Men's Glee Club Presents Usual Excellent Concert

Before a large and appreciative audience, the Men's Glee club of 65 voices, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, presented their thirteenth annual winter concert in the auditorium on Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week. The concert was an excellent presentation, a condition that has become an old story with this veteran group.

To open the program, the entire Glee club sang a group of five selections including "The Purple and the Gold," "Pray-Perival," "It's a Grand Night for Singing," Rodgers; "From the Land of the Sky Blue Waters," Cadman; "Prayer," Polish melody arranged by Malin and "Exaltation," by Gibb, assisted by Edward J. Plank at the Hammond electric organ.

McKinnon Shows Promise

Larry McKinnon, baritone, carried on the program by singing two favorite Negro airs, "Jonah and the Whale," MacKimsey and "Ole Man River," Jerome Kern. Besides possessing a voice of fine timbre and tonal quality, Mr. McKinnon is most expressive in his interpretations. He has made great progress in his solo renditions and shows great promise.

Edward J. Plank, local pianist, who is an alumnus of the Men's Glee club and who is staff organist of the First Baptist church in Stevens Point, presented two organ solos on the new Hammond organ. His interpretations of Schubert's "Serenade" and "The Lost Chord" by Sir Arthur Sullivan, proved that his ability as an organist is on par with his ability as a pianist.

The touring group of the Men's Glee club presented the next section of songs including "Panis Angel-

Training School Has Own Radio Program

The Training school has charge of a 15 minute radio program broadcast over Radio Station WLBL every Saturday afternoon at 2:15 p. m.

The program is composed of music and story-telling. Miss Helen Heel, supervisor of music at the Training school, is in charge of the music and she is providing opportunities for student teachers of music to gain experience in this phase of the work.

The story-telling is also done by student teachers, particularly those at the primary and intermediate level. In addition, certain students, not in teacher training, with special abilities have availed themselves of this experience.

Dr. Gotham to Attend St. Louis Teachers' Meet

Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, of the Training school, will attend the meeting of the National Institutional Teacher Placement association which will be held at St. Louis, Missouri, on February 26 and 27.

Dr. Gotham will also attend the conference of the Association of Student Teaching held concurrently with the above meeting. This association is initiating a state unit in Wisconsin and Dr. Gotham is chairman of the executive committee for the establishment of this unit.

The conference of the American Association of School Administrators will meet February 28, and March 1 and 2. Dr. Gotham will be in attendance at this meeting which immediately follows the previous two.

Silver Collection Taken

During the intermission a silver offering was received from the audience by members of Tau Gamma Beta and Omega Mu Chi sororities in behalf of the Glee club. The sorority members also ushered at the concert.

The intermission was followed by two tenor solos "Because," D'Hardelot and "Marianina," an Italian folk

Sororities and Fraternities Start Pledging Activities

Rushing Parties Held This Week

As foreigners used to say of the ancient Hellenes, "The Greeks are at it again."

This week will see the beginning of second semester pledging activities among the two social sororities and the two social fraternities on the campus. For the information of newcomers to these parts, the names of these organizations are Omega Mu Chi and Tau Gamma Beta for the lady "Greeks," and Chi Delta Rho and Phi Sigma Epsilon for the men.

Each semester, the sororities and fraternities have pledging seasons that run concurrently for three weeks. The pre-pledging season begins with a rushing party by each Greek organization, followed by a pledge dinner at which time prospective members are officially accepted as candidates for the pledging season which follows immediately.

The criteria for accepting candidates for membership differs according to the standards of the individual organization. Without exception however, high scholastic standings are of prime importance.

The three weeks of pledging, (which will start on Tuesday, March 1, this semester), is looked upon with a variety of interest — depending on where you're sitting, if you're able to sit. The actives become natural-born tyrants, insufferable snobs, exacting task-masters, and other equally obnoxious forms of human endurance. The once-proud pledges are perfect pictures of humility and abjectness as they try to please and pacify their fraternity betters whose heart-beats are microscopic in comparison to the cardiac palpitations of Silas Marner.

