Student Senate Institutes Letter Writing Campaign

By Paul Janzy

The Student Senate has initiated a letter writing campaign in response to a bill proposed by Assemblyman John Shabaz, (R-New Berlin), in the State Assembly with the result, if passed, of the cancellation of approximately $196,000 dollars and the firing of nearly 300 students.

It would have to be halted. The Instructional Media services would be forced to a near shutdown of operations. Another area where students who are on financial aid would be, in all likelihood, fired is the laboratory assistants, both in the Science Building and in the language lab in the Classroom Center.

Schedule Changes Must Follow Regular Procedure

Students are reminded that to change the schedule for which they are registered requires them to follow the regular change of program procedure. Attention is drawn to the catalog statement, page 48.

Below are some of the areas which would be drastically affected if this bill by Assemblyman Shabaz were to be passed. The library, instructional media, science and language labs, the radio station, and other areas would suffer as a result of the passage of this bill.

Senate Modifies Book Question

The Student Senate, which held its first meeting of second semester, last Thursday evening modified its stand on the text rental-text purchase question. The Senate by a 10 to 6 vote with one abstention voted to keep the present system whereby students rent from the bookstore the majority of their books.

Bergman Film To Be Shown Next Monday

The Wisconsin Room will be the site of a special showing of "The Seventh Seal" an Ingmar Bergman film which won the International Jury Prize at the Cannes Film Festival, 1956, 1957. The film is part of the Cinema Arts series and is scheduled for next Monday evening at 7:30 p.m.

IT WAS STANDING ROOM ONLY at Saturday night's Stout game, and some die-hard fans forgot the freezing temperatures outside while watching the game through the front doors of the Phy Ed Building. Watching it from the cold outdoors might have reminded these students of the Packers championship game — a la Dallas style. (Bob Holden Photo)

Dr. Paul Yambert, member of the administrative team here and widely known conservationist, announced he has been appointed dean of outdoor laboratories at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale, effective next June.

It is a new position and one of few of its kind in the country. He also will be a professor of conservation for limited teaching assignments. He will be responsible for the development and utilization of outdoor laboratories to fulfill the university's role in instruction, research and public service.

Specifically, Dr. Yambert will work with faculty and representatives of state and federal agencies in helping them use outdoor facilities owned or controlled by the university. One laboratory, six miles from the campus where he expects to spend much of his time, encompasses 9,000 acres of which 1,000 is a man-made lake.

He says his new position will allow him to "focus all of my energies on my role in wilderness-outdoor education and conservation."

The university there is strongly committed to an outdoor program, Dr. Yambert explains, and is pumping vast amounts of money and physical resources into it. "I've always loved working with college freshmen," he continued, "but I've missed the opportunity of teaching graduate students—this was another drawing card."

Dr. Yambert, a native of Tennessee who received his advanced degrees from the University of Michigan, was a high school teacher before coming to Stevens Point in 1957. When the institution underwent an academic reorganization in 1961, he was promoted from professor of conservation to dean of the new school of applied arts and sciences.

As the first and only person to hold that deanship, he has directed the operations of the natural resources, speech pathology and audiology, home economics, business education, physical education, medical technology, and military science departments.

He said he has attempted to stress the need for broad liberal arts education in development of these specialized programs. Recounting his tenure as head of the college, he said, "I feel we have collectively worked hard in getting applied arts and science education better accepted throughout the university."

He predicted the natural resources department will achieve "Big 10 School" quality. "I think the state will have significant advancements by each of the departments."

President Lee Sherman Dreyfus said, "Dr. Yambert has been the driving force in the natural resources development and commitment of this university. He, more than anyone else, has brought us to our current status in the field. He will leave a gap in leadership behind him which will not easily be filled."

During 12 years here, Dr. Yambert won the outstanding faculty member award (1961) and served as acting dean of fine arts and acting vice president for academic affairs. He was the liaison officer for planning the federal water resources laboratory to be constructed on campus within the next year or two.

Outside the campus, his efforts have been mainly in the areas of clean water and nature conservancy. "Sitting in class and shedding tears about rivers being polluted is not enough," is his reason for involvement. So he has volunteered his services as chairman of both the regional and state water advisory boards and trustee for the Wisconsin Nature Conservancy Chapter.

