

Valentine Ball Tomorrow Night

A Valentine Ball will be held tomorrow night, Friday, February 14, at the Training school gym, from 8 until 12 o'clock.

Students are again reminded that this will be an informal dance with no admission charge. Cliff Hoene's orchestra will be down from Wausau to insure the dancers of the best music available in Central Wisconsin.

The dance is being sponsored by the Student Council with the cooperation and assistance of the Social Committee. Bill Golomski, Margaret Roberts and Art Swenson form the Council's dance committee.

Students will be admitted on presentation of their activity tickets. Students may bring guests, but they must have guest tickets which are obtainable at the deans' offices.

Pointer Profile of Miss Isaacson

"A very ordinary person"—those are the words used by Miss Pauline Isaacson to describe herself. In talking with her it becomes plainly evident that she isn't aware of the fact that she is not just ordinary.

Since she was born in Spring Valley, Wisconsin, and since she went to school at River Falls State Teachers college and the University of Wisconsin from where she received an M. A. in history and speech, she has spent an eventful life in many vocational areas.

As a teacher, Miss Isaacson held positions at Winona Teachers college, Winona, Minnesota, and East High school, Madison. In Austin, Minnesota, High school, she was social counselor for all student activities. During the recent war, she did work with orthopedic and psychiatric patients when she was stationed as a Red Cross recreation worker at army hospitals in the United States. Just before coming to CSTC she was Publicity Director for the State Historical Society at Madison.

At Central State, Miss Isaacson has been busy with her work in freshmen speech classes, an occupation of which she is fond. Her first semester history classes have been assumed by someone else so that she now teaches, instead, eight classes in speech. CSTC in her eyes, is filled with friendly persons—it's the type of small-size college in which she best likes to work. Never will she go into any kind of work with a lukewarm interest since her enthusiasm must be great before she attempts it.

Already she has her own niche in the social and academic life of our college. Gradually she is becoming better known, through her students, as an interested, worthy friend. Gradually, because the modesty which made her say, "I'm very ordinary", would not allow her to be over-bearing in the lives of any persons.

Pleasant, indeed it is, to have small, brunette Miss Isaacson on our own faculty.

Parfrey Given Award By Beaver Dam JCC

Frederick Parfrey, a graduate of CSTC (and now instrumental music instructor at the Beaver Dam High school) was awarded the Junior Chamber of Commerce distinguished award for service in Beaver Dam at a founders' day dinner there last week. Parfrey has been unusually active in connection with musical training in the Beaver Dam High school and grade schools, as well as offering his services in connection with local affairs. He was awarded the JCC distinguished service key.

New Courses Being Given in Conservation

For the first time in the history of CSTC, a new conservation course titled "Problems in Wild Life Management and Recreation" is being offered to students. The course, officially catalogued as Conservation 204, is being taught by Arol C. Eple.

Required for Major

It is a requirement for the conservation major and stresses the importance of wild life as a crop and type of land use. It deals with the problems of game management, the maintenance of recreational resources such as our national parks, and camping areas, and teaches the safeguarding of wild birds and animals.

The course will include definite planned field trips with special problem assignments such as game counting. A designated area will be mapped out and a survey made of the number of certain game birds or animals living in that area. Natural cover, food supply and diseases which occur in cycles will be studied pertaining to the various types of game birds and animals.

Soil Study Also Taught

Also being taught for the first time is Conservation 103, a study of soils, their structure, composition and conservation. Included in this course are studies of types of erosion, erosion control, water conservation and the efficient use of land.

At the present time there is a total of 78 students enrolled in the conservation major, and limited facilities prevent the enrollment of many more.

Student Lounge Now Under New System

The Student Lounge is being run under a different system this semester. Student organizations, 18 in all, will each have a week during which they are responsible for certain duties concerning the lounge. The president and adviser of the organization will be notified in advance as to their week.

Duties of Organizations

The duties consist of the following: 1. Keeping papers and magazines in order; 2. Keeping the furniture so that it is both attractive and comfortable; 3. Making the room more attractive by adding pictures to the bulletin board, keeping drapes even, adding plants, flowers, magazines, etc.; 4. Replacing burned-out bulbs, checking with janitors as to cleaning, etc.

