CLINIC ON SATURDAY IS PRONOUNCED A SUCCESS

The seventh annual band clinic held at C.S.T.C. on Saturday proved to be the biggest ever held here. Sponsored by the music department, under the direction of Peter J. Michelsen, in conjunction with the Wisconsin School Band Association, was attended by 89 band masters. Cities within a 125 mile radius of Stevens Point were represented. There were delegates from Minoqua, Black River Falls, Park Falls, Portage, and many others too numerous to mention. Sixty to seventy students accompanied the bandmasters.

The college band played 27 selected numbers which will be used by the high school bands at their Spring festivals. The purpose of the clinic was to demonstrate the interpretation and to set the speed of music.

A banquet, attended by 126 people, was held at the Belmont hotel following the clinic.

At the meeting of the Alumni of the C.S.T.C. music department, it was voted to keep closer contact with the music department. Plans were made for a large band for Homecoming next fall.

NYA State Health Projects Announced

State-wide health projects for NYA workers will be in operation in all 48 states, as well as New York City, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands before January 1 as part of the National Youth Administration's $2,500,000 health program, NYA Administrator Aubrey Williams today reported to Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security Administrator and coordinator of all health and welfare activities affecting national defense.

The National Youth Administration has already approved state-wide health projects in 20 states which are scheduled to begin operation immediately. By February, the NYA will have accumulated mass data on the health of 100,000 young people, Williams reported.

"One of the major contributions which the National Youth Administration may make in the present emergency is to promote the highest standards of health and (Continued on page 3, col. 3)

EDITOR ADDRESSES GROUP AT ROSHOLT HIGH SCHOOL

"The College Newspaper" was the subject of an informal talk given by our editor, Earle Siebert, at a banquet given by the Rosholt High School Quill and Scroll club Monday, February 3. Miss Elsie Hotvedt, editor of the high school publication, The Trumpet introduced Mr. Siebert as guest speaker.

In giving his views on editorial policies for college newspapers, he stated: "It becomes more apparent day by day that we need in the editorial pages of our college newspapers more of this thing we call 'public affairs.'" The youth of America must begin to comprehend the seriousness of the current problems facing the nation today. The press is the surest method of bringing this realization to a climax."

Tour Group Selected From Entire Chorus

The Central State Men's Glee Club under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, presented a concert in the Community Hall at Amherst Tuesday evening, February 11. The group consisted of about 30 voices chosen from the club membership which this year numbers over 50.

A varied program similar to that of last year's annual home concert was selected by Mr. Knutzen.

Many New Men

Because of the loss of nearly half of last year's tour group through graduation last June, Mr. Knutzen has placed several new glee club members in this year's group.

Soloists Featured

Betty Johnson was featured as a flute soloist. Muriel Waid, accompanist for the club, was also featured in a piano solo.

Duane Phaneuf, baritone, and Gerald Torkelson, bass, are soloists with the group this year. Both have been very active in glee club work at Central State and have made several appearances on radio programs in various parts of the state.

Krider, Arndt Take Five Out Of Six; Women Win Three

Central State Teachers college debate teams made good showings in the Red River Valley debate tournament held Friday and Saturday at Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn., with more than 100 college and university teams participating.

Point Teams

The men's team of Central State, consisting of Don Krider, Antigo, and Roy Arndt, Phillips, won five out of six debates and the girl's team, consisting of Evelyn Murgatroyd, Wisconsin Rapids, and Margaret Becher, Wausau, won three out of six.

Mid-West Opponents

Opponents of the Point men's team were Mayville, S. D., Dickinson, N. D., Dakota Wesleyan, Minot, N. D., Montana State and Aberdeen, S. D., colleges. The girls' team debated against St. Catherine (St. Paul Minn.), St. Olaf (Northfield, Minn.), Jamestown, S. D., Luther (Decorah, Ia.), Macalester (St. Paul) and St. Cloud, Minn., colleges.

Accompanying the C. S. T. C. debaters were Leland Burroughs, debate coach, and Mrs. Burroughs.

