We affectionately dedicate
This Iris of 1920

MISS BERTHA HUSSEY

PRES. J. F. SIMS

To the Seniors of 1920

Most of us live in the present, and this is especially true of the rising generation. The child's, the youth's future is his own property, the promised land in which his aspirations are to be realized. We all have visions of this promised land, and they are more vivid and real now for you who stand upon the threshold of a life beyond the school than they will be at any future time. The promised land, the land which flows with the milk and honey of obligation, of responsibility, of character and of service, appeals to our imaginations, arouses our determinations, and awakens our energies to achievement. It is within our grasp, yet just beyond our reach and its "margin fades forever and forever as we move." It is the land of our ideals.

What is an ideal, a working conception of an ideal? Imagination, intellect, emotion, and reason,—the separate activities of a composite mind are active forces in forming it. Every ideal, when analyzed, reveals three elements: an end or goal, a desire, and an effort. It must be a conception of that which we now are not as a spiritual force, an unquenchable desire to reach a higher level of efficiency, and an intense loyalty to that desire so we can and will achieve it through strenuous endeavor. The chief factor in the realization of an ideal is to be found in the element DESIRE. How much do I want it? How ardently do I desire it? Am I willing to pay the price? Am I willing to sweat blood, endure all privation, sacrifice pleasure, and labor night and day, even to the end, in order that I may achieve my reasonable ambition? If I devote heart and mind to its realization, I am assured of triumph. For I will then "Carry On" and go successfully "Over the Top."

Too often our ideals are sicklied over with the pale cast of indifference. They lack color and stamina. We drift with the tide or current and do not strike boldly into the stream and swim against the current. We forget that where our heart is there all our treasure lies. We trust that some good fortune may come to us and we relax in our efforts. To such will always come defeat, and we bemoan our lack of luck. We charge failure to our stars while the real cause that we are underlings lies in ourselves, for we do not make the strenuous and long continued effort. Remember that the ideals, which we love, desire, lay to heart and live by, are the truest expression of our nature and the most dynamic agency in the development of our powers.

Sings the poet, Browning:

"Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp, Else what's a Heaven for?"

The school has tried to impress upon you the working of the great law of self-activity, and has urged you daily to the pursuit of excellence in all of your undertakings. Live these laws in your lives wherever it may be your lot to serve. Your ideals will be realized from day to day, and from year to year. You will then truly live from this day of your graduation in the promised land of your dreams. The school sends you out with her blessing and prays that all of your ideals will be realized.

Foreword

he unseen minstrel sweeps from the strings the last chord of the year's melody. Into the music have crept many rich harmonies and joyful variations. That the sweetest and best of these may remain with us forever, we publish this annual. In compiling it we have done our best, but we fully realize that our best is far from perfect. In years to come may this IRIS cause the melody to sing again in your heart and brighten the ever-deepening seriousness of the unseen minstrel's Song.

