

Men's Glee Club to Give Second Concert Tonight

First Performance Given Last Night

The Men's Glee club, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, will present its eleventh annual spring concert before the student body tonight at 8:15 o'clock in the college auditorium.

The program, with the exception of the incidental solos, will follow that of last evening's concert which was enjoyed by a most enthusiastic and appreciative audience of townspeople.

The program will open with the Glee club's singing "The Purple and the Gold," by Pray, followed by "A Choral Prelude," Hamier; "The Serenaders," Italian Folk Song; "I Can't Begin to Tell You," Monaco; and "I Got Plenty O' Nuttin'," Gershwin.

Tenor Solos by Bartosz

Wallace Bartosz will continue with two tenor solos, "Prelude from 'A Cycle of Life'," by Ronald and "A Dream," Bartlett. "Napoli," by Delsted and "Perfect Day," Bond, will be presented on the cornet by Stephen Seidel.

The Glee club will continue with "Salvation Belongeth to Our Lord," Tschenevok; "Summertime" from "Porgy and Bess," Gershwin; "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child," Krone, with tenor obligato by Charles Bart; and "Break, Break, Break," Mentor Crosse.

Torkelson Sings Bass Solo

Following the second group of selections by the Glee club, Carl Torkelson, bass, will sing, "On the Road to Mandalay," Speaks. He will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Torkelson.

Miss Jean Bukolt, a student at St. Joseph's academy, will follow with the piano solo, "Prelude C# Minor," Rachmaninoff.

The program will conclude with another group of selections by the Glee club including selections from "Oklahoma," Rodgers-Stickles; "De Gospel Train," Cain; "The Very Thought of You," Gershwin; "Stout-Hearted Men," Romberg; and "Battle Hymn of the Republic," Waring-Ringwald.

Doudna Back From New Jersey Meeting

Quincy Doudna, director of the Rural division, returned last Friday from a meeting of the American Association of School Administrators held in Atlantic City, New Jersey. Mr. Doudna left for Atlantic City on February 28.

Mr. Doudna reports there were 10,000 in attendance at the meeting; the greater number being city superintendents. The 65 Wisconsin delegates enjoyed a lobster dinner as a group at the famous Hackney's restaurant.

On Tuesday, March 4, a concert was presented for the delegates by Phil Spitalny and His All Girl Orchestra.

CSTC students will be interested to know that Dr. Raymond C. Gibson, former director of the Training school, and now president of the Teachers college at Duluth, Minnesota, was also in Atlantic City for the meeting.

Miss Doherty Has New Position at M. D. B.

In an almost secluded corner on the Training school's first floor, the class room and the office of Miss Patricia Doherty are to be found. Not only is the petite blond instructor herself new to CSTC's campus, but her position is a newly created one.

She began in September as the first regular music teacher and kindergarten supervisor in the Training school. Miss Doherty's classes include the kindergarten in the morning and all music work in the nine grades of the school. Aside from her own teaching, she supervises several student teachers in music and primary work. In extra-curricular work, she has been assistant adviser of the Newman club this year.

Attractive Miss Doherty attended grade and high schools with her two sisters in Mosinee, Wisconsin. Later, she went to Milwaukee State Teachers college, where she majored in kindergarten and primary, and received a B. S. degree with minors in English and music. She is continuing work on her master's degree in elementary education.

Her previous experience was a three year position as kindergarten teacher in Port Edwards. Teaching seems to run in her family. One brother and a sister formerly attended Central State and Miss Doherty is the fourth of her family to join ranks with the educators.

Outside the realm of chalk dust and lesson plans, Miss Doherty has many interests. Swimming, dancing and hiking are her favorite recreations. Musically she leans toward the classics and semi-classical pieces. An avid concert fan, she has to do most of her concert-going via the radio. A soprano, she studied voice at Milwaukee State, and piano and voice training have been her life-long vocation. "I have been impressed by the musical organizations here," she stated.

When she was asked to give her impression of CSTC, Miss Doherty said, convincingly, "I like the spirit of friendliness in faculty members and college students," adding, "I

CSTC's Irish Will Observe Paddy's Day

It won't be the early arrival of spring that you'll be seeing next Monday, it'll be the "wearing" of the green for St. Patrick's day.

