

AKL Sponsors Tenth Annual Venison Dinner

By Dave Kubach

Last Saturday night, the Hot Fish Shop in Stevens Point was the scene of the annual venison dinner sponsored by Alpha Kappa Lambda, conservation fraternity. Attending the dinner were conservation students, alumni, various faculty members, local citizens friendly to the school and its conservation program and Chief Warden George S. Hadland from Madison.

As it was 10 years ago this fall that the conservation program was established here at Central State college, the venison dinner served to commemorate the anniversary of its founding.

The Reverend Perry Saito of St. Paul's Methodist church began the evening with a prayer preceding the dinner. Immediately following the dinner, the "Point Pipers," a barber-shop quartet, entertained the group with the selections of "Alabama Jubilee," "I Don't Mind Being All Alone," "Wait Till The Sun Shines, Nellie," and "Oh Joe."

With the ending of the musical entertainment, Dr. Walter R. Sylvester, a member of the conservation staff at CSC, called upon the alumni to stand and identify themselves. Some braved adverse weather conditions to come from as far as Milwaukee to attend the dinner. The residents of Stevens Point who received special invitations to the dinner because of their continuous support of conservation in this area were also introduced at this time.

Mike Farrell, Alpha Kappa Lambda's president, acting as toastmaster for the evening, introduced William C. Hansen, president of Central State college, as the first speaker of the evening.

President Hansen extended a welcome to those attending the dinner and commended the conservation club on its work. He gave a brief description of the history of conservation at Central State during the past 10 years, its conception and growth, its failures and its successes. The president also praised the teaching staff of the conservation program for its devotion to the field of conservation.

Following President Hansen's talk, Fred J. Schmeckle, head of the conservation department at the college, spoke on his 10 years of conservation at CSC. Mr. Schmeckle can be credited with giving conservation at CSC its initial start, so in a sense the dinner was a dedication to him as well.

Although Mr. Schmeckle has been connected with CSC for 32 years, he calls the past 10 years of conservation his most enjoyable. He pointed out that such a project cannot be a one man job and that its success would not have been possible without the cooperation of the entire staff.

Mr. Schmeckle said that Central State college was the first institution in the country with a program in conservation education. Central State now has alumni located in every part of the country and has a national reputation in the field of conservation.

After his speech Mr. Schmeckle presented three scholarships to deserving conservation students. James Van Duser and Donald Page received scholarships of $50.00 each from the Fox River Valley Garden clubs. A scholarship award of $100.00 was given to Philip Lukowicz by the State Federation of Garden clubs.

Mr. Farrell then presented Mr. Schmeckle a gift of an Argus C-4 camera from the AKL. Drs. Sylvester and Bernard F. Wievel, the other members of the conservation staff, received gifts of matching tie clasps and cuff links.

The guest speaker for the evening was George S. Hadland, chief warden for the state of Wisconsin. At the beginning of his talk Warden Hadland congratulated Mr. Schmeckle on his courage and conviction in the field of conservation.

Warden Hadland told the audience that conservation law enforcement is not an easy assignment and that education is a great tool to get the nation to comply with the laws.

Warden Hadland said that most of the prevention work is done with the teenagers. Conservation Law Enforcement officers try to make the youth understand why conservation is important. They also attempt to educate the parents in the value of conservation laws. He commended the Boy Scouts, conservation clubs, and the 4-H clubs as useful in providing the leadership necessary to channel youthful energy along the right course.

He emphasized the idea that the goal of the law enforcement officers is not to make arrests but to get cooperation with conservation laws without force. He said further that the good will of the people is necessary for cooperation and that it is gained by fairness and honesty.

Warden Hadland ended the program by saluting President Hansen, Mr. Schmeckle, and the rest of the staff for their work in conservation education.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

Because the next issue of the bi-weekly Pointer would come on the first day of the Christmas vacation, December 22, there will be a Pointer published next week on Thursday, December 15. Watch for it.

Religious Groups Plan Joint Christmas Meeting

"Yuletide Noel" will be the theme of the program when the Wesley Foundation, the Lutheran Student Association, Trigon, and the Wayland religious groups meet together for their Christmas activity.