To the Faculty

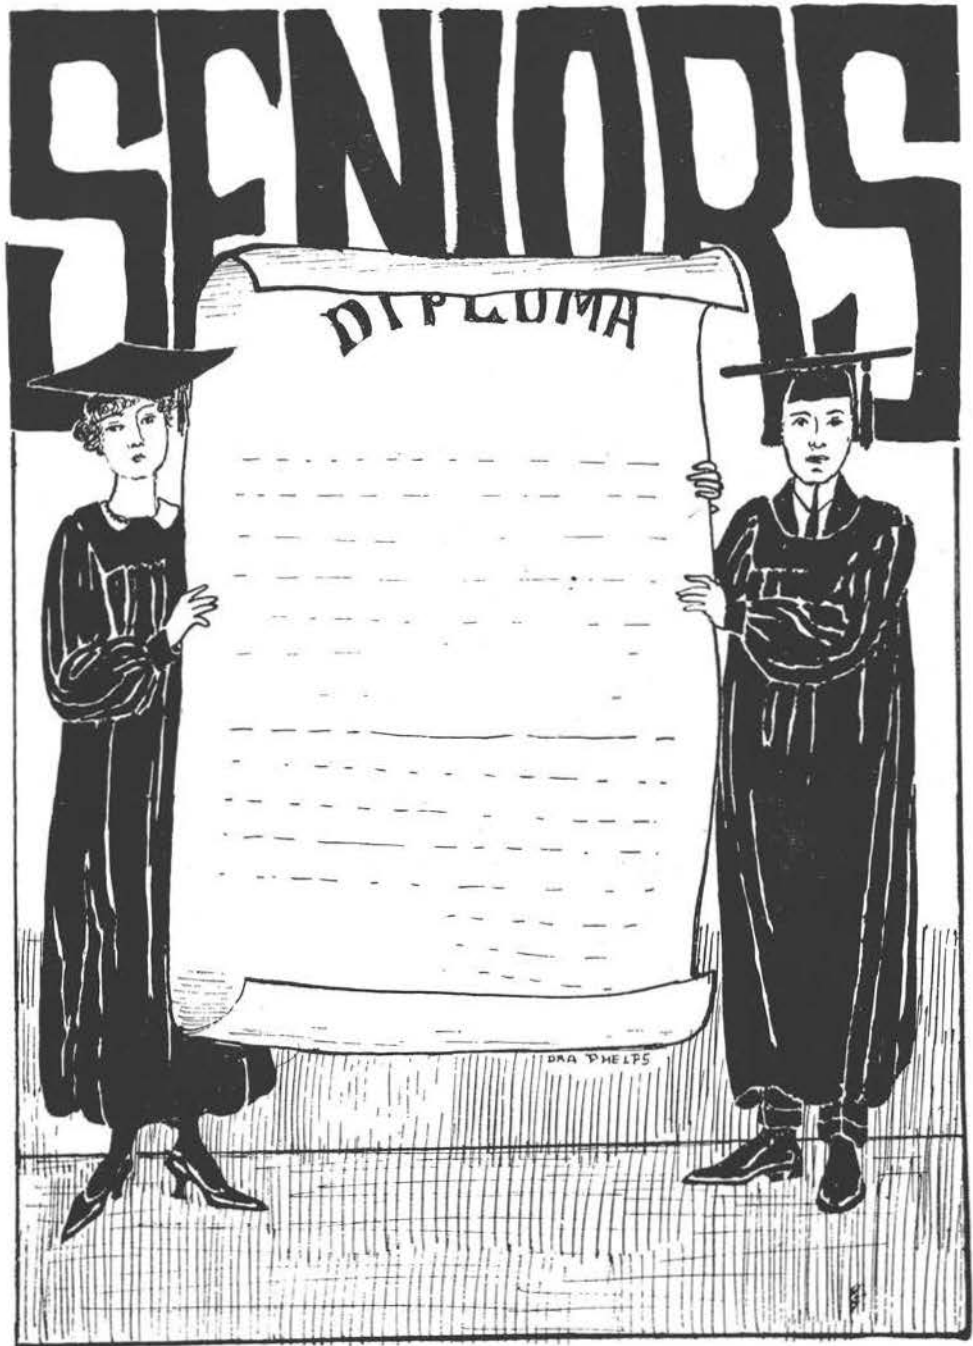

Dear Friends, our teachers, who have always been
So helpful, ever aiding us to win
Success in every task both great and small—
Ah, countless deeds of love we now recall—
Our life, since first we came to S. P. N.,
Through your affection brighter far has been ;
With sorrow now we leave our Alma Mater ;
Our love for her, through you, has grown far greater ;
Forgive, we pray, our various misdemeanors,
Accept our gratitude.

Farewell,

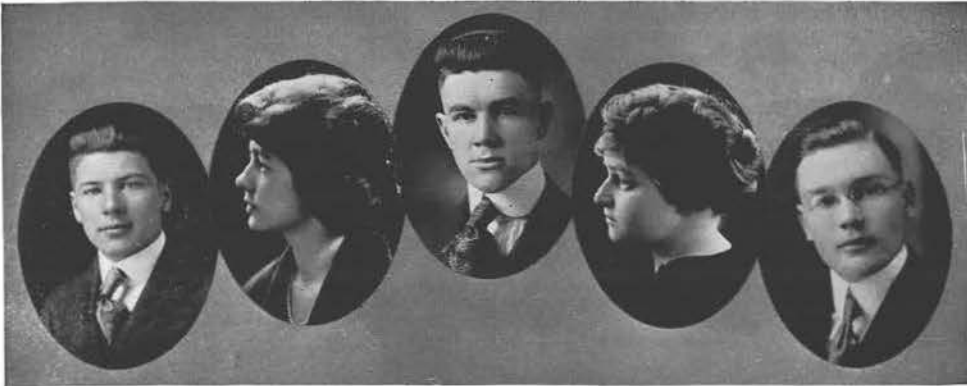

THE SENIORS.

WM. J. METZGER

In Memoriam

In the fall of 1915, William J. Metzger entered the Stevens Point Normal School, and readily proved himself a man of exemplary conduct, scholarly ideals, and strong personality. He manifested his loyalty to his country by enlisting in the service in the spring of 1917, and served throughout the war, including seventeen months overseas.

He returned to our school in the fall of 1919, and became, as before, a general favorite among the students and a prominent figure in athletics and other school activities.

During his stay here, his admirable character won the respect and esteem of students and faculty alike. It is therefore with deep regret that we relate the sad news of his death, which occurred on the twenty-sixth day of December, 1919.

The Past is with Us Still

The arm-chair is wheeled boldly round near the reading lamp, the glasses are donned, the "Iris" is opened and you begin to think.

There is the old school, old S. P. N. It makes me think of the school song, "To Stevens Point, the school we love, let's sing a song of praise." I turn a page to meet smiling President Sims; I think often of your many good advices; I try to avail myself of the "Golden Opportunities" you suggested on so many occasions.

Then follows the members of the faculty, who made the school of the Point famous. You have given us many ideas; battling became a pleasure with your inspirations.

Next, the Seniors. You're making good, old bunch. Remember the trouncing the Juniors gave you in that class tournament?

Oh! Here we are, the real class, the Juniors of 1920. There is Willis Zorn, president of the class, captain of the football eleven, and vice-president of the Phi Homs. Hello, Mopey. You sure led the boys through the fall's defensive. The Junior class is represented in every organization: Carl Anschuetz, president of the Forward Club; John Zimmerer, president of the Loyola Club; Grace Finch, president of the Girls' Glee Club; why, fifty per cent of the officers of the school organizations of 1920 were Juniors. Hold on, what is this? Mabel Peterson has won highest school honors for the first semester with a standing of 96.7. You're some Junior, Mabel. Well, there is MacBride, too, captain-elect of the basketball tossers. Say, Mac, the class sure gave the Seniors and Rurals a rubbing in that class tournament. Nearly handed the Sophs a goose egg.