The Student Council cleaned the lounge at the end of the semester and polished and painted furniture to prepare it for use. There will be a framed list of rules posted on the door in the near future, and following these rules is little enough to do in return for the use of the lounge. It might be well to mention also that its original purpose is for recreation and relaxation, and it is neither a sleeping, eating nor a "loving" room.

List of Responsible Organizations,

The list of organizations, according to the weeks they will be responsible for keeping up the lounge, is as follows: 1. Alpha Kappa Rho; 2. Chi Delta Rho; 3. Forum; 4. Gamma Delta; 5. Grammar Round Table; 6. Home Ec club; 7. LSA; 8. Newman club; 9. Omega Mu Chi; 10. Phi Sigma Epsilon; 11. Primary Council; 12. Rural Life; 13. 'S' club; 14. Sigma Tau Delta; 15. Sigma Zeta; 16. Tau Gamma Beta; 17. WAA; 18. Wesley Foundation.

Notice to Freshmen

All freshmen with a credit point ratio less than one point (1.0) for last semester are prohibited from participating in extra-curricular activities.

All freshmen who made less than thirteen (13) credit points for last semester are on probation. The general terms of the probation are these: The student's class attendance, conduct and application must remain satisfactory to his or her instructor and adviser. In addition the student's adviser may state any specific terms which the adviser deems proper. If these terms of probation are not met the student may be dropped from school.

It is the student's responsibility to know whether he is on either or both lists. Failure to ascertain these facts and conditions does not exempt the student from the consequences. Therefore each student should check with his adviser.

Dr. Warren G. Jenkins,
Chairman of the Freshman
Counseling Committee.

Blood Typing Program Helpful to Students

"Do you know your blood type?" seems to be the question of the week among the students at CSTC, since the Student Council launched its blood typing program last week.

The program is practically identical to the one followed last year, a program which proved beneficial to all those taking advantage of it. The typing is being done by technicians at St. Michael's Hospital, who, in the past, have considered CSTC a potential blood bank. The Council has arranged for the typing to be done free of charge for all students interested, a minimum fee being paid by the Council.

Community Benefit

The purpose of the program is largely for community benefits, although the individual will find it worthwhile to know his blood type for possible future references. The results will be available within several weeks.

According to present statistics, the results are very good. As most veterans already know their blood type, the majority of the participants are non-service men and women, although no particular class has assumed the lead.

Look out, Men! It's That Day Again

Arrow-proof vests are once more in vogue as Valentine's day rolls around again. Dan Cupid will make another attempt to pierce the tough hides of various Central State bachelors, but the general consensus of opinion is that he, like the groundhog of a couple weeks ago, is as out of date as the zoot-suit and the dinosour. Nevertheless, there will no doubt be a few cautious souls who will spend all day tomorrow in a state of fear, lest they, too, fall in the clutches of some predatory female.

Then there may be a few—just a few, mind you—who will take advantage of this day. Some of our heroes and heroines may splurge a nickel for a Valentine card, and others may even go so far as to exchange sly winks in the corridors and class-rooms. This class includes the steadies and near-steadies, but not the married couples.

We may state with assurance, though, that the great majority of the students will treat the day with indifference—but with one eye open.

State Legislature to Allocate Funds for Teachers Colleges

One of the important items in the program of the Wisconsin state legislature, which convened in January, is the approval of appropriations for all state activities for the biennium. Since the nine teachers' colleges in Wisconsin operate on an appropriation, it is well for all concerned to know something of the planning and procedure by which that appropriation is secured.

First, the individual teachers' colleges prepare budgets of approximate amounts (salary, maintenance and supplies) which they expect will be necessary for operating during the next two years. These budgets are submitted to the Board of Regents. The Board makes such additions or deductions as it seems necessary and combines them into one form which is then submitted to the legislature for approval.

Allocate Funds

The appropriation voted by the lawmakers may or may not be the same as the total amount of the budget. If the appropriation is more or less than the amount requested, the Board of Regents makes the allocations to the colleges on the basis of the individual budgets.