Working toward the preservation of the Plover River as a wild stream has been a special project. His home and undeveloped property borders it. Dr. Yambert, his wife and four children plan to move to Carbondale soon after public schools close here next spring.

A fourth annual study of art in Europe—four weeks in Spain, five weeks in England, June 11-Aug. 13—has been announced by Whitewater State University art department as part of the 1969 Summer School program. Mrs. Leanne Stevenson of the WSU art faculty will direct the program which will include two classes, Special Studies in Art History and Drawing Problems. Students may take either or both courses for the total of seven credits.

The art history class will be a general historical survey of 18th century Spanish and English painting with emphasis on contrast and comparison of styles. The student will write a paper evaluating the historical survey.

The drawing course will be taught as indicated by the student's own interest and abilities. He will be expected to take special interest in the architecture and landscape of the cities and areas visited and will complete a full sketchbook in the media or media of his choice.

Lecture tours will take place on an average of three mornings a week for approximately two hours each. There will be one evening seminar a week for two hours combining the drawing and history groups in a review and discussion. Friday, Saturday and Sunday will be allowed for independent study and travel enabling the student to explore areas or make side trips on his own.

Tours will be arranged to the Prado Museum, Toledo, in Barcelona, Madrid, and other important cities of interest to the artist. In England tours will be arranged to the Tate Gallery, the British Museum and other important museums and sites of interest.

The program is open to students, faculty members and other employees of the nine Wisconsin state universities. Students who will have been granted an undergraduate degree prior to the summer session, or who are not working toward a degree, may register as special students.

Double Present Center Committee Discusses $3 Million Addition

A 15-member committee has been appointed to plan a $3 million addition which would more than double the size of the University Center (student union).

The State Building Commission has recommended construction be undertaken during the 1969-71 biennium and encompass 100,000 square feet. The commission estimated the price on the basis of $30 per square foot.

McKate is the chairman. The group meets twice each week to determine programs which will be offered and facilities needed to put them into effect.

Hachet believes state officials will be able to move swiftly through the procedures before granting final approval because tax monies will not be used.

University centers and residence halls are being built and more kinds of game machinery. A banquet hall has been proposed.

About 15 years ago, after the completion of DeLzell Hall, the first student union-type activities were started in the basement of the dormitory. Coffee was served and there was space for a limited scheduling of games.

Ten years ago, the University Center was constructed for a program, cafeteria, and recreation center, but by the early 1960's, it was overcrowded. Construction completed in 1965 doubled the size to encompass a total of 70,000 square feet.

Hachet has been on the staff of the center since 1962, coming here from Ball State University in Indiana where he received both his bachelor's and master's degrees.

For that reason, tele-tecture equipment to broadcast speeches given in any part of the country by a national figure will continue to be provided to Stevens Point audiences.

Hachet calls this kind of activity human renewal. His committee has suggested places where students can make and display arts and crafts even if they are not students of art.

'The Dickens' Performing In Coffeehouse Bag

University Activities Board presenting Coffee House "Entertainment Bag" is featuring "The Dickens," February 3-8, Monday through Saturday. Performances are nightly at 7:30 and 9:00 in the Gridiron. Everyone is welcome!

The group is three-quarters Canadian and one-quarter New Yorker, but as a group it is one-hundred per cent entertainment. New to audiences in the United States, they are on the way to establishing the same excellent image they maintain in Canada here.

Since any group of lasting value must solidly itself musically, "The Dickens" has been concentrating on concerts and personal appearances, rather than looking for a "record" reputation. When they decide to cut, they will have already verified to the American public their depth and versatility. A favorite on many campuses, they are widening their performing range and recently completed dates in the New York City area at the Bitter End, The Cafe Au Go Go, and The Rheingold Music Festival.

The group's reputation is based on a solid foundation of musical ability. Each member is an expert individual performer, but they have learned to utilize each member's assets in such a manner that the group as a whole is infinitely stronger than any of its individual parts. The sound that results is the culmination of mutual understanding and personal compatibility. And the sound identified with "The Dickens," is a projection of genuine optimism, and a faith in the common sense of the emerging generation they represent. A good deal of the joy "The Dickens" exemplify is an extension of themselves. They are by nature, neither crusaders nor condemnors, but rather, spokesmen for the good in life. While protest songs are not completely contemporary groups, "The Dickens" groove with life, and seem to say, "It may be far from perfect, but look at all we've got—ain't it a gas?"

