SERIES VIII VOL. VI

Stevens Point, Wisconsin, Thursday, November 7, 1963

EIGHT PAGES — No. 7

Teachers' Works Printed In Magazines-Journals

Three Wisconsin State College teachers here have recently had their articles appear in well-known magazines and journals of their respective fields.

An article by Arol C. Epple, associate professor of biology, appeared in a recent issue of The Passenger Pigeon, official magazine of the Wisconsin Society for Ornithology.

The article titled, "The Evening Grosbeak Invasion of 1961-62" traces the movements of the grosbeaks through the North Central and South Central states.

The study involved the analysis of banding records and reports from virtually 100 ornithologists in 20 states and the province of Ontario.

Medievalia et Humanistica, an annual journal on medieval history, recently printed "Lanfarnco Cigala of Genoa: The Career of a Delinquent." The article, written by Richard D. Face of the history department, is based on an unpublished last will and testament of a Genoese burger of the 13th century. It depicts life in Genoa at that time as reflected in the activities of an audacious rogue.

Dr. Face came to WSC this fall from the University of Cincinnati where he was a faculty member. He also received his bachelor of arts and master's degree from the same university. He received his doctorate from the University of Wisconsin.

An article by William M. McKinney of the geography department appeared in the October issue of The Science Teacher, and was entitled, "A Laboratory Instrument for Earth-Sun Relationships."

It is based on his research in the theory of the rectified globe and the means whereby, through the use of properly mounted map projections, instruments may be created which will overcome certain disadvantages of the rectified globe.

Dr. McKinney holds a doctorate degree from the University of Florida, and has also had another book published, entitled "Geography Via Use of the Globe."

Next Last Lecturer, Schmeller

The Last Lecture series will feature Dr. Kurt Schmeller in the next program to be held on Nov. 11.

The Last Lecture series, held every second and fourth Monday in the College Union, is not purely religious program but is designed to present interesting and worthwhile information to all students.

The speakers thus far have been George I. J. Dixon, professor of sociology; Garland W. Fothergill, associate professor of political science; Roland A. Trytten, professor of chemistry and Paul A. Yambert, professor of conservation; dean of the school of applied arts and science.

In their lectures these men discussed topics which were "dear to their hearts" and could be of value if adapted by the student.

LOOK, MA, I FORGOT TO DUCK! Voted the Ugliest Man On Campus, Tau Kappa Epsilon's Perry Wagner poses after having won the Ugliest Man contest sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega. Wagner won over six other men. Coming in second was Charlie Kahsen, sponsored by Siassefi. Proceeds were donated to the United Fund and amounted to approximately $180. (Taschwer Photo)

Ugliest Man Crown Goes To Wagner

Perry Wagner, a senior at WSC, was crowned ugliest man at the Halloween dance in the College Union on Oct. 26.

The Ugliest Man on Campus Contest raised approximately $125 for the United Fund Drive. The proceeds from the dance, which was sponsored by the Union Board Social Committee amounted to $50, and was also donated to the United Fund.

In order to vote for one of the seven contestants, one had to donate money to the United Fund, and in this way money was raised.

Following Wagner in the number of votes received was Charles Kahsen Jr. who was sponsored by Siassefi.

The Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity was in charge of the competition.

WSC Glee Club "Ambassadors" Begin 29th Year

Forty-four students from 29 towns in Wisconsin form the singing body of the Men's Glee Club at Wisconsin State College here, now in its twenty-ninth year.

Directed by Norman E. Knutzen, they are often called the "Ambassadors of Good Will" and have toured the state and have also appeared at various points in the U.S. Last year, they went to Miami Beach, Fla., and the year before that to Colorado Springs and Denver, Colo.

When the club celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary it had had 712 members, traveled 137,580 miles on concert trips and had given more than 325 concerts out of town, 110 of these in Stevens Point.

Some 144,350 people in Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Indiana, New York, Alabama and Florida had been entertained by the "ambassadors."

Basses include Tom Corrigan, Roger Ernst, Robert Jones, Peter Leahy, Ron McDonald, Joseph Muench, Roger Schoenberger, George Means, John Dahl and Chester Warpechoski.

Accompanist for the group is Beatrice Locker.

Art Students Visit Walker Art Center

The Walker Art Center in Minneapolis was the destination of 39 art department students at Wisconsin State College as they boarded a chartered bus early Friday morning.