Must leave you now, good old class, but will be with you again tomorrow eve.

Skin a ma rink a finkle dink a sacra doodle bunk,
The Juniors make up a real class, for they've got the spunk.

RURAL DEPARTMENT

ORA. PHILLIPS

PROF. O. W. NEALE
Director

Rural School Teachers' Course

The Rural Department is the largest of any in the Normal and is making splendid progress under the able leadership of its director, Prof. O. W. Neale, who is assisted by Miss Mary E. Hanna and Miss May Roach. These people are deeply interested in the training of teachers for rural teaching and in everything that is for the uplift of country life.

There are two demonstration schools in connection with the department, which are strong factors in preparing our teachers for the problems of the rural school. Each Senlor spends a week in one of the schools, where she does practice teaching and observes the regular teacher conduct classes.

THE RURAL LIFE CLUB supplies the students with opportunity to become leaders in community center work and proves very popular with its members. Many social activities are conducted under the auspices of the club.

The enrollment for the present year has reached the largest number, there being one hundred fifty-three young people in the department. The graduates prove their worth in the schools to which they go and many more than we have could easily be placed in desirable positions.

Rural Life Club

Rural Life Club

The Rural Life Club, which is now in its third year, is organized for the purpose of giving students in the department, and others interested in country life, an opportunity to take part in community activities.

Meetings are held regularly every second Monday night and programs of interest are carried out by the members, under the direction of the program committee. The students often appear at rural community meetings in near-by schools and give suitable entertainments. In this way the prospective teachers not only entertain, but gain first-hand knowledge of actual rural community problems.

Many social events occur under the auspices of the club, which help to bring about a spirit of good-will and friendliness among its members.

The officers are elected at the beginning of each semester. The following have accomplished much for their club the present year:

BESSIE M. ALLEN
Director

Home Economics Department

The Home Economics Department in the Stevens Point Normal School is one which deserves special mention, because of the excellent course which it offers and the variety of work which is given, High Schools are beginning to realize fully the value of this work and every year there is a greater demand for our graduates, not only in Wisconsin but also in other states.

Miss Allen, our director, attended Columbia University during the first semester, where she completed her work and received her Master of Arts Degree.

The work done in the department is put into practical use in the John Francis Sims Cottages. This year each group of four girls lived there for a period of nine weeks. The cottages have modern equipment and afford ample opportunity for the students to actually try out some of the problems which they are sure to meet in the future. They serve as a home for the Home Economics Club, but only those who have lived there fully appreciate them; the good times enjoyed in the nine weeks spent there are never to be forgotten.

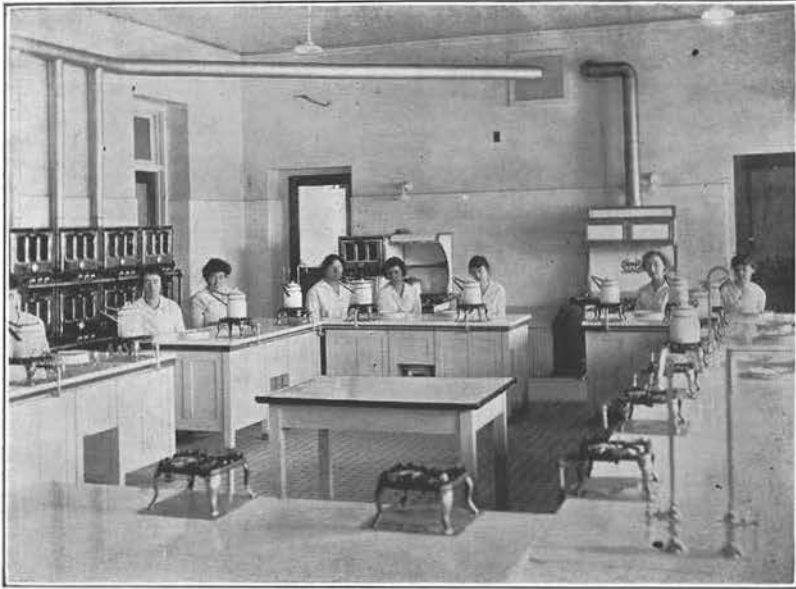

The practical work done this year has been extensive. Two demonstrations were given by every Senior in the cookery classes and the girls, in groups of two, have each served a luncheon and a dinner to three or more members of the Faculty, besides giving two formal dinners in the cottages. The members of the cookery classes have given banquets, receptions and dinners for the school and have also served at many social functions in the city of Stevens Point.

Millinery and sewing, under the supervision of Miss Tupper, have proved most interesting. Hats, dresses, waists and coats are now being made both attractively and economically by the students of the department.

We realize the importance and the value of the work we have taken in our course, and now, as Seniors, we bequeath to the Juniors the many advantages and opportunities we have had. Ours it is to go out with greater responsibility and answer the call that has come to the Class of 1920.

