CENTRAL STATE The POINTER

SERIES VI VOL. II Stevens Point, Wis., September 25, 1952 No. 1

Smith, Blodgett and Kerst Return

Dr. Alf William Harrer, Misses Rita Youmans and Doris Davis, and Mrs. Phyllis Ravey are new CSC faculty members teaching here for the first time. Returning to Central State after a year's absence each are Dr. Mary Elizabeth Smith, Mrs. Warren Blodgett, and Mrs. Marjorie Kerst.

Miss Rita Youmans, head of the Home Economics department, and Miss Doris Davis, teacher of foods and nutrition, are among the new members of CSC's faculty. Miss Youmans did her undergraduate work at Central Missouri State college. She received her M.S. degree at the Kansas State Agricultural college. Her practical experience was gained in Missouri high schools teaching Home Economics and leadership. Later Miss Youmans became State Supervisor of Home Economics in the Missouri State Department of Education. She is also responsible for the teacher-training program at Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg, Missouri.

Bartosz Put In Charge of 1952 Homecoming

Jerry Bartosz, Stevens Point, a senior in Letters and Science, has been named Homecoming chairman. Homecoming festivities, climaxed by Saturday's afternoon football clash with Whitewater, will begin with the election of a queen on Thursday, October 16 and continue through to Sunday, October 19.

The tentative and still incomplete Homecoming schedule follows: Thursday, Oct. 16 — Election of Queen and class officers (Campaigning can start officially Monday, Sept. 29)

The following will make up the Homecoming committee: Marlyn Gilbert, Mary Lund, Gene and Bob Paulson, Ed Jacobsen, Shirley Sonnenberg, and Harold Schumacher.

Organizations that wish to have floats in Saturday's parade are urged to get preparations under way soon.

Miss Doris Davis is a graduate of the University of Indiana and has studied at Michigan State college and the University of Wisconsin where she has completed the requirements for her M.A. degree. Miss Davis has taught in several Indiana high schools, the last being at Batesville, Indiana.

Miss Youmans takes the place of Miss Bessie May Allen and Miss Davis of Miss Helen Meston, both of whom retired this past year.

Room 351 is the CSC home of Dr. Alf William Harrer, another recent addition to the "Purple and Gold" faculty.

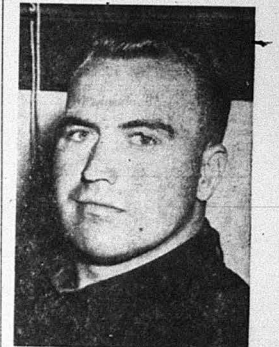

Dr. Harrer received his bachelor of science and his master's degree from the University of Wisconsin, after which he accepted a teaching position at Ball State Teachers college at Muncie, Indiana. While there, Dr. Harrer taught "Tests and Measurement" and "Motor Learning" and was director of student physical welfare.

After receiving his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Wisconsin in June, 1951, Dr. Harrer accepted a position as training specialist with Hardware Mutuals of Stevens Point.

Newman Added to Faculty As Part-Time Instructor In Conservation

James Newman was added this week as part time faculty member in the conservation department at CSC. A native of Akron, Ohio, he is a graduate of Michigan State college. He received his B.S. degree in forestry and did some graduate work while at Michigan State. He attended Ohio Wesleyan, the University of Virginia, and the University of Akron. While attending Michigan State, he worked as a park ranger at Yellowstone National park during the summer. Mr. Newman was a member of the naval ROTC and saw service in the last war.

Although forestry is Mr. Newman's major, his hobbies are sports and music, not hunting and fishing. His main interest lies in weight lifting. He coached this sport at Michigan State and was president of the college Weight Lifting club. The intercollegiate heavy-weight lifting title was held by Mr. Newman for two years in succession.

While at Central State, Mr. Newman also plans to earn credits in secondary education. He will teach two sections of forestry in the freshman class.

CSC Participates in Statewide Network

Central State college will again participate in State Radio network programs, to be broadcast from Madison, over WHA and the state FM network.

Miss Gertie Hanson, chairman of the Radio committee and director of the Radio workshop, has announced that Norman E. Knutzen of the CSC English department will broadcast classroom lectures in American Literature during the first semester. The lectures, to be tape recorded in the campus classroom, will be sent to Madison for later broadcast.

