CSTC Sponsoring Radio Program As Part in Fire Prevention Week

This week of October 9-15 is being observed by the entire nation as Fire Prevention week. This year Fire Prevention week is more urgent than ever, since the fatality and injury to human life and property has reached its greatest toll. Statistics show that 90% of the fires in homes, hospitals, schools, and other public places and wooded areas are man-made.

CSTC is doing its utmost for Fire Prevention week by sponsoring a radio program, through the auspices of Miss Gertie Hanson's Education 231 class, in collaboration with the members of the conservation department.

Faculty members, Fred J. Schmeckle and Dr. Bernard F. Wiewel, with the assistance of students, Robert Sargent, Bill Plath, Donald Sargent and Milton Schwartz, will conduct the program to be broadcast on Friday, October 14, at 3 p.m. over radio station WLBL, with Daryl Fonstad as the moderator.

The Radio Workshop schedule for the week of October 17 is as listed below:

Organ Musical—Monday through Thursday at 1-1:15 p.m., Grace Peterson at the organ.
The following broadcasts will be on the air from 3:15 to 3:30 p.m.:
Monday — Campus Variety — President William C. Hansen, guest speaker.

Come on, You Alums—Let's Come Back for the Big Game

The following announcement of special interest to the alums was sent to the Pointer by Miss Syble Mason, secretary of the Alumni association:

"Preliminary announcements have been made in previous Pointers about the 1949 Homecoming program of events on October 28-29-30. We are especially interested in having as many alumni return for this occasion as possible this year. When you return, you will be participating in the reorganization of the CSTC Alumni association.

"A business meeting of the association will be held in the college auditorium on Saturday, October 29, at 12 noon. At this time, the proposed constitution will be presented for approval. This is a vital step in organizing a strong and active organization. The acceptance of the constitution means much work ahead for every member who loyally supports it.

"Immediately following the business meeting, an alumni-faculty luncheon will be held at Nelson Hall at 12:45 p.m. We shall attend the game in a group where we shall have a special section reserved for us.

"To Meet at WEA Convention
"On November 3, we shall again greet our alumni at the Schroeder Hotel during the WEA convention in Milwaukee.

"Letters are being sent to alumni this week. If you have not received your letter within a day or two after receiving the Pointer, will you kindly

Mr. Sylvester Observes Annual Hawk Migration

Walter R. Sylvester journeyed to Cedar Grove, Wisconsin, Sunday, October 9, on a field trip sponsored by the educational committee of the Wisconsin Society of Ornithology (bird study). The trip was made for the purpose of watching the migration of hawks.

Cedar Grove, which is located on the shores of Lake Michigan, has recently been made into a hawk sanctuary. It is one of the few places in the United States where the prevailing winds and air currents cause the hawks to fly close to the ground.

Mr. Sylvester stated that hawks migrate every spring and fall and that all varieties are now protected by state law. Not much is known about the extent of the migration of hawks but a banding program is being carried on at the present time which is hoped will answer this question.

The members of the field trip, approximately 100 people, mostly of the Madison and Milwaukee area, observed 500 hawks of several different varieties in a five hour period.

Queen to Rule in Regal Style At '49 Homecoming Celebration

Tuesday — Our Book Corner — "Buffo and Petro."
Wednesday — Radio Workshop Players — "Leland Stanford and the Jumping Horse."
Thursday — College Round Table — British Currency Problems.
Friday — Music Album — Alpha Kappa Rho fraternity.

Nominations Close Thursday at 4

The Queen is really going to reign at the 1949 Homecoming celebration, according to John Kowaleski, president of the Student Council. Nominations for Homecoming Queen will be closed at 4 p.m. on Thursday, October 13. The annual spirited campaigning will then begin in full force with sponsoring groups avidly promoting their candidates.

The Queen will be elected on Thursday, October 27, by student ballot. The crowning ceremonies will take place Friday afternoon, October 28, at the pep assembly, where the first announcement of her election will be made. Her Highness is scheduled to officiate at the lighting of the bonfire at the outdoor pep rally Friday evening.

Queen Honored

Saturday will be a full day for the Queen. In the morning she will reign over the Homecoming parade festivities. Following her participation in the parade, the Queen will be an honored guest at the Alumni luncheon, which will be held at Nelson Hall Saturday noon.

