1949 Homecoming Plans Well On Their Way to Completion

Plans are now being completed for that big event of the school year, the 1949 CSTC Homecoming weekend on October 28-30. According to John Kowaleski, president of the Student Council, this year's celebration will be bigger and better than ever.

Election of the Homecoming Queen will be held on Thursday, October 27. Nomination papers are now available in the main office. The actual fun will start on Friday afternoon, October 28, which by tradition is designated as Hobo Day. At this time all students and faculty members, attired in the latest fashions of "hobo jungle," will be rescued from classes to parade through the halls to the auditorium for the giant pep assembly, featuring the coronation of the Queen and the selection of the Hobo King by the audience.

Bonfire Rally

The big events of the evening gaiety will begin with the bonfire rally. In the light of a huge bonfire, gathered by the Freshman class and touched off by the Queen, students, faculty, and alumni will exhaust their energy in "cheering the team on to win the big victory the next afternoon." The bonfire rally will be larger than it has ever been, lasting all through the early evening until about 8:30 o'clock, when the Student Council will sponsor a juke-box dance in the Training school gym.

Student Directory Being Compiled Now

The 1949-50 Student Directory is being compiled by the main office and should be off the presses in two or three weeks. The directory will list the name, class, home town, local address and telephone number of all CSTC students, as well as the names and addresses of the administrative, teaching and maintenance staffs.

Driver Education Added to CSTC Curriculum; Specht Is Instructor

A new course, Education 209, Driver Training, has been added to the curriculum of CSTC this fall. CSTC is the first state teachers college to start such a course, although Stout Institute offers a similar one to its students.

The Education 209 class is taught by Raymond E. Specht every Monday evening from 7 until 9 o'clock. It is a regular two credit course and is limited to 24 students, most of whom are Seniors.

In connection with Education 209, another course, Education 85, has been newly formed. This class is open to all students wishing to learn how to drive a car and carries no credit. It meets at the same time as Education 209 and is designed as a training class for those students. Both of these classes are overcrowded, but the course will be run again next semester.

New Plymouth Used

A driver's training car, a new Plymouth, will soon be put into operation by the college. It will be used for the two courses under the supervision of Mr. Specht. The state Motor Vehicle department and the American Automobile association have given extensive aid and information in forming these new classes, donating such things as traffic boards, standardized tests and brake and clutch indicators to the school. The standardized test is given to all students prior to the first class so that they may be classified according to ability and knowledge.

There will be a business meeting of the CSTC Alumni association Saturday noon, October 29. The meeting will be followed by an alumni luncheon at Nelson Hall. Specific details will be published in a later Pointer.

A new note in the Homecoming this year is the elimination of the snake dance. Following the popular trend in other colleges and universities of eliminating all destructive parts of a Homecoming celebration, the Student Council has voted out the snake dance, which in the past few years has tended to get out of hand and not do any credit to the celebration.

Saturday morning, October 29, the parade will form along the east side of the school and proceed through town. Invitations have been sent to all organizations on the campus to enter a float in the parade, and prizes will be awarded. If anyone is interested in using a horse and buggy rig or a wagon for a float, he should contact one of the Student Council members.

Pointers vs. Oshkosh

Of course, it is unnecessary to mention the game, the Pointers versus Oshkosh at Goerke Field at 2 o'clock. Always the height of the Homecoming festivities, the game will be even more interesting this year with CSTC stamped as a definite title contender.

Homecoming dinners will be held on Saturday evening by the Omega Mu Chi and Tau Gamma Beta sororities. Then, later in the evening, is the Homecoming Dance in the P. J. Jacobs High School gym, sponsored by the S Club.

The grand finale to the gala weekend will be a concert by the Men's Glee club, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, in the auditorium at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

Well Qualified

Mr. Specht recently finished courses in driver education at the Motor Vehicle department in Madison as well as those offered by the University of Wisconsin Extension division and Stout Institute. Three years on the Wisconsin Rapids police force, when he was teaching there, have also helped Mr. Specht to more than qualify for the job of teaching driver education.

The Education 209 course has received wide acclaim in the state newspapers as something new in the field of teaching but something that is destined to be taught in every school in years to come.

