

A panorama of down-trodden humanity is revealed in this finale scene from "Womans Wedding", presented during the recent Phi Sigma Epsilon Style show. The play was characterized by a lack of women and startling diversions from the script.

Students Guest Speakers For Several Civic Clubs

Several civic clubs in the Stevens Point area have had CSTC students on their programs recently as guest speakers. The speakers, chosen by Dr. Harold M. Tolo, have spoken on various current world problems.

Merlin Brunner and Arthur Bruesewitz have appeared before the Business and Professional Women's club and the Kiwanis club where they expressed their views on the Marshall Plan.

General Czarnecki and Peter Muto were guests of the Presbyterian Men's club. Czarnecki gave his views on what he thought should be the U. S. foreign policy to Palestine in order to settle the grave Palestine issue. Mr. Muto related his ideas on how our foreign policy to Korea should be changed to settle the Korean question.

Junior Theater Presents Three Comedies Friday

On Friday evening of this week the Junior Theater, a dramatic organization of the Junior High department of the Training school, will present their ninth annual program of one-act plays. The selections this year consist of three comedies, "Angel Face", "Life of the Party" and "Red Flannels".

The action in "Angel Face" centers around little sister Sue (known as Angel Face) who is aided and abetted in her mischief by Grandpa Summers. In "Life of the Party" there is Wilbur who puts his father's sleeping medicine in the punch instead of putting in carbonated water. Grandpa wears his "Red Flannels" as a badge of courage and "All the bank busts." The plays are directed by college students and produced with the help of College Theater. The program will begin at 8 o'clock and admission is 35 cents.

Social Science Club Re-activated Recently

The Social Science club, inactive for several years, was re-activated during the past week under the old constitution, with Dr. Nels O. Repen as faculty adviser.

The club will have a permanent membership of 12 students who are minoring in Social Science. Before a student is able to be pledged to the organization, he must have taken at least four hours of Social Science courses and must have attained an average scholastic standing of 2.1 in them.

Newly elected officers of the club include Edward Fenelon, president,

That Was No Bird In a Gilded Cage

If you happened to see a harrassed-looking bird, feebly wending his way out of Stevens Point last Friday evening, it is hoped that you didn't take a pot-shot at him. That would have been the last straw! That bird was the stork with a college education who is assigned to carrying babies to lucky students and their wives here at CSTC. He was a busy bird last week and has informed the Pointer office that if the rush of traffic continues it will be necessary to prepare a new landing field with a two-way radio system and a rapid-change diaper service.

Helen Mae Molle
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Molle of Antigo were on the receiving end of the first mission. On Thursday, March 4, a nine pound, seven ounce baby girl named Helen Mae was delivered C. O. D. at the Antigo Memorial Hospital. The whole family, including 14 month old brother Charles, is very happy about the whole thing.

Early Friday morning, March 5, during his first flight in the direction of Percy and Barbara Voight, the stork, left, besides his calling card, a seven pound boy who will be known to the world as Thomas Arthur. Mrs. Voight, the former Barbara Lupient of Marshfield and a former student at CSTC, is confined with the young hopeful as St. Michael's Hospital, Stevens Point. The father is resting comfortably in the chemistry lab at the college.

Doreen Neitzel
On Friday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Neitzel were presented with a nine pound, seven ounce baby girl, named Doreen, at St. Michael's Hospital. She is the first child in the family group.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Poslusny at St. Michael's on Sunday, March 7. Louis, who is athletic coach at Wisconsin Dells high school, is an alumnus of CSTC.

Cigars are in order from them to us and congratulations from us to the proud couples. The stork should come in for his bit of praise and the Student Council is asked to take immediate steps toward enlarging the facilities of the landing field.

Harvin Abrahamson, vice-president and Norbert Koller, secretary-treasurer. For the time being, meetings are being held on Friday afternoons at 3 p. m.

As soon as the constitution can be amended to permit it, the title of the organization will be changed to the International Relations Group. A complete list of members will be published as soon as it is available, as well as more information concerning the prospective activities of the club.

