

Former Librarian at CSTC Dies Suddenly

Miss Lulu Mansur, former CSTC librarian, died suddenly on Monday morning, May 7. Her many friends here at the college will miss her, for although she retired four years ago, she still enjoyed returning to CSTC for special occasions and was a guest at the Senior Tea on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Mansur became assistant librarian at the Stevens Point Normal School in 1911 and continued in that capacity until the resignation of George Allez. From then until her retirement in 1941, she was acting librarian.

Miss Mansur's death, coming after a life spent in the cheerful service of others, is a real loss. CSTC will always cherish her memory as that of a sympathetic and loyal friend.

Tea Given by Dean To Honor Seniors

Dean Elizabeth Pfiffner was hostess to senior college women, faculty women, mothers who remained over the weekend after the annual Nelson Hall mother-daughter banquet, and invited guests, at a senior tea Sunday afternoon in the college home economics parlors.

Assisting Dean Pfiffner as hostesses were Betty Haberkorn, Barbara Felker, Jane Miller, and Marion Hemmrich.

Pouring during the first hour were Joyce Ann Rathke and Doris Ubelode, and the second hour, Mesdames William C. Hansen, and Clifford D. Swanson.

The tea table was decorated with a cut-glass bowl in which floated pink flower-shaped candles and fragrant appleblossoms. The rays of light shining through the sides of the bowl made an attractive sight. This charming centerpiece was set on an Italian linen cloth decorated with cut-work and hand-made lace. Colored vases of spring flowers were placed around the parlors.

Sophomore home economics girls were in charge of refreshments and

It Is For Us, The Living . . .

V-E Day was a day of prayer, a day of joy and sorrow—joy for the return of peace to a large part of the world and sorrow for the anguished remembrance of many lonely, far away graves.

The cost of European Victory has been the lives of thousands of men. For them, the excitement of battle is past, and the joy of victory is unknown. And how many more of our loved ones will join this silent army? The cost of victory in Japan will certainly be no less than the cost of victory in Europe.

According to CSTC's service flag, our losses are light, but according to our hearts, they are heavy. The soldier who was killed at Cologne, the pilot whose plane crashed into the sea near Sicily, each has left an irreparable and aching void behind him.

We have no way to praise these men. The manner of their death has honored them more than any words of ours. Our truest tribute to them will be our continued loyalty to the cause for which they died. The conclusion of President Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" is an appropriate expression of our feelings:

"It is for us, the living, to be dedicated to the unfinished work which they who fought have thus far so nobly advanced. It is for us to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave their last full measure of devotion."

V-E Day Assembly Is Held at College

In celebration of the Allied victory in Europe, students and faculty of CSTC met in an assembly on Monday, May 7. Although the official V-E Day announcement had not been made, the "victory" feeling ran high throughout the school. The assembly program was an appropriate expression of mingled feelings of thanksgiving, solemn recollection and earnest hopes for the future.

After the opening songs by the Girls Glee club, the flag was presented by three former service men, Joseph Kalina, Alvin Kaziak and Eugene Cholewinski. Irene Ludwig led in the dedication of the program to the 23 former CSTC students who have given their lives in World War II.

Dean Herbert R. Steiner expressed the thoughts of his audience when he said, in part: "Our casualties so far, have been comparatively light . . . we have come to a pause in the war, and the peace will be won only after more bloodshed and tears. . . the second stanza of Kipling's Recessional puts into words the thoughts of today: 'The tumult and the shouting dies, The captains and the kings depart; Still stand Thine ancient sacrifice An humble and a contrite heart. Lord, God of Hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget, lest we forget.'"

Lewis Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Lewis entertained the student teachers who had practiced under Mr. Lewis during this year at a dinner held at their home last Sunday night.

After the dinner a game of "Battleship" was played and the I.Q.'s of the practice teachers was measured by an ingenious means—the results showing that Mr. Lewis raises a very high calibre of practice teachers.

the kitchen. Their chairman was Catherine Firkus. In charge of coats were Mary Pfiffner and Joanne Altenburg.

Annual MDB Forensic Contest To Be Held

The Mary D. Bradford Junior High school's eleventh annual Forensic contest will be held in the college auditorium on Friday evening, May 11, at 7:30. Besides the usual debates and declamations, several interesting additions have been added to the program.

The program will open with the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States. Edward Plank will then play a piano solo, "Chaconne" by Durand.