Mr. Knutzen's lectures will be heard at 8:30 every Thursday and Friday morning, starting today.

Library Plans Started

Construction bids for the new CSC library will be opened September 26. Neils R. Kampenga, head librarian, announced this week. The architect's plans have already been accepted and approved.

The building will be constructed north of the college on Fremont street. Sims Cottage will be moved to make room for the project. The two story library will be 167 feet long and 142 feet wide.

The total cost will be $50,000 of which $550,000 will be for construction and $200,000 for equipment.

The new library will house 130,000 volumes, almost three times present capacity. Seating capacity also will be tripled to 380 students.

Mr. Mott Seriously Ill

Joseph Mott, psychology and English professor at CSC, is a patient at the Lake View Sanitarium in Madison, where he is seriously ill. During much of the summer, he was a patient at Wisconsin General hospital in Madison. Mr. Mott has been granted a leave of absence that is expected to continue throughout the year.

Any letters written to Mr. Mott are certain to be deeply appreciated.

Large Freshman Class Brings Enrollment to 712

This year 288 freshmen, 46 more than last year, enrolled for the first session at CSC. When added to the upper classmen, they bring the enrollment figure up to 712, an increase of 12 over last year.

Uncle Sam has made some serious inroads on the enrollment figures at CSC since the enactment of the Selective Military Service and the outbreak of the Korean War. The average number of students enrolled between 1947 and 1950 was approximately 857. In 1951, the enrollment dropped to a low of 699 students. This year's increase may be due partly to the number of veterans enrolled and slight easing of the draft situation.

The men students may be interested in knowing that Leap Year dangers are increased this semester as there are 331 women students and 381 men. Last fall there were 308 women and 388 men students.

Presidents of the colleges this week reported 7,404 students enrolled for the fall term, an increase of 100 over last year, with enrollment still incomplete. The number

Miss Colman Bids CSC Farewell

By Mary Lund

Twenty-one years ago, CSC, then known as Central State Teachers college, welcomed Miss Susan E. Colman, who became director of primary education, a position she maintained up to the time of her resignation, which became effective this September 1.

Miss Colman's first association with the state college system of Wisconsin began when, at the age of six, she attended the Training school of Superior State Teachers college, then known as Superior State Normal. She took a four year classical course at the normal school followed by a course in kindergarten education. After teaching first grade at Fond du Lac for one year, she returned to Superior where she taught junior high school.

Leaving Superior, Miss Colman entered the University of Wisconsin where she received her bachelor's and master's degrees.

Her first teaching assignment after graduation from the state university was at Whitewater State Teachers where she taught under Frank S. Hyer, then president of that college.

President Hyer came to Stevens Point at the beginning of the school year of 1930-31. It was the second semester of that year that Miss Colman came here.

The name of Susan Colman remains and will remain in the hearts and minds of everyone who has ever known her, especially those who have associated with her at CSC. The highest tribute which can be given to anyone is hers — that remembrance and love which all who know her hold in their thoughts.

Miss Colman's cozy office was a familiar sight and haven for many. Everyone was welcome and she always told the new students to come to her office when they were feeling low and wanted a shoulder to cry on, or when they were so happy they couldn't contain themselves. She was always a willing listener and helper.

It was Miss Colman's enthusiasm and interest, combined with a real and sympathetic understanding of people and their problems, which made her beloved of both students and faculty alike. The primary division students, especially, will miss her presence and her cooperation.

The primary supervisors at the Training school expressed their thoughts of Miss Colman by saying that it had been a pleasure and a privilege to know and to work with such a loyal and capable director. She always maintained a high standard in the primary department.

Miss Colman has expressed her own appreciation by saying, "Central State College and its staff and the state college system will always hold interest for me, and I can only wish my successors, Dr. Quincy Danna, director of the elementary division and Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Smith, associate director of the primary division, the fine friendship and cooperation that has been shown me."

Miss Colman is now living with her mother, Mrs. John D. Colman, at 623 Brawley street until their new home in City Park on College avenue is completed.

Don Cossack Chorus, Year's 1st Assembly

The Don Cossack Chorus will appear here Thursday, October 16, at Emerson School auditorium, for the first of this year's assembly programs. The Laubin Indian Dancers will follow on February 5, and Robert Metcalfe and a demonstration on stained glass will appear April 16.