Contest Here Soon

Central State Teachers college will be host here February 20, 21 and 22 at a debate tournament in which 20 schools already have signified intentions of participating.

Gallup Finds Public Overlooks School Aims

WASHINGTON, D. C. Feb. 12.—The training of youth for democratic living and the addition of courses in high schools which prepare young people for an occupation, objectives receiving major emphasis in schools today, are recognized by relatively few citizens outside the teaching profession, according to the results of a recent poll conducted by the American Youth Commission and published by the National Education Association. The poll was undertaken with the co-operation of the American Institute of Public Opinion of which George Gallup is director.

Seventy-three percent of a sampling of the United States' population, when asked if they believe too much importance is being placed on education these days, indicated that they do not think education is over-emphasized. Although a number of reasons were given for this faith in education, only six percent mentioned the necessity of education to the country's advance as a democracy, and only 22 percent mentioned the value of education in the attainment of success in meeting today's complex civilization.

Answers indicated that a little less than three-fourths of the citizens recognize the college preparatory functions of the high school, while a little less than a half of the population recognize that high school programs of education are planned to include the needs of those who will not go beyond high school graduation.

A poll indicated that the majority of citizens, 85 percent, would answer, "Yes—better," to the question, Do you think young people today are getting a better education in school than their parents got? Little more than one person in 20 thinks education is "about the same"; and a slightly higher proportion think education today is poorer. Two percent have no opinion.

From the reasons given, it becomes apparent that six in ten adults think that more schools, better equipment, better prepared teachers, and a broader curriculum result in a higher type of education.

Survey Finds Educated Favor Free Discussion

WASHINGTON, D. C. Feb. 12.—The importance of education to the maintenance of free speech and free discussion, vital concepts of democracy, is shown in a recent poll conducted by the American Youth Commission and published by the National Education Association. The poll was undertaken with the cooperation of the American Institute of Public Opinion of which George Gallup is director.

Questioned as to their beliefs on whether youth groups should discuss controversial issues, those citizens who had advanced in education through high school or beyond were found to be far more appreciative of this right of democracy than those who had not had a high school education. Asked the question, Do you think that young people in church groups, social groups, and other youth organizations should discuss such questions (labor unions, war, and government policy) among themselves? College graduates of all ages were found to be emphatically in favor of free discussion of issues, and 85 percent of the high school graduates interviewed favor the issue. As compared to this, however, only 62 percent of those who had not (Continued on page 3, col. 4)

H. R. 1776

Saturday afternoon the House of Representatives passed the long debated Lend-Lease Bill by a vote of 260-165. Significant is the fact that the opposition came from Republican and Progressive quarters. Of Wisconsin's delegates in the house, five Republicans and three Progressives voted against the bill, while one Democrat voted in favor of the measure. Though we like to think of the Lend-Lease Bill as being decided upon by individual consideration, it is quite apparent that party lines have been drawn quite closely—24 Republicans out of 159 voted for the bill while 236 Democrats out of 261 approved the measure.

From the text of H. R. 1776 it can be plainly seen that President Roosevelt would be given broad powers. Senator Clark of Mississippi said it was 'simply a bill to authorize the President to declare war.' Others called it a 'blank check' giving the President the powers of a dictator. Former Governor Phil LaFollette of Wisconsin, in his testimony against the bill before the senate foreign relations committee, said that the British would 'go the limit' when offered American aid, as Daladier had told him in 1939 that France expected the United States to aid 'with money, materials, and men.' This argument has received an indirect blast from Prime Minister Churchill who promises no 'AEF' is necessary to defeat Hitler. In a radio speech February 10, Churchill stated: 'We do not need the gallant armies which are forming throughout the American union. We do not need them this year, nor next year, nor any year that I can foresee.' He further added: 'But we do need most urgently an immense and continuous supply of war materials, and we need them here... We shall need a great mass of shipping in 1942, far more than we can build ourselves, if we are to maintain and augment our war effort in the west and in the east.'

