Mrs. Reuschlein Joins CSC Record Office Staff

Mrs. Pat Reuschlein, formerly of Burlington, is a new member of the Record office staff. Her husband, Phil, recently joined the CSC faculty as an instructor in Physical Education and Anatomy. He is also serving as assistant basketball coach at this time.

A sincere welcome is extended to this new "Pointer" secretary.

Registration Program

Registration for the second semester will be held on Monday and Tuesday, January 30 and 31. A time was placed on the back of students' buff cards when they pre-registered, and this is the time they are expected to register. This new system of a designated time to register is being tried on an experimental basis and will only be successful if the students cooperate, says Gilbert W. Faust, registrar.

Time tables will be passed out for the scheduling of classes some time during the week of examinations. Those who were in school the past semester but failed to pre-register will be obliged to wait until those students who did pre-register are taken care of.

Second semester classes will convene on Wednesday, February 1.

Mid-Year Graduates Listed

Twenty-three CSC students will receive their degrees on January 27 at the close of the first semester this year. There will be no formal graduation ceremony but these graduates may take part in the regular Commencement exercises in June, if they wish. The 16 who are in college at the present time, with their home towns and divisions, are: Dorothy Allen, Stevens Point, Primary; Geraldine Beyerstedt, Sheboygan, Rural; Bradley Blake, Stevens Point, L and S; Ruth Borchardt, Fremont, Rural; Joseph Checota, Watertown, Intermediate; Lyle Dakins, Plover, L and S; Shirley Hutchings, Plover, Primary; Irvin Hutter, Milton, L and S; Harry Koroehlan, Nekosha, Intermediate; Lowell LaLeike, Stevens Point, Secondary; Gerald LaMarche, Stevens Point, Secondary; Albert Lewandowski, Stevens Point, L and S; James L. Miller, Oshkosh, L and S; Lois Schroeder, Waupaca, Secondary; Gilbert Stasek, Antigo, Secondary; Thomas Wirkus, Marshfield, Secondary.

Psi Betas Go National

By Joyce Hannemann

Psi Beta Psi has been accepted by Alpha Sigma Alpha, a national sorority, as a chapter on this campus—Gamma Beta. Pledging will begin in February. Chapter installation of the Psi Beta group will take place early in March.

"Why did you decide to go national?" "Why Alpha Sigma Alpha?" "Doesn't it cost a lot?" These are the questions mostly asked of the Psi Betas. The answers are: "We decided to go national because we felt that this college was large enough to maintain a national group and really needed such an affiliation. We decided on Alpha Sigma Alpha because its standards were most nearly like ours. It is not as expensive as many would believe."

The national fees include: Pledge fee—$8, Initiation—$10, and Plain Badge—$6—a total of $24. Semester national dues for duly installed active members are $5. Such dues for active members begin the school year following their installation.

Miss Virginia Carpenter of Shaker Heights, Ohio, the national vice-president and extension director, visited the local group December 10, 1955, and attended several meetings held at the home of Mrs. Herman Toser, Park Ridge, a patroness of Phi Beta Psi sorority. A dinner was given in Miss Carpenter's honor Saturday evening, December 10, at the Sky club.

The petition was signed by 27 members of the sorority.

Newly elected officers are: Mary Louise Bloczynski, Athens, president; Janet Madison, Marshfield, vice-president; Judith Heintz, Wausau, recording secretary; Nancy Con, Hatley, corresponding secretary; Treiva Anderson, Sturgeon Bay, treasurer; Joyce Hannemann, Merrill, historian and press representative; Lily Sturkol, Hurley, chaplain; and Rosemary Kreidler, Plymouth, membership director.

Patronesses are Mrs. Herbert Benn, Mrs. John McComb, Mrs. Maurice Rice, Mrs. Herman Toser, Mrs. Burdette Eagon, Mrs. Edgar Pierson, Mrs. Nels Reppen and Mrs. Raymond Specht.

Advisers are Miss Vivian Kellog and Mrs. Henry Runke. Honorary members are Mrs. Warren Blodgett, Miss Alice Hansen and Mrs. Paul Lewis.

Alpha Sigma Alpha was organized November 15, 1901, at Longwood, Farnville, Virginia. Today there are 38 chapters including those at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio; Colorado State College of Education, Greeley, Colorado; Temple University, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan; and St. Louis Institute, Monomone. The present national president is Miss Evelyn Bell, Buffalo, New York.

Alpha Sigma Alpha's national philanthropic project is supplying some of the "extras" at five large veterans hospitals in the United States. In 1916 a Fellowship fund was established to help those members who need financial aid to complete their education. There are also several other awards given to undergraduate members and alumna members each year for outstanding work.

Attention

Because of semester examinations next week and registration on January 30 and 31, the next regular issue of the Pointer will be published on February 9.

Two New Members Join College Teaching Staff

There will be two new faces on the faculty of CSC next semester. President William C. Hansen has disclosed that Dr. Jack Cross will join the CSC faculty in the history department and Richard E. Carter, in the geography department.

Dr. Cross is originally from Texas, but received his B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago. The title of his Doctor's thesis was "The American Politician as Historian, 1791-1850".

Dr. Cross had experience as a salesman before he joined the Air Force, where he was a navigator and pilot during World War II. He is now employed by the Central Intelligence Agency in Washington, D. C. Dr. Cross is married and has two sons.

Mr. Carter, of Park Ridge, Illinois, had his undergraduate training at Northern Illinois State Teachers college, DeKalb, Illinois, and got his Master's degree at Northwestern University. He has done some graduate work beyond his Master's degree.

At present Mr. Carter is employed in the City Planning Office in Chicago. He is unmarried.

Beards Are Style For Woodchoppers' Ball

Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity, CSC's conservation club, has begun planning its annual all-school dance, the Woodchoppers' Ball, which will be held early in February.

At the time of this writing, many of the details of the Ball regarding exact date, time, place, and type of entertainment have yet to be established. The tentative date of the dance is Feb. 4, but the definite date will be announced soon along with the price of tickets.

One of the highlights of the evening will be the judging of the beard growing contest which is open to anyone attending the dance, including women. The beards will probably be judged in divisions that consider both the thickness and the style of beard. It would be advisable for the contestants to begin cultivating their whiskers now. Any type of artificial stimulant may be used to produce bigger and better beards. Those liquid stimulants that are supposed to put hair on the chest might also work for the face. If so, the competition should be quite rough!

The Woodchoppers' Ball is not a formal affair and those attending may come dressed as lumberjacks or whatever else they might want to dress like.

AKL has appointed three committees to carry out the plans for the Ball. Its entertainment committee consists of Don Page, chairman, Ed Prohaska, Ron Kerl, and Jim Krens. The decoration committee is headed by chairman Bernie Landerman, Gordon Faust, LaVerne Snowewold, Don Krull, and Jack Pickett. Al Curtis is chairman of the ticket and promotion committee which is rounded out by John Henderson, Glen Dumonthier, and Mike Farrell.

Sigma Zeta Learns That Snakes Make Pets

Members of Sigma Zeta, National Honorary Science fraternity, had a special treat in store for them at their monthly meeting on January 11. A member of the group (Harold) Don Smith, was featured as the main speaker of the evening and his subject was "Snakes." Not only did he supply information about snakes in general, but with the help of a pet Western Fox snake and a garter snake, demonstrated how snakes may be kept as pets.

Entertainment after the meeting was provided for by Archibald, Mr. Smith's near four-foot-long pet Western Fox snake. Both male and female Sigma Zetas had him coil his long frame around their arms and found the experience not too appalling after all!

Debate Tourney Slated, Gov't. Subsidies Subject

By Mary Jo Breitenstein

The district high school debate tournament, sponsored by the Wisconsin High School Forensic Association, will be held in Stevens Point on Saturday, February 4. This year there will be between 12 and 14 schools represented from this district. The district manager is A. D. Wicklund, Supt. of Schools, Nekosha.

The debate question for 1956 is: "Resolved that governmental subsidies be granted according to need to high school students who qualify for additional training." Each school is represented by affirmative and negative teams each consisting of two debaters. The speeches given are 10 minutes in length and have been prepared beforehand. There is five minutes allowed for the rebuttal speech.