The meeting will be held at the First Baptist church on December 15 at 7 p.m. Transportation will be available at Nelson Hall at 6:45 p.m. Christmas records, get-acquainted games, and exchange of gifts will all be a part of the opening activities which will be led by the Trigon group. Each person attending is asked to bring a crazy gift, not to exceed ten cents, for exchange.

Later, "The First Noel" will be sung by the LSA choir as the worshippers gather in the sanctuary to praise the birth of the Christ Child. A member of the LSA will give a Christmas message and the evening's activities will close with the singing of "Joy to the World."

The recreation room in the basement of the college gets a lot of use, as this picture shows, from students — and faculty.

Wedding Bells Soon

Congratulations and best wishes to Miss Miriam Moser and Dr. Clifford A. Morrison, who will be married on Tuesday, December 27, at the Episcopal Church of the Intercession.

Miss Moser teaches in the Women's Physical Education department and Dr. Morrison is chairman of the history department at Central State.

Nelson Hall Schedules Annual Christmas Tea

Preparations are now being made for Nelson Hall's annual Christmas Tea. This year the tea will be held on Sunday, December 18, from 3 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the dormitory. Everyone is welcome to attend the Christmas Tea and the Open House.

Rosemary Kreider, the general chairman of the tea, has set up various committees and already many plans have been made. The committee chairmen are: Charleen Sanford, chairman of publicity; Nancy Coon, food; Luella Murdock, centerpiece; Faith Pomeroy, Christmas Tree; Marjorie Maahs, dorm decorations.

Treva Anderson is chairman of the serving committee, Pauline Ainsworth of the table replenishers and Ingra Lühring of the clean-up committee.

Traditional Christmas Concert Dates Announced

By Bradley Johnson

The holiday season is upon us, and with it comes the Music Department's traditional Christmas concert. This year the concert will be given in the college auditorium on Sunday evening, December 18, and Monday evening, December 19, at 8 o'clock.

The Brass ensemble will play several selections before the concert begins. The opening concert numbers will be played by the String ensemble and the Orchestra, with Mrs. Gordon Meyer as vocal soloist. The Men's Glee club will appear next, singing several Christmas carols. Orchestral music will combine with the Girls' Glee club to present Britten's "Ceremony of Carols" with modern dance selections. Last on the program is the College Choir, which will sing selections from the Christmas section of "The Messiah."

College students will be admitted to the concert on their activity tickets. Tickets for townspeople will be sold locally.

Complete details of the concert will be published in the Pointer for December 15.

CSC Band Plans Tours

By Tom Wirus

The notice on the weekly bulletin the last two weeks has prompted the question from many: "Is the band going on a tour?" Well, the answer is YES, at the beginning of the second semester.

Last year between semesters, the College Band toured the Badger state, playing nine concerts in three days at New London, Wittenberg, Shawano, Antigo, Rhinelander, Minocqua, Park Falls, Colby, and Mosinee. It was found that playing three concerts a day under this type of scheduling was a little too tiring. Consequently, when the band tours the state this year, their schedule per day will be somewhat easier. The band will perform two concerts a day during the four-day tour.

The schedule of the band has not been entirely completed as of this publication, but here is the itinerary to date:

Monday, January 30 — Adams-Friendship in the morning; no definite place for the evening concert, as yet.

Tuesday, January 31 — Baraboo in the morning; Portage in the afternoon. The band is expected to arrive in Milwaukee about 4:30 where they will have dinner and stay overnight.

Wednesday, February 1 — Algoma in the afternoon; Fish Creek (not definite) in the evening.

Thursday, February 2 — Clintonville in the morning; then back home to Stevens Point for the concluding concert at 8 p.m. in the College auditorium.

The College Band will precede its tour on the last official school day of the first semester, January 27, with a morning concert at Waupesa. There will be more information regarding the band tour at a later date in the Pointer.

"Pickwick Papers" To Be Next Foreign Film

"Pickwick Papers," from Great Britain, will be the next foreign film in the College Library Theatre committee film series. It will be shown Thursday and Friday, December 15 and 16, at 4, 6:30, and 8:30 p.m. "Swan Lake," featuring the Original Ballet, with Genevieve Moulin, Vladimir Dokonovski and Paul Grinwys, will also be shown.