The following question will then be debated: "Resolved, that the legal voting age should be reduced to 18 years of age." Those taking the affirmative side are: Joyce Pinkerton, Marilyn Friemund and Jane Moe; negative side: James Samter, James Coleman, and Bertram Davies. Dean Herbert R. Steiner will be the judge of this event.

Miss Shirley Haskins will then sing a solo. This will be followed by a group of humorous declamations: "Brothers Bereft," by Robert Krubsack, "Miss Pretty Pan Speaks," by Anne Gilfry, "The Bride and the Butcher," by Patricia Loverude, and "Jimmy Jones Studies Geography" by Carl Podeweltz.

A group of serious readings will be next. Virginia Fischer will present "A Cheer for Gramps" and Nannette Timmer will present "Commencement". Miss Susan Colman and Leland M. Burroughs are the judges of the humorous and serious declamations.

After the declamations Carol Woodford will play a piano solo, "Crescendo" by Pertasson. The program will conclude with a comedy, "Hot Dogs", presented by the Junior Dramatic club.

Donald Bloebaum is the chairman of the committee in charge of this event. Mary Frances Cutnaw is the head usher, and Lawana Walters, Carol Wilkins, Evelyn Behr, Donna Hodgden, Sally Scribner and Wilma Schmeckle are the other ushers.

WAA Will Sponsor Playday on May 12

Allied Nations, the theme of Play Day, will be carried out in the various activities. A dinner will be served in the Nelson Hall dining room at noon on Saturday and a program will be presented at that time. Both the college and training school gyms will be utilized for the indoor activities, while many outside activities are also planned and the tennis courts will be full.

Registration for Play Day begins at 9:30. The committee in charge of registration is Mary Ellen Due, chairman, Jean Woltman and Gertrude Marshall.

Assemblies Planned For Summer School

Students who will be going to summer school this year will be interested in knowing that the faculty assembly committee, headed by Leland M. Burroughs, has arranged some very interesting programs.

The first speaker will be Miss Annette M. Snapper of the Industrial Speakers' Bureau of New York, who will talk at a 10 o'clock assembly on Friday morning, June 15. Her subject will be "Labor and Living Problems of Wartime England."

On Tuesday, June 19, at 10 o'clock, Alonzo W. Pond of Mt. Horeb, director of the Cave of the Mounds, will speak on "Torch Light on Cold Trails." The lecture will begin with a color motion picture of the geology of European caves. Mr. Pond is an explorer and an anthropologist.

Leola Turner and her opera company of Chicago will be here at 8 p. m. on Tuesday, June 26, to present either "Secret of Suzanne" or "La Servant Padrona."

Eleanor Ofstun, first semester student here, visited her sister and friends "at Nelson Hall over the weekend. Having been away for such a long time, Eleanor had forgotten the closing time and had to stand outside in the wee hours of early morning, until she succeeded in awakening her sister, who came down to let her in.

Jackie Stauber, last year's Pointer editor, writes as follows: "Say hi to all the Pointer's ardent workers—hi and congratulations on a fine paper. The minute it arrives I have to read it through, page by page. There are many names that I don't recognize, but I lose that lost feeling when I see one that is familiar." (No wonder you don't recognize many names, Jackie, for more than half of the enrollment is freshmen.)

Second floor of Nelson Hall is patiently waiting—Mrs. Robin is still sitting—and everyone has begun to know some of the anxiety of an expectant father. We're hoping it won't be long now.

At long last, Edythe Ofstun broke down and signed a contract. Where? At New Holstein. (Believe it or not Edythe's real name is Ida Mallaina Orbech Ofstun.) She will have friends at New Holstein, for Ruth Chrouser and Shirley Fonstad Thayer are teaching there.

Barbara Felker received a ring from her boy friend—no, it wasn't a diamond, but a dainty naval ring. In case you don't know it, her boy friend is Jack Washatka.

Alice Klake and Jack Davis have been seen together lately. Lucille Vaughan was seen with Jake Schoettel, while Janice Milton and Johnny Mosey made another twosome.

Theater Party Held

Mrs. Mary Samter, Mrs. Mildred Williams, and Miss Gladys Van Arsdale, supervising teachers in the primary grades at the Training school, entertained the senior members of Primary Council at a theater party held at the Fox theater last Sunday evening. The two movies, "Mrs. Parkington," and "The Adventures of Tartu" were thoroughly enjoyed.