The Irish at CSTC may be in the minority, but what they lack in numbers they make up for in enthusiasm, and any son of Erin caught wearing an orange tie next Monday runs the risk of getting his skull bashed in with a shillelagh.

Most of the college's Irish are far removed from the "auld sod," but every March 17 there's a revival of traditions handed down from generation to generation and the shamrock gets a thorough dusting off.

"Sure and it's a great day for the Irish!"

From Peggy O'Neill down to Kathleen Mavourneen there'll be an Irish lilt in the air. One of CSTC's students inspired by the great day wrote the following poem in tribute to all Irishmen.

"Tis March!
The seventeenth, I hear.
The day for Irishmen from far and near

Sure, they love to don their native green
Bring out the shamrock and clay
Pipe on the scene.

You can tell 'em by their twinkling eyes
For the mischief never dies!
'Tis March seventeenth!

The Irishmen say,
And God gave them St. Pat's day.

Students Find Teaching Positions

Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, director of the Training school, announces that the following college students have accepted teaching positions recently.

Verna Genrich of the Primary division has accepted a position as second grade teacher at Beloit. Jean Smith of the Intermediate division accepted a position at Edgerton. Monica Gill of the Secondary division will teach Home Economics at West DePere and Dick Oik is now substituting at the High school in Cuba City, where he will be for the rest of the year.

As a part of their practice work, the following college students began teaching in P. J. Jacobs High school last Monday, March 10: Nelda Dopp, Edwin Szymanski, Betty Ruth Zet, Eldred Judd, Lynn Fockes and Fred Schwierski.

Visitors at the Training school last week were Supts. J. B. Layde of West DePere, N. P. Cuperly of Medford and C. P. Larson of New London, all of whom interviewed college students.

Dr. Gotham has announced that within the next two weeks a leadership training course will be organized and held in the Training school gym. The purpose of the course is to provide training and leadership for those interested in scouting and particularly for those going into the teaching field who would find such training very helpful.

Members of the Leadership Training committee are Dr. Nels O. Reppen, Robert Lewis, Arol C. Epple and Quincy Doudna.

Art Classes Holding Handicraft Exhibit

"Originality plus ingenuity" seems to be the theme of most of the individuals in Miss Edna Carlsen's handicraft classes (Art III) judging from the interesting exhibit of wood products on display in the glass showcase at the west end of second floor.

Most of the students have used the unique chip-carving method in decorating pine boxes, book-ends and letter holders. Geometric designs of all types comprise the main basis for the projects, although there are many interesting variations found.

Other class members revived the old, well-known method of wood burning. This revival gave rise to a large amount of individual originality. Some students accented the wood burning theme by adding touches of crayon for color. On still other boxes, animals, flowers, houses and even "spooks" were imprinted.

One artistically inclined person decorated a box by using multi-colored enamels and working them into a Pennsylvania Dutch design, making the finished product outstanding in color and design.

Another student, with ideas of his own, combined wood carving with wood burning for his project. The result is an unusual and interesting plaque.

On Weather Study

Robert S. Lewis of the Geography department at CSTC spoke to the sixth grade boys at the Training school on Wednesday, March 6, on weather maps and weather forecasting instruments.

The boys have been studying and performing experiments on the characteristics of air and will continue their study of weather using some of the information Mr. Lewis gave them.

Mrs. Hester Brien, sixth grade supervisor, has Annette Knoll and Mable Hoefs assisting her and teaching the science unit.

Several Teachers to Have the Summer Off

A full summer off with time for rest, travel or attendance at summer school is in store for several members of CSTC's staff beginning on June 5.

Teachers who, according to an announcement by President William C. Hansen, will have the summer off (faculty members are free every fourth summer) are Dr. Arthur S. Lyness, Dr. Nels O. Reppen, Dr. Harold M. Tolo, Miss Helen Meston, Norman E. Knutzen, Raymond M. Rightsell, Burton R. Pierce, Miss Leah Diehl, Robert S. Lewis, Miss Mildred Davis and Miss Margaret Ritchie.

Game Management Class Sees U.W. Arboretum

The Game Management class (Conservation 204) under the direction of Arol C. Epple, journeyed to Madison on Tuesday, March 4, to visit the University of Wisconsin's Arboretum.