Preceding the big game in the afternoon, the Queen, escorted by President William C. Hansen; will lead the faculty, alums and students into Goerke field. She will view the game from a throne placed at a vantage point on the field.

To conclude a festive weekend the Queen will be honored royalty at the "S" club dance on Saturday evening.

The Student Council expresses hope that the student body will back the Homecoming Queen campaign in an effort to make that part of the Homecoming celebration an outstanding success.

Junior College Meeting Scheduled for Friday

Dr. Warren G. Jenkins, Dean of the Junior college division, has announced that there will be a meeting of junior college students in the auditorium on Friday, October 14, at 10 a.m.

This meeting is designed to clear up the major questions and problems that may be troubling most of the Freshman students concerning their transfer from CSTC to other colleges.

All Freshman students registered in the junior college division are urged to attend this meeting by Dr. Jenkins to bring forth any questions that have arisen about a course of study.

State Centennial Art Exhibit Will Be Shown At CSTC About Oct. 17

The State Centennial Art Exhibit will arrive at CSTC about October 17 and will be on display in the art room until the end of the month, says Miss Edna Carlsten, art instructor.

Outstanding artists from Wisconsin were commissioned by Gimbel's to paint pictures depicting any phase of Wisconsin and the results were shown at the state centennial in Milwaukee in 1948.

This winter the exhibit is being sent to the teachers' colleges in Wisconsin so that all students will have the opportunity to view this art work.

The date on which the exhibit will be opened to the students will be announced in a forthcoming issue of the Pointer.

This new 1949 Plymouth dual-control car, donated by the Bresinski Motor company of Stevens Point, will soon be put into use by the Driver-Education classes under the supervision of Raymond E. Specht, who is standing near the car. Also donated was a sum of money for the purchase of insurance by the Hardware Mutuals. This automobile was acquired largely through the efforts of President William C. Hansen. Incidentally, Mr. Specht is not a "circus giant". It's only the low, rakish lines of this latest model.

Dr. Gotham to Attend Conference at Chicago

Dr. Raymond E. Gotham will attend a conference at the University of Chicago on October 24-25. This conference, held twice a year, considers problems of the teachers' training program.

Representatives of teachers colleges in Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin will be present. The Wisconsin representatives will be from River Falls, Milwaukee, and Stevens Point.

Fraternity Open-house

Phi Sig alums are invited to a Homecoming open-house which will be held at the Phi Sig frat house Friday evening, October 28, and Saturday, October 29, after the homecoming game, according to Mel Carlson, Phi Sig president.

Chi Delt alumni will have open house at Iverson lodge after the game Saturday afternoon, says Bernie Alberg, Chi Delt president.

Rowena Allen Presides At County Board Meeting

The annual Portage County School Board convention was held yesterday, October 12, in the college auditorium. The morning and afternoon sessions were presided over by Miss Rowena Allen, county superintendent of schools.

Speakers at the convention included President William C. Hansen, who spoke on "Educational Problems;" Mrs. Ruth Gilfray, county nurse, whose subject was "School Health;" M. P. Pinkerton, county agricultural agent, who talked on "School Forests;" and A. R. Page, assistant state superintendent in charge of school administration, who spoke on "Recent Legislation" and "The Challenge to Rural Education."

Peterson, Kowaleski, Molde, Baker Top Class Officers

The election of CSTC class officers again this year drew much interest among the students, with a total of 427 votes cast or just under 50% of the total enrollment. The election was held last Tuesday by the Student Council, and the tabulations indicated that the competition was surprisingly keen.

Walt Peterson was elected president of the Senior class, receiving 47 out of the total 80 votes cast. Other officers named were: Jerry La Fleur, vice-president, 38 votes; George Phillips, secretary, un-contested; Warner Christian, treasurer, 59 votes.

Conservationists Visit Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Company on Field Trip

Field trips to the Nekoosa-Edwards Paper company were conducted by the conservation department on October 4 and 5.

The paper company showed such forestry processes as fire lane work-up, tree planting, seeding in the field, demonstration of fire fighting equipment, thinning dense forest stands and tours of various nurseries. The demonstrations and tours showed botany and other sciences actually being applied to increase forest production.