At the Art Center, students saw "Recent Paintings USA: The Figure," a show that explored recent directions in the paintings of the figure by American artists. It was originated by the Museum of Modern Art, New York.

Also at Walker, the students saw recent paintings by popular artist, Robert Indiana, and sculpture by Richard Stankiewicz, both artists are of national prominence.

Stankiewicz is the country's foremost sculptor working in junk metal, and Indiana is a new formalist inspired by American history and popular civilization. Indiana's 15 paintings are emblematic compositions.

After completing the tour of the Walker Art Center, the group went to the Minneapolis Institute of Arts to see shows featuring the paintings of Birney Quick, the graphics of Cadwallader Washburn and "Art in Vienna."

In the junior gallery at the Institute of Arts, the students saw a show titled, "Illustrations for Children's Books."

The trip was sponsored by the WSC art department and the Student Art League. Arrangements were in charge of Miss Carolyn Sands, WSC art instructor, and William Landwehr, president of the art league.

"Rhinoceros" Tryout Results Announced

The results of the tryouts for "Rhinoceros" have been announced. The three act comedy satirizes human conformity, or the herd instinct of human beings.

The following people have been cast: Joyce Wolter, the waitress; Kathleen Kenas, the grocer's wife; Cynthia Parkovich, the housewife; Jim Mueller, Berenger; Jeff Rodman, Jean; Jerry Hartwig, the grocer; Truman Flowers, the old gentleman; Mike Worman, the logician; Mike Berry, the cafe proprietor; Sue Siebert, Daisy; Gary Morgan, Dudard; Dennis Waid, Botard; Ellison Ferrall, Mr. Papillon, and Joan Newby, Mrs. Boeuf.

The play will be presented by the College Theater at 8 p.m. Dec. 11-14 in the College Auditorium.

Two Awarded William Evjue Scholarships

Two Wisconsin State College sophomores here have been awarded $100 each, in the form of scholarships, from the William T. Evjue Foundation.

The recipients are Miss Linda Leatherberry, Ripon, a primary education major and Patrick Daan, Rio, a history major.

The Evjue Scholarships were established by William T. Evjue, editor and publisher of the Ellison Times.

Editor's Comment...

Many comments have been drawn about the handling of the organization news in the Pointer.

Many say that it is not given the emphasis deserved and that much is being "cut!" They're right! Much is being cut, but if you take a good candid look at the material which is being submitted, you will see that really interesting and important stories are being buried beneath all the opinions and "dead" news.

If organizations are going to submit news, first take a look and see if the rest of the student body will be interested. If it rates any mention at all, it probably will rate a complete story and perhaps even a picture.

I think it is possible to dispense with Organization News and replace the space with good deserving stories which show what an organization is doing! There is a weekly bulletin available to the students for announcing dates of meetings, and also the organization bulletin boards!

Organization presidents or their representatives, may see the editor to discuss and plan any stories in advance so as to help the Pointer staff cover it.

Before anyone complains about some organizations getting more coverage than others — first look, maybe they are doing something! Secondly, they are probably taking the time to plan it as a news release.

Sculptured Art Exhibit Displays LaMalfa's Work

Angular, jutting forms characterize the sculpture of artist James LaMalfa, on display through Nov. 22 at the college library.

The exhibit is in two parts. The steel sculpture is on exhibit in the library foyer, while photographs of other works and pencil and ink sketches of studies for sculpture may be viewed in the college library theater.

Included in the local showing are "Disobolus", "Torso", "Head", "The Great Bird", "Cyclops", "Homage to da Vinci", "Hermes" and "Cerberus".

In "Dynamics of Flight" and "Homage to the Astronaut" the photography exhibit pays dramatic tribute to the space age.

LaMalfa received his master's degree from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and a master of fine arts degree from the University at Madison in 1962. Presently LaMalfa is a member of the art faculty at Eau Claire State College.

He has exhibited works in numerous places including the Wisconsin State Fair Exhibit, the 1960 Salon des Refuses, Milwaukee; the Oklahoma Printmakers Show and the Walker Biennial of Painting and Sculpture, Minneapolis, Minn.

Eisenstein's Story Reels In Silent Cinema Art Film

On Nov. 7 & 8 the Cinema Art Series is featuring the film, "Ten Days That Shook the World." This is a silent movie with English subtitles.

