

Health Center And Dispensary Converted

When a student cuts a finger or twists an ankle, he now has a cheery new health center to attend.

Formerly, the student health center and aviation student dispensary were combined, but this led to inconvenience. Now the janitors' storage rooms have been converted into a student health center while the old rooms are the soldiers' dispensary. There are separate entrances for each.

The aviation students will soon have their own sick bay in connection with the dispensary. It will quarter nine men. The cots are to be obtained from the furnishings formerly used in the dormitory.

College Theater To Give Satirical Play

"Sleeping Dogs", a timely satire on the subject of impertinent questionnaires which are foisted upon the long suffering American public, is the one-act comedy which has been chosen as the next College Theater production. It will be presented at an assembly on February 10, and it is the first of a series of four productions to be given during the second semester.

Tryouts for the cast will be held in Leland M. Burroughs' room, room 207, on Thursday, January 13, at 3:30 and on Friday, January 14, at 2:30. All interested college students are urged to attend the tryouts. Those who would like to work on settings, make up, or lighting should attend the meetings on Thursday or Friday or should see Dr. Warren Jenkins.

College Proves Fatal To Big Buck Intent Upon The Higher "Learnin"

A 160 pound deer could be numbered among CSTC students for a few minutes last week. The deer, a four point buck, entered college by the unusual method of crashing through a basement window.

Becoming frightened (like so many other Freshmen) by the strange aspect of his surroundings, the deer dashed down the hall and ran into the aviation students' dispensary. There Corporal Oscar (Bring 'em back alive) Lewis and A/S James (Buck) Galloway seized him by his antlers and tried to pin him to the floor.

National Honoraries Issue Publications

Dorothy Jane Raddant, Marjorie Mae Nelson and Iris Precourt, all CSTC alumni of the past year, were honored by having their contributions accepted for publication in the autumn, 1943, RECTANGLE. The RECTANGLE is the official national publication of Sigma Tau Delta, professional English fraternity and is issued quarterly at Wayne, Nebraska. The publication contains literary pieces submitted by members of various chapters throughout the United States.

The SIGMA ZETAN, publication of the National Honorary Science fraternity, is edited by Dr. A. S. Lyness of our college faculty, who is national editor. Gilbert W. Faust, also a national officer, serves as recorder-treasurer. They are both members of the Zeta chapter. There appeared in the December, 1943, issue a letter from Mr. Faust and local chapter news by Thomas A. Rogers. Students interested in science will find many articles worth reading in this magazine.

Faculty Elects Officers At January Meeting

That feminine touch which has been felt in all student organizations this wartime year will also be felt at faculty meetings during 1944. As the result of an election held at the January meeting, all three faculty officers are women.

Miss Bessie May Allen was elected chairman of the faculty, Miss Bertha Glennon, secretary and treasurer, and Miss Helen Meston, member of the Executive Board.

Chairmen of standing committees, who were also elected at this meeting, are Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, alumni committee; Thomas A. Rogers, assembly and social; Dr. Clarence Jayne, athletics; Fred J. Schmeckle, bus; Miss Hazel Benton, catalogue; Charles C. Evans, commencement; Dr. Nels O. Reppen, curriculum; Leland M. Burroughs, forensics and dramatics; Nelis R. Kampenga, library; Miss Leah Diehl, resolutions; and Miss Syble Mason, student activity fund.

The deer bellowed and kicked Corporal Lewis in the leg, but he held on bravely, and the two men soon had the buck tied up and helpless. They carried him outside and released him. He scampered away, but later collapsed and died from exhaustion and internal injuries.

It is easy to see that while men like Lewis and Galloway remain on the campus, CSTC need have no fear of an invasion by either men or beasts. This incident proves once more that "Nothing can stop the Army Air Corps!"

Service Center Opens During The Holidays

Many Alumni Return On Holiday Furloughs

The holiday season brought many former students of CSTC now in the armed forces home on furloughs. Among the visiting servicemen was Captain Harvey Brown of the class of 1940. Captain Brown is now an operations officer at Morse Field, Carolina. Captain Brown's squadron was among the first American planes to land at New Guinea and at Australia. He carried out photograph missions over New Britain, Ireland and Rabaul. The present American campaign is being carried on in much the same territory that Captain Brown photographed.