Many of the Dormites were biking Sunday afternoon, as Miss Bertha Glennon, whose bike was often borrowed, can testify.

Bernadine Peterson is being razzed because her mother, who was a speaker at the mother-daughter banquet held at Nelson Hall, said she had gained an education from her two daughters.

In spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to what the girls have been thinking about all winter.

Here is another version of the above:

A young man's fancy turns in spring, To love—that same familiar thing.

Which he has had in constant view, All summer, fall and winter, too.

Miss May Roach has been in a dither this past week because her nephew Lt. Tom Roach, has returned after three years in the South Pacific. To complete her excitement, Tom was married last Saturday. Miss Roach said she did everything except act as flower girl at the wedding.

Marion Hemmrich was a happy little girl last week, for she finally received the telephone call for which she had been anxiously waiting.

It won't be long now. Graduation is on June 7, at 10 a.m.

Primary Children Visit City Library

The first grade at the Training school visited the children's department of the public library the afternoon of Wednesday, May 2.

The youngsters spent an enjoyable hour discussing the organization of the library with Mrs. Belva Lloyd, children's librarian, who showed them several children's books. They were especially happy to see a set of miniatures representing Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, now on display in the library.

For the past few weeks the first grade has been working on a library unit. They have constructed a library in their room and the children of the first grade have brought several books from their own homes to use in their library. They even take turns being librarian, and books can be drawn out and returned before classes begin in the morning and the afternoon. Adeline Theisen is in charge of the library unit.

Friday afternoon the first grade children will give a Mother's Day tea for their mothers.

ETIQUETIPS

Courtesy in the classroom is one rule which should be considered in our daily school associations. Many of us have now progressed to the teacher status for at least one hour a day, and in so doing can see many classroom situations from the teacher's point of view. Certain attitudes and actions on the part of the students look much different from "behind the desk" than they do from the students' seats.

For instance, that "bored expression" which some think is quite neatly covered up at 8:15 in the morning is very easily discerned by a teacher, no matter what hour of the day it is. The noisy preparation for leaving class, which takes place five minutes before the bell rings, is one thing which would never be tolerated by a practice teacher.

Gum gives satisfaction to the chewer, but very often distracts the teacher from the subject of his lecture.

Common courtesy demands that the student remain silent while the teacher is lecturing. This also holds true when someone is giving a report before the class.

Most of us at CSTC are training to be teachers, and with that in mind, let's remember to show courtesy to our college instructors. We in turn will appreciate those same courtesies when we go forth to join the ranks of teachers.

Glee Club Concludes Semester Tour May 3

Singing at Adams-Friendship in the afternoon and at Camp McCoy in the evening, the Girls Glee club made their last trip for this semester on Thursday, May 3.

Upon their arrival at Adams-Friendship, the girls were served an excellent dinner by the home economics department of the high school. Later, they sang to an appreciative high school audience in the school auditorium.

The drive on to Camp McCoy through the famous bluff country was especially picturesque, and Peter J. Michelsen called attention to many views and points of interest. Driving through the camp, the girls saw groups of Japanese prisoners, some wounded, lounging in front of their barracks. A hearty G. I. meal was served the Glee club in one of the hospital mess halls where Korean prisoners were also eating. The separation of the Japanese from the Koreans was plainly evident, and intentional, the girls found upon inquiring. An M.P. told them that whenever Japanese and Koreans were put in one group, the Koreans would attack the Japanese and try to kill them.

The Red Cross club house in which the chorus sang was equipped with excellent recreational facilities and before and after the program, the girls amused themselves dancing, bowling and chatting with the soldiers.

The audience was small, but the program was informal, and the girls entered into the spirit by singing requests and by repeating numbers. It was a weary but happy group of girls that returned to Stevens Point late that evening.

CSTC I. Q.

All these questions are about CSTC faculty members. Let's see how well you know your teachers! Count 10 for each correct answer. 90 or better is excellent; 80 is very good; 70 is poor; below 70, you ought to get to know your teachers. Answers are on page 4.

