

Two CSTC Instructors Active in Chicago Meet

Quincy Doudna, Director of Rural Education at CSTC, and Miss May Roach, are taking active parts in the Great Lakes Conference on Education to be held at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago, November 17 to 19. Miss Roach is Wisconsin's representative on the Conference program committee and will preside over the general Session on Tuesday afternoon, November 18. Mr. Doudna will take part in a symposium on the opening day of the conference. The Great Lakes Conference on Education is sponsored by the Department of Rural Education of the National Education Association.

Electronic Training For Naval Reserve

The formation of an Electronic Warfare company of the U. S. Naval Reserve is underway at the present time. Its purpose is to permit Naval reservists of this area to take part in a general electronic training program that is being offered by the Army Department. This unit, which will have a complement of 45 men, will be located here at Central State teachers college.

The organization meeting will be held on Monday, November 3, at 3:30 p.m. in room 116 of the teachers college. All men who are in class V-6 of the inactive reserve or are qualified to join and wish to be attached to this company are urged to be present at this meeting.

The complement set for this unit includes five officers and 40 enlisted men. Gilbert W. Faust has been selected as Commanding Officer and Charles W. Nason as Communications officer, whereas the remaining three billets have not been filled. The entire quota of 40 enlisted men remains unfilled and men who hold ratings as radiomen, radarmen, soldermen, electronic technicians, and signalmen are in demand. Strikers' ratings are also eligible. According to a directive released by the Ninth Naval District headquarters at Great Lakes, Illinois, money $150,000 in radio, radar, and sonar equipment.

Attention, Vets!

The Veterans Administration, department of public relations, has sent in the following notices with reference to vets in school: "The Veterans Administration today cautioned veterans entering schools and colleges this fall under the G-1 Bill that they must comply with the regularly prescribed standards and practices of the educational institutions during their period of enrollment."

No Special Privileges
Government-paid tuition to an educational institution does not place a veteran in a special privilege class, VA said.

"Student veterans must abide by all the rules and regulations of the institutions where they are enrolled. They must maintain satisfactory academic marks. Willful misconduct or unsatisfactory progress are grounds for withdrawal of subsistence and tuition payments. In the past, cases of willful misconduct or unsatisfactory progress have been negligible and for the most part student veterans have attained academic marks equal to or above the non-veteran students."

With reference to the above, President William C. Hansen made the following statement:

"Our experience with veterans here in this college has been very fine. There certainly is no tendency

Alum Receives Honorable Mention for Play Script

Miss Elaine Johnson, Iola, a graduate of the Rural-State Graded division at CSTC, has received honorable mention for a script submitted in a centennial playwrighting contest for radio sponsored by the University of Wisconsin. The contest was a part of the preparations for the state centennial drama festivals to be held next year.

LeRoy Hames of Belgium, Wisconsin, who submitted a script entitled "Abe Lincoln Slept Here," won $100 for his play which will be enacted in the drama festivals next year at the nine state teachers' colleges and at other cities in the state.

Dr. Gotham Visits Wisconsin Schools

During the past week Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, head of the Training school, concluded his program of visitations to Wisconsin schools, especially where CSTC graduates are teaching.

Dr. Gotham recently went to Beloit where he visited the elementary schools of Verna Genrich, Rollo Shuffelt, Martin Schaefer and Stanley Hanish.

At the Janesville High school Dr. Gotham visited the classes of Robert Burkman and Grant Thayer. Bess Jones' Home Economics class at the Juneau High school was also visited.

At an earlier date Miss Leah Diehl, Burton R. Pierce, and Dr. Gotham visited the Rosholt school where Catherine Firkus, Dolores Cowles, and Lawrence Zalewsky, former CSTC students, are now teaching.

You Bring It In - Band Will Tune It

Peter J. Michelsen announced that the music department has received a new instrument called the chromatic stroboscope which is used in determining the tuning note and intonation of musical instruments. The instrument may be used in testing of musical performance, and in making measurements of intonation, both vocal and instrumental.

