

Cold Snowy Pan-Hell Ends Spring Pledging

Climaxing the second semester pledging was the traditional spring Pan Hellenic dance held last Saturday evening, March 22, at the American Legion hall. The Greeks and their guests danced to the music of Larry Woodbury and his orchestra.

The traditional Greek theme of the dance was depicted by the symbols of the five Greek organizations strung above the stage. Although it was more than snowing and blowing outside, spring was inside, as was indicated by the colorful crepe paper flowers and flower pots on the tables, and the beautiful spring formal.

Dick Turzanski, Phi Sig president, was general chairman for the dance. The Chi Deltas were in charge of securing the orchestra and the Phi Sigs, of the programs and tickets. The Psi Betas wrote the invitations, the Tau Gams secured the hall and the Omegas decorated the hall. Sharon Sutton, Mary Ann Petersen, Donna Thompson, Virginia Fischer, Jackie Pielh, Nancie Goebel and Nellie Jacobson composed the dance decoration committee. Chaperones for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Leland M. Burroughs and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Specht.

Omeg Dinner Delayed

Formal initiation and a banquet were held by each group before the dance. Because of hazardous roads, the Omega Mu Chi sorority, which was to have held its dinner at the Meadows on Highway 51, cancelled reservations and held the dinner on Tuesday evening, March 25, instead.

Tau Gamma Beta sorority held its formal initiation at Nelson Hall preceding their dinner which was held at the Hesser Hotel. Toastmaster for the dinner was Ethel Farris, who opened the program with a short speech about the theme, "Memories." The theme was further carried out in table decorations representing activities of the year.

Dinner guests included Miss Besse May Allen, Miss Helen Meston, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, Mrs. Mildred Williams, Miss Mildred Davis, Mrs. Randolph Frazee, Miss Gladys Van Arsdale and Mrs. Lucille Charneworth. Alums present were Carol Collins, Barbara Bea, Betty Kusserow, Jean Yaeger, Nelda Dopp and Kay Hansen Dean.

Smith Receives Pin

Mrs. Charlesworth, opening the book of "Memories," spoke on behalf of the alums and as a past president. Ruth Ann Charlesworth spoke for the newly initiated members. Miss Van Arsdale, adviser, gave a short talk which further carried out the theme. Mary Douville, sorority president, read the names of the seven new members with scholastic averages of 2.5 or above. They are Nancy Court, Lou Breymann, Lynnett Olson, Diane Seif, Mary Bartelt, Lois Schlottman and Mary Ann Smith. Glenn Clark presented the Jean Mailer honorary sorority pin to Mary Ann Smith and Lois Schlottman, who tied for highest honors. Sylvia Abrahamson, pledgemaster, thanked the new members for their cooperation.

Mary Ann Smith, accompanied by Gloria Suckow, sang "One Kiss." A trio, Barbara Nelson, Sylvia Abrahamson and Janice Gruen, sang "Memories" and "Only A Rose." They were accompanied by Dorothy Thompson.

Jacobson Welcomes Pledges

Chi Delta Rho fraternity held its formal initiation and dinner at the Hesser Hotel, Master of ceremonies for the dinner was Al Long, president. Guest speaker was Raymond M. Rightsell, who has been an adviser for the fraternity since it was formed. Alums present were Maurice Mead and Lloyd Petersen. Mead spoke for the alums, William Cable spoke as pledgemaster and Edward Hachart responded for the new members. John Mallow honored the graduating seniors. Also present as guests were advisers, Gilbert W. Faust and Raymond E. Specht.

The Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity dinner was held at the Antler's at 7 o'clock. James Wilkinson was chairman of the pledge committee. Howard Kumbler, Robert McMahon and Robert Gralling composed the committee. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Steiner were special

Plan Student Union And Phy Ed Building

Some day, Central State may have a physical education and health building and a student union. These buildings were included in a proposal recently submitted to the board of regents of state colleges by President William C. Hansen and will become a reality if accepted and passed by the legislature.