PROF. J. E. DELZELL
Director

Primary Teachers' Department

The work of this department is under the direction of Mr. Jas. E. Delzell— or, more appropriately, "Sunny Jim," as he is known throughout the State of Nebraska. We feel that we have been greatly favored in having had the privilege of working under such a wide-awake and cheerful man as Mr. Delzell. It has also been a pleasure to work with the primary critic teachers, the Misses Morrissey, Menier, Whitney and Kilcullen.

Meetings of the Primary Council were held every two weeks. At these meetings pleasing programs, including biographies, readings, current events, and professional methods, were rendered by members of the Council. Several members of the Faculty also favored the organization with interesting and instructive talks.

PROF. C. F. WATSON
Director

Grammar Grade Teachers' Department

Prior to this year, the Grammar Department was not organized as a society. Mr. Watson felt the need of organization and a meeting was called on October twenty-first for this purpose. The members of the department were very enthusiastic about it.

The following officers were elected:

- President* JAMES WILLIAMS
- Vice-President* MARIE GUMMO
- Secretary-Treasurer* MARY MULLARKEY
- Journal Reporter* LUCY STEFFANUS

(Owing to the vacancy left by Marie Gummo, who graduated at Christmas time, Elizabeth Burke was elected as our vice-president for the remainder of the year.)

At the second meeting, by-laws were made and upon the advice of the committee appointed to select a name, "Round Table" was unanimously accepted as the title of our organization.

Regular meetings were held bi-monthly on Monday evenings. Very interesting programs, consisting of musical numbers and instructive talks and readings, were rendered, after which the necessary business was taken up.

"Not quantity, but quality," describes the Round Table very well, for, although our department is not as large as some of the others, we take part in all the activities of the school. Four of our number played leading roles in "Mr. Antonio," the three-act play which was so successfully presented under the direction of Miss Hussey.

HIGH SCHOOL

PROF. E. T. SMITH
Director

High School Department

There came into being at our Normal School, in 1914, a Department for the Training of High School Teachers. Its first director was Prof. H. S. Hippensteel, who was succeeded in 1916 by Prof. A. J. Herrick. The total number of students enrolled in the department during the first year of its existence was sixteen; this number was increased four-fold during the succeeding two years; and this year the number of students enrolled in the High School Department, and two-year College Course, constitute a group of one hundred and forty-two.

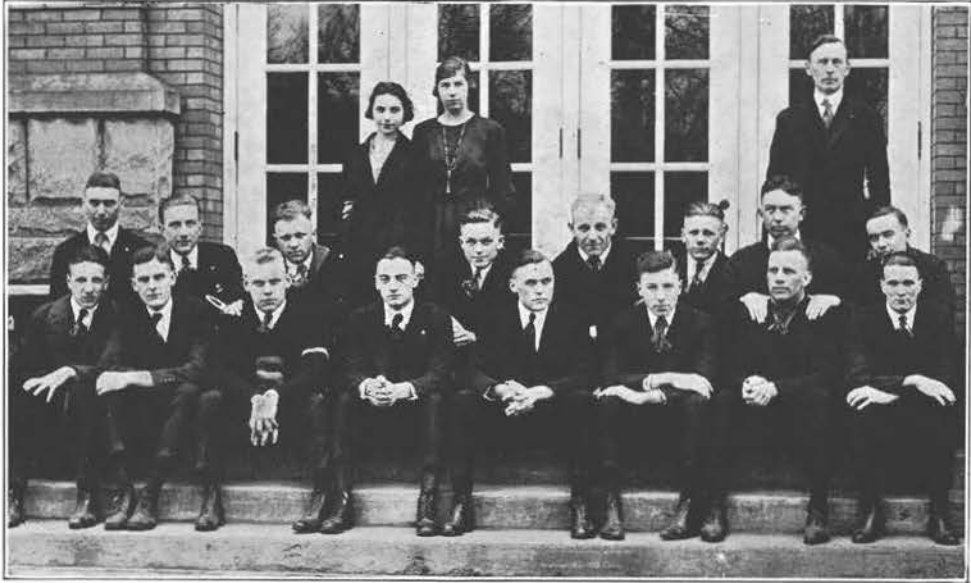

A number of changes have taken place in the department during the past year. Prof. Herrick, who has so ably supervised affairs, and who has so willingly served his students, is no longer our director. It is with regret that we see Mr. Herrick leave his position as faculty director, yet we know that in his new work as Principal of the Training Department he will find a broad field for his service, for which he is eminently qualified. Prof. E. T. Smith has been appointed to succeed Mr. Herrick, and it goes without saying that he is the man for the position. Nearly every High School student is personally acquainted with Mr. Smith, having attended his classes sometime or another, and knows that he will continue the good work which has made possible the rapid progress of the department during its short life.

Realizing that co-operation is a means of greater accomplishment, the students of the High School and Two-Year College Courses organized a society last November. This organization, known as the Alpha Kappa Sigma, is designed to promote literary and musical works, and stimulate social intercourse among its members. Regular meetings are held, at which interesting and instructive numbers are presented, and social activity is given its place.

We are aware of the work of our students, and take pride in showing where we stand in the school. Our department produced ten out of a total of fourteen orators this year, among them Paul Paulsen, who represented the school at the State Contest. Among the eight school debaters we find seven of our students. The football and basketball teams were composed wholly of young men from the High School Department. Likewise, in every school activity, be it Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Loyola, Glee Club, Chorus, or Dramatics, our members have taken active and leading parts.