Walter R. Sylvester and his extension class from Wisconsin Rapids attended the evening banquet at Port Edwards High school on October 4. This was held in connection with the field program. Mr. Sylvester said that people from all over the country were present at the banquet.

class president went to Dick Kowaleski who polled 38 out of the 84 ballots. Winners of the other offices were: Vice-president, Muriel Nierhof, 31 votes; secretary, Betty Mehne, 42 votes; treasurer, Edward Furstenberg, the only candidate.

Sophomores turned out 135 strong to make their choices from a large field of candidates. All the races proved to be torrid and when the smoke cleared away, the victors were: President, Jerry Molde, 41 votes; vice-president, Bill Wagner, 54 votes; secretary, Gretchen Holstein; treasurer, Dave Bliese, 81 votes.

The Frosh were not far behind the Sophomores in numbers, 129 going to the polls. Mike Baker won the presidential race with 58 votes. Other results: Vice-president, Stanley "Snuffy" Smith, another lone candidate; secretary, Nancy Redfield, 59 votes; treasurer, Robert Anderson, 69 votes.

Congratulations are extended to all newly-elected officers along with the hope that they will all strive to make their respective classes the best in CSTC.

Paul Boulter Killed In Mid-air Collision

Students who were attending CSTC at the time when the V-5's were here will be saddened by this information received from the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi, Texas.

Paul Boulter, V-5 at CSTC in '46, was killed in a mid-air collision with another plane. The accident occurred at 1,500 feet in a Corsair. It was Paul's fourth hop in the plane. This information was received from Paul's friend Don Sakanich, also stationed at Corpus Christi.

What Democracy Means to Me

(Editor's note:
Zygmunt Przedpelski, a Freshman student at CSTC, who two years ago came over from Poland to live here in America, and still more recently was the subject of a Pointer interview, submitted this composition to his English instructor. We think that it shows a real appreciation of America, his adopted country.)

The word "Democracy" comes from Greek and it means, in liberal translation, the rule of the people.

To me Democracy means much more than those few dry words. It means the freedom of an individual to criticize his government: The president, the court and the senate. It also means the ability of the society to abolish by peaceful means, such as elections, the kind of government which does not work for the good of its people.

There is another phase of life in which Democracy means a lot to me. And that is the freedom it gives to the individual to practice his religion and also the equal privileges it gives to people of different faiths and different social standings.

But there is the most important thing that Democracy means to me. And that's the assurance that nobody will come into my room and take me to a prison without any apparent reason at all. It's the assurance that I will be given a fair trial by jury in case of imprisonment. It's the feeling that I'm innocent till I am proved guilty, and not the other way around.

Democracy means to me the freedom to express my opinion freely and without interference, and to do anything I like as long as it does not limit the happiness of others and does not endanger the welfare of my native country.

Democracy means so many more things to me that I had better stop right here and try to tell all of it in one single sentence. Democracy means the government for the people, and not the people for the government.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Wesley Foundation
A candle-light service has been planned for Wesley Foundation which meets tonight at St. Paul's Methodist church. Following the service a brief history of the organization will be given.

A rummage sale will be held Saturday morning. Anyone wishing to donate something to the sale may bring it to the meeting tonight.

WAA
A "get-together" party for all women students began the activities of the Women's Athletic association. Carol Radichel, president, welcomed all the old members and extended an invitation to all others to join the organization.

An initiation party for all new members was held at the second meeting. About 25 new WAA'ers participated in the various stunts to provide the group with entertainment.

Delores Jones, volleyball sports-head, has completed plans for the coming volleyball season. Teams have been selected and the girls will practice on Wednesday nights. The regular tournament will be under way in a few weeks.

Gamma Delta
"Evolution and Christianity" will be the subject of a discussion by Dr. Edgar F. Pierson at the Gamma Delta meeting tonight. The meeting, to be held in the Rec room at Nelson Hall, will be followed by refreshments. All students are cordially invited to attend.

YWCA
Beverly Tibbetts was elected to fill the vacancy of vice-president at the YWCA meeting last Thursday night.

It was decided to have the Freshman initiation on Sunday, October 16, at Bokult park. Jackie Jennings and Harriet Hennig will make plans for the meeting.