Churchill's address was timed perfectly. It came at a time when it could do the most good, for the Senate is expected to take action on the bill in a few weeks.

Whether Mr. Churchill's promises are to be swallowed hook, line, and sinker or rejected entirely, we cannot afford to let the matter go unheeded. There has been talk from certain quarters that information has been secured which would lead us to believe that our leaders are contemplating sending an expeditionary force to Europe. Further, if Churchill is so sure England will defeat Hitler minus an expeditionary force from the United States, it would seem useless for us to continue our army expansion program. If, however, England is successfully invaded, it would be wise indeed to have an army and a navy large enough to protect our shores.

H. R. 1776 is bound to become a law when the Senate votes on the bill sometime before March 1. The best the opposition can do now is to watch the events carefully from now on, and guard against measures which would plunge us into a war we don't want. We may be suckers enough to present England with materials of all sorts, but let's stop at that. The day of shedding American blood for European 'freedom' is over.

Heard a faculty member this morning give some impromptu and sorta convincing arguments against prospective teachers going out on benders. I wonder if a fellow really realizes how he looks and acts when he's got enough alky in him to test for about ten below? Women look and act lots worse on lots less...

Just imagine! This earth of ours weighs just 5,885,516,000,000,000,000 tons. Doesn't make us mortals seem very important, does it? Wonder why it is that so many of us think we're so much more than the mere statistic we'll be after we're dead?

A fur-coated bath-tub stopper, complete with chain and neatly wrapped in cellophane goes to he who can correctly write the figures for the number eleven thousand, eleven hundred eleven the first time...

Would you know a moron from his picture?... In a Wellesley College psych class recently, girl students were shown on a screen, front and profile views of four masculine faces, one of whom was a moron, another a criminal, another a college professor, and the fourth a policeman. They were asked to identify each as such. Nearly all picked the policeman correctly, but a majority of the class dubbed the college professor a moron!

Apropos... A recent survey of four large U. S. universities reveals that only 11% of the male students feel it would be their duty to enlist unreservedly in any war that Congress might declare...

Wonder why the Student Sparring column isn't used more often by our student body? Only seven letters printed during the whole first semester. That section was instituted for those who wished an outlet for their complaints, ideas, or approvals. The recent Student Senate movement should have stirred up some comment from someone, but no one spoke and the movement died its annual death...

This one was heard in quite a few homes last week, I'll bet;

Father: "Well, Son, you flunked that course again."

Son: "Well, what did you expect? They gave me the same exam."

One more and we'll wrap it up for this week;

After being badly outplayed during the first half of a football game, members of the team of Texas A. and M. sat dejectedly around the locker room waiting for a tongue-lashing from Coach Dana X. Bible. He entered on the signal for the second half, looked slowly around at each player, and turned to the door. Then he paused, turned around and said, "Well girls, shall we go?" They won the game...

In a recent checkup, University of Minnesota women students rated 1.383 scholastically, as compared with 1.272 for the men.

See you next week.

According to the TOWER, student publication of the Catholic University of America, at Washington, D. C., Dutch dates are out, at least as far as the boys of Catholic U. and the lassies of nearby Trinity College are concerned. In a recent debate, four Catholic U. men argued the pros and cons of dates a la Dutch, and three Trinity misses, after hearing both sides of the question, ruled—you guessed it—that girls should not share expenses! The saying, "The man who watches the clock will always be one of the hands," admonishes us collaborators paradoxically that we should watch the clock more closely to beat the deadline. On Their Way to Test Their Ability to Wear "Wings" as Airplane Pilots

Final instructions have been given this group of Flying Cadets at Randolph Field, Texas, and now they're off to put into practice the ground training they've received at the Army Air Corps Primary Flying School at Uncle Sam's "West Point of the Air."

Note the parachutes, worn by each cadet and instructor. This aerial life raft is an integral part of every Flying Cadet's equipment, for Army Regulations provide that every person on every flight in every airplane must be supplied with a parachute. Ever since the parachute came into use in the Army Air Corps in 1923, records show there hasn't been a single fatality, in the multitude of emergency jumps, that can be blamed on the failure of the parachute's function.