Conference in Wausau

Discussion of the new "Curriculum Bulletin" for kindergarten and first grade levels will be the subject of a conference in Wausau on Tuesday, October 18. Miss Elsie Grime, Mrs. Mary Samter, Miss Susan Colman and Dr. Raymond E. Gotham will attend the meeting.

Central Wisconsin Teachers at Convention in Wausau Tomorrow

State Teachers Hold Three Madison Meets

Three meetings of the administrative staff of the state teachers colleges were held in Madison last Tuesday and Wednesday, October 4 and 5. President William C. Hansen attended a meeting of the college presidents on Tuesday afternoon. A meeting of the Board of Regents on Tuesday evening and Wednesday was attended by President Hansen and Regent Wilson S. Delzell.

President Hansen and Dr. Edgar F. Pierson attended a meeting of the salary committee, of which they are members, on Wednesday afternoon. This committee is composed of two presidents, two regents and two faculty members of the teachers colleges.

The topic of discussion at the salary committee meeting was a question of whether the student activity funds of the various colleges should continue to be administered locally or should be transferred to the state treasury. A complaint against the present system was made by the state auditor, because of irregularities found in the operations of the state university athletic fund.

Classes to Be Suspended For Day

"Education for Personal Living" will be the theme of the thirty-seventh annual convention of the Central Wisconsin Teachers association to be held tomorrow at the Central school auditorium in Wausau. The convention has been dedicated to the memory of Ira C. Painter, who was secretary-treasurer of the association from 1916 until the time of his death this last year.

Third Annual Visiting Day Conference Oct. 28

On Friday, October 28, the third annual visiting day conference for recent CSTC graduates in the teaching field will be held here. All the graduates of the past year have been invited to return to the campus for a conference with the Training school and college staff.

The purpose of such a conference is twofold. First, new teachers can indicate in which fields their academic and professional training was adequate and, likewise, where their preparation was lacking. Second, new teachers can bring back problems they have encountered and ask for advice and suggestions about them. Each school superintendent will be asked to release the teacher for that day.

CSTC Again Offering Extension Program

This year CSTC is again offering its college extension program to the surrounding communities. Twenty of the college instructors hold classes, one night a week in 14 towns. These classes include many varied subjects such as Introduction to Philosophy, Survey on Conservation, or History of Recent World Politics. These night classes, mostly three credit courses, extend over a period of 17 weeks and are held for two and a half hours each week. The credits earned are transferable and can be applied toward a degree.

The CSTC extension service is believed to be the largest of its kind in the state, both in area covered and in enrollment. Experienced teachers in Wisconsin schools form a large part of the 425 enrollment which meets in such widely separated places as Rhinelander, Portage and Clintonville.

This program has been in operation for the past two and one-half years under the leadership of Dr. Quincy Doudna.

Mrs. Mary Samter, Mrs. Edith Cutnaw, Fred J. Schmeecke, Dick Nels O. Reppen, Miss Pauline Isaacson, Frank W. Crow, Raymond E. Specht, Robert S. Lewis, Leland M. Burroughs, Albert E. Harris, Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, Norman E. Knutzen, Dr. Bernard F. Wiewel, William B. Knox, Dr. Warren F. Jenkins, Dr. Harold M. Tolo, Walter R. Sylvester, Miss Gertie Hanson and Joseph Mott are the CSTC instructors teaching classes in the extension service this semester.

Class Officers Will Be Elected October 11

The election of the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior class officers will be held Tuesday, October 11. Each class will elect a president, vice-president, secretary, and a treasurer.

The Student Council has asked all nominees to refrain from taping or pasting any campaign poster or sign to the walls of the building. The posters may be fastened with string to various objects in and around the college, or placed on stands.

The morning session of the convention will feature a concert by the Central State Teachers College band, directed by Peter J. Michelsen, and an address by Dr. Carey Cronce, president of Beloit college. Dr. Cronce will speak on "Education for Life."

On the afternoon program will be a concert by the Wausau Senior High school choir and an address entitled "Our Fight for Total Peace" by Ely Culbertson, Chairman of the Citizens Committee for United Nations Reform and an internationally famous expert on contract bridge.