Sometime during the first or second semester, "Harvey," a three-act comedy will be presented by the University of Minnesota players. There may also be a concert by the University of Wisconsin symphony orchestra.

Your activity ticket will admit you to these programs. The Don Cossack concert is open to the public at $1.50 per ticket. Each college student is entitled to one ticket free upon presentation of his student activity ticket in front of the library during the week of Oct. 6-10. All tickets remaining after 3 p.m. on Oct. 10 will be sold to the public.

College Theater Names Cast for Annual Plays

Three one-act plays are to be presented by the College Theater on the evenings of October 29 and 30, in the college auditorium. Directors of the plays are students in Miss Pauline Inascon's speech classes.

"The Florist Shop" is a Winifred Hawkrige comedy with actions centered about the florist's bookkeeper, Maude, played by Gladys Lehmann. Slovsky, John Soetebeer, is the middle-aged proprietor and his 16 year old office-boy, Henry, is portrayed by Don Smith. Miss Wells and Mr. Jackson, who provide the romantic element, are played by Dorothy Johnson and Bill Collins. Student directors of the play are Winifred Pierce and Eleanor Curtiss.

"The Clerk" by Lewis Beech, is a drama of the Civil War period. The cast is composed of Mary Trask, Rita Czerniewski; That, Jim Stasko; northern soldier, Earl Grow; southern sergeant, Homer Plumb; southern private, Rudy Brych.

The action takes place in a farmhouse kitchen on the North-South border. A northern soldier seeks refuge in the Trask home, while sought by the Southerners. The decision of the old woman whether or not to give aid, brings about a surprise ending. Phyllis Jarnick and Jack Popeck are the student directors.

The third play is another light farce entitled "Q," by Leacock and Hastings. The cast includes Jack Annerly, Frank Brocker; George Gnoff, James Schuh; Blight, Harold Schumacker; and Dora Dneiper, Marlys Hvass. The student directors are Sally Connor and Frank Reda.

"Q" is a story about Jack, man about town, who needs money. Dora, one of his friends, is in the same situation. Jack's scheme to pull the wool over the eyes of Mr. Gnoff, the upstairs boarder, leads to the hilarious conclusion.

Field Trip to South Planned for Christmas

A two-week geography field trip during Christmas vacation to the middle South and to New Orleans is being planned by the CSC extension students. The course was announced by Dr. Quincy Doudna, dean of administration. Offered under the college extension service program, it will carry three credits.

The two-week field trip, Dec. 20 to Jan. 2, will include several additional Saturday class periods to be held on the Stevens Point campus.

Students will spend Christmas in New Orleans with a traditional dinner at Antoine's. Other attractions include visits to the Vicksburg National cemetery and ante-bellum homes at Natchez. In Birmingham they will see the "steel center of the

Psi Beta Psi To Sponsor "Festival"

Psi Beta Psi invites all students to the "Festival," Saturday, October 4, from 8 to 12 p.m. at the Student Union. There will be entertainment, refreshments, and dancing to the music of John Cheek and his orchestra. A small admission will be charged.

FAMILIAR FACES

(Editors note: Familiar Faces was written this week by Gretchen Holstein, former Pointer news and feature editor, and Barbara Bauman, well-known Familiar Face writer of the past two years. Gretchen and Barbara are studying at the University of Wisconsin this year. We are deeply grateful to them for writing this story and want to thank them for their loyal service to the Pointer.)

The first Familiar Face of '52 is Frank De Guire, a senior and past editor of the Pointer — but he claims that his days with the press are not over.

"I might write a guest editorial sometime," says Frank, "if I'm moved enough by conditions."

It will have to be a short editorial since Frank is the unofficial successor to Al Long — last year's Big Man On Campus. Frank is president of Chi Delta Rho and Men's Glee club, and vice-president of Alpha Gamma. During off hours he is a member of Newman Club, YGOP and "S" club which takes care of his athletic, political and religious life.