On the way to Madison the group stopped at Poynette to see the State Wildlife and Game farm. The visit here was brief since the farm is open to visitors only during the summer months. However, while there, the class toured the lab and the incubators, which are not now in operation. The first setting of the incubators will be May 12 and the last will be on June 28. This year 180,000 young birds will be put out and distributed throughout the state.

There are 23 different species of pheasants on the farm. Some pheasants cost as much as $500 a pair and these expensive ones are exchanged, not purchased, from other state game farms for experimentation and exhibition.

The farm has 547 acres and is open for exhibition after June 15.

In Madison, the group was allowed to browse through Dr. Aldo Leopold's library at the Wildlife and Game Department at the University. Dr. Leopold is a noted authority on game management. He is assisted by Professor R. A. McCabe.

On the way to the Arboretum a stop was made at a spring-fed pond where semi-wild mallards are under observation and study. The next stop was at a trap factory which was an old CCC camp. Various types of traps for all kinds of animals may be found here. Some traps are designed after those used by the State of Pennsylvania.

The group also visited the pine plantation of Norway and White pine. These trees are 13 years old and are used for the study of pine growth in relation to climatic conditions.

Last month the Game Management class traveled to the U. S. National Wildlife and Game Refuge at Necedah, where William F. Hopkins, manager of the refuge, spent the afternoon conducting a field trip and survey of game problems.

The 39,000 acre Wildlife and Game refuge was established primarily for water fowl, but deer have been greatly favored. When the area went under protective management the hunting outside the reservation drove deer into it.

Deer hunting in the reservation is opened to archers for a scheduled time and also to other hunters under special controls. Permits to hunt there must be obtained first. These are handled by the state through a lottery, since hunting on any National Wildlife Refuge is handled by the state.

Records of deer of both sexes killed, winter feeding, multiplication of the sexes, and reports of deer injured by hunters are carefully made. In Necedah the deer are quite plentiful and easy prey for hunters.

Published weekly except holidays and examination periods, at Stevens Point by students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College. Subscription Price $2.00 per year.

Entered as second-class matter May 26, 1927, at the post office at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Watch That Cold!!!

With the coming of spring and the inevitable "spring fever" there is always another spring arrival which bears much careful attention. That is the influenza epidemic which so often accompanies the first robin.

Dr. Fred A. Marrs, health officer for the city of Stevens Point and physician for the health service at CSTC, has closed St. Michael's hospital to all visitors except close relatives because of the epidemic of colds and influenza which has struck the city.

CSTC's Girls' Glee club has had to postpone a trip to Adams-Friendship where they were to sing a concert because flu and mumps have taken a large number of students from the high school there.

Dr. Marrs reported that over 10 per cent of the student body at CSTC is absent from classes at the present time because of illness, namely cold and flu, and more students each day are forced to leave their classes because of these diseases.

Most of the time, with a little precaution and forethought, it is possible to avoid these spring ailments which suddenly sneak up behind people. Any slight breath of warm weather finds the co-eds and fellows dashing around outdoors, to and from Nelson Hall, Klink's, the Eat Shop and the Training school minus coats and scarves. With little regard for health they go without rubbers and ample clothing merely because old Sol threw a few warmer than usual sun rays at the earth.

Coming from warm rooms, the sudden chilling effect is just what is needed to help the cold and flu germs to get a good toe hold. Students who have burned the midnight oil night after night will find that it doesn't take much of a toe hold before they're flat on their backs.

The Health Service is open to all students every day, with Nurse Mary Neuberger available at all school hours. Dr. Marrs is available at the health center from 10 until 11 a.m. every day. It is better to check colds and coughs here before allowing time to increase the condition of infection.

Stay away from your classes, students, if you have a bad cold, rather than infect the people around you. It is better to spend one day away from school than to spend a week sending sympathy cards to your classmates who might have caught the "bug" from you.

So let's all use a little common "horse" sense in the next few weeks. Remember it isn't spring yet, and even though March came in like a lamb there's still a likelihood that it will roar like a lion before the month is over.