Nor do we lag in scholarship. Last year 42.3% of our members were on the excellent and the honorable mention list. The first semester of this year, our department produced the three "honor students" of the school.

With our able and enthusiastic director, with our group of young men and women, capable of becoming dynamic forces in themselves, and with our organization giving opportunity for quadrupling our various forces through co-operation, we are and ever intend to be the "live wires" of the Stevens Point State Normal School.

COLLEGE COURSE STUDENTS

THREE-YEAR HIGH SCHOOL COURSE STUDENTS

PROF. A. J. HERRICK
Principal

The Training Department

The Normal Schools were created by the State to train teachers for the public schools. In order to most completely perform this function, the training school was incorporated into its organization. It is the professional laboratory of the Normal School, where the student teacher seeks to put into practical operation educational principles and theories. Dependent largely upon his own resources, the young teacher rapidly develops initiative, strength of personality, power of leadership, self-confidence and originality in dealing with real school problems. It has long been a cardinal principle of our Training School that teaching is not the mere mechanical following of formal plans and the manipulations of teaching devices, but rather it is the use of material and method as a means of inspiring and promoting the energetic self-activity of the pupils' mind and conscience which is absolutely fundamental to all mental and moral growth. The sympathetic and constructive guidance of the critic teachers never becomes irksome or deadening.

The high rank of the Training School is largely due to the able and efficient leadership of Mrs. Mary D. Bradford and Frank S. Hyer, who became endeared to multitudes of teachers who came under their inspiring influence. Mr. Hyer served as principal for ten years, resigning his position to accept the Presidency of the Whitewater Normal in September, 1919.

Prof. D. A. Swartz acted as temporary principal until March 15, 1920, when the position was permanently filled by the appointment of Alfred J. Herrick, who for the previous five years had been Director of the Department for the Training of High School Teachers.

The Training School faculty consists of:

	Enrollment
ALFRED J. HERRICK	Principal
BERTHA D. GOODYEAR	Eighth Grade 37
WINIFRED NELSON	Seventh Grade 32
NINA NICHOLS	Sixth Grade 38

EDITH B. WHITNEY	Third Grade 33
HAZEL MENIER	Second Grade 26
AGNES MORRISSEY	First Grade 34

Our kindergarten is housed in a city ward building two blocks from the Normal School.

It is planned to add a Ninth Grade next year and organize the three upper grades into a Junior High School.

Memoriam

ALBERT LANDOWSKI

This great and loved institution sustained a grievous loss when the heavy hand of death was laid, April 5, 1920, upon Albert Landowski, our faithful, loved and genial janitor. It came to him while actively engaged in the discharge of his duties, while he was working in the harness, and in the full vigor of his robust manhood.

In September, 1894, he assumed the duties of janitor, holding the position until he answered the last call, and we know full well that his Creator welcomed him and pronounced the judgment, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant—Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

He loved the institution in which he labored, rejoiced in its successes, sorrowed in its reverses, worked manfully to promote its interests, and gave without stint encouragement and good cheer to faculty and students. Whenever the writer met former faculty and student members, the common question was: "Well, how is my good friend, Albert?" testifying the friendship of this noble man.

His genial spirit revealed itself on all occasions, and some of his familiar sayings born in the soil of his forceful character, his intense humanity, and his real religious nature, bear the stamp of wholesome and dynamic philosophy, and are frequently quoted by those who came into close personal contact with him. As a fitting testimony to his worth, as well as a deserved tribute to his character, the State Normal School, the joy of his heart and the field of his worthy labor for more than a quarter of a century, closed on Thursday morning in order that the faculty and students might, in a body, attend the impressive and solemn funeral service at St. Peter's Catholic Church, of which he was a devoted member.

The qualities of obedience, loyalty, industry, cheerfulness and good fellowship were united in him in such degree as to make a strong, purposeful and constructive personality. Here was a man with sterling qualities, with that within him which every one could respect and admire. Had the opportunities for an education been afforded him in youth, such bounteousness of strong endorsements would have combined to make him a leader, a power in community and state.

Thousands have reason to mourn the passage of his genial and forceful soul. He is mourned by his relatives and friends as an honest, faithful and good man should be. His life teaches many lessons to the aspiring soul of youth, revealing as it does what the common qualities do to ennoble the individual in the ordinary routine of daily duties, especially when cultivated with an enthusiasm and the spirit of faith in God.

No man communed more earnestly with God, nor walked more completely in the footprints of the Master. His power came from the heart and it always beat warmly for the welfare of all so far as it lay in his power to make contribution. A good man has fallen out of our ranks and gone to meet his reward. Regent, president, faculty and students extend heartfelt sympathy, and join in the prayer that God give consolation and comfort to the sorrowing and loving wife and children in this hour of their great bereavement.

Loyola Club

"Are you going to Loyola tonight?"

"Have two weeks really gone by, and is it Wednesday evening again? Of course, we are all going to Loyola! No one ever thinks of missing the excellent programs and the pleasant social times afterward."

This conversation expresses the sentiment of every member of the Normal School Catholic Club.

Loyola this year is one of the strongest organizations in school. It is composed of about seventy-five wide-awake members. The purpose of the society is to promote good fellowship and loyalty among the Catholic students, and to further the good will already existing between the Catholic and non-Catholic students.