Boost in Activity Fees Occasions Much Comment

A poignant question for argument at CSTC is the prospective raise in student activity fees from $8.00 to $10.00 a semester. Last week the faculty, who also buy activity tickets, voted on the measure, and, although there has been no official announcement as to the effect of the final tabulation, there is no question but that the fees will have to be raised.

In order to get the consensus of opinion of the students, a poll was conducted among them as to whether or not the activity fee should be raised beginning next fall. Here are the gratifying results:

Betty June Maki, in a hurry as usual, stated, "Most of the organizations need more money to function properly. It wouldn't hurt any of them to have a little extra cash."

Harlan Stoltenberg, after some serious deliberation, came up with this conclusion. "I have never realized that the Student Activity Fund helped defray the expenses of so many activities here at CSTC. In that case the activity fees should be raised to meet the growing costs of maintenance."

No Violent Objections
Mary Due was encountered in the library where she said, "I haven't given the idea much thought, but I have no violent objections to raising the fees."

Carl Strassburg was for the raise with certain reservations. He remarked, and somewhat emphatically, (See ACTIVITY FEE, page 4)

Outstanding Musicians At All-day Band Clinic

Sixty band masters and over 360 high school students attended the all-day band clinic in the college auditorium on Saturday, March 6.

Peter J. Michelson, head of the college music department, was director of the clinic. The college band, assisted by outstanding high school music students from Wisconsin Rapids and New London, interpreted the band numbers that the high school bands will play during the spring festivals.

Bandmasters represented high schools from all over the state. Entire high school bands were present from Denmark, Phillips, Wonewoc, Valders, Amherst, Oconto Falls, White Lake, Gresham, New London and Medford.

Sympathy

Faculty and students extend sympathy to Miss Margaret Ritchie, assistant librarian, whose mother died last Sunday at the Ritchie home in Cannon Falls, Minnesota.

Recruitment of High School Seniors Begins

Arrangements have been made by Dr. Raymond E. Gotham for speeches by CSTC faculty members before the senior classes in several Wisconsin high schools, to be followed by a conference with those seniors interested in teaching.

High schools to be visited in the near future include Tomahawk, Neillsville, Marshfield and Portage. Plans are now under way for extending this plan to as many schools as possible.

No specific faculty members have been scheduled to make the addresses. Division heads will do so if they are available on the required date.

Meet at Eau Claire

Dr. Gotham and Raymond M. Rightsell attended the meeting of the Directors of Training and Division Directors held at Eau Claire on March 4 and 5.

Proposals were formulated concerning the training programs which will be submitted to the Teachers College presidents when they meet the latter part of this month.

Projects given consideration were: The in-service training of beginning teachers, selective recruitment of capable high school seniors, the establishment of psycho-educational clinics in the teachers colleges and implementing the state curriculum program through the teachers colleges.

Mr. Walden Speaks

Charles Walden, formerly superintendent of schools at Merrill, now state curriculum coordinator, discussed these matters with the directors.

The directors have scheduled their next meeting at Milwaukee on April 29, prior to the meeting of the Association of Wisconsin Teachers colleges.

Additional surveys are being made which will be reported at this meeting.

Mr. Walden spoke to the college seniors and those juniors taking practice teaching at 3 p. m. Monday in the Training school assembly. He reviewed the development of the state curriculum program of the past five years and briefly described some of the splendid bulletins that have been prepared for use in the schools of the state.

Governor Presents Gold Medal to Mr. Schmeckle

A gold medal, the C. E. Broughton award for outstanding contributions to the field of conservation education, was presented to Fred J. Schmeckle at the Wisconsin division meeting of the Izaak Walton League at Fond du Lac on Saturday evening, March 6.

In a ceremony that was a complete surprise to Mr. Schmeckle, Acting-Governor Oscar A. Rennebohm presented him with the medal. For many years Mr. Schmeckle has been a prominent and tireless worker along these lines and has become recognized throughout the mid-west as an authority in his field.