Each school debates the same subject three times. Two of these debates will be held in the morning and one in the afternoon. There will be one coffee hour in the morning in the main building. The second coffee hour will be held in the afternoon in the student union. Noon luncheon will be served in Nelson Hall where President William C. Hansen will give the welcome.

The winners of this tournament will enter the sectional debate tournament which will be held in Stevens Point on February 11. Ervin Marquardt of Wausau is the sectional chairman.

Final arrangements for these forensic programs will be made by the CSC forensic committee consisting of Leland Burroughs, chairman, Miss Pauline Isaacson, Dr. Peter A. Kroeber, Robert C. Blakeslee, and Robert S. Lewis. These are decision debates, and the judges will be selected by Mr. Wicklund and Mr. Marquardt.

The tournament will be open to the public and all students are urged to attend.

'China Night' Is Theme For Intersorority Dance

By Barbara Bowen

The Stevens Point Youth Center will be transformed into a typical China Night for the traditional CSC Intersorority Formal which will be held there on Saturday, January 21, from 9 p.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The theme, China Night, will be carried out with a false ceiling of crepe paper and Chinese lanterns. The main doorway will have a huge dragon on either side of it. The stage will be decorated so that it looks as if the band is playing from inside a pagoda. Two of the walls will be decorated with huge Chinese fans and the third wall will have a huge mural depicting a scene from a Chinese night. In each of the arched doorways will hang a symbol of the three sororities. All of these decorations are in very vivid colors and look very Chinese.

The dance begins at 9 o'clock and at 10, as is traditional, each of the sororities will stand in a ring and sing their sorority song. After this the dancing will be resumed until 12:30. Music for this dance will be furnished by Russ Nelson and his orchestra.

At the head of this large affair is Lenore Gaylord, president of the Intersorority group. Tau Gamma Beta is taking care of the theme, orchestra and place; Omega Mu Chi of tickets and programs; and Psi Beta Psi of chaperoons and invitations to special guests. The planning of the decorations was taken care of by two co-chairmen from each sorority. These girls are Diana Bloom and Joyce Schlottman from Tau Gamma Beta, Joan Jeckle and Nancy Skaltisky from Omega Mu Chi, and Lenore Gaylord and Treiva Anderson from Psi Beta Psi. All sorority members will help with the decorating.

Chaperones for this event will be Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Ravey, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Runke.

A Necessity . . . And We Mean A NECESSITY

About this time of year, Ben Franklin's 250th anniversary is being duly noted. We remember that he was the man largely responsible for establishing the original U. S. Postal System. While on the subject of the U. S. mail we naturally turn our attention to mailboxes and this leads us to the final plea of this first semester.

How about student mailboxes? We realize that this question was brought up last year, and we further realize that this editorial may have the same results — nothing, — but since the semester's end is near and the future is uncertain, we have decided to courageously champion this worthy cause while we are still around.

Mailboxes seem to be the answer for student contact in a school that is growing so rapidly as this one. They have worked well at some of the other state colleges, and we would like to see them instituted here.

How about it, students? Do you want mailboxes?

Faculty Familiar Face

BY Mary Braatz

A Madison man from birth to Master's Degree is this week's Faculty Familiar Face, Gilbert W. Faust. Born in Wisconsin's capital city, he attended grade, high school, and University there, graduating with his Bachelor of Science Degree in chemistry in 1934. He then went back to earn some credits in the School of Education, and in February, 1935, became a substitute teacher in the high school at Baraboo for one semester.

Central State college became the abiding place of Mr. Faust in the fall of 1935, when he became a laboratory assistant in the chemistry department — at the munificent salary of $100 a month. CSC has held him ever since, except for a year's leave for work on his Master's Degree in 1939, and a two year sojourn in the navy, which started in 1944. During this time, he held the title of Radar Engineering Officer, and, as he expresses it, "sailed a desk in the Brooklyn Navy Yard." He was also in charge of installation of Fire-Control Radar on the aircraft carrier FDR when it was being built.

Mr. Faust's wife, the former Helen Weber, made his acquaintance through a mutual friend in the summer of 1946. They were married in

"Now what do you say?" Marjorie removed the thumb and replied, "You're welcome."

Hobbies are the order of the day with Mr. Faust. Perhaps first among them is his greenhouse, built onto their home in City Park. Here there are flowers at all times of the year, even chrysanthemums at Christmas. All the plants used by the Fausti in their summer garden originate as cuttings or seedlings in the greenhouse.

The Faust cottage at the Chain of Lakes could perhaps be classified as a hobby, although Mr. Faust maintains that "It's no hobby, just another place to spend money." Reading and music are also big interests. When first at CSC, Mr. Faust played in the college band and was the accompanist for the Men's Glee club, by teaching chemistry and acting as Registrar have limited the time for things like these.

As for the future, there's a hobby shop in it. Mr. Faust and Robert S. Lewis of the college have great plans to join hobbies — pets, tropical fish, gardening, and photography combined — and establish a hobby shop somewhere out by the East Side Foodliner. A fine future to look forward to for anyone.

All-School Writing Contest Now Underway

The big all-school writing contest is now underway. This yearly contest, sponsored by Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity, is brought about so that creative literary expression can be promoted and recognized.

The rules for the contest are simple and it doesn't cost you anything except paper and time.

1. Any student except Sigma Tau Delta members is eligible for the contest and every student is eligible to submit writings with the possibility of publication in Words Worth.
2. A $5 prize will be given for the best prose selection. Prose may be either essay or short story.
3. $5 prize will be given for the best poetry selection.

4. A person can enter as many selections as he wishes. The more entries the more chance for winning the prize money and getting selections published.

5. The best entries will go into making up the creative writing publication, Words Worth.

Here is the chance everyone has been waiting for. Whether you think you can write or not, why not give it a try anyway?

New Korean Student To Attend CSC Next Semester

There will be a new foreign student on campus here at CSC next semester. Her name is Imsun Choy and her home is Seoul, Korea. She graduated from the Department of English Arts and Science, Ewha Woman's University in Korea.

Her brother, Sun Hak Choy, M. D., is affiliated with the pathology department of the Medical College of Virginia, at Richmond.

Three Operas Planned By Music Department

By Tom Wirkus

The student body at CSC and many of the townspeople of Stevens Point will again have the opportunity to view and hear opera at the college next month. Dr. Hugo D. Marple, chairman of the music department, announced the casts for the three operas last week. These three operas will be performed on the evening of February 26 and again on February 28 at 8 p.m. in the Library Theater.

The operas and their casts are as follows:

"The Ugly Duckling," a solo opera by Prokofiev will be performed one evening by Dorothy Allen and the other night by Charlotte Loberg. Accompanist will be Clara Coltur.

The second opera is entitled "Hfin and Zurick" by Hindesmith. The cast includes: Dennis Johnson as Robert, Nancy Coon as Helene, Larry Cook as the doctor, Roland Marsh as Sake, and Sally Miller as Aunt Emma.

The third opera is "The Maid As Mistress" by Pergolesi. Jack Zeil and Priscilla Landberg will portray the characters of Uberto and Serpina, respectively.

These three operas are again sponsored this year by Alpha Kappa Rho, honorary music fraternity at CSC.

Home Ec Club Officers

Monday evening, January 9, the Home Economics club elected a new slate of officers for second semester.

Carole Fabich succeeds Lois Schroeder as president. Working with Carole will be Margaret Bolder, "veep"; Faith Pomeroy, historian; Nancy Coon; and press representative, Barbara Riley.

There was some discussion concerning the Open House and Style Show which is put on by the department every other school year. It is one of the biggest "productions" of the Home Economics Department and its success depends upon the cooperation of every member. It has been said, "It's a lot of work, but it's really worth it."

More definite plans will be made for this later.

1956 Fulbright Foreign Study Grants Available

The Institution of International Education has sent announcements of the Fulbright Foreign Study Grants available in 1956-57. They are given by foreign governments, foreign universities, private foundations. The awards, primarily for graduate study, are for one academic year — usually beginning in the fall of 1956. Most of the awards do not cover the entire expenses of the period of foreign study.

