between the National Youth Administration and J. W. Studebaker, United States Commissioner of Education, and a group of chief State school officers and State Directors of vocational education.

This agreement specifies that it is the function of the U. S. Office of Education to "secure the development and operation of educational or training programs for all youth," and the function of the NYA is "to organize and administer programs of work for needy or selected youth."

Mr. Williams has advised all State NYA administrators of this agreement, and instructed them to act

PLATFORM FOR 1940-41

1. Complete and impartial news coverage.
2. Stimulate student interest in public affairs.
3. Promote cooperation among the various groups and organizations on the campus.

EDITORIAL POLICY

As listed in the platform for 1940-41, the Pointer shall attempt to accomplish three things this year. If we can succeed at all in those objectives we shall be highly pleased. It shall be our policy, further, to take definite stands regarding school questions which arise during the year, and the editorial page shall be prejudiced in its treatment of public affairs. It is the hope of the Editor that good use will be made of the feature, "Student Sparring"—you are invited and urged to contribute whatever may be the occasion for expressing an opinion. However, the right to edit or reject contributions must be reserved by the Editor. We hope the Pointer will be an organ of genuine interest to you, and we shall do all in our power to uphold the high standard set by tradition.

TRAGIC CONTRAST

Freshmen and upper classmen of Central State Teachers College and every other educational institution in the United States! You are embarking this fall upon a college voyage which for the first time in twenty-two years promises to be courting danger and perhaps even disaster before port is reached in the spring. Until June of 1940, you American students had held only the slightest fear of the mistruth in that then-popular phrase, "It can't happen here." With the fall of democratic France came the realization to the wise youth of America that the possibility of a similar fate for their our great democracy was not a fairy story as the murmurings of some of our government leaders would have them believe. What happened to the brilliant defenses against the totalitarian threat to the East? Why did mighty France crumble so completely? Some of you perhaps think of the defeat of France as a military defeat. God help you then! France was defeated by her own people. France was weak morally. The ideals of democracy which were to bind her people together as one were lacking. A dispatch from Bordeaux France, published in the New York Times after the fall of France carried in it a story of an old man who was seeing his beloved country bowing in defeat. His father had fought in the Franco-Prussian conflict and had seen the German conquerors enter Paris. He had fought them in the first World War. His son was fighting them now. In attempting to explain the present plight of his country the old man made a tragic confession. I quote from the New York Times: "We have lacked an ideal. I confess that in this matter, I confess that in this matter, I have been as guilty as most of my countrymen. We came to imagine that the proper duty of man was to arrange an easy way of life, individualistic to the point of selfishness.

"I am old enough—I shall be 73 next month—to speak plainly without being accused of afterthoughts. I tell you that we followed the wrong road. We were all democratic in spirit but in reality we were much too concerned with self. It was, to a great extent, the fault of our institutions, which tended to breed politicians instead of statesmen and which set party interests before those of the nation.

"This is not the time to apportion the blame; in truth we are all responsible. We saw no further than the parish pump and we were well satisfied when our representatives in parliament brought home some of the gravy. We looked upon the state as a universal purveyor and we always spoke of our dues, seldom of our duties."

You students of America! You students of today who in a few short

Miss Dearborn

Members of the faculty and students of the college and training school deeply mourn the sudden death of Miss Frances Rose Dearborn, second grade critic. Miss Dearborn was apparently recovering and in very favorable condition after a major operation performed on August 15, when she was suddenly stricken with embolism. On August 28 she died. Her sister, Dr. Helen T. Dearborn of Rer Oak, Iowa, was with her during her illness.

Miss Dearborn received her Bachelor and Master of Arts degree at Iowa State University. She came to Stevens Point two years ago as a second grade critic at the Training School. She was formerly a critic teacher at Detroit State Teacher's College, a lecturer on primary education at the Iowa State University and the University of Minnesota, and also supervisor teacher at the University of California.

Besides writing Indian lore books and text books, Miss Dearborn had just finished two manuscripts on third and fourth grade language which were sent to the publisher during her illness.

Miss Dearborn was a member of the local business women's club and the Altrusa Club of professional and business women. She was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, nation honorary scholastic society and Phi Lambda Theta, honorary educational society.

Miss Mabel Ennor, of Stevens Point is temporary second grade critic at the Training School.

STUDENT SPARRING

(Ed. Note: This department is conducted for the purpose of stimulating the expression of opinions advanced by students and faculty members of the college. The right of editing and rejecting contributions is reserved.)