The film is a story of Eisenstein's historical re-creation of a turning point in modern history: the Russian Revolution of 1917, the idea behind it and the progress of history. The movie revolves around the European War, the Kerensky regime, and the final ten days after eight months of indecision, conflicting plans, and ambitions.

As a cinema technique, this is considered one of the outstanding motion pictures of all time.

The film will be shown at 3:45, 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. in the Library Theater.

Letters To The Editor

To The Student Body:

This year the Student Council has again been busy in a number of activities. This year for the first time the names on the student mailboxes were put up by Council members. Again many of you have taken advantage of the student insurance program.

We had real good turn-outs for both the fall class elections and the Homecoming election. In fact, I believe the Homecoming election had the highest percentage of voters ever seen here.

The Council has selected a fine group of girls to be cheerleaders. They are Marguerite Viets, Anita Knaack, Marilyn Becker, Sue Sadowski, Luann Hyland and Cheryl Peterson, as regulars, and Mary Jo Kalsem and Sarol Check as alternates.

The Council has appointed two students to student faculty committees. They are Pat Bandt and Beverly Kraus.

President Albertson has confirmed the student allocations as recommended by the Student Council.

Ed Allen, Judy Christensen, Scott Anger, Jerry Hartwig, Karen Jepsen and myself attended a United Council meeting that was held in La Crosse on the 1st and 2nd of November.

Some of the plans of the Student Council for the near future include: (1) investigation of the coke machines in the residence halls, (2) investigation of the intramural program, (3) membership change of the Council in the constitution, and (4) setting up a committee on campus activities.

DICK KLEINE,
Student Council
President

Letter to the Editor:

What is becoming of the moral standards of the average college student? Does he have any or is he just covering them up in an attempt to be more popular?

It was a big disappointment for me to find, as a freshman, starting here this fall, that many students can find nothing better to do than to go out to Joe's or Fill's and sit around drinking and smoking. What has happened to the good and decent things in life? Doesn't anybody ever take the time to be in solitude and search his life out? Is there no more time to enjoy a beautiful sunset, or read a good book, or listen to the patter of rain on the roof? Is there nothing better to do in this world but to go out to a place like Joe's and drown all your sorrows and hardships in a few drinks.

If this is what being a college student mean, then I don't want any part of it. If this is being an adult, then I don't want to be an adult. It would be much better to remain a child than to turn into an educated drunk. There are many things to be enjoyed in this life, but they are never to be found in the cloud of smoke or at the bottom of the bottle.

JEAN ROACH

An Open Letter:

At this time we would like to thank Mr. Bell, Mr. Hachett, and the Union Board Social Committee for providing the facilities for the Ugly Man on Campus contest.

Our heart-felt thanks are also extended to Phi Sigma Epsilon, Pray-Sims, Siassefi, Ski Club, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Wesley for sponsoring an "Ugly Man."

And, finally, we thank the faculty and students whose support made this the most successful United Fund Drive in the history at WSC at Stevens Point. United Fund Committee Alpha Phi Omega, National Service Fraternity

Dick Directs Seventy-One College Choir Members

David J. Dick of the Wisconsin State College music department faculty directs 71 voices of the College Choir who represent 50 communities throughout the state. Mr. Dick also directs the Chorials.

Residence Halls Keep Pace With College Growing Pains

To keep pace with the ever-rising student enrollments, enough new dormitories have been approved for construction that by 1965 they will be able to provide beds in double rooms for everyone in the city the size of Columbus, Elkhorn, Ladysmith, Mauston or New Richmond.

When the eleven new residence halls for 3,500 students are opened that September, the nine colleges will have double rooms for more than 15,000 students, which is approximately half of the anticipated enrollment at that time.

With an estimated cost of $10,500,000, the new round of dormitories will be financed with federal loans repaid from student dormitory fees.

The two residence halls here, May Roach Hall and Smith Hall, will house 600 students and will help to raise the number of residence halls in the state to 65.

Also in the making is a food service building with a serving capacity of 1,200, and which will be named the Bessie Mae Allen buildings are in the planning stage at Whitewater, Eau Claire and Oshkosh with the building at holding a capacity of 1,500 students.