Student Organizations

Radio Workshop

A continued discussion on "Labor and Management" will be the theme of "Our College Roundtable" on Thursday, March 13, over WBLB with the usual members of the Radio Workshop participating.

Friday's "Music Album" features a program of Italian music. The script will include "Capriccio Italiano," by Tschakowsky.

Something new, something different, will be presented on "Our College" program next Monday, March 17 (St. Patrick's Day). There will be a radio interview with Miss Leona Bovee and Mrs. Laura Gehlke, the Nelson Hall housemothers, plus entertainment by the Dormites.

"Books and Authors" will be presented as usual on Tuesday, March 18.

"The Radio Workshop Players" will present a drama as a part of the program for Wednesday. Another short play, dedicated to the elementary grades, will also be presented at this time.

The Workshop, as a whole, has fallen back into its usual routine. Needless to say, the well-filled bulletin board, bearing a share of the Workshop's fan mail, is mute evidence of the fact that the public, as well as the students are glad that CSTC is broadcasting again.

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee club trip to Adams-Friendship, which was scheduled for last Tuesday, March 11, was cancelled because of an epidemic of mumps and flu in the high school there. This trip has been postponed until March 19.

The Glee club will journey to Port Edwards on Wednesday, March 20, to give a concert at the high school there. On Thursday, March 27, the girls will travel to Oshkosh to present a concert at the Teachers college there. This will be an all day trip.

The club will have a banquet for all of its members on Tuesday,

March 26, at the Presbyterian church. Co-chairmen in charge of the affair are Nelda Dopp and Pat Thorpe. Mildred Spiedel is in charge of entertainment for the occasion.

Grammar Round Table

Dr. Raymond E. Gotham gave a short talk on "Jobs and Salaries in Wisconsin" at the March meeting of Grammar Round Table held last Monday evening in Studio "A".

Beginning teachers were considered by Dr. Gotham "to have services to sell to the communities". Among the qualities of a good teacher were listed a trained mind, personality, health, academic background and various attitudes including consideration for the difference in human beings.

A panel discussion followed with the upward trend in salary schedules the main consideration, along with the reasons for the present lack of trained teachers.

Quincy Doudna, director of the Rural Division, outlined plans for groups of students enrolled in the upper elementary and intermediate division to make trips to outstanding elementary schools in this section of the state.

The next meeting is scheduled for April 14.

Wesley Foundation

Wesley Foundation was entertained last Thursday evening at the home of its vice-president, Fred Stassel.

The worship program was led by Jean Smith and was followed by an interesting discussion led by Janet Reed on "Minimum Essentials of Belief".

During the business meeting a report was made on plans for the Spring Rally of the Methodist Student Movement which will be held in Whitewater on April 18 and 19.

The high school MYF group was entertained at a "Dine-a-nite" supper at the church Sunday evening, and Arlene Kromroy presented a

CSTC Women Attend Home Ec Gathering

By Elaine Becker

Chicago! Chicago's a wonderful place. With this music ringing in our ears, Pat Lavers and I left on Wednesday, February 19, for the "Windy City", to attend the Seventh Province Workshop of College Home Economics clubs from Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, and Wisconsin.

We left via bus for Junction City, where we had a three hour wait. (We thought this was a good place to get used to the big city a little at a time—very little, that is.)

We arrived in Chicago at 7:30 p. m. Pat's aunt met us and we drove to the Allerton hotel. The rest of the evening was spent in our room writing home on hotel stationery and cards.

Pat slept well, or so she said, while I was much disturbed by the continuous noise from Michigan avenue just below us.

On Thursday morning, Pat and I took a brisk walk down to the loop, since we had the morning free. This is when we found out why the "Windy City" is so named. We returned before lunch and registered for the Workshop.

After lunch the Workshop opened and Miss Alice Coolie, president of the Illinois Home Economics association, spoke on the subject of getting acquainted with American Home Economics association. Later in the afternoon smaller groups discussed "The Professional Attitude Toward Home Economics" and "Understanding and Appreciation of Home Economics".

That evening Pat and I attended the opera "Blossom Time," at the Civic Opera House.