To Whom It May Concern:

"Seeing your proud and lifted head and knowing
 Your young hearts call to patriot pride,
 And knowing well the lure of bugles blowing
 And quickened pulses not to be denied;"

Just a few lines from last year's final editorial—yet how much more timely they now are. For in the last few days, the conscription bill has been passed by Congress and all men between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-five must register for army training. Now, more than ever before, we, the young men and women of the United States, must keep our wits about us. Propaganda is still the foe to beat—in order to protect ourselves from being sacrifices to the Gods of War.

If it is our lot to train for war—let's still keep the thought in mind to refrain from war. Uniforms are nice—until they're ragged and bloody. Let's do our utmost to keep them clean; to stay in America; to raise families; to realize our ambitions; and to live our lives.

"Not for your sake alone, but for the sake
 Of millions like you whose most certain fate

Is to be fodder for the guns of war,
 Born in a world where greed dooms men to dwell
 In the shadow of a Promised Hell."
 —One Who IS Concerned.

Dear Mr. Editor:

During the past couple of months I have been hearing and reading a great deal on the conscription bill which F. D. R. signed the other day. There seems to be a great deal of arguments pro and con on the subject. Personally, I can't see them. There is only one side to the argument. Conscription is not only necessary, but also desirable.

In a world where force and military might write the law we must be strong in a military sense to defend our liberty and way of life. Universal conscription will provide our nation with a large reserve of trained man power to retain for us our liberty and way of life. That in itself is reason enough for conscription.

However, the economic and social benefits of conscription are also de-years will be the citizens and rulers of tomorrow—do not take these words lightly. What happened to France can happen here. It is the DUTY as well as the RIGHT of every red-blooded American man and woman to begin right now to save America from a similar fate. Military armaments cover only a portion of the defenses we must build. We must revitalize the spirit of democracy by practicing democracy every day. We who are still fortunate to have been called for military duty must do our part in another way. We must rearm ourselves with a LOVE FOR AMERICA. We must fight for the things upon which our country was founded, and we must condemn those who would bring false doctrines to our ears.

Students! Start today to learn your ABC's of democracy:

All students should take an interest in politics.

Begin now to train to work for democracy.

Could you vote intelligently?

Round 'n About

Well, by this time you should have discovered the possibilities of your roommate's closet and be fairly well settled. But then there are always those who take their time to get back in the ole groove. Only trouble is, when the time is ripe for dramatic late entrances, the early birds have widened the groove into a nice broad rut. "Last one in's a sissy!"

To those of you who haven't seen the movie version of Our Town, reports are that it didn't quite come up to what was done here last spring. You know, of course, that they changed the plot and most of "the critics" agree it was not for the better. But put it on your "must see" list of movies and take along your hankie.

A tea was held by the Y-Dub members on last Monday afternoon for the freshmen girls who were gathered at the recreation room of Nelson Hall.

Mrs. Neale's husband started out the first meeting of the Rural Life organization Monday evening. It started out with a bang—community singing. The Freshmen Mixer, the first social event of the season, held Tuesday, September 10 was a huge success. He played on two conference championship ball clubs and was twice named on all-conference teams before graduating from Stevens Point High School in 1933.

Upon entering C.S.T.C. in the fall of '34 Ted continued from where he had left off in High School, playing on three championship teams and being picked all-conference tackle each year. He acted as football captain in '36-'37 and was prexy of his Junior class.

Since graduating, his coaching record leaves little to be desired. His three years at Marshfield were the most successful that their grid teams have enjoyed in the last twelve years. Three state championship boxing teams have also been turned out under his tutelage.

Dick Schwan captain of the 1933 undefeated championship football team will enroll at the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine next week. . . Dick has been teaching and coaching at Greenwood. . . After seeing the Philadelphia-Green Bay game Sunday Coach was heard to remark that "Polecat" Posluszny, our all-conference halfback, runs just like Davie O'Brien. . . Snooky Van Dyke entered baseball's hall of fame this summer when he pitched a no-hit no-run game for the Little Chute Flying Dutchmen. . . Chet Caskey of Phelps is assistant student manager this fall. . . Fe Bohan, last year's football captain, and Warren Becker, a member of the 1933-34 team, are playing with the Milwaukee Chiefs of the American Professional League. . . Hank Warner, last year's basketball captain, is teaching and coaching at Amherst. Hank says that his basketball squad will surpass last year's record. . . The football team traveled approximately 2000 miles last year. The longest trip was an intersectional game with Bradley Tech of Peoria, Illinois who had tied the University of Illinois. The shortest was to Oshkosh where the Pointers battled it's arch rival. . . Mr. Watson, who is a member of the athletic board, played tackle on the University of Chicago team which was led by the immortal Walter Eckersell. . . Jim Bagnell is still the property of the Cincinnati Reds. Jim's arm went on a bum shortly after he was farmed out. . . Sy Sybdelon isn't coming back to school this year. Sy is now with the Border Patrol. . . "Slats" Seffern will be missed on the basketball court this winter. He quit school to work with the telephone company. . . Frankie Koehn's greatest thrill in high school was when he ran a punt back 78 yards for a touchdown on a rain drenched field to defeat Little Chute 6-0. That was Kiberley's first victory over St. John's in a long time. His brother Jimmy is now a star halfback with St. John's. . . Until next week. . . So Long.

