

Sororities Prepare For Annual Pledge Banquets Saturday Night

By Pat Sisel

Sorority bulletin boards, covered with notes of all shapes and sizes, indicate that plans for the annual Homecoming festivities are in the making. The sorority Homecoming Pledge dinners at which alums, actives and pledges get together constitute an important part of those activities.

Eileen Schieb and Joyce Thurston have been elected to serve as co-chairmen of the Omega Mu Chi Pledge dinner, to be held at The Meadows. Teastmistress for the evening will be Pat Rickel and the program will include Mrs. Frank Crow as guest speaker, Benita Blomiley to welcome the alums and Shirley Jacobson, who will speak on behalf of the alumni. Among guests who will attend are Dr. and Mrs. Frank W. Crow, Miss Syble Mason, and Miss Edna Carlsten. The traditional pledge service will take place at 6 p.m. and dinner will be served at 6:30. Committees for the dinner are as follows:

Invitations, Joanne Thimke, chairman, assisted by Pat Rickel; decorations and theme, Gwen Fischer, chairman, Pat Giese, Joanne Breotzman, Delores Thompson, Joyce Albers; favors, Shirley Klimowitz, chairman, Marie Doro, Gloria Engbreton, Sally Rose; entertainment, Janet Bird, chairman, Betty Holstein, Benita Blomiley; transportation, Bobby Vaughn, chairman, Carol Crosby, Jan Bergelin; reservations, Sharon Zentner, chairman, Judy Clayton; pledge ceremony, Carol Holt.

Psi Beta Psi will hold its dinner at the Sky Club with Eleanor Schram serving as toastmistress. Chloe Brody, general chairman of the Pledge dinner, has announced that Miss Pauline Isaacson has been chosen as guest speaker for the evening and among guests of honor will be Miss Lorraine Wilson and Miss Isaacson.

Decorations for the dinner will carry out the Hawaiian theme introduced at the Psi Beta's rushing party.

Assisting Miss Brody are the following committees:

Speaker and program: Eldora Reineking, chairman, and Joanne Untiedt and Darlene Zamzow; transportation, Fran Koch; decorations and favors, Marlene LaMere and Mary Jean Lehman; invitations, Joyce Scheelk.

In addition to their pledge dinner, Psi Beta Psi is planning a special welcome for their alums in the form of an informal coffee hour to be held at 11 a.m. Saturday morning in Studio A. Serving on committees for the coffee hour are Frances Koch, Joyce Scheelk, and Jan Schellin.

The St. George Hotel has been selected as the setting for the Tau Gamma Beta Sorority Pledge dinner, to be served at 6:30 p.m. Special guests for the evening include: Dr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Miss Mary Elizabeth Smith, Miss Monica Bainter, Dr. and Mrs. Hugo D. Marple, and Dr. and Mrs. Peter J. Kroner.

The festive spirit of the day will be repeated in the Homecoming theme used for decorations, favors, etc.

The program as yet is tentative. The various committees assisting the general co-chairmen, Lois Langfeldt and Gloria Suckow, in planning the Tau Gam Pledge dinner are as follows:

Invitations: Betty Woehlert, chairman, Ellen Eide, Jan Schroeder; program, Claire Mueller, chairman, Anne Weisbrot, Jean Getchell, Mary Bartelt; decorations, Delores Paizer, chairman, Diana Bloom, Neita Nelson; transportation, Elaine Eskritt, chairman, Charlene Kabat, Luella Cram.

Delzell Hall, Union Welcome You Always

None can deny the impressive beauty of Delzell Hall. It is a mark of achievement and splendor as well as a utilitarian edition to the campus buildings.

Many of the alums view it with admiration and a little twinge of envy, feeling perhaps they were born 10 years too soon.

They are to be assured, however, that it is part of their alma mater and a cordial invitation is extended to them to visit it at their convenience. They will find the welcome mat always extended, especially this Homecoming week-end. An inviting list of activities has been planned particularly for them.

Friday night will bring dancing in the lounge from 8 p.m. to midnight, sponsored by the Student Council. Come to renew old friendships and make new ones.

After the parade and Homecoming game on Saturday there will be "open house" in the Union lounge.

At the Union at all times you can find entertainment and relaxation to fit your every mood. TV is on each evening from 7 to 11 o'clock, and on Friday and Saturday to midnight for the "night owls." To keep repair costs at a minimum please let the attendant adjust the TV screen.

All during the year, the Union is available to organizations wishing to use its ample facilities. They need only to contact Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner or Mark Farris, Union manager, five days in advance.

The Snack Bar offers refreshments such as candy, pop corn, potato chips, gym and a variety of ice creams. Coffee is now available for those who desire a caffeine stimulant.

Incidentally, ping pong is offered for the energetic, but please, not after 10 p.m.

Mark Farris is Student Union manager and Bob Wyman, Mel Sonnentag, and Roger Kettelson are students who assist him. Members of the faculty are extended a cordial and special invitation to enjoy the Union facilities whenever it is possible.

Trample Those Titans!

CSC Homecoming Features Parades, Parties, and Pigskin

By Pat Scribner

Arf! Arf! Arf! Come on, Pointers! The smell of a bonfire, a colorful parade, old friends, a football game, band music in the air — all of these things make up a part of Homecoming at CSC.

The official start will be tonight when the first flame of the bonfire reaches for the sky out on Schmeekle Field about 7:15. The Frosh are building it, and Frosh class officers, Paul Schadewald, Al Shuda, Nancy Hager, Carol Nelson, and Gene Glover, are in charge. The cheerleaders will lead cheers around the fire. After the bonfire, the Sig Eps will sponsor the game to give moral support to the Titans.

Hail! Hoboes! Here's your chance to be voted "Best Dressed Mess of CSC." "Wags to Rags" will be the theme of Hobo Day on Friday. "Tatters and torns" will be fashionable dress for both students and faculty. Prizes will be given to the royalty.

The 3 p.m. assembly on Friday will be climaxed by the crowning of the queen. One of these lovely lasses will be elected today: Judy Clayton, representing Phi Sigma Epsilon; Margie Gerhard, put up by Tau Kappa Epsilon; and Sharon Zentner, chosen by the "S" Club. The queen and her court will be given gifts by downtown businessmen.

There will be an informal dance held at Delzell Hall that same evening at 9 o'clock.

The mysteries of locked doors, hammering, and general confusion will be solved at 9:30 Saturday morning when 30 floats and bands will take part in the Homecoming parade. James Stasko is parade marshal and in charge of the parade order.

The floats will be judged and prizes given in two divisions, serious and humorous. The judges for the parade will be the presidents of the three service clubs — Rube Lewis, Rotary; Dr. G. R. Leach, Lions, and Bob Jenkins, Kiwanis club, and Len Walters representing the Hardware, and Mrs. Allen Thomas, former art teacher at the campus school.

Stepping off in the lead will be the CSC Band under the direction of Dr. Hugo D. Marple, followed by floats, and the P. J. Jacobs High School Band, and Maria High School Drum and Bugle Corps.

Omega Mu Chi Alumni association will hold a "coffee clutch" at the Hotel Whiting clubrooms immediately following the parade for all Omega alums and active members from 10:30 to 12 noon. Mrs. Katherine Hope Hetzer is president of the local alumni association.

The main event begins at 1:30 p.m. at Goerke Field with the CSC Pointers meeting the Oshkosh Titans. The queen will give the football to the captain before she and her court retire to their seats on the sidelines next to the team.

The Stevens Point High School Band, H. L. Rehfeldt, director, will put on a pre-game salute. Maria High school will present the first five minutes of the half time intermission activity, while the CSC Band will march the last half. The Oshkosh College Band will be here for the game to give moral support to the Titans.

Following the game, open house at Delzell Hall will be sponsored by the Faculty Alumni committee for the students, faculty, alumni, and their friends. Mrs. Marjorie Kerst is chairman of this committee.

Greek organizations on campus will hold their annual alum and pledge dinners Saturday evening.

The Homecoming dance will be held at P. J. Jacobs gym Saturday evening, from 9 to 12:30. Billy Uthmeir and his orchestra will play their arrangements of "new time, old time, any time." Remember, this is a two o'clock night for all!

Alpha Kappa Rho is holding its pledge breakfast Sunday morning at 8:30 at the St. George Hotel. Gloria Suckow is general chairman. The pledges will entertain the group under the direction of pledge mistress, Nancy Court.

The Men's Glee club, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, will sing their annual Homecoming Concert at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, in the auditorium.

