

DEBATE SCHEDULE ARRANGED

Greek Organizations Conclude Pledging

The four Greek organizations on the campus have concluded their pledging for the first semester. The past five weeks have been filled with rushing parties, overnight hikes, notebooks, rough initiations, and finally, the formal initiations and the Pan-Hellenic dance.

The chapter house of Phi Sigma Epsilon was the scene of the initiation of pledges Duane Phaneuf, Mertz Peterson and Jim Brown. A banquet at the Belmont Hotel followed. Howie Stimm acted as toastmaster. Mr. G. E. Faust was the guest speaker. Short talks were given by active and alumni members.

Formal initiation of the Tau Gamma Beta pledges was held Friday at the Hotel Whiting. The speakers at the banquet were Mrs. Spindler and Miss Coleman. Mrs. W. C. Hansen, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, Miss Helen Meston, and Miss Retzner were guests at the dinner. Miss Ruby Greiling was initiated as an advisor. The new Tau Gam actives are; Marjorie Prey, Gwen Herrick, Bernice Glisczinski, Marie Collins, Margaret Clark, Evelyn Mastey, Charlotte Wiese, Thelma Parrott, and Alva Thompson.

On Friday night the Chi Delta Rho pledges were formally initiated. The dinner for old and new members and guests was served at Nelson Hall. President Sherman Sword presided over the dinner. The speakers were President W. C. Hansen, Mr. A. E. Harris, Dr. H. M. Tolo, and Mr. N. E. Knutzen. New Chi Deltas are Guy Roberts, Gregory Lodzinski, Jay Swett, Bob Schunk, Don Becker, and Louis Erdman.

Omega Mu Chi Pledges, Violet Joyce, Gertrude Quinn, Dorothy Quinn, and Harriet Coey, were initiated formally Friday evening at Hotel Whiting. A dinner for old and new members, alumnae, and guests, followed. Miss E. M. Seen, a former adviser now on the Oregon State College faculty, Mrs. H. M. Tolo, and Miss Sue Coleman were the speakers. The sorority scholarship pin, given to the pledge with the highest scholastic average, was presented to Violet Joyce by Jackie Stauber. Other guests were Mrs. A. E. Harris, Mrs. M. C. Taylor, Mrs. Cashin, and Miss Bertha Glennon.

COLLEGE "Y"

An organization meeting for a College Y, an informal discussion group for the fundamental purpose of stimulating religious life on the campus, and open to both men and women students of all faiths, will be held in the rural assembly room of the college Friday evening, December 12th, commencing at 7:30. All interested students are cordially invited. The committee

A Special Appeal—Interesting Things In Radio Studios

At our special assembly on Armistice Day I spoke for a very few minutes on the Red Cross Drive at the request of the local committee which had that in charge. I had hoped to impress upon every student the need for united effort in this project, the duty each individual has of making some contribution.

A box for donations has been at the window of the general office for two weeks. It was opened last Thursday evening. I am confident that the amount there is no measure of the generosity of those among us who have plenty or of the willingness to sacrifice on the part of those who have limited funds.

In an effort to reconcile the meager sum in the Red Cross box with my faith in the willingness of the students of C.S.T.C. to get behind a worthy cause and make it go, I have concluded that my appeal lacked punch, that the box has not been placed in a conspicuous position or that we have not realized the need for immediate action.

Please let this remind you of your blessed privilege of taking an active part in a civic duty. Remember it is the little sacrifices of a great number which mean success. Make a trip to the Red Cross box which you will find on the top of the card catalogue in the library. It will be turned over to the committee on Friday, December 5.

Rural Life Club Gets Clear Picture Of AAA

Mrs. Harry Precourt brought a powerful message to Rural Life at its regular meeting on Monday night when she gave to those present a clear picture of the AAA, its objectives, organization, administration and results. She introduced Mr. Guy Gilman, chairman of the AAA in Portage County and Mr. Erwin S. Albertie, committee man for the town of Buena Vista. Preceding the talks, a sound movie on conservation was presented by Mr. Harry Precourt. Mrs. Precourt is a graduate of the rural state graded division of CSTC and a former teacher in Portage County. She is now county farm field woman in the AAA.

Other numbers on the program were a piano solo by Jeanette Rich, who played "Falling Waters", and two vocal selections by a trio composed of Eunice Milbauer, Beatrice Steiger and Marian Alberg accompanied by Carol Ockerlander.

Miss Vivian Kellogg presided in the absence of Charles Papke, the president of Rural Life.

They have been doing interesting things in the Radio Studio the past few weeks. It culminated last Friday in the production, "A Holiday With Herman", written especially for the Purple and Gold Hour by two freshman, Joseph Frantz and Byron Crowns. Members of the cast were all undergraduates, namely: Charles Wildermuth, Rachel Eide, Bob Atkins, Helen Firkus, Edith Austin, and Verna Meverden. The production was under the charge of Francis Walsh and Bob Rifleman. Russell Frederick was the narrator, and Grant Thayer was the announcer.