The grants are primarily designed to give U. S. students the opportunity to live and study in a foreign country, and not to enable U. S. students to obtain foreign degrees. There are general eligibility requirements which apply to all the awards and other qualifications vary according to the award.

Grants are available in many countries, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, France, and Italy among them. The majority of applications must be in on or before March 1.

Dr. Warren G. Jenkins has further information on the awards, qualifications, amount of stipends, and application forms for any students who are interested.

Masculine Touch Given; Home Ec Is Victim Of 13

Thirteen may be an unlucky number, but there are some eighth grade Campus school youngsters who will consider themselves fortunate in future years to have belonged to a certain group of 13. These are the boys who are now taking homemaking as a regular course in their junior high curriculum.

Under the direction of Miss Rita Youmans and practice teachers Carole Fabich and Phyllis Knop, the boys are engaged in a program which includes all phases of clothing and foods. This is the third year that such a course has been offered, the first nine weeks was for seventh graders only. Next semester, the class will be offered for both seventh and eighth grade boys.

Miss Youmans, when asked about the boys' reactions, replied, "They're fascinated by the sewing machines and anything loose on them. They're not much interested in basting or wearing a thimble, though. By their mothers' comments, we know they

Varied Films Offered By Library Theater

Movies are in the air again and second semester offers the moviegoer a variety of good films.

The College Library Theater committee will present two extra films, "The Magic Horse," on January 26 and 27, and "Eroica," on February 14 and 15. Subscribers may choose either film to attend free of charge. Both films are also open to the public at the usual general admission price.

"The Magic Horse" is a color animation based on a Russian folk tale. This Russian film with English dialogue is a beautiful, artistic production especially delightful for children of all ages but equally enjoyable for all. A preview of the film, open to subscribers, will be held Monday, January 23.

"Eroica," the other film, is an Austrian film with English subtitles. The story is based on the life of the composer Beethoven and his music. It's a special treat for music lovers as well as German language students.

The new policy of the committee is to hold previews of the shows for subscribers only. They will usually be held at 7 o'clock on the Monday evening preceding the regular showing.

Tickets for second semester foreign film series are on sale now at the library and at the Book Store. Prices are: Students, $1.25; others, $2. for five films, plus a possible bonus, says Mrs. Gertrude Dixon, manager.

The first film for the second semester series is "Thunder Rock," from England, starring Michael Redgrave, on Thursday and Friday, February 9 and 10. Other films in the series are: "Il Trovatore" from Italy; "Kraakati" from Czechoslovakia; "Alexander Nevsky" from Russia; and "The Bicycle Thief" from Italy.

The committee urges everyone to buy a ticket to support the series, and to save 50 to 75 cents over single admissions.

Round Table, organization of the Intermediate division, has also been sponsoring a series of movie this past semester and on February 1 will show "A Star Is Born," starring Judy Garland.

No matter who the person, there is a movie to suit you. Come and enjoy yourself.

One-Act Plays Given

By Lois Gehres

On Saturday evening, January 15, and also on Tuesday evening, January 17, two one-act plays were presented by the speech department at Central State. These experimental plays, under the supervision of Miss Pauline Isaacson, both began at 7:30 p.m. in the library theater.

The two plays were entitled "Before Breakfast" by Eugene O'Neill and "The Shoemaker's Wife," a farce translated from the German "Der Todte Mann."

"The play 'Before Breakfast' was acted out by a single character, Nancy Hager played the part on Sunday and Margaret Bloom acted on Tuesday.

The cast of "The Shoemaker's Wife" was composed of Tom Davis, Jerome Schoen, Ruth Solberg, and Kay Schreiber, with Kay acting on Sunday and Ruth on Tuesday.

Drama students in the department who acted as directors were Lyle Dakins, Cleo Peterson, Tom Wirkus, Margaret Bloom, and Nancy Hager. practice at home the things they learn here."

December, 1947. As of now, they are the parents of two little blond, blue-eyed girls, Katherine, almost four, and Marjorie, two. Life as father of two little daughters can be quite interesting sometimes, especially just before Christmas. On the evening of December 23, 1955, the Fausti were driving through Park Ridge, when what should be discovered but a fire truck carrying two Santas, who were delivering gifts to the Park Ridge children. Kathy had to know why there were two Santas, and when told that one was Santa's brother, she asked, "Why do they come in a fire truck and not a sleigh?" The explanation that the fire truck matched Santa's suit seemed to satisfy her. Meanwhile, Marjorie sat with her thumb in her mouth, quietly taking in the whole affair. When Santa presented her with a candy cane, however, she accepted it gladly. When asked,

Future CSC Expansion!

Expansion is in the air! The fieldhouse in Central State's future may be preceded by several other much needed building additions to the CSC campus. These proposed additions include a third floor on Delzell hall, a new student union building, another men's dormitory (with Delzell transformed into a women's dorm) and a married students' housing unit. The money needed for these projects (except the housing unit) would not have to come through action by the state legislature as would the money for the fieldhouse, but through the approval by the board of state college regents.

Concerning the fieldhouse, the state building commission is expected to act upon a request from the board of regents for money to purchase the proposed land for it at Reserve street and Fourth avenue. The original money was to come from the state building commission, but a half-million dollar deficit in their funds made this impossible. Now, however, it is believed that some of CSC's $150,000 equipment-replacement money also available as a state fund can be allotted for this purpose.

The addition to Delzell Hall has been given the go-ahead signal already, and contracts for its construction will be let in January or early February. The third floor will be built at a cost of $150,000, which will be paid for through student rental fees.

As for the new dormitory and student union, the secretary of the board of regents is in the process of finding out the possibility of borrowing money from the federal government through the housing and home financing agency. The state college regents have authorized their secretary to try to get $8 1/2 million, of which $5 million would be used for housing and $3 1/2 million for union buildings. Possible union sites are between Delzell Hall and the new library, or on Schmeesky field.

If plans for the new men's dorm also materialize, construction could start by next fall or the spring of 1957. The building would accommodate 250-300 students. With Delzell Hall transformed into a women's dorm, along with Nelson Hall, this move would provide housing for 225 women students on campus.

The married student's organization on campus initiated the move to have housing units built for the families of many of the 138 married students at CSC. Adolph Torzwick of Amherst is president of the organization, and Orv Koepke of Appleton is secretary-treasurer. At present, the project is in the survey stage, gathering information about the families and housing needs of married students on campus.

If the survey shows a need, the federal housing authority (FHA) will back construction of such housing project. Several contractors and an architect have been contacted. Preliminary plans call for 40 units, each consisting of two bedrooms, living room, kitchen, and bath, built in motel style. The units may go up somewhere along Highways 51 or 66, since zoning ordinances may prevent construction in the city. If everything goes right, construction will start in the spring.

Postponed

"Sig Episodes," originally scheduled for January 17, has been postponed until March 22 because of semester exams.

CSC Housewives Combine Homework With Housework

By Mary Jo Bugges
This year there are several housewives from Stevens Point going to school here. Just like any other students, they are attending school for various reasons, taking any number of credits, and have homework occasionally.

Dorothy Allen, who will graduate at semester's end this year, has a major in primary and a minor in music. She has been active in Glee club, Chorus, Alpha Kappa Rho, and Newman club. Her future plans are indefinite as yet. She has found no special problems involved in housekeeping and going to school at the same time but finds that her schedule gets "cluttered" occasionally.

Irene Anderson is a second semester junior majoring in home economics. She has returned to school after 20 years to fulfill an ambition she has always had. She notices that there are many more married or older students in college now than there were 20 years ago. Since then also the college has changed in that more than degrees in education are offered today. Keeping house and doing homework haven't kept her too busy.

Jessie Boyce, who is majoring in English, says "I just love college and I'm having the time of my life." She decided to come to college because she likes to be around people, likes reading, and has a deep interest in teaching and librarian work. Her son, John, who is a senior in high school, liked the idea of having a college co-ed for a mother.