Miss Miriam Moser and three delegates are planning to attend a conference at Lake Geneva this week-end.

The annual Sadie Hawkins dance will be held on November 9 instead of November 11 as previously scheduled. The Y-Dub girls are also planning a Homecoming float.

To conclude the meeting Harriet Hennig told the Freshman girls of the activities and purpose of the YWCA on the campus.

Can't Stop To Concentrate

Since there has been popular acceptance of the anecdotal-type column by any who cared enough to express an opinion — it shall continue in that vein.

Walking down the corridors during this past class election week has been so fatiguing that some students could hardly crawl to the polls to vote. After "plunging in" to vote for one, "aiming" for another, "having more fun" for a Frosh candidate, "testing for the best," and in general, being besieged by pep talks, it's a wonder that students had energy enough to make the accepted "X" in the right place.

Mr. Faust appeared quite crestfallen when Mr. Crow's dog, a smart looking female miniature Schnauzer named Susie, apparently took no liking to him when they met last week in the Pointer office.

A college student eating in an out-of-town restaurant this last weekend noticed a misprint on the menu. It said: Filly Mignon.....$1.50. He wondered if that meant expensive horsemeat! There was also a note on the menu: "Please be kind to the waiter—he's the only one we can get."

In a third floor classroom of CSTC, while the wind was blowing "tornado-like," last Monday, a window blew out and crashed to the floor. Mr. Mott, who was lecturing, didn't even appear to notice the catastrophe which shattered both the glass and the nerves of all nearby.

After listening to some of the amazing answers given by students in early morning classes, a description Dean Steiner once gave of a not particularly bright person seems appropriate at this point. "He knew a lot but couldn't think of it," said the Dean.

Several men were noticed in the back rooms at the Tau Gam tea having their share of cakes and punch, while Mr. Lewis stood pleadingly

CSTC's Perennial Pupils the, Six Connors from Auburndale

For 15 years CSTC professors have been calling off the name "Connor" in their classes, and six times during those 15 years there has been a different first name before that familiar last one. This is the story of a family from Auburndale that sent so many of its "young uns" here that the last ones considered it "almost tradition . . . they knew they were going to come when they were little children." These two are Mary, a Senior in the primary division, and Sally, a Freshman, who isn't quite sure what division she's in. They are the last of the present Connor "tribe."

Papa is the only one who hasn't attended CSTC. He went to St. John's Military Academy. Mama attended a summer session here in 1911.

MARY CONNOR

Gene, the oldest daughter, entered in 1934 and did her practice teaching at the high school with Mrs. Elizabeth Pfliffer, as her critic. Not content to merely graduate from this college, she married James McGuire, past CSTC graduate and football star, who is now a coach at Chippewa Falls and the only one of the family that is a teacher.

Rebecca, next in line, began her studies at Point in 1935 and finished at the University of Wisconsin, one of the ten honor students of that year. She majored in Home Economics, a fact which stands her in good stead right now as she is Mrs. Warren Gilson, mother of three children.

Roger, the only male in the passing parade, began college in 1938 and was called from his formal education by the Navy. He is married to Ruth Rathke, a CSTC graduate. He has told his sisters that others in the family may have left their marks here but that he made sure he left one. It is his nickname "Tag" carved into the cement ledge of the steps at the east entrance to the college.

Joyce was here during World War II when there were so few fellows at CSTC that there was nothing to do but study. However, she later married William Bethke and gave up her teaching career after graduation.

Mary, the dark haired senior girl who will graduate this spring, is engaged to Gene Taylor, a student at CSTC. When asked if she intended to send her future children here she answered, "Who knows where we'll be after we're married? Say, maybe you shouldn't put that in!"

Sally, the youngest, has been here a month and likes school, particularly music. She says, "All the smart ones in the family were here before. When I came along all the brains ran out."

Better to Separate

Mary stays at Gullickson's and Sally at Ringquist's. They believed it was better that they separate so that they could carry on college life the way each one wanted to do.

Evidence of the fact that they are unprejudiced young women is this: Sally is employed by Merv, at the Eat Shop, and Mary by Lill, at the Campus Cafe.

They have always lived in Auburndale in a twenty-room house. Mary says that when she takes "kids" home they always say, "No wonder you're so used to people, you live in a dormitory."