Congratulations to Miss Hanson and all who participated.

We submit the weekly schedule for your enjoyment.

Monday—3:45—Mr. Burroughs—Come Read To Me.

Tuesday—3:30—Music Appreciation Hour—G. Thayer, narrator

Wednesday—1:00—Musical—W. Bartosz, narrator

Thursday—3:30—The College Band

Friday—3:00—The Purple and Gold Hour—G. Thayer, narrator

Plans are now underway for a Christmas production to be given December 19 over the Purple and Gold Hour.

Exhibit In Art Room

You are invited to visit the art room this week, to look over the Loan Exhibit which is a part of the Federal Art Project. There are seven pictures done in water colors demonstrating the different techniques of the various painters. Three of the pictures are done in oils. The artists who contributed to this display are now painting murals in public buildings throughout the United States.

Business Woman....

Janet Poggemiller, our business manager, is now a well known business woman. That "brain storm" of hers apparent on page 3 of the Thanksgiving issue of the POINT-ER netted her a spot in Roy Matson's column, "This World of Ours" of the Madison State Journal. That's Okey, Poggie, you deserved it.

Group To Hear Messiah

This pre-Christmas season is filled with music. One of the loveliest of musical programs is The Messiah, given annually in Memorial Chapel on the Lawrence College Campus. Mr. Knutzen has chartered the College bus and about thirty-five students will leave Stevens Point for Appleton Sunday, December 7.

Marquette University Squad First Opponent

Resolved: That the federal government should regulate by law all the labor unions in the United States, constitutionality conceded. This is the question for debate this year. About thirty students are out for varsity debate, and twenty-two are out for the freshman team. The season opens for the Pointers in the near future, probably on December 17, when they engage the Marquette University team in a non-decision argument. Tournaments scheduled are; University tournament at Normal, Ill., Jan. 20; Red River Valley tournament at Fargo-Moorhead, Minn. Feb. 5; Wisconsin Valley tournament at Stevens Point, Feb. 20; and the Mid-west tournament at St. Paul, Minn. on March 1.

There will be oratory at both the Red River Valley and Wisconsin Valley tournaments. Anyone interested in writing an oration, please see Mr. Burroughs. Anyone else who would like to try out for varsity debate is invited to come to the first meeting tonight at 8 P.M. Mr. Morrison will lead the discussion.

Dormites Dedicate Dining Hall Reopening With Formal Dinner

Nelson Hall was indeed a festive place on Saturday evening as the dormites and their guests gathered for a formal dinner dedicating the re-opening of the dining room. To celebrate the occasion Mrs. Elizabeth Jelinek, director of Nelson Hall, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, dean of Women, and the residents of the hall entertained twenty-five guests, including the directors of the various departments of the college.

Joyce Larsen, president of the Nelson Hall council, welcomed the guests and introduced Lillian Boe as toastmistress. President Hansen's first speaker, paid special tribute to Mrs. Pfiffner and Mrs. Jelinek. Charlotte Reichel spoke in behalf of the seniors, Norma Harroun responded for the freshmen, and Betty Fitzke of Wausau represented the alumni. Special speaker for the evening was Dr. Eva M. Seen, head of the women's physical education department of Oregon State college at Corvallis. Miss Seen, who is on a sabbatical leave, was a former resident of Nelson Hall while instructor of physical education for girls.

During the dinner, music was provided by a string quartet composed of Kathryn Bentz, Jacqueline Stauber, Jean Meydam and Gladys Berend accompanied by Melba Waag at the piano.

After the dinner, the party assembled in the living room where they enjoyed informal singing. Two solos, "Il Bacio" and "The End of a Per-

Chinese Was Theme Of Home Ec Meeting

The Home Ec club held its monthly meeting on Monday evening in the Home Ec parlors. The theme of the program was Chinese right down to the tea party at the conclusion of the meeting. Kathryn Gullickson spoke on the table habits of the Asiatics. Margaret Clark, Dorothy Scharf and Frances Roman collaborated on the subject, "Chinese Food and Food Customs and Chinese Clothing". Miss Allen exhibited an oriental white jade necklace, bracelet and ring set and Chinese tapestry.

Friendly 21

The meeting of the Friendly 21 club was held in the recreation room at the dorm on Wednesday evening, November 26. The new members were welcomed, and refreshments were served. Plans were made for a Christmas party. Anyone who has had teaching experience, and has not been contacted as yet is asked to get in touch with the club.