Last week Mr. Schmeckle assisted in opening a conservation department at the Pleasant Valley State Teachers college, Pleasant Valley, N. D. The department is patterned closely after the one organized and administered by Mr. Schmeckle at CSTC.

The local conservation education department received recognition in the March issue of the N.E.A. Journal.

Pictures to Be Taken for Student Theater Cards

The local Fox and Lyric Theatres are planning a new student identification ticket, for the school year 1948-49, which will be a photo-type card made up by the National School Studios.

A representative of the National School Studios will be at CSTC on Monday, from 1 to 3 p.m., to take the pictures. The charge will be 60 cents for 10 pictures, plus the identification ticket.

Students are advised that while this is a voluntary purchase on their part, this photo ticket will be the only type of identification honored at the theatres next fall.

The local theatres feel that this manner of identification will prevent abuse of the privilege of student rates, which represent a saving of 28 cents.

Published weekly except holidays and examination periods, at Stevens Point by students of the Central Teachers College. Subscription Price $2.00 per year. Entered as second-class matter May 26, 1927, at the post office at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Thumbs Down

The Pointer staff has been beseeched by a number of students to start a gossip column in the paper. It should be made clear, here and now, that no such literary contributions will be published in the Pointer while it is under the present administration.

The students who are associated with the Pointer in an editorial capacity are striving to make it a wholesome, newsy publication that meets the varied interests of the entire faculty and student body. A gossip column is hardly wholesome and on occasion can be downright derogatory. The Pointer staff members are the recipients of enough complaints without having some irate student descend upon them and threaten them with dire consequences for what he believes is maligning his sterling character. A gossip column is the last thing in writing finesse and it is safe to say that no student at CSTC has perfected his ability to the point of writing one.

There are those students who defend such a column by maintaining that college students are broad-minded and sophisticated enough not to mind having rather intimate allusions made in their direction. If these students are so broad-minded and sophisticated it doesn't seem that they should have any interest whatsoever in the affairs of their neighbors. Human nature, no matter what level of people it represents, is still quite vulnerable to caustic broadsides from the pen of a literary giant whose discretion is seriously out-weighted by his momentary valor.

We pride ourselves in not being the perfect patterns from which society is supposed to be cast. In that respect we are perfectly normal human beings. We are more proud of the fact that we may keep our own slight faults and misdemeanors to ourselves and not make our lives an open book.

As far as the Pointer is concerned, it is not interested in the sordid details of the lives of the people it serves and they in turn do not have to worry about the exposing of their private actions, at any time, in the paper.

The Defense Rests

There has been some student interest in the question of whether the management of Hotel Whiting has lifted the ban which it placed on student dances at the hotel about a year ago. President Hansen informs us that there has been some negotiation on this matter with the hotel management, but the difficulty has not been entirely cleared. Following a conference with representatives of the hotel management he outlined his understanding of the acceptable procedure in a letter to the management.

We quote here the pertinent statements in his letter: "I called their (the Deans and fraternity and sorority representatives) attention to the fact that the hotel management does not wish to assume responsibility for checking on the age of the guests on such an occasion, and also to the fact that it would be distasteful and embarrassing, both to chaperones and to the guests, to have chaperones from the college staff in the lounge and bar all evening supervising the kind of drinks ordered by, or served to the guests. So the only procedure left is to expect that those who attend these parties shall not frequent the cocktail lounge or bar during these parties.

"To make this plan more satisfactory the hotel management is willing to operate the fountain in the lobby so that soft drinks can be obtained there throughout the evening. To further assist with the plan chaperones will keep the lobby of the hotel under observation during the evening."

This arrangement, however, was not acceptable to the hotel management as indicated in their letter to President Hansen. They state, "There is only one requirement that the hotel company will insist upon if parties are to be conducted at the hotel, and that is that the college arrange to have at least one chaperone or faculty member around the cocktail lounge and bar room while the dance is in progress for the purpose of identifying college students and ordering them out of the bar room and cocktail lounge if any of them are found in that part of the hotel.