Jim Akroyd is the founder and leader of "The Dickens." A former resident of Toronto, he writes most of the material done by the group. He is, however, reluctant to talk about it and constantly refers to the talent represented by other members of the group. His songs begin often on the premise of young love. From that beginning they branch out into the beauty and complexities of love.

Ice Sculpture Event Delayed By Weather

Due to the warm weather and heavy snow this winter, the delivery and stacking of the ice for the ice sculpturing contest has been delayed, forcing the contest judging to be pushed back an additional day.

The ice will not be delivered until Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 10 and 11, and the judging will not take place until Saturday, Feb. 15, at 11 a.m.

Paul Braun, Winter Carnival ice sculpture chairman, has also announced that organizations will not have to remove the ice after the contest is over.

Newman Parish Serves Catholics

By Mary Rogers

About 53 percent of the students enrolled at WSU-SP are Roman Catholics according to the religious preference cards the students complete at registration.

However, the actual commitment of these people varies considerably. There are those who marked Catholic because they had been baptized into that faith. Some of them have not attended Mass or received the sacraments since they've been here.

Others attend Mass regularly. Some of these go beyond what they find at Mass and continue to search and learn and become involved in what parish is.

What is a parish? The core of that concept on campus is the Newman association. Theoretically, every parish member is a part of Newman association, but the membership is so vast that a group of representatives have been appointed to care for the business.

This group is called the Newman parish senate. According to the constitution, the senate is composed of 40 students and the Newman chaplains. General business meetings are held twice a month. The committees of the senate reflect the type of business covered at these meetings.

The liturgy committee attends to the needs of the worshipping community. Organizing and strengthening the choir that sings for the Saturday evening Mass is its greatest single achievement.

Along with the activities committee, the liturgy group is planning to do some remodeling in the chapel second semester. Most of the kneelers have been removed.

Wood paneling will be put in behind the altar and the ceiling will be adjusted to aid the acoustics in the basement chapel.

The activities committee was responsible for last week's Gold

Mass, arranging for ushers and lectors at Masses and planning "Christian Encounters."

The "Christian Encounters" are get-togethers for a few hours on a weekend for discussion, lunch and an informal Eucharist. Finally, there is the liaison committee. The group serves as a link between the Newman parish senate and the University Christian Movement.

Newman is actually just a part of UCM. Whatever can be done inter-denominationally is done with UCM. This year a Marriage Preparation Course and a Race Seminar have been sponsored.

The full time Newman team, Father Al Thomas, Father Joe Sullivan and Sister Robert Marie Elson offer counseling instructions and talks to anyone interested. They emphasize, "We are on campus for you."

They sum up their ideas in this statement of purpose: "We see our role on the University Campus: 1. To establish and form community (the Church); 2. Through worship (Eucharist); 3. In a human and Christian (including ecumenical) setting; 4. In constant open dialogue with the University; 5. To be at the service of the world and at the same time a conscience for the world."

There are problems. Though they are working to overcome it, the Newman senate is not truly representative of the parish. This is partially due to the fact that not many parishioners know really what the senate is or what it is doing.

There are vacancies on the senate now and they are looking for new members. Also, the senate hopes to send out news letters regularly during second semester to keep everyone informed.

It is impossible to definitively describe Newman because its most vital characteristic is that it is growing and changing. In the words of one senate member, "There's more to come."

A COKE PARTY WAS HELD last Wednesday evening in the Wright lounge sponsored by the Jaycees for girls interested in running for Miss Stevens Point. The winner of the pageant will receive a $150 dollar wardrobe, a $300 scholarship, and an all expense paid trip to the Miss Wisconsin pageant held at Oshkosh. Standing l. to r. are Lee Schoen, Gary Henderson, Rick Manuel, Nancy Olson, Paul Braun, Dave Welnetz and Ed Paciosk. Missing is Rich Lamberg.

United Christian Movement Open To All Denominations

By Marylou Rentmaster
"We intend to do nothing separately, individually or denominationally that we can do together with other religious denominations."