Nelson Hall open house will be from 3:30 - 4:30 after the concert. Betty Behl is chairman of the affair.

Homecoming murals have been painted on the windows of some downtown stores depicting the different phases of Homecoming week-end. Colorful purple and gold pom-poms have been sold by the Women's Recreation association and booster buttons by the members of Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity.

The students who have done and are doing so much to make this Homecoming the best are the following: John Gosbee, general chairman; Jack Frisch, vice-chairman; James Stasko, parade marshal; Alice Allen, publicity; David Silverman, assembly program; Tom Wirkus, pep band; and general assistants, Robert Lindholm, Marge Smith, and Homer Plumb.

Good News

The good news the CSC students have been waiting for appears to be here! At a Board of Regents meeting last Friday, President William C. Hansen was authorized to employ a full time library assistant. According to plans, when this assistant is found and hired, the library will again be open evenings as it was last year!

Also at the meeting, President Hansen was authorized to employ a full time secretary for the office of the dean of men and women.

Annual Open House At CSC Dormitories

With the advent of Homecoming, plans are being completed to hold the traditional Open House at both Delzell and Nelson Halls. Refreshments will be served in the Delzell Hall Lounge from about 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. following the Homecoming game on Saturday afternoon. The Faculty Alumni committee, with Mrs. Marjorie Kerst as chairman, invites all alumni, friends, college students and faculty to attend. Committees for the occasion remain as listed in the previous Pointer issue.

The Open House to be held at Nelson Hall from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Sunday afternoon will be under the supervision of Dorothy Gerner, dorm president.

These annual events give opportunities for alums to meet and greet friends during Homecoming time. See you there!

Concert Planned By CSC Men's Glee Club

This Sunday at 2:30 p.m., the Men's Glee club of CSC will present their annual Homecoming Concert in the college auditorium. This group of 63 male voices, under the direction of Norman E. Knutzen, is one of the outstanding organizations on the campus and can be counted on to present a fine program.

The selections to be sung are as follows: "The Halls of Ivy," Russell-Knight; "It's a Grand Night for Singing," Rodgers; "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," Strickling-Webster; "I Believe," arranged by Wilson; "You'll Never Walk Alone," Rodgers, Ringwald.

"I Got Shoes," (Spiritual) Noble Cain; "In the Gloaming," Harrison; "Skip to My Lou," Griffith; "The Happy Wanderer," Moller; and "Battle Hymn of the Republic," Steffe-Ringwald.

Solos will be sung by Paul Zei, tenor, and Phil Hokanson, baritone. Zei will sing "Bendemeer's Stream," by Catty and Hokanson, "Because" by D'Hardelot.

Another portion of the program which will be of interest to many people is the presentation of guests. William Golomski of Milwaukee, president of the CSC Alumni association; Miss Susan Colman, former director of the Primary division; Dr. Hugo D. Marple, head of the CSC Music department; and Glee club mothers, Mrs. William Scribner, Mrs. Frank N. Spindler and Mrs. Herbert R. Steiner, will be introduced to the audience.

Accompanists for the Glee club will be Ruth Ann Charlesworth and William Atwell on the piano, and Fred Stephanek on the organ.

NOTICE

Polls will be open for voting for Queen today from 8-12 and 1-4.

GREETINGS Alumni:

Here's a hearty welcome to all alumni who are returning for our 1954 Homecoming. We want you to have a good time and enjoy yourself. Be sure to visit the new buildings on the campus while you are here, if you have not been in them before. We do have a number of new faculty members, but I am sure you will also find many of your old friends among the faculty eager to visit with you. They are all very busy because our enrollment is the largest we have ever had, but we're always glad to meet old friends. So, we wish for you a happy Homecoming and continued success in your present job.

Wm. C. Hansen

Homecoming - Yours?

What is Homecoming? To each one involved it means something different. Student, Faculty Member, and Alum are all affected in different manners.

Homecoming to the student: Homecoming is a squirrel cage of dances, floats, footballs, and color. Homecoming is the only time of year when the old excuse for not having assignments done ("I didn't have time") holds any water. Homecoming is a wonderful merry-go-round of fun and happiness that should move the spirit of every loyal Pointer.

Homecoming to the faculty: Homecoming to the faculty is a respite from a teaching schedule that already has become exhausting work. Homecoming brings fond remembrances of college days past. For a few, Homecoming is an interested look at their first CSC Homecoming and they will be comparing it with other college Homecomings they have observed.

Homecoming to the alum: Homecoming to the alum is HOME-coming. It is a return to scenes of friendship and success. It is a return to something that is forever over and that can never exist again except in cherished memories. It is a love and loyalty of their alma mater that can be refueled only in infrequent returns to CSC.

Homecoming is a brief weekend of material color, but, most important of all, it is three or four short days in which a certain intangible spirit pervades the entire air; an invisible web that should tie student, faculty member, and alum even closer to his school. Homecoming should be a pleasant tonic for all to take and to remember throughout the long years ahead.

Diplomats In Levis?

At the risk of sticking our necks even farther into a noose, we would once again like to call attention to a situation that would profit by a change.

Our Assembly committee carefully selects talent to appear at our evening assemblies, talent that is of the highest possible caliber. Also invited many times to these assemblies are citizens of Stevens Point and surrounding communities, plus, at times, busloads of high school students from neighboring areas. It is at these assemblies that our entertainers and guests receive their first and most important impression of our college.

Therefore, in the interest of better relationship, if not for our own respect, wouldn't it be a good idea for CSC students to stop appearing at evening assemblies dressed in fatigues, jeans and levis? It doesn't seem too extravagant or personally expensive for Pointers to wear a good pair of dress pants or a neat blouse and skirt to those evening assemblies open to the public.

We can hear the screams and comments already about this not being "A rich man's school." However, look at it this way — we are supposedly grown-up men and women and it's about time that at least a little social grace was injected.

Our office hours are always open for tar and feather parties, and, please, if you write to us — sign your name. We always do.

FAMILIAR FACES

KEN HURLBUT
By Ginny Bricco

"It's all decided that we're going to beat the Oshkosh Titans — with your help — bring what they may," Ken said, meaning every word. "Don't miss the game. Come and give us support."

Ken Hurlbut, a native of Point, plays guard position on our team. There need be no further introduction to this "all-round Pointer." Ken said laughing, "I was lucky from the start. I was born in December, 1932, on Friday the 13th. (Luck? Suit yourself.) In high school I had number 13 for my football uniform, but 13 here at college didn't fit me, so I had to be satisfied with just a three in my number."

Ken has played football next to his brother Dave for about eight years. Dave, 13 months younger than Ken, plays center on the squad. Also, Ken has a sister who is a Freshman here at CSC. "Dad planned to raise a team," Ken commented, "but the first and fourth of us proved to be girls, so he just gave up the idea."

The first year of Ken's college life was spent at Lawrence college. Then he transferred back home. He will graduate in June with a major in math, and minors in history and physics. "I suppose that I will have to go to service," Ken said, not overjoyed at the thought. "If not, I will coach, teach math, or both."

One plan of Ken's that service isn't going to spoil is a certain knot that will be tied next spring. Margie Schmahl, a sophomore here, will be the other half of the knot.

"It was really a thrill to be elected senior class president," Ken said sincerely. "That was something I never expected at all, and it really means a lot to me."

Between his sophomore and junior years of college, Ken had the opportunity to help drive to Los Angeles for his employer. "I took a friend of mine along too, and we really enjoyed ourselves," Ken recalled with enthusiasm. "My roommate from my freshman year at Lawrence lives in LA, so we renewed old acquaintances. He knew all the places to see and visit. Those two weeks were much too short."

"I'll never forget the feeling I had Saturday night, two weeks ago, when we played Milwaukee State," Ken confided. "As we were leaving to go to the field we went past the dorm and the Pep rally was in full swing. It really gave the boys a lift. That is the first time the pep rally took place as we were leaving, and it sure meant a lot to us. The comment was made, 'Seems good to have them cheering for us even before we play. It used to be they didn't cheer even during the game.'" (Ouch, that kind of hurts, doesn't it? Let's make up for it from now on, and back our team for all we're worth.)

Ken went on to say, "You just can't realize what the feeling is like to know your schoolmates and friends are behind you — giving you that extra boost and encouragement needed so much. It makes you want to get out there and really play. So, see you at the game Saturday, huh?"