Convention Officials

Members of the Central State Teachers College faculty who will have official positions at the meeting are: Miss Mildred Davis, a member of the Committee on Resolutions, Miss Gertie L. Hanson, vice-president of the audio-visual education section, Miss Gladys Van Arsdale, president of the graded-schools section, Kenneth W. Boylan, president, and Dr. Floyd Nixon, secretary of the mathematics section. Dr. Quincy Doudna, Dean of Administration, is a candidate to serve on the executive committee of the association for four years.

Classes will be suspended Friday in order to permit the faculty to attend the convention.

Iverson Park Scene of Men's Glee Club Picnic

Iverson Park will resound to the strains of "Oh, Susannah" when the Men's Glee club holds its annual stag party there after rehearsal on October 10.

Larry McKinnon and Norris Lindquist will head the entertainment committee, with McKinnon serving as emcee. Refreshments will be served at the party.

This fun fest comes before the club starts its annual migration to the adjacent cities and villages on its autumn tour. The homecoming concert on October 30 will start the musical year.

Roy Swenson, CSTC Grad Head of Conservation Program in Milwaukee

"We don't see conservation just as recreation, wild life or forestry alone. We have to combine them all," stated Roy Swenson in an interview by the Milwaukee Journal. Roy, a January 1949 graduate of CSTC, is the newly appointed director of a conservation education program in the Milwaukee public school system.

Following his graduation, Swenson went to the University of Minnesota where he did graduate work in conservation and educational administration.

His headquarters at the Eighth Street school is used as a base of operations for conservation work which includes talks before PTA groups, innovating conservation programs in elementary and high schools and organization of a conservation library.

After Twenty Years

This year, for the first time in twenty years, the library is operating under a closed stack system. The new plan is the culmination of three years' thought and planning on the part of the library staff.

Several factors were considered in the changeover. The first problem is an administrative one. The library has reached its saturation point. It has grown from 20,000 to 42,000 volumes and now is cramped for space. Many volumes have had to be stored, making it harder for the student to use the library facilities easily and places a premium upon the use of the card catalog.

The loss of books is a second item. While not greater than comparable colleges, the loss has increased in the past few years in comparison with the increase in student enrollment. For example, a sample inventory of the Physical Education section showed a 12% loss. These "misplaced" books are not the older volumes; they are the cream of the crop, so to speak.

It has been said that under the direct access system, the library did not meet the needs of the students. This, repeated over city tea tables, has been a detriment to the college. The inadequacy myth has its roots in sketchy library knowledge and slovenly research habits. Our graduates lack the minimum knowledge in bibliography required in graduate schools. Students just run to the stacks with inaccurate call numbers or none at all. Careless use of the stacks causes the hazards of misplaced books. There should be no such thing as muddling through the library.

The new system furnishes books requested within two minutes; the service time is expected to be reduced to one minute. Reference questions are usually not answered at the desk but are referred to librarians who make use of their professional backgrounds to aid students and who take a personal interest in the problem.

Browsing through the stacks has a limited value and is a great time consumer, but the person who feels he may uncover a different book in his field by so doing may obtain a stack permit. It is now a prerequisite for teachers to compile reading lists for students.

A patient and planned perusal of the card catalog, bibliographies, reading lists and index makes the student more aware of the extent of materials within his interests or topic of study. It will make him more aware of the resources of his library and it is hoped that it will lead to better teaching habits when students go out to teach.

Meet Rae Guenther—A Girl Who Gets a "Kick" Out of Kids

The Junior class has as a member, a transfer student from Northland college who "hasn't done anything interesting." She is a girl who has never had a nickname since her own was short enough . . . who has never lived any place but in Antigo, and . . . who couldn't understand why she should be interviewed. That girl is Rae Guenther.

a city high school where popularity, social cliques and extra-curricular activities are all that count."

"I like the farm and the out-of-doors," she said, "though living on a farm is a trifle inconvenient."

She entered Northland in September of '47 and during her two years there was a second soprano in the well-known Northland choir and a member of Alpha Sigma sorority. She hesitated, then added, "I was also a wild woman in the penny carnival we gave."

When questioned about her sorority life she stated that at Ashland it didn't make any difference whether a girl belonged or not because there were so few girls that almost all were rushed by the three sororities on the campus. At CSTC she has noticed that several girls consider it advantageous to belong to a sorority.