These Flying Cadets in training at Randolph Field receive $75 per month together with uniforms, board and lodging, hospitalization when necessary, and other services.

Two persons in three think teachers should discuss in high school classrooms such questions as labor unions, war, and government policy; 23 percent oppose it; and 10 percent have no opinion. Nearly one-half of the public believes that teachers are fair to all sides in such discussions; only one in four is skeptical.

Now is the time when we girls seem to concentrate less on study and more on sports—our plans for the coming weeks take in plenty of territory and here they are.

We are in the midst of our second round in our basketball tourney—the Stooges, incidentally, are yet the tops, never having had those old laurels dragged in the dust—the P. P. M.'s are close on their heels with only one defeat chalked up for them. It certainly looks like a "photo phinnish".

Here's to you tumblers—you who want to learn to stand on your head, turn somersaults, and otherwise limber your frame. It will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:00 until the basketball season is over when it will be switched to Monday and Wednesday.

Our badminton singles and doubles tournaments are now scheduled. Look on the bulletin to see who your opponent will be and play the match anytime—the sooner the better. Incidentally, the mixed badminton seems to be very popular—come out all you fans—remember it's from 7:15 to 10:00 on Monday nights.

There is going to be a mixed badminton demonstration on February 20, between halves of the game with Oshkosh. Don't miss it.

Another keen W. A. A. Party is here—Wednesday, February 12, 5:30 is the time and the entertainment—Oh, Boy!! Only a dime fee is required.

Here is news for you ping-pongers—the tournament is scheduled and we hope you'll win your games as soon as possible.

A note to W. A. A. members and other girls interested—We are discussing Play Day and we would like to have a good representation from our girls. Anyone of you who would like to take part be sure to see Miss Daviddoff or Pat Carver right away.

Have you heard of the new basketball term "rollides"? Well the Point cagers suffered a bad case of this last Friday night when they engaged Milwaukee State, and Dr. Kotal could not remedy the situation. Time after time the ball would roll around the hoop and do everything but go in. The C. S. T. C. rooters suffered a bad case of nervousness watching the game... The Green Gulls on the other hand were "hot". Their shots all went in. We don't want to detract anything from their fine performance but really they sank any uncanny total of shoots. The best performance was put on by Ray Krzoska when he sank three successive long shots without touching the hoop... Kenny Buehler gave a very fine exhibition of shooting near the basket... Art Mansfield, Madison referee who has charge of our home basketball games, thinks that Milwaukee's mighty Green Gulls compare favorably with the strong Wisconsin quintet which at the present time is on top in the Big Ten... We also agree with him... Furthermore we think that Superior Teachers also rate highly... Here are the latest statistics on the leading scorers in the Teachers College conference:

The Faculty No. 2 bowling team won their third victory of the year when they defeated the league Rock Gardens by one pin last Thursday night... The Phi Sigs also won one game by one pin from the Independents... Jimmy Hanig, former writer of this column, has left school to join the Marines... Fe Bohan, last year football captain, left yesterday for Pensacola to join the Navy Air Corp... Here is wishing the former C.S.T.C. stars the very best of luck...

You should see the classy bowling shirts the Faculty teams possess. They are Purple and Gold... The sleeves are purple and the rest is gold. Each individual's name is engraved above the pocket and the name Faculty is engraved on the back. The Profs inaugurated them last Thursday night and good luck was the result. Team No. I took two games out of three from the United Cigars and Team No. II won their third game of the season when they defeated the league leading Rock Garden's one game... C.S.T.C. will be represented by six boxers when the semi-finals and finals of the Golden Gloves will be run off next Wednesday night at Wisconsin Rapids... The boys are Joe Kalina, Ken Brenner, Len Ropella, Clarence Tohm, and Dan Young... Here is hoping the boys capture the team trophy and that a couple of them qualify for the tournament of champions which will be held in Chicago... Jerry La Fleur, Garth Lake, Lyle Grim and Chet Johnson traveled to Milwaukee last Friday and gave the team some loyal support. Nice good fellows... There should be more like you...