Station Wagon, Gift To Conservation Department

A new nine passenger station wagon was presented to the conservation department this summer by the Consolidated Civic foundation, Inc., Wisconsin Rapids. The foundation was recently established by the Consolidated Water Power and Paper company. Fred J. Schmeckle, department head, went to Wisconsin Rapids, June 18, to accept the gift on behalf of the college.

The green and tan vehicle will be of great value to the school. Small student groups as well as small educator's groups will have the privilege of using it. Students will use it for worthwhile field trips and the educators will use it in traveling to various education meetings.

Central State wishes to express its gratitude to the Consolidated Civic foundation for "a very useful and practical gift." It is indeed gratifying to note that industry appreciates the value of conservation education.

Retired CSC Teacher Dies in Illinois

Funeral services were held September 20 at Walworth, Wisconsin for Miss Nancy Church, 72, former sewing and millinery teacher at CSC from September, 1920, until her retirement in the spring of 1940. She died Sept. 17, at a Harvard, Illinois hospital where she had been a patient for the past two weeks.

Faculty members who attended the funeral were Misses Emily Wilson, Edna Caristen, May Roach, Gladys Van Arsdale, Gertie Hanson and Leah Diehl.

As preparation for possible entrance into law school. Frank is a history major in L & S with a minor in golf. "In fact," Frank says, "There was scarcely room for my books on the editor's desk last year — my golf bag took up all the room!" His Alma Mater is the Whiting Country Club where he won the club championship for 1949-1952 inclusive, and the Vice-President's Trophy in 1952. "In the one place where low score means high man, Frank has hit rock bottom with a 32 for nine holes and a 67 for 18. For all this the college has given him three letters.

Concerning rosebuds and violins, your reporters got a curt — "no comment." The star question of the interview was, "Any skeletons in your closet you'd care to resurrect for publication?"

In a small voice tinged with an emotion only he and Eleanor Roosevelt can appreciate, he spoke of "My Trips." "Last year, the boys (Flint & crew) and I spied the Statue of Liberty through a porthole in the Anchor Room (Washington, D. C.) This year it's California for Christmas and the Golden Gate Bridge through the O in Mocambo."

For this he worked all summer packing boxing gloves and bathing suits at the Sport Shop.

He survived Washington; let's hope he makes it back from California or all the Vice-presidents in school will have to stay working.

Iris Staff Starts Work

The Iris staff is already hard at work making plans for the 1953 yearbook. The editor, Eunice Bauer, is anxious to get student opinion about the small sized yearbook as the size, 6x9, will be the same as last year. Eunice would especially like to know if the students prefer a student index, more copy which explains the various organizations, or more art work.

The editor says, "It's your yearbook so come and put your suggestions and criticisms in the suggestion box that will be placed in front of the library on Monday and Friday. This is the only way the Iris staff will know what you want in the yearbook."

The Freshman Begins Life

The Joy of Registration Time

By Dick Toser

Before every semester, an ordeal which spreads joy into the hearts of every college student, is the period of registration. It takes place in that honored room called the library, and all one needs to get in, is a number. If this number is over two digits, a nice man with a paper punch smiles kindly and says, "I'm awfully sorry but there are several people ahead of you, and it might be some time before you can get in. Perhaps you'd care to wait." Then with a reassuring gesture he directs you to a chair.

Two days later you enter the library, gay in spirit and pleased with the friendliness shown you. You hand your program card to a nice lady, who looks at it, giggles merrily, and exclaims, "Isn't this a scream, four of your classes are full, and you'll have to rearrange your whole schedule!" You, of course, join in this little joke, and leave the library laughing to yourself. Coming back four hours later, after rearranging your program by switching two classes and dropping three, which your adviser assures you you can always pick up "later," you again see the same lady. She passes you on to a finely dressed gentleman, who stands up and welcomes you with outstretched hands, and as you stretch yours to greet him, he throws a mound of cards in them, grins and says, "Fill 'em out!"

Delighted with this man's sense of humor and quickness of wit, you chuckle and take a place at the nearest table. You notice that as the person next to you rises, a small mist of perspiration is left on the back of his chair, but he takes his hanky and wipes it off before leaving. Even the students are courteous!