The CSC proposal was included in the "necessary" classification. The project was estimated at a cost of about $1,200,000 for both buildings. Plans for a library here are already under way. This building, estimated at about $750,000, is scheduled to be ready for construction some time this summer.

guests. Francis Bremmer, executive officer from Davenport, Iowa, spoke to the 50 people who attended the dinner, a date affair.

Donald Kott was named the outstanding pledge. New members of the fraternity were introduced by James Wilkinson, and Robert Okray spoke on behalf of the alums. Mr. Steiner complimented the fraternity on its fine selection of new members.

New Psi Beta Adviser

The Psi Beta Psi sorority held its installation ceremony in the home economics parlors. Miss Mary Ullman was also installed as a sorority adviser. Following the initiation of new members, a formal dinner was held at Jerry's All-American Cafe. The theme of the dinner was "Spring" and the decorations carried out this theme. The center of the table held a bouquet of pussy willows and apple blossoms, flanked by miniature sprinkling cans containing spring flowers. Perched on the edge of each water glass was a colorful butterfly.

Mary Anne Panke was toastmaster for the occasion and introduced the "Sunbeams," Marilyn Schilling, Margjorie Lawrie, Vivian Schultz, Radine McIntee and Verna Schaefer, who sang "Spring," "April Showers," and "Tiptoeing Through The Tulips." Caryl Edmund welcomed the new members and Delores McLees replied for the new activists.

Delores McLees was honored for the occasion and introduced the highest grade point average. Mrs. Raymond E. Specht addressed the group on the theme of the sorority's first dinner over a year ago.

The affair was brought to an end with the entire group singing the sorority song.

Over 100 Pointers Donate in Blood Drive

Over 100 CSC students and faculty members volunteered to donate blood when the Red Cross Bloodmobile paid its fourth visit here Tuesday and Wednesday, March 25 and 26.

Arol C. Epple was in charge of the program here at the college. He was assisted by Jack Brandt, who was in charge of transportation, Carole Gilbertson, who arranged appointments, and Helen Isberner, who was responsible for publicity.

the other senators and have not done much harm, but presidential mistakes in foreign policy cannot be voted down by others.

In answer to the question of what he would do if elected and the Korean war were still going on, Stassen announced, "If I elected, the first thing I would do would be to recall General Douglas MacArthur to government service." The statement was followed by a spontaneous burst of applause and cheers.

Scheduled for Saturday at 7:30 P M

The University of Wisconsin dance group, Orchesis, will give a program in the auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, March 29. Students will be admitted by presentation of their activity tickets. Doors will be open to the public after 7:15.

Always experimental in nature, Orchesis was founded in 1917 at the university by Margaret H'Doubler to answer the need for an organization that would help students work out dance problems in a sympathetic group which understood the techniques and difficulties in the new art form.

CLAIRE LEUINE

While doing graduate work at Columbia University Professor H'Doubler became convinced of the value of dance in education, and returning to Wisconsin she began to experiment. From this start grew a simple program, the first of the dance dramas.

Dancers Create Ideas

Orchesis is made up mainly of dance majors at the university but anyone interested may participate. The dancers themselves create and develop the ideas and choreography for each number.

The dance group works on a similar basis as writers in literature. Authors express their thoughts through words, while the members of Orchesis express their thoughts through movement. The name "Orchesis" is derived from a Greek word meaning not only "to dance" but to know movement in all its implications as an expressive medium.

The men and women who are members of Orchesis, will present a program of dance to show how movement, the medium of dance, is both the source of experience and the subject to be examined.

There is no definite program of titles, but the sequence of presentation may be given as the emerging mind, the emotional picture, the body instrument, the spatial and rhythmic materials, and the final dance.

The president of Orchesis is Rhoda Winter. Professor Margaret H'Doubler and Professor Louise Kloepper are advisers to the group.

Local Girl Member

A Stevens Point girl, Anne Giffrey, is a participant in the group. She is a sophomore at the University, and this is her first year in Orchesis.

The dance group is being brought here through the joint sponsorship of the WSGA and the Assembly Committee.