Mary Freiberg is a second semester sophomore. She has taken up college work because she hopes to teach here in Stevens Point. She's in the intermediate division. She has three children, ages 13, 10, and 8, with whom she works right along on homework. She finds that if she keeps to a carefully planned schedule she isn't too busy to keep up on the home front as well as with school work. She has found that "the younger people accept the older ones" and also that she really feels one of them.

Betty Jenkins is in her junior year and is taking eight credits this semester. Her two children attend the sixth and second grades at the Campus School and think it's wonderful to have "Mom" in school. She is a patroness for Omega Mu Chi sorority and enjoys it immensely. She likes the "hustle and bustle" of college life and finds it quite different from "playing bridge in the afternoon." She has changed from secondary to intermediate and upper elementary, losing a year in the process, but is back on the road to graduation.

Joan Peters has just started college this semester and isn't sure about her major. She is going to college because she has always wanted it and has at last found the time. She's found that she has little time to waste and has had to drop "coffee clutches," since school days are busy days. Her children, one a sophomore in high school and the other 11 years' old, get a kick out of her homework. Both are interested in her work and enjoy it. Her impressions of college are always changing but she feels definitely that she isn't wasting her time.

Cleo Peterson is attending college here for the second time. About 30 years ago, when CSC was a Normal school, she was an English major. She hopes to supplement her English and history majors with a speech minor. She finds CSC a friendly place and likes school "very, very much." Her son Jack, in high school, finds it quite a help to have a mother who can tell him what a direct object is. Jack also likes to try to stump her on a history date or fact. They also challenge each other in spelling so, as you can see, school work isn't all drudgery for these two.

Gertrude Prodzinski has come to school as a "way of spending her spare time wisely." She is kept busy but enjoys every minute of it. She says she has her doubts about starting school and "competing with the younger set" but has found that she feels "right at home." She plans to work in the capacity of a substitute teacher in the future just as she has in the past.

Ima Toser, who went to State Teachers college at Milwaukee and Marquette University a few years back, is taking German for her "own fun." Her son Dick also went to college so she's the second generation of Toser's for CSC. Mrs. Toser is a patroness of Psi Beta Psi sorority. She says she was "scares green" at the beginning of school. She bows twice a week, and has a deep interest in music so she has plenty to do with her time. She has noticed that courses are less cut and dried these days and that more young people are able to go to college now. Mrs. Toser is very much interested in college athletics so if you see a "platinum blond" running Miss May Roach a close second in the cheering department at basketball games it's Mrs. Toser. She says, "I wouldn't give up school for anything."

Margaret Whiting is another housewife coed. She's a senior this year and carrying a full load of credits. She's in the primary division and has found that her work has helped her with her little girl. She, too, has noticed many changes in college since her former college days. She thinks school is harder, more varied, and still fun. Her seven-year-old daughter can't understand why her mother has so much homework.

Rose Willett, who was taking Education 203a, Reading Techniques, has had to withdraw from school in order to recover from a major operation performed recently.

Esther Vetter, also taking Education 203a, is the mother of two children, Richard and Josephine, both of whom are in college in other states. Mrs. Vetter, who before her marriage taught at P. J. Jacobs High School, is "helping out" at St. Stephen's parochial school in Stevens Point. Coming back to CSC after so many years away has been quite an experience, but an interesting one, she says.

Anna Scribner, a senior in the intermediate division, has the unique experience of going to school with her son and daughter, Bill and Patricia, who are also students at CSC. The Scribner family was the subject of a feature story in the November 10 Pointer.

All in all, these CSC "coeds" seem to find school interesting though a bit strenuous.

Pointer Appreciation

The Pointer staff very much appreciates the box of candy received from Miss Alice Hansen of Oakland, California, and the sum of money "for a treat" received from Mrs. Leila Tolo of Santa Barbara, California.

Miss Hansen was formerly a supervisor in the Campus school and Mrs. Tolo is the widow of Dr. Harold Tolo, well-known history teacher at CSC.

"Winter Wonderland" still aptly describes the CSC campus as the picture shows, but now that we near the second semester, spring is just around the corner - we hope!

Cupid Hits Faculty Hard

Two members of the CSC faculty were united in marriage on December 27 at 9 a.m., when Dr. Clifford A. Morrison took Miss Miriam Moser as his bride. The ceremony took place at the Episcopal Church of the Intercession with the Rev. Edward C. Lewis officiating. Organ nuptial music was played by Mrs. Robert Wray.

The bride chose Mrs. Mary Samter as matron-of-honor, and Dr. Warren C. Jenkins served Dr. Morrison as best man.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate families of the bridal couple and to members of the parish, at the Parish house.

A beautiful diamond ring on the third finger, left hand, of Miss Cecilia Winkler has made known her engagement to Henry M. Welch of Stevens Point. Tentative plans call for an early June wedding.

Miss Winkler has been a member of the CSC faculty since 1951 and is the supervisor in the rural room at the Campus school.

CSC students and faculty extend best wishes to the Morrisons and to Miss Winkler and her fiance.

Dramatics Fraternity Initiates New Members

Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatics fraternity on campus, initiated four pledges at its meeting of January 12. The four were Wendelin Frenzel, Tom Davis, Mary Braatz, and Don Smith. Qualifications for pledging are that the individual participate in some way in three dramatic productions at CSC. The pledges' duty upon entering the fraternity will be to present a dramatic reading of their own choice at the Library Theater sometime during the coming semester.

New officers were also elected at the meeting. John Miller was chosen president for the coming year, and Mary Braatz, secretary-treasurer.

AKL Holds Meeting; Elect New Officers

At its first meeting of the new year, on January 11, Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity, club for those majoring in conservation at Central State college, elected a group of new officers.

Outgoing officers of the past year were President Mike Farrell of Green Bay, a junior; vice president Al Curtis; secretary, John Farrell, a junior from Green Bay; and treasurer Don Page, a senior from Marango. A president of AKL can serve for only one term.

At the same meeting it was decided that AKL would loan $50 to the alumni association of past conservation students to enable it to get started.

AKL also began making plans for its annual Woodchoppers Ball, to be held in early February. Committees were appointed at this time to make necessary arrangements for the Ball.

Psi Beta Psi Meets

The Psi Beta Psi's are in the swing of things. On Saturday, January 21, the Intersorority Formal "China Nite" will be held. Before the dance, the Psi Beta Psi's will give a dinner for their members and their escorts at the Sky club.

The following committees for the dinner are: Invitations, Mary Lucas, chairman, Lilly Sturck, Sue Maynard, Elaine Nelson, and Virginia Jensen; dinner reservations, Janis Schellin; guest speaker, Geraldine Byerstedt; decorations, Janet Madson, chairman, Rosemary Axell, Joyce Hanneman, June Martens, Suzanne Muck, and Phyllis Schwab; favors, Daphne Porter, chairman, Dorothy Omerink, Nancy Coon, Carole Fabich, Marg Kiefer, and Rosemary Kriedler; programs, Ronald Bloom, chairman, Judith Heintz, Marlene LeMere, Joyce Schellk and Jan Schlegel. Mistress of ceremonies will be Virginia Jensen.

Band Tour Announced

By Tom Wirkus

The CSC Band has been hard at work the past few weeks in order to perfect the numerous selections which will be played for the enjoyment of many people throughout the Badger state during the coming band tour. The dates for the tour are January 30 and 31 and February 1 and 2. The band will perform two concerts on each of these four days. The itinerary is as follows:

Monday, January 30 - Leave Stevens Point at 8 a.m. for a 10 o'clock concert at Adams-Friendship; a concert at Wisconsin Dells in the evening and stay overnight.

Tuesday, January 31 - Baraboo in the morning; Portage in the afternoon. The band is expected to arrive in Milwaukee between 4:30 and 5 o'clock where they will have dinner and stay overnight.

Wednesday, February 1 - Algoma in the afternoon; Fish Creek in the evening and stay overnight.

Thursday, February 2 - Clintonville in the morning; then back home to Stevens Point for the concluding concert at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

The Band will conclude its first semester activities by playing a concert at Waupaca at 10 a.m., on the last official school day of this semester, Friday, January 27.

