

Seniors with Outstanding Records Placed on Deans' Recognition Roll

For the first time in recent years, Dean Elizabeth M. Pfiffner and Dean Herbert R. Steiner announce an Honor List composed of seniors who have made outstanding records in scholarship as well as student activities.

Allen Barrows, Kathryn Breslin, Merlin Brunner, Betty Ruth Crawford, Esther Davidson, Foster Diley, William Golomski, Virginia Hull, Dolores Jelinek, Mary Juetten, Elizabeth Maki, Doris Ockerlander, Lorraine Peters, Kathryn Peterson, Elizabeth Stadler, Warren Soetbeber and Patricia Thorpe comprise the list of this year's Honor Students.

According to the Deans the following qualifications must be met:

1. Each Honor Student must have completed at least two years of work at CSTC.
2. Each Honor Student must have a relatively high academic average.
3. Each Honor Student must have two years of active participation in student activities. (This may be two years in one field—i.e.—Music or Athletics or one year in two different fields—i. e.—Music and Athletics).

a. These are the activities which are considered: Athletics, Community Service, Dramatics, Forensics, Publications, Music, Office in a religious group, Radio and Student Government.

4. Each Honor Student must exemplify the following character traits: Leadership, Cooperativeness, Reliability and Considerateness.

This recognition is not given until completion of the Junior year.

Junior Theater Plays Prove Great Success

Students of Mary D. Bradford Junior High school brought their dramatic abilities to light Friday evening, March 12, when they presented three plays in the college auditorium.

The Junior High school band, under the direction of Carman Lane, played a few selection preceding the plays.

The first comedy, "Angel Face," was loudly applauded by the audience. The actions of starlet Sue (Shirley Morrissey), supported by an able cast, brought forth peals of laughter from the crowd. This play was directed by Lucille Tosch and Margaret Albrecht.

The second play, "Life of the Party," also a comedy, took the audience to the home of the Maxwells, where Wilbur Maxwell (Bruce Summers), a "rootin'-tootin'" boy terror, just about caused the social downfall of the family. Directors were Ellen Stippich and Donna Alderton.

"Red Flannels," a melodrama, successfully climaxed the evening's entertainment. Grandpa Buxton (John Miller) really did his utmost to "immortalize red flannels." If the audience "saw red" after the play, it was seen with pleasant associations. This play was directed by Margaret Brecht.

This was the ninth annual production of the Junior Theater. Members of the College Theater aided in production and in technical work.

President Hansen Away

President William C. Hansen is attending a meeting of the Wisconsin Teachers Colleges Presidential Council today in Madison.

Among other matters up for discussion will be the approval of the athletic basketball conference for next year.

Jim and Marge Reign At Junior Class Prom

Led by Prom King Jim Buelow and Queen Margaret Roberts, the Junior class will play host to CSTC students at its annual prom on Saturday, April 3.

The dance has been scheduled for 9 to 1 o'clock in the P. J. Jacobs High School gym. The orchestra of Richard Kent will play among other things the theme "Candlelight and Wine."

Tickets at $1.75 per couple (tax included) will be sold in front of the library during the week before the prom.

As yet, arrangements are not complete, but the following Juniors are in charge of committees for the big dance:

Decorations, Jack Judd; band and hall, Jim Buelow; printing, Margaret Roberts; checkroom, Kenneth Watson; chaperones and guests, Mary Noble; publicity, Elaine Becker; ticket sale, Charles Bart; refreshments, Ernest Link; clean-up, Earl Cotter.

Miss Mildred Davis and George R. Berg are faculty advisers.

Pan-Hellenic Dance to Climax Pledging Season

The strange apparitions which have been seen in CSTC's halls this week will cease to be humble pledges on Saturday evening, March 20. In the Training school gym, the four Greek organizations will hold their Pan-Hellenic dance, climax of a hectic pledging period and will welcome their new members to their groups.