Producer Noel Langley has had every consideration for the famous Dickens characters and for our own feelings about them in the "Pickwick Papers." He has even, wherever possible, made his scenes match the Phiz illustrations that accompany the original issues of the "Papers" in installment form. The flavor of the author's work is delightfully captured throughout in Dickens' tendency to caricature, his crusading spirit and his gift for the absurd.

The actors are superb. James Gayer makes Mr. Pickwick both endearingly ludicrous and admirable; Nigel Patrick does another of his effective ne'er-do-well performances as Jingle; and Joyce Grenfell does a side-splitting bit as Mrs. Leo Hunter. Most of the main adventures are related — Winkle's duel with Dr. Slammer, the "gambling" of Rachel Wardle, Mr. Pickwick caught prowling in a lady's chamber, Mr. Pickwick brought to court by a woman scorned, and Mr. Pickwick cast into a debtor's prison.

Be sure to come to the Library Theatre, December 15 and 16, at 4 o'clock — 25¢ for students and 40¢ for faculty, or at 6:30 or 8:30 — 35¢ for students and 50¢ for faculty. Subscribers should arrive at least five minutes before show time to claim seating priority.

Elementary School Music Clinic Set For Saturday

There's both music and the teaching of it in the air Saturday, December 10, when an Elementary School Music Clinic, sponsored by the Wisconsin School Music association and Department of Public Instruction, will be held. The Music Clinic is under the direction of Dr. Raymond E. Gotham and Dr. Hugo D. Marple.

Registration will be from 9 to 9:30, followed by a welcome by Dr. Quincy Doudna. Then, at 9:45, Lloyd Schultz, supervisor of music education for Wisconsin schools, will speak on elementary school music in Wisconsin. At 10 o'clock, Professor Dorothy Kelley from the University of Indiana will present a lecture and demonstration on "Music in the Primary Grades." "Music in the Upper Grades," another lecture-demonstration by Professor Marriet Nordholm of Michigan State University, will be given at 10:45.

After the noon recess, lasting until 1 o'clock, the College Choir, under the direction of Dr. Marple, will present a concert. Then the lectures by Miss Kelley and Miss Nordholm will be repeated. At 2 o'clock, the session will be closed by a panel-forum based upon questions from the audience.

ONLY THREE awards were listed on the program at the annual dinner of Alpha Kappa Lambda, Central State college's conservation fraternity, but a fourth was presented to Fred J. Schmeckle (left). The fraternity on Saturday night gave a camera to Schmeckle, head of the conservation education department at CSC. Receiving $50 scholarships from the Fox River Valley Garden clubs were Donald Page, Marengo (next to Schmeckle), and James Van Duser (right), Sheboygan. A $100 award from the Wisconsin Federation of Conservation Clubs went to Philip Lukowicz, Owen (second from right).

Two Nuns Find Organic Chemistry Hard, But Fun

By Mary Jo Buggs

"Chemistry is hard but if it were any more fun, it wouldn't be work at all." This is a statement made by Sister Angelica, one of two nuns studying organic chemistry here at CSC. Working along with her is Sister Carmelita. Both of them are Sisters of the Sorrowful Mother and they are regular staff members of Saint Michael's Hospital here in Stevens Point. Sister Angelica is a medical technologist and Sister Carmelita is a nurse.

Sister Angelica spent her early life on a wheat farm in Kansas. When she was just out of high school and 18 years old, she joined the convent. She says that in becoming a nun she has realized a life-long dream, as she had always wanted to be a nun. After she had become one, her field of Medical Technology was chosen for her.

After two to three years of college in Milwaukee, Sister Angelica studied one more year in a Medical Technology school in Wichita, Kansas. She came directly to Saint Michael's Hospital from that school in 1944. While she was in Med. Tech. school she learned both the practical and theoretical sides of the subject and is taking organic chemistry here both to supplement her knowledge and to keep up with changes.