Over The Fence

By Nancy Hager

The custom of wearing engagement and wedding rings on the third finger of the left hand originated in an ancient belief that a very delicate nerve runs directly from that finger to the heart. Certain CSCers who are "engaged" in keeping such traditions are: Donna Trickey and Louis Jacobowski; Doris Howart and Ken Schneider; Elizabeth Haen and John Plinkert; Mary Lee Wiecke and Roger Winnie; Joyce Wallace and Dale Loomans; Jean Babl and Tom Carlson; Syng Ai Lee and Han Kim; Janet Bird and Russ Hutter; Ann Rohlf and Jack Tepali; Elizabeth Reich and Dale Douville; Willis U-dell and Pat Stephen; Yvonne Paulson and David Behnke.

Former Pointers who "sparked" up their vacation are Shirley Klimowitz and Bruce Summers, Gene Hursh and Char Kabot.

"Now these two are one" - Pointer staff member Jo Novak and Chuck Brenner were married in Phillips, Wis., on Jan. 8.

And here's a reminder from a local aviator to all those contemplating the big step. "It's better to say 'no' before you're married than 'Renov' after."

It seems like everything is "boy-girl" with Valentine's Day approaching. The other day we overheard a boy remark to his girl friend quite hopefully. "You know, this year is leap year!" "You don't say," rejoined the indifferent girl friend, "well, men like a frog and croak."

This note on the human race may not pertain to CSC students, but Kate Hevner Mueller, author of "Educating Women for a Changing World," asserts that college women worry "most thoroughly, continuously, and devoutly about men." But college men, she claims, worry about their studies, their job prospects, and everything else except women. Things have sure changed since Dad was young!

Some people feel that it isn't always book learning that gets you through college - often it involves just plain common sense.

While taking a history exam, in which one of the essay questions involved the exploits of Grant, a student absent-mindedly forgot what occupation Grant pursued and was unable to answer the question for a while. It wasn't long before he recollected and was able to finish the test. How did he remember? Here's the train of thought he followed:

"Grant? Let's see. There's Cary Grant - to carry is to transport - a transport is an airplane - airplanes have pilots - pilots are little knobs on pressure cookers - cookers are often called kettles - kettles are a kind of drum - a good drummer is Gene Krupa - Eugene is my roommate - we always fight, so Grant must have been a soldier." (Try it sometime!)

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Otte of Madison are the parents of a baby girl, Rebecca Ann, born December 15. Mrs. Otte is formerly Miss Lorraine Wilson who took Miss Youman's place when the latter was on leave of absence last year.

Dr. and Mrs. Hugo Marple are the parents of a daughter, Karen Jane, born December 18. (The night of the Christmas Concert!)

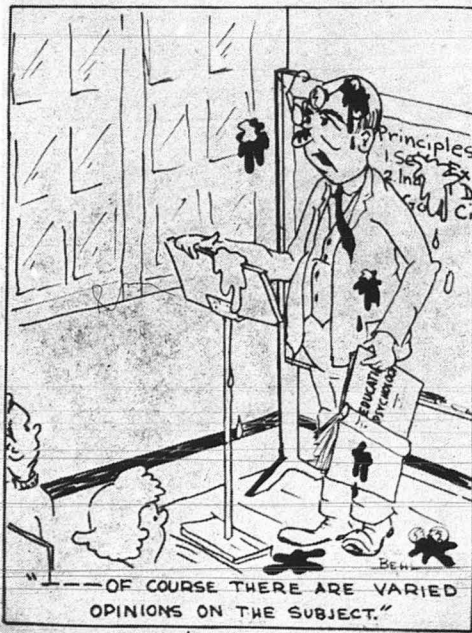

Service beyond the call of duty - The spirit of CSC is not dead, says Jack Blosser, who managed to win his wrestling match against his Wisconsin State opponent while his wife presented him with his reward - a baby girl. It's truly a "blessed" event.

Will Grace Kelly please come to the Pointer Office and confirm the rumor of her approaching marriage to Pointer Vee Jerry Madison.

(Next week this column will be written by Gertrude-Krebawaltz minksi.)

Until next week this is your friendly maniac saying, "$P-O-0." (Translated "Wir haben nicht eine guten Zeitung dieser Woche.")

Remember Those TITANS!!

Love And Marriage Go Together With Education At Central State

By Mary Braatz

Love and marriage being irrevocably joined, and love being one of the required-from-almost-everyone-off-campus courses offered at CSC and various other institutions of higher learning, a certain situation is brought about that of married couples attending college. Here at CSC there are seven married couples who combine home-making with homework in managing a home (and sometimes family) and going to school. They answer to the names of Carol and Bill Scudder, Phyllis and Don Lange, Janice and Charles Kennedy, Ione and Peter Garcia, Pat and Jim Collard, Virginia and Randolph Voelker, and Janet and Patrick Parenteau. Each couple being unique in its own way and yet having in common membership in the order of TMBATCTOBTSCGMD (two may not be able to live cheaper than one, but they sure can get more homework done), they represent a fascinating aspect of college life.

The Scudders

First among our series of couples is Bill and Carol Scudder. Bill claims Carrollton, Georgia, as his home town, while the former Carol Crosby is a Stevens Point girl. The two met at CSC during the spring semester of 1953, and first got to know each other when Bill asked a friend of his to introduce Carol to him. The romance prospered despite some rather dark moments, for Bill's convertible had a hole in the roof, and Carol used to take an umbrella on dates whenever rain was threatening. As usually happens, the Army had its say for two years, but Carol and Bill were formally engaged at Christmas of 1954, and married on August 29, 1955.

Because Stevens Point has always been home to Carol, and because she had completed three years of school here, the Scudders chose to spend this year at CSC. Carol is a senior in Primary Education, and Bill is a sophomore, planning to become an accountant. "He's going to come to my graduation, I hope," said Carol, smiling at her husband. Since the Scudders live in an apartment which is only two blocks from school, transition is no problem, and that is fortunate, because their car was smashed not long ago. The humorous part of the accident was that Carol and Bill were driving to her parents' home near Waupaca, when they saw her father driving toward them down a hill. The hill was icy, Mr. Crosby lost control, and the smash-up occurred. No one was hurt, and no ill feelings resulted, for, as Carol says, "Bill and Dad got out and shook hands."

Cooking chores are partially shared by the two of them, Bill frying a "pretty good pancake" when he beats his wife home from school. Another family project is converting Carol into a Southern rebel, or Confederate on a small scale, for Bill has gotten her under visiting South of the Mason-Dixon Line twice already, and has her pretty well convinced to his point of view.

The conclusion to this interview was an examination of a traditional portrait, the wedding picture. "You can make faces back at it if you want to," commented Bill. The picture occupied a prominent table-top place in their apartment, and although Bill suggested that they'd be throwing rocks at it in 20 years time, he smiled when he said it. College, cooking, and collisions are powerful enough cement to make a marriage stick for a good deal longer than 20 years, with the Scudders seconding the motion.

The Langes

"Flightly" only in the sense of belonging to the Air Force is an adjective which can be applied to our second couple, the former Phyllis Gerwechen and Don Lange. Phyllis, a Wausau girl, and Don, whose hometown is Fond Du Lac, met at Selfridge Air Force Base in Michigan, where Phyllis, as a member of the WAF, was working as an aircraft dispatcher. Don, also a member of the Air Force, was stationed there. Phyllis used to draw a lot of midnight shifts, and, as she says, "In those days, Don would think nothing of sitting up with me all night long." The engagement took place at the end of September, 1954, and the marriage on August 6, 1955, in Milwaukee.

Phyllis had attended CSC for two and a half years before her Air Force stint, so she and Don decided to continue their education here upon their return. Three years is the margin of scholastic difference between the Langes, for Phyllis is a senior in Primary and Don, a freshman planning to major in business administration. Next year will mean the university, with Phyllis going on for her Master's Degree, and Don starting his sophomore work.

Home for the Langes is a trailer in the Smith Trailer Court out near Cooper's Corners. Transportation is not too great a problem, except that Phyllis is learning to drive and occasionally has small mishaps. "I nearly ran through the side of the IGA Store," she laughed. "Don said that anyone who had driven for six months ought to know better. I'd never advise anyone to learn to drive from her husband!" Although Phyllis is purely an observer for Don's main hobby, photography, they combine talents on such things as home-work. Don's specialty is map-drawing and math, while Phyllis stars in theme correcting.