General chairman for the event is Shirley Sonnenberg. Committees working with her include publicity committee, Phyllis Hazelwood, chairman, Lois Weber, Carol Holt, Betty Crook, Joy Lane; ushers, Virginia Brisco, chairman, Jean News, Jean News, Caryl Edmund; reception, co-chairmen Pat Ricket and Joyce Moll.

Student Union Plans, Council Meeting Topic

All business was tabled at the Student Council meeting last Monday night so tentative plans for a proposed student union in Delzell Hall could be discussed. Bart McNamara presented the rules and ideas of the planning committee, made up of McNamara, Sharon Sutton, Wilson Gration, Eleanor Curtis, and the Student-Faculty Social committee.

Some suggested rules for this union in the men's dorm are as follows: That a union board be composed of four students, one from each dorm and an independent man and woman, to serve until graduation; that a union fee be charged with the activity fee; and that hours will be from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays, 7 p.m. to 12 on Wednesdays, 7 p.m. to 12:30 on Fridays, 1 p.m. to 12:30 on Saturdays, and 1 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Sundays.

The Student Council pledged 100% cooperation in backing the union and appointed three of its members to serve with the planning committee. The three are Ed Jacobson, Don Olsen, and Al Long.

The Political Pot Boils — Kefauver, Stassen Campaign Here

Senator Estes Kefauver and Harold E. Stassen, Democratic and Republican candidates, respectively, for the presidential nominations greeted Central State students, faculty and townspeople last week in an effort to gain additional support in the Wisconsin primary election, to be held April 1. Both men gave addresses in the college auditorium.

A standing room only crowd was on hand Thursday morning, March 20, for the appearance of Senator Kefauver. The friendly, handshaking Tennesseean was besieged both before and after his talk by news photographers, fraternity and sorority pledges and autograph seekers.

Kostuck Honored

Of special interest to local people was the tribute paid by the Senator to John T. Kostuck, veteran Democratic assemblyman, who has been unopposed for many years for the Portage county seat, when he said, "The greatest tribute to you is the fact that you have had no opponents. I'm not as fortunate as you are — I have opposition."

During the course of his speech or in reply to the questions which followed Kefauver expressed support for the St. Lawrence seaway project and U.M.T., but could see no cut in taxes at the present time.

About the world situation he had this to say, "I am not one of those who believe war is inevitable."

Others speaking on the program were Dr. Quincy Doudna, CSC Dean of Administration, who greeted the senator on behalf of the college; William Proxmire, Democratic candidate for governor; Assemblyman Kostuck; William Edwards, CSC student and vice chairman of the Wisconsin Young Democrats; and Len Meshak, chairman of the local Kefauver for President club.

If not as large an audience just as enthusiastic filled into the auditorium shortly after noon on Saturday, March 22, to hear the former governor of Minnesota and now President of the University of Pennsylvania, Harold Stassen. Stassen was the winner of the Presidential primary election held here last week.

Flint, Chairman

Dr. Quincy Doudna was again on hand to extend the greeting of the college. Chairman of the event was Robert Flint, chairman of the Central State Young Republican organization. Flint also introduced the speaker and others present on the stage.

Mr. Stassen's speech took the form of a direct attack on the Democratic administration of President Harry S. Truman and the policies of Senator Robert Taft. He went on to outline a policy which generally followed these three points — be more friendly to labor, be more favorable to agriculture, take a more courageous leadership in foreign policy.

Truman and Taft Wrong

He declared, "President Truman and Senator Taft have both been mistaken on foreign policy. Taft's mistakes have been voted down by

Youth in Politics

How can Communism or any other similar force ever expect to score a victory over a country like ours, in which youth takes such an active interest in what kind of government we have and who runs it? This interest certainly was displayed here on the Central State Campus last week.

It is really gratifying to witness the large number of students participating in the activities of political organizations and groups formed to back candidates aspiring to the presidency.

This, we believe, is a direct answer to the numerous charges made against the American Youth of today that they lack a sense of responsibility and foresight. What displays these attributes better than the activities and programs which are being carried on at the present time?