"We do not believe that this is an unreasonable request on the part of the hotel company. We realize that it is a rather distasteful task, but it is likewise just as distasteful for the hotel manager to assume this obligation. By having the college students present in the lobby and dining-room on party evenings, there is much more chance of their getting into the bar room than if parties were not held at the hotel."

That's where the case rests at present. President Hansen indicated his unwillingness, and doubts his right, to ask any faculty member to accept such an assignment as a chaperone. He believes that any student group which accepts the terms stipulated will be likely to conform to the terms without such rigid supervision. The Pan-Hellenic Council preferred not to try to meet these conditions and is planning their Pan-Hell dance in the Training school gym on March 20.

Summer School Program Barrows at Mosinee

A tentative program of studies for summer school will be posted in the record office this week, according to Quincy Doudna, director of the 1948 summer session. Mr. Doudna states that students can see what courses will be offered and whether various combinations desired will conflict, by studying the material to be posted.

Students discovering conflicts, or absence of subjects needed, should see their advisers and then present a request for change to the summer session director. It may be possible to make a few changes during the next few days, before the bulletin is printed.

Allen Barrows, January graduate of the secondary division, has accepted a position teaching English and history at the Mosinee High school.

Mr. Barrows' acceptance of this position marks the placement of all mid-year graduates.

NOTICE

A meeting of all men who plan to go out for football next fall will be held in the Training school gym at 4 p.m. on Monday, March 15. Candidates for the track, tennis and golf teams should also attend.

Hale Quandt, Coach

Celebrating Wisconsin's 100th birthday was the theme for the Tau Gamma Beta pledging party held at the Weldon Leahy home. Shown are the actives in old-fashioned garb and the prospective pledges representing the "women of today."

OVER A COKE

Interesting Observation!

Two college gals were taking a pause that refreshes at the Sugar Bowl the other evening. The place was a beehive of activity, as usual, and the coeds, unable to converse above the juke box chatter, leaned against the counter and watched the goings-on. One of the pair came out of her muse to say, "Human interest—nothing human and less interest!"

An Odd Ode on Biology
Whenever I think of Things that I fear some,
My mind jumps right back
To dear Dr. Pierson.

His classes are funny
Yet on them I frown.
As my breakfast comes up
I shove it back down.

Breadmolds and milk germs
At least I can't see,
But long slimy tapeworms—
Just "do things" to me.

Oh! Beloved baloney
And nice juicy pork!
When I think of what's in you
It just gets my cork!

I'm starving and yet I
Don't dare eat some things,
I guess that is what
An education brings!

John Did It!

A biology class had a test the other day and the time came for the return of the papers. Silence reigned as John Kowaleski walked to receive his proclamation. He took it and said with great expression, "I knew I could do it!"

On a query from an interested classmate as to what he got on the test, John replied with a cynical smirk, "D".

Down and Out
The Pointer sports editor was overheard commenting on a baseball team that was out of the circuit—"They'd sold everything but the owner."

It's Now "Bull"
A discussion ensued at the Campus Cafe one evening as to the pronunciation of Reuben Beilke's last name. Reuben came a little flustered on the first syllable and it came out "Bul-ke." So hereafter, he is no longer Reuben.

Alpha Kappa Rho
Mrs. Ferdinand A. Hirzy, Sr. was the guest of Alpha Kappa Rho last Monday night at the home of Peter J. Michelsen. Mrs. Hirzy spoke to the group on the life of her famous grandmother, Madame Schumann-Heink. She told many interesting experiences which happened during the tours when she accompanied her grandmother as secretary and companion.

After her talk, Mrs. Hirzy was presented with a bouquet of flowers.

Phi Sigma Epsilon
The active pledging season for Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity officially began at noon, March 1. The semester's pledges include George Phillip, Norman Lind, John Kowaleski, Jack Whitley, Harry Hemstock, Wilbur Gierl, Ralph Roberts, Ferd Hirzy and Bob Fritsch.