Menzel Makes Announcement

Intramurals are expected to get underway within the next week or two. A list of athletic activities will be published in the Pointer this week, or the next and students interested will sign up for the activity which most interests them.

Fifty Men Report

The days are growing shorter, the wind is a little more bitter, and shortly, the leaves will be changing hue. In brief, fall is here and synonymously, football. Throughout the entire nation coaches and managers have opened supply rooms and have unpacked equipment. C.S.T.C. is no exception. Already the lower halls are semi-permeated with the welcome odor of "rub-down" and our ears are made conscious of athletic activity by the boisterous clamor of healthy young men on their way to practice.

For the past three years Central State has been becalmed in the athletic doldrums. This year we are on our way up and let Milwaukee, Whitewater, etc. beware.

Despite the fact that there is a decided lack of lineman as far as quantity is concerned, the superior quality of their play will compensate for this deficiency in number.

Both in number and ability the backfield situation is well taken care of and the running of Fritsch, Posluszny, and Bill Peterson would bring a smile to the lips of a blind man.

Heading the list of lettermen are Co-captains Roy Otto and Greg Dorsha. Both are capable linemen. Other members of the line who received letters are: A. Anderson, Norm Halla, Fred Kalkofen, Bud Menzel, Kenny Parr, B. Reading and Sharkey. Backfield lettermen are: Bill Carnahan, Ted Fritsch, Joe Goodrich, Jim Hanig, Frank Koehn, "Polecat" Posluszny, and "Snooky" Van Dyke.

The complete roster is as follows: A. Anderson, B. Carnahan, G. Dorsha, F. Fink, T. Fritsch, J. Goodrich, N. Halla, Hammes, J. Hanig, D. Helixon, H. Holm, L. Kalkofen, F. Kalkofen, F. Koehn, J. La Fleur, "Bud" Menzel, R. Otto, A. Olingy, K. Parr, Bill Peterson, O. Peterson, L. Posluszny, Bob Reading, P. Riley, Schmidt, B. Shrank, Sharkey, Shrake, H. Stimm, J. Sullivan, Swett, L. Van Dyke, Wilkins, Lyons, Billile, D. Young, J. Bray, R. Raddus, and N. Druckery.

COLLABORATION CORNER

Undoubtedly the readers of this column will scratch their cranial cavity and ponder the significance of such a heading as 'Collaboration Corner'. It is the initial purpose of said collaborators to enlighten such inquirers with a few explanatory statements as to which course we collaborators intend to pursue in our efforts to explain the true meaning of said title.

As college life progresses in its pursuit of more profound understandings, this column will also delve into student life, its organizations, its personalities, its problems and its activities. Then too, don't be surprised if there appear in this space occasional jokes, poems, quips, scientific inventions—practical and otherwise, fashion hints for both the strong and the weak of the species, perhaps favorite recipes (light housekeepers' note), interesting oddities in the news, unusual facts found in our institution, and numerous other items which will become integral parts of this column.

Mrs. Finch at the first house meeting... "Girls, I want you to realize you are no longer persons. You are now dormites..." Jane Hildebrand, a primary, and Frank Metcalf, an alum, were married this summer and are now living in Amherst... Keep an eye on "Mike" Blissist over at the dorm. She's the peppiest dormite since Florence Theisen moved in... Saw Dr. Flodin around this week. He isn't teaching, but plans to get into industrial chem....

Here's one the Nellies are still scratching their heads over. There is a bride of just two weeks ago today, rooming up on third. IMAGINE spending your honeymoon in a girls dorm!... We read this someplace—"There are no greater strangers than a fellow and a girl who have once gone steady, meeting again after the thread of intimacy has been broken." If you don't believe it, just keep your eyes open around the campus... Wonder if the Menzel twins transferring to the "U" has anything to do with Dick Larson's leaving C.S.T.C.?

consin's own Berton Bradley puts into words what a lot of us have been thinking in our spare time these last few months....