Focus

by Sue Stanke

Lunchtime, WSC style, is a science in itself, where all the ingenuity, aggressiveness, and downright slyness a student possesses is directed toward one goal: getting a hamburger, french fries and Coke.

In the relatively calm atmosphere of the cafeteria, this poses no problem. One merely stands in line a specified time, tray in hand, bored look on face, stomach growling gently, until one makes it through the calorically-correct line. Everything is all very civilized and routine, for everyone is assured that even when that last slice of beef is picked up by the student ahead, there is more where that came from — or better be, because that meat ticket is paid for, and after all, how would it look — fainting from hunger right in the cafeteria.

Lunchtime in the snack bar is another thing. It is every student for himself, no holds barred. The line is ten feet long, and three students deep, with each and every one of them determined to get ahead of his neighbor.

This is done in a variety of ways. Often three or four students will pool orders and send up one delegate to collect them all. Or one may suddenly spy a buddy five feet up the line, and feel this compulsive need to go up to him, talk and remain next to him in line. This only works if the rest of the students are looking the other way, or are complete idiots. Usually a few strong threats and menacing motions by other students are enough to send this one scurrying back to his original place — if the others will let him back in line.

Seasoned veterans usually make their way determinedly to the front, and in a good, loud, all American sonic-boom voice that makes even the most hardened counter woman look up and take notice when they bellow "Cheeseburger!" above the bobbing heads in front.

The majority, however, stand resignedly, if not patiently, in line, muttering obscure oaths at various intervals, shifting from foot to foot, glancing from clock to grill to clock again, clinging foolishly to the hope that someday, maybe today, soon, they will be waited on — at least before their next class.

Finally, finally, Joe College makes it to the front of the line, places his order, all the while slowly rubbing his hands together in gleeful anticipation, and drooling slightly. The order comes. The hamburger gives off wafts of freshly grilled U.S. ground beef, the french fries are crisp, the Coke frosty, ice chinking gently against itself in the colorful paper container. But wait — what's this? No. Oh, yes. Another line. Now Joe must wait to pay for the food. The hamburger begins to cool, the french fries become slightly soggy, the ice in the Coke melts.

EXPANSION!

Science

Science is the process of living . . . by rules, by formulas, by laws of nature, by processes and procedures. It requires a faith in oneself to conquer the unknown through the known, by experimentation, analysis, research, faith and luck.

Science is life squirming under a microscope, a girl squealing as she touches a dead snake, two earnest young men bent over a frog they are busily dissecting.

Science is black smoke rolling out through the doors and windows of a freshman chemistry class. Science is an odorless, tasteless, colorless liquid consisting of five components that must be discovered and named before the end of the semester.

Science is a world of poking, probing, prodding, pinching students who must feel, taste, and touch the wonders of science for themselves. They become cross-eyed from microscope peering, sustain stomach upsets from liquids they absolutely should not but definitely do taste, and recoil shrieking from the scaly bumpy or slimy skins of specimens they must handle during laboratory periods.

Science is people. Science is a chemist beginning anew the same formula for the hundredth time, a physicist asleep on a stack of technical supplementary journals, a mathematician filling a blackboard with obscure symbols and formulas.

Science is a world of magic-making, sleight-of-hand, wonder-working professors who can take a spot of this and a dash of that and come up in a twinkling with a formula it has taken the class all morning to arrive at.

Science is discovering that food for man can be scraped from the ocean's floor. Science is curing cancer and heart disease. Science is sending a man to the moon. Science is fighting tooth decay. In all phases of living, in every life, science is bettering the lot of man. Science, most of all, is an idea. It is the preservation and propagation of the tenet that this world will be a better one when man understands the universe around him. Teachers, students, biologists, botanists, geologists and mathematicians are the custodians of science. And in science, as elsewhere, progress is the most important product.

SCANNING THE HEAVENS — The science building stretches skyward, a majestic monument embodying the dreams and ambitions of men and women who will serve through science.

A STRETCHING CRANE and straining men shape shelter — the E. T. Smith residence hall for men.

DEDICATION TO AN IDEAL — The science building stands, eloquent testimony to the standards of excellence that makes science a standout at WSC.

TODAY AND TOMORROW — The resident halls and food service buildings under construction today, are presented in an artist's sketch at left as they will look when completed.