The University Christian Movement organized May 6, 1967, at WSU-SP. Methodist Campus Minister Richard Steffen explained, "embraces the whole university campus - students, faculty, administrators and clergy." Steffen added, "UCM is student dominated. For every three faculty and two administrative members, we must have at least seven students."

Steffen emphasized the fact this is a movement and not an organization. "To develop a rigid structure that might limit our activities is not our intent. Everybody belongs, and we try to keep an 'ad hoc' relationship."

The prime intentions of UCM are to minister the needs of the situation and not specifically the needs of a denomination, and to work effectively together ministering the needs of the university. The charter members are the Canterbury Club, The Lutheran Student Association, Newman Student Association, Wesley Foundation, United Campus Christian Fellowship and the Assembly of God students.

The Christian Science Student Association has designated observers to attend meetings. Steffen added, "Any campus religious organizations are welcome."

Six full-time staff members are available to students on an all-University basis. They are Father Joseph Sullivan who acts as chairman, Father Harris Hall, treasurer; Mr. Richard Steffen, secretary; Father Albert Thomas, Sister Robert Marie Elsen and Pastor James Schneider. Steffen acknowledged, "Any minister of layman who has responsibility for his denomination on campus is welcome. The staff is scheduled to meet every Wednesday afternoon."

The UCM Council meets every other Thursday. The two designated offices are held by Kenneth King, chairman; and Bird L. Loewen, secretary. "Committees," Steffen explained, "are established when they are needed and when need no longer exists they disband. The committees on worship and public relations are the only permanent ones."

"Our relationship," Steffen observed, "is a unique one. Activities may be sponsored without participation and support of all denominations involved. But, this in no way conflicts with denominational loyalties or fractures relationships within UCM."

Well-known speakers have been made available to the campus through UCM. Last year, UCM sponsored a discussion led by the public information director of Playboy; and UCM and the Residence Hall Council sponsored Father Malcolm Boyd, an Episcopal minister at large.

"This year," Steffen noted, "a ten-session series, 'Christian Free University', was held. This was a non-credit course in contemporary Christian inquiry. A prep course for marriage and a series on race issues that was offered first semester is slated for second semester; and a program is planned to discuss the role and purpose of the university, student and church play on this campus."

Inter-denominational retreats are held throughout the year. "To better understand our ministry to this campus we are having a meeting between semesters at Stronghold Castle Camp Ground south of Rockford, Ill., Steffen encouraged. "This can be attended by any interested person. We are anticipating 35-50 people."

"Programs in a number of areas of concern will be attempted when the opportunity and time allow. UCM counselors and advisors are available for residence hall discussions when invited," Steffen said. "We are willing to discuss topics uppermost in the minds of students; the pill, minority problems...."

UCM students volunteer for community projects, tutor children and "help Tempo with their inventory." A Christmas tree decorating party was held Dec. 6.

Students are invited to attend any and all functions. Steffen stressed, "UCM is for everyone."

'Shoot The Piano Player' Featured In Cinema Arts

"Shoot the Piano Player," a film by Francois Truffaut, was shown last night in the Wisconsin Room and will be shown tonight at 7:15 in the Wright Lounge as part of the Cinema Arts series.

Following is a brief synopsis of the film. Charlie Koller plays the piano at Mamy's. Mamy's is a cafe on the Paris outskirts. His comfortable existence is first shattered one night when an older brother, demanding sanctuary, bursts in upon him. Refusing to become involved in any intrigue, Charlie denies him aid, but later instinctively helps him to escape.

Plyne, bartender at Mamy's, is interested in Charlie's actions. Plyne particularly resents Charlie for attracting Lena, a young waitress with whom Plyne is desperately in love. Lena is expressing her contempt for Plyne, forces Charlie to intervene and accidentally kills Plyne. A timid man who had never wanted to be involved in life, Charlie is then swept up in the tragic climax of the film, the final reckoning of his past.