New Twists Added to Old

During the pledging season, each Greek organization has certain rites and observances for its pledges that have become traditional. Also, each year, new "twists" are added to the pledging schedule to relieve the monotony — for the actives, that is.

Mardi Gras Date Set — Then Re-Set

The date for the Mardi Gras production which has been vacillating between February 28 and March 1 has been changed again and for the last time, it is hoped. The new time is Monday evening, March 7.

The changes came as a result of conflicts with a revised basketball schedule. The Point-Oshkosh basketball game will be played on February 28. On Tuesday, the State Teachers College conference victor will face Beloit here for the state championship.

These and other outcroppings forced the postponement of the Mardi Gras. The delay will enable performers to polish their techniques, so turn out in a big way for an evening of entertainment. Remember the date, March 7.

Junior High Theater to Present Four One-Act Plays Friday Night

Mark Friday, February 25, on your calendar as the date to attend the four one-act plays to be given by the Junior Theater of Mary D. Bradford Junior High school in the college auditorium.

The program will include selections by the Junior High school orchestra directed by Miss Helen Heel; announcements by Bill Jablonski; a comedy, "The Pampered Darling,"

CSTC's "Ambassadors of Good Will" Entertain over 4,000 Students

The touring group of the Men's Glee club sang for more than 4,000 students in five high school assemblies on February 15 and 16. According to Norman E. Knutzen, director of the club, this is a record audience for school programs.

On Tuesday, the club traveled to Wausau where the men gave three concerts. In the morning they sang in the Central school auditorium filled with Junior High school students. Then they went over to the Senior High building where the auditorium is not large enough to handle all the students at once, so two assemblies were held. The response was splendid and performers and audience alike had a good time.

The next morning found the Glee club singing to the Tomah High school students in their beautiful, modern building and that afternoon stopping at Sparta High to give another concert. The audiences were remarkably enthusiastic, especially at Sparta, where many encores were demanded.

The Men's Glee club is one of the most prominent organizations on the campus and certainly is one of the most popular touring groups in the state. As an advertising medium, they richly merit the title "Ambassadors of Good Will."

A special notice to those in Mardi Gras skirts: Final rehearsals will be held on Saturday and Sunday, February 26 and 27. For additional information and scheduling, see John Zylka.

Officers of the Junior Theater Radio club are president, Bill Jablonski; vice-president, Bill Slavik; treasurer, Norbert Winarski; secretary, Pat Scribner. Other members are Lon Doudna, Karen Mortenson, Jean Eagleburger, Arlene Golomski and Ellis Eskritt.

The plays will begin at 7:30 p. m. Admission will be 35¢, tax included.

Assembly Program Series Continuing on March 3 With Renard-Lucas Team

The assembly program series will be continued at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, March 3, when Doraine Renard and Ellis Lucas will present their unique "Costumed Cameos of Famous Musicals."

These young singers have amassed a repertoire of colorfully costumed duets. Their program will be based on four famous musicals: "The Chocolate Soldier," by Strauss; "Showboat," by Kern; "The Student Prince," by Romberg; and "Annie Get Your Gun," by Berlin.

Their presentation has won them a succession of engagements in leading theaters throughout the country. They recently appeared at Town Hall in New York and have been active in the veteran's hospitals entertainment programs.

Remember the date, March 3, at 8:15 p. m.! Admission will be by activity ticket.

Miss Colman Slips on Ice; Fractures Wrist

Miss Susan Colman, head of the primary division at CSTC, suffered a fractured left wrist when she slipped and fell on the ice near her home last Saturday afternoon. She is the second faculty member to break her arm this year, as Miss May Roach fractured her left elbow in a fall early in December.

Miss Colman is recuperating at home and will return to her college duties as soon as she can signal a left-hand turn from her automobile.

Pointers Are Victims of 74-55 Drubbing by Milwaukee Gulls

The Pointers lost their first home game of the current season Friday night as they were outplayed and outscored 74 to 55 by a tall, sharp-shooting Milwaukee quintet on the floor of the P. J. Jacobs High school gym.