Most students have no other guide in learning to play or sing in correct intonation than the sound of another instrument or voice. Naturally the result of listening to an inaccurate model is to develop an inaccurate ear. The chromatic stroboscope, now available to CSTC's music department, has proved itself of great use in music teaching.

If a student learns to play or sing by practicing with the chromatic stroboscope, he can readily learn to produce the desired scale.

String Quartet Plays to Large Audience Monday

The Pro Arte Quartet of the University of Wisconsin presented a program in the college auditorium Monday, October 28, at 8 p.m. A large crowd of students, faculty and townspeople attended the concert.

The program selections consisted of Franz Schubert's "String Quartet in B flat major, Opus 168," Mozart's "Quartet in B flat major" and Claude Debussy "Quartet for strings in G minor, Opus 10".

Members of the quartet are Rudolph Kolisch, first violin, Albert Rahier, second violin, Bernard Milofsky, viola, and Ernest Friedlander, cello.

Leland M. Burroughs, chairman of the faculty assembly committee, was in charge of arrangements.

Combined Incidents Make '47 Homecoming Best Ever

Hobo Day, a flashy parade, a thrilling game, with Point victorious, and enthusiastic participation by everyone combined to make this year's Homecoming one to remember.

Starting out on Friday, the traditional Hobo Day, faculty, as well as students, proved themselves eligible to join the ranks of "Benny de Bum". There was "little dust left on the chandeliers" after Friday afternoon's pep assembly for which Ray Bartkowiak served as emcee.

The competition for the coveted title of Hobo King was keen. Popular applause finally determined that the prizes of a blotter (to blot rubber checks) and a "genuine silver fox neckpiece" would have to be divided between Louie Jacoboski and Wally Cacic.

Wally's prizewinning costume was enough to make the most decrepit looking bum envious. He was indeed prepared to cope with any emergency with his salt and pepper shakers, cup, and cutlery. As a finishing touch, he carried an elegant twig cigar holder.

For Emergency Use Only
Louie was attired in an off-white barrel trimmed with a smart "Post No Bills" sign. (Certain befuddled

Teachers Convention On November 6, 7, 8

The Wisconsin Education association convention at Milwaukee will be held November 6, 7, 8. Owing to the difficulty in obtaining hotel reservations, the CSTC faculty will not attend in a body and school will not be dismissed on those days. However, certain members of the faculty who are able to obtain rooms will go to Milwaukee and will make individual arrangements for their classes.

Sigma Tau Delta Accepts Pledges

The pledge ceremony of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, was held at Norman E. Knutzen's cottage at scenic Pike Lake, on Wednesday evening, October 22. The following students were accepted as pledges at a ceremony conducted by Isabelle Stelmahoske, president: Margaret Guth, Margaret Albrecht, Michael Fortune, Alta Kromroy, Mary Stimers, and Lucille Tanner.

Publication of the student literary magazine "Flight," which has not been published for several years, was the main topic of discussion during the business meeting which followed. After a report by Bill Grolmski on the expenses involved, the organization decided to undertake publication. The magazine will be composed entirely of students' literary contributions, and announcements will be made in all English classes by club members to acquaint the student body with full particulars.

Charles C. Evans, the speaker of the evening, enlivened his talk on Florida with vivid slides of typical Florida scenes.

Barbecues, coffee and cake were served by the refreshment committee, Marjorie Hales, Esther Davidson and Virginia Hull, under Mr. Knutzen's direction.

Faculty members who attended in addition to Mr. Knutzen were Leland M. Burroughs, club adviser, Miss Mildred Davis, Miss Syble Mason and Nelis R. Kampenga and special guests were Mrs. Burroughs, Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Kampenga.

freshmen are still trying to discover how Louie managed to sit down in assembly.) His dove-grey hat was tipped with the stunning new "bird-in-the-nest" trimming.

The climax of the assembly came when the stage curtains were slowly opened, revealing Pat Jones as Homecoming Queen. She was crowned by the football captain, Dick Parsons. The runners up, Janet Dupre and Lucille Tosch, composed her court.