Edm. Quaterly says of the film and its director, "Truffaut doesn't stop short. He's an ex-claimant, with a slam kid's energy and ability to thumb his nose and laugh and suffer simultaneously. He's also a French intellectual, a special breed nurtured over centuries to despise sentimentality. All these qualities are present in his feature length films, and they supply the dramatic tension of high art. Shoot the Piano Player begins, and ferociously, it pushes beyond any adolescent or Beat glee in the destruction of form and symbol to a position which is as effective as a blow on the head. It works through an exploitation of incongruity, and we, the audience, are its happy victims."

Truffaut and the existentialist, Shoot the Piano Player, and the absurdity of life, will be subjects of discussion led by Dan Berman, of the English faculty, on Thursday evening following the film showing.

Three WSU's Are Certified To Give CPA Examinations

Accounting graduates of three Wisconsin State Universities now are eligible to take certified public accountant (CPA) examinations, the WSU system office in Madison reports.

WSU-Eau Claire and WSU-Oshkosh recently were accredited by the State Board of Accountancy. In 1965, WSU-Whitewater became the first State University accredited by the board.

Other accredited institutions whose accounting graduates may take CPA examinations are the University of Wisconsin in Madison, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and Marquette University.

Under a state law which took effect July 1, 1968, only accounting graduates of the six universities may sit for the CPA exams without further study. Accounting graduates of other colleges and universities may qualify to take CPA examinations by completing additional courses at the accredited institutions.

Uniform CPA examinations are given in different Wisconsin cities in May and November of each year, supervised by the State Board of Accountancy. The four part examination takes two and one-half days. Those who pass at least two parts have three more opportunities during the next six examinations to pass the other two parts. If they do not, they may start the entire procedure again.

UAB Trippers Plan Excursion To Kentucky

Last year, 691 candidates took the examinations and 156 earned credentials as Certified Public Accountants.

This year the nine state universities report 6,871 students enrolled in various kinds of business administration programs, including accounting. Last year, the three CPA accredited state universities reported 116 accounting graduates - 11 at Eau Claire, 18 at Oshkosh and 87 at Whitewater.

A meeting of those interested in participating in this spring trip are asked to be in the Mitchell Room of the University Center on Feb. 11 at 6:30 p.m.

Krueger Appoints New Head Football Coach

Pat O'Halloran defensive football coach and the number one assistant at Oshkosh State University, has been named to fill the vacant head football coaching position at Stevens Point.

Stevens Point Athletic Director, Robert Krueger, made the announcement of the 39-year-old O'Halloran to fill the opening created when Duane Counsell resigned after the 1968 season.

"We feel we have the best man for the job," said Krueger. "He comes to us with the O'Halloran. "I took the Oshkosh position in order to gain the necessary experience and have been looking for the right opportunity."

I feel Stevens Point has a real fine program, and I am looking forward to an exciting challenge," he added.

Because of his closeness to the defensive alignment at Oshkosh, O'Halloran feels that the strong point of many college teams are their defenses, but he intends to strive for balance between offense and the defense.

At Oshkosh O'Halloran had the recruiting responsibility for the largest area in the state—Metropolitan Milwaukee!

This is where he intends to concentrate his effort again. "Being the biggest area, it also had the most potential players," said O'Halloran. "In addition to this area, I want to look at parts of Northern Illinois and in Chicago. It costs a boy from Illinois just as much to go to a school in Illinois as it would for him to come to a school in Wisconsin."

O'Halloran did not feel that he had lost any great amount of time recruiting by just being named coach. "It's true we've gotten a later start than most schools, but we can get the job done."

O'Halloran received his masters degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1966. He began his football coaching career at Republic High school in Kansas in 1952 and in 1956 went to the Colorado State School for the Blind where he developed a wrestling and physical education program.

In 1957, he became coach at Waukesha Memorial High school and led them to the Catholic Conference Championship in 1960 and the number ranking in the state.

PAT O'HALLORAN

highest of recommendations from everyone he has been associated with at Oshkosh.

"He's had an outstanding record. On top of this, he is considered an excellent recruiter," Krueger added.

"Nowadays to have a successful college team, either the head coach or one of his assistants must be an outstanding recruiter and we feel O'Halloran meets these requirements."

O'Halloran has been at Oshkosh since 1966, and through his efforts has built the Titans into one of the football powers in the Wisconsin State University Conference. Oshkosh tied for the championship in 1967 and finished second last year.