The school administration is certainly deserving of commendation for making the college facilities available to all candidates wishing to speak. It should be deemed a privilege to be able to listen to these men. Naturally, we may not agree with everything any one of them has to say, and for that matter we may not agree with the individual at all, yet, seeing both sides of the picture will facilitate the task of choosing the right man for the job.

Congratulations are also in order to the Central State Student Council, Alpha Gamma, and the Young Republicans for their efforts in the promotion of the mock national convention held in the auditorium last evening. Participation or simply witnessing the program was a political education in itself. The action behind the scenes in our American two-party system came to light for the benefit of all. Through the knowledge gained in this way, we will be better able to fulfill our duties in our American way of life.

FAMILIAR FACES

One would have to be dead, deaf and dumb, or a somewhat prejudiced Phi Sig nut to notice Al Long these days. He has found the secret of how to get the most out of a four year stay in college, (to the practical-minded this means extracting every cent out of tuition). The trick is to join every club on the campus, excepting of course those that cater to a different sex!

If he suddenly hid himself up to an ivory tower, at least two organizations would be out searching for their president, and several others would definitely experience the to CSC from Sayner, where his father works for the State Conservation department. He has two brothers, one working in Wyoming and the other a student at the University of Wisconsin.

"During the summer I work at our gas station, but," he admits, "I call it loafing at home." Such honesty is refreshing in an election year.

He is in the secondary division, majoring in math and geography, with a history minor. These fields of study have enabled him to be active in two honorary fraternities. Al is president of Sigma Zeta, honorary service group, and has held several offices in Alpha Gamma, the social studies club.

Active Chi Delt

But the organization that probably means most to him is his fraternity, Chi Delta Rho. Al has been a loyal and enthusiastic member for two and a half years, and is the president of Chi Delt's this semester.

Politically, Al is a Young Republican. Taft variety, and last night at the mock convention he was head of the delegation from Washington, D. C.

Last fall Al was elected to the student council as the senior representative and is now the vice-president of the group. He has been business manager of the Iris for two years.

Will Teach at Wausau

But by far his biggest news at this time of the year is the signing of a contract to teach social science at Wausau Junior high next year, (USA — Uncle Sam allowing). Al is especially pleased at the location because it is close to Stevens Point. He has grown so fond of this institution that CSC can expect to see quite a bit of him next year when he returns here with his graduate degree in extra-curricular activity.

Another transfer of Jewelry — Nancy Malchow, Stevens Point, is now an honorary Phi Sig, thanks to one Bob McMahon. Bob is from Wycocena (yes, that's in Wisconsin) and is a junior with a major in conservation.

vague feeling that something is missing. Let anyone be inclined to sniff at these accomplishments, Al can chalk up another one when he slows down enough to figure out his grade point average, which is high.

Sayner Is Home Town

The faculty will be gratified to know that the basis of Al's strenuous senior year activity is the hard studying and anonymity of his freshman year. As a freshman he came Attention!

Differences Between Freshmen and Sophomores Listed by Miami Prof

The following observations about freshmen and sophomores were made by Arthur G. Phillips, associate professor of English at the University of Miami, Fla., in a guest editorial for the Miami Hurricane:

1. Freshmen believe that all of their professors are smart; sophomores believe that one or two of their professors are smart — the ones that give them A's.
2. Freshmen are in college to get an education; sophomores are in college because their fathers refuse to pay their fare to Las Vegas.
3. Freshmen aren't dry behind the ears; sophomores are always dry.
4. A freshman will take a wooden nickel; a sophomore will take a wooden nickel, too, and five minutes later put it in the slot machine.
5. A male freshman is looking for a girl like his mother; this is also true of the sophomore, if his mother happens to be Jane Russell.
6. A freshman believes the way to get good grades is to study hard; the sophomore has decided that a better way is to sit next to someone who studies hard.
7. Freshmen suspect that professors aren't human; sophomores know it.