Fees Revert to State

It is important to note that all money taken in at CSTC, for example, in the form of incidental and non-resident fees, etc., reverts to the general treasury of the state. Thus, an increase or decrease in enrollment does not affect the financial status of the college.

The state university, on the contrary, keeps its receipts and thus, as its enrollment increases, its financial resources are increased proportionately; however the reverse is also true, for when the enrollment is less, funds also decrease.

1945 Budget Low

In the '45-'47 biennium, CSTC operated on funds appropriated on a budget drawn up on 1944. That was the year of CSTC's lowest enrollment and when the budget was planned no one even imagined the phenomenal increase in enrollment that was to take place within the biennium. Consequently, during the last year, CSTC was operating under a distinct disadvantage from the financial standpoint.

However, President William C. Hansen states that the budget for the next biennium was prepared last fall when Wisconsin educators had a clearer idea of what situations were soon to develop, so now the whole question of whether or not the teachers' colleges get a sufficient appropriation is up to the State Legislature.

Committee Plans Social Schedule

Stop! Before making any more plans for this semester, consult the new bulletin board on the second floor next to the library. It contains the detailed and extensive program scheduled by the Social Committee for the remainder of the semester.

Basketball games, parties, formals and other assemblies are attractively lettered in black and red on white cards. Each event is posted under the month of the year in which it occurs.

This unique bulletin or schedule board made by Lawrence K. Davis of the Maintenance department may be used interminably, as the cards can be removed and new ones added at will.

Miss Edna Carlsten of the Art department did the printing of the social calendar.

Penwell Refuses to Leave; Game Forfeited

With two minutes of play remaining and the Central State cagers leading the Milwaukee teachers, 50-41, the Milwaukee-Point return game, staged at the P. J. Jacobs High school gym, on Saturday night, was forfeited.

The forfeiture, declared in Point's favor, was the result of a heated dispute between umpire Bill Pickett of Appleton and Coach Guy Penwell of Milwaukee. Finally, Coach Penwell was asked to leave the floor but refused, and Pickett declared that the game was forfeited. The game up to that point had been closely fought with numerous fouls being called on both teams and with neither team sharing a substantial lead at any one time.

Haidvogl was the big gun in the Point offense, scoring 24 points on eight field goals and eight charity tosses besides turning in one of his finest performances to date. Carpenter contributed nine points to the score on three baskets and three free throws, and was followed by Hartman and Neale with four points each. The Hartman-Flugaur duo, though off on their shooting, turned in a fine floor game. Neale and Prihoda also displayed fine form.

Turning in a fine performance for Milwaukee were Lemmer and Bob Bolz with 11 and 10 points respectively.

With the game hardly a minute old Haidvogl snared a rebound and sank a basket to put the Pointers in the lead, 2-0. Rahn quickly reciprocated with a field goal to tie the score for the Green Gulls. Haidvogl scored again with two field goals and a free throw in rapid succession to place the gold quintet ahead, 7-2. Kratz then sank a free throw for Milwaukee and was followed by Hartman with a field goal.

From there on both teams played very close ball and the score never varied by more than a few points. The Green Gulls led 26-23 in the final minutes of the first half but Ludwig and Prihoda each sank a bucket to give Central State a 27-26 lead just as the half ended.

Addition Made to Nelson Hall Staff

Nelson Hall girls have welcomed a new assistant director into their home "away from home". She is Mrs. Laura A. Gehrke of Clintonville, a graduate of Oshkosh Teachers college, and a former rural school teacher.

Although Mrs. Gehrke has been active in the teaching profession she has had a wealth of experience in many other fields.

She was an X-Ray technician and bookkeeper in the Waupaca City Hospital and from there went to King, Wisconsin, as a practical nurse. She has owned and managed a restaurant, and worked as inspector for the Chicago Ordnance and the Four Wheel Drive Auto Company at Clintonville, during the war.

After a brief vacation, Mrs. Gehrke turned again to teaching before coming to Nelson Hall as assistant director.

Her work at the Dorm will be varied and very likely will include office work and bookkeeping besides helping Miss Leona Bovee, director, with the management of the Dorm.

Bowling seems to be her favorite sport although she is interested in many other recreational activities.