Likes Sports

Rae likes the campus and grinned quite broadly when asked how the date life was here. "I don't like that question at all," she whispered, "so maybe I'd better keep my mouth shut, but I'm learning a lot about tennis and football since I've been here."

As to the pastimes of this girl . . . they are "just average." Those in first place are dancing, volleyball, and eating (although she doesn't look it.) She also reads when there is nothing else to do, which can't be very often. Rae Guenther, CSTC co-ed, is an individual with her own ideas and a natural charm that will serve her well when she becomes a primary teacher who "gets a kick out of little kids because they do the funniest things."

son said that "We have to show that conservation has an economic value and finally that it has a cultural value."

Also mentioned in recent editions of the Journal were Mrs. Sarah Leslie of the Stoughton Vocational school, and Miss Mary Brady, state extension nutritionist of Milwaukee who was honored at "Mary Brady Day" at the recent Marathon county fair. Both women were former students at CSTC.

Miss Doris Ubbelohde, 5th grade supervisor at the Training school, is engaged to Don Ames, who just received his Ph.D. in nuclear chemistry at U of W.

Helen Offerdahl wears the ring of Fred LaLeike, composition editor for the Pointer.

Mary Connor, sports a diamond given her by Gene Taylor. Remember all those engagements we announced last year? Here's the latest on them:

Want to Have a Good Time and Learn, Too? Try a CSTC Trip

Dr. Warren G. Jenkins and Robert S. Lewis showed 26 students this past summer that you can combine your summer vacation trip and school and have a wonderful time while you are learning your geography and history.

Traveling in the newly acquired CSTC bus, the students and teachers covered some 3,602 miles during the three weeks they were gone.

The first stop after leaving Stevens Point was Valparaiso, Indiana. From there the group went to Louisville, Kentucky, where they spent the night. While they were in Louisville, some of the party took in the horse races.

Mammoth Cave Visited

Mammoth Cave, Kentucky, proved to be the next point of interest. While inspecting the cave, a group of students from the Illinois Normal university arrived at the cave. They were on much the same type of trip the local group were on. The group from Illinois spent their evenings in tents while the CSTC travelers retired in hotel rooms throughout the whole trip.

The students attended lectures by Dr. J. R. Whittaker and H. V. Miller, head of the state planning committee, while they were in Nashville, Tennessee. The lecturers talked on the TVA.

Toured Aluminum Company

Knoxville, Chattanooga and Alcoa rounded out the points of interest that were visited by the "Pointers." At Alcoa everyone was taken through the plant of the Aluminum company of America.

Norris and Douglas dams were inspected while enroute.

The end of the week found the travelers at the entrance to the Great Smoky Mountain National Park. Many of the local sightseers spent the day in the park, eating their lunch on top of the highest peak in the mountain range. This incident proved to be something that most of the travelers will remember for the rest of their lives.

"Great Smokies" Explored

A whole day was spent exploring the "Great Smokies." A guide was hired and took the whole group through the mountains. Various interesting rocks and rock formations were noticed.

Asheville and Winston-Salem were the two towns visited while the group was touring North Carolina. At Winston-Salem the students visited the Camel Cigarette company plant. Free samples were distributed to the visitors.

In Virginia, the group toured Williamsburg, the rebuilt colonial city, saw a pageant relating to the life of Thomas Jefferson and visited the battlefield of Yorktown. A few of the group took a few minutes off from the toils of the day and refreshed themselves with a dip in the Atlantic ocean.

President Truman Missed

From Washington, D. C., the "Pointers" took a boat trip to Mount Vernon. They also toured the capital and were guided through the various buildings. Dr. Jenkins and Mr. Lewis sat out in front of Blair House in anticipation of catching a glimpse of President Truman. After two hours of waiting they gave up their vigilance and saw some of the other sights that the capital had to offer.

The group next stopped at Philadelphia. There they took a trip to Valley Forge and to Independence Hall. In Philadelphia proper some of the music lovers went to hear Oscar Levant, famed pianist, and the Philadelphia Philharmonic Orchestra.

The group traveled from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh by way of the Pennsylvania turnpike.

Tires and Glass Viewed

At Akron, Ohio, the voyagers visited the Goodyear Tire company and in Toledo they were taken through the Libby Glass company, where once more they received some samples.