The Green Gulls from Milwaukee led in all but the opening minutes of the game and chalked up 28 field goals and 18 gift shots to compile the biggest score of the season on the high school floor in their lopsided victory.

After the end of the first stanza, with Milwaukee on the long end of a 33-19 count, and the first few minutes of the second half, the outcome was fairly evident; the Green Gulls were not to be denied. The Pointers did come alive long enough at one time to close the gap to 15 points but the green-shirted Gulls were just too hot to catch. They compiled a torrid 363 shooting average from the floor and made good on 18 of 29 attempts from the foul line. The Pointers were definitely off in both departments.

Milwaukee's Bob Bolz led all scorers with 21 points on seven baskets and seven free throws. Jim Gunderson added 14 and Ken Lemmer 13 points to the huge Green Gull total. Curry and Ludwig led the CSTC scoring with 13 and 17 points, respectively.

The officials probably were aware of the tension that exists when the Pointers and Gulls get together, as the game was very closely officiated. The officials called technical fouls on three Milwaukee players.

Three Games Remain on Pointer 1948-49 Basketball Schedule

Three conference games remain on the schedule for the Pointers in the 1948-49 basketball campaign. Two of the remaining three games dates have been changed to avoid conflict with the playoff game between Beloit and the winner of the Teacher's conference. On March 1, Beloit will play either River Falls or La Crosse to determine who will represent Wisconsin in the national tournament for small colleges. This all-important game will be played at either Wisconsin Rapids or Stevens Point, and to avoid conflict, the Point-Oshkosh game which was also scheduled for March 1 has been changed to February 28.

The game with Stout, which was previously postponed until February 23, has again been postponed until March 5. The outcome of the Stout-Point game will have no bearing on who wins the State Teacher's conference and so has been postponed until after the play-off. The other game for the Pointers is with the Whitewater Quakers at Whitewater on February 26.

Whitewater on Saturday

Saturday night's game with Whitewater should provide an opportunity for the Pointers to follow the example set by Milwaukee at Point Friday night when the Green Gulls broke their away-from-home losing jinx by beating the Pointers. Last place Whitewater looks as if they could be the ideal team for the Pointers to give them their first conference win on the road so far this season. To date, the Quakers have won only two games while losing nine. They have scored 556 points to their opponents' 618. The Pointers so far have won four and dropped five. They have scored only 484 points but have allowed their opposition to score only 509.

Play Titans

The following Monday night, the Oshkosh Titans invade Pointland in what should be a "natural" if statistics mean anything. The two teams are currently tied for the sixth spot. The Titans have scored 595 points so far while holding their opposition to an equal number of points. In a game at Oshkosh earlier this season, the Titans defeated the local team.

So from all indications, the Point-Oshkosh game should be a must on all CSTCers list for coming events. This will be the last game of the season for the Quakmten.

The Grover-Nauta team is now eight games out ahead of the pack in the College Bowling league and is increasing it every week. At the rate they are bowling, it's going to be very hard for any team to overtake them.

The first place five tipped the high series in last week's bowling, 2531, with second place going to Nigbor Furs, 2518, and third place to Recreation Alleys, 2474.

Nigbors rolled the high single game, 879, followed closely by Grover-Nauta, 877, and Hannon-Bach, 867.

Ley bowled the high individual series of the evening, hitting for a 566 series. He was followed by Reed, 548; Minton, 534; W. Christian, 523; Carlson, 523; Wege, 516; Heinz, 515; Chick, 510; Springer, 507; Alderton, 505; and Reis, 502.

Formella cracked out a 210 single game to lead in that department. Other 200 games were hit by Alderton, 209; Carlson, 207; Ley, 206; Reed, 201; and Minton, 200.

The Fifth QUARTER

Here is some good basketball news for Pointland fans. The play-off game between the winner of the State Teacher's conference and Beloit college to determine who will represent Wisconsin in the national tournament for small colleges will be played either in P. J. Jacobs gym here in Point or at Baker Field House in Wisconsin Rapids. This will be the only chance for fans from this area to see their representative play before tourney time.