8. Freshmen kiss their dates goodbye; sophomores kiss them hello.

Concludes the professor: "Everybody loves a freshman. What makes life disillusioning to a professor is the thought that this year's Freshmen will be next year's sophomores."

Schmeckle Speaks on Conservation Education

Stressing Conservation Education, an important phase of the whole conservation program here at CSC, Fred J. Schmeckle presented the talk "Signs of our Times" to the Wausau teachers on Monday, March 24. He will again give this speech to the Federation of Women's Clubs at Milwaukee on April 1.

Mr. Schmeckle is attending a conservation workshop for high school boys at Eagle River today, Friday and Saturday. Forty-two boys, selected from the high schools of Elcho, Wilton and Wittenberg are at the "Trees for Tomorrow" camp at Eagle River. Mr. Schmeckle's job is to teach them about the country's natural resources through conducted tours, lectures and discussions.

The "Scoop" Shovel

By Gretchen Holstein

Saturday afternoon was spent riding the political bandwagon with Harold E. Stassen on his chartered bus to Wisconsin Rapids—en route to Rapids, Howard Thompson blew up a terrific storm so the rest of the trip was cancelled. With that short trip and the good fortune to sit right across the aisle from the Minnesota Standardian, several select comments, both printable and unprintable were gleaned. Frinstance—when the storm was at its height and the driver was navigating by radar only—Stassen turned around and said, "What do you think, boys? Do you suppose Tom Colman has the snow plows tied up?" Ten minutes after we got home, the radio announced that Stassen was snowbound at Rudolph and was cancelling the rest of the day's engagements.

We can't help but notice how big, physically, all these presidential aspirants are. Taft and Stassen both tower over their audiences and Kefauver runs a close third (with his coonskin cap on).

We hear that Taft spent a memorable day in Rice Lake. It seems that the local yokel who was to introduce him got stage fright at the last minute and was speechless. Higley, the state chairman, jumped to the rescue and gave a glowing tribute, turned to Taft and said, "Ladies and gentlemen, I give you that great American, Bob La Follette." Just to stay in the swing, Taft rose and countered with, "I'm very happy to be back in this fair state of New Hampshire."

Definition of the week: Hangover—the moaning after the night before.

Romance blooms again and Sharon Sutton is now under double lock and key. She not only is pinned but also engaged to Joe Campbell — both are from Rhinelander. Joe is a former CSC'er who is now in the army and Germany-bound. Sharon is a sophomore in primary.

At last we can tell the Paulsen twins apart! Bob no longer has his Chi Delt pin because Betty Crook is wearing it. Both Betty and Bob are sophomores — Bob is another Rhinelanderite (is there such a word?) and Betty is from Wisconsin Rapids.

Peggy Thorpe, a third year rural from Auburndale, is now Mrs. Wayne Tomfohrde. She was married on March 15. Wayne, who is from Arpin, will be in the service soon. Peggy will graduate from the three year rural course in June.

Another transfer of Jewelry — Nancy Malchow, Stevens Point, is now an honorary Phi Sig, thanks to one Bob McMahon. Bob is from Wycocena (yes, that's in Wisconsin) and is a junior with a major in conservation.

Dr. Tolo's son Marc has had the proper training. He was here right on time for Kefauver's address. But things didn't get rolling at nine the way they should have and Kefauver was just getting started at a quarter to ten. Marc figured that by that time things should be "drawing" to a successful conclusion and he was ready to go — so he did.

Mr. and Mrs. John Eid of Madison have sent us a note that they are the parents of a son, James Stuart, born March 10, at Madison General Hospital. Mrs. Eid, the former Margery Hales, is a CSC grad and was very active in Radio Workshop, as was her husband, who attended here for two years.

The following tidbit was contributed by Kathryn Turney Garten in her review of the novel, "The United" last Monday night.

A dejected soldier had this to say about army life — "Living with men all the time is like having a vitamin deficiency."

You can't learn much listening to yourself.

Inquiring Reporter Asks

Why Vote? As You Do?