The festivities continued with the snake dance, bonfire, and "come as you are" dance on Friday evening. The Training School gym, where the dance was held, was decorated to resemble a football field with purple and gold streamers, field markings on the floor, and goal posts at either ends. The dance, which was a huge success, was sponsored by the Student Council. Refreshments were served by the Primary Council.

Parade Floats Show Interest

The parade, the big event of Saturday morning, showed a remarkable amount of talent, work, and ingenuity.

First prize for floats was awarded Nelson Hall for their claim that the victory was "In the Stars". A gypsy astronomer gazed intently at the names of the football "stars".

The Phi Sigs won second prize with their representation of a battle between the 105 mm. howitzer (which was Point) and a tiny popgun (which was Platteville).

In the humorous division, first prize went to the Training school witches who stewed a Platteville dummy. The Freshman class won second prize with their stuffed hen that was "laying for Platteville".

Judges were Mayor Ben W. Dagnau, Fire Chief Carl Maslowski, and Miss Beverly Paulson of the Stevens Point Journal.

Open House at Nelson Hall

After the game with Platteville on Saturday p.m., an excited, hilarious crowd poured into Nelson Hall's rec room where a six-piece orchestra played old time favorites for all those who stayed to dunk a doughnut, enjoy a cup of coffee, dance, or just sit and renew old acquaintances.

The social sororities and fraternities held alum dinners on Saturday evening with most of them adjourning early so that members could attend the "S" club dance which was held at the P. J. Jacobs High school gym. Tom Temple and his orchestra furnished the music for the dance which was well-attended by students, alums and townspeople helping to celebrate CSTC's victory over Platteville to

Alums Help Swell Band Uniform Fund

The Homecoming weekend was profitable as well as glorious for CSTC's band, as Peter J. Michelsen, director, announced that several checks were received from alums to help swell the band uniform fund.

Anne Kelley, Athens, a former band member, donated $20 toward the fund. Millicent Blissett, New London, also a former band member, gave $10 for new uniforms and James "Doc" Kulidas, Park Falls, a graduate of CSTC, contributed $5 to the fund.

Members of the band considered Homecoming a big success, for their ranks were filled with 21 alumni marching and playing with the 45 regular band members.

GRADS HAVE 'IN-SERVICE' MEET

Assisting beginning teachers with their specific problems was the keynote of the in-training conference of CSTC grads held last Friday, October 24, on the campus.

Their conferences are expected to become a regular service of the college and will be extended into field visits as facilities are made available.

They will also serve as an aid to evaluating the effectiveness of the college training program in preparing beginning teachers for their in-teaching experiences.

Welcome By Dr. Gotham

Friday's program for the alums ended at 9 o'clock with registration and a welcome by Dr. Raymond Gotham, director of the Training school. At 9:15 the grads visited the sites at the Training school. Then they held group discussion of the experiences observed, after which there was opportunity for individual conferences with the training school college staff.

During the noon hour the grads were served a luncheon at Nelson

Division conferences were held at 1:30, followed by another individual conference period. At 3:30 the alums attended the pep assembly at the college.

School principals and superintendents are to be commended for their cooperation in releasing these teachers for this in-service conference," says Dr. Gotham, in charge of the conference program. He adds that their suggestions for the improvement of this service are welcomed.

Here's To You

Central State's annual Homecoming celebration is once more a thing of the past and due to the cooperation and hard work of students and faculty alike it was indeed a successful one. The Student Council is to be commended for time, effort and spirit with which the Homecoming events were conducted. Special recognition should go to Charles Bart, chairman of the Homecoming activities, Merlin Brunner, president of the Student Council, and to Jim Cory, chairman of the Homecoming parade. These three carried much of the worry and responsibility of the events on their shoulders.

No commendation would be complete without a "big hand" for Coach Berg and his victorious Point eleven. They played a thrilling game and presented the spectators with a 20-6 win over their Platteville opponents. Nice going, team!

Peter J. Michelsen and the CSTC band, alumni and regular members alike, are to be congratulated for their fine concert on Wednesday, their marching song, spirit and pep at the parade and the game.

Another person to be complimented is Miss May Roach, chairman of the Alumni committee for Homecoming. Hers was a big job in preparing for those returning to their alma mater.