The dance will be a semi-formal affair open only to Greeks and their invited guests, beginning at 9 p.m. and closing at 1 a.m. Music will be furnished by the Castillians and, in keeping with the Greek theme, the gym will be decorated with the emblems of each group. Besides the faculty advisers, chaperones will include Mr. and Mrs. Hale Quandt.

Before the dance, the Greeks will hold their initiatory dinners. Omega Mu Chi and Tau Gamma Beta will dine at the Hotel Whiting, Chi Delta Rho at Club 10 and Phi Sigma Epsilon at the Country Spa.

Committees for the dance, under the auspices of the Pan-Hellenic Council, are invitations, Omega Mu Chi; decorations, Tau Gamma Beta; orchestra, Phi Sigma Epsilon; tickets, Chi Delta Rho.

Admission to the dance will be $1.50, tax included.

Sigma Zeta Sponsors Academy of Science

Sigma Zeta is sponsoring the Wisconsin Junior Academy of Science here at CSTC on Saturday, April 3. This year so many young scientists have interesting projects to talk about and to show that there will be morning and afternoon sessions.

From among the young scientists at the district meeting will be selected some who will be invited to present their work at the state wide meeting of the Junior Academy Section of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters which will meet here April 23 and 24.

Awards of honorary annual membership in the national scientists organization, The American Association for the Advancement of Science, will be made to a junior boy and a junior girl. Six awards of honorary annual membership in the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters

Plan Next Year's Social Calendar

The Social Calendar committee has been meeting the past two weeks to make plans for next year's calendar. The activities have increased to such proportions that it is proving very difficult to know what to include on the program and what not.

Sometime in April the committee will call a meeting of representatives of all organizations who were listed on the program this year and any others who desire a calendar date. At that time policies and procedures will be discussed and requests for dates accepted.

All organizations interested in planning dates for events during the year 1948-49 are urged to contact the Social Calendar committee at once. Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner is chairman of the committee.

Here are some dates which may help you:

- Registration—week of September 7 to 9.
- Homecoming—October 16
- Milwaukee Teachers' Convention—November 4, 5, 6
- Thanksgiving—November 25
- Christmas vacation—December 17—January 3
- End of Semester—January 21
- Easter—April 17.

ters will also be made for excellent work presented at the state-wide meeting.

Patricia Thorpe, president of Sigma Zeta, will preside at the Stevens Point District meeting. Prof. L. E. Noland, president, Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters, will welcome the group. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

The following projects will be presented: "The Implications of Nuclear Energy," Ann Kingdon, Chemistry club, Lincoln High school, Wisconsin Rapids; "Plastics, Properties and Uses," Dinon Boyer, Chemistry club, Lincoln High school, Wisconsin Rapids; "Radio Control," Stuart Gallaher, Nature club, Appleton Senior High school, Appleton.

"The Seeing Ear," Carl Stapel, Nature club, Appleton Senior High

Ability at Premium in Honorary Fraternities

Do you have an outstanding ability in some certain field? Then perhaps you will have an opportunity to join one of CSTC's three national honorary fraternities.

Is it science or mathematics you are interested in? Sigma Zeta, honorary science fraternity, was established here in 1929. To be eligible for active membership, a student must have a junior standing, a major in natural science or mathematics, a 2.0 average in science and mathematics as well as in general scholarship and 12 credits of science and mathematics.

The purpose of the society is the recognition of scientific ability and

Twelfth Annual Concert Presented by Glee Club

Last Monday and Tuesday evenings the Central State Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, presented its twelfth annual concert in the college auditorium. An excellent and varied program was presented to the large crowds that were in attendance at both performances.

In addition to the numbers presented by the Glee club, selections were sung by an ensemble from the Wausau High school and directed by Miss Josephine Darrin.

Several numbers were sung by Miss Charlotte Reichel, contralto soloist, and a baritone solo was sung by Lawrence McKinnon. A mixed quartet composed of Charlotte Cook, soprano, Gretchen Holstein, contralto, Paul Zei, tenor and Jack Zei, baritone, with Kenneth Slicker as accompanist and Miss Dorothy Vetter as director, added several numbers to the program. This quartet is from the P. J. Jacobs High school.