The Nomadys

The Waupaca Casino, famed for various reasons, can claim one more laurel in its crown — it was the meeting place of Janice Cook of Stevens Point and Chuck Nomady of Amherst. The year was 1951. Jan and a group of girls had rented a cottage on the lake, and Chuck was out for an evening of fun. They dated during the summer, and during the next school year when Jan was attending Lawrence college in Appleton, Chuck used to visit her there, and dorm curfew hours presented a good many problems, but, as Jan says, "We always made it on time."

Then, Jan got her diamond in the fall of 1952. Chuck got his Army call at about the same time, so the marriage was performed at Louisville, Kentucky, where Chuck was stationed, on February 19, 1953. Since the Army had priority on Chuck until October, 1954, he "missed out on all the fun," for little Kathy Nomady was born in October, 1953. Her daddy first became acquainted with his daughter when she was seven months old. "She was asleep," says Jan. "She woke up and just looked at him."

At present, Janice is a senior in Secondary Education, with a major in French and Minors in English and History. Chuck is a sophomore with plans to go into mechanical engineering. The Nomadys have an apartment at 1037 Main street, and share their homemaking duties there. "The ironing is piled up three feet high right now," laughed Jan, cooking is split between the two of them, with commenting. "We'd eat hot dogs three times a day if Chuck did all the cooking." However, it seems that love and attending college together are very adequate seasoning, even for hot dogs.

The Garcias

A great many things of a great many sorts happen at Joe's, but none more pleasant or promising than its providing the beginning of an acquaintance which blossomed into marriage. Ione Kraut of Clintonville and Peter Garcia of Alamosa, Colorado, met there right before the Teachers' Convention in the fall of 1952. They were both freshmen here at CSC at the time. School-work and romance were combined until it all climaxed on July 25, 1953, when Ione and Peter became man and wife.

The Garcias claim the distinction of being the only one of the seven CSC couples who will graduate in the same year. They are both seniors, Peter in Upper Elementary, and Ione in Primary. After graduation, they hope to teach in the same school, and keep up a home for Peter, Jr., who was born on January 14, 1955. At present, Peter stays home with Ione's parents in Clintonville, where Ione and Peter see him on weekends. "He's taken his first step," says Ione. "Mother has everything he could get into pushed into the middle of tables."

At present, Ione and Peter live in their own apartment in a home which houses five families of college students. Because they share the two kitchens and bathrooms with the other families, Ione has good reason for saying, "Gee, if you get up two minutes late in the morning, you're sunk!" Peter helps out with the washing and cooking, and uses his Spanish blood to good advantage in preparing hot Mexican food. His wife comments, "I have to keep on my toes to keep up with him."

The one regret of the Garcias, as expressed by Peter, is, "We would have liked at least one class together, but it's never happened that way so far." Still, home-making can be considered an accredited course, and Peter and Ione can certainly qualify for an A grade in it.

The Collards

An odyssey with a bowl of goldfish is one of the features which carries the most amusing memories for Pat and Jim Collard, our fifth married couple. Pat, a native of Northville, Mass., and Jim from Reeseville, Wisconsin, met at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Both were under Uncle Sam's wing at one time, for Pat was a WAVY and Jim was working in medical technology at the U. S. Naval hospital there. Their getting-to-know-each-other period consisted of a lot of swimming—and tennis-playing. Following the formal engagement in May of 1953 ("I didn't give her the ring before, because I didn't have enough money," says Jim), they were married in July of 1953.

The odyssey came about in the fall of the same year, for Jim had been stationed at the Hamilton Air Force Base near San Francisco. He and Pat were driving back East before he was sent overseas. Their means of transportation was a 1936 Ford, "minus window wipers, with everything we owned and a bowl of goldfish in the back seat." Somewhere along the way, those goldfish became a symbol of survival and success, and Pat and Jim became all the more attached to them. One near-disaster occurred while they were passing through the Sierra-Nevada Mts. The spring water there which they used to refill the goldfish bowl proved pretty chilly, and the fish started floating bottoms up. The Collards, stopped, found the nearest store, and heated the goldfish back to life.

All was not peaceful on the goldfish front yet. At a quiet filling station somewhere in Wyoming, Jim stopped to check the car, and also to water the goldfish from the sink in the station washroom. All went well, until, eight miles along the way, the Collards realized that there were some passengers missing — the goldfish. Back they went, only to discover that the washroom was occupied. "I waited," says Jim, "until one fellow came out. I asked him if the goldfish were still there, and he just looked at me. There was another guy in there, so I asked him the same thing when he came out. He just looked too. Then I went in, found the goldfish where I'd left them, and brought them out with me. The two fellows were waiting. When they saw the goldfish, one said, 'I've heard people ask a lot of things when someone comes out of a washroom, but this is the first time I've ever been asked about a bowl of goldfish!'"

The Collards are both CSC freshmen, Jim a pre-med student, and Pat in Rural. "Her course is PHT, or Putting Hubby Through," says Jim. Both Pat and Jim combine talents in raising Little Jimmy, their son, born on June 10, 1954. A little blond fellow, he manages to make life exceptionally interesting for his parents. Child-raising and grade-getting may sound like a formidable occupation, but Jim and Pat Collard have brought them down to the can-be-done level.

The Voelkners

Seeing your husband-to-be for almost the first time through a car window he is in the process of washing seems to be a fine way to start off a life-long relationship, according to Virginia and Rudy Voelker. Both from Elcho, Ginger and Rudy had danced with each other before, but the light first dawned when Ginger's family's car, with Ginger in the back seat, pulled into the filling station where Rudy worked. He washed her window, they got to know each other, and things progressed along the accustomed path. Even a snowstorm which occurred in the late winter of 1954 couldn't change things for them. The snowstorm took place when Ginger and Rudy were driving back home from a speech tournament in Wabeno. About a half mile outside of town, the car stopped — something ailing in the spark plugs. When it finally got started again, the snow was so thick that, as Rudy says, "We both did the driving — she looked and I aimed." They finally arrived home safely.

Engaged in May, 1954, and married the following August 21, Virginia and Rudy joined forces at CSC. He, at present, is a chemistry major in secondary education, while she is a sophomore with an English major. Their residence is a two-bedroom apartment at 350 Algoma street, where both hope to find a college student roomer for next semester. The Voelkners take their turns at cooking. Rudy has become very proficient in baking bread and making cakes and cookies. He also does all the shopping. Upon the comment that he sounded like the perfect husband, his wife smiled and replied that he leaves his books lying around and throws his clothes all over the floor — more as an assurance of his normality than his lack of perfection. Rudy declined to tattle on Ginger.

Hobbies of hunting, fishing, classical music, and the job of driving a high school bus keep Rudy adequately busy, while Ginger uses her spare time in making some of her own clothes. Still, college comes first, and as a result, the Voelkners become qualifiers for the group of married couples at CSC.

The Parentheaus

Our last couple, the Parentheaus, can claim Missouri as their meeting-state. Janet, a native of Smithton, Mo., was attending college at Wrensburg, Pat, a Racine man, was stationed there in the Air Force. The two met at a party in the fall of 1954, became engaged the middle of November, and were married New Year's Eve. "She didn't fool around," smiled Pat.

When it came time to be choosing a college, Pat used an excellent system — he wrote around to the Wisconsin colleges and asked for their catalogues. After going through these, he and Jan decided on Central State — "We wanted the best school, and picked this one." Both Jan, a second-semester sophomore, and Pat, a freshman, are CSC fans and have never regretted their choice.

Inhabitants of an apartment at 531 Strongs avenue — "four rooms up in a garret" — the Parentheaus combine talents on certain aspects of the housekeeping. "I do occasion- ally get stuck with an apron," was Pat's comment. Before marriage, stamp and coin collections rated as hobby material, but now most of the spare time is spent on schoolwork and, as far as Pat is concerned, keeping a notebook for Mr. Anderson. Both Jan and Pat like to write.