He came to Oshkosh after a very successful high school coaching career at New Berlin, where his teams compiled a 157-7 record in three years, with a Parkland Conference championship in 1954. "I've always wanted to coach in college," remarked

Museum Adds Pair Of Prestige Pets

A pair of "prestige pets" generally unknown in this region and exotic fishes of the tropics have been added to the museum's museum of natural history at WSU-Stevens Point.

Mongolian gerbils, members of a rodent family first introduced in American 15 years ago, and a collection of the pickled fishes have been exhibited in new display cases.

Director Robert Searies has invited the public to view these and other new additions. The museum is located on the second floor of the Science Building and open to visitors between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. Tours for groups can be arranged, he advised, and he encouraged school groups to take advantage of the new facility which opened last fall.

Searies describes the tiny gerbils as being clean, "perfect pets." If they get special attention, they usually are "exceptionally friendly," but if they are neglected, they are the opposite," he said.

Since they were brought to America from the sandy wastelands of northwest Manchuria, they have grown from a colony of 22 to thousands. They cost between $6 and $12 per pair and usually fascinate persons who observe their habits but are not widely available on the market.

Searies reported that gerbils usually multiply at a rapid rate, but the pair in the university display case has not reproduced. He fears both may be females, but can't be certain because they are so small (three ounces).

These herbivores can go for months without water, the little water they do require comes from their food. Their mature size is halfway between that of mice and rats. They are protectively colored like the sands: light brown, black-tipped feet covering a slate-gray undercoat.

They have slightly protruding eyes and large ears. Their elongated hind legs cause them to proceed by little leaps. Their tails are long and furred and slightly tufted along the ridge.

In their native state, gerbils have no known diseases and even in captivity they are relatively disease-free. Searies reports they have a high degree of tolerance for high heat and extreme cold. Responsible for the new fish display is Dr. George Becker, a specialist on the species, who has arranged for a rotating exhibit in the corridor of the museum.

Each week a special display is made of a pickled specie from either the waters of the Gulf of Mexico, Florida coast, or Pacific Ocean. Charts are placed nearby to provide information about where the fishes are found, breeding characteristics and development.

A mounted muskie, caught by Dr. A. H. Cook of Stevens Point in the 1930s, also has been added. It weighed about 30 pounds when it was landed.

Honary Forensic Fraternity

Pi Kappa Delta Installed On Stevens Point Campus

The newest chapter of the nation's largest Honorary Forensic Fraternity was formally installed in the DeBot Center on Monday, Jan. 27. The Wisconsin "MU" chapter of Pi Kappa Delta includes fourteen students at Stevens Point who have participated in debate or competitive individual speaking and desire to broaden their forensic experiences through the local chapter.

Professor Grace Walsh, Governor of the province of the Upper Mississippi, installed the following as charter members:

In the order of competitive the Department of Speech: Frank T. Alusow, Associate Professor of Speech and Associate Editor of the Forensic, the national publication of Pi Kappa Delta and Richard S. Rogers, advisor to the "MU" chapter and Director of Forensics. All three are alumni of Pi Kappa Delta.

The installation was followed by a reception attended by friends of the initiates, faculty members and administrative personnel.

Following the reception, Miss Walsh and Mr. Alusow were guests of the newly-formed chapter at a dinner held at the Hot Fish Shop.

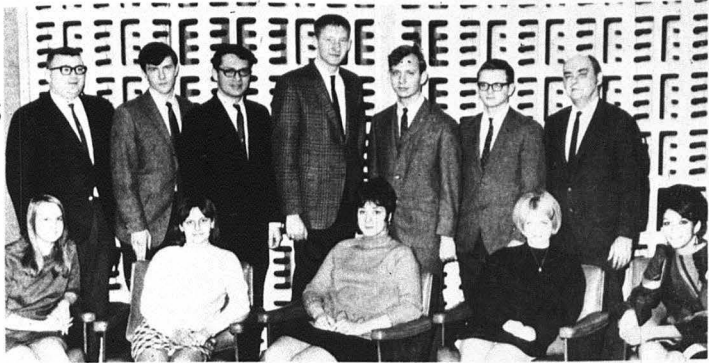

The charter members intend to concentrate in three areas of forensic activity: on campus, locally, and within the academic community primarily in the high schools and junior highs in the vicinity.