Among the many good times we have enjoyed this year have been the reception given to us by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., the party at the K. C. club rooms, and the sleigh ride to Custer; these will always be remembered.

During the year, the Loyola club has been represented in many of the school activities. Two of our members went out for oratory, three of our men, including the captain, were on the basketball team, two, including the captain, were on the football squad, and half of the invincible Grammar Team were Loyola members. Jeanette Van Hecke and Willis Zorn represented us at the state oratorical contest.

We owe much of our success to Father Landowski and Father Hogan, who have given several entertaining and instructive talks. We owe much also to the members of the faculty, Miss Roach, Miss Hanna, and Miss Van Ermen. We wish, in this manner, to express our gratitude to our pastors and to our faculty members.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. has had a very active and successful year. At present there are over one hundred members in the Association, making it one of the largest organizations of its kind in the state.

The year opened with a beautiful candle light service in the auditorium, when Y. W. C. A. girls played and pledged their best efforts in this work.

Our weekly meetings have been of unusual interest. They have included: study of the Bible and its application to student life; world fellowship problems; present-day conditions and our part in them, and Blue Triangle News.

The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. sent five students and one faculty delegate to the Student Volunteer Convention, held at Des Moines from Dec. 31st to Jan. 4th. There were between seven and eight thousand students present, representing the colleges, universities, and normal schools of the United States and Canada. Plans are now being made to send a large number of girls to the Y. W. C. A. summer conference at Lake Geneva.

"Mr. Antonio," a play by Booth Tarkington, was presented by a cast of Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. members.

The Y. W. C. A. has taken an interest and active part in all school activities. The Association has had many social gatherings such as picnics, mixers, and parties, entertaining those not included in the organization. We have not only enjoyed religious meetings, but have also enjoyed friendships, and fun, and social service.

Review of the Y. M. C. A. Work of the Year.

At the opening of the year the Y. M. C. A. had full charge of the housing of all the men students. A group of men met every train and endeavored to make the new students feel at home. We also helped the employment committee in looking up work and placing those students who wished employment.

Our membership, although not large, being about twenty-five, is composed of men who are interested in Y. M. C. A. work, and the welfare of the society. As the men are all interested in the work of the various churches about town, we give very considerable of our time to promoting the social side of school life. At the meetings general business is taken up, questions of the day are discussed, and often professors of the Normal speak to the men.

Early in the year we invited all the men of the school to a program and feed. About forty-five men assembled and enjoyed a very pleasant evening. The Y. M. C. A. sent two members, Mr. Hart and Mr. Bacher, to the Student Volunteer Conference, held at Des Moines, Iowa, the first of January. Reports of the conference were given before the student body and at the different churches about town. To help in defraying the expenses of the delegates sent to the conference, the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. put on the play, "Mr. Antonio."

A number of our men are planning on attending the Y. M. C. A.-Y. W. C. A. Conference to be held at Ripon the latter part of April.

Our president, Mr. Gordon, has been elected secretary of the State Y. M. C. A. Student Council.

Music

Shakespeare said, "The man that hath no music in himself is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils; let no such man be trusted."

In like manner, the school without music is not a growing school, is not a school that does things, is not a live school, is not a modern school.

Individually, we all recognize the value and importance in our lives, even though many of us can do very little musically. To any institution this value is multiplied by exactly the number of individuals making up the life of the institution.

The stronger it becomes in the lives of the people of America today, the more quickly will approach the day when Bolsheviki, strikes, panics and agitations will be things of the past.

The ideal of the Department of Music has been to bring some phase of music within the reach of every student of the School. It has not been wholly realized, but the organizations mentioned below have been well attended and enthusiasm has grown steadily from the start.

The Female Chorus, open to all women of the School, began with a membership of nearly 100. The Girls' Glee Club, selected voices, numbers 30. The Choral Union, organized the second semester, carries on its roster 25 men and 40 women. The Orchestra, with a dozen musicians, has kept the slogan "Quality Not Quantity." The Men's Choral Club, lately organized, is composed of 25 members.

The many concert programs by students and citizens of the city, given at the assembly hour, and the enthusiastic reception by the School, speak well for the place music has in the life of the student body. The Glee Club trip to the contest at La Crosse, the concerts enroute, its "hit" wherever it appeared, speak for themselves. Nuf Sed.

The operetta, "The Wild Rose," by Rhys-Herbert, given April 29th, the Annual Concert, May 20th, and the important place occupied by the various musical organizations on the Baccalaureate and Commencement programs, are all pleasant memories to hearers and participants alike.

To Mr. Dyer, our most competent director, must be given the credit for the great success of the entire musical department during the season of 1919-20.

Phi Homothus

MARTIN PAULSEN WILLIS ZORN FREDERICK VETTER JOHN RELLAHAN
President Vice-Pres. Secretary Treasurer

The history of the Phi Homs is as brilliant as it is brief. The idea of organizing a club representative of the various classes and societies of the school was first suggested last November, and it was implanted in the hearts of a group of young men whose interests are in unison with the spirit of S. P. N. As a result of their mutual aspirations and efforts, the Phi Homothus Club has been established.

This club, though the most recent of school organizations, is surpassed by none. Wherever you see a Phi Hom, you see a worker who is vitally interested in the betterment of himself, his club and his school. The membership of the club attests its quality.