And to the Men's Glee club and their director, Norman E. Knutzen, goes a bouquet for presenting such a fitting climax for a wonderful weekend. We were at the concert Sunday afternoon and along with the rest of the audience thoroughly enjoyed it.

Last but not least, the student body should receive a bouquet for their cooperation and participation in the events of the Homecoming weekend. Their attendance, pep and enthusiasm were the prime factor in making Homecoming successful.

Dorm Doin's

Damp, bedraggled streamers, bits of pasteboard and a general let down feeling are the most highly evident characteristics of the day after such a big event as Homecoming was. As dormites wearily wend their way throughout the rainy day they're in, things will begin to perk up. Already talk has started about the next event—The Thanksgiving formal dinner... an annual affair at Nelson Hall.

Among the brigade of past dorm-dwellers, other alumnae and just plain friends who participated in Homecoming activities, with headquarters here at the dorm, were: Mrs. Laura Gehrke, our assistant housemother here last spring; Myrtle Henriksen; Gail Smith; Jean Smith; Nelda Dopp; Leona Jacob; Beatrice Abraham; Marjorie Walk; Gertrude Collum; Loretta Mather; Pat Adler; Lecture Dekker; Pat Bingham; Agnes Bednarek; Lorraine High; June Whittier; Ellie Sharkey; Lillian Wurthmann; Theresa Brill; Bernette and Bernice Jacob; Olive Crawford; Millicent Blissett; Dolores Jaehrling; Marilyn Ogden; Marjorie Nelson; Mary Stewart; Jill Severance; Joyce Proctor; Dolores Cowles; Helen Jacobson; LaVerne Haskins; Carolyn Peterson; Bess Jones.

No one can count, or cares to, the number of hours they spent reminiscing with old friends, but everyone of us can vouch for the warm feeling we have toward all our visitors, and the appreciation we have for the interest they show in us by wanting to come back and visit. (Especially so many of them. Wasn't it wonderful?)

Guess we will be forgiven a minutes' space to pat ourselves on the back for the first prize we accepted for the float we sponsored in the parade. Before we do any congratulating, though, we want to give the credit where it is justly deserved, to the girls who, as members of the float committee, planned and executed our prize winner. They were captained by Virginia Gmeiner, who, as freshman representative on the dorm council, fulfilled her traditional duties as float chairman. Good work, girls.

Undoubtedly we held the most successful open house of recent years. There must have been 10,000 people here (we overheard Miss Bovee say) and when it comes right down to it, the count was way over 300 guests. Evidently no one had difficulty reading the signs which led one directly to the rec room where hot coffee (pardon us for the previous reference to cider) and doughnuts were served. A very charming innovation was in the form of a six-piece orchestra which played popular music during the hour. With Mrs. Mae Butz at the piano, Jean Zahner and Bus Dryfoose on sax, Don Douglas haunting the clarinet, Elmer Hayes and his cornet, and William Ludwig lending the percussion, the sextette made an enviable debut.

One other feature of the week-end was the annual Homecoming Dinner held Sunday noon in the dining room. Candlelight, and purple and gold pompons highlighted the tables at which more than 100 guests were seated. A clever welcome was written on the buffet mirror by Jan Thatcher, in the form of a football player kicking a spiral (?). On the informal program were talks by Dolores Jelinek, Nelda Dopp, an alum, and vocal solos sung by Millicent Blissett, an alum, and Julie Dean. Dolores Cowles sang informally, and Mrs. Butz accompanied group singing. ADD ITEMS OF INTEREST: (to somebody!)

Three diligent members of the physiology class have a new hobby, called the care and feeding of guinea pigs; or, here today, dissected tomorrow. They have two live ones living in 236 at the dorm. Living that is, until Wednesday's class.

A "com-ly" quartet of damsels from third floor entertained on request of their press agent at dinner Friday night. Ahhh, this modern art. That's about it. See you in the same space Thursday next. You lucky people. (Sorry, guess we need sleep too.)

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Newman Club A scavenger hunt highlighted the evening when the Newman Club met at St. Stephen's school gym last Thursday.