Piano offerings included a solo by Robert Karsten and a duet by Mr. Karsten and Grace Peterson. Another instrumental number was presented by a trombone-trumpet quartet which was made up of Robert Brehm, Robert Herman, Douglas Trantow and John Whitney.

The large crowds that attended the concerts are proof of the twelfth successful year of the Men's Glee club at Central State Teachers college.

the encouragement of scientific work. Several activities are sponsored by Sigma Zeta, among them the annual state meeting of the Junior Academy of Science. CSTC's Gilbert W. Faust is a national officer of Sigma Zeta.

Or perhaps you are a budding Hemingway. Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, received its charter in 1930 and has three charter members who are still active, Miss Syble Mason, Miss Mildred Davis and Leland M. Burroughs. Sincerity, truth and design are the watchwords of the organization. Its purpose is to foster original publications, oratory, debate and creative art of all types. Qualifications for active membership are 15 hours of academic English above freshman English and a 2.0 average in English. The main activity is the publishing of Flight, magazine of creative writing by CSTC students.

Or does your talent lie in the field of dramatics? Students are selected for Alpha Psi Omega by virtue of their proficiency in work in College Theater. The fraternity enables students who are proficient in writing, acting or technical work to become affiliated with a national organization. It also serves College Theater in a financial way, reductions in royalty being offered them on productions of certain plays.

Because of Easter vacation, which extends from Wednesday noon, March 24, to Tuesday morning, March 30, there will be no Pointers published on March 25 and April 1. Publication will resume on April 8.

Dr. Tolo to Attend Education Conference

Dr. Harold M. Tolo has been elected by the faculty to attend the National Conference on Higher Education to be held at the Congress Hotel, Chicago, Illinois, on March 22-25.

This conference is being sponsored by the National Education association.

Published weekly except holidays and examination periods, at Stevens Point by students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College. Subscription Price $2.00 per year. Entered as second-class matter May 26, 1927, at the post office at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Verily, I Say Unto You —

Students have waited patiently during the long months of January and February for the annual Easter vacation that is soon to be a reality. It is hoped that those who have planned a heavy, enjoyable schedule during their reprieve from school do not forget the primary purpose for which the Easter vacation is given.

Everyone is expected to observe the significance of Good Friday and Easter Sunday. It is easier to do so in Spring than at any other time of the year. Christ, who died on Calvary and who was sealed in the tomb, was born again on Easter Sunday to live forever in the faith of his disciples. In Spring, life of every kind is born anew. The animal and vegetable kingdoms flourish with new activity and transmit renewed hope to us all.

During this Easter holiday, don't just observe the occasion by joining the fashion parade. Look around you. Everywhere will be evidences of new will, new hope and new light upon a darkened world. You can realize then what His sacrifice means and how it is fulfilled to us a million-fold every year at Easter-time.

Oh, the Old Grey Bus, She Ain't What She Used to Be

For many years the college bus has been a familiar vehicle on the highways of Wisconsin and the Middle-West. With capacity loads of jubilant students of one activity or another, it has toured the byways of the surrounding communities and has become one of the best advertising agencies that the college has at present. Besides, it has been a cheap form of transportation. Students who go on necessary field trips are charged about one-third of the regular fare of a bus chartered from a transportation company. Under the competent supervision of Fred J. Schmeckle, the college's private transportation system has proved to be successful as well as economical.

It is possible that the present fine system of student transportation will go out of existence unless a new college bus is purchased to take the place of the present veteran jitney that has been fighting a losing battle with the roads and the elements all year. Hardly a trip has been made but what the college "klunk" has not developed a chronic case of something or other to the extreme annoyance of all concerned.