At South Bend, Indiana, the home of the famous Notre Dame university, the "Pointers" were shown how cars are assembled in the factory of the Studebaker corporation.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Rural Life Club

Election of officers at the first meeting of the Rural Life Club resulted in choosing Dave Sicker, president; Claire Thomson, vice-president; Frances Borek, secretary; and Alice Eichsteadt, treasurer.

At a meeting of the club on Monday evening, October 3, the group discussed plans for a fall picnic and also decided to move the meeting hour to 7:30 p. m.

Dr. B. J. Przedpelski, assistant county agent, will be the guest speaker at the next meeting. He will speak on the subject of "Rural Life in Poland During the Years of Her Independence, 1918-1939." Dr. Przedpelski is the father of Zygmunt Przedpelski, a Freshman student at CSTC.

Primary Council

The first meeting of Primary Council was held Monday evening, October 3. Miss Susan Colman, director of the Primary division, is advisor for the group, which is especially large this year.

Isla Mae Friberg, as chairman, with Marjorie Finch, Bonnie Babcock and Mary Kearns will plan a social program for the year based on ideas formulated at the meeting.

Tau Gamma Beta

The Tau Gamma Beta sorority used Indian Summer as the theme for its Fall Tea held yesterday in the Home Economics parlors.

An unusual centerpiece consisted of a formal arrangement of miniature artificial cattails, golden-orange mums and other autumn flowers. Corn flowers were arranged on the

Can't Stop To Concentrate

Much comment always goes on about a so-called column in a college publication. Some favor the "Susy Smith was seen with Johnny Jones and where was Jim Brown?"—high school gossip column type. Others prefer the native humor,—"An overflow crowd attended the Plumbers' convention."—pur: corn.

Then there is another group who would rather read the anecdotal type of situation—"Miss May Roach was walking down the corridor of this institution when a bat gently swooped up and down in graceful arcs above her. She did not pay attention to it until a daring gentleman student who saw the bat shouted at her, 'Hey, Miss Roach, did ya' open yer purse and let it out?'"

There are those who go for the more sophisticated, witty form of humor,—S. J. Perelman wrote in his "Westward, Ha!" when he was invited to take a trip around the world, "Almost immediately, however—in fact, just as soon as the waiters had finished applying cold towels to my forehead—I regained my aplomb. 'All right if you insist,' I consented, stifling a yawn."

buffet and piano.

A favor of gold and green oak leaves was pinned on each guest, and as a written introduction each guest received a copy of "The Tau Gam Tribute" a small newspaper sheet which extended a further welcome to all new students.

Varying the "tea" procedure, the Tau Gams served an autumn punch-topped with frothy orange sherbert along with yellow, white and rust colored tea cakes.

In the receiving line were Phyllis Kasper, Margaret Johnson, Miss Gladys Van Arsde, Miss Mildred Davis, Mrs. William C. Hansen and Janice Sisley.

Mrs. Gilbert W. Faust, Mrs. Mildred Williams, Mrs. Hansen and Miss Davis acted as hostesses at the serving table.

Co-chairmen for the tea were Phyl Peterson and Janice Sisley. Other committees included: Invitations, Margaret Johnson, chairman, Betty Kusserow, Grace Peterson; decorations and favors, Carol Collins and Eileen Dahner, co-chairmen, Irene Morris, Ada Funk, Joan Winter, Ila Williamson; food, Kathleen O'Connor and Margaret Jones, co-chairmen, Lola Van Ornum, Bev Barnes; cleanup, Pat Lasecke and Barb Lewis, co-chairmen, Carla Kruse, Virginia Marros; hostesses, Bonnie Babcock and Barbara Bea, co-chairmen.

Omega Mu Chi

A centerpiece of lavender and yellow chrysanthemums and tapers reflected the theme of the Omega Mu Chi sorority fall tea in the Home Economic parlors on September 28. The sorority colors were further carried out with frosted bon-bons bearing the emblem of the sorority, yellow napkins, and a matching bouquet on the buffet.

As a favor, each guest was given a lavender button-mum which matched a bouquet on the piano.