On Friday morning we met again in the Italian Room on the twenty-third floor of our hotel. The general meeting was first, followed by reports of the preceding day's discussion groups. Then we had another discussion, this time on "Home Economics Clubs' Interest in Current Problems of Community, Nation and World." Later in the morning we had a panel discussion on "Home and Family Life." After lunch the state groups met to elect new officers. Following this there was a short general meeting and a talk on "Graduate Study for Home Economists," given by Mrs. Bert Bailey McLean, director of the Home Economics division of Swift and company.

Friday evening a banquet was held in the Mexican Room of the Normandy House. The speaker of the evening was Zorina Soule, International Fellow from India. Miss Soule, in her native attire, spoke on "Problems which Confront the Home Economists in India."

Our business meeting was held on Saturday morning before the Workshop closed. So with more free time, Pat, her aunt, sister and I, went to Marshall Field's to shop. After lunch we attended, "The Song of Norway," at the Shubert Theater. On Saturday evening we attended a movie and acquired some much needed rest.

The following day, Sunday, we went to the Conservatory at Garfield Park to attend the Azalia Show. The Field Museum was next on our tour of the city. At noon we had a Chinese meal in a Chinese restaurant in the loop, before attending the showing of Mrs. Thorn's miniature rooms at the Art Institute. In the late afternoon we drove to Evanston to see Northwestern university. We returned to the loop by "L" and went to the Union Station to await the time of our train's departure.

We boarded our train at 10:30 and at 4:30 in the morning had to change trains at New Lisbon. Finally, one hour later we arrived at Junction City. Having missed the Greyhound bus, we rode to Point with the mail man and caught a taxi to Nelson Hall. And after all this, we still arrived in time for Dr. Pierson's 8:15 biology class.

It is needless to say a good time was had by all.

The Tuberculin Test will be given at the Student Health Service on April 7-8-9, between 10-11 o'clock. Please sign up as soon as possible. Mary Neuberger, R.N.

The Seeing Eye

Hi with and Si

March seems to have been the flu month thus far and not very many of the students or faculty have escaped some or all of the ravages of this springtime pest. We hope that the worst of the epidemic has passed so we can get into the more important business of the home-stretch drive. With only three more months of school left most of the seniors are taking inventory as to the future in the educational field. The juniors are looking forward to their final year as the leaders on the campus, the sophomores are considering their coming status as upper class students and the freshmen are dreaming up tortuous devices to display to the new batch of "greenies" enrolling next year.

What about the faculty? What are they looking forward to in the coming year? New techniques, more comprehensive exams, renewing old acquaintances or making new ones or just a matter of teaching to a worse or possibly better group of students. It's hard to tell just what their outlook is. Perhaps it would be interesting to find out just what thoughts the faculty have at the end of an old term or the beginning of a new one.

This is what is called the in-between season in school—just between the basketball and baseball season. Bowling is still continuing in its kingly role and intramural athletics are being promoted as the fill-in sport for this season. We've been told that spring is just around the corner, but we can't see it as yet. This would be about the best time of the year to gather up forces for the final weeks approaching. No need to mention how hard it will be to sit and study when that spring fever strikes. It can be more deadly than the flu, for no medicine can help, nothing but will power and drive will do any good. How do you rate on these two points?

This coming Saturday will bring the climax of the pledging season. The Greek organizations will have their formal initiations and banquets and then to the Pan-Hell formal at the Training school.

Who's Whose

Not an awful lot of gossip this week. Evidently in the Spring a young man's fancy doesn't turn as much any more.

Orchids to: Sam Koshollek for his tireless efforts as the IRIS photog. Words can not begin to give sufficient credit to Sam for all that he has done.

Mrs. Jonas for her diligent work in keeping these ivy-covered halls neat and clean.

Mr. Lewis, LaVerne Larson and all others concerned with the behind-the-scenes work on all events presented from CSTC's stage.

Thorns to: The type of student who bemoans the lack of "school spirit" at CSTC and then quietly sits back and watches others do the work.

Couples who insist upon keeping their affairs in the public eye.

STUDENT(S) OF THE WEEK: The Men's Glee club (plus Mr. Knutzen) for a splendid concert performance.

RUNNER-UP for Student of the Week: Liz Stadler, who tried to cross the Plover River on a fallen tree last Sunday but ended up by wading the last ten feet. Not a gentleman in sight to aid the damsel in distress.