NEW FRONTIER

A 180 DEGREE aerial shot of the North Campus presents a sweeping panoramic view of the building construction now in progress, and the sites of future buildings. The view to the right shows the building progress of the E. T. Smith and May M. Roach resident halls for men and women, and the Bessie May Allen food service building. Miss Roach was the associate director of rural education at WSC until her retirement in 1956, after 42 years on the faculty. Miss Allen headed the home economics department at WSC for 39 years, from 1913-1952. Mr. Smith came up through the faculty ranks to the office of college president. He served on the faculty for 31 years. The dormitory quadrangle complex will eventually house 1,000 students. Pray-Sims houses 400 men and Hyer Hall 200 women, while each of the new residence halls will have a capacity of 200 students. The food service building will service all students housed in residence halls on the North Campus. The view to the left, now still woods and homes and trees, will eventually be cleared for future building projects, and provides the college with room for expansion when it again begins experiencing "growing pains."

CAMPUS BOUNDARIES, present and proposed, are outlined in this aerial view of the WSC campus. Since this sketch was drawn, proposals have been made for two new residence halls and a heating plant to be located north and northwest of the physical education building. An addition to the student union (4), and the erection of the athletic fields (7) which will include football, baseball, and intramural fields, as well as tennis courts, are also slated.

Dorothy Doran Spends Summer In Quebec City

"Parlez-vous francais?" "Oui—all summer!" So flashes Dorothy-Dynamite-Doran, reminiscing about her summer school stint in Quebec, Canada.

The history and French major, part of the Wisconsin Language Studies Abroad program, attended a summer school session at Laval University in Quebec City, Province of Quebec. The 23 students who attended the summer term, June 28-Aug. 9, pledged to speak only French while in Quebec.

Miss Doran reports that the quaint Canadian city is a "Normandy across the sea." The excitement of its history, art, architecture, people, and fine food met with her utmost approval. "Quebec is a place where the life of today blends with legend of yesterday," she quips.

One bonus feature: Queen Victoria lost her head during Dorothy's stay. The destruction of a Victorian statue was typical of actions taken by a radical element, referred to as the "Quebec libre movement" which desires separation from Canada.

In a more refined note, summer students and professors will long-remember the Chateau Frontenac where the governor of Quebec entertained them at a reception.

Miss Doran summarizes, saying that it was "a very interesting and worthwhile experience." It sounds like something right up her line.

Presently a member of Phi

Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity, Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority, Newman Club, and Student NEA-WEA, she also claims Honor Roll position with a 3.5 grade point average. Dorothy has earned the Cutnau Scholarship for history, plus two legislative scholarships.

Dorothy will graduate in January. She plans to teach French "for a while," and then may continue studies towards her masters' degree.

Council Members Discuss Problems In Buzz Sessions

The United Council of Wisconsin State Colleges had their fall meeting at La Crosse State College on Nov. 1-2

The Council is composed of representatives of the nine State Student Councils who meet to discuss various problems common to the college.

Stevens Point sent Judy Christensen and Ed Allen as its voting delegates. Other delegates included Scott Anger, Jerome Hartwig, Karen Jepsen and Dick Kleine.

The purposes of the United Council are to promote and foster the exchange of ideas among the student governments of the member colleges, to reflect opinions of campus life, interests, and problems, and to serve as a liaison group between state student governments and college presidents and the Board of Regents.

The council held buzz sessions to discuss how student governments are set up, Homecoming procedures, freshman orientation, registration, freshman academic loads, student facilities, and student health.

Recommendations sent to all state college administrations as official action of the United Council were: (1) students over 21 years of age are legally considered adults, and should not be subject to any housing regulations. (2) the student government has ultimate student decisive powers subject to president approval, and (3) the funds for organizations, since they are derived from the students, should be allocated through the students through student governments.

Other resolutions passed by the council were to encourage academic freedom of expression in Wisconsin State Colleges, and to recommend that teachers do not make up identical tests in successive classes so that student test files and cheating can be better controlled.

The United Council also made a resolution opposing a proposal in the State Legislature to increase the tuition fees for the State Colleges. Representatives from each school were asked to submit this resolution to their assemblymen.

Spatz, Yelk First-Place Art Winners

More than 200 pictures were entered in the 3rd annual Fall Art Festival of the Town and Country Art League held at the Stevens Point Youth Center.

The show was opened to professionals and non-professionals.