Prior to the hunt, Bill Jensen called the business meeting to order. The members decided to have a Group Communion the first Sunday of each month. The first one will take place on November 2, at St. Stephen's church at 8 a.m.

Reverend John P. Trant, club chaplain, answered questions brought up by the group after which Iris pictures were taken of the 90 students assembled.

Mrs. Dale Ashburn, Miss Simone Anderson and Miss May Roach were present at the meeting.

LSA

A group of 25 LSA students and alumni met at the First English Lutheran church on Sunday morning, October 26, for a joint communion service and breakfast.

At this get-together the group discussed arrangements for continuing work on the plans for an alumni association.

Irma Scott and Ted Thompson were in charge of serving the breakfast.

Tonight is the annual LSA Halloween Party. All Lutheran students are urged to attend. A good time for all is guaranteed.

Girls' Glee Club

If 75 feminine Glee club members spoke all at once the din would be unbearable, but when that many voices are put together in song the results are exceedingly pleasant.

Anyone who has heard the Girls' Glee club practicing in the auditorium at 4 o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays would verify the latter part of the above statement.

Under the direction of Peter J. Michelsen, the girls are singing traditional Glee club music besides learning a number of new songs. The vocal selections for this season are some of the prettiest the Glee club has ever sung.

Assisting Mr. Michelsen in conducting club affairs are the following officers, as chosen last spring: President, Pat Lavers; vice-president, Grace Petersen; secretary, Margaret Roberts; treasurer, Marianne Simonson; business manager, Esther Davidson; board of directors, Evelyn Markwardt; press representative, Winnie Church; librarian, Sylvia Horn.

YWCA

The YWCA met last Thursday to discuss plans for the forthcoming Sadie Hawkins' Day dance to be held on November 22.

Plans were formulated and committees formed to carry out the duties for the dance. Be on the lookout for further details and advertisements. You may be in for a surprise!

Previous to the business meeting, Jean Walker led the group in singing the hymn "Follow the Glean."

Alpha Kappa Rho

Harry Hemstock, Carman Lane, and Doris Ockerlander became active members of Alpha Kappa Rho, local honorary music fraternity, at a meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Michelsen on Monday evening, October 20.

After the ceremony the new members entertained the group with original Alpha Kappa Rho songs and a skit. Refreshments of ice cream and coffee were served.

On Sunday morning, October 26, members and alumni of Alpha Kappa Rho enjoyed a 9 o'clock Homecoming breakfast at the Hotel Whiting. Speakers at the breakfast were Fred Parfrey of Beaver Dam, Miss Margaret Miller of Menasha, Herbert R. Steiner, patron, Mr. Michelsen, faculty adviser. Before closing, Esther Davidson sang Mrs. Michelsen's new and original song which was dedicated to the Homecoming group.

Special guests at the breakfast were Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Bukolt, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Plank, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Steiner and Mr. and Mrs. Michelsen.

Omega Mu Chi

A combination pledge and Homecoming dinner was held by the members of Omega Mu Chi sorority at the First Baptist church at 6:30 o'clock on Saturday evening.

A candlelight pledge ceremony was conducted and the prospective members received their pledge pins before the dinner. Girls pledging the sorority are Virginia Henthorne, Mary Ellen Gmeiner, Doris Yeager, Mary Jane Rankin and Marilyn Bobbe.

After the dinner, Virginia Hull, Omega president, welcomed the alumnae and guests. Esther Davidson, as vice-president of the sorority, spoke to the pledges in regard to the next three-week pledging period. Mrs. Charles Cashin, patroness, spoke and complimented the members on their recent activities.

Attending the dinner were Mrs. Cashin, Mrs. Leland M. Burroughs, honorary member, and Mrs. Earl E. Kidder, patroness, Mrs. Mary Samter and Miss Bertha Glenon, faculty advisers; and Miss Syble Mason, Miss Susan Colman and Miss Pauline Isaacson, special guests.

General chairman for the dinner was Helen Trewartha. Her committee chairmen were: Invitations, Geraldine Roberts; food, Kathryn Ruse; entertainment, Marne Guth; and transportation, Margaret Roberts.