There shouldn't be very much speculation as to WHO is going to be our Prom Queen this year, should

Before all this, however, will be the antics of pledges during Pan-Hell week which promises to be the final test and the ultimate purpose of the entire period of pledging. By the time you read this you will have seen many demonstrations of this well known last week of pledging. Some of it may seem foolish and some of it amusing. However, it is all given and taken in the spirit for which it was intended. If there is anything we need today, it is a little fun and laughter that will breed comradeship and real brotherly feeling. If this alone is accomplished, then nothing else of the entire period will have been done without purpose. So don't feel too bad about the "poor pledges" and remember that all the activities have gone through an equal or longer period of pledging and we're sure they wouldn't part with it for anything.

Finally, this much in defense of poetry. This reporter risks criticism and snide remarks by certain people who say that poetry rates an almost universal dislike among students and signifies a softening of the brain or weakening of the will. On the contrary, this reporter believes that when understood and appreciated sincerely, it can prove the outlet for real expression and adult relaxation. Consequently, there is the following contributed by Shelley, a poet with whom most of you are familiar:

"The flower that smiles today
Tomorrow dies;
All that we wish to stay
Tempts and then flies.
What is this world's delight?
Lightning that mocks the night,
Brief even as bright.

"Virtue, how frail it is!
Friendship how rare!
Love, how it sells poor bliss
For proud despair!
But we, though soon they fall,
Survive their joy, and all
Which ours we call.

"Whilst skies are blue and bright,
Whilst flowers are gay
Whilst eyes that change ere night
Make glad the day;

there? It is RUMORED that Prom King Bill Mellin will ask Barbara Felker.

How many of these favorite sayings or oft-used expressions can you identify? They're all from faculty members.

1. "Isn't that go-o-o-d?"
2. "It wouldn't raise the hair on a buffalo nickel."
3. "Whether or no—"
4. "Now, then, in the Latin we have."
5. "Don't you think so?"
6. "Agreed?"
7. "A couple few of you."
8. "You'll have to be a little more quiet."
9. "It's just a case of dog eat dog."
10. "Now, two guzzinta four."

Here's the answers to the above expressions.

1. Miss Roach
2. Mr. Rightsell
3. Dr. Jenkins
4. Mr. Burroughs
5. Miss Isaacson
6. Mr. Thompson
7. Mr. Michelsen
8. Miss Ritchie
9. Mrs. Pfiffner
10. Mr. Faust

That's all for now, so we'll wind up for this week. Since our fever-racked brains are unable to think of a suitable closing joke, we'll just say "See ya!"

The Poor House Pros took two out of three games from the second place Chi Deltas to move still farther out in front in the CSTC bowling league. Moxon House lost two of the Umbrigos but remained in a tie with the Chi Deltas.

In other games bowled last week, the Faculty won two out of three from the Continentals and Pitt's beat the Phi Sigs by the same margin.

Cory Hits 556

There were three high series last week, with Cory's 556 taking the top spot over Lewis' 554 and Capacasa's 553. Other high series were Lee, 512 and Robbins, 493.

Lewis rolled high single game with a score of 211, followed by Capacasa, 208-189; Cory, 203-181; Grover-195; Faust-194; Blackman-194; Knope-184; Springer-182; Glosowski-181.

The Continental Clothiers rolled an 886 game for a new high team game this semester, while Pitt's hit 794 and the Phi Sigs scored 793 for other high team games. The Continentals' 2304 was the best in team series for the evening.

The Fifth Quarter

Well, basketball season is over and another phase of the sports world is making its call. With the coming of warmer days, CSTC's fleet-footed will be burning up the turf in preparation for the spring track meets. Meanwhile daily workouts in the gym are taking down that winter waist line.

CSTC lost a good track man when Polzin dropped out at the end of the first semester. Polzin held the state 3-C Conference pole vault record back in high school and that same spot appears to be the weak one for CSTC.

Baseball is coming back into the minds of many CSTC students. The city league seems to be quite popular throughout the Point but how about a college baseball team? It's never too early to start—nor too late.

CSTC's younger brothers, namely the Point High school Panthers, looked plenty all right in the playoffs last week. That same kind of hard playing will be the making of state champs whether it's the Panthers or any other team.