In athletics, in forensics, and in all school activities, you will find that Phi Homs are the leaders. This is no idle boast. There is no better way to judge any organization than by its record. This club challenges any other organization of the school to compare the accomplishments of its personnel with those of the Phi Homs. In the ranks of the Phi Homs we find:

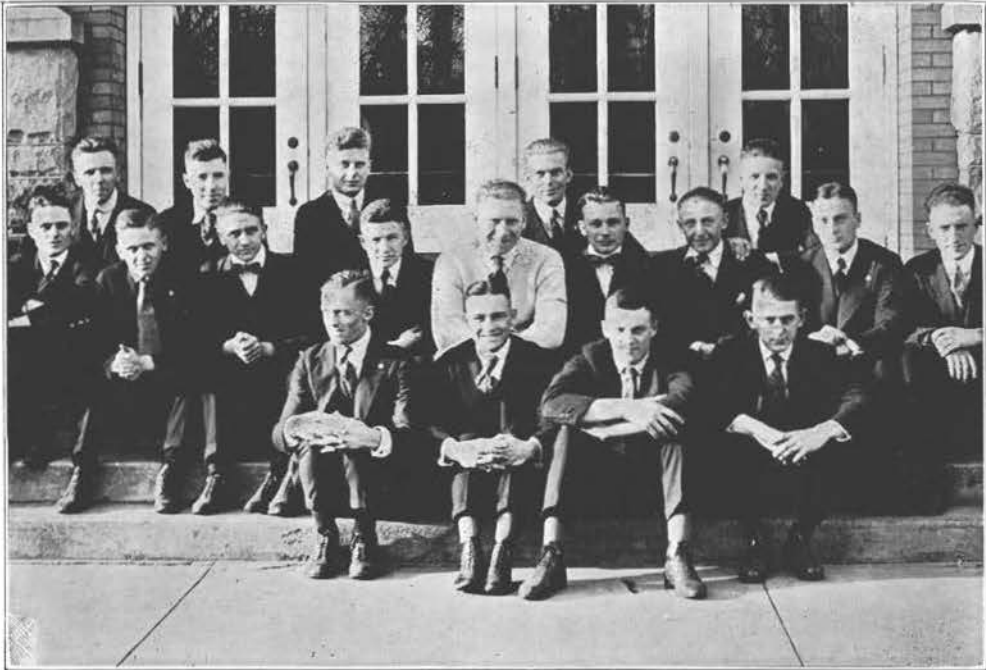

1. The captain of the football team.
2. The captain of the basketball team.
3. The captain of the track team.
4. The president of the Oratorical Association.
5. The president of the State Inter-Normal Forensic League.
6. The president, vice-president and treasurer of the Juniors.
7. The president of the Sophomore Class.
8. The president of the Round Table.
9. The two presidents, vice-president, and secretary of the Loyola Club.
10. Three Triangular debaters.
11. The School orator.
12. The editor-in-chief of the Iris.
13. The business manager of the Iris.
14. The editor-in-chief of the Pointer.
15. A man who has the distinction of having individual honors in the State Inter-scholastic Track Meet.

The promotion of the spirit of fellowship is one of the predominant virtues of the club. The initiations and meetings of Phi Homs will long be remembered as the most enjoyable part of their school life, as something which makes school days more than labor in a mere workshop, and as a place where fond and enduring friendships were formed.

The 1920 Iris

So here's to the Phi Homs! May their spirit of fellowship, and fidelity to their school be prime factors in making S. P. N. the leading Normal School in the State, and in aiding them along the pathway of life to their destined goal.

Forward Club

Formed on a strictly scholastic basis, with co-operation in school activities and the promoting of social diversions as its two-fold aim, the Forward Club, a newly organized league of young men chosen from the school, has been perfected and has become an organization of prominence. The first meeting of this club was held on Monday evening, January 12, at which time the following officers were elected: President, Carl Anschuetz; Vice-President, Myron Bidwell; Secretary-Treasurer, Ferdinand Hirzy.

The club was organized with fifteen charter members, including Robert Andrews, Carl Anschuetz, Myron Bidwell, Leslie Bourn, Norman Colby, Sidney Eagleburger, Elmer Ellis, Lawrence Hart, Ferdinand Hirzy, Dan Horne, the late William Metzger, Edward McCarr, Glen Neale, Rhody Rice and Rudolph Wilson.

Eleven new members have been accepted into the club since its organization, filling the membership quota for this school year. The new members include Carter Anderson, Russell Broten, Bertwith Elliott, Robert Felschmidt, George Frost, Douglas McBride, Harold Scribner, Norman Swenson, Palmer Taylor, Harvey Thorson and Anzelm Wysocki.

In the very start, the club received the hearty endorsement of President John F. Sims, and he has expressed the desire that the league form the seat of future self-governing organizations at the school. In order to be eligible to membership, a student must have an established scholastic rating. He must be up in his studies in order to conform to scholarship and conduct requirements as set forth by the league's organizers. Meetings have been held regularly every Monday evening.

On several occasions the club has taken charge of programs and mass meetings in general assembly and, moreover, has been represented in the promotion of most every popular activity at the school during the past semester.