Now the time had come in the interview for that fatal question, "Do you have any children?" Jan, enthroned on a Pointer Office chair which possessed the tendency to throw its occupants onto the floor without any warning whatsoever, smiled in a manner which struck fear into this reporter's heart. The chair was on its good behavior, however, and for good reason, for Jan's reply was, "No, but there's going to be." As an expectant mother, she will leave college at the end of this semester, when she and Pat will move to Milwaukee. There he will continue his education at Milwaukee State college, and take advantage of the more abundant job opportunities that city holds. "We really like it here," said Pat, "but when Junior decided to put in his appearance, we knew this was the only way to make a go of it. CSC is really a good school and we hate to leave." And CSC may well mourn upon losing two such fine people as the Parentheaus.

There they are, the seven married couples of CSC. Different in individual personality, yet they are alike in one main respect — determined to have each other and an education too. The tuition - domestication-ambition group that they represent is one of the finest additions that CSC could ever have.

Point Whips Falcons; Loses To Eau Claire

The Pointers came home Sunday with a split in their northern invasion against Eau Claire and River Falls on Friday and Saturday night.

Eau Claire, defending WSC champs, defeated the Pointers the first night by a 92-70 margin. But the Quantmen bounced back with a 84-80 revenge victory over River Falls the following evening.

The Pointers stayed with the red hot Bluegolds most of the first half only to allow the host team to pull away early in the second half. Coach Hale Quandt used reserves freely in the last ten minutes of play when Eau Claire held a big lead.

Lavern Luebstorf paced the Pointer attack with 18 points on nine buckets. Bob Bostad followed with 15 markers. Rog Hanson, Eau Claire's 6'9" center, led the home team attack with 18 tallies.

By downing the River Falls Falcons the Pointers avenged an earlier season defeat which occurred during the holiday tourney.

The complete game was nip-and-tuck with the Quantmen on top at intermission time 43-40. The second half saw the Pointers ahead most of the time, but the home team came within a bucket on numerous occasions. The combination of Schneider, Bostad, Boldig, and Ambury gave the visitors a 63-50 lead with Kestley leading the scorers.

River Falls bounced back to tie it up at 65 all only to have CSC pull away again to a 73-67 lead. Again the Falcons came within a point, 74-73 with 3 1/2 minutes remaining. The Pointers opened it up again to 81-73 with Marko and Bostad settling three each. Five straight tallies by the home team tightened it up, but 2 free throws by Bostad sewed it up.

Coach Quandt summed up the victory when he stated, "The boys played very well." He mentioned the fine play of Don Schneiders and Jim Boldig among others.

Jim Marko led the Quantmen with 19 points followed by Kestley with 18 and Luebstorf with 14 markers.

Roberts' Wrestlers Ready; Face Vikings In Rematch

At the college gym at 2 p.m. on January 21, the Pointer wrestling squad coached by John E. Roberts, former University of Wisconsin champ in 1941-42, will encounter the Lawrence squad in a rematch.

The wrestling team has three excellent men in Don Smith, Jack Blosser, and Eugene "Butch" Sorenson. Sorenson was Wisconsin's high school champ in 1947-49, showing his ability by failing to pin his opponent only once this season. Blosser was Indiana's high school champ and holds numerous AAU championships. Smith had never wrestled until his sophomore year of college. All three of these boys are usually expected to win their matches.

Earlier this year Lawrence was literally swamped, as the Pointers won 34-0. The hysterical fans, prodded by Miss May Roach, that have been overflowing the gym for each match will see a few unfamiliar faces, as the starting lineup is being revised.

Besides their victory at Lawrence, the team came in second at a quadrangular match held in Stevens Point between Point, Milwaukee State, Wisconsin JV's and the Marquette JV's. Just shortly the team lost a fiercely fought contest to Wisconsin State 17-13.

Following meets:
February 3—Milwaukee State There 7:00 p.m.
February 4—Ripon There 2:00 p.m.

River Falls Stops CSC

River Falls defeated the host Pointers, 65-57, to capture the championship in the first annual holiday basketball tournament held December 28 and 29 at P. J. Jacobs High school.

The first round of play the Pointers downed Stout 62-53 and River Falls trounced Platteville, pre-tourney favorite, 80-79. Stout came back to win consolation honors by defeating Platteville, 74-66.

The all-tournament team is as follows: Jim Marko, Point; and Royce Reeves, Platteville, at guards; Bob Hubert, River Falls, and Jim Bolm, Stout, at forwards; and River Falls' Dave Herum at center.

Bolm led the tournament scorers with 44 points followed by Herum with 40.

CSC Meets Platteville; Plays Milwaukee Next

Saturday, January 28, Coach Quandt and his Pointer squad will journey to Wisconsin State college at Platteville to battle with the Pioneer squad coached by John Barth.

When asked about the game, Coach Quandt said, "It is a small gym and they are always very tough on their home floor." This year is no exception to that statement. In the contest, the Pointers are going against a team that is leading the conference in offense with an average 89.3 points per game.

The Barthmen are paced by the number two man in the state, senior Larry Marshall, who is second in conference scoring. Backing up Marshall are Gerald Kruschke, Royce Reeves, Ralph Swedema, and Ron Emerson, all of whom are in the top 15 in the conference scoring race.

No information was available as to any possible starting lineup for the January 28 contest, but much will depend on the outcome of the three games that have to be played before the trip.

Milwaukee, on February 4, will be the first team to play host to Stevens Point after the beginning of the second semester. This might well be what is called "the game of the year." The Green Gulls are going to be out after blood after the close decision they dropped to the Pointers at P. J. Jacobs on December 17, and the general outlook is for a very tough game.

One bright hope, though, is the fact that the CSC squad will be bolstered by two new men, both transfers, who were not eligible for play this semester. They are Jack Krull and Ronnie Hoenisch.

Letting Out the Air

By Carl Huberty

With the Pointers turning in a well-earned victory over the River Falls Falcons, we think Coach Quandt's cagers should progress very well. All the boys need is a little backing of enthusiasm from our student body. The spirit will naturally shift to our cagers and keep them a threat to any team in the WSC.

Jim Marko, the Pointer's flashy guard, is currently leading CSC scorers with 160 points; following him is Bob Bostad, with 134 markers. Rounding out the top five are: Orv Koepke, 105; Fritz Kestley, 98; and Laverne Luebstorf, 83.

Merlin Habeck, returning to the Pointer lineup in the Eau Claire game, spent last Friday night in an Eau Claire hospital as a result of a fractured cheek bone. Habeck collided with a Bluegold's elbow in the second half of the contest.

A peek at other WSC games played last Saturday night finds league leading Superior downing Whitewater, 97-84; Eau Claire over Platteville, 84-87; Stout trouncing Oshkosh, 86-79; and La Crosse pounding Milwaukee, 85-50.

Robin Freeman's unorthodox, yet very accurate, jump shot has been described as looking like a man falling out of an apple tree. Despite this the Ohio State's outstanding guard is leading the nation's college scorers with an average of over 30 points.

Putting the final touches to the past football season was the sixth annual Pro bowl game in Los Angeles. The East won a disputed 31-30 victory over the West stars.

In closing we pass this story on to you: A couple of sporting pigeons were flying south from Poughkeepsie one fine June day. One of them looked down. "Say," he asked, "what's going on down there?" "It's the Poughkeepsie Regatta," cooed the other. "I just put everything I had on Columbia!"

Point Takes Second In Wrestling Meet

On Saturday, December 17, a quadrangular wrestling tourney was held in the Point-College gym. The Jayvees of Wisconsin took first with 29 points. Point was second with 26 and Milwaukee and Marquette tied for third with 14 each. Butch Sorenson won the Pointers' only first place. Hurlbut, Blosser, Smith and McMahon were runner-up and Fink, McLarky and Meuret took third.

Roberts' wrestlers traveled to Appleton on December 20 to meet the Vikings at Lawrence. It proved an easy match for Point, who won 34 to 0. Blosser, Meuret and McMahon pinned their men, while Fink, Smith and McLarky won on decision. Sorenson and Hurlbut won on forfeit.