I'm glad I live in the U. S. A.,

Where the workingman calls me Buddy,

Not caring a damn just who I am, Nor giving the matter study.

Where the factory yard is jammed with cars,

And the man in the peddling line

Carries his pack in a brand-new hack That's flossier far than mine.

I'm glad I live in the U. S. A.,

Where your soul is still your own;

Where you can shout what you think without

The fear of a dictaphone;

Where people refuse to "know their place"

And limits of caste don't fetter Their getting far from the place they are

To another that suits them better.

I'm glad I live in the U. S. A.,

Where the game of life is open—

A game you play the American Way

With the slogan of "Well, here's hopin'!"

Where the tramp would stare with snobbish air

At an architect's fare in Prussia, And a man on relief demands his beef

(Which nobody gets in Russia.)

I'm glad I live in the U. S. A.,

Where the white chips turn to blue,

And in the most improbable way

Impossible things come true;

Where Cinderella may meet her prince,

And frequently does. And so

I'm glad I live in the U. S. A.,

Where the pumpkin coaches grow.

Do I boast and brag, do I wave the flag

As the "patrioteers" behave?

Okay, I do—but I'm telling you!

It's a darn swell flag to wave!

DOWNWIND'S DODO TALK

With the renewal of C.S.T.C.'s flying school, we will once again ask you to bear with the raves and rants of Downwind, the Dodo bird, as he expounds on his subject of subjects. In order that you may translate some of his more rabid remarks, we submit to you some translations of Dodo talk. For instance—a Homing Device is a furlough or leave of absence. A list of others follows:

Spin in—Go to bed or take a nap.

Roll up your flaps—Stop talking.

Sugar Report—A letter from the girl friend back home.

Taxi up—Come here.

Take off—leave.

Raunchy—Anything in bad shape.

Washout—Be eliminated from training.

Biscuit Gun—An imaginary appliance which is said to be rolled out on the field to shoot biscuits and other food up to a flyer who has made an approach to the field and "over-shot."

Bunk Flying—Talking aviation.

Drive it in the hangar—Let's stop bunk flying.

H. P.—Hot pilot.

Bird dogging—A dance by a lower classman with an upper classman's girl.

In a storm—an excited state of mind.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS FURNISH TRAINING

range with the schools for all off-the-job training of NYA workers. The NYA will have complete direction and supervision of NYA workers during the time for which they are paid to work.

"I am happy to announce this cooperative agreement with the school officials," Mr. Williams said. "I believe that the local school officials properly have the responsibility for the education of our young people, both as to academic and vocational pursuits. Our program can be adjusted to tie in with the vocational and other facilities of the public school system which in turn should be expanded and adjusted to fit into the needs of our young people in a mechanical age.

He pointed out that the student work program, under which more than 450,000 college and high school students were given part-time employment during the last school year, has been both supervised and administered by the officials of the schools since this NYA program was instituted six years ago.

NOTICE

Persons interested in a position on the Iris staff of photographers submit applications to Bob Aulik this week.

Dodo—A flying student before he solos.

And now that you folks speak my language—I'll just do a little bunk flying for a spell. I guess we folks here at the collitch can be purty proud of some of our ex-dodos—You take them three boys now that are down in the city flying. Red Smith, Tony Werner and Mac McCormick are doing right smart for themselves down in Milwaukee—why, just last Sunday that there Milwaukee Journal had Red's picture in it getting out of a brand new plane. Red and the plane were both in one piece too. Time was when the 'prop' used to beat Red to the ground once in a while, but now he seems to have the hang of it and gets down simultaneous-like with the whole plane.

Well, next week I'll probably have a new list of Dodo birds to fling at you— so until then—I'll 'roll up my flaps', 'tak off' for the hangar and get out an answer to my last 'sugar report' or else she'll be 'in a storm' again.—Happy landing. Downwind.

FACULTY VACATIONS

Miss Meston accompanied her sister on a three week's trip to points of interest in Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska.

Mr. Matravers spent his summer at his cottage near Manitowoc. He has gone there for a number of years and not only has he enjoyed the sports such as swimming, fishing and golfing, but he has also become very interested in horticulture.

Miss Mason enjoyed a visit in Milwaukee and in Madison. She represented the Stevens Point Business and Professional Women's Club for four days at the latter.