Noisy Weekends

Mr. and Mrs. Connor get very lonesome now with all their family gone, so the girls take turns going home weekends "to make noise." From the fine records the Connors have made, CSTC will be waiting to see who will be the next in that family line to carry on the family traditions.

(If anyone reading this feature has a longer ancestral "run" of members who have been students here, please notify the Pointer office — we'll even print your pictures!)

American Advertising Supposedly Bite-sized, but Hard to Swallow

As we were traveling to Ashland this past weekend, we came face to face with one of the most facetious endorsements that has ever graced an American billboard. From it the likeness of a famous personality looked down at us and recommended that we should buy the advertised product. This esteemed gentleman didn't say as much in so many words, but his tainted testimonial could truthfully have stated: "You certainly ought to buy this product if I get paid to say I do."

This is an insult to the intelligence of the American public. There was a time, long ago, when people purchased merchandise solely for its intrinsic merits and were not waylaid into a monosyllabic rut by the exponents of commercial ballyhoo.

No Catch Phrases

In those antiquated days, advertisements proclaimed in modes and types, "Buy Tappington's Pills" — and people bought Tappington's Pills. There were no catch phrases, no bottom-corner coupons, no billboards and no box tops to save. But that was before the Toni Twins and the ready-to-eat cereals (complete with built in dive bombers) had made their appearance upon the American scene.

That day has passed. Today little children will not eat their oatmeal unless Tom Mix's horse whinnies at the sound of the brand name. Grandmothers will let their clothing fall to rags rather than have it washed by any soap that does not sponsor a daytime radio melodrama and come in a dazzling three color display carton.

Such is a sign of the rapidly changing times. With an ever increasing number of new commodities flooding the market and competition on the upswing, we find manufacturers constantly trying through all sorts of gimmicks and testimonials to bludgeon the public into submission.

Letters From Alumni

Clintonville, Wisconsin

Dear Editor:
By this time the Pointer staff should be well organized and ready for a record-breaking year of fine newspaper production. I sincerely wish that I could be there to join you this year, but society demands that I make a living for myself and I am busily engaged in doing just that. However, if some Monday evening I should appear on the scene, I would expect you to allow me the privilege of drinking coke with the typists or of writing a blasting editorial.

From 8 a.m. until 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, I expend my limited strength in leading a total of 87 seniors through the mysteries of Modern Problems, English or both. I have three classes of Modern Problems and two of English. My biggest modern problem is to make my classes so interesting that the students will not transfer to the course in basket weaving. My evenings are spent in a maze of verbs, conjunctions, modern differences, and trying to buy my evening cigars at a place where the city fathers will not discover my one remaining vice. After about four hours of fitful sleep each night, I am expected to appear on the scene as sparkling and refreshed as if I had spent the night quaffing cool drinks and listening to soft music. "Cruel, cruel world! The English techniques course warned me of such a situation, but nothing was said of its being permanent.

I could be exaggerating, of course. I am very busy but there is a certain fascination about it that makes it very interesting. This is a fine school system and my fellow faculty members are tops. On the whole, the student body seems like a nice bunch of adde-pated teen-agers. They can be plenty fractious and there is never a dull moment during the day. Now I realize the full implication of Miss Glennon's famous remark "Thank God, it's Friday!"

The CSTC alumni at Clintonville understand that the college homecoming week-end is to be on October 28-30. I hope to be able to be there at that time to help spread a little cheer. In the meantime, if you have any old, unused copies of your new Pointer lying around I would appreciate it very much if one was sent in my direction, in care of the high school.

I know that it must be difficult to get along without my help this year, but try to carry on in the best manner possible and you will be surprised at the results. Take it from an oldtimer — these are your golden years; their like will never come again. Before I get too maudlin and deface this writing with my tears I will close this epistle by wishing all of you every success and happiness during the school year.

George Whitney

Aside from coupons and box tops, nothing seems to "put over" a product better than an endorsement from a current news personality. Hardly a popular magazine can be found that does not contain, within its advertising pages, some material of this sort. Among the professionals employed in such pursuits are movie stars, sportsmen, athletes and "men of distinction." In other words, anyone who has a name can play.