The Pointer staff wishes to welcome Mrs. Gehrke to CSTC and hopes she will enjoy her job at Nelson Hall.

Published weekly except holidays and examination periods, at Stevens Point by students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College. Subscription Price $2.00 per year.

If Your Club Isn't Mentioned, Here's Why!!!

Some comments have reached this office about why an organization wasn't mentioned in the Pointer. In order to clear up a few misunderstandings here is the information about organization write-ups.

Each organization has appointed, either by election or otherwise, a reporter or press representative, whose duty it is to write up his organization's undertakings for publication. Deadlines for these stories are the Monday evening before the Pointer comes out. If the appointed person fails to report his organization's news, the Pointer cannot be responsible for this, since it would be impossible to maintain a staff of reporters to cover all the organizations in the college.

Stories submitted to the Pointer will be printed under Student Organizations. Names and dates and other details should be carefully printed and spelled in order to eliminate transcription errors. Stories may have to be rewritten for publication, but facts will remain the same if properly reported.

In line with this, any contributions in the form of student opinions or otherwise are welcome. If you have something to say to the student body, or if you want to express your opinion about some school affair, etc., write it down and turn it in to the Pointer office before Monday evening. Leave contributions in the basket on the editor's desk.

Please sign your name to all contributions because we are unable to print anything unless the author is known. If you wish your name withheld from the story, indicate this after your name.

This is your paper put out by your fellow students and you are welcome to make suggestions and contributions to it.

Quantity Plus Quality Served at Dorm Meals

Many students have expressed curiosity regarding the quantity of food consumed by the residents of Nelson Hall. How much and what do the girls eat?

Following are a few statistics on the food situation at the girls' dorm. Twenty meals a week are served to about 125 girls. The only meal not served is lunch on Sunday evening.

1,400 Pounds of Spuds

At the top of the list is potatoes which are ordered at the rate of six bushels or 1,400 pounds a week. (Girls, potatoes are just full of calories, but of course that doesn't make a great deal of difference—to some of us, anyway.)

Meat, such as steak, roasts and hamburger are consumed at 25 to 45 pounds a meal.

Other typical foods and the amounts consumed are carrots, one bushel per week; celery, one and one-half crates; oranges, one case; grapefruit, one-half case; lettuce, one crate; butter, one and one-half cases; cottage cheese, 25 pounds per meal when served; 60 dozen eggs per week and 20 to 24 loaves of bread daily, depending upon whether or not sandwiches are served.

Plenty of Milk

More than 75 quarts of milk are used daily. This does not include coffee cream or whipping cream. It is interesting to note that less than half the girls drink coffee, but several pounds are used each day.

High School Algebra Class Formed Here

The first session of a new high school algebra class met last Monday at 4 p. m. in Room 253. This course is being taught by Grant Thayer and is being given to accommodate those students who have not had high school algebra or whose high school algebra background is inadequate for college mathematics.

The course is not being given for credit since it is only to aid students desiring more background in algebra. Students already enrolled in college math classes cannot be accommodated.

STUDENT OPINION

Dear Editor:

In the last edition of the Pointer it was noted that CSTC had the largest second semester enrollment in its history.

Just last Saturday night, in the neighborhood of 16 sturdy young men from our school gave their all to represent this school upon the field of friendly strife. Did they have sufficient backing? No! In the past war a scouting party wouldn't have gone very far towards victory if they hadn't been backed by the great reserve of men behind them. So it is with our basketball team. Why didn't they have the backing last Saturday night? No school spirit?

But school spirit can even mean more than this. It's the more friendly association of the student body. In the past semester, at assemblies and other school activities there has been a lack of attendance. We must remember, though, we are here mainly to get an education. Does that not include a little more than the three "R's"??

Wouldn't it be nice to be able to say without being shameful of oneself that CSTC is MY Alma Mater?

—A Student—

(Editor's note: Peter J. Michelsen, director of the music department, received the following letter from a CSTC graduate.)

Wautoma, Wis. February 7, 1947

Dear Mr. Michelsen,

We received the letter and names of students you wish to use for the clinic band. They are fortunate to be able to play with such a fine group that will be assembled for the occasion.