The Phi Sig pledges are distinguished by their red satin Jaz-bo ties and their smooth, colorless and shell-lacked paddles.

Sigma Tau Delta
Twelve English majors and minors were pledged to Sigma Tau Delta at a short meeting of the honorary English fraternity held March 3 in Studio A.

Those repeating the pledge and promising the weekly literary compositions were: Lenora Arnette, Marjorie Beawer, Althea Boorman, Melvyn Carlson, Willis Foster, Marcia Gunderson, Virginia Hanson, Margarett Hull, Lorraine Levra, Wayne Salter, Elizabeth Stadler and Helen Trewartha.

Alpha Kappa Lambda
At the meeting of March 17, Alpha Kappa Lambda will have as its guest speaker, Doctor R. Burton Sheppard, minister of St. Paul's Methodist church. Reverend Sheppard will talk on the Eleventh Commandment, stressing what man's attitude should be in relation to natural resources.

"The Eleventh Commandment" is not the work of a clergyman. It has come from the pen of a layman, the author being Walter A. Lowdermilk, assistant chief of the U. S. Soils Conservation Service. Written as a result of his travels through most of Alpha Kappa Lambda will have an informal ceremony for new members to be held at this meeting and there will be an election of officers.

George Sappenfield will report on "Conservation Moves Ahead", a 1948 report on progress in conservation education throughout the United States.

Tau Gamma Beta
Tau Gamma Beta sorority held the first of three pledge-period meetings, Tuesday night, March 2, at the home of Mrs. William C. Hansen. Co-hostesses were Kay Breslin and Winnie Church.

A letter from Miss Gladys Van Arsdale, faculty adviser on leave in Germany, revealed a colorful and exciting picture of her life "over there."

After the business meeting, the sound of thuds, screams, gentle commands and the most peculiar singing were indicative of actives and pledges co-mingling. The ceiling fairy raised up on its supports at the noise and excitement and needless to say, when it was time for refreshments, everyone was ready and willing.

Radio Workshop
Wisconsin has made many contributions to the world of music in its 100 years as a state. Norman E. Knutzen, director of the Men's Glee club, will continue the Centennial series with a special program about Wisconsin's music and composers. "Songs and Songsters" is the broadcast to be heard Friday, March 19.

Begorra—but it's a great day for the Irish! Indeed, it 'tis. Well, that's true on the Our College Program, anyway. Yes, Monday, March 15, vocalist John O'Kowaleski will sing a number of songs in keeping with the spirit of St. Patrick's day. His accompanist will be Rosemary Nelson. College news will be given by Maurice Mead.

Our Book Corner, with Elizabeth Allen, will be a program of poetry on Tuesday, March 16. Daryl Fonstad will announce.

The Fifth Quarter

Beloit trimmed River Falls Teachers college 71 to 61 in a game played last Thursday night in the Beloit field house. Thus, they became champions of the State of Wisconsin and are now entitled to advance to the NAIB tournament, held in Kansas City, Mo. Beloit's speed and brilliant passing game were too much for the Falcons, whose main hope in winning was pinned upon Nate Delong. Delong was held to 20 points, 8.5 points below his season's average, by a defensively alert Beloit quintet. They held him scoreless for six minutes.

From this season's records Beloit may go a long way in the NAIB tournament. They have one of the best won-lost ratings in the Middle West with 22 victories against two defeats. The Beloit squad is also rated as third highest in the country in team scoring among small colleges. . . . This team can well be classified as the dark horse of that tournament.

In a game against the strong Olo Soap team of Beaver Dam, the Point Legionnaires were soundly trounced by the score of 71 to 43. Some members of the Legionnaires were Haidvogel, Flugaur, Ludwig and Carpenter. Since the collegiate season is finished, they are free to play on any amateur team they wish, without hurrying their college eligibility for next year.