In the reception line were Mrs. Mary Samter, Mrs. Raymond E. Gotham, Mrs. Leland M. Burroughs, Miss Bertha Glennon, Marjorie Kohler and Ruth Finch. Those who poured for the occasion were Mrs. Albert E. Harris, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, Mrs. Earle E. Kidder and Miss Harriet Wright.

NOTICE

In the past it has been the practice of the Pointer to bind copies of the newspapers for students not on the staff. This service will be discontinued because of the time consumed and inconvenience involved in collecting and distributing copies. Pointers for staff members, however, will be saved and bound as usual. Students and staff members who have 1948-49 bound copies are asked to call for them in the Pointer office now.

Pointers and Bruins Tussle At Eau Claire Saturday Night

This week finds Coach Hale Quandt's gridders preparing hard and heavy for Saturday night's tussle with the Eau Claire Bruins, the game to be played at Eau Claire. There is no false optimism in the Pointer camp because, like CSTC, the Bruins are fresh from victory, having defeated a strong Stout team Saturday night at Menomonie 7 to 6.

Stout's strength was indicated in their win over Mankato Teachers several weeks ago, when they dropped the Minnesotans 27-26. There is little doubt that Eau Claire's victory has boosted their intent to repeat as conference champs, or at worst tie for the lead.

Bruins Defeated by Superior
The Bruins go into the Point game sporting a one game won, one lost record in league play, Superior having upset them in their first conference game 13-7. Previous to that they lost a warm-up game to Moorehead (Minnesota) Teachers 25-6, but one look at the statistics prevents any conclusions. Eau Claire led in first downs and total yardage although the lopsided score would seem to show otherwise. Likewise in the Superior-Bruin game there is little comfort in statistics.

Walker, Schaaf, and Perkins will pace Eau Claire's backfield, and these are the boys who will be out to pierce Point's massive forward wall come Saturday. Coach Quandt's regulars came through the Milwaukee game for the most part unscathed, and except for Jimmy Koehn's foot injury, they are expected to be at full strength.

Jack Brandt undoubtedly will see more action in view of his performance in the Gull game. Any way you look at it the game promises to be interesting, and probably close.

Entering Second Round In Tennis Tournament

The intra-mural tennis tournament is going right along with the first round practically completed. The winners of the first round are Dick Turzanski, who will meet the winner of the Korth-Johnson meet; Dave Case and Bill Bart, who have already played their second round match, with Bart emerging victorious; Norris Lindquist, Chet Polka, Bruce Brown and Bud Rued.

The winners of the second round match will play a round robin of matches, with medals going to the first and second place winners. Winners will be judged by the number of matches won.

Pointers Ground Milwaukee Gulls To Win Conference Opener 14 to 7

After spotting the Milwaukee Teachers an early seven point lead, the Pointers rallied to win the conference opener 14-7 at Goerke field last Friday evening.

Witnessed by nearly 3,000 spectators, the boys from the beer capital had things pretty much their own way during the first quarter. The Gulls started their touchdown drive on their own 42 yard line. Halfback Tarentino's heave to Minnesale, Gull right end, was good for 32 yards. Shortly after, another Tarentino to Minnesale toss placed the ball on the Pointer's four. Fullback Art Derksen then bulled to pay dirt and Don Hagie converted. It was the first time the Purple and Gold line had been crossed this season.

After the teams switched directions the Pointers settled down to serious business. The Purple and Gold march started on their own 49 yard line. After Kulick invaded Gull territory for two yards, he pitched a 10 yard pass to End Bill Koch, placing the ball on the Green and White 39 yard line.

English Scores

The Purple and Gold steamroller chugged on with Jimmy Koehn, injury and all, picking up 12 yards. Kulick once more took over finding the left end good for 15 yards. After two line thrusts failed, Roger English, southpaw from Merrill skirted right end for the score.

After Peter J. Michelson and his band had extended his greetings to the crowd via his new song, the second half hostilities began. The third period simmered down and it wasn't till the fourth quarter that the Pointers tallied the clincher when John Potter round left guard good for six points. Kulick again added the conversion, ending the scoring for the evening.

Good on the Ground

The winners had nine first downs compared to Milwaukee's seven. The Pointers ground attack racked up 179 yards to the Gull's 50 yards. However, the Gulls being true to their name, were superior in the air 419 yards to the Pointers' 22 yards.