FELISA BORJA

Posters, smiles, football game, pom-poms, smiles, Nigbor furs, smiles, smiles, smiles . . . all memories now. That's what Homecoming, 1953, now is to Felisa Borja, our featured female personality of this issue. Last year, upon being crowned by football captain Mark Schommer, she reigned over the weekend's festivities as the honored "queen of it all."

Looking back on it now with a sigh mixed with nostalgia and a wee bit of weariness she claims it was just as exciting, if not more so (as the old saying goes) to be told she had been chosen the S club's candidate, as to be told she had won the heated election. The hardest part was the keeping of the secret for two hours, "but I did!" she emphatically stated.

Here on a four-year scholarship, which she received for outstanding scholastic achievement at George Washington High school on the then war-torn island of Guam, her intention was to major in mathematics, and then return to Guam to teach.

Well, as a senior in Secondary she is now completing her major — in

Parties Begin On Oct. 25 For Frat Rushing Season

It's rushing season again on the CSC campus, and the three fraternities are busy with plans to expand their organizations. The dates for the first rushing parties were announced by the Inter-fraternity council on October 13, and are as follows: Sigma Phi Epsilon, Oct. 25; Phi Sigma Epsilon, Oct. 27; and Tau Kappa Epsilon, October 31.

The Sig Eps will have a six weeks rushing season, and their first party will be at the Plattewood Club. Rushing chairman for the fraternity is Homer Plumb. The social chairman is Wendelin Frenzel, and Leroy Purchatzke is the pledgemaster.

A party at Moose Hall will start the Phi Sigs' four weeks rushing season. Social chairman for the organization is Orv Koepke, and co-pledgemasters are Gerald Foster and Dave Jersey.

The new group on campus, Tau Kappa Epsilon, will have a six weeks rushing season. Carter Olson is rushing chairman for the Tekes. John Gosbee is the social chairman, and the pledgemaster is Harold Schumacher.

Each of the fraternities will have a pledging party on Sunday, Nov. 7, and the pledging will begin Monday, Nov. 8.

Important Notice!

Will the following people please see me as soon as possible! It is extremely urgent — All Freshmen Class officers, and Robert Ullsperger, Shirley Sonnenberg, Karen Beebe, Joan Jeckle, John Garner, Alfred Landon, Jack Dalton, Jack Charlesworth, Barbara Fritchie, and George Orwell. See me today if at all possible. Further delay will cause confusion and embarrassment.

Thank you,

Pointer Staff News

In the list of Pointer staff members in last week's Pointer, the name of Mary Lou Boczynski was inadvertently omitted. Apologies to Mary Lou, who is one of the Pointer's best reporters.

Added to the staff are Dorothy Sawyer, reporter, Alberta Beawer, typist, and Bonnie Driscoll, proof reader.

biology. She does intend to return home, and she does intend to teach, but she is not sure at this time of the order in which she will accomplish them. Her "intentions" now include adding a "companion" to the ring which now reposes on her third finger, left hand. That is the cause of the indecision at present, for the army just isn't very considerate at times.

Four years ago Felisa said she wasn't sure about participating in extra-curricular activities because she was going to concentrate on good grades first. She has had a very fair share of both, however, and claims that the Pointer, Tau Gams, Newman club, and the Union Board help to keep her busy here.

Added to her scholastic and social responsibilities are the hungry demands of her 11 cohorts for her culinary abilities. Yes, she, too, is one of CSC's newly famous "Dizzy Dozen," who reside at 913 Clark street. "It is so much fun learning how to cook," she enthusiastically exclaimed. No, there was no strife to report, she said, "for we're quite a harmonious group."

It has been a great pleasure to have Felisa here the past three years, for she holds true to her name, which means "happiness."

Mary Hutchinson, One-Woman Theater, Slated For Show Of Dramatic Monologue

When Mary Hutchinson appears on Monday, November 1, at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium, her audience will see a unique type of program in the field of dramatic monologue. She enchants her audiences as she sings, acts and dances in a presentation of the one-woman theatre at its best.

Inevitably the audience seems to see in her performance someone they know or an experience they have gone through.

That is because she gets many of her ideas from life. A sketch on a French war bride, and another on a DP who became an American are two portraits she has recently added to her repertoire. To illustrate her versatility, her characters range from gum-chewing Rosie McGonnigle from

Mary Hutchinson

Brooklyn to Daisybelle, a pig-tailed mountaineer from Tennessee. So complete is the illusion she has been able to create that people who come backstage comment on the authenticity of her material.

And people are always sending her props to heighten the authenticity — bits of costumes, old fans and fancy high combs, to add to her collection. In one of her characterizations, for instance, she had been using a corn cob pipe. A member of her audience convinced her, that in the section of the country she was portraying, the crone of her story would smoke a hickory pipe — and sent her one. Mary now uses the hickory.

The hane of the one-woman show has always been the stage wait, as the performer makes costume

Soliloquizing Suitcase

It's a weary life I've led since arriving at CSC, but all in the line of duty to my owner. We suitcases too should form an organization known as the "providers of happiness," for we are the ones who make it possible for our owners to go home to an assured friendliness and sense of belonging.

As a suitcase, I am pledged to loyal service, and only when my duty has been fulfilled can I retire to some cozy closet shelf. As long as my owner is as a square peg trying to fit into CSC's social circles, I shall continue to be packed, unpacked, and bruised on my hide. My life expectancy will be a short one since the social circles have overlooked leaving corners open for the new pegs to fit in. The pegs were told of all the wonderful organizations, clubs, and activities; invitations were ten-fold, but the welcome mat must have been sent to the cleaners. Even the devoted wavers of the purple and the gold were kind enough to let them watch as they displayed their glorious colors, careful not to share a tint. Was it the "purple and gold" or their own flags that they were waving to the tune of "I Was High and Mighty"?

Yes, the doors of the school were opened wide to our owners, but I must still look forward to a weekly packing until the key to the heart of CSC has been found.

changes. Mary Hutchinson has overcome this problem by constructing collapsible translucent screens that form a kind of portable dressing room. After each characterization, she retires to this cubicle which is on stage, and continues talking, thus preparing her audience for the scene to follow.

Taking the audience "backstage while onstage," as she makes her costume changes before their eyes, is one of the most popular features of this unique type of entertainment. In working out this show, Mary Hutchinson has virtually achieved that which scientists have sought for centuries — a non-stop show.

Mary Hutchinson comes by her acting ability very naturally. She is directly descended from the Hutchinson Family, famous concert singers of the 19th century. In 1850, when P. T. Barnum had brought over the Swedish Nightingale Jenny Lind, he called in the Hutchinson Family to give a recital for the prima donna to show her what fine singers there were in America. They were called the "Pioneers of Song," and Mary certainly is carrying on the family tradition — in her one-woman show.

She has appeared in many Broadway productions as an actress and dancer as well as in a large variety of roles on radio and television. When she found that her petite size was causing her to be "typed" for certain kinds of parts in the theatre, she conceived the idea on which her present program is based. When first presented, it was an instantaneous success and she has been kept busy ever since, touring the country with acclaim from audiences and critics from coast to coast.

She is brought to the college by the Assembly committee composed of Miss Pauline Isaacson, chairman, Miss Cecilia Winkler, Robert S. Lewis, Dr. Alf W. Harrer and Henry W. Runke from the faculty and Gladys Lehmann and Paul Zei, representing the Student Council.

Alpha Kaps Plan Annual Homecoming Breakfast October 24

The annual Alpha Kappa Rho Homecoming breakfast will be held at 8:30 a.m., Sunday, October 24 at the Hot Fish Shop.

The fraternity has sent out invitations to many alums who will be returning for the weekend activities.

Diane Seif Is Named Head Of Publicity

Diane Seif, a senior in the Secondary Division, will be in charge of college publicity for the Stevens Point Journal and state newspapers this year, according to an announcement by President William C. Hansen. She will work under the supervision of Richard C. Blakeslee of the English department.

Miss Seif, an English major, was editor of the Iris, college yearbook, last year and is a member of Sigma Tau Delta and president of Tau Gamma Beta sorority.

Students and faculty who wish news in the local or state papers are asked to contact Miss Seif. News and messages for her may be left on a desk reserved in her name in the Pointer office.

Notice

Ordinarily the Pointer is published bi-weekly (every two weeks) on Thursday. However, because school will be closed on Thursday and Friday, November 4 and 5, for the WEA convention, the next Pointer will be published on November 11. Watch for it at 10 o'clock on Thursday, November 11, and get your copy from the table on the first or second floor.