PFC Jim Hanig, who has served three years in the Marine Corps, was another visiting serviceman. Private Hanig, a former full back on the 1939-40 football teams, spent the greater part of the last three years on the USS Saratoga. After his furlough expires he will go to Camp Elliot, San Diego, California.

Many students remember Louis Drobnick, famous for his boxing here at CSTC. Louis, who paid the college a brief visit, is now an army flying instructor.

First Lieut. Norman Hinckley is now stationed at Fort Knox, Kentucky, where he is an operations officer.

Lenart Abrahamson, who was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps on January 7, also visited his Alma Mater. Other visitors include Lieut. Dick Larson, Sergeant Alvin Price, Emert Lange of the United States Army Reserve, Bob Nixon, a senior at West Point, Private Don Walker of the Marine Corps and Sgt. Jack Plank and Pvt. Al Berens.

Churches Responsible For The Supply Of Refreshments

The Christmas weekend proved an auspicious time for the opening of the new Red Cross service center on North Third street. Many members of the 97th College Training detachment have taken advantage of the comfortable new quarters during hours of their open post since then.

Senior and junior hostesses are on duty at all times, making the men feel at home and adding to their entertainment. Stevens Point churches are responsible for the always plentiful supply of refreshments. The junior hostesses are girls who have been chosen to serve by the canteen executive committee and who may be present only at their appointed time. They are the only girls, other than wives and out-of-town guests of soldiers, who may be present. These young women add much to the success of the canteen by visiting, dancing and playing games with the fellows.

Hostesses Praised

Mrs. Walter Hewitt, general chairman of the center, commended the work of the girls by saying: "No person at the State Door Canteen could have worked harder than these girls in Stevens Point."

Representing Central State Teachers college in the junior hostess group are Doris Belongia, Aideen Bowman, Virginia Cody, Harriet Coey, Ruth Chrouser, Phyllis Eckels, Janet Good, Judy Graham, Virginia Grassl, Marion Grossman, Jean Gullikson, Kay Hansen, Katherine Hope, Rose Marie Howes, Beth Johnson, Marian Lawrence, Ruth Michelsen, Yvonne Moreau, Meredythe Mykelby, Jean Norton, Kathleen Schaefer, Doreen Short, Nan Songe, Jackie Stauber, Martha Stock and Hazel Tibbetts.

What do you think of the new Servicemen's Center?

An appreciated gesture on the part of the people of Stevens Point to make the fellows feel more at home.

The Service Club is where we find real hospitality extended us. We appreciate it.

A wonderful place for the boys to relax, dance, and just have a swell time in general; but best of all, to go when you're hungry!

To me the service center is the nearest comparison a fellow can have to home.

Compared to the Service centers I have visited in other cities, I rate this one very high.

Several faculty members have laughingly commented on the seating in the library. Aviation students invariably sit on the east side of their tables, and the girls sit on the west side of theirs. To parody Kipling, "East is east, and west is west—And ever the twain shall meet..."

"Don't say the POINTER doesn't make contacts. In reply to Ruth Phelan's plea to Santa Claus, someone sent her a typing eraser. Next year we'll take orders earlier.

FACULTY FACTS: Our own Charles C. Evans is a connoisseur of Oriental rugs. He has a number of examples of the art in his own home. Miss Mildred Davis is an apt painter and sketcher. She delights in making her own greeting cards with which to remember her friends.

Our sympathies are extended to "Mickey" Mykleby, who is afflicted with chicken pox, but who will come out of quarantine just in time for exams!

There hasn't been much excitement on the campus but "coke" glasses are still tinkling, pinball machines are buzzing, and a deer breaks a window now and then. Here's what the Green Sheet of the Milwaukee Journal has to say about our deer—"A big, eight point buck got into the Central State Teachers college premises Thursday afternoon. It was a bad idea. A couple of students threw it for a loss and then let it loose outside, whereupon it promptly died. The college is in Stevens Point, where men are men and bucks are a pushover".

I shall not pass.
He maketh me hard propositions to explain, and expositeth my ignorance to the class;
He restoreth my sorrows;
He causeth me to draw vectors for my class's sake;

He rendereth me a scolding in the presence of my class;
I receiveth a terrible mark.
Surely sorrows and sadness shall follow all the days of my course
And I shall remain in my physics class forever.