We do not do justice to our fine athletes, musicians, choral groups and ambitious students by hauling them around in this present mode of conveyance. Trips that used to be looked forward to as holidays are now considered matters of drudgery by students who are compelled to ride in the bus.

From now on, repair bills, to keep the college bus in running order, are going to eat deeply into the accumulated bus fund. Even with constant repair, the present bus cannot be considered safe enough to carry out its duties. Its age is against it. It has had a short life and a full one.

If there is not a new bus in our future, the present system of student transportation should be abandoned for the safety of all concerned. However, we should dislike to see such a turn of events. By giving up our private bus, it would mean that we would lose a certain amount of independence that sets our college aside and, we believe, above some of the other colleges in our class, whose students have not experienced the thrill of engulfing the highways aboard the mechanical ambassador of their school.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Student Council
Should student organizations be assigned special days for their meetings? Would afternoon meetings better facilitate some of the student groups now meeting in the evening? These were some of the questions uppermost in the minds of class representatives at the Student Council meeting on Wednesday, March 10, at 4 p. m. Anyone interested is invited to attend meetings of the Council.

The long awaited handbook is nearing completion. This supplement to the official catalog will give a picture of the extra-curricular side of college life at CSTC and should be a special aid to freshmen.

WAA

Eight colleges were represented at the St. Patrick's Play Day held at La Crosse State Teachers college, Saturday, March 13.

The CSTC bus pulled out at 5:30 a.m. with 23 WAA's accompanied by Miss Miriam Moser. They arrived in La Crosse at 9:30, as activities for the day began. After changing to gym clothes and registering, they reported to their respective teams a few minutes late, but in time to take part in the first hour's activities.

The morning activities included one hour each of volley-ball, basketball and swimming, six teams taking part in each activity at one time.

At 12:30 a lunch was served in the Training school cafeteria. At 1:30 the group reported again to the physical education building where they "got into the mood" by singing a good old Irish song. After this a skit was presented by each school.

The tumbling act presented by La Crosse had all of the earmarks of a professional performance. The CSTC'ers beamed proudly as Julie Dean, Betty Gilbertson, Yvonne Jacobson and Carol Mews presented a Donald Duck radio program. Mary Connor acted as their announcer.

The activities closed about 4 p.m. with a general assembly, where the number of points scored by each team was announced. The two highest were each presented with a box of Easter eggs.

A busy session of the Iris staff was interrupted late one afternoon in order to get this picture for the Pointer and posterity. A busy season of the year in compiling the college annual, the Iris staff now finds itself in the home stretch and busier than ever.

Iris Staff OK — Despite "Slams" at Pointer

The Iris office, with its spacious desk, comfortable chairs, book cases full of old yearbooks, thick rugs, pictures on the desks, cuts piled high on tables and floor, wastebaskets overflowing and Dr. Nixon's rubbers in the corner reveals the environment of this year's annual. To complete the scene, a note from Beilke would be found on the desk, and notes to Thompson and Rick, in their boxes.

So, the stage is set for a Monday night.

People have accumulated and a babble of voices is heard. This is the conversation:

"I'm hungry . . . don't feel like working any more."

"Well, Mykleby, go see what you can get from the Pointer office. They have all the food. If that doesn't work, there's a bag of popcorn that somebody left here filed under misc. in the drawer to your left."

"Koehn, quit makin' eyes at O'Connor long enough to identify the women's phy ed group!"

"How am I supposed to know all the women—and in gym suits?"

"Oh Wanda! . . . where in the heck is she?"

"She went home, thank goodness, I have to have the first section done by the time she gets her potatoes peeled."

"Well, I want to see her down in the lab when she gets back."

"One half of thirty nine sixteenths reduced to . . ."

"Tell Due to keep quiet, it interferes with my pasting this discussion group. Help me! My hands won't come apart!"

Hurrah for Bill!

"Ha! There are Abb and Gmeiner still hunting for Kasper. She got a wild look in her eye and left to put on her leopard skin. Says she can work better that way."

"Next year we need a locations editor with a fishing license to hook the people we want to see."