You begin to write out your cards, and if you make a mistake on one, or blob ink on another just as you're completing it, you don't have to worry. All you have to do is ask for more, and the clerk will chuckle and say,

Here's Why Students From Out of Wisconsin Come to Central State

By Felisa Borja

More and more students from out of Wisconsin are enrolling here at Central State. Do you know or can you guess what the reasons are that Josephine Daniel, Massachusetts, Charlotte, Hale, New York, Larry Stratton, Vermont, and Peter Garcia, Colorado, are here at CSC?

Interviewing Josephine "Jo" Daniel from Osterville, Massachusetts, we discovered that through correspondence with her brother, an official at Hardware Mutuals, she was convinced that Central State college has a very good system of education. Josephine said, "I didn't think that I would be unusual because people go to the East for educational purposes, too."

"Jo" plans on majoring in English, but is still undecided about her minors. She is living with her brother in town.

Charlotte Hale is a New Yorker but she was born in Milwaukee, and when she was five, her family moved to Hamburg, New York. Charlotte's father graduated here in 1924 when Central State was still a normal school. This is probably one of the reasons for her coming to CSC.

Charlotte intends to major in home economics, and has plans about residing permanently in Milwaukee after finishing her education here.

Another student from the East is Larry Stratton. Larry graduated from Barre High school in Vermont. Larry is one of those fellows who are going to school and at the same time supporting a family. He wanted to come to a small college in Wisconsin and Central State was recommended by school officials in Vermont.

Larry's intended major is biology with possible physical education and philosophy-psychology minors.

Way from out west, we have with us Peter Garcia. Peter hails from Alamosa, Colorado. Peter stated, "This school is better recognized than any other state colleges around my home."

Peter has experienced one year in Korea, serving in the Military Police corps. He intends to major in biology with physical education and philosophy-psychology minors.

Peter is living in town with his brother-in-law, Larry Stratton.

NEW INSTRUCTORS

the resignation of Miss Colman, Dr. Harrer accepted a position at CSC instructing courses in psychology and education.

Dr. Harrer's career also includes a year as a machine shop worker and a forty-seven month stint in the Navy.

While in the Navy he worked at Oberlin College as assistant personnel man for the V-12 unit there. He also was a PT boat commander in the South Pacific for a period of time. Married and the father of two boys and a girl, Dr. Harrer's hobbies are oil painting, all sports, and gardening.

When asked his impressions so far of CSC, his reply was: "It doesn't take long to like this place because of the warmth and friendliness that radiates from everywhere."

Mrs. Ravey CSC Grad

Mrs. Phyllis Ravey, a recent CSC graduate, has accepted the position as kindergarten supervisor in the Training school. Mrs. Ravey has also attended San Diego State Teachers college, and has taught in California and Waupaca, her former home.

Mrs. Ravey says, that to her, CSC is the best school there is, and thinks her pupils are the cutest youngsters she's ever seen. The teachers in the primary division have been most cooperative, and Mrs. Ravey regards teaching in the department as a very pleasant experience.

Dr. Mary Elizabeth Smith, who taught here in 1950-51, has returned to teach English and serve as associate director of the primary division. She will assume some of the duties of Miss Susan Colman, former director of primary education. She will also assist Dr. Quiney Doudna, who is responsible for all elementary education.

Dr. Smith taught last year at Eau Claire State college. She received her Ph.D. degree from the University of Iowa and her M.A. from the University of Minnesota.

Mrs. Warren Blodgett, a former substitute teacher at CSC in 1949-1950, has now returned as a part time instructor, teaching two freshman classes and one sophomore English class. Mrs. Blodgett attended Lawrence college where she received a B.A. degree.

Mrs. Marjorie Kerst has returned as supervising teacher at the rural demonstration school after a year's leave of absence for graduate study at the University of Wisconsin where she got her master's degree in education.

Optimism Reigneth

Optimism reigneth at Central State. We have a new building, new pros, and a winning football team. Rah! Rah! Yippee!

A very large and (we hope) spirited freshman class, 288 strong, are now adapting themselves to CSC life. May they not fall into the narrow rut of a spiritless student body. May they instill and maintain at this college a never-wavering spirit worthy of Central State.

All CSC rejoiced last year when Coach John Roberts came to Central State. The fruits of that rejoicing are very evident now — we have a winning football team. Now lets get the pep and spirit of a real college student body.