1. What is President Hansen's middle initial? What does it stand for?
2. What faculty member is popularly known as "Peter J."?
3. You should know this person. She sells you stamps by the dozens, she saves your mail for you, and performs numerous other services. She's the assistant in the main office. What's her name?
4. Who directs Radio Workshop?
5. What member of CSTC now in the armed service was known as "Doc"?
6. What faculty member frequently exclaims, "Glory be to St. Peter"?
7. List three of CSTC's many "wearers of the green".
8. Who will be principal of the training school next year?
9. Who is director of the intermediate and junior high school division?
10. Who will be director of the rural division next year?

Tau Gams Entertained
 Mrs. Mildred Williams and Miss Helen Meston entertained the members of Tau Gamma Beta at a recent meeting.

Mrs. Clifford Swanson addressed the sorority on the subject of charm in dress and manner. Several aspects of these were dramatized by some of the sorority girls. The right and wrong way of both dress and manner were illustrated in going to church, walking on the street, and attending a formal dance. The wrong ways were cleverly burlesqued, to the great amusement of the onlookers.

The sorority president, Joyce Rathke, especially delighted the group with her exhibition of the gum-chewing, loud-acting, flashy-dressing girl. Two groups of girls illustrated the dull and stupid type of conversation as contrasted with the lively and interesting type.

After the program, the girls played games. Refreshments were served in the home economics rooms.

Dormites Entertain Mothers at Banquet

College girls, their mothers and their friends gathered at Nelson Hall last Saturday evening for the annual mother-daughter dinner. One hundred and fifty guests attended.

Decorations for the dinner were in keeping with the month of May, and in the center of each table was a miniature Maypole, formed of a green taper surmounted by a star, from which hung fluted crepe paper streamers in soft peach and green. Weighing down the streamers were attractive little nut baskets trimmed in the same colors.

Jane Miller acted as toastmistress for an after dinner program.

Short talks were given by Miss Rose Barber, director of Nelson Hall, and by Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, who welcomed the mothers to the college and to the dormitory. Mrs. Theresa Higgins, housekeeper at Nelson Hall, was introduced.

Representing the residents of the dormitory, Geraldine Walters, president of the dormitory council, gave an interesting account of life at Nelson Hall and paid a special tribute to the mothers of the girls who live there.

Janet Good, another dormitory resident, gave an original toast to mothers, the toast being answered by Mrs. B. H. Peterson of Neillsville, mother of Bernadine Peterson. Mrs. Peterson, the former Effie Alt, is a graduate of the Stevens Point Normal with the class of 1916.

The program concluded with the reading of Kipling's poem, "L'Envoi," by Elvira Lindow and a vocal solo, "Pale Hands," sung by Dolores Cowles. She was accompanied at the piano by Mary Ann Hotvedt.

Chairman of committees for the dinner included Dorothy Davids, invitations; Jeanne Cone, decorations; Edythe Ofstun, program; Mary Asenbrener, food, and Dorothy Below, housing arrangements.

Mothers Will Be Honored At Tea

The mothers of the children in the third grade at the Training school will be entertained at a tea in their honor, to be held in the Third grade room tomorrow afternoon. At this time, the third graders plan to present a program which is the culmination of the "Story Book Land" unit, upon which they have been working for several weeks.

As a setting for their program, the children have constructed a "Story Land Garden" in the back of the room. The back bulletin boards are covered with large pictures which serve as settings for several story book dolls arranged on shelves in front of the pictures. A white picket fence covered with fairy flowers encloses the garden.

A long table placed against one of the side walls is covered with an attractive display of story book dolls arranged before a frieze of fairy story pictures.

The first part of the program will be devoted to the dramatization of various scenes from "Cinderella", "Beauty and the Beast", and "The Three Bears". Gerrie Walters is in charge of this part of the program.

The latter half of the program will be a dramatization of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs", directed by Joan Joosten. This dramatization will be done in pantomime with a musical background. The children who take part in it will dance, sing, and give rhythmic interpretations of the music.

Dr. Barton Speaks

The Rural division met last Friday afternoon to hear a talk given by Doctor John R. Barton from the Sociology Department of the University of Wisconsin. Doctor Barton is the director of the short course at the University and chairman of the advisory committee for intercollegiate youth.

The purpose of Doctor Barton's coming was to speak to students of the Rural Department to substitute for the Intercollegiate Rural Youth Conference which could not be held at Madison this year. He has contacted the rural groups in all of Wisconsin's teacher training institutions.

Doctor Barton was introduced to the group by Arleen Sicklinger, who is vice-president of the Rural Life club. He gave an interesting talk on the post-war problems affecting rural youth.