"Boy, the faculty is gonna' hate us when they see these shots. Who's all through with history courses? We want yuh to ask Mr. Steiner something."

"Look at Harry grinning at the ruler!"

(And so on for hours.) Then, the staff retires to Campus Cafe for refresh. In the midst of pencils, papers, coffee cups and cigarettes, sits the editor eagerly slashing through the copy with red pencil. Other creative people gather around to criticize freely.

"Would you try to get a little life in whoever is doing the Student Council write up? It sounds dead."

Could Do Worse

"Kasper! You can't put that in the book! And put away that Pointer, we don't want our copy like that."

"Okay, Wanda, put down your (See IRIS STAFF, page 4)

Dormites Preparing For Easter Banquet

Pretty spring formal will be much in evidence when the dormites observe their annual formal Easter banquet on Tuesday, March 23.

Pauline Fitzke, chairman of the decorations, and the rest of her committee, Lucy Chappell, Elaine Becker and Lorraine Leva, have planned a religious theme for the decorations. In addition, spring flowers and candles will help create a spring-like atmosphere.

President and Mrs. William C. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Specht, Dr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Wiewel, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner and daughter Mary and Miss Harriet Wright will be guests at the dinner.

Dolores Jelinek, vice-president of Nelson Hall, has appointed the other committees. In charge of invitations are Margaret Simpson, Marion Erickson, Dolores Lietz and Roberta Henderson; entertainment, Harriet Hennig, Doris Yeager, Lois Putnam and Carolyn Hertel.

NOTICE

Every student who expects to receive either a diploma or a degree at the end of the present semester, June 1948, should come to the Records Office some time this week and make application in writing for his graduation, if this has not already been done.

A. S. Lyness, Registrar

OVER A COKE

It's a gamble
Will wager that there'll be quite a few gals at the Pan-Hell formal waltzing around in Biblical gowns—you know, the "lo and behold" kind. We're becoming modernized!

It's a well known fact that humans become accustomed to disruptions in the course of life, and this seems to prove it. Now, instead, of rushing to the window every time the Central airliner soars overhead, students glance unconsciously at their watches to see if it's on schedule. It won't be long now—

Pledging is in full swing. This is Hell Week as you've no doubt noted when gypsies came sidling around corners to tell your fortune and croon "Golden Earrings" in a sultry voice, (not at all resembling Dietrich—their hair wasn't hanging over their eyes and smelling of cod liver oil)—queer looking creatures came rustling and crackling down the hall,—one couldn't quite tell what was rattling and most were too shy to ask,—fellows looking like Studebakers,—couldn't tell from a distance, with their shirts on backwards, whether they were coming or going,—other fellows carrying such things as lanterns and cowbells,—couldn't imagine if they were going to flag a train or take the cows home—

Forage for the week—
A bright young coed reported she'd just read a good book entitled "Under the Bridge with Dick and Harry." Her only complaint was of a rather weak plot.

She recommended it to an un-imaginative student who indignantly proclaimed it to be nothing more than an "unabridged dictionary." (Ouch!)

Following the director
Norman E. Knutzen deserves the loyalty of the Glee club fellows; but they really overdid it the first night of the Glee Club Concert when they followed Mr. Knutzen off stage before the last number of the first part of the program, leaving Charles Bart to direct a silent symphony.

Coming Musical Events

The Oshkosh Mixed Chorus will present an exchange concert at CSTC on Tuesday, April 6, at 11 a.m.

April 17 marks the date of the Homecoming Band banquet and April 18 the date of the Band concert.

On Thursday, March 18, the CSTC band will play a concert at Oshkosh State Teachers college. This is scheduled for 9 a.m. An afternoon concert in Waupaca is planned for the same day.

The Girls' Glee club will sing in Port Edwards on the evening of April 1. On April 21 they will appear in Nekoosa.

Movie Shown to Freshmen

Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner presented a short movie entitled "Junior Prom" on March 4. This movie was one of the personality series and showed the importance of good etiquette on prom night.