Oh, you fuddy-duddy, afraid-to-open-your-mouth-and-yell-students, forget that you're college students for a while. Let yourself go. Open up. Homecoming is coming. Back the team. Back Central State.

We've got the coach; we've got the team. We need the pep, we need the steam. COME ON, POINTERS. LET'S WIN!

Side Lines

by Jerry Baerenwald

As you can see, we're back in our same old spot again this year. We hope to be able to uphold well the tradition carried on in this space the past few years.

Some of the other teams in the State college conference haven't been faring as well as our Pointers against non-conference foes. This past weekend, Milwaukee's Green Gulls were swamped by Lawrence College 21-0, while Whitewater took a drubbing from Western Illinois to the tune of 10-0. Luther, a Pointer victim, trounced Platteville 33-7. Stout and Winona fought to a 6-6 deadlock and River Falls fell before St. Cloud, two touchdowns to none. Eau Claire managed to outscore Mankato, Minn., Teachers 35-20, Superior drove to a 6-6 tie with the Duluth branch of the University of Minnesota team, and the usually strong LaCrosse team bowed to St. Norbert's 14-0.

All told, the State conference posted two wins, one of which is credited to the Pointers, two ties and five defeats. Oshkosh has yet to see action.

Team quarterback Don Herrmann seems to have picked up a new nickname during the Houghton trip this past weekend. The night before the game the team took in a movie, which included a cartoon. Ever since Herrm has been answering to the name of "George!"

Last week Coach Roberts called for reserve depth and was answered by the arrival of Joe Sanks and Dave Huribut. Both Joe and Dave were members of the P. J. Jacobs championship eleven last year, with Joe landing a first team all-state berth. Huribut saw action in the Tech game as defensive line-backer, while Joe has been nursing a knee injury since his arrival. However, both players should see plenty of action before the end of the season, especially on the defensive platoon.

It was very heartening to see the surprisingly large turnout of fans at the Purple and Gold's first game. Despite threats of a downpour, a large crowd viewed the game and they were well pleased with the showing the team made. With another game coming up this weekend, and it promises to be an exciting encounter, let's all turn out and fill Goerke park to overflowing.

Point Plans Vengeance For Milwaukee Gulls

In an attempt to avenge a 35-0 drubbing handed them two years ago and a 13-13 Homecoming tie last season, the Pointers will invade Baker field for a conference tangle with Milwaukee's Green Gulls, October 4.

The Green Gulls boast one of the most experienced teams in the WSC loop, including such stalwart operators as Gil Drewek, all-conference tackle, two huge ends, Lowell Litaraty and Tom and scatsback Bob Janis and Bob Shevey. Coach Herman Kluge will be able to field a letterman in each position on the team.

Milwaukee has been known to be a slow starter and a strong finisher, which partially explains the Gulls' 21-0 loss to Lawrence. Coupled with this is the fact that the Green Gulls and the Pointers have been bitter rivals for many campaigns, and records and odds are usually tossed in the scrap heap when these two contingents meet.

Coach Roberts is expected to use the same crew at Milwaukee as will toil for the Pointers this Saturday at Oshkosh.

Point Meets Titans On Dad's Night

Coach Roberts' fighting Pointers take to Goerke Field here on Saturday evening, in the quest for their third straight victory against Oshkosh. As added incentive, this game marks the opening of conference play and has been designated Dad's Night. The fathers of the squad members have been invited to the game and will sit in a body in the stadium.

Because this is the Titans' first outing, the quality and caliber of Coach Robert Kolff's crew is quite obscure. All that is known is that the Gold and White have a nucleus of 13 lettermen, around which any team can be built. Such performers from last year's aggregation, which fought our Pointer outfit to a scoreless deadlock, are Dick Stearns, sophomore scatsback, Len Rush, former CSC'er, and Howie Anderson, senior tackle, who will be on hand to make the contest a real battle.

For the Purple and Gold it will, in all probability, be the same offensive and defensive crews which bore the burden in the first two victorious encounters. The attacking platoon will open with two Kaukauna products, Mark Schommer and Ken Roloff at ends, veterans Ollie Andrews and Jack Brandt at tackles, Stan Karls and Jerry Munderloh at guards, and Marlie Gilbert in the center slot. Generaling the attackers will be Don Herrmann. The running game will be in the hands of point maker Nubbs Miller, speedsters, Jimmy Giordana and Bry Purchatzke and frosh Russ Stimac.