Hopes For Title Smashed By Second Milwaukee Victory

Warren Outpoints Buehler 19 To 18

The Green Gulls of Milwaukee defeated the Pointers of Central State Friday night by the score of 61 to 42. The game was played in the Baker fieldhouse. It was the Green Gulls fifth straight league victory. For the Pointers it was their second set back, both defeats were administered at the hands of the Gulls, the first being a thrilling 51 to 48 verdict.

With Buehler and Krzoska setting the pace the Gulls worked into an early lead and led at half time 38 to 17. In the second half, Ray Warren poured in constant baskets but the lead was too much to overcome. The Green Gulls shooting was very good but at times their passing and defense lacked polish. The Pointers were definitely off on their shots and had they been shooting consistently as in previous games, the outcome could have been different.

The Pointers outplayed their rivals in some departments, notably their work off the board, but the Gulls marksmanship overshadowed these efforts. Warren was high point man for the evening, gathering six field goals and seven free throws for a total of 19 points. As in previous games, Buehler and Krzoska led Milwaukee, both garnering eight field goals and two free throws for a total of eighteen points.

The Central State cagers evened up their Milwaukee trip with an easy 46 to 21 victory over Concordia. Both teams had had tough encounters the night before. LaVern Van Dyke and Ray Terzynski were injured in the Milwaukee game and this handicapped the Pointers.

Concordia had a brief lead at the start of the game on two quick baskets by Last. Ray Warren then put the Pointers into a tie with two buckets when a free throw put them into the lead which they never relinquished.

The score at the half was Point 23, Concordia 14. The Terzynski boys led the scoring with Pete getting 10 points and Ray 9. Last, Concordia forward, led his team with six points.

Seek Fourth Conference Win

Seeking their fourth conference victory and fourteenth season triumph, the Central State cagers will play host to the Whitewater Teachers quintet tonight at the P. J. Jacobs Gymnasium. The tilt is slated for 8 P. M.

The Pointers are favorites tonight because of their previous 63 to 41 victory over the Agnew men. Last season the Kotalmen defeated the Quakers twice by scores of 25-23 and 47-38.

Leading the southern unit tonight will be Al Farina, diminutive forward who has scored 39 points in four league tilts. Bruce Schattuck and Dick Trapp are mainstays of the team. Coach Agnew has not decided on a definite starting lineup.

The Purple and Gold lineup will remain intact with Bagnell and Terzynski, forwards; Warren, center, and Van Dyke and Terzynski guards.

The Independents and the N. Y. A. quintets who are the current undefeated leaders of the intramural league will play a preliminary game starting at 7: O'clock. This game promises to be a thriller from start to finish.

SCHLICE'S TOP COLLEGE LEAGUE IN BOWLING

The Schlice's Rock Garden bowling aggregation maintained their hold on first place by defeating the Faculty Team No. II two games out of three last Thursday night at the South Side Alleys. In the other games bowled the Independents took two out of three from the Phi Sigs and the Faculty Team No. I drubbed the United Cigars twice.

Gerhardt Holm was the high man for the evening. The "Independents" star posted games of 211-178-176 for a 565 total score. He was closely followed by Robert Becker who had a 563 series with scores of 188-182-193 and Jack Turecek who rolled 169-192-190 for a 551 score. Jim Bagnell's 221 was the highest of the evening.

Finds Today's Young People To Impatient

Channing Pollock quoted in the magazine Youth Today:

If I could pass on only one precept to American youth, it would be Josh Billings' advice:

"Consider the postage stamp, my son; its usefulness consists of the fact that it sticks to one thing until it gets there." Or, perhaps, the story of the Englishman who was asked how he got so beautiful a lawn, and replied, "Oh, quite simply. We merely watered and fertilized it for 300 years." You don't have to wait 300 years, or 30, but suppose you keep your shirt on, and the sleeves rolled up, for these first 20!