THE HEART OF THE CAMPUS

by Homer Plumb

Homecoming 1954: When Central State and Oshkosh square off Saturday afternoon, it will be the 48th time these two teams have clashed. The long series has been an exciting one, and only twice since 1895 has either team managed to run up a lopsided score. The Pointers have defeated Oshkosh 24 times, lost to them 17 times, and six games with the Titans have ended in a deadlock.

The Pointers' widest margin of victory over the Titans came when our college was only a year old. It was in 1895 that our gallant gridders smothered the Titans 40-0. Shades of Pat O'Dea!

Oshkosh almost equaled this fete in 1924. A partisan Titan throng decked out in coon skin coats and escorting their flapper sweethearts sent a thousand happy screams into the crisp autumn air as their mighty eleven ground our Pointers into the turf 37-0.

Oshkosh is credited with a victory over our Pointers in 1935, but it was really unearned. The Titans won that year by forfeit. In early autumn, 1935, many members of our College team joined a "city" football team that played the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers in an exhibition tilt. This meant that they had started football practice two weeks early. On October 7, this horrible deed was discovered by our conference officials and the Pointers were forced to forfeit all the rest of their games that year.

The Titans should be mighty hungry by now. They haven't topped our Pointers since 1946. The score last year was 26-20 in a close one. The Titans should roll into town with revenge in their hearts.

From where we sat earlier this fall, it looked like Homecoming 1954 would be a runaway victory for Point. Now the situation has changed a wee bit. It is true that our boys have jelled into a mighty potent attack, but this Oshkosh team has improved with each passing week. Last week they had to settle for a tie with Platteville, although they outplayed the Pioneers.

So the stage is set, and we look for a rough tight ball game. The kind of game that has been an annual affair between these two teams for the past 58 years!

A Pointer Comes Of Age

By Mary Braatz

The college Homecoming is always a big event for every CSC'er and Stevens Pointer, but its dimensions grow to gigantic proportions when the observer has had her residence behind the football stadium for most of her life. Ever since I was a wee three-year-old wisp of humanity, Homecoming game meant collecting provisions for a two-hour sit, taking up a seat on our front porch, and preparing for an afternoon of wide-eyed hero-worship and open-mouthed gullet stuffing. Just think, all the thrills passing by the door step — all the wonders of a big, colorful band, big excited crowds, and big football players. Heaven was never like this, in my opinion.

As this wisp of humanity became a little bit less wispish and a wee bit wiser, college Homecoming still spelled excitement in purple and gold letters. I could now watch the parade from a nearby street corner and occasionally peek through the fence at the game itself. Then there was the time when the crowd let loose hundreds of balloons at half-time; I was saturated in balloons from the neck down. Glorious days, something to remember even from the viewpoint of a little girl on the wrong side of the fence.

And now, well, now I see things from the fence's opposite side (or the other side of the stadium, anyway). Instead of just watching the parade, I'm helping to make it; instead of catching balloons, I'm throwing them; and, instead of "Al-lahing" to the current Mr. Football of CSC, I'm trying to let my scanty knowledge of mathematics cover his ignorance and mine too. Are my illusions ruined, my childish bubbles popped? They are not! My sentiments feel the same no matter what side of the fence I'm looking from — Hurrah for Homecoming!

Welcome Alumni!

It is our desire to make the 1954 Homecoming the largest and best attended in the history of our school. We sincerely hope and urge you to be with us on this annual occasion because we are sure the friendships you renew and the acquaintances you make will make it a worthwhile occasion. See you all at Homecoming.

State 21, Oshkosh 13. Rival Dog Food up 20 points on the stock market. (Thanks to Secretary Wilson.) And last but not least, Loyal Pointers 925, Suitcase Students 0. (A prayer is attached to this last prediction.)

Medal of Honor: It goes to May Roach, who has been cheering and we mean cheering, our Pointers on to victory for 42 years!

Quotable Quote: The following bit of philosophy appeared in a Freshman theme written by George Hanson of Westboro, who said: "It's surprising when you get in college to find out just how smart you aren't."

Orchids to you: Orchids go to the ushers at the Karamu concert program. They did a fine job and made a good impression upon CSC'ers and the public.

Love In Bloom: Some Pointers have taken S.B.T.C. (Step before the Cannonball), and our best wishes are extended to them. Pinned are Tom Wirkus to Lois Langfeldt. Engaged are Jack Crook and Lou Breyman, Jerry Boettcher and Carol Harder and Jim Kuntz and Mary Nelson. Here is some more good news about our Alums. Married are Sharon Sutton and Keith Rand, Ruth Tallmadge and Lewis Mittness, Joan Worzalla and James Mulady, Vivian Hofman and Jim Neuman.

Final Thought: Well, Pointers, we can almost hear the ruffle of drums and referees whistle, so guess we'll close up the hot air bag for this week. There is a strong rumor that this is going to be the biggest Homecoming in CSC history, some 2,000 alums expected to drop in. Let's stick out a warm paw and greet them with a hearty, "Welcome home, Pointer!" Let's give them the kind of reception we want when we "come home" some day. Arf, Arf, Arf, Come On, Pointers! This last message came to you through the courtesy of the "Pointer Backers, Inc." Lassie, president, Rin Tin Tin, vice-president, and Neal, secretary-treasurer.

Student Council Plans Many Projects For Year

Tentative plans for the semester made by the Student Council will include the following projects:

Arrange for bulletin boards for each class, and a general student bulletin board, which is so planned as to prevent the congestion in front of the main bulletin board on second floor. Also along this line is the plan for an outside bulletin board.

Urge a union of Student Councils for the nine state colleges so that the meetings would rotate from college to college, at which time they would discuss problems arising on their respective campuses.

Change Student Council office elections here from the fall to the spring in order to give the newly elected officers a chance to come to the last few meetings and observe the functions of the Student Council.

Work on segregation problems arising in the college organizations and the community.

Work for an organization that will provide for pep assembly programs and other pep activities throughout the year rather than having them a function of the Student Council. This new organization would be able to devote its entire time to such activities and would therefore provide better pep activities and a broader interest for students here at CSC.

Plan to enlarge the Student Council by having the president appoint a representative from each class. This would thereby serve as a cross check on the officers and would provide a broader class representation.

Plan a trip to a Negro school in Milwaukee and, comparing it to our schools, make a report to the college.

Also among the Student Council's tentative plans for the semester is the arranging for a nationally known band to play a night concert here at CSC.

Dear Alumni!

We are hoping to see you on Saturday, October 23. The Student Council and Alumni Groups are planning many activities for your pleasure. The football team is working hard to give you a victory. We have a new library to show you and many new people we want you to meet. Central State is calling you — mark the date on your calendar.

Round Table To Present "Gentleman's Agreement"

Round Table, organization of the intermediate and upper elementary division, with Bob Lindholm as president, has begun its activities for the year. Dr. Quincy Doudna is director and Robert S. Lewis is associate director of the Intermediate division.

Two movies have been shown by the members of the Round Table in the library theater. The next scheduled movie is "Gentleman's Agreement" on November 10. Other movies, besides those on schedule, have been ordered — so watch for them.

The Round Table is an organization of elementary students in which they meet to discuss student-teacher problems. The conveniently located and enjoyable movies, with the regular season activities of the Round Table, add color to campus life. A Homecoming float is in the making, also.

The organization meets the first Monday evening of every month in Studio A.

Welcome Alumni!

It is with pleasure that we look forward to another Homecoming for our Alumni. We hope that you are having a successful year. We will be happy to hear about you and your work on October 23.

The Faculty Alumni committee wishes to take this opportunity to extend to all alumni, students, and faculty of Wisconsin State college an invitation to its Open House on Saturday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 at Delzell Hall. This has become an annual affair and through your presence we will know whether you wish it to remain so. Let's all plan a few minutes with our former instructors and friends.

Many Attend Speech Clinic On Saturday

More than 500 persons took part in the District High School Speech Institute held here last Saturday, October 16. The enrollment, as announced by Leland M. Burroughs, was the largest in the history of the institutes.

Some 416 students were registered from the 28 high schools attending. These students, plus guests, Wisconsin High School Forensic officials, participants and coaches pushed the attendance at the institute over the 500 mark.

Artist Sister Helen To Appear Here On Campus

Sister Helene, outstanding sculptor and designer, from Siena Heights College, Adrian, Michigan, will visit Central State college on November 8 and 9. Her tour is sponsored by the Arts Program, Association of American Colleges, and her appearance here is made possible by the college assembly committee, under the chairmanship of Miss Pauline Isaacson, and the cooperation of Miss Edna Carlsten, art department head.