College Heating Requires Planning

Few people realize the extent of the careful planning that is necessary to keep our college well heated. Behind the daily thermometer reading of 70° there lies an immense amount of machinery and work.

Since 1930, CSTC's heating plant has been housed in a small building between the college and the Training school. Formerly it occupied the space the chemistry laboratories use today.

The plant heats not only the college, but also Nelson Hall and the Training school, a total of more than three million cubic feet. It operates approximately eight months of the year. During this time it uses about 12 tons of coal or 170,000 pounds of steam every day.

The largest amount of coal ever used in a year was 2000 tons. The heating plant contains three large boilers which operate at 450 boiler horse power. It takes three firemen firing on eight hour shifts to keep the boilers going. Few students realize that if these boilers were operated inefficiently they could explode with all the force of a block-buster!

George B. Stein is the man behind the successful operation of the heating plant. Mr. Stien has been at CSTC ever since 1920. In the 23½ years of his service here, the college has never lost a day or been inconvenienced in any way because of a break down in its heating system. This record is one which Mr. Stien intends to uphold.

"A heating engineer," he says, "is the doctor of human comfort. It is his duty to do all possible to make the people under his care warm and comfortable."

Freshman Quintet Is Victor Over Tigerton

CSTC freshmen beat Tigerton High school 24 to 19 in a basketball game at Tigerton on Friday, January 7. This may be war, but several enterprising young freshmen fellows have refused to be prevented from continuing traditional peacetime activities. They have taken the initiative to organize their own basketball team.

Dear Editor:

In the opinion of the writer the POINTER carries a great overload of advertising in comparison to its size. Almost two pages are given over exclusively to this. One can appreciate the necessity of ads in the financing of a paper; especially is this so in wartime. However, with the sum diverted from the IRIS it shouldn't be necessary to devote a good third of the paper to advertising. The last page, in point of fact, is almost totally lost to news, while page three is somewhat better. Can't something be done to remedy this situation?
A. Reader

Antigo, Wis.

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank you for sending us the POINTER.
After my staff has looked at it, I send it up to the library where many of our students read it. I think that the paper does much to interest students in CSTC.

Yours sincerely,
Claire McClellan

To Whom It May Concern:

Every year there has been criticism of the assemblies. We realize that this year the committee has tried to vary the program and an effort was made to please all departments.

Of course we know that funds are limited, but so far the expenditures included only two ancient movies that some of us managed to sit through—and when we can see two movies for fifty cents uptown, it seems rather unreasonable. The only other assemblies were explanations of rules and regulations which were, more or less, necessary.

If bringing in out of town talent is impossible, how about some of our own community leaders, or some high school program? Then if that's too much to ask, maybe the faculty, divisions and organizations could undertake such a project.

We definitely deserve something more than has been offered this semester in the line of entertainment, especially since there are no athletic contests. Disappointed.

Instructor Robert O. Fink of the Beloit College faculty stepped into his classroom recently to meet a new class of Army students. A tall lad approached him and said that he was the group leader. "Well, I'm Fink," said the instructor. "I'm Funk," said the student.

Chit 'n Chat

by Jane-o

Seems like a long time since we chatted here but we can blame that on the holidays. Christmas and New Years have always required a lot of attention. Kinda' good to get back to the books again after all that time off, isn't it, fellows?

We haven't heard any complaints about Santa this year; in fact in many places we hear a not too mild ovation. Guess we'd all stand up and cheer if he remembered us with a diamond ring. He seems to have left his share at CSTC, for we can see sparkles on the left hand of Ruth Michelsen, Alice Breske, Gwen Herrick, Edna Clark, Billie Eichorn, Virginia Trantow, and Grace Pudlas. Neva Jane Burroughs, an alumna teaching at Wausau, received one from Jim Hanig. Congratulations to all you gals.

A/S "Glamour Puss" Federico seemed to be having a gay time in town even if every one else did think the week-end was dull. You were doing well, Mickey.

Vi Joyce went to Kansas during the holidays and came home Mrs. Francis Cousineau. "Cuz" is an aviation cadet, now in advanced pilot training in Texas.