Wisconsin, rated as a sure second-division team, stumped the experts again this season by finishing in third place, behind Michigan and Iowa. The Badgers led the conference most of the season, but a disastrous road trip shoved them into third place. However, the Badgers had a young squad this year. They will lose only two regulars, Bobby Cook and Ed Mills. With such capable performers as Moore, Mader, Rodgers and Rehfeldt getting much needed experience this year, next year's prospects of a powerhouse team seem bright indeed.

Calvin (Jack) Rasmussen, alumnus of CSTC, is the coach at the Hixton, Wisconsin high school where he has produced a point-making genius in the person of 19 year old Robert Jennings. This strapping youth holds the state scoring record of 50 points for one game.

The Kiwanis club of Stevens Point will sponsor a dinner for the CSTC basketball team, co-champions of the State Teachers college conference, southern division, on Tuesday, March 16, at the Hotel Whiting at 12 o'clock noon.

Familiar Faces

"Big" best describes Bill Golomski, "the face" for this week. He is big in size, big in ambitions, big in ideas, big in CSTC activities (both academic and extra-curricular), big in the drive and force that gets things done and big even as far as appetite goes. In fact, those who know him well claim that his capacity for food is without a doubt, the biggest thing of all about him.

In any event, he has made a big record for himself here and when he graduates this June, CSTC will lose one of its most "school-minded" students. Bill is one of those rare persons who live today, and today, for him, is CSTC. It is his greatest interest. He centers all his social life as well as his scholastic activity around it. His most outstanding accomplishments have probably been in the direction of organizing and publicity, and this he does, he quite frankly says, for the good of the college and the students.

The other pairing saw Continental Clothing take three games from the Phi Sigs.

Strand posted the high individual series, 570, while other high series were rolled by Knope, 525 and Lund, 521.

Knope hit the high single game, 220, while other high singles were hit by Strand, 202, and 197; Lund, 194; Grover, 190.

He has done a great deal to push the various organizations to which he belongs and, working through them, has done much to promote the school, as a whole.

In college theater he has been especially active in organizing and publicity work. He started out acting and ended up on the technical staff, with the promotion angle rather on the side, but gaining in importance and significance until it is now the biggest thing as far as Bill is concerned.

Two years ago, representing the local chapter of Newman club, he was a delegate to a national convention held in Chicago, and there was able to give CSTC another boost. Participating in collegiate debate he has attended several tournaments, again ably representing CSTC. This year for the first time since 1942, Sigma Tau Delta is putting out Flight, the local fraternity publication written by Sigma Tau members and anyone else who will contribute to it. Bill is editor.

In the honorary science fraternity, Sigma Zeta, he has also been very active. His social affiliation is with Chi Delta Rho and there, too, his specialty has been promotion.

Quite active in student government, he was on the Student Council last year, was vice president of Forum, and is now Senior class president. He is also the student representative on the allocations committee. In the music department he more than holds his own in band, orchestra, mixed chorus and Men's Glee club. He was president of the latter last year.

Besides these many and varied "definite" activities, Bill is usually on an independent committee or two around school, further helping the cause along. Much as he is interested in the present and in CSTC, he ventures a glance to the future now and then. He plans on going down to Marquette next year to work on a master's degree in math, and that out of the way, he will probably teach. That is, unless some tempting promotion project presents itself.

Cleanings From other College Newspapers

Exchange students, parties, balls, sports, humor, anecdotes,—they find a place in all the college papers found in the exchange basket in the Pointer office.

Browsing about at this time one might read about the winter carnival at River Falls, the Winter Fun Festival at Whitewater State, the Snow Queen at Gogebic Junior College in Ironwood, Michigan, or about the new members in an honor society at Milwaukee State.

Ripon College Days reports a Venezuelan exchange student who is dazzled by the hurried unchaperoned life in the United States and thinks Wisconsin is wonderful.

Centennial's Theme Incidentally, the Wisconsin Centennial seems to be the theme of many of the state college undertakings—from yearbook themes and cover designs to formals.

Registration is a headache at other places besides CSTC. The Royal Purple at Whitewater says—"a very elaborate schedule was used to take the usual kinks out of registration—but what resulted was: situation normal—all fouled up."