As scheduled now, Sister Helene will give a lecture Monday morning in the auditorium at 10 o'clock on "The Arts-Fine and Liberal," another talk there in the afternoon at 2 o'clock on "Historic Writing and the Modern Package" and a lecture on "The Urge to Make Things" on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The morning talk will be open to any students who do not have classes at that hour and the afternoon and evening lectures will be open to students and public. In her lectures, Sister Helene will use projection material including slides and film strips.

Tuesday morning she will give a demonstration of jewelry making, and announcement as to how and where to sign up for that will be made later to students. On Tuesday afternoon she will talk to a small group of art and drama students about art as applied to stage settings.

Sister Helene has lived and traveled in widely separated parts of this country and Europe. After a childhood unusually rich in literary and artistic experiences, her college interests turned to science and creative writing. Her verse has been published and her plays have been produced. She has done stage decor and choreography in the contemporary manner.

In 1934 three events combined to influence Sister Helene's life as an artist. She made her perpetual vows as a Dominican nun, received her B.A. degree, and was assigned by her Order to spend some time in Europe for study and travel. She began as a portrait painter and returned as a sculptor with radical ideas about the mechanics of art training. These she put to the test with the development of Studio Angelico on the campus of Siena Heights College. Within a few years, work accomplished in the studio had been cited by the English and the Swiss press. Exhibitions were held in leading museums located in metropolitan areas.

Sister Helene attended the Chicago Art Institute, the Claremont Art Seminars in California, and holds an M.F.A. degree from Cranbrook. She has held executive positions in several national organizations and is design consultant for two firms of architects. Buildings for which she has executed complete furnishings may be seen in West Palm Beach, Denver, Detroit, Memphis and Ann Arbor. She has lectured in this country and in Canada on the land-craft economics, aesthetics, business aspects of art, iconography, and rural sociology. Through years of research in the materials like concrete and metal, Sister Helene has extended their design applications for both art and industry.

drawn by two horses. At this same time, an army battery located outside of town was taking part in the parade. The battery marched with their full regalia, including an old cannon. Escorting the cannon was none other than Herbert R. Steiner, professor of history. He was dressed in the full attire of a Roman soldier.

The parade had gotten as far as the Square and everything was proceeding on schedule. Then someone got a brilliant idea and pow! off went the cannon. So did the horses, with the teachers yelling at the top of their voices. According to Mr. Steiner, his horse only side-stepped, but he was taken unawares. Mr. Steiner sat in mid-air for a split second and then managed to get one leg over the horse again. He said he was very lucky to end up on the horse and not on the ground or he might have been a pretty sore man. And that wasn't all. The shock of the cannon broke several of the windows in the buildings around the Square.

Miss Roach tells of one year when the faculty rode different kinds of "vehicles." She "rode" a scooter. By the end of the parade she had one well-worn shoe as well as two well-worn legs.

One Act Play Casts Enlarge To Maximum

There have been several additions to the casts of two of the three one-act plays which will be presented by the College Theater on November 17 and 18.

Bill Atwell and Jim Bukolt have joined the cast of "Shall We Join the Ladies?" the British murder mystery play directed by Jim Stasko.

"The Devil and Daniel Webster" has Al Braun, Dale Borg, Phil Hokanson, Mary Lou Bloczynski, Leo Mueller, Ken Kritz, and Earl Grow as new cast members. This New England folk tale is directed by Frank Brocker.

Gladys Lehmann is the director of the third play, "The Boor," a comedy with a Russian setting.

Usher Staff Formed

Miss Pauline Isaacson has just announced the appointment of permanent ushers for the assembly programs throughout the year. They will be Margaret Klein, Shirley Klimowitz, Bill Atwell, and Janice Johnson, who served in that capacity when CSC was entertained by the Karamu Quartet on October 13.

School Health Discussed At Regional Conference

Our college was host to the third regional conference on School health on Wednesday, Oct. 20. This one day meeting was sponsored by the State Medical Society and the State School Health Council. President William C. Hansen and Arol C. Epple served as chairman and vice-chairman of the local planning committee for the conference. Miss May Roach, associate director of the Rural division, was the main speaker at the closing session.

All students were urged to attend the general session held in the main auditorium beginning at 10 a.m. Dr. A. J. McCarey, Green Bay, president of the State Medical Society, and L. O. Tetzlaff, Oshkosh, president of the State School Health Council, opened the meeting. President Hansen and P. M. Vincent, superintendent of schools, Stevens Point, welcomed those present.

Highlighting the general session in the morning were addresses by Dr. H. Kent Tenney, Madison pediatrician and recently president of the State Medical Society, and Dr. E. S. Gordon, professor of medicine, University of Wisconsin medical school. Their topic was "The Integrated Physical and Emotional Growth of Children."

Those attending the conference were invited to select one of five workshop sessions in the afternoon. Topics for these included: Health Examinations of pupils and school personnel; special health problems including epilepsy, rheumatic fever and tuberculosis; putting preventive mental health concepts to work in the school; the role of the parents, school personnel and family physicians or dentists in referral and treatment of pupils with emotional problems, and health aspects of physical education.

Parents, physicians, dentists, school administrators and public health personnel throughout central and northern Wisconsin were invited to attend. The goal of the conference was to bring about better coordination of the efforts of all people who influence the health of school age children.

CSC Visited By Travis

Vaud Travis, North Central association coordinator, visited the CSC campus on Monday, October 18. Mr. Travis is from Northeastern Oklahoma college of Tahlequah, Oklahoma. Mr. Travis, who is an authority on "Group Dynamics," spoke to several classes while on his visit here and had conferences with faculty members.

Home Ec Club Boasts Many Members

One Monday night a month, the call is sounded to come to Home Ec club. The faces change, but the projects of work and play go on year after year.

Because of the increase in the size of our enrollment, the Home Ecs have outgrown their old meeting places in the Home Economics parlors and the Home Management house. They now hold their meetings in the new library auditorium.

This year the club boasts approximately 70 members, of whom many are energetic freshmen.

School started off for the Home Ecs at a rapid pace, set by the state Home Ec club convention, which CSC was fortunate enough to have on its own campus. The convention, October 8 and 9, was attended by about 70 girls. Stout Institute, Cardinal Strich college, Mount Mary, Milwaukee-Downer, the University of Wisconsin, and Central State were represented. Phyllis Rickfort, of the local club, is state Home Ec club president.

Under the leadership of the local president, Jan Thurston, various committees for the ensuing year have been set up. They are: Social, Rosemary Axtell, chairman, Inga Lühring and Nancy Peterson; program, Kathy Holicky, chairman, Lou Breyman and Donna Wagner; public relations and school service, Germaine Blasky, chairman, Joyce Burt and Judy Clayton; initiation, Ginny Bricco, chairman, Joyce Albers and Rosemary Axtell.

Those heading the Homecoming activities are: Homecoming float, Nona Grotzke, chairman, Joyce Schlottman, Rosie Lee and Carolyn Nordlund; taffy apples, Phyl Knop and Lois Schroeder, co-chairmen, Nerita Bourn, Patricia Meicha and Faith Pomerening.

Most of the Home Ecs are getting the articles made which are to be sold at the Christmas Bazaar to be held December 1. Nancy Monson is general chairman of the annual event.

Dr. Gotham Announces Public Welfare Talk

Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, Director of Teacher Education and Placement, announces a meeting of all L and S students interested in learning of the opportunities in the field of Public Welfare. They are invited to attend a meeting in the Placement Office of the Campus school on Monday, November 1, at 3 p.m.

Miss Catherine Roherty, district supervisor of the state Public Welfare division, and members of her staff will outline the training requirements and describe the opportunities available. Dr. Warren G. Jenkins, Dean of L and S, and Dr. George I. Dixon will participate in the conference.

Scheduled Vacation Here Draws Nearer

School will be closed on Thursday and Friday, November 4 and 5. Interested in the reason? It's time for the annual Wisconsin Education association convention in Milwaukee, more commonly known to us as "teachers' convention". Although attendance is optional because the days are made up later in the year, many of our faculty members will attend the convention from Nov. 4 to Nov. 6.

For the opening session Thursday morning, Frank W. Hubbard, director of the research division of the National Education association, has been secured to discuss "The Outlook for Teacher Retirement." Andrew D. Holt, former NEA president, will be the second speaker of the Thursday morning program. His official title is vice-president of the University of Tennessee.