On campus P.K.D. will strive to promote forensic activities among all interested students by promoting the many debate and individual events tournaments held throughout the year all over the nation.

Helping area high schools with forensic activities are among the intended community functions of the new local chapter. Assisting with friends of the initiates, faculty members and administrative personnel.

Plans are also in effect for the annual Coffee Hour on Feb. 24. Also on the agenda was the annual Panhellenic formal. This year it will be held at the Holiday Inn on April 19.

As a money making project the council is assembling Alumni Newsletters this week.

Pointers Rally To Nip Whitewater

By Tim Lasch

After last Saturday evening, it appeared that the Pointer basketball team had blown its chances at this year's championship by losing to Stout. But the Pointers got an unexpected assist from Superior and now trail Stout by only one-half game.

The Pointers put together a strong rally in the second half to overcome a determined WSU-Whitewater squad, 74-71, and increase their conference record to 8-2 and their overall to 13-4. Stout, meanwhile, lost on its home floor to seventh place Superior, also by a 74-71 score, and dropped to 9-2 and 14-3 marks.

Whitewater, tied for last place with Oshkosh, came out in the first half and was thoroughly outplayed the Pointers that Stout was fortunate to stay as close as it did.

In conference Don Paulsen had the hot hand for the Warhaws in the opening minutes when he hit on five of his first six shots. The Pointers stayed close for the first eight minutes of play but the red-hot Warhaws caught fire and pulled away from the stunned Pointers. Whitewater stretched a narrow 19-16 lead to 26-16 with 8:47 left in the half.

Stevens Point could not stop the Pointers. Guard Steve Palfrey increased their lead to 15 points before a hook shot by Mike Hughes cut the lead to 42-29 at the half.

Paulsen led Whitewater with 13 points in the half and Guard Paul Palfrey added eight.

Sophomore Guard Quinn Vandenberg again paced the Pointers with eight points and Ken Ritzenhaler contributed seven.

Whitewater came out in the second half and for awhile it looked like they would pick up where they had left off at halftime.

Finally, with about 15 minutes left in the game, the Pointers began to rally. Trailing 53-39, they outscored the Warhaws 18-4 in the next five minutes.

Guard Russ DeFauw and forward Tom Ritzenhaler had the charge. DeFauw contributed six points in that stretch and Ritzenhaler got red hot after scoring held scores in the opening half. He connected on eight of 10 attempts in the second half.

After Stevens Point tied the score at 57-57, Whitewater led several more two-point leads before Rob Westphal finally put the Pointers in the front to stay 63-61, with a rebound shot with 6:23 left.

A Tom Ritzenhaler free throw with 1:21 left gave the Pointers a seemingly safe 72-67 lead, but the Warhaws were not about to give up. Terry Hayes scored and was fouled. He missed the free throw but Jerry Stebe tipped in the missed shot to reduce the Point lead to only 72-71 with 56 seconds still left.

After time out, the Pointers tried to stall and Tom Ritzenhaler was fouled. He missed the attempt and Whitewater rebounded. The Pointers managed to stall away all but the last two seconds before Whitewater committed a foul against DeFauw. The Senior coolly stepped to the line and sank a pair of charity tosses to put the game out of reach to Whitewater.

Vandenberg intercepted the ensuing inbound pass and the Pointers escaped with a 74-71 win.

Tom Ritzenhaler led the Point attack with 17 points, all in the second half. It was another strong team effort as brother Ken Ritzenhaler added 15 and Vandenberg and DeFauw chipped in with 14 markers each.

Whitewater, which is now 19-13 in the WSUC, was led by shooting Stebe who poured in 18 points.

Superior's Yellowjackets are currently in seventh place in the WSUC with a 3-7 record after upsetting league leader Stout. However, the yellowjackets have been very much in most of their games and gave the Pointers all they wanted in the first game between the two teams this year before finally succumbing, 79-72. Superior led by 11 points in the first half of that contest.