A good representation of freshmen and upperclassmen attended.

The College Bowling League has been thrown into a wide open race for the top spot, with all the teams having a chance for top billing.

The last place Faculty rose up to set the Chi Delts back in a two out of three game series.

The Lyric Theatre took advantage of the defeat of the Chi Delts and took three straight from Hannon-Bach to go into first place.

Brunswick took three games from the Phi Sigs and Continental salvaged two games from the Grover-Nauta team.

Continental Clothing topped the high of the evening, a 2283 series and 825 single game. Lyric Theatre hit a 2259 series and 782 game for second place and the Faculty took third place honors with a 2272 series and 771 singles.

Grover tipped the high series, 560, and Strand rolled the second highest series, 499.

Grover cracked the two highest single games of the evening, 214 and 200. Carlson bowled 199 for second honors and Faust hit 193 for third place.

First Call for Spring Sports

Approximately 50 men greeted Coach Hale Quandt Monday afternoon when he issued a call for candidates for spring sports, including golf, tennis, track, as well as spring football. He stressed the importance of proper knowledge of plays and blocking assignments. Dwelling briefly on the conditioning of football players, the coach outlined the system that CSTC would employ next fall to take the pigskin over the goal line.

Ten men have signed up for tennis and seven men for golf. More men are expected, however. Of the men who signed the ledger for track, there seems to be a satisfactory number out and there also seems to be a

The Fifth Quarter

True assurance of the strength of the college basketball team came out this last week when the all-star team of the Southern Division Teachers colleges was picked. George Flugaur and Tom Curry were placed on that quarter. Bill Ludwig received honorable mention for his fine playing. It is very probable that Joe Haidvogel would have made that team if sickness hadn't affected his playing late in the season. With the same team returning next year, CSTC will be a strong contender for the championship.

Other members of the all-star team included forward Doug Richie and guard Bob Lautenschlager of Oshkosh, and Wainwright, a Platteville guard. Milwaukee placed two members, center Bob Bolz and guard Joe Rahn, on the team. Incidentally, Doug Richie won the individual scoring championship again this year.

Beloit College, picked as pre-tournament favorite at the NIBA tournament at Kansas City, was defeated in the semi-finals by the University of Louisville. The score was 85 to 76. Beloit, led by Ove and Erickson, won their first two games easily, but a second half rally by Louisville put an end to their tournament hopes. The University of Louisville went on to win the tournament. Jim Ove, Beloit forward, was named on the all-tournament team. His selection was due mainly to his 32 point scoring spree in the Louisville game.

The active and sports-minded Kiwanis Club sponsored a dinner in appreciation of CSTC's top ranking basketball team last Tuesday noon at the Hotel Whiting.

Coaches, players and managers who enjoyed the feast were: Coach Quandt, Coach Berg, Coach Specht, Carpenter, Coleman, Curry, Flugaur, Green, Haidvogel, Hartman, Kulick, Leckle, Lorenzen, Ludwig, Lund, Marquardt and Neale.

Heard the eats were good. Thanks for paying tribute to a good ball club, Kiwanis!

Familiar Faces

Behind the exterior of scholastic and extra-curricular achievement of many of our students lies a richly varied background of experience. Although we at CSTC know each other chiefly at face value, we could, upon consideration, discover surprising accomplishments in a number of persons.

One such young man is Merlin 'Mike' Brunner, a senior from Leopolis, Wisconsin. Aside from the fact that he is a math major, is graduating this June, is a member of Chi Delta Rho (at present Sgt. at Arms), president of Student Council, vice-president of the senior class, member of Forum, Sigma Zeta, Radio Round Table and Men's Glee club, we could discover items of interest which are little known to all but a few of his friends.

Upon graduation from Marion High school, Mike spent nine months working in a Seattle defense plant. The climate must have agreed with him—it's a city he liked very much and one to which he expects to pay a return visit.