The Thursday evening program will feature a variety of song and dance. "The Ambassadors of Song," under the direction of Ray G. Steiner will bring European and United States music spanning more than two centuries. Also the Stone-Camryn Ballet with Walter Camryn will be featured.

One of the headliners for the Friday session is Trygve Lie, the first secretary of the United Nations. John Franklin Carter, one of America's most distinguished political commentators has also been scheduled for the Friday morning session and Mrs. Betty Roadman, actress, author, and lecturer will appear on Saturday.

John Hvasta is the final speaker on Saturday for the 1954 convention. In the subject entitled, "How One American Outwitted the Communists," he will relate his dramatic story of arrest in Communist controlled Czechoslovakia in 1948 on trumped-up charges of "military treason and espionage," and his physical and mental torture in an attempt to make him "confess."

Calendar Issue Changed

Beginning October 29, the weekly calendar will be published on Friday afternoon in quantity and placed at the entrances to the building on Monday morning, so that students may help themselves to a copy. Faculty members' copies will be placed in their mail boxes. All items for the following week will then have to be in the Main Office not later than Friday noon. A reference to this notice will be made again on Monday, October 25.

The movie will be sponsored by Phi Sigma Epsilon. The full length feature, starring Richard Widmark and Don Taylor, will be shown three times on Wednesday starting with a matinee at 4:30 and evening showing at 6:30 and 8:30. PLAYING THE FIELD

with Chuck Neinas

Last week things turned out pretty well for us. We called the right play 35 times while fumbling on 10. This gives us an overall record of 67 right, 22 wrong and three ties. By the way, we came through with our upset of the week too, as Brown edged Princeton by a single point.

With Homecoming and all, the Pointers should be in pretty high spirits to meet Oshkosh. After playing a fine game against Whitewater we expect the Pointers to celebrate Homecoming with a victory, but not until they have had a struggle. As we see it the final will be Point 13, Oshkosh 6.

In the midwest where we had exceptional luck last week, we are turning to coin flipping this week. Every game is a toss up and the big one of course is Wisconsin and Ohio State. It will be Ohio State's Homecoming and the Buckeyes are sure to be up for that one. Plus the fact that they have always seemed to be Wisconsin's jinx leads us to pick Ohio State by 17-13. Bet we lost friends on that one.

As we said before, they are all rough this week and that Purdue-Michigan State battle looks like a honey. We are going on the limb on this one, Michigan State 19, Purdue 14.

The battle for the "little brown jug" moves into Ann Arbor this week and we will string along with Minnesota over Michigan by 13-7. Elsewhere in the Big Ten we like Iowa over Indiana 20-13, Illinois to hit the victory column at the expense of Syracuse 20-7, Northwestern to turn back Pitt on this week's TV picture by 14-13. Outside the conference we like Marquette over Fordham, Colorado over Nebraska, Oklahoma over Kansas State, and Missouri over Iowa State.

In the East, where we have most of our trouble, we like Army over Columbia, Boston College over Springfield, Boston U. over Holy Cross, Brown over Temple, Yale over Colgate, Harvard over Dartmouth, Princeton over Cornell, Geo. Washington over William and Mary, Navy over Penn, and Houston over Villanova.

Down South our choices are: Alabama over Miss. State, Auburn over Florida State, Duke over North Carolina State, Florida over LSU, Georgia Tech over Kentucky, Georgia over Tulane, Maryland over Miami (Fla.), Tennessee over Dayton and West Virginia over VMI.

In the Southwest they are playing a rough one and it's our upset of

CSC Gridders Preparing For St. Norbert Nov. 6

The Pointers will travel to DePere for the season finale Saturday, November 6, where they will meet the St. Norbert "Knights" in an afternoon game. Kick off time is 1:30 p.m.

This will be the first encounter between the two schools since 1946 when the "Knights" whipped the Pointers 58-0.

Thus far, St. Norbert's has won two of their first five starts while Stevens Point is sporting a record of four victories and one defeat.

Both teams upended Michigan Tech by a one touchdown margin, Coach Mel Nicks' gridders winning by a score of 20-14 and the Pointers by a score of 13-6.

Porter And Pointers Take Fourth In Meet

Ron Porter, freshman from Wisconsin Rapids, turned in a creditable performance by finishing in fourth place in a quadrangular cross country meet at Milwaukee Saturday. Porter, who was approximately 100 yards behind the winner, was clocked in 16 minutes, 39 seconds for the three mile course.

Other Pointers who competed on Coach Alf Harrer's team were Bill Ruhsam, John Mallek, Archie Schmidt, Allen Danke, and Don Smith. Stevens Point finished fourth against the rugged competition of North Central college of Naperville, Illinois, Milwaukee State, and Northern Illinois of DeKalb.

The week. We are taking Texas over Rice in what should be a thriller. We also like 'Ole Miss. over Arkansas, Baylor over Texas A and M, SMU over Kansas, TCU over Penn State, Arizona over New Mexico, and Oklahoma A and M over Hardin-Simmons.

Things look this way for the boys in the West: USC over California, Washington State over Idaho, UCLA over Oregon State, Oregon over San Jose, Stanford over Washington, and Texas Tech over College of Pacific.

The dark cloud is hovering over Slippery Rock. After last week's loss, things look bad for Chester Stackhouse and his boys. In fact we are going to have to predict Calif. State (Pa.) over the Rockets.

In the pro circles hats off to the Packers. We will string along with them over Baltimore this week. We also like New York over Washington, Cleveland over Chicago Cardinals, Los Angeles over Bears, Detroit over San Francisco, and, in one in which the coin stood on its end, we hesitate but finally pick Pitt over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Well, that's it and we are hoping to break even. Always remember, though, every day is Judgement Day and it may pay to use a little more of it.

Pointer Squad Ready For Strong Titans As Saturday's Homecoming Game Nears

The 1954 Pointer squad will be out to even up the Homecoming games, dating back to 1919, when the CSC gridgers shut out Stout, 12 to 0. Since that opening Homecoming game the Pointers have won 14, lost 15 and tied one. There is more importance in the outcome of this game, other than just to even up a win-loss record and that is the fact that the Pointers must beat Oshkosh, our Homecoming foe, or forget all about any championship ideas that have been nursed along all season.

Oshkosh will be no pushover as their season record indicates two wins, one loss and two ties. The two ties have just about eliminated Oshkosh from the tight race in the WSC standings this year, but that's all the more reason for the Titans to want to dump the Pointers from the picture also. Point has won three and lost only one, but this is a must game and Coach Roberts is well aware of the fact.

This is not the first time CSC has tangled with the Oshkosh Titans in Homecoming games. Oshkosh has tried to spoil the Pointers' Homecoming weekend five times, with the first try in 1929. They have succeeded only twice. CSC won the last game, as they squashed the Titans 40 to 13 in '49.

The Pointers' passing game, which has improved as the season progresses, should be a big factor come Saturday afternoon. Quarterback Carl Wiemann has been firing passes to ends Ken Roloff and Tom Brockley, along with a host of backs. Ludeman's speed along with Gene Noonan's and John Smith's power rounds out a powerful running backfield and a well-balanced attack.

The team is in good shape physically and the only questionable player is big Dave Stuiber, who was shaken up in the Whitewater tilt last Saturday. The probable starting lineup for this all important contest will have Ken Roloff and Tom Brockley at the ends; Jack Crook and Jim Fleig, tackles; Ken Hurlbut and George Roman, guards; Dave Hurlbut, center; Gene Noonan and Ted Ludeman at the halfback spots; John Smith at fullback and Carl Wiemann directing the team at quarterback.

The Pointers will be gunning to stretch their win streak to four games and the odds favor CSC in this season's performance.

Last year the Pointers downed the Titans 26 to 20.

Pointers Trump Quakers In Easy 26-6 Victory

Although the Pointers' 26-6 victory over the Whitewater football team can not be considered an upset — for the Quakers were winless in three previous outings — it was, nevertheless, a worthy accomplishment. Because, prior to Saturday's encounter, the Quakers had won six consecutive Homecoming games.

Coach Roberts' squad, currently riding the crest of a three game winning streak, bested the Quakers in all but one department to prove statistically that they were deserving of the win. Fumbles again continued to plague our team, but fortunately no serious damage resulted from them.

The Wiemann-Roloff passing combination again proved effective. The running of Ted Ludeman, Gene Noonan, and John Smith was also impressive as they racked up the yardage. Ludeman scored twice, Noonan once, and John Boyne scooped up a blocked punt and ran it 15 yards to complete the scoring. Ken Roloff converted twice out of two attempts, showing that he is becoming more proficient in that department.