WSC students listed among the first-place winners were Kenneth Spatz, "London Fog in Rome" and Cladia Yelk, "The Boats."

Miss Yelk received second place with "Shadows", an aquatint.

Lawrence Schmeda's woodcut and William Landwehr's watercolor, "Only One Way" received thirds.

When pocket watches were first invented they were so heavy that owners hired pages to carry them.

National Teacher Exam Open To College Seniors

College seniors planning to teach school will be able to take the National Teacher Examinations on February 15, 1964. This date for the annual nationwide administration of tests for prospective teachers is announced by the Educational Testing Service, a non-profit agency which also prepares College Board and graduate school admissions tests.

Scores on the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts for employing new teachers, and by several states for granting teaching certificates, or licenses. Some colleges require all seniors preparing to teach to take the tests. Lists of school systems which use the examinations are being distributed by Educational Testing Service to colleges educating teachers.

More than 400 testing centers have been set up throughout the nation for the February 15 examinations. At the full-day session, future teachers may take the Common Examinations, testing their professional knowledge and general educational background, and one or two of the 13 Optional Examinations, measuring mastery of the subjects they expect to teach. Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice on taking the examinations, according to Educational Testing Service.

Bulletins of information containing registration forms and detailed information about the February 15 administration of the tests may be obtained from college placement offices, school personnel departments, or directly from: National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J. Registration for the tests opens Nov. 1, 1963 and closes Jan. 17, 1964.

Law Journals Gift To Library From Law Firm

The Wisconsin State College library here has recently received a gift of 313 volumes of law journals.

The law journals were granted to WSC from the law firm of Peickert, Anderson, O'Brien, Shannon and Fisher, and include the Massachusetts Reports and its successor, North Eastern Reporter.

These reports of legal cases, beginning in Massachusetts in 1804, set the tone for legal reporting throughout the U.S. It includes all cases argued, and determined in the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts from 1804-1923.

The North Eastern Reporter includes all decisions of Supreme Courts of Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, and Massachusetts. It also includes cases from the Appellate Court of Indiana and the Court of Appeals of New York from 1923-36.

The second series of the North Eastern Reporter includes those cases determined in courts of Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, New York and Ohio from 1936-50.

The volumes are available in the reference room of the library.

Patronizing Residents Attend Own Schools

Nine out of ten of the students enrolled at the Wisconsin State Colleges this fall are Wisconsin residents.

Final enrollment figures reported by the nine colleges show 22,006 from Wisconsin homes, 2,341 from 43 other states and 210 from 45 other countries, for a total of 24,557 on-campus day students.

The Wisconsin students come from all 72 counties, with the largest number, 1,492, from Milwaukee county and the smallest, three, from Menomonee county.

Each state college has students from nearly every Wisconsin county, but the trend is for students to attend colleges near their homes.

The state colleges have 999 students from Illinois, 687 from 139 from Iowa and 52 from Ohio, Minnesota, 143 from Michigan. No other state is represented by more than 50 students.

Foreign countries sending the largest number of students to state colleges are Iran, 33; Kenya, 28; Canada, 17; Hong Kong, 12; Korea, 11; India, eight; Japan and Israel, six each and Jamaica, five.

(Continued from page 2) plans are based on a projected total enrollment at the nine colleges of 26,172 in September, 1964 and 30,280 in September, 1965. The 1965 figure is expected to include 2,216 married students and 28,064 single students, of whom 6,439 will be living in other types of housing.

The 1965 projection by colleges shows that Stevens Point will have a number of 3,581 students.

An enrollment summary for the present semester shows a total of 24,557 students attending the state colleges, making it a 14% increase over last fall.

The total includes 14,341 men and 10,216 women, with 1,664 married men and 1,334 married women.

Pointers Offense Shut Off Mankato Scores 6-0 Win

Completely shutting off Stevens Point's previously explosive offense, Mankato scored a 6-0 non-conference victory over the uninspired Pointers at frigid Goerke Field Saturday night.

The contest was the season finale for Coach Duaine Counsell's club which wound up with a 6-2 record.

The Indians stuck to a dull but effective ground game which didn't produce any long runs but they succeeded in controlling the ball.

Stevens Point was hurt by the absence of halfback Dave Emerich who gained 145 yards against Whitewater the week before.