The news of the Homecoming Band is sweet on the ears, too. You can certainly count on us. It's not only one of the finest bands ever to play, but also is one of the outstanding social events of the year.

We shall hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely yours,

Harvard H. Erdman P. S: Enclosed please find a bit of "eagle" which we hope will help in the uniform drive.

Women's Basketball Organized in Town

A women's basketball program has been organized at the Emerson High school and is being supervised by Miss Miriam Moser, women's physical education instructor at CSTC.

Games are played every Monday, some of the games being played with teams from other cities.

At present there is room for at least one more team on the scheduled program and an invitation to join is extended to individual women or women's teams. Applications may be submitted to Miss Moser.

NOTICE

A system of issuing guest cards for college functions has been under consideration for some time, and at the recommendation of Mrs. Elizabeth Pfriener, dean of women, the Student Council voted to use the system at the Valentine Ball to be given in the Training school gym tomorrow evening.

Any student will be admitted upon presentation of his activity ticket. If a student desires to bring a guest he must obtain a guest ticket from one of the deans. The guest card contains the student's name, guest's name, event for which it is required, the dean's signature and the date.

No student will be admitted to the party without presentation of his activity ticket or a signed guest card.

The Seeing Eye

Hi with Si and

The past week presented two examples of what pre-war CSTC was like. It also presented an example of reconversion and a taste of what the post-war college life has to offer.

The first example was the style show and plays put on by the Phi Sigs. These were annual affairs before the war and were received with much enthusiasm. They will continue to be annual affairs from this year on. Those of you who missed it this time have probably heard by now what transpired and we can assure you that you missed a night of inexpensive but entertaining fun. Remember these functions so you won't miss them again when they come around. The Phi Sigs wish to thank all who were in attendance for their cooperation and fine spirit; it was appreciated.

The second example was the basketball game last Saturday night. The team resumed their winning ways by beating a highly regarded Milwaukee team. With the score at 50-41, and with less than two minutes to play, the referee attempted to remove Coach Guy Penwell from the gym for casting disparaging remarks about his (the referee's) ancestors. Coach Penwell refused to leave and after a lengthy conference the referee announced the game a forfeit. It was an injustice to both teams and the crowd. If a referee is to be respected in his decisions and authority then his demands should be obeyed by coaches as well as players. If this is not the case, a referee's job is hopeless. We thought the Milwaukee coach showed poor judgment and sportsmanship and cheated his own team out of a chance to win.

Tomorrow is the day for all the young-in-heart, the romantists and the poetical, to ply their trade—Valentine's Day—the day of shyly delivered love-letters and softly

Radio Workshop

"Full Speed Ahead" is the motto of the Radio Workshop this semester. New and better ideas are being worked out to make this term one of the best in the broadcasting history of CSTC.

On Thursday, "Our College Roundtable", which always produces a worthwhile and interesting discussion will again debate some question from the current news spotlight. (Remember—new students are presented weekly in this discussion—so "listen in".)

On Friday, "The Music Album", under the control of Rene La Maide and Alan Fonstad will present "Music from Spain" as its theme.

Along with comments on future Friday programs, the Workshop is eagerly awaiting the answer to the question of the week—"Will the new program planned for subsequent Fridays actually come into existence?" We will know definitely by next week, according to latest reports from Dr. R. E. Gotham, director of the Training school.

Phyllis Kasper and John Kowalski have taken over the direction of "Our College" broadcast on Monday of every week. James Cory will continue to present campus news.

On Tuesday, Jean Walker will present the "Books and Authors" program, as usual.

On Wednesday, "The Radio Workshop Players" will present the second broadcast in a series of programs for children's listening enjoyment. The script presented this week will be "Marjorie and Michael in Fairyland" under the direction of Alta Kromroy.

The series of freshman speech readings begun on Monday, January 10, will continue on the following dates at 7 p. m.—February 24 and 25 and on March 3, 4, 10 and 11.

William Terrill will be the recording operator. Recordings will also be made during students' free periods, and the workshop control operator, Harvin Abrahamson, will do the recording.

The new workshop members are Elizabeth Ann Ellen, Ellsworth Gaulke, Anne Huntzicker, Verne R. Lotz, Del Marth, Antoinette Tushinski, Elinore Bowman and Charles A. Berard.