Bessie May Allen and Lulu M. Mansur left August 6 for an auto tour to the East accompanied by Miss Marie Zimmerly, director of Home Economics at the P. J. Jacobs High School. They spent two days in Canada, crossing at Niagara Falls. They spent considerable time in Vermont and returned by the way of New Hampshire and the Berkshires in Massachusetts.

Miss Neuberger enjoyed the beautiful scenery of the cherry orchards at Sturgeon Bay, and a trip to Chicago which included a visit to the Brookfield Zoo.

Dr. and Mrs. Marrs and Mr. and Mrs. Rogers spent a very interesting 17½ day's on a trip of 5100 miles to Key West, Florida, traveling in nine different states. They visited many points of interest, including the world's largest sponge fishery and market at Tarpoon Springs, Ringling Brothers headquarters at Sarasota, St. Augustine, Mammoth Cave, Marine Land gardens, and Silver Springs where the "Tarzan" movies are photographed. In traveling from the mainland to Key West they crossed 42 bridges varying in size from 40 feet to seven miles in length.

The students of Central State Teacher's College extend to Miss Mary E. Hanna sincere sympathy and will rejoice in her speedy and complete recovery.

Miss Gertie Hanson spent her summer vacation at Richland Center, her home town. Although she spent most of the time in the hospital there, she did enjoy attending the Lafayette County Institute where she talked on "Sixth Grade Geography" and "Radio in the School". She visited the W. H. A. studios at Madison to prepare her new radio program "Our Wisconsin", which will replace her travelogs given last year under the title "This Land of Ours".

In the latter part of August Mr. Oscar W. Neale spent three weeks in the West. Among the places he and his family visited were Nebraska, and the Black Hills of South Dakota. During the trip he renewed acquaintances and visited friends made in Sutherland and North Platte, Nebraska where he first began his teaching career.

Miss Bertha Glennon spent her summer vacation traveling in the East. Among the many places of interest which she visited were Detroit, Buffalo, Albany, and New York City. She also experienced a trip on the Hudson River.

Between summer school, teaching flying, and lecturing at the University, Mr. Rightsell found little time for vacationing. At intervals, however, he was able to get in a little fishing.

Doctor and Mrs. N. O. Reppen spent a pleasant two week's visiting Mrs. Reppen's mother, sister, and brother in the Dakotas.

Doctor Edgar Pierson sojourned to the Mt. Pleasant, Iowa vicinity for the six week period between the closing of the summer session and the opening of the current school year.

slimmer this fall and a wee bit shorter. The Sloppy Joe which we college girls have so acclaimed is gradually being pushed aside by the soft, loose knits. Corduroy is very good for anything from dresses to purses. One of the most practical things we've seen for several seasons is the new year-round camel's hair coat with the zip-in lining. Anyone working for a fashion major this year will include a plaid skirt and a red sweater in her style curricula.

What happened to the La Brod-Larsen romance?..... Mr. Matravers had as much fun as the freshmen at the faculty reception. He didn't miss a dance, and his favorite partners were Miss Mansur and Miss Rolfson..... The Y. W. C. "I DO...."

Old Dan Cupid has really done some hunting these last few months. He has even gone so far as to pin his game down to a serious institution like marriage. A few of his latest converts were Bill Metzger and Myrtle Morrow, both of whom were students at C. S. T. C., who were married during the summer.

Franz Arvold and Jerry Byrne, also former students, recently announced their marriage which was performed during the early spring.

Even the faculty isn't immune any more; Mr. L. M. Burroughs, professor of English and speech, was wedded to Miss M. Dunningan at a ceremony performed during the early summer at Wisconsin Rapids.

The office staff followed example when Miss Mary Jane Van Deraa, Secretary of the Committee on Advanced Standings, became the bride of Don Krider, a prominent student at C. S. T. C.

Another August wedding of interest was that of Herb Faulks and Marianne Walsh, former C. S. T. C. students, performed at St. Stephen's parsonage.

SUMMER FACTS

While the members who completed the regular session of classes at C.S.T.C. took a much needed vacation, 710 less fortunate students sweltered in the city heat as they attended summer school.

However their labors were well rewarded for thirteen degrees were issued in the High School Division. In the Jr. High School Division, twenty-five students received Bachelor of Education Degrees. Thirty-seven diplomas were awarded in the two year Rural-State Graded Division.

Nor was entertainment lacking for the summer school students. There were five programs presented at various times throughout the summer. The first was given by the Eloise Moore Dancers, who were succeeded by Will Durant, the noted American lecturer; Cleveland P. Grant, who gave an illustrated Bird Lecture; the seven Boston Madrigal Singers, who presented a concert and the Continental Gypsy Ensemble.