The Fifth QUARTER

State Teachers college publications failed to name the Pointers as title contenders. Milwaukee, which fell to the CSTC's last Friday night, was among the teams most likely to dethrone Eau Claire.

Louis Poslusny, who carried the oval during the Ted Fritsch era, is serving as assistant coach at Two Rivers.

Scores from conference play around the circuit went something like this: La Crosse 28, Superior 19; Whitewater 19, River Falls 6; Eau Claire 7, Stout 6.

The Pointer defense during the second half of the Milwaukee game was tighter than the closing days of the American League pennant race. The Gulls failed to complete a pass and were held to a mere five yards via the ground route.

Want a tip on next spring's Kentucky Derby? Of course a lot can happen between now and the time of the Derby but the way Wisconsin Boy ran during his stay at Arlington Park quite a few odd makers will respect him. Wisconsin Boy is strictly a dairy land product. He's a two year old owned by a Ladysmith, Wisconsin man.

Sidone Andersen, secretary in the record office, spent her week-end deer hunting a la bow and arrow. She's also quite a golfer having won the Class B championship at the Whiting golf course.

Dave Bliese, Pointer fullback and Roland Strehlow, Wisconsin halfback, who scored a touchdown in the Wisconsin-Illinois game, played in the same backfield during high school. Also on the same team with Strehlow were Jelinek and Scheel, Pointer linemen.

An interesting item appeared in the Sporting News, the official bible for sports readers, concerning backfield formations. A survey of some 350 collegiate teams reveals that five out of every seven will use the T formation in the 1949 season. About 16 per cent will still use the single wing.

The old saying that the team that is in first place on the Fourth of July will win the championship held true again. Both Brooklyn and New York were in first place on Independence Day.

JOURNAL PHOTO

Ken Kulick, CSTC halfback, is shown here as he rather abruptly terminated a 20 yard run in the Point-Milwaukee game last Friday. The Green Gull players are unidentified. CSTC topped the Milwaukee eleven by a 14-7 score.

Meet the Captain

Before last Friday's conference opener three officials and two players stood in the middle of the playing field. The player with the golden helmet and purple jersey bearing No. 11 was Jimmy Koehn the Pointer captain for the evening's struggle.

Jimmy had gotten into this whole thing by first playing high school football at St. John's high in Little Chute. After carrying the oval at the halfback slot for four years, Uncle Sam tackled Jimmy for two and one-half years' service in the army. When Jimmy came marching home he selected CSTC as the place to continue his education. Come next June the small halfback will have an English major (he's the one who should be writing this) and a physical education minor.

Four years of college ball has found Jimmy running off the halfback spot. One of his big thrills came Friday night when he tossed a vital pass to Bill Koch. With a wide grin on his face Jimmy commented, "I think it's the first pass I ever threw in college ball."

However, Jimmy has his troubles and one of them is his foot injury. When questioned about it, Jimmy said the injury happened during practice. "I turned sharply and a bone in my foot was twisted and bruised," Jimmy explained.

When asked about the tough game on tap for Saturday night, Jimmy expressed his confidence that the Pointers' win streak would be kept intact if the team continues its hard play. This is the same confidence and determination Jimmy has carried with himself for the past four years.

Ask for it either way... both trade-marks mean the same thing.

With the student body at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis — it's the Coffman Memorial Union. Coca-Cola is a favorite here, as in student gathering places everywhere. For a between-classes pause, or after an evening bull-session—Coke belongs.

Two Additional Members Appointed to Council

Ruth Finch and George Negley were recently appointed to the Student Council by President William C. Hansen. They replace two members who were elected last spring and did not return to college this fall.

At the present time the term of office in the Student Council is one year, but the constitution is being revised so that one third of the council members will be elected for a year and a half. This will eliminate the necessity of an entirely new council assuming the responsibility each fall.

CSTC TRIP

Chicago was the last stop for the geography group. While there, the students visited the Railroad Fair, a fitting climax to the long trip.

Loud Speaker System Used

Before the trip was begun, a loud-speaker system was installed in the bus so Dr. Jenkins and Mr. Lewis could call attention to the points of interest along the way. Historical as well as geographical points of interest were stressed by these two instructors.