Senior Class Meeting

Plans for the Senior ball, scheduled for December 6, were discussed at a meeting of the Senior class last Monday. Bill Golomski, class president, was in charge.

Since a quorum was not present, the matter of electing a class treasurer was dropped. Until another meeting can be called the secretary will assume the treasurer's duties.

The admission for the dance was set at $1.50 per couple and Jake Schoettel was appointed to secure a band.

Scout Program Organized

A six weeks training course for all young men interested in the Boy Scout leadership program was organized in the Training School assembly on Wednesday evening, October 29. The first session of the course will begin on Tuesday, November 5, in the Training school gymnasium.

Six class sessions will be conducted on Tuesday evenings. A record of the successful completion of the course will be included in the credentials of all CSTC graduates enrolled in the program.

Baby-Sitting Statutes Agreed Upon at Meeting

At a recent meeting of college women called for the purpose of discussing baby sitting the following points were agreed upon. They will apply to all college women whose employment comes under the classification of baby sitting.

Baby sitting implies that a girl is hired to assume the responsibilities for the children of a family during the absence of the parents.

- 1. The rate for such employment shall be a minimum of 35 cents an hour until 12 o'clock midnight and 50 cents per hour after that time.
2. Some provision should be made by the parents to see that the baby sitter arrives home safely if the hour is after 10:30 p.m.
3. The parents should tell the "sitter" where they may be reached or whom to call in case of emergency.
4. If the girls are expected to do household chores in addition to caring for the children such as ironing, dishes, cleaning, etc. this does not come under the classification of baby sitting but light housework and therefore under a higher classification in regard to pay.

It is very difficult to set a pattern of procedure for this kind of work for each case varies. However, this is an attempt to establish some uniform practice.

Elizabeth Pfiffner Dean of Women

Thanks, All of You!

Homecoming is over! The team played a great game. As general chairman and on behalf of the Student Council, I wish to thank every one who aided us in extending a hearty welcome to the returning alumni. The Council wishes to thank the band for its stirring music, all the campus groups who turned out parade floats and everyone who helped so willingly towards making Homecoming a success.

The spirit shown by the faculty and students who stayed for the festivities was wonderful and to those who didn't stay or couldn't stay you missed an important event in the college memory. I only hope this campus spirit will grow steadily so that Central State will have a campus of eager students participating in all school activities. Again my thanks on behalf of the Student Council and myself for your fine cooperation.

Miss Allen Speaks At Sorority Dinner

Miss Bessie May Allen, chairwoman of the Home Economics department was guest speaker at a recent dinner meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma honorary educational sorority.

The dinner was held last Wednesday evening at the Beaumont hotel in Green Bay. At the meeting, Miss Allen reported on the national Delta Kappa Gamma meeting which she attended in New York last August. On her way home Thursday, Miss Allen visited three recent home economics graduates at their school. She stopped to see Monica Gill who is teaching in West De Pere, Marjorie Asenbrenner, who is teaching at Kimberly school and Mrs. Lucy Gehrke Jorgenson who is teaching in the Weyewega High school.

Pointers Rout Platteville 20-6 in Homecoming Tilt

A battling bunch of Pointers fought their way to a decisive 20-6 win over Platteville State Teachers college, in a Homecoming game played Saturday afternoon here at Stevens Point.

The Bergmen played by far their best ball of the season in putting the game on ice. The line played excellent defensive ball in wrapping up the win while the hard running of Jim Koehn, Ken Kulick, Tom Curry and John Potter kept the offensive game at fine edge. The expert signal calling of Captain Gordie Parsons also played a big role in the win for Stevens Point.

Win Gives Second Place

By virtue of this win the Central Staters moved into second place in the league standings with a record of two wins and one loss. They wind up their season next Saturday when they travel to Whitewater.

The Pointers scored first in the contest on a sustained drive of 85 yards. Jim Koehn covered the final six yards into paydirt on an end sweep. Ken Kulick kicked the extra point making the score 7-0 in favor of Point.