In World War II, he was a platoon sergeant and a scout in the infantry. Before going overseas, the government sent him to Providence College, Rhode Island. The task of feeding and caring for 1,800 Poles and 1,200 Rumanians at a displaced persons camp in Linz, Austria, came to Brunner while he was still overseas. That feat should speak for itself alone. How many other persons do you know who've 'mayored' towns at his (presumably) young age? After that term was ended, he supervised a camp of 1,600 S. S. prisoners. The only comment Brunner would make upon his Austrian sojourn was that he saw enough Russians there to form an opinion of them.

Perhaps the experiences he had while in the infantry were those which gave him a background for arguments. It's safe to assume that he's always willing to argue 'at the drop of a hat' as he calls it. When Radio Round Table discussions were begun last year, Mike Brunner was among the charter members. Anyone in his social science or speech classes has been aware of his presence. It seems the gentleman has been observed, and a ready word or two for the cause—any cause.

As driver of the college bus on basketball, football, college theater, glee club, band, conservation, geography and just plain trips, Mike has collected news items enough for a "Wayward Bus" story of his own. Other of his spare time occupations are bowling, and intramural basketball and baseball. Mike is a charter member of the Firemen's Band, which, he will inform you, needs no explanation to CSTC'ers.

Last year Brunner was tested for the state Real Estate Salesman's License, and was granted the license. His father is in the business so Mike has had occasion to practice his art. He likes teaching very much, thinks maybe some day he can teach and sell real estate on the side. Sometime in the future he'd like to journey around the U.S. a bit. You're apt to see this Brunner fellow anywhere around the campus—he's a busy person. He may be walking or running to Moxon House (his residence), P. J. Jacobs High school, the Training school, or to classes—but he's always going somewhere.

Radio Workshop

Music the way you like it, presented by a group that you like, is yours for the listening on the Our College program. Yes, Esther Davidson, Frank Kostuck and Carman Lane, collectively known as the We Three Trio, will sing a number of selections on the program Monday, March 22. John Kowaleski is the announcer, Maurice Mead, the college newscaster.

For the grade school listening audience it's the Our Book Corner program on Tuesday, March 23. Elizabeth Allen will tell the story of "Bounce and the Bunnies." Daryl Fonstad is the announcer.

The Radio Workshop Players will "draw the curtain" on another performance Wednesday, March 24. On their usual quarter-hour program at 3:15, the Players will present "The First Date." Sound effects will be handled by Richard Kowaleski.

Because of the Easter vacation the Round Table and Music Album of that week will not be heard. However, the Centennial series will be continued by means of recordings. The broadcast is entitled "Wisconsin Poets" and will be related by Leland M. Burroughs. That's on Friday, March 26.

The first program after Easter will be the Book Corner on Tuesday, March 30. Elizabeth Allen will narrate the story "Something Always Happens." And of course, the Workshop players, Round Table and the Music Album will resume operations during the week. The Music Album, on April 2, will find music by Debussy and Reval, with notes and remarks by Frank Kostuck.

The Our College program on Monday, April 5, will feature Esther Davidson and Mary Juetten, the former the vocalist, the latter her accompanist. Our Book Corner, April 6, will find Elizabeth Allen relating the story of "Toby Chipmunk."

Primary Council

Plans for the coming Primary Council met Monday, March 8, in 24 were discussed and committee reports were made when the Primary Cou ncil met Monday, March 8, in studio A.

Miss Gertie Hanson introduced a very interesting program which included a demonstration of the wire recorder by John Eid and an opportunity to see a rehearsal for "Our Book Corner" by Elizabeth Allen and Daryl Fonstad.

Newman Club

Entertainment at the Newman club meeting last Thursday evening was carried out in the form of an informal program with the use of a wire recorder. Norbert Koller, with the assistance of Joan Winter, interviewed members of the club, including Miss May Roach. Questions of interest to all were asked, enabling members to become better acquainted.