The rock-ribbed defensive crew will open with Jack Crook and Bob Bostad at ends, Ray Mundt and Carl Jurgella at tackles, Mike Seagraves as middle guard, Dave Huribut, Joe Sontaz, and Jack Popeck at linebackers, Ronnie Wislinsky and Brandt at halfback and Bry Purchatzke at safety.

Steamrolling Pointers Crush Mich. Tech, 13-0

A red-hot Pointer aggregation proved to be too much for host Michigan Tech as the locals trounced the Huskies, 13-0, Saturday, September 20 on a rain soaked field.

Point entered the contest as an under-dog, but rose valiantly to add game number two on their string of victories. CSC started to ramble all over the field from the very first whistle, and by half-time had scored all the points they needed for the victory.

Miller

Bostad

"Nubbs" Miller again trotted all over the turf almost at will. The very first play from scrimmage saw the speedy fullback race 71 yards to a precious TD, and from then on the Purple and Gold was never headed. He again was ably assisted by halfbacks Purchatzke and Giordana, while quarterback Don Herrmann showed vast improvement as field general. The offensive line also showed marked improvement, opening gaping holes through which the backs sped for over 130 yards during the first half.

Defensively, the team rose to its greatest heights whenever a crisis presented itself. Jack Popeck, defensive line-backer, intercepted a Husky pass on one occasion and ran back a fumble on another, both plays coming at crucial points during Tech drives. Other defensive standouts included Jack Brandt, Bob Bostad, Jack Crook, and Purchatzke, who also intercepted an enemy pass, running it back from deep in his own territory.

CSC's other touchdown was also scored by Miller, coming mid-way through the second quarter. It came only after a long sustained drive, with Miller driving over from a short distance out. Al Due kicked the second point after, the first try being fumbled before a kick could be attempted.

ated by Michigan for the most part. The Pointers' offense found the going a little rougher, but their defensive held and the Huskies could not put together a sustained drive and Point walked off the field with another win under their belt.

Point Rally Wins Season's Opener

Spirit, drive, and alert defensive play gained Central State its first football victory in nine games as the team triumphed over the strong Luther college eleven of Decorah, Iowa, 12-7 on Sept. 13. A large turnout of fans saw the Pointers steam back in the second half to completely outclass and outplay the favored invaders.

"Nubbs" Miller drove to both touchdowns to hand Coach Roberts the victory in his first game as head mentor of the college team. However, many others shared the honors in the exciting win, among those being Bry Purchatzke, top ground gainer for the night, Don Herrmann, able quarterback, and Ken Roloff, who caught two of Herrmann's ground-gaining passes.

Defensively, Jack Crook, Jack Brandt, and Bob Bostad turned in hard fought performances. Marly Gilbert, center and captain for the game, along with Stan Karls and Brandt, opened large, gaping holes in the center of the line through which the backs romped for gain after gain while the P. and G's were on offense.

Point went behind early in the game as Luther scored on a 54 yard pass play. The extra point attempt was good and Luther led 7-0. Just before the first period ended Jack Crook recovered a Luther fumble on the Luther 42 yard line to start CSC's first touchdown drive. Miller, concluding by scoring from the six yard line. The extra point try by Miller was blocked and Luther led 7-6.

In the third period the Pointers started their second pay-dirt drive, this one being good for 90 yards. Miller and Purchatzke, along with Jim Giordana, carried the ball steadily downfield until Miller carried it the last 13 yards around end. The extra point was wide, but it didn't matter this time.

European Tour:

Instructors Fly to Europe for Six Weeks of Vacationing and Travel

Miss Gladys Van Arsdale, third grade supervisor at the Training school, and Miss Pauline Isaacson, speech and history instructor at the college, enjoyed a trip to Europe this summer. Included in their trip were visits to Ireland, Scotland, France, Switzerland, Italy, Holland and Belgium, but they stayed longest in England and Germany.