W. A. A.

Jean Fumelle was chosen as president of the Women's Athletic association at a meeting held in the Girls' Recreation room last Wednesday evening. Ruth Wachholz was elected vice-president, Ramona Putnam, secretary and Marge Schrader, treasurer.

Among the many sports enjoyed by the girls this semester are basketball, volleyball, skating, hiking and individual sports. Tournament games in basketball are being played at the present time.

Any college woman interested in athletics is eligible to participate in WAA. Awards are given each year for individual achievement in the organization. The girls meet every Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in the Girls' Recreation room. Miss Myrtle Spande is club adviser.

Grammar Round Table

"Good and Poor Teachers" was the topic for discussion at the Grammar Round Table meeting held last Monday night.

The members came prepared with short reports on the best and poorest teachers they have experienced during their school days. Many interesting teaching personalities were discussed informally during the meeting.

Dr. and Mrs. Roland A. Trytten afforded the center of an interesting message on "Christian Marriage" to Lutheran students who gathered in the Student Lounge last Thursday evening.

Preceding the Tryttens' discussion, Joan Paulson led the group in devotions and Rev. Orville K. Wold led the group in singing.

Who's Whose

Did you see that game Saturday night? If not, you missed the spectacle of the year.....Milwaukee's Penwell glaring at the officials. No kidding, he looked hotter than two-dollar flatiron.

Looks like things have settled down in the Feragen "sweetstakes." Evidently Bob Getman is there to stay.

Rumor would have it that the "band of the year" will be playing at the Valentine Ball tomorrow night. It's all free but the coke, so why no drop in?

She was only a bartender's daughter—maybe that accounts for her "rye" expression.

Have you heard the rumor going around about Art Pejsa? If we may trust rumors, he's in line for congratulations. P. S. Alice will be in town this weekend.

Some week we're going to devote all of our time to observing the males going to and from Nelson Hall.....that ought to fill up several columns.

Glad to see that the Kay Prey-Jack Breslin duo is still going strong—complete with ring.

Noticed Marge Schrank at the game the other night, "cast" in the role of an invalid. It's nice to welcome her back to school after her stay at St. Michael's hospital.

Not an awful lot of dirt this week so we'll leave you with the thought that many a pebble on the beach has become a little "boulder." Hope that didn't rock ya'.

goal. The following lines are from a poem by Lord Byron and would probably express this emotion in a more beautiful and ephemeral way:

"There be none of Beauty's daughters With a magic like thee; And like music on the waters Is thy sweet voice to me: When, as if sound were causing The charmed ocean's pausing, The waves lie still and gleaming, And the lulled winds seem dreaming.

And the midnight moon is weaving Her bright chain o'er the deep; Whose breast is gently heaving, As an infant's asleep: So the spirit bows before thee, To listen and adore thee; With a full but soft emotion, Like the swell of Summer's ocean."

Here's our valentine to you and we dedicate it to all the fortunate couples who are walking in the clouds. Use it for your own valentine; it might prove useful. In the meantime come down to earth and keep you eye on The Seeing Eye!

GAME FORFEITED

The second half opened with the Pointers breaking into the scoring again on a free throw by Haidvogel. Lemmer then scored a field goal for the Gulls to tie the score, 28-28. Carpenter flipped in a field goal next and was followed by Rahn of Milwaukee scoring on a charity toss. Haidvogel was fouled and made good on another free throw. Rahn then tallied another field goal and the score was tied again, 31-31.

The Point aggregation then started to click and edged ahead methodically. The Pointers were leading 50-41 when the disruption terminating the game occurred.

A total of 47 fouls were called with Point receiving 22 and Milwaukee 25.

Point attempted 31 free throws and scored 16. Milwaukee attempted 25 and scored 11.

Carolina Town Has Rigid Standard for Hiring New Teachers

One of the most important things in a new teacher's life is signing his first contract. At a meeting of Grammar Round Table held last Monday evening in Studio A, Quincy Doudna, director of the Intermediate division, gave to the group copies of the following excerpt from a teacher's contract dated 1904 in a small town in North Carolina. It is reprinted here in the interest of those preparing to enter the teaching field.