This weekend will be kinda' extra special for CSTC. Saturday is the date of two weddings. "Pop" Boe and Lenny Abrahamson will tie the knot in Loyal, while Shirley Fonstad and Grant Thayer will take the vows in New London.

The Army Hour last Saturday afternoon over WLBL proved to be much in need of a censor and we don't know why. Could be they don't speak our language. The two vocalists, Bonnie Baldwin and "Swoonatra" Lucas were a bit of all right. Joe Lance as poet laureate replaces Martin Fleischer, who assumed the role of Master of Ceremonies this week. Roger Gamen, alias The Gremlin, gave the news of the 97th. The boys have asked for criticisms and helpful suggestions. They are on the air every Saturday at 1:15 p.m. for a half hour program.

A/S Joe Feehan is more than flying airplanes this week. He is flying. Gosh, it must be wonderful to have your wife coming in for the weekend! Tell us all about it, Joe.

He's neither too young nor too old—in fact, he's the same age, to the day. Percy Voight and Kathryn Kenney, born on the same day and Advantage was taken of the holiday to overhaul our system of ratings. We have forsaken frivolity and become bookish. As a matter of fact, while in this process we came upon our Babe of the Week. There she was tucked away amongst the latest issues of LIFE and TIME. Tomes of eloquent appreciation of her enchanting personality might be written but it ain't no use, guys. She's terrific!!! Gal of the Week Beth Johnson:

Hair—8; Eyes (all 4)—7; Nose—7; Lips—(kissproof, too) 8; Chin—(incessantly) 9; Neck—(what else) 7; Profile—7.5; Figure—8.5; Posture—7; Oomph—8; total—77; Average—7.7.

If the boys don't whistle so often at you girls, don't worry. It's only because they met others over the holidays.

We're a long way from the coast, but one of these days you may see a Seagull landing on the drill field. Several of our young Cubs claim it can be done.

Okay, girls, we are convinced the Pilgrims landed on the college rock. A slight erratum appended on the front cover of your local history will make it unanimous.

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away." Looks as though MTS is trying to isolate Miss Glennon, for she got 34, one from each member of her Army class last Wednesday.

We were looking all over for the girl who wrote the "jilted" letter in a former issue. Congratulations!!

One of our aviation students was so bored during one of the holiday week-ends that he ended up in the lumber yard. Knots to you, Mister Gagan, we know who you're PINNING for.

And does anyone know who Maggie Shine is? We've heard mo-o-ore about her in recent weeks!

NOTICE

Final examinations for the first semester will be held on January 25, 26 and 27. Monday, January 31, will be used for registration for the second semester. All students now enrolled who can arrange their program with their director or adviser before the end of this semester will be given an opportunity to pay their fees and complete registration during the week of January 24 to 28 and need not return until classes begin on Tuesday, February 1.

Orchids to the (new) squadron "E" 's clean-up of the holiday athletic program. To begin it they took the old E squadron 40-21 to win the 97th C.T.D. basketball championship. Then Vince Fitzpatrick took the Ping-pong tournament in a breeze to add to the laurels. Last week the volleyball team downed the (new) "D" squadron team 2-0 in an extremely one-sided game. Just to keep in shape the basketball team dashed down to the high school and defeated them 28-26 in a photo finish thriller. The "E" squadron boys say that they will take any tournament which anyone can dream up—from bridge to beers at 50 paces.

Math. problem: Now, let's divide 1944 by 4 and what do you get — LEAP YEAR! But then, what's the difference in Stevens Point?

When using the telephone, remember that the only part of you the person on the other end of the line receives is the sound of your voice.

Does your voice tell that person that you have had a hard day, or didn't get a letter, or ruined your last pair of stockings? Or does it tell that you are poised and have a charming personality?

Do you say "Hullo" in a dull drawl, or does your "Hello" imply warmth, vitality and interest in what is new?

Do you let the phone ring and ring while you wait to see if some one else will take care of it?

Do you say "Thank you" to the person who calls you to the phone?

Of course, no one enjoys waiting for the phone while you give an account of everything that happened since you last saw the big moment.

I should like to pick a bone With those who talk at least an hour Upon a phone.

Or call a girl (It might be you!) Tell her they know her lurid past, And say, "Guess who?"