No Exception

The national pastime is no exception. A few baseball players, in order to supplant their meager $75,000 a year earnings, daily avail of the microphone to say a few words on behalf of a razor blade they never will use. The announcer genially calls their names, gives them the cue and they stumble through a 20 word endorsement, pocket a $5,000 check and amble back to their nickel-plated Remington electric.

And the public eats it up. And while on the topic of baseball — we are reminded of an advertisement that appeared about 10 years

Superior Yellowjackets Are Foes for Dad's Night Game

After a two week absence, action will return to Goerke field Saturday night when the Pointers ready their DDT for the Superior Yellowjackets. In addition to seeking revenge for last year's 26-7 defeat, the Point participants will be strictly observed by their fathers. The evening's entertainment has been designated Dad's Night.

Coach Mark Dean will roll into town with a well-balanced outfit headed by all-conference half back, Don Moselle. The only blot on the upstart's record is a 28-19 defeat to LaCrosse. A strong aerial barrage can be expected from the Yellowjackets. This was evident in the LaCrosse game when Superior completed 10 out of 19 passes good for 199 yards.

The Tune-In Ballroom team maintained their lead in the College Bowling league after three weeks of bowling. The Phi Sigs remain within striking distance only two games behind.

The league leaders racked up the top team scores for the evening, cracking out a 2512 series with a high game of 895. Dutch's Men's Shop took second honors in both departments on a 2373 series and 858 single game. Campus Cafe took third honors in the team series with a total of 2243. Recreation Restaurant took third place in team singles with a 793 game.

Boneski took high honors in the individual series department with a 552 total. He was followed by Peterson, 551; Chick, 543; Conachen, 520; Mallow, 519; Turzanski, 514; and John Christian, 500.

Mallow rolled the high single game of 204. Boneski, 202 and H. Peterson, 201, were the only other bowlers to get in the deluxe 200 bracket.

Over in the Pointer camp, the Purple and Gold are preparing for their toughest assignment of the year. An extra burden was heaped upon the boys when the rained-out tilt with Eau Claire had to be played on Monday. This gave Coach Hale F. Quandt little time to prepare for Saturday's tussle with Superior.

CSTC Harriers to Race LaCrosse Team Saturday

Coach Frank W. Crow's cross-country team will meet their first competition of the season on Saturday afternoon, October 15, at 2:30 o'clock when they meet the LaCrosse harriers here at Stevens Point.

The LaCrosse team is expected to provide some very stiff competition for the local squad. They met Augsburg college earlier in the year and are an experienced team.

Chester Polka, Ed Havitz, Robert Gilbert, Clifford Green, Don Olsen, Dick Simonson, Norris Lindquist and Wilbar Cox seem as likely starters for the Pointers. They will traverse the three mile course which will begin and end on Fremont street, just north of Highway 66.

Pointers Defeated by Eau Claire Bruins in Hotly Contested Game

CSTC's hopes of staying in the conference championship race were dealt a severe blow at Eau Claire Monday night, when the Bruins nipped the Pointers 14-13. It was the first loss of the season for the Quantmen, and then, only by virtue of that all-important extra point. Trailing 14-0 at the halftime, the Pointers had rallied to score two touchdowns in the third quarter and come within that lone point of tying the game.

Nothing went right the first half as Eau Claire bruised its way to two touchdowns over the sluggish Pointers. Perkins, Eau Claire's veteran fullback, paved the way in leading the spirited Bruins, with Washburn, an end, contributing to the attack. Central State's offense was pretty much a failure, neither the ground or passing tries gaining much.

The third quarter was quite another story as the Pointers roared back with two touchdowns. The first came on a sustained drive after the halftime kick-off with Jimmy Koehn counting on a 12 yard twist into the end zone. Kulick's conversion made it 14-7. Not long afterward Walt Samelstad faded back and threw a long pass to Kulick which Ken spear-ed beyond the goal line. That brought the score to 14-13.

There was some speculation as to whether Kulick's kick was deflected or not, but at any rate, it sailed wide and the Pointers still trailed going into the final quarter. Once more CSTC penetrated Eau Claire territory after Dehlinger recovered a fumble, but the Pointers bogged down on the Bruin 30 yard stripe with less than a foot to go. This was the final scoring threat as Eau Claire stiffened to hold its lead, and they clung to it as the game ended 14-13.