In various sections the bus stopped and afforded the students an opportunity to ask farmers the whys, whys and hows of their farming practices.

When asked about going again next year, Mr. Lewis just smiled and said, "Dr. Jenkins and I are ready to go at any time."

ORGANIZATIONS *

General chairman for the tea was Joyce Kruger. Other committees consisted of: Food, Esther Berndt and Mary Connor, co-chairmen, Jean Robertson, Muriel Held, Beverly Tibbetts; invitations, Ruth Finch; decorations, Kay Pierce and Jackie Hall, co-chairmen, Mary Schadewald, Gretchen Holstein; entertainment, Joan Fehrenbach, Nancie Goebel; clean-up, Marilyn Knope and Lucy Chappell, co-chairmen, Joann Kenney, Arlene Kromroy; and posters, Ginny Greiner, chairman, Beverly Berg, Helen Offerdahl, and Marjorie Finch.

Home Economics

The Home Economics club met on Monday evening, October 3, to make more definite plans for a rummage sale to be held October 22. Co-chairmen for the sale are Beverly Barnes and Lorraine Goth.

The State Home Economics college club convention will be held at CSTC on October 14 and 15. Delegates from Stout Institute, Mount Mary, Milwaukee Downer, and the University of Wisconsin will be present. A program has been planned which includes a talk by Miss Ethel Hill, a state 4-H assistant adviser, who will speak on 4-H work. After a luncheon at Nelson Hall, Mrs. Lyla D. Flagner of Eau Claire will speak on the topic "The Women and Girls of Europe." Miss Flagner has recently been to Europe and visited schools where home economics is taught.

After the business meeting, 27 girls became members of the Home Economics club in a candlelight ceremony. The service was followed by a luncheon.

Radio Workshop

Campus Variety makes a comeback on the Radio Workshop after a lapse of six years. Those who are familiar with Station WLBL, will recall that this program was a success, under the direction of Bob Rifelman, a former assistant in the department of Physics, and the assistant director of the Radio Workshop. Now it resumes the air to give good listening to the present student body.

The entertainment list will consist primarily of talent from the Workshop, together with spot interviews and college personalities. This is definitely an all college program — so, it's a good idea to tune in every Monday at 3:15 p. m.

On schedule are other fine programs which the Radio Workshop is privileged to present; the present list is as follows:

The Organ Musical — Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, 1:15-1:30 p. m.

Campus Variety — Monday, 3:15-3:30 p. m.

The Book Corner — Tuesday, 3:15-3:30 p. m.

Radio Playhouse — Wednesday, 3:15-3:30 p. m.

College Round Table — Thursday, 3:15-3:30 p. m.

Music Album — Friday, 3:15-3:45 p. m.

Which type of the above illustrations shall we write to please the majority of the readers? If you have gripes back them up with suggestions. A column of plain griping doesn't make very interesting reading in our estimation.

If you've noted the column head you may have wondered about its significance. Take it at face value.

We haven't had time to really work up a smooth column and there haven't been many social events, from which the greater share of our news comes, so in another week or two we hope to have a column shaped up to the readers' satisfaction. Whether the concentration will be any better by that time is not guaranteed. Also notice the initial letter in each word of the title — clever isn't it?

There are a few miscellaneous items we can fill in with this week for general interest reading.

The Pointer's editorial adviser let out a shriek of anguish when she saw her pet hate in grammar on the front page of last week's Pointer. The story on the refurbished student lounge spoke about "other materials that have been left laying around." We assure you that the original story said "lying," but a printer's devil must have changed it! (Proofreader's note: "No devil am I!!")

After the Boehm-Powers concert program last week, Miss Boehm was enthusiastic about the appreciative audience. Said she, "There are audiences and audiences." She was also most pleased with the Steinway piano she used for her solo numbers, saying she had never played on a better one.

Situation reversed! Dean Herbert R. Steiner was explaining what happened to the judge instead of the usual vice-versa procedure last week when he was involved in an automobile accident.

Wesley

Wesley Foundation held a picnic at Iverson Park on Sunday, October 2. A ball game and square dancing led by Dr. Quincy Doudna made up the recreational program. A short devotional was held out doors around the camp fire to conclude the program.