CSC Loses To Ripon

The CSC five lost their third straight after a terrific early season start, by losing to Ripon in a game played here on Jan. 3. The Pointers couldn't get into the stride of things as they went down to defeat by a 63-58 score.

The win was the Ripon five's first after 41 consecutive losses away from home.

Toed was Ripon's high man with 14 for the night's scoring honors. Bob Homley led the Pointers with 13 markers.

Playing one of their best games of the year, the Pointers were turned back, 73-70, by a strong Whitewater team at Whitewater. The game was played Saturday, January 7. Featuring a new line-up in the back court with Fritz Kestley and Lavern Luebstorf, along with Jimmy Marko, the Pointers were never down more than four points. The addition of these two men made Point considerably faster than in the two previous losses.

Whitewater was led throughout the game by their front line of Jack Kiely, Ralph Mundingner, and Gordia Frederichs, who scored 55 of the total Whitewater points. High scorer for Coach Quandt's charges was Kestley with 18 points, followed by Luebstorf with 14.

Quantmen Edge Milwaukee State

With a 67-66 victory over Milwaukee State, CSC presented a game that was filled with thrill after thrill on December 17. After a slow first half, both teams put on a display that kept the large crowd at P. J. Jacobs gym on the edge of their seats right up to the final horn.

Jim Marko and Paul Schadewald had 16 points apiece, with Marko dropping in eight field goals, while Schadewald sank seven field goals and two free throws. Tom Klabunde of Milwaukee was high scorer for the night with 11 field goals giving him 22 points.

CSC Meets Oshkosh Quint

Tonight the Titans of Oshkosh will appear on the court at P. J. Jacobs to oppose Central State for the first time this season. Last year the Oshkosh State cagers had a record of 10 wins and eight losses and up to this point this season they have one win and five losses.

Their "big guns" on scoring this season are Stern with 42 points and Wippich with 35 markers to his credit. Last year in CSC's final game with OSC, Point played one of their outstanding games of the entire season, rolling over the Titans by a score of 90-74.

Pointers "Pinned" 17-13

Underdog Central State battled a strong Winona wrestling team to the end before losing 17-13 in a meet here on Jan. 12 in the college gym. Pins were administered by Jack Blosser and Butch Sorenson in the defeat. The score was 14-13 with the meet resting on the heavyweight division. CSC was decided 11-7 in the last match, thus losing the meet.

The result:
124-Kermit Selke, W. decided
Fink, S. 15-1; 130-Roger Williamson, W. pinned McMahon, S. in 1:00;
137-Smith, S. decided Dean Sanderson, W. 8-2; 147-Jack Strommer, W. decided McLarky, S. 13-0;
157-Blosser, S. pinned Gordon Schlader in 7:32; 167-Paul Evenson, W. decided Tempas, S. 10-3; 177-Sorenson, S. pinned Bill Ziebell in 4:05; and HW-Habeck, W. decided Hurlbut, S. 11-7.

CSC Downs Lawrence

On Monday, January 9, a hopped up Pointer squad playing before a slim crowd at the high school gym, defeated the outclassed Lawrence squad 78 to 52.

The few fans held their breaths during the exciting moments of fast breaking and ball stealing. This souped-up, Pointer squad controlled the game from the beginning to its end. The Vikings gave all they had, which was not enough, as Coach Jack Krause was hampered by the loss of Neil Buck, his most improved player, because of scholastic reasons, and had sophomores playing most of the game.

The Central Staters moved the ball very well offensively and played an alert defense which managed to get an abundance of rebounds and a number of fast breaks. In the rebounding department Luebstorf had ten, Koepke nine, Blomley and Bostad six, and Paul Schadewald, five.

Jim Marko led Central State with 18 points and connected 50 per cent of his shots combined with many assists and excellent ball handling. Kestley followed with 15 points to make this his fourth consecutive game with ten points or over. Kestley was followed by Koepke with 12 points making six out of ten shots.

Lawrence was led by Rine with 13 points, with Mantley, Homann and Cole scoring ten points or over.

For shooting Point was excellent with a .426 average on 30 goals for 70 shots and hit on 65 per cent of their free throws.

This victory was a moral win as it broke a heart-breaking three game losing streak after winning their first six games.

Honor Banquet Planned, Milt Bruhn To Appear

Milt Bruhn, newly appointed head football coach of the University of Wisconsin, will appear in Stevens Point on Thursday night, January 26, to be the guest speaker at a banquet honoring Central State's unbeaten football team.

The banquet, sponsored by the Kiwanis, Rotary, and Lions clubs, will take place at Hotel Whiting. This is the first banquet of this type. In recent years the post-season banquet for all athletic teams at both the college and high school was given by the Bleacher Coaches. The three service clubs decided to give a banquet this year for Coach John Roberts' championship team.

Better Housing Planned For Married Students

By Russell Gardner

There's a new movement taking form in CSC this year, a movement toward better housing for married students. Ever since the World War, there has been a general consensus of opinion among married students that a need was there and it was steadily growing worse. Now, ways and means are being definitely looked into.

To get the full story, let's go back to the beginning. It all started when one of CSC's married veterans, Adolph Torzewski, was discussing the situation with a contractor. The contractor's idea of it was that there weren't enough married students to make a housing project feasible. Torzewski's opinion differed and as a result, The College Student's Organization for Family Housing was formed with Torzewski as president, John Wheaton as vice-president, and Orr Koepke as secretary.

The first task undertaken by the group was a comprehensive survey of the housing situation involving the married students attending Central State. The results showed the housing now existent in Point inadequate and unsatisfactory in many ways, including little social contact between married couples, not nearly enough playground space for the youngsters, and dissatisfaction generally. Also shown up was the fact that 81 per cent of the students surveyed are paying over $50 a month for rent with a few paying as high as $90.

The next step was to submit the survey to the Federal Housing Administration. If the FHA feels that a need is existent, a survey of their own will be taken and possibly a loan will be made to make possible the housing project. This is the position at which the situation now stands.

Present plans are still very tentative, but taking shape. For instance, a 40 acre tract within walking distance of school would be used, with over 60 units arranged in a horseshoe fashion with a large playground in the center. Five suitable sites are being considered. Of course, any of these plans are subject to FHA change.

Most of the units included would be four rooms including two bedrooms. The rent would be $40 to $45 per month, considerably cheaper than the current average rents. Three-bedroom units would also be built for those who have need of such.

In order to facilitate costs and please individuals, the company will buy the occupants of these units paint of their own choosing to complete their own interior decoration. Some of the units will be furnished, but most will not. This decision was arrived at because of another interesting item shown up by the survey, namely, that a large number of the married students owned their furniture.

Though married students will receive priority in occupying these units, they are not limited to them alone. If there ever are any vacancies due to not enough married couples, groups of single students could also rent these units. This won't happen in the immediate future, however.

It should be emphasized that, as yet, all is in the planning stage, says Torzewski. No commitments have been made, and no contracts have been signed. It has been sized up correctly with "It's all talk until the first unit goes up. Only then can it be correctly called a project." However, if plans follow through as hoped, 20 units should be ready for occupancy by next fall.

Rumors have been circulating about school to the effect that the originators of this idea stand to make a large profit. The College Student's Organization for Family Housing wishes to disclaim this gossip and to emphasize that the only remuneration any student will receive will be the possibility of a summer job. All is open and above board.

Student Council Reports

By Barbara Brener

Unknown to many students the Student Council has been vigorously attacking several new projects. According to the council's press correspondent, Ben Foltz, these are the problems under consideration at present.

Discussion has been heavy on the idea of float reorganization and the method of awarding prizes at Homecoming.

Another idea is the sponsoring of pep assemblies by the social organizations. And one of the biggest projects is the council's effort to survey how many homes will have rooms to rent to college students next year.

The council plans to re-write the constitution and would like to see interest taken in this by the students, all of whom are directly involved.

Remember, the Student Council is an organization designed to represent all the students. This can be a difficult task if the members are uncertain as to what students want. Why not peek in on their meetings if you have grievances to air? — or if you are satisfied with your lot just take a glimpse at what is progressing politically at Central State. The meetings will be listed in the weekly bulletin.