Lansing, Michigan

Dear Editor:

Will you please put me on the mailing list of the Pointer and bill me. I enjoyed receiving the paper (Pointer) while in the service and also during my three year teaching stay at Park Falls, Wis. My greatest thrill and enjoyment, however, was experienced while on the Pointer staff from 1940-43.

I am at present at Michigan State College working toward a Master's Degree — majoring in Education and minoring in History.

The Pointers must be on the way to the title or have title aspirations for I saw in the paper that Milwaukee was trimmed 14-7. I sincerely hope that they defeat Superior State this fall.

Jimmy "Doc" Kulidas

Beaver Dam, Wis.

Dear Members of the Pointer Staff:
Enclosed please find a check for my subscription to this year's Pointer.

I hope this finds you happy to begin another successful school year. I wish you the best of luck in this year's undertaking.

I have now completed one week in my new career as third grade teacher here in Beaver Dam and I find myself enjoying it very much.

I will be looking forward to receiving my issues of the Pointer.

Gladys Rindfleisch

Minneapolis, Minn.

Dear Editor:

I have written a letter to Ray Venn and have asked him to give you my address for sending the Pointer to me this year.

I intend to be in Point for the Homecoming, Oct. 29, I believe. I will try to drop in then to pay you anything I may owe you for services rendered.

Being a graduate of CSTC, I suppose you think I am in the noble profession of instructing the younger generation — well, I'm not. I am again attending school. This is more of a vocational nature, however. I am learning to be a railroad telegrapher and station agent (better retirement). Quite interesting work so far. We graduate about the middle of next May.

Thank you for everything.

John Stanton

Oshkosh to Be Scene Of October Conference

Organization of a new state unit of the Association for Student Teaching will be the subject of a conference at Oshkosh Teachers college on October 22, according to Dr. Raymond E. Gotham.

This association, a national organization of those who train teachers, has state units in many of the states surrounding Wisconsin; however, Wisconsin has no such organization. Dr. Glenn Eye of the University of Wisconsin is a state representative on the national board.

At a meeting last January 10, it was decided to organize a state unit in Wisconsin. Dr. Gotham was elected chairman to organize the first meeting on October 22. Dr. Margaret Lindsay of Indiana State college at Terre Haute will be the main speaker. There will also be a panel of representatives from liberal arts colleges, state teachers colleges, the University of Wisconsin, and county normals present at the conference.

The organization of this association will be of great benefit to student teachers since there is no other which concerns itself with teacher training in Wisconsin.

Training School Loses Speech Correctionist

Mrs. Lois Van Leeuwen, speech correctionist at the city public schools and the Training school, is leaving her position to accompany her husband to New Orleans where he will take part in the organization of a new Hardware Mutual insurance office.

Mrs. Van Leeuwen has worked with clinical services for children with speech impediments. She has also tested all candidates applying for teacher's training and has met with Seniors to discuss speech correction in regard to their teaching.

Mrs. Gretchen Phair, head of the speech correction department of public instruction, has been contacted regarding a replacement for this vacancy.

under an outside window waiting for a crumb to fall.

Looks like Dan Cupid doesn't fare so well in this rainy weather. There are no pinnings or engagements to report.

Another election note: Watch for the developments in the Homecoming Queen campaign. Who is going to be the lucky girl to be escorted by the president of CSTC?

One morning last week, as Miss Mason drove into the school parking lot, the horn on her car stuck. Hearing the long blast, Victor Okray, school carpenter, came rushing to the rescue. Said he, hopefully, "My, I thought it was a wedding — some of the teachers getting married, maybe!"

ago on the back cover of a nationally known picture magazine. It depicted a well-known major-leaguer covetously fingering his favorite cigarette while above him a caption explained why he wouldn't smoke anything else. In the same issue of the same magazine there appeared an article about the same gentleman in which he was quoted as saying, "Cigarettes, I never use them — they cut my wind!"

And according to a major manufacturer of cigarette lighters: "If you need a light — you need a Johnson!" It makes us wonder how we've gotten along on matches all these years.

Which all goes to say, as someone once said, "You can fool some of the people some of the time but you can't fool all of the people all of the time." We wonder.