By Tom Lund

A week ago Tuesday there was nothing but voters within these ivy-covered walls, as well over 80% of the enrollment cast ballots in the primary election sponsored by the Student Council. They thereby completed the first phase of a sham political drama that continued yesterday with a convention which chose the Republican candidate for the school's fall election.

Curious as to what candidates individual students voted for, I decided to play the reporter and contact several of them with the idea of getting at the same time their reasons for voting the way they did. So grabbing my little blue notebook, I strode out into the cold gray hallway, almost immediately running into Mary Mayer, an ardent Kefauver Democrat. When I asked him why he voted for the J. Edgar Hoover of Tennessee (I thought this was devilishly clever of me), he glanced quickly at the ceiling and answered, "How should I know?"

Stassen Backer Answers Undaunted, I continued on my way in search of some material a little more meaty. Don Benz was the best I could do.

"Don," I said, pretending I did not see the Stassen button pinned to his lapel, "whom did you vote for?"

"Never use a preposition to end a sentence with," he countered and then added, "I voted for Stassen."

"Why?" I asked.

"Did I ask you why you voted for Taft?" he snapped, and continued on his way. With slightly dampened spirits I next accosted a rather elderly female student whose name I have forgotten. She stated quite flatly that she had not voted at all and would not do so until Roosevelt was put back on the ballot. Before I could pursue the matter any further she was rushing off explaining that she must be on her way so as not to be late for Home Economics class because they were making mock pork roast out of chicken legs.

One More Try By this time I was losing interest in my whole project; nevertheless, I decided to try one more prospect. My hopes soared as I spied young politico, Bertram Davies, lumbering down the hall toward me. I knew he had voted for Warren and I quickly asked him why.

"Tom," he said slowly and deliberately, "due to the complexities which involve the present political picture to such a point that the ordinary voter can scarcely discern the issues hidden in the maze of platforms set before him, I think your question is unfair."

By the time I had written all of this down, I couldn't remember what my question was and didn't much care. Anyway, I guess I'm just a big old failure as reporter.

Public Relation Films Shown in Assembly

Last Friday's movie during the regular assembly hour was one that students more than enjoyed, for they themselves were actors in it.

The presentation of two films by Raymond E. Specht of the geography department represented Mr. Specht's work in recording on film the highlights of the past school year.

The first film, which was narrated by Mr. Specht, showed the various phases of life on the CSC campus, including school activities, departments, organizations, and sports. The film was in full color and demonstrated fine picture taking on the part of Mr. Specht.

The second film was a black and white presentation of three basketball games, St. Norbert's, Superior, and Whitewater. This film is part of a series taken at each basketball game this year and has been primarily used by the athletic department.

These public relations films are intended for use in schools and various service clubs. They have been shown with very excellent results at Wausau and Wisconsin Rapids.

SHINE 'EM BRIGHT. Senator Estes Kefauver, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, gets a free shine from Tau Gam pledge, Nadine Bahr, during his visit to the Central State Campus, March 20. The senator spoke before a large gathering in the college auditorium.

Volleyball Play Begins

The intramural volleyball league swung into action by virtue of eight games being scheduled for this week. Tuesday night eight of the 11 teams saw action, while four more games are slated for this afternoon. "Honus" Wagner, in charge of the league, has arranged the schedule so we have each team play a 10 game slate. The Stevens Point High Panthers may not have won the state basketball championship, but not a soul will begrudge them the title of "Wisconsin's fightingest team." Two nights in a row Coach Erickson's charges fought back against tremendous odds and snatched victory out of certain defeat. They almost turned the trick in the championship battle, too, scoring 10 points to South Milwaukee's two at one point in the last period. The citizenry of Stevens Point can take great pride in an outfit that has the "heart" these boys have shown. Without a doubt the Panthers did much more than could be expected of them.

The state tournament was, on the whole, quite an exciting affair. Besides the great Point comeback, Neenah almost turned the trick in their first game but bowed out when their last ditch rally fell short. In the consolation final, Neenah again came from behind to tie Wauwatosa but were outscored in the overtime as the "Tosa 5" squeezed a 66-65 extra period victory.