The Jackets are led by one of the best outside shooting guards in the conference, senior Don Hartlund. He currently is second in the conference in scoring with a 22.2 point per game average. The other starters are sophomore guard Bob Boettcher and three freshmen, led by forward Windy

Lasch's Sports Flashes

By TIM LASCH

Last Saturday's game against Stout was the most frustrating game I have ever watched. The Pointers did not play one of their better games, but still managed to stay close to the Blue Devils.

Point's defense at times was atrocious and this more than anything cost them the ballgame in my opinion.

Rob Westphal played the best game of his varsity career and I still can't figure out why he played so little.

Now the Pointers obviously must get help from someone else and hope to win the rest of their ballgames to have a shot at the title. Stout may drop another game, but the Pointers will have to improve on their consistency to hope to regain their early season form.

Spencer Hayward put on some kind of exhibition against Mquette in the second half Saturday, but "Dean the Dream" Menninger and Ric Cobb among others showed why the Warriors will get their NCAA bid. I think a good deal of their success is due to Coach Al McGuire.

Sports Illustrated magazine is up to its old tricks again, writing derogatory comments about Wilt Chamberlain and his lack of scoring. Chamberlain must subscribe to the so-called magazine because the next game he scored 60 points and got 31 rebounds.

A lot of people were surprised to see the Bucks trade Fred Hetzel, but not myself. He is one of the laziest players in the NBA. They got a fine prospect in 6-9 Don Smith, raised by many scouts as the third best in the nation last year behind Alcindor and Hayes.

Blue Devils Stun Point, 73-71 Before An Overflow Crowd

By Tim Lasch

WSU-Stout strengthened its hold on the lead in the Wisconsin State University Conference with a 73-71 victory over WSU-Stevens Point before an overflow crowd at the Fieldhouse last Saturday evening.

The win lifted the Blue Devils record to 9-1 in the conference and 14-2 overall, while the Pointers dropped to 7-2 and 12-4 marks.

Stout led almost all of the game, but the contest was very close throughout. The Pointers managed to tie the score on several occasions, but the only lead they had all evening was a 2-1 edge at the outset.

The Blue Devils, on the other hand, for the most part played a deliberate style of offense that paid off handsomely on many occasions as their sharp passing found

Pointers Churn To Victory At Platteville

By John Brennan

The Stevens Point Pointers won their first triangular swimming meet of the year in a met held at Platteville. The final result showed the Pointers on top with a total of 785 points. They were followed by Platteville with 722 points and River Falls with 485 points.

The Pointers were led by Rhineclander freshman Rod Schraufnagel. Schraufnagel won both the 50 and 100 yard freestyle and anchored the winning 400 freestyle relay. Besides Schraufnagel, the relay team was composed of Jeff Pages, Dan Netzer, and Jack Hyland. Bill Schuttan also picked up a first in the 500 yard freestyle.

Second place finishes were scored by Schutter in the 100 yard freestyle, Pagels in the 200 yard freestyle, Mark Kausalk in diving and Al Koeschmann in the 200 yard breaststroke. The 400 yard medley relay team of Bob Schwengel, Larry Edwards, Bob Maass, and Sutliff also finished second.

The Pointers also had six thirds. Two of them went to Tom Rozga in the 500 and 1000 yard freestyles. Others went to Kausalk in three meter diving, Bob Falk in the 200 yard backstroke, Doug Evers in the 200 yard freestyle, and Maass in the 200 yard butterfly.

A 100 place was taken by Mark Brodthagen in the 50 yard freestyle.

This was the first time that the Pointers had ever defeated Platteville in swimming. This Friday the Pointers will have their first home meet of the year. They will host Northern Michigan at 4:00 in the fieldhouse pool. On Saturday the Pointers travel to Oshkosh to meet Oshkosh and Superior in a triangular.

The Pointer bowling team finished with a 4-8 record in a weekend of conference action. The Pointers lost two out of three to each; Platteville, LaCrosse, Whitewater and River Falls.

All state schools except Superior and Eau Claire have competing teams in the league. LaCrosse, which has won for the past three years, leads the league with an 18-13 record. The Pointers are now 8-22 for the year.

Dave Voigt and Gary Pingel led the pointers this weekend with 18.5 averages. Pingel also had the highest 3 game series with a 620. Larry Skeel had the high game with a 230. Other members of the team include: Lyndon Bates, Wayne Hamlin and Steve Boehm.