Early in the third period Ellis Gaulke, CSTC center, intercepted a Platteville pass on the visitors 40 and ran it back to the 20 before he was downed. The Pointers were not to be denied and pounded into paydirt again, John Potter carrying over from the one yard stripe. Kulick again converted making it 14-0 in Point's favor.

Interception Good for 83 Yards

The fourth quarter saw John Potter intercept a pass on his six yard and run 83 yards to Platteville's 11 before he was brought down. The Pointer's Tom Curry swept around right end for CSTC's final score of the afternoon. Kulick missed the attempted conversion leaving Point in the lead 20-0.

In the last five minutes of play Platteville traveled 60 yards via the air route for their only tally leaving Point the victors, 20-6.

The Fifth Quarter

| Conference standings | W | L | T |
|----------------------|---|---|---|
| Milwaukee | 3 | 0 | 0 |
| Stevens Point | 2 | 1 | 0 |
| Platteville | 1 | 2 | 1 |
| Oshkosh | 1 | 2 | 0 |
| Whitewater | 0 | 2 | 1 |

Point's 20-6 victory over Platteville clinched second place for the team in the final conference standings. In another tilt over the weekend Oshkosh defeated Whitewater 7-0 and moved from fifth to fourth place in the conference race. In a non-conference game, Milwaukee was whipped by St. Norberts, 19-7.

It was a much improved team that took the field for Point last Saturday afternoon. The most spectacular play of the game was John Potter's interception of a Platteville pass and then an 83-yard run-back. Potter was mentioned on the Wadham's Stars of the Week program between halves of the Packer-Lion football broadcast Sunday. Potter played for Madison East High School.

Another highlight of the game was Point's strip-tease play at the beginning of the second half. During the first half the Pointers were dressed in loose, white jerseys. Many Platteville fackles came as a result of their getting a single handhold on our loose jerseys. After the half-time intermission, the Pointers came on the field with skin-tight purple tops. When a pass was thrown into the arms of a Point backer-up, Platteville complained about Point wearing jerseys of almost the same color as their own. Coach Berg compromised with the Pioneers and a two-toned CSTC team finished the second half.

Half time entertainment was provided by a small group of musicians from Platteville. They could almost be called a one-piece band because of their selection of songs.

Ted Fritsch, Packer fullback; and a former CSTC star, will be married on December 27 to Miss Patricia Campion of Janesville. It might be of interest to the readers to know that Ted's younger brother, Bob Fritsch, is playing football for CSTC this year. Bob should earn his letter this season.

Mr. Faust Goes West For Summer Excursion

On June 23 last summer, Gilbert W. Faust, of the chemistry department, began what was to be a long and interesting drive to California and Mexico.

This trip took him through the Badlands and Black Hills region in South Dakota, Yellowstone National Park, to Red Lodge, Montana, where he was held up on account of snow in the mountain passes. The highway between Red Lodge and Cook City is at an elevation of 11,900 feet. This was the fifth car after the snow plows, and he drove between drifts 13 to 15 feet high.

Incidentally, Mr. Faust lays claim to being one of the very few people having a movie of the geyser "Old Faithful" taken during a blizzard on the twenty-ninth of June!

From Yellowstone he went to the Teton Mountain range in Wyoming and then to Salt Lake City ("one of the prettiest cities in the West" according to Mr. Faust). After a seemingly endless drive across the desert regions of Utah and Nevada, he arrived in Lone Pine, California, which is situated between Mount Whitney and Death Valley, the points of highest and lowest elevation, respectively, in the United States.

Mr. Faust then went to Los Angeles to visit with relatives, and among other things located the famed corner of Hollywood and Vine, and saw Tom Brennehan's.

Tijuana, Mexico, "a souvenir town with little of the atmosphere of old Mexico," was his next stop.

After a boat trip to the Catalina Islands (to view the flying fish and also the underwater growth from a glass-bottomed boat) he went through "Anahiem, Azusa, and Cucamonga" and headed across the Mojave Desert. Of necessity he travelled across this desert at night as the afternoon temperature was 117 F.