Nothing can exceed the exuberance of basketball fans, especially at a state tournament. Coach Johnny Roberts heartily attests to that fact. As the gun marking the end of a particularly thrilling game went off, the supporters of the winning team could hold their excitement no longer. Roll after roll of "tissue" was thrown from the stands. Coach Roberts happened to be standing idly by when, "Thwak!" a big fat roll bounced off his head. The people in this area, listening to the broadcast of the games knew it almost as soon as he did. Ed Hansen, sportscaster for WFHR, used the incident as a sidelight on his broadcast of the games.

While on the subject of basketball, let's return to the college level and take a look at this year's statistics, just released by the Athletic Committee for the WSC Loop. Individually, the marks were dominated by lanky Roger Kuss, River Falls pivotman. Kuss heads the most points column with 315; most points in one game, with 45; the most field goals in a season with 126; and the most field goals in one game, with 20. All this came despite the fact that he missed the Pointer tangle because of a bad ankle.

His nearest rival was Jim Bos of Eau Claire, who scored 230 markers. Highest scorers for the Pointers were Chet Polka, 11th on 155 counters and Bob Hestad, 19th on 128 points.

La Crosse State has appointed a new football coach to succeed Clark Van Galder who resigned Feb. 5. He is E. W. (Bill) Vickroy, assistant football coach since 1948. The new coach will, in addition to his football duties, also serve as swimming coach at the Phy Ed school.

THIS IS MY VIEW — Harold E. Stassen discusses a matter of policy with Ethel Farris following a talk which he gave in the CSC auditorium on Saturday, March 22. Stassen, Republican presidential hopeful, was winner of the primary election held here on March 18. In the background is Bob Flint, chairman of the CSC Young Republicans.

Stassen Wins in Mock Presidential Primary

Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, came out best in the primary election held at CSC on Tuesday, March 18. A total of 573 votes was cast.

Stassen, polling 145 of the 453 Republican votes, was the victor over Senator Robert Taft with 125; Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, 84; Gov. Earl Warren, 78; General Douglas MacArthur, 15, and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey with one write-in vote.

On the Democratic side, Senator Estes Kefauver was an easy winner, gaining 86 of the 116 votes cast. President Harry Truman ran a poor second with 21. Senator Richard Russell had four and Gov. Adlai Stevenson, one. A single Socialist vote was cast for Norman Thomas. A write-in gave one vote to Dagmar of television fame, and there were three rejected ballots.

AKL Holds "Formal" Initiation Party

In an effort to bolster the ranks of the Conservation club, the AKL recently held its semi-annual initiation party. At this party, held at the Wing Bar, 11 members were received into membership. It has been heard that Doc Wievel was also initiated — just for a little insurance about his membership in the club.

Pres. Bill Spaulding, Don Helgeron, Don Wilde, and Ransom Rhode were in charge of refreshments. Bob Blackman, Bob Gilbert and Stanley Smith composed the initiation committee.

The new members include: Don Bassler, Dick Bechard, Claude Buchberger, Gerald Dietsche, Dwaine Drew, Norman Froeba, Harold Schumacher and Bob Netzel.

Yearbook Editor Predicts

Iris To Appear on Time

With the first fresh zephyr of spring, students at Central State begin to wonder about their yearbook, the Iris. Such questions as "How's the Iris coming?" and "Will it come out on time this year?" become everyday interrogations in the life of the editor.

The staff is glad to hear these questions because they then know that students are interested in their annual.

The Iris staff this year made one decision early in the fall. That decision was that all material for the book must be completed and turned in to the printers by April 1. The staff has been working feverishly to meet its deadline.

The cover (the book will be the same size as the '51 Iris) has been designed and is being printed. Thanks to the picture schedulers, all but a few last minute pictures of sports and necessary re-takes have been sent in to the engraver.