Symphony Conductor Speaks Of Increase In Music Interest

by Hannah Kaufman

At the close of last Thursday evening's performance of the Wisconsin Symphony orchestra, we threaded our way through the crowd determined to have a word with the brilliant conductor, Jerzy Bojanowski. When we inquired at the stage entrance, we were told that Mr. Bojanowski had left. An investigation of our own confirmed our suspicion that he must have had wind of a reporter on the way. We dashed madly down the back stairway and up the front stairway asking everyone we met if they had seen Mr. B.—all answers were negative. After ten minutes of fruitless search, we played a hunch and returned to the stage and there we found the conductor, calmly conversing with another gentleman. When he saw us armed with paper and pencil, he immediately walked toward us—to our astonishment—and a rapid-fire conversation ensued; to wit:

"Mr. Bojanowski, would you say a word for the press?" "What press?" "Our college press." "Oh, fine! Now, what would you like to know?" "Something about your musical career." "Oh, I can simplify that by sending you some printed material." "Nope! We want it now in your own words."

"Oh." Mr. Bojanowski told us that during the nine years he has been in America, there has been a remarkable increase in the interest in music. "Heretofore, artists were suspended in mid-air", he said. "There was so little opportunity for his music to be heard. But now, with school training, music spreads from children to parents, with greater opportunity for talent to receive the recognition it deserves, creating a training field for budding young artists." Mr. Bojanowski drew an artistic botanical analogy, comparing artists and composers to "flowers" and their music "fruit", and expressed confidence that school instruction will breed "better flowers and better fruit", or better music, musicians and composers. Mr. B. was well pleased with the enthusiastic reception and promised to return next spring, if not for a concert, then at least for a visit to the music department.

IT'S OUR MOVE. . .

We students of CSTC have had a golden opportunity thrust into our laps. For some years past, at frequent intervals, groups of students have begun beating the drums for a student council here at the college. However, nothing was ever done openly or wholeheartedly. There was no attempt on the part of the students to work together with the school administration on the proposition and the movement always died out before getting well under way. Last Thursday, however, President Hansen revived the movement on his own initiative. Here, students, is the grand chance to get the long desired student council. We have not only the permission of the president, but he is the motivating force. Let's not fumble the ball! As President Hansen clearly stated, the next move is up to the students. Well, let's move! If we fail to score on this play, we will have no one to blame but ourselves and we should forget about the council for good. If we can't get together now and install a permanent tribunal of definite value to the school and future students, we will have shown that we are incapable of handling the responsibilities of a council and we don't deserve one. Let's not just stand around waiting to see what the other fellow will do. Let's get behind our class presidents with some concrete ideas; let's speak our minds. There is no reason why this group of CSTC students can't go down in the history of the school as the group which did accomplish that which was attempted so many times before but failed through lack of concentrated effort and cooperation.

DOPE FROM PILS

"It's over", exclaim the pledges as they begin a week minus the paddles, lanterns, red bows, banks, aprons and curtsies to the actives. They are now actives themselves and are looking forward to dishing out a little of the medicine they just took next pledging season. The period of "misery" was climaxed by the semi-annual Pan-Hellenic formal and, as there always is, some unexpected couples arrived in "soup and fish".

Shirley Fonstad and Vice-president of "Goodnight, Please", Grant Thayer; Howie Stimm appeared with brunette Virginia Lee; Johnnie Edwards was with Brigetta Fleischmann, Bill Carnahan and Muriel are together again, Eldred Judd and Beth Johnson, Betty Brooks got permission from Ray Craig to go with Louie Erdman, Lee Malchow and Patty Markee, Jack Gear and Norma Harroun (who were also dancing to the music of Ray Herbeck), Joe Goodrich and Charlotte Wiese.

Red Roberts borrowed a gal—a good deal, Red; Bob Handeyside (just plain Daddy" to most of us) and Jeanette Rich, Skatrude and Walter, and Alva Thompson was at the dance with a Lawrence college frat man.

Then there were a lot of other surprises, too. For instance, the dorm closing at 1:15 instead of two—campus is the word. Then there were very few down to breakfast the next morning.

Marjorie Sparks and Langton find it difficult to find an empty bowling alley in Stevens Point. They traveled far and wide and Port Edwards was the nearest refuge.

Jeanie Cattanach goes around sporting a purple and gold sweater and it's not from good old CSTC. Seems like it originates in Owen, Wis.

Mr. Edward Horafius Valentine alternates his weekends between Ripon and Milwaukee—and then they say women can't make up their minds. The general conversation around the dorm dining room is MUMPS. Linda Born was the first one and now it's Carol Smith. "How many times can you have them?" and "Have you ever had them?" Then we order pickles and keep feeling of our throats to see if there are any signs of them. For a while we even thought that Nelson Hall would be quarantined—but no!!

Mr. Harris seems almost like a dormite. He spent hours and more hours hanging drapes and he seemed to enjoy it. Charles Papke and Tony Schwartz could give you a good line on dorm activities seeing as how they look quite charming working in the kitchen.