With Emerich out, the Indians were able to key successfully on Sonny Redders, holding him to just 43 yards in 18 attempts.

The entire WSC offensive output amounted to just 109 yards, by far their lowest total of the season. The Pointers picked up 106 yards on the ground, also a season low mark, and completed just one of five passes for three yards.

It wasn't until the final 15 seconds of the first half that WSC picked up its initial first down. The Pointers had six first downs.

The Indians attempted 62 running and passing plays compared to 43 for WSC. The Indians had a 32-20 advantage in the first half and a 30-23 edge the second.

The Indians used a basic 5-3 defense most of the time. Mankato showed good pursuit on the Pointer wide plays and frequently were able to avoid blocks. Pointers backs were dumped for losses on nine occasions and Redders was the victim four times.

Mankato took advantage of a break to score the game's only touchdown late in the second quarter.

The Pointers didn't cross midfield until the closing second of the half. A pass interception by Aubrey Fish and return from the WSC 15 to the 42 gave the Pointers good positions.

Penalties hurt the Pointers several times in the contest — the first occasion late in the opening quarter when Redders broke off right tackle for 42 yards to the Mankato 40, only to have the play called back because of an offside infraction.

Holmes, still not 100 per cent after recovering from an ankle injury which sidelined him for more than half the season, led the Pointers with 58 yards in 10 trips. Redders had 43 in 18 and fullback George Rivers just 18 in seven.

The shutout was the second of the season against the Pointers who also were blanked by Superior 13-0, for their lone conference loss in seven starts.

The largest sum ever hazarded on the turn of a card was $850,000 risked and lost by William Northmore of Okehampton, England. The fatal card was the ace of diamonds. He was completely wiped out by the crushing loss and never gambled again. When the news of this financial disaster leaked out, the voters of Okehampton responded with a great outpouring of sympathy. As a sort of consolation prize, Northmore was elected to Parliament in 1714 and steadily re-elected for 19 years.

Saturday's meeting was the first in grid history between the schools.

Making their final collegiate appearance were nine Pointer seniors — ends Ken Kruger and Jim Googins, tackles Ron Wildman and Dave Schroeder, guards Don Tucek and Glen Seering, centers Dennis Arthur and fullback Paul Richter.

WRA Begins New Season Of Activities

The Women's Recreation Association (WRA) is off to a fresh start this year with its new advisor, Miss Vera Rimnac. Miss Rimnac and the organization's officers are planning a full recreational schedule.

The first activities this season include volleyball and synchronized swimming. Six volleyball teams play every Monday night beginning at 6 p.m. Synchronized swimming takes place from 6-7:30 p.m. Anyone playing volleyball can join the other swimmers after their game is completed.

Swimming will continue, and, in addition, plans are being made for bowling, badminton, archery, trampoline, basketball, and possibly, coed volleyball. There are many other recreational events that would be considered if the students prefer them.

The officers are: Fran Guder-ski, president; Barb Zurowski, vice president; Judy Davis, secretary, and Cathy Cutler, treasurer. WRA is open to all college women with no limit on the number of students who can participate. Anyone can join at any time.

Mike Harville Breaks Record; Pointers Lose

Mike Harville, a freshman from Western Springs, Ill., broke the WSC Cross Country record on Nov. 2. He toured the course in a brilliant 15:29.5. Harville took the lead early in the race and finished the last 150 yards with a very strong kick.

After Harville, however, Point didn't bring a man over the finish line until junior Chuck Pankratz crossed it in fifth place. His time was 16:39. Again there was a gap between fifth and ninth. The ninth position was taken by Tom Frank. He broke the tape in 18:05.5. The Pointer Harriers then captured the tenth, eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth slots.

The final score of the last meet for coach Bob Jones' harriers this season, was Platteville 22 and Stevens Point 36.

Platteville Takes Crown WSC Sixth

Platteville took conference honors at Whitewater on Oct. 26. The Platteville Harriers captured first place with 42 points.

The Pointer distance men took sixth, out of an available seven. The highest finisher for WSC was junior Chuck Pankratz who crossed the finish line in ninth place.

The order of finish of the competing schools was: Platteville, 42; UW-M, 58; La Crosse, 60; River Falls, 110; Whitewater, 118; Stevens Point, 153 and Oshkosh, 167.