Sports Odds and Ends

At this writing, spring does not seem evident, but perhaps it will appear shortly. As a result, sports have hit a new low and are now locked in the doldrums.

The varsity basketball season has been over for two weeks, though the intra-mural play still continues.

Coach Hale Quandt has issued a call for candidates for spring sports in golf, track and tennis. Spring football practice will take place again this year after a lapse of a number of years.

Beloit, conqueror of Nate Delong and River Falls State Teachers last Thursday, by a score of 71-61, will represent Wisconsin in the NAIB tournament being held in Kansas City this week. What a marathon that is. Thirty-two teams are entered and it will take 31 games to decide the championship.

The Big Ten indoor track meet was held at Champaign, Illinois, last Saturday and several Olympic hopefuls were uncovered. Lloyd Duff, Ohio State, set a new record in the high hurdles and won the broad jump with a leap of 24 feet 4 1/2 inches, less than an inch shy of Jesse Owens' conference record. Chuck Fonville, the Michigan shot putter, once again went better than 56 feet with the iron ball. Bill Porter of Northwestern tied an American record in the 70 yard hurdles to continue as the main threat to the great Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Walace.

With all these indoor track records being set throughout the nation and with the track season being thought about here at Central State, who knows, perhaps there is a future Olympic star right here on our campus.

A Young Man's Fancy

Quoted from the Northern Illinois in De Kalb, Illinois, is the following:

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of fall, as he plans to get the money, wherewith to come to school at all. Serious are his thoughts this season, though the sun is bright above, in the spring a young man's fancy, turns to lucre—not to love."

"Nate Delong, hero of many a basketball crisis, received an incomplete in his mid-term grade basketball coaching. Could it be that he has heard that oft-repeated quiz phrase—NO COACHING—PLEASE," reports the River Falls Student Voice.

It Can Happen Here

Maybe the editor would appreciate knowing why he is unable to recognize the story printed in the paper—according to the Michigan Tech Lads second hand through the Jaycee Journal. The following information is rendered:

"Reporter eagerly accumulates facts and figures; writes them in fairly decent story. Editor critically reads story—uses scissors to clip and arrange.—Printer overlooks arrangement—squeezes in as much as he can and ignores the remainder. Reader wonders who the hell wrote the sport story last week.
"As simple as that!"

Miss Swallow Has Been to Capistrano!

Although seniors and graduate students are well acquainted with her, very few others have occasion to venture into the Training school on CSTC's campus to meet Miss Marie Swallow.

She was born in Birnamwood, Wisconsin. There she grew up, and went to school. She taught in schools in Wisconsin and Oregon, before coming to her position at the Training school.

The endless tasks which constantly come before her as Secretary in the Training school office, and as Placement Secretary, do very little to dampen Miss Swallow's enthusiasm for life—especially life in her Wisconsin.

Wisconsin, Her Favorite
Miss Swallow has traveled throughout eastern and western United States; has gone into Alaska by way of the Inside Passage and its coastal towns. Trips in Canada from Winnipeg east to Quebec, St. Anne north to Churchill, and to Victoria on Vancouver Island have also been included in her itinerary. Of the 23 states and the northern regions she has visited—Wisconsin is her favorite place.

In a biography of her life, "Wisconsin" might easily be a chapter title. One favorite hobby of hers is our state. She has spent a good deal of time and effort to learn much of its history—mostly because she loves Wisconsin and likes to learn about it. A wealth of information about the state is now hers. She is very willing to part with her knowledge in order that others may have the joy and satisfaction to know the same Wisconsin that she knows. Her many talks via radio, and to women's club programs prove that, and have made her known to many persons in the state.

Another of her hobbies of particular note is a collection of old china-ware and glass. In it are many pieces of value and distinction—and most of them are in use. It is a saying of hers that the pieces were meant to be used—not only looked at and admired.

The Business and Professional Women's club knew Miss Swallow as its State Federation President from 1941-1943. She has been a member of the Rebekah Lodge and the Portage County Red Cross. Since most people adopt the adage "when you want something done, ask a busy person to do it" one would imagine that Miss Swallow has had her full share of responsibility in such club work.