Leaving at the end of summer school, they tried to see as much as they could within six weeks. They flew by plane to New York, from there to Newfoundland and then to Shannon, Eire, 14 hours from New York. Miss Isaacson was prepared to be frightened at the thought of flying over the ocean but once in the plane she forgot her fears and slept most of the way across. Since they traveled by plane both ways, Miss Isaacson and Miss Van Arsdale were quite handicapped in buying things. Each passenger is allowed only 44 pounds of luggage on the tourist flights.

This was the first time Miss Isaacson has been to Europe, but Miss Van Arsdale had been there before. In 1948-1949 she acted as education consultant in Germany.

Visit German Friends

While in Germany they stayed with friends of either Miss Isaacson or Miss Van Arsdale and enjoyed living with the German families in their homes or with Americans working for the military government.

In Munich they visited a number of public schools and a remedial school for U. S. soldiers. This school is maintained by the U. S. Army for soldiers who reached an achievement level comparable to the 8th grade or who have not learned to read and write. While in Munich, Miss Van Arsdale and Miss Isaacson lunched with Reiner Rodenhauer, a former student at CSC. Reiner's health has not been too good, and he has had to give up teaching.

While in the hospital he started to write a book which he hopes to publish before too long. It is written in English for American publication and gives his attitudes about war, the world situation and peace. Some of these ideas he has had since he was a prisoner of war. Miss Isaacson and Miss Van Arsdale heard part of the manuscript and thought it very fine. Reiner asked about friends and people he knew here and was very much interested in them.

Germans Dream of U. S.

The teachers found that the German people, particularly the young, would like very much to come to the U. S. They seem to feel that the future for them in Germany is not hopeful. They'd like to have a job here or be sponsored by someone and go to school. The older people think in terms of getting their children here not just to get an education but to have them remain here.

Miss Isaacson and Miss Van Arsdale found that roads were better in Germany than in other countries, especially the Autobahn road which is similar to our Pennsylvania turnpike.

Since Miss Isaacson is interested in plays and dramatics, they planned to go to some plays. In Dublin, they saw the Abbey Players, a world famous group, in a "first night" performance. After the curtain calls the author came out and spoke briefly. Besides several plays in London, they attended an outdoor theatre opera in Augsburg. An interesting performance that they witnessed in Edinburgh was a puppet theatre. This theatre seats only 60 people at a performance.

Although Miss Van Arsdale and Miss Isaacson did not speak any foreign language with great fluency, they encountered little trouble since almost all the people spoke some English and a good many knew English quite well.

Enjoy (?) Foreign Foods

They tried the various foods of the countries they were in. Once, while in England, there appeared on the menu for breakfast an interesting item, Bubble and Squeak. Miss Isaacson thought that it sounded too risky but Miss Van Arsdale was somewhat braver and ordered it. She was served a fried patty of what looked like last night's leftovers, including the cabbage. It was bland and tasteless. Needless to say, Miss Van Arsdale never ordered it again.

While in Paris, they visited the "flea market," a street of bargains, which proved very interesting. Although they planned to stay about an hour they were there for four. During this time they walked steadily from place to place. When they could find no suitable place to lunch, they decided to buy a candy bar instead of lunch. Hershey bars were chosen since they knew these were good. Although the flea market was supposed to be a place of bargains, they paid 40 cents for each Hershey.

Miss Isaacson and Miss Van Arsdale took a special look at Ireland for Miss Glennon, Miss Roach, and Miss Ritchie, who had built it up quite a bit before the travelers left.

Y-dubs Say "Find Out"

The Y.W.C.A. invites all women students on campus to a "Find Out" party, Thursday, October 2 at 7 o'clock, in the Nelson Hall recreation room.

This informal gathering is intended to give students an opportunity to get acquainted with the Y-dubs and try their activities. Come and bring a friend!

Vetter Home Is New Home Ec Cottage

A new Home Management house has been purchased from Herman B. Vetter for the Home Economics department of CSC. The house, as yet unnamed, has a very excellent location at 1103 Main street, across from the college campus. The large house has nine rooms, three baths, a recreation room and an enclosed porch.

The girls in the Home Economics department will plan the furnishings and do the necessary refinishing and upholstery. The former Home Economics house, better known as Sims Cottage, is to be moved to make room for the new library.

The Vetter family will vacate the Main street house on or before March 1 and at that time a group of Home Economics students will begin living there, with Miss Rita Youmans, chairman of the department, in charge.