The play of the line was also pleasing. The Hurlbut, George Roman, Crook, and Stuiber formed a steady wall of defense which made the Quakers' ground attack impotent.

All in all, the Pointers should be ready and waiting for the Oshkosh Titans this weekend.

Last Home Game Brings Rugged Eau Claire Tilt

In their last home game on Saturday, October 30, the Robertsmen are host to the up and coming Eau Claire gridgers.

The Pointer schedule is coming to a close and this last conference game could be a very important one. The Blue Golds to date have a 4-1 record and have La Crosse and Stevens Point left to play. This game is an important one for both teams, as a defeat for one will displace them from the run for conference championship.

Don't forget Eau Claire will be out to avenge last year's 14-13 loss. It is also to be noted that the Blue Gold's defense has allowed only five touchdowns while scoring 18 TD's themselves. The Pointers will have to be up for this one, as we expect they will.

Roberts' Roster

Al Due

A history major in L and S, Al is a twenty year old senior who stands 5' 11" and weighs 190 pounds. Al started his college career as a place kicking specialist, but for the last two seasons has taken over some of the backfield chores. He is working for his fourth letter in football. You'll be seeing more of him next spring on the tennis courts.

Due

Schmidt

Wayne Schmidt

Wayne is working hard for his second letter as a tackle on the Pointer squad. While playing high school ball he earned three letters with the Shawano Indians. He tips the scales at 205 pounds and stands 5' 11". Wayne is a 19 year old sophomore majoring in Biology in L and S.

Ron Lovelace

Ron Lovelace, wearing the CSC football togs for his first season, hails from Elroy. Ron is built for heavy going, weighing 190 pounds and measuring 5 feet 11 inches.

He started the season off as a fullback, but a shortage of ends brought about a change for Ron and he's snaring passes now. The change in position has made no change in the type of play as Ron puts all he has into the game wherever he plays.

This versatility has made Ron an important cog in Coach Roberts' machine this year.

Lovelace

Hackbart

Roy Hackbart

This will be Roy's last season as a grid-ironer at CSC. "Hack" has been a mainstay on the Pointer squad for the past four seasons, running and dodging his 171 pound, 5 feet 11 inches frame all over the field and should easily win his second letter this year.

The Poynette product has always played in the backfield, specializing in open field speed and wide-running, although he drives hard when cornered. Roy has turned in a very good job for Coach Roberts and will be missed in the future seasons.

He is majoring in Conservation and plans on signing a contract with Uncle Sam for the next couple of seasons.

Back Your Pointers

sonally it would be a catastrophe, concerns the chipping of four teeth of John Smith, our bruising fullback. The major calamities concern linemen Dave Stuiber and Dick Schloemer. Stuiber received a slight brain concussion in the rugged contest with the Quakers. Schloemer was nursing a twisted knee Monday after being injured by the obliging aliens.

We present to you encouraging grid fans the final section of our "Pigskin Glossary." Radio booth — where announcer has excellent view of celebrities, watches game, and talks about beer. Lateral pass — device used by radio announcer to cover up mistakes. Try for point — "Come on, dice, baby needs a new pair of shoes." Illegal formation — three guys with two tickets. Substitutes — fellows who leap off the bench and shake their fists at the officials.

Dave Stuiber

Dave Stuiber, who is the heaviest Pointer on the squad, names Kaukauna his home town. This lad packs 270 pounds on a 5 foot 10 inch frame. Funny thing, Dave claims all of this is muscle. Could be.

When Dave graduated from high school in '51 he went into service until 1954. During his stay in service he played Army football and did some wrestling. Here at CSC Dave is shifting his bulk excellently in filling in at a tackle spot.

"Stu" is in L and S right now with a chemistry major in sight.

Stuiber

Pease

Terry Pease

The small town of Wyocena claims Terry Pease as one of its favorite sons. During his prep days at nearby Portage High, he was an all-conference end, and received honorable mention on the all-state roster in 1951.

Terry, a versatile 6 feet, 1 inch, 185-pound-junior, lettered in track last spring as a hurdler and javelin thrower. He is also a baseball player of no mean repute, and recently signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates. After spring training at Huntsville, Texas, he'll be assigned to Clinton, Iowa, for outfielding duty.

Terry enjoys hunting and "just taking long walks in the woods." These activities will be slightly hampered this year, though, due to the broken ankle that he sustained in the Superior game.

He is enrolled in the Intermediate Division with a phy ed minor.

CSC Hoopsters Of 1933 Here For Homecoming

At this time we would like to pay tribute to a large number of former CSC grads who will be attending this year's Homecoming festivities. Among the assembling of CSC alums here Saturday will probably be a few members of the great 1933 Central State basketball team.

This great team was one of the few — if not the only — state college teams to upset the University of Wisconsin on the hardwood. It was over at Wisconsin Rapids where Eddie Kotal's cagers did the impossible and defeated the Badgers 28-24, before some 5,000 starry-eyed fans.

These former CSC greats are not the only Central State alums who will return to cheer their comrades on to victory. We are sure that by this time many freshmen have encouraged some of their former teachers who are CSC grads to attend our Homecoming activities. The upperclassmen will be seeing many of their friends, some of whom were team-mates when the weekend arrives and Oshkosh comes to town.

It is noted that the Faculty Alumni committee is sponsoring the open house at Delzell Hall after the game on Saturday afternoon. It will give the alums a swell opportunity to meet their old friends and also meet many new ones among the students and the faculty.

Hail, you alums!!!

Keglers Set Torrid Pace In Campus League Play

After three complete weeks, the campus bowling league gives indication that there will be a hotly contested race right down to the final wire. The Miller's High Life fearsome five is currently the league leader (8-1), while the College Eat Shop is in second with a 6-3 record.

Last week's scores and averages as compiled by league secretary, Lou Knuth, are: High individual game — Novander (201), high individual series — B. Casper (538). The high team game (818) and high team series (2420) both went to the Eat Shop, which had a hot night — to say the least.

The top kegler is reliable Al Due, who has a torrid 175 average. Doug Tanner, with a highly-respectable 168 average, is pressing him, while a multitude of aspirants are staging a battle for third place.

Letters To The Editor

902 West Oregon
Urbana, Illinois
October 7, 1954

Dear Editor:

I want to say a big "Thank You" for the Pointer. I read it, every word, may even have slighted my studying to do so. According to the News — and as usual, it is a fine edition — CSC is off to a good start. It made me homesick.

It is really quite an experience to be on a campus like this at the University of Illinois. The last tally on numbers was 16,893 with 4,198 of that number, freshman. The graduate group makes up about 3,000 with about 900 in the College of Education, where I am enrolled. In spite of the hugeness, it is a friendly place. As far as I can see all the U. of Illinois has that CSC hasn't is more of the same scattered over a wider area, except the extensive research that is famous here. As for football, give me the Pointers, Arf Arf! I saw the Penn State game, along with 54,000 others.

Hope you have a good year. Greet faculty and students for me.

Rita Youmans

Dear Earl, 8 Oct. 1954

Many thanks for the first issue of "The Pointer." During recent months I have lost track of what is going on at CSC, but this issue did a good job in bringing me up to date.

At present, we are in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, undergoing six weeks of refresher training. This place seems to be one of those places that the rest of the world just forgot about. You can always count on the U.S. Navy finding a place like this. We run a pretty tight schedule down here, out to sea at sunrise, conduct numerous types of training exercises, and then come back in late in the afternoon. Most of us are looking forward to the weekend of Oct. 23 which we are going to spend in Port au Prince, Haiti. If nothing else, I must say I have been seeing the world since I got in this outfit. Around the first of the year I will be seeing even more, as the ship is being transferred to the Pacific Fleet, with a home port in Long Beach, Calif. We will no doubt be going to the Western Pacific, Formosa, etc. before next summer.

It was good to note the increased enrollment this year, no doubt that new library building is a big help.

I noticed quite a few familiar names on the staff this year, but also many new ones. The first issue looked fine, keep up the good work.

Please extend my best wishes to Miss Glennon, Mr. Specht, and all of the members of the staff.

Sincerely, Frank

Aloha to the whole gang,
With an empty wallet, and an equally empty head I'll begin this rare bit of literature. I got to thinking about the Monday nights that used to be. I can picture the mean old editor "Hook" Grow driving his slaves onward to another edition. Then there is Miss Glennon always hoping to improve the best that the

"Tea For Two" Theme For Tau Gam Party

"Tea for Two" was the theme of the Tau Gam's rushing party which was held at the Home Economics Management house Friday evening, October 15.