She'd Like to Go to England
For the future you'd imagine such a person to have numerous plans. She has. Someday she'd like to (and it's safe to say she will) go to northern England for a visit with her folks there; then go through the rest of the British Isles and the Scandinavian countries. Some other day, she wants to ride into spring when it comes to the Cumberlands and the Shenandoah. (The South is the part of our country which she has still to see—and that would be her favored way to see it.)

Vitality and warmth are in the twinkle in her eye, though sometimes sternness may be written on her face. Under the practical side of her nature seems to be a feeling for poetry—in story, song, and nature. You could talk to her with and about any one of a number of things. Soon you'd find that she had bits of information about your subject you'd never heard of. Her background in Wisconsin history and lore should intrigue you. Don't you wish you knew Miss Marie Swallow?

ORGANIZATIONS

tion will be "The Haunted and the Haunters."

The College Round Table, on its Thursday broadcast, will discuss a present day problem or issue that is sure to interest you. That's Dick Miller and Co. on Thursday, March 18.

"Relaxing, beautiful, entertaining"—those are some of the comments heard about the music and its presentation on the Music Album program heard each Friday. Listen to selections by Respighi on the program of March 19. Frank Kostuck—narrator.

* WAA *

The college bus will leave at 5:30 Saturday morning, March 13, with a group of 25 athletically-minded women. The destination will be La Crosse, the occasion—"Playday," the purpose—fun for everyone!

Women's Athletic associations throughout the state will be represented. The program will consist of sports of all types, including swimming. Representatives from various schools will participate on the same teams and no awards or honors will be given.

* Gamma Delta *

When the Gamma Delta members met after the mid-week Lenten services last Wednesday night, they made plans for a progressive supper to be held March 18. All members will meet at St. Paul's church at 5:45 p.m. and will hike to various homes. Each course of the supper will be served at a different home. All members are urged to make plans to attend. This is the first enterprise of the new officers.

The Gamma Delta state convention will be held in Madison on April 10 and 11. All members should count on attending as transportation will be furnished. All Gamma Delta chapters in the state will be in attendance. A varied program is planned for the two days which should be both entertaining and instructional.

All members are asked to keep both of these affairs in mind and make plans to attend them. Those wishing to attend the progressive supper should sign up on the bulletin board.

Training School Sports

Friday, March 5, the Training M.D.B. team, defeated the Rothschild five. At half-time the score stood 12-1 in favor of M.D.B. The next half proved more exciting, with Rothschild making 10 points and M.D.B., 11. The final score was 23-11. David Ludwig and Jerry Quandt were high for the locals, with 6 points each. Buss of Rothschild made 3 for the losers.

ACTIVITY FEE

ly, "With so many activities being benefitted by the Student Activity Fund, an increase in fees is in order. Of course, more will be expected of the clubs if the increase is made."

Isabelle Stelmahoske stopped pounding a typewriter long enough to say, "As an active member of an organization that depends largely upon the Student Activity Fund for operation, I realize that an increase in activity fees will help organizations to make a better contribution to student life."

The effects of the poll were not all one-sided. There were some objections to the raising of the fees, in fact the objections were quite vehement. Bill Mellin, one of the most active men on the campus, made his stand in the matter quite clear when he said, "I do not believe that the present price of activity fees should be raised. The different departments affected by the Student Activity Fund have not shown enough activity to warrant the rise in price."

Ed Fenelon, who has been known to put up many a good argument, and offered to write an editorial on the matter. He said, "No, the fee should not be raised under the present circumstances. If I can be shown that the activity fee prices, after this present period of inflation is over, can be lowered as easily as they seem to be being increased at the present time, I would be in favor of it."

After interviewing students, who are representative of the various fields of student affairs, the Pointer has come to the conclusion that an increase in activity fees is the only remedy for the unhealthy activity schedule that exists at CSTC today.