Organization News

Congratulations is the word!—or so it seems as fraternities and sororities pat each other on the back for their outstanding achievements in the academic and athletic departments.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

Alpha Sigma Alpha copped the highest over-all grade point average last semester with a 2.873. Chairman of the Harvest Festival was Carol Engelbert and mistress of ceremonies was Pat Strozinski. The Alpha Sigs also were visited by Phi Lambda sorority of Whitewater, recently.

Omega Mu Chi

Best wishes are offered to Helen Vaughn and Pat O'Keefe on their recent engagements to Roger Bintz and Jim Kuhn, respectively.

Under the chairmanship of Marlene Marko, the Omegas have volunteered their services to St. Michael's Hospital here on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week.

Darlene Jeckle is chairman of the decoration committee for the Intersorority Tea on Nov. 24.

Delta Zeta

Recently, members of Delta Zeta Sorority met at the home of Mrs. Henry Welch to address and stuff 6,000 envelopes with Christmas seals for the Tuberculosis Association in the Stevens Point area.

Psi Delta Psi

Loaded with lollipop "ghosts," the Psi Deltas treated the "unfortunate" children in the pediatric ward at the hospital who were not able to be out Halloween night "trick" or "treating" themselves. This is one of the monthly projects the Psi Deltas have planned.

Phi Sigma Epsilon

Congratulations to the members of the Phi Sig intramural football team champions! Try-outs are now being held for the Phi Sig Interscholastic basketball team which starts Nov. 16.

The Phi Sigs are also planning two parties. A party with Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority will be held under the direction of Steve Crull, Nov. 9. Chairman of the Thanksgiving party to be held Nov. 16, is Bob Zinda.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Tau Kappa Epsilon members helped to usher the high school seniors around the campus last Saturday, Senior Day.

Members of Epsilon Nu here will make an inspection visitation of the affiliate of a new Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity at Wisconsin State College, Eau Claire, Nov. 15-16.

Alpha Beta Rho

The members of Alpha Beta Rho earned the highest grade point average of the fraternities last semester with a 2.55 overall!

Alpha Beta Rho also enjoyed the annual inter-fraternity "tea party" in which the losers of the Interscholastic Council intramural games bought the "tea." With another strong team effort this year, they say they can again share the expenses.

Sigma Zeta

The Sigma Zeta National Convention will be held during the Easter vacation, March 23-24. At their meeting last evening, 1964 in San Antonio, Tex.

Sigma Zeta's speaker was George C. Becker, of the biology department, whose topic was "Minnows in Wisconsin."

Spectrum Club

The president and treasurer of the Union Board will be requested to present the Union Board budget for last year and this year, at the next open meeting of the club at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 13.

Officers for the 1963-64 term are James Jablonski, president; Kenneth Flood, treasurer and Barbara Durand, secretary.

Y-Dems

New officers for the 1963-64 term are Ellison Ferrall, president; Joe Janowski, vice-president; Sandy Reidenbach, secretary and Dennis Arthur, treasurer.

Gamma Delta

During the weekend of Oct. 25-27, several members of the Beta chapter attended the fall convention at Eau Claire. The theme was "I, The Church on Campus."

Three members were elected as Lakes Region officers from the Beta Chapter. They are Jackie Druckry, publicity chairman;

Dick Markworth, international representative and Al Johnson, activities chairman.

"A Hero of Faith—Job" is the topic of discussion at 7 p.m., this evening in room 21 of the Union. Students are asked to bring bibles.

A business meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 14 in St. Paul's Church basement. The topic, "A Layman and His Bible" will be given by James Rogers.

ISA

The first of six sessions in the second series of "Dialog" will be given this evening at 8 p.m. in the library of Trinity Lutheran Church's education building. Centered on the theme "Inquiry into Faith," these sessions will be based on the creed. This evening's discussion is "I Believe in God the Father." Vesper services will follow at 9:30 p.m. in the church.

Thirty sailing vessels bearing the name of Endeavor have been wrecked on the same reef in Torres Strait between 1853 and 1888 — averaging nearly one wrecked Endeavor a year. The Strait is only 80 miles wide and separates Australia from New Guinea. It is so densely studded with submerged rocks that only a very narrow channel can be navigated with safety. For that reason the S trait has long been known as a graveyard of ships.

The term "idiot" originally meant "a private citizen who did not hold office."