Among the people present in the "Tea Room" were Miss Cecilia Winkler, adviser, and Margaret Jones Emmerich, an alumna.

A dainty tea pot and a corsage of pink carnations were presented each rushee. Hostess at the tea was Betty Woehlert. Punch, cookies, ice-cream cake roll, coffee, nuts and mints were served the guests.

"Tea for Two" was sung in a duet by Charlotte Forth and Gladys Lehmann, and Mary Ann Smith sang "Only a Rose." Games were played and prizes were awarded the winners.

Co-chairmen for the party were Charlotte Forth and Felisa Borja. Other committee chairmen were: Place, Lou Breymann; invitations, Darlene Schimke; decorations, Margie Schmall; favors, Donna Trickey; entertainment, Ellen Eide; refreshments, Neita Nelson; speaker, Grace Collins; transportation, Doris Moss; and clean-up, Jean Getchell.

reporters turn in. I've been slightly detained, but I may make it yet, back to my old job.

From what I hear, CSC has made some changes since I last saw it. Maybe some day I'll make it back to stumble through its halls again. My government job has taken me to places I didn't even want to see, but I think they could find a faster way to get me back home again.

The first place I was sent after basic was a little place called Korea. You have men there in college that can tell you more about Korea than I can. I was stationed near Numsani for the short time I was there. We were about five miles from the demilitarized zone.

Now I am 5000 miles closer to home, but I still have a long way to go. For about fourteen more months I'll be calling Schofield Barracks, Hawaii my home. Schofield is the place where "From Here to Eternity" was made, just to add a point of history.

Hawaii is really a beautiful place. The only thing wrong is that the average soldier can't afford too much pleasure. Almost everything is more expensive here than it is in the states. A couple of exceptions would probably be coconuts and orchids which grow wild. When we landed, 25,000 orchids were showered over our boat. The people are very friendly. They make you feel more than welcome here. The weather is always warm, although now we are in the rainy season. All this goes to make this a very pleasant place to be. If it weren't for the fact that I'm in the Army, I might be inclined to really enjoy myself.

It's getting close to the time when all good boys are in bed, so I guess I'll hang up my pen for tonight. Luck and good grades to everyone.

See ya all,
Will

Psi Beta Psi Holds First Rushing Party October 17

The Psi Beta Psi rushing party was held Sunday evening, October 17, at the Nels O. Reppen home. A Hawaiian theme was carried on throughout the party. Upon entering the house, the girls were given flower headpieces and palm tree favors. The decorations included Hawaiian flowers and table center pieces and coconuts filled with fruit. A pineapple-caramel desert and Hawaiian punch were served. Patronesses present were Mrs. Nels O. Reppen, Mrs. Raymond E. Specht, and Mrs. Edgar F. Pierson.

Committees for the party were as follows: Food, Eldora Reineking, Chloe Brody, and Rosemary Axtell; theme and decorations, Joanne Untiedt, Marlene LaMare and Mary Jane Lehman; entertainment, Eleanor Schram and Dorothy Gerner; favors, Jan Thurston and Delores McLees; transportation, Lenore Gaylord and Joyce Scheelk; invitations, Mary Lou Bloczynski and Darlene Zamzow.

Omegas Hold Rushing Party To Art Theme

"Artistic" is the word for the Omega Mu Chi rushing party which was held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, October 19, at the Erwin Clayton home, 1327 Clark street.

Artists' smocks and berets were worn by the rushees; the active members of the sorority were costumed to represent famous paintings. Palettes and paint brushes were given as favors.

Margie Koepke, alumna, and Cleo Gilbert, president, spoke to the group. Mrs. Phyllis Ravey and Miss Patricia Reilly were present as advisers.

After the program, the guests were served strawberry shortcake, punch, cookies, nuts and coffee.

Pat Giese and Delores Thompson were co-chairmen. Other committee heads were: Decorations, Carol Crosby; food, Jan Bergelin; entertainment, Pat Rickel; transportation, Betty Holstein; and clean-up, Joan Timke.

Note Alums!

An informal get-together will be held at the time of the 1954 Wisconsin Education Association Convention at Milwaukee. The Club Rooms at Hotel Schroeder have been reserved from 3:30-5:30 p.m. on Thursday, November 4, 1954. The Alumni Relations Committee of the College Faculty (Mrs. Marjorie Kerst, Chairman) will be in charge. We will look for you. Let us beat last year's record of over 600. Punch will be served.

Important Facts For Teachers Revealed In Analysis By Gotham

CSC students who are planning to teach and alumni who are teaching will be interested in the following analysis prepared by Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, Director of Placement. Says Dr. Gotham:

"Mounting unemployment figures reflect the problems of adjustment of our nation from a war to a peace time economy. The unusual demand for untrained personnel, during and since the war, which offered attractive wages and salaries to high school graduates has almost ceased. The present need is for vocational skilled men and women or those with a college education in various professional fields. The advantages of a college education are many.

"Among the professions offering unusual opportunities for capable young men and women is teaching. Several factors have contributed to this development. One important factor is the renewed interest in public education in most segments of our society. Few parents today are content with the little red school taught by a teacher with limited preparation where a rather large percentage of children remained only as long as the law required. New and improved schools are replacing the old, and qualified teachers are in great demand. School budgets have increased significantly and the public schools of most progressive communities are of interest and concern to the majority.

"A second factor is the staggering population increase of the past ten to twelve years. The initial increase, beyond normal population trends, began in 1942. These children entered the kindergarten in 1947 and now are nearing high school age. The demand for capable teachers has been increasing annually since 1947 and will become a critical problem before a sufficient supply has been prepared to meet the continuously increasing demand.

"The draft continues to delay the availability of many young men for two years. Fortunately this group of veterans is an available supply, though small, to fill the urgent demands upon their return. Population increases of children now in our schools and those to enter each year for some distance in the foreseeable future, will provide opportunities for many young men and women who may be interested in teaching and who are able to qualify for entrance to the profession.

"Significant salary increases and excellent promotional opportunities are attractions to those interested in the profession. Initial salaries for degree teachers have in some instances reached the $100 a week figure. Most salary schedules have provided for a continuous increase annually in beginning salaries in addition to scheduled annual raises.

"Teaching is one of the few professions with an attractive beginning salary for those who complete the four year preparatory course. Few professions offer the number and variety of promotional opportunities. The need for elementary and high school principals, grade and high school supervisors and curriculum coordinators, superintendents and directors of special services will increase in proportion to the number of new schools and added staff. As college enrollment increases, new opportunities will be opened to those with attractive experience records and graduate professional preparation.

"The teaching profession offers unusually challenging opportunities to those interested in a career of service to youth. The placement report from Central State College is evidence of the fine teaching positions our graduates have obtained and the excellent promotions within the profession available to many. This number is expected to increase each year as the number of such opportunities increases.

"Students now preparing for teaching or those who will enter the teaching profession will find all areas of the school in need of competent teachers. From the kindergarten through the high school, all grades and subject fields, as well as special fields and services are and will be in need of capable teachers for many years to come. The increased population insures this consistent demand.

"Those students who select one of the two special majors offered at Central State will find a variety of opportunities available to them. Not only are there demands for teachers in both fields, but business and industry are searching for capable candidates in both fields. There is no unemployment in the teaching profession or in many other professions and vocations for capable young men and women who have completed a sound college education."

Herman Osgood, shown above, will be at the middle line backer position for Oshkosh when the Titans kick off against the Pointers in the Homecoming Tilt this coming Saturday. Herman not only is a superb athlete but also is a three point student at Oshkosh. The person riding Herman was not identified.

Barbara Fritchie, class of '65, has been awarded the annual Phineas T. Warthrottles Cash Award for the alumna coming the farthest distance to attend the 1954 Homecoming. Miss Fritchie was very pleased to receive the award as she had traveled a great distance and had few bucks left, one of which is shown above.

Alfred Landon, Oshkosh cheerleader, is shown practicing his specialty for the Pointer-Titan game. Alfred learned his specialty from an old Indian chief. This probably explains why it always rains when Alfred does it. The unidentified cheerleader facing the camera obviously needs a haircut.

Kris Jorgenson, CSC's only male member of Orchesis is shown chasing butterflies during practice. He was later dropped from the group because of a discovered defect — he had talent.