After listening to these and other recordings, Bill Golomski reported on the work of his committee in selecting a play for the Centennial Drama Festival.

Those planning to attend the corporate Communion and breakfast at St. Stephen's Church on Palm Sunday should meet in the church basement at 7:45 a.m.

Gamma Delta

Have you made plans to attend the progressive supper to be held tonight beginning at 5:45? All members will meet at St. Paul's Lutheran church and go to various homes for the different courses of the supper. A social meeting is planned for the last home. If you haven't signed up on the bulletin board, do so now and come along with us at quarter to six.

Don't forget the State Convention in Madison on April 10 and 11. Transportation will be furnished for all members wishing to attend. For an enjoyable two days with fellow Lutheran students, let's go to Madison.

Central State Symphony Concert Set for April 4

On Sunday, April 4, the Central State Symphony, under the direction of Peter J. Michelsen, will present its Centennial concert in the college auditorium at 8 p. m.

The orchestra, which has a membership of 47, has full symphonic instrumentation. It is made up of CSTC students and citizens from Clintonville, Marshfield, New London, Wausau and Wisconsin Rapids. The concert will mark the first appearance of the group under the title Central State Symphony.

The orchestra will play "Phaedre Overture" by J. Massenet and "First Symphony" by Beethoven. The Mixed Chorus and orchestra together will present "Prelude to Eternity (Les Preludes)" by Franz Liszt and "Festival Prelude" from the "Mastersingers of Nuremberg" by Richard Wagner. "A Perfect Day" by Carrie Jacobs Bond will be sung by the mixed chorus.

The orchestra will continue with "Freischutz Overture" by C. M. Weber and conclude with "American Salute" based on "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" by Morton Gould.

Table Tennis Tournament

Nine men completed a close and active singles table tennis tournament Monday afternoon. The tournament, conducted during the past weeks, was run off by individual matches, the winner of three out of five games winning the particular match.

Eight matches were played. Bill Bart led the field with 24 games won, only 3 lost and 8 victorious matches. John Gurholt took second place with 6 matches won and 2 lost; Wayne Preston and Clarence Ruder tied for third with 4 and 4; John Gunsberg and Louis Jacoboski were also tied at 4 and 3 and were waiting for a postponed play off. Horace Coleman and LaVern Rick both lost 6 and won 2 matches; Don Yahr stole the cellar spot with 6 losses.

Tuesday, a doubles tournament began. It will continue through April 25. Participants are Bart and Preston, Carpenter and Jacoboski, Coleman and Dalnodar, Rick and Schrank, Hiehl and Rued, and Gunsberg and Ruder.

IRIS STAFF

cigarette and we'll write another dedication . . . the rest of the book we won't worry about."

In all fairness to the staff, it must be understood that the above humorous conversation is indicative of the fun they've had, not only in the office, but in chasing people, going over to the "residence of Wanda Counsell", and looking at the pictures. This brings up the photographers—what could they have done without them?

The staff has had a lot of fun, a lot of work, and has decided to have a big party when the book comes out.

The philosophy of fun which characterizes their weekly meetings will undoubtedly permeate this year's Iris.

CSTC to Be Host for Forensic Tournament

During the next few weeks, high schools all over Wisconsin, will have their annual forensic contests. Interest in public speaking and declamation seems to be greater this year than ever before.

The annual district high school forensic tournament will be held at CSTC on Friday, April 2. Approximately 36 schools are expected to be represented. Students will participate in humorous and non-humorous declamations, extemporaneous speaking and reading, original and non-original oratory and in four-minute speeches.

The tournament will commence with a business meeting in the mornings. This will be followed by a 12:30 o'clock luncheon at Nelson Hall for coaches, contestants and guests. After lunch there will be contests running simultaneously in the auditorium and the rural assembly.

District manager for the tourney will be Supt. N. P. Cupery of Medford, who will also select the judges.

Leland M. Burroughs, head of the speech department at CSTC, will be in charge of local arrangements.