Maybe this intramural golf tournament needs a little explanation for the benefit of the person who wondered if there wasn't too much snow to play golf. Well, it IS played with a basketball and it IS played in the gym. Trick shooting goes a long way in copping the title of champ and there was a fine demonstration of this technique in the first round which was shot off last week.

With the close of the basketball season we find Gerry Haidvogel out ahead in the individual scoring by 33 points in conference games. His average for the six games played is 15.5 points per game. In non-conference ball Gerry ran up an average of 13.9 points per game.

Following is the individual scoring record for the squad:

musical program of vocal selections, accompanying herself on the guitar. Chairman of the food committee was Phyllis Kasper, assisted by Chet Caskey, Janice Sisley, Fred Stassel, Janet Reed and Dorothy Schmidt.

Gamma Delta

Joe Moravec was installed as president of Gamma Delta at a meeting last Wednesday evening at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church.

Other new officers are Dick Zander, vice-president; Carol Mews, secretary and Ernest Link, treasurer. Out-going officers are Mildred Spindel, Gladys Rindfleisch, Lorraine Meyer and Verna Genrich.

Plans for sponsoring a movie-lecture were discussed and approved.

The next social meeting will be held a week from this evening. Gamma Deltas plan that each member and guests will come dressed to represent some song for the evening's program.

Tau Gamma Beta

Pledges of Tau Gamma Beta sorority will climax an active pledging season this week-end with rough initiation, and the final initiation dinner to be held on Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock at Nelson Hall.

After a week of queer costume, long pink and blue ribbons, buttons, umbrellas, cook books and the like, the pledges will be formally initiated into the sorority at a candle-light ceremony preceding the dinner.

Decorations for the dinner will be woven around a St. Patrick's Day theme. A short program will follow the dinner.

Whilst yet the calm hours creep, Dream thou—and from thy sleep Then wake to weep."

There is a lot of good and natural philosophy in these short lines. Can many of you honestly deny there is a mirror of many of your thoughts in this poetry? To the person who requested poetry this reporter hopes the above, while not original, will prove satisfactory, as it is certainly appropriate. So much for poetry. We hope that this hasn't changed your attitude toward this column, a risk we will be glad to take if it has proved interesting reading. In the meantime, keep your eye on the Seeing Eye and forgive our poetical tendencies for the present.

members and alums will be guests at the dinner.

Chi Delta Rho

All those who use the college bus for subsequent trips may be glad to know that the "voiture de l'ecole" sparkles like an 'A' student. This is the result of a thorough cleaning by four Chi Delt pledges Walter Franke, Arelhus Hall, Fred Carpenter and Daryl Fonstad.

For a change, pledges are asked to put bits of verse on the bulletin board daily. Talent scouts are asked to watch the Chi Delt board for another Whitman or Byron. Who knows? We were pledges once also!!

Pledges will be initiated formally at a dinner this coming Saturday at 6 p.m. in the Belmont Hotel club rooms.

LSA

The girls' recreation room was the scene of a party enjoyed by members of the LSA last Thursday evening, March 6. Group pictures were taken by Iris photographer, George (Sam) Koshollek. Refreshments of hamburgers, coffee and doughnuts were served after the games.

There will be no meeting tonight. Next Thursday, March 20, the freshmen members of the group will plan and give the program.

have been especially pleased with the spirit of class members."

About her work—her "kindergarten-ers" and student teachers—Miss Doherty is equally enthusiastic. "In her own words, she 'wouldn't teach anything else.' Previous kindergarten work by the pupil is an essential to a well-conducted first grade, she believes. It is her contention that student teachers, too, will gain much by having had experience in teaching kindergarten classes.

In cooperation with Miss Pauline Isaacson, freshman speech teacher at the college, Miss Doherty has had members of her kindergarten group tell stories in speech classes. Freshman speech students, in turn, have appeared before the young group to present stories there. This coordination of classes is something Miss Doherty is glad to foster, for it brings about a closer-knit working unit of college and Training school.

The three qualifications she gives for a primary teacher are patience, a good constitution and (mainly) a sense of humor. "Just ask the student teacher," says Miss Doherty with a twinkle in her eye.