Mathematically, La Crosse still has a chance to share the title with Nate De Long and River Falls who, by virtue of their 86-39 win over Superior last Saturday, are sure of at least a share of the State Teacher's title. In order for La Crosse to share the title, they must down Stout Institute and then beat the high riding River Falls team. This would only give La Crosse a tie with the Falcons, which would mean that they would have to defeat River Falls in a play-off match before tangling with Beloit.

The Racquet, La Crosse college paper, carried this headline on the sport page last week, "La Crosse vs. Falcons for Crown February 26." It is actually a bit optimistic, for the La Crosse Indians must not only beat River Falls, but they must also win over Stout. Winning over Stout will in itself be no easy task, for the high riding Stout team has been more than holding its own in the last few weeks. After starting the season rather slowly, the Stout Blue Devils have come back to hand River Falls, Eau Claire and Platteville losses. Therefore, in order for La Crosse to win the Teacher's title, they must beat Stout, River Falls and then turn around and win over River Falls again.

In the Racquet, they went on to say, "What may well be regarded as the game of the year will be played at La Crosse Fieldhouse... when the Indians play host to the River Falls Falcons for the Teacher's college championship." Well, maybe, but we will string along with River Falls. Beating River Falls twice and Stout once seems like a mighty BIG assignment. We look to see River Falls and Beloit fight it out to determine Wisconsin's representative.

Getting closer to home, Stevens Point High school almost upset all pre-game dope Saturday night, when they romped over Wisconsin Rapids during the first half of the game. But, as was predicted, the Rapids in true championship style came back to humble the Panthers, 49-43.

Collegiates Add Two Games To Impressive Victory List

The CSTC Collegiates, under the guidance of Coach Ray Specht, added two more victories to their list of wins last week by handing the Wausau Legion team a 57-45 drubbing and then turning back Church's Drugs of Wisconsin Rapids by a 45-35 count.

In the tilt at Wausau on Thursday night, a nip and tuck game was played for three quarters before the Collegiates let loose to outscore their rivals 18 to 8 in the final stanza. Jim Christenson led the Pointers with 12 points. Becker and Menzel followed with 10 and eight points respectively. Schultz was high for the losers with 11 points.

In the preliminary to the Point-Milwaukee clash, the Collegiates easily turned back a team sponsored by Church's Drugs of Wisconsin Rapids in a 45-35 game. The Point team led 19-11 at the half and had increased the score to 33-21 by the end of the third period. In the final stanza, the Rapids team came back but was unable to overcome the Point lead. Bruce Menzel led the locals with 11 points and Koss of Rapids accounted for 12 of the losers' points.

According to Coach Specht, one game remains on the schedule for the Collegiates when they play the preliminary to the Point-Oshkosh game on February 28. Because of the change in date of the Point-Oshkosh game, it is not certain who will furnish the opposition for the Collegiate game.

Meetings will be held during the day on Saturday. The girls will also attend a dance Friday night sponsored by the Whitewater chapter of Chi Delta Rho, and a tea which is to be held on Saturday afternoon. They plan to stay in Whitewater to attend the Whitewater-Point game on Saturday night.

WAA

Four WAA basketball teams and their captains were chosen at a meeting of WAA on Wednesday, February 16.

Altenberg's team won the first game played from Mehne's team, while Neerhof's team beat Mew's six in the second game.

At the business meeting between games it was decided that the teams would sell candy and other foods one day each week. Teams 3 and 4 sold on Tuesday of this week.

Radio Workshop

The Radio Workshop Players will present the entertaining and dramatic radio play "The Necklace" at 3:15 this afternoon over WLBL. The play was written by Guy de Maupassant.

A group of solos will be presented for listeners on Monday, February 21, when Gretchen Holstein will be a guest artist on the "Our College" program. Wally Voigt is the announcer and Ed Pliska will comment on the latest college news and happenings.

A story for the children will be narrated by Marne Guth on Tuesday. Daryl Fonstad will announce the program and introduce Marne with the exciting story "Nippei, the Little Bull Pup."

Students who wish to express their views on the controversial issues of the day are invited to participate in the "College Round Table," a weekly broadcast heard each Wednesday. George Gynn is the moderator.