"I promise to take a vital interest in all phases of Sunday School work, donating of my time, service and money without stint, for the benefit and uplift of the community.

"I promise to abstain from all dancing, immodest dressing and any other conduct unbecoming a teacher and a lady.

 "I promise not to go out with any young men except insofar as it may be necessary to stimulate Sunday School work.

"I promise not to fall in love, to become engaged or secretly married.
 "I promise to remain in the dormitory or on the school grounds when not actively engaged in school or church work elsewhere.

"I promise not to encourage or tolerate the least familiarity on the part of any of my boy pupils.

"I promise to sleep at least eight hours each night, to eat carefully, to take every precaution to keep in the best of health and spirits in order that I may be better able to render efficient service to my pupils.

"I promise to remember that I owe a duty to the townspeople who are paying me my wages, that I owe respect to the school board and to the superintendent who hired me, and that I shall consider myself at all times the willing servant of the school board, and the townspeople, and that I shall cooperate with them to the limit of my ability in any movement aimed at the betterment of the town, the pupils or the school."

NOTICE
 The typewriters in the Pointer office are for Pointer staff use only. Since they are the only ones available for preparing copy for the linotypists it is necessary that they be kept in as good condition as possible. Two of the machines were out of order last Monday, when they were needed for retyping copy.
 We are running on a close-cut budget and unnecessary repair bills make it hard to keep within that budget. We ask you students to cooperate with us is not using Pointer typewriters at any time.

The Fifth Quarter

One of the poorest exhibitions of sportsmanship ever to be witnessed in Stevens Point, in this writer's opinion, was given at the P. J. Jacobs High school last Saturday night. Surprisingly enough it was not staged by the audience or the players but by a coach, the very person who is supposed to instill sportsman-like qualities into his charges.

Throughout the Point-Milwaukee game Coach Guy Penwell vociferously contended that his team was being discriminated against by biased officials. Not content with voicing his complaints throughout the gym the coach repeatedly called the umpire a "homer".

It was no great wonder to the audience that the official finally "saw red" and charged Penwell with a technical foul. Most coaches would have been stilled by one technical but not so with the Milwaukee basketball mentor; even two technical fouls failed to silence his unruliness.

In a desperate attempt to stop the pandemonium and resume play, the official ordered Penwell to leave the floor or risk a forfeiture. At that time, two minutes of the game remained to be played with the Milwaukee team trailing by nine points. The Green Gulls had a fighting chance of tying the score but their coach refused to allow them that opportunity. Given a final ultimatum Penwell still refused to leave and the game was forfeited.

The Milwaukee coach may "save face" with his following by having forfeited the game on the grounds that the officiating was unfair, instead of seeing his team handed their first conference defeat. The loss of respect he suffered here, however, will take a long time to build up again.

In Penwell's favor, certain fouls did appear questionable to this writer, but at other times it seemed fouls should have been called and were not. Assuming Coach Penwell was justified in his contentions, it may be said that it takes a good man to accept a defeat gracefully but a better one to accept a defeat even when he knows he is being "robbed".

Coach Penwell seemed to have forgotten one major point entirely. That point is that the officials run the game and interpret the rules. Their decisions, good or bad, must be respected.

In line with this it is interesting to note the following story from the Exponent, student publication from Platteville State Teachers college.

"A crowd of better than 500 basketball fans left the College gym last Tuesday night, January 28, bitterly disappointed at one of the worst display of poor sportsmanship ever witnessed in these parts. They had come to see the fabulous Fort Sheridan basketball team, winner in 20 of its last 23 engagements, battle their own rejuvenated Pioneer five in the most important non-conference tilt of the current season; and they saw less than half a game, because the visitors walked off the floor with four minutes remaining in the first half.

Although neither coach would issue any statement regarding the matter for publication, it was obvious that there was dissatisfaction with the officiating being done by Gus Stark and Bob Chamberlain of Platteville.

Diers Leads Scoring

During the 16 minutes of play, Platteville looked good, and big Harold Diers had already dumped in nine points to lead the Pioneers to a 26-22 lead when the soldiers decided to call it a night."