Diane Seif and Shirley Kubisak have drawn cartoons that will add spice to the contents of the book. With less printed material, more space can be allowed for pictures — many of them full page. The almost hopeless task of identifying all the pictures and putting the right name under the right person's picture was detailed to Ilse Hirzy. Identification editor.

Eunice Bauer, copy editor, is working hard to keep the printed material alive and interesting. Mary Douville has contacted all groups that were to have their pictures taken and arranged the time and place for photographer Bart McNamara to snap them.

Marguerite Smith, a freshman, has edited pictures and prepared them for the engraver. Jack Poopek, advertising manager, has helped increase the Iris' finances so that Business Manager Al Long will have the necessary currency to pay the bills and balance the books.

The staff owes much to the moral support and timely suggestions given by Dr. Harold M. Tolo, business adviser, Burdette W. Eagon, editorial adviser and Miss Edna Carlisten, art adviser.

They are trying diligently to have the Iris out to the students before exams so that readers may browse through it at their leisure and also obtain all the necessary autographs that go into a yearbook. The staff feels that students will like the book and that they will use it often to recall old memories.

Ode to Election Day

By Willis Zick

Who'll it be in '52?
Harry again or someone new?
The crime buster from Tennessee
With his ballot cast for U.M.T.?
Republican Bob with his Labor Law
Or from out West, Nina's "paw"?
The scholar from Pennsylvania U.
With plans for deposing Achie's crew?
Has the old soldier "faded away"
To reappear election day?
Will General Ike return from France
To cast his lot-in this game of chance?
Who will it be in '52?
We've no idea, now, have you?

High School District Forensic Meet Will Be Held Here March 29

The Wisconsin High School Forensic association district speech tournament will be held Saturday, March 29 in the auditorium. Arnold D. Wicklund, superintendent of schools at Nekeosa, is district manager of the meet. Approximately 200 contestants, their coaches, and various high school officials are expected to participate. All of the contestants have won previous local and league meets, and "A" winners in this district contest will compete in the state contest in Madison on April 19.

Activities will get under way at 9 a.m. with a word of welcome by President William C. Hansen and also a presentation of final instructions by Mr. Wicklund in the college auditorium. The tournament is expected to last until 4 p.m.

In order to complete the program during the day, six or seven different contests will in many instances be going on simultaneously. These contests will include the following: Oratory, four minute speeches, extemporaneous speaking, extemporaneous reading, humorous declamation and serious declamation. These contests will be held in the college auditorium, the rural assembly, rooms 207, 115, 107, 253, and 113. Expert judges from CSC and Oshkosh have been selected to judge each contest.

Leland M. Burroughs of the English and speech departments will act as general chairman of local arrangements. John Miller and David Silverman are student co-chairmen of the program, and will act as chairmen of extemporaneous reading and extemporaneous speaking, respectively. Other students interested in

Sorority Pledges Entertain at Teas

The pledges of the three sororities on the campus held teas this past week as part of their Hell-week activities. On Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. in the home economics parlors in tune to "In an Old Dutch Garden" the Psi Beta Psi prospective members entertained the actives, advisers, and patronesses. Favors were tiny Dutch windmills and the centerpiece was an attractive arrangement of red and yellow tulips in wooden shoes. Guests were Mrs. Nels O. Reppen, Miss Jessica Keyser, and Mrs. Raymond E. Specht. Miss Mary Ullman was introduced as the new faculty adviser for the sorority.

The living room at Nelson Hall was the site for the Omega Mu Chi tea from 3 to 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. Shamrocks comprised the favors and the serving table centerpiece represented a castle with tiny green flags on the three towers, the moat, and drawbridge. Guests of the sorority included Mrs. Margaret Angel, Mrs. Frank W. Crow, Mrs. Albert E. Harris, Mrs. Harold M. Tolo, Mrs. Charles Cashin, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, Mrs. Palmer Taylor, Mrs. Raymond E. Gotham, and Miss Susan Colman.

Hansen, Mrs. Frank Spindler, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, Miss Helen Meston, Mrs. Mildred Williams, Miss Gladys Van Arsdale and Miss Cecilia Winkler.