Phi Sigma Epsilon

The first rushing party of Phi Sigma Epsilon was held Sunday evening, February 20 at the Belmont Cafe. After the rushees and the actives properly introduced themselves they played cards. Following the evening's entertainment a lunch was served.

As a climax to the evening's program Francis Bremmer, Neenah, National Expansion Director of Phi Sigma Epsilon, gave a talk on the history of fraternities in the U. S. and here at Central State. Mr. Bremmer, an alumnus of CSTC, was a member of the Phi Sigs while he was here.

Omega Mu Chi

The Omega Mu Chi dinner preceding the Inter-sorority dance was held at the Sunrise on Saturday, February 19, at six o'clock in the evening. Sorority members, their dates and guests were present.

The decorative scheme "Dancing in the Dark," was carried out with blue tapers, blue place cards and gold stars as table decorations. Carnations were given to the guests as favors.

—Colorado Dodo

We're sorry, John— John Steeves reprimanded us the other day for neglecting to announce the arrival of his second daughter, Colette. The little lady must be all of two months old by now.

To a quick mending Miss Susan Colman slipped and fell on the ice near her home shortly after noon on Saturday. The results were a fractured left wrist for Miss Colman and a missing guest speaker for the Omegas.

Sound effects impromptu— Gilbert W. Faust, who was one of the guest speakers at the Tau Gam dinner last Saturday, sought to outdo his colleagues by arranging with the kitchen help at the Spa for appropriate background. However, he claims he knew nothing about the scream that issued forth from the bar room as he spoke of his quiet day at home and the "where" from the kitchen as he mentioned that he'd been painting cabinets. Call it coincidence if you will!

Heard many favorable comments about the Inter-sorority dance last week end. Let's have more of them — dances and comments!

Merv and Irene Masten, proprietors of the College Eat Shop, should have been added to the special guest list for the dance. They came down to see how their "kids" looked and danced a few rounds themselves.

To conclude—a loving thought—"Oh, dear, I missed you so much," she said as she raised the revolver and fired again.

P. S. No engagements this week that we know of!

the pledging season as a mark of distinction. The ribbons also serve as backgrounds for rows of buttons which are acquired one-by-one as the "Muds" make infractions of the lengthy list of pledging rules.

The Omegas use safety pins instead of buttons for their badges of dishonor and by the time pledging season is over, all of the pledges manage to look like fugitives from a nursery.

Skull-caps and Paddles

All this time the fraternities have not been sleeping. Take for instance the "meat-axe" boys or Chi Delta Rho pledges. For three weeks they must carry a replica of the fraternity paddle which is shaped like a feudal war club or meat-axe and is painted blue and white in an intricate design. The pledge paints his own paddle and spends a good share of his waking hours trying to keep a Phi Sig pledge from swiping it. The Chi Delt pledge is further recognized by his "monkey" skull-cap, his burlap underwear and the cow-bell and red lantern which he has as constant companions during the galling days of Hell-week.

The "canoe-paddlers" or Phi Sig neophytes also get their name from the official paddles which they carry night and day. The paddle is long and slender with a glossy smoothness. Like the Chi Delt paddle, it has the built-in accommodation of being non-air resistant. As you can readily surmise, the paddles are not entirely used for show.

The Phi Sig pledges are given to wearing white painter's caps and flashing red jazzo-ties. They seem to have a zealous interest in copying epitaphs from the tombstones in the local cemeteries in the dead of night. They can also be found standing on the street corners in downtown Stevens Point fishing from tin pails.

"Hell-Night" Ends Season

Pledging season terminates in the bang-up climax of "hell-night" compensated for by the formal initiations, dinners and the Pan-Hell dance that occur on the night following. For the benefit of those who are about to make the "supreme sacrifice" and become pledges, any active will tell you what a grand and glorious feeling it is to attend this last evening of the pledging season, and be a free man or woman once more.

But, just to make prospective pledges a little serious minded at this point, may it be said that what Sherman said about war can be as readily applied to pledging.