What did the sweet potato say to Lowell Thomas? "You're just a common tater".

Remember—only twenty shopping days until Christmas.

STUDENT SPARRING

Dear Editor:

It is my opinion that the attendance at school dances could be increased if more fellows could dance well. Many of the girls are tops at dancing. Why couldn't they start a dancing class for us poor, self-conscious beginners? I believe that other fellows have had ideas such as this before, but have been afraid to express themselves or to make it known.

GYM ANTICS

After that first exhibition of tackle football they vowed they'd never do it again, but once more they donned slacks, and with a football under Tietz's arm, Geer, Mike, Butch, and Roth dwindled their way out to Iverson Park and the slaughter began-gluttons for punishment!

Volleyball is still riding high—"Don't say we didn't tell you," say the Nelson Hall girls as they look at the chart that has chalked up two victories and no defeats for them. Come on, teams, let's have a little competition.

Badminton is coming into the spotlight of sports, and some of the girls have already practiced. If you are interested in playing sign up this week on the W.A.A. bulletin board. We hear that "Bob" from the Goal Post is really quite the badminton player. There is still time to sign up for shuffleboard and ping pong.

December 10 is the date set for the WAA boy and girl party—get dated up and we'll see you there dressed to have a glorious time. All girls are invited.

On Saturday, December 6, a dance clinic will be held in the college gym. Nancy McKnight of the Milwaukee Recreational Center is in charge of modern dance from 10:00 to 12:00 A.M. At 1:30 Barbara Schipps, also of the Milwaukee Recreational Center will take up country dancing, square, longways, and couples. These demonstrations will be climaxed by social dancing in which one will be able to discuss or demonstrate his ideas. All college and faculty women are invited to attend. Admission will be twenty cents. Remember the WAA meeting tonight.

The easiest team faced this season was Eau Claire... The hardest hitting team faced all year was Platteville... We pick St. Cloud as the best coached team with Northern Illinois Teachers of DeKalb running a close second.... St. Cloud went through the season undefeated in seven games and only had 21 points scored against them. Central State scored 14 of them. Mankato Teachers was the other team to cross the touchdown marker. Northern Illinois Teachers are co-champions of the Little Nineteen Conference. Indiana State Teachers tied them and Southern Illinois Teachers of Carbondale handed them their only setback of the season, a 6-0 defeat....

Drops Season Opener To Scott Field Flyers

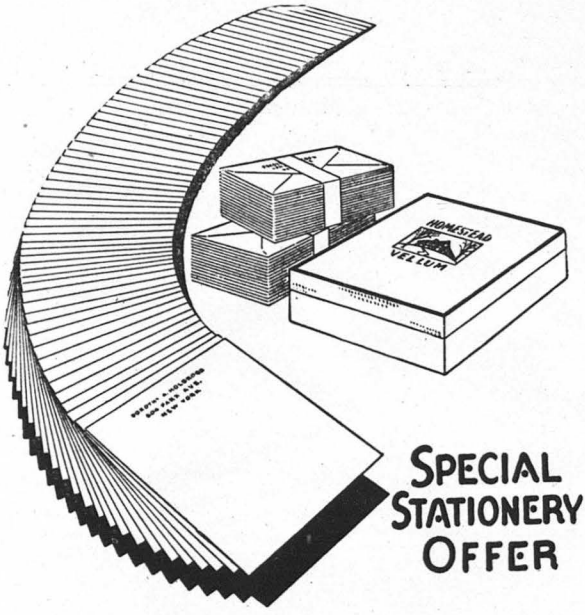

Before a noisy crowd, the Central State Teachers college quintet was defeated, 59-56, by the Scott Field Flyers in an overtime game at P. J. Jacobs gym last night. This was the opening game of the season for the Pointers and the seventh consecutive victory for the cadets. The Flyers defeated St. Norbert's, 33-31, Sunday night and Ripon, 37-35, on Monday night.

With the score 51-47 in favor of Uncle Sam's boys and but one minute remaining to play, Ray "Ace" Terzynski poured in two swishing baskets from midcourt to send the game into overtime. The tying bucket was made with only four seconds of the game remaining.

At the beginning of the overtime period, Scott Field went into the lead, 53-51, on free throws by Owen, but Ray Terzynski knotted the count with a shot from the free throw circle. Bettinger sent the Flyers into the lead again with two quick baskets and then "Ace" brought the count to 57-55 with a long shot from the side. Wib Henry sank a push shot from the free throw circle to boost his team's total to 59. The Pointers rained shots at the basket in vain in the closing seconds of the game.

Coach Kotal started Captain Pete Terzynski and Poskie at the forwards, Ray Terzynski at center, and Carnahan and Fritsch at the guard positions. Pete Terzynski was high point man for the evening with 23