Sister Angelica had never dreamed of working in a hospital. Luckily enough, she likes her work very well. She doesn't know whether she will remain here in the future or be transferred to another hospital. She is very busy because besides going to school and studying, she works her full hours in the hospital. Also, she is on call 24 hours a day, not because she has to be, but because she wants to be. Apparently Sister Angelica thrives on work because a more good-natured or more pleasant individual can scarcely be found. She says that her class is hard but she's glad because she enjoys learning and using the extra knowledge.

Sister Carmelita is also from Kansas, Wichita being her home town. While she was in grade school, she brought home a report card rather overflowing with "A's." She remembers her grandfather telling her that A stood for awful; B for bad; C for clever; D for darn good; and F for fine.

She says that one of the most important days of her life was the day during her sixteenth year when she was converted to Catholicism. Two years after she became a Catholic, she entered the convent.

The reason Sister Carmelita became a nurse is that she had had experience as a nurses' aid prior to entering the convent.

After a year and a half of college, she took nurses' training at Oshkosh. After she had been working at Saint Michael's hospital in Stevens Point for only one week, she was made supervisor of a floor. She still carries out all her duties as a supervisor besides taking chemistry with Sister Angelica.

She says that chemistry is hard work but is very enjoyable. She finds Dr. Trytten's lectures very interesting, and his tests, hard (please, no applause from other chemistry students). Sister Carmelita thinks that the students at CSC are both polite and very nice.

Over The Fence

By Nancy Hager

Webster doesn't claim this definition but here's an answer to the question, "What is a student?"

A student is that thing which emerges from a high school, converges with many of the same to urge the retaining of knowledge, and when on the verge of flunking, submerges at the local "pub". He needs to build, plan, finish, and launch his new career, and if his ship doesn't come in, he's sunk!

A student is not made of sugar and spice but gives the effect of sauerkraut and whipped cream — together! He is a mother's garbage pail, a father's bank statement, a teacher's vitamin pill and a roommate's wardrobe.

A student likes greasy hamburgers, late nights, the Pointer, deer hunting, girls, Marilyn Monroe, girls and Pogo. He dislikes librarians, alarm clocks, vegetables, 8:15's, assemblies and Monday mornings.

In time of trouble, he's at the bottom of it. In time of need, he's got dollar signs in his eyes. In case of sickness, he's usually faking and when the chips are down, he takes his cards and calls it a night.

He's a thief if he steals a kiss, a murderer when he kills time, a bum on week-ends, and a maniac during exam week. But when the semester is over and he walks down the streets of his home town, all eyes are upon him as his neighbors whisper those four little words, "They kicked him out".

(A recent survey proved that according to this year, CSC has no students enrolled this year!)

"Clerk! Oh, clerk! I'd like a mouse trap, please! But hurry up, I have to catch a bus!"

"I'm afraid we don't have one large enough, Sir!"

Those CSC'ers who got their "dear" over the vacation were Joyce Tharston, who "bagged" Harold Freberg, Bonnie Driscoll, who "tracked" down Jim Blaser, Daela Miller, who "tagged" Ralph Potter, and Lola Abbott, who registered Bob Bestul as her "catch". This quartet all extend their sparkling left hands as a memory of a truly happy Thanksgiving.

"Mr. and Mrs." is the caption for this couple who have tied the final knot, Jerry Munderloh and former Pointer, Mina Johnson.

Congratulations are also extended to our two faculty members who are planning for a "marry" Christmas.

I hailed the first-born snowflakes With childish joy and glee, I thought the white celestial gown Would greatly flatter me.

But now I have a problem, It's very plain to see, If someone doesn't shovel, it Will only flatten me.

Why newspapers are like women! Because they have forms. Because they are bold-face types. Because they always have the last word.

Because back numbers are not in demand. Because they are well worth looking over. Because they are thinner than they used to be. Because if they know anything they usually tell it. Because every man should have one of his own and not run after his neighbor's.

Thanks!! To Sigma Phi Epsilon for adding to the spirit of the season by setting up and decorating the Christmas trees in the halls and to Alpha Phi Omega for decorating the auditorium.

Let's back 'em! Tonight, our basketball team! Primary Council's Christmas project to help the Indian children.

This week's lemon is a tangerine! (Get it?)

Be sure to watch this column next week for absolutely nothing!! "Yule" like it!