His next stop was the Hoover Dam and from there to the south rim of the Grand Canyon. At Taos, New Mexico, he viewed the five-story adobe community houses of the early Indians. From Colorado Springs, and Denver, he went to Rocky Mountain National Park which has the highest continuous highway in the world (elevation over twelve thousand feet).

Whitewater Game Concludes Season

Stevens Point Teachers will wind up their 1947 football season when they meet the Whitewater State Teachers team on Saturday afternoon at Whitewater.

The Bergmen played by far their best ball of the season at Homecoming last week when they whipped Platteville 20-6. The entire squad looked like a championship outfit in this game. The line played heads up ball and the backs were really running hard. If they put up the same kind of show at Whitewater they should have little trouble in wrapping up the win.

Coach George Berg will undoubtedly start the same team that played the majority of the game against Platteville. John Potter, who played a bang up game last Saturday is also expected to see a lot of action.

Whitewater has yet to win a game in conference play this year. Last Saturday they dropped a league contest to Oshkosh, a team which was whipped earlier in the season by the Pointers. They have played some very close games this year and are not to be underrated. They haven't had the breaks with them and if the breaks go their way they are going to be mighty tough. They, like the rest of the teams in the league, have a veteran aggregation and will not be pushovers.

On the basis of previous records the Pointers are favored, but the fact that it is the last game of the season and on Whitewater's home grounds should turn it into a real affair.

for veterans to expect special privileges not accorded the other students as well."

Flight Training

The second notice concerns those vets taking flight training courses in addition to their regular college work.

"Student veterans taking flight training courses under the G-1 Bill as an elective towards a college degree are exhausting their entitlement to education and training at an accelerated rate," Veterans Administration said.

A new VA ruling, which became effective September 1, specifies that time spent in flight training, apart from a veteran's regular course of study, will be deducted from a veteran's total period of entitlement at the rate of one day for each $2.10 cost of the flight course.

Heretofore, VA paid the cost of flight training along with other normal tuition fees up to a maximum of $500 a year at schools which offered flight training as part of their curricula. No additional time was deducted from a veteran's accrued entitlement period.

In selecting flight training, a veteran now must request acceleration in the use of his available entitlement and the charge must not be more than that regularly charged non-veteran students. The institution must certify to VA that the course is voluntarily elected by the veteran and is a related and useful part of his educational objective.

VA emphasizes that a veteran enrolled in elective flight training now uses the period of eligibility normally covered by his school year and in addition is charged one day of eligibility for each $2.10 VA spends for his flight training."

Training School News

A pop corn party highlighted the completion of a science unit conducted in the first grade by student teacher, Martha Stock. The first graders studied seeds and collected many different kinds, among which was an ear of pop corn. After shelling and popping the corn they invited the second grade to join them in a party at the end of the unit.

An oriental bazaar was the interesting feature in a study of south-eastern Asia made by the fourth grade. The students made their own jewelry, rugs and other representative oriental articles, and brought items which had originally come from the Near East. All of these articles were grouped in an imaginary market place while the children enjoyed taking turns buying and selling.

As a part of the college Homecoming activities the Mary D. Bradford Junior High school held their own pep assembly on Friday, October 24.

A varied program was presented by the students. This included a salute to the flag, the school song, several cheers and a skit entitled "Before the Game."

Doris Ockerlander and Cliff Worden, student teachers, spoke on good sportsmanship. Doris also gave a musical reading "The Usual Way." The program closed with the movie "Touchdown Thrill."

Plans are being made for a Halloween party to be held at the Training school this Friday evening. Among the planned activities will be a costume contest with prizes given for the funniest, the most elaborate and the homeliest costumes. A pupil planned program, a dance, grand march and refreshments are also scheduled.

Glee Club

On Sunday afternoon, a tired but happy audience relaxed in the college auditorium while the Men's Glee club, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, presented their first concert of the year. The last part of the concert was dedicated to Miss Ula Mae Knutson, former Glee club accompanist, to former members of the club and to the victorious CSTC football team. The concert was a fitting climax to the Homecoming celebration.

In general charge of the Homecoming celebration was Merlin Brunner, president of the Student Council, with Charles Bart as Homecoming chairman. Jim Cory was in charge of arrangements for the parade.