The officers for next year have already been elected and the good work of the club will be continued next year. The annual banquet and installation of officers took place the latter part of May.

Oratory

PAUL PAULSEN
Our Orator

In Oratory the Stevens Point Normal holds an enviable place among her sister Normals of Wisconsin. Our high rating in forensics is made possible only through the interest the students take in this work.

On January seventeenth the preliminary contest was held in the Auditorium. There were sixteen orators who contested for the honor of being school orator and representing S. P. N. in the state oratorical contest.

The decision of the judges gave fourth place to Edward Blackman, third to Emil Hebal, second to Earl Kjer, and first to Paul Paulsen. The title of Mr. Paulsen's oration was: "The Dawn of a New Era," a very timely topic and very ably presented.

The state contest was held at La Crosse, with the winner of the local contest as the representative of the Stevens Point Normal. About fifty delegates boarded the Green Bay and Western on the morning of March the eighteenth, arriving in excellent humor at La Crosse at six P. M. Twenty-five of the delegates comprised the Girls' Glee Club, it being the custom of each school to send its best musical organization to the oratorical contest.

On the evening of March the nineteenth, nine capable orators matched their talents. The orations were all on wide-awake topics and held an unusual fascination for the audience. The president of the Inter-Normal Forensic League, Martin Paulsen of Stevens Point, presided and won universal respect by his ability to handle a prominent position.

First place was awarded to the Platteville orator, who spoke on "The Growing Spirit of Lawlessness;" second place to the Stevens Point orator, who had a masterpiece on "World Dominion and the Justice of Tomorrow;" third place was given to the Milwaukee orator, who spoke on "The America of Tomorrow."

The power of our orator to hold his audience was remarkable, and every Stevens Pointer who heard him was glad and proud to think that he was S. P. N.'s representative. Much credit for our excellent showing in the contest should be given to Mr. Mountain, who is the head of our English Department, and the one who coached our orator.

Debate

In debate, S. P. N. has a record of which we might well be proud. Out of the last eleven Inter-Normal Debates in which we have participated, we have won nine. This splendid record has been only through the live interest the students show in this work.

On the evening of February 26, the preliminary contest was held to select the debaters to represent the school in the Triangular Debates. Fifteen speakers tried out for places on the teams. The question debated was: Resolved, that congress establish a system of military training that all male citizens between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one years must undergo for a period of not less than twelve months nor more than eighteen.

The judges awarded the following debaters places in the order named: Lawrence Hart and Royal Gordon (tied for first place), Edward Blackman, Emil Hebal, George Morrill, Eileen Bird, Earl Kjer and Earl Marsh. Blackman, Hart, Gordon and Kjer (alternate) were chosen as members of the Negative Team. Hebal, Bird, Morrill and Marsh (alternate) were selected as members of the Affirmative Team.

On March twenty-sixth the Triangular Debate took place, the Affirmative Team debating Oshkosh here, and the Negative Team debating at La Crosse. S. P. N. again showed her prowess in forensics, as these two teams won us the championship of the Triangle.

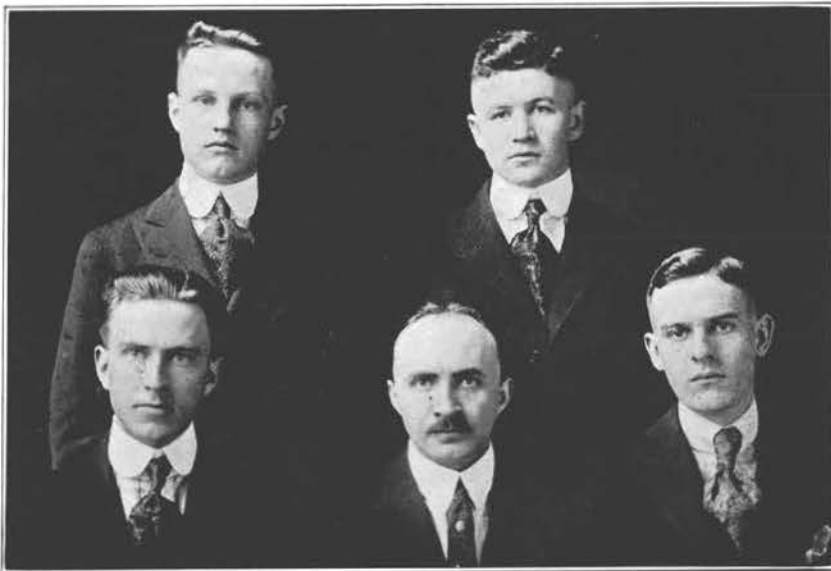

Much credit should be given our able coaches, Professors Mountain and Smith, who gave a great deal of their time in preparing the debaters for their final contest.

Kneeling—Horne, Bidwell, Playman, Metzger, Ellis, Ritchay, Eagleburger, Hirzy.

Men of the "Grid Iron"

WILLIS ZORN (Captain)
"Moupie"

With his genial face and keen, determined expression, won the respect of friend and foe on the football field. He was busy all the time.

LESLIE BOURN (Captain-elect)
"Les"

"Les" came back from the army with a strong, sinewy body and let the football enemy feel that a "yank" was a "stonewall" on the defense.

AARON RITCHAY
"Munch"

"Munch" has gained a reputation for speed, agility, and was thus able to gain many yards on the enemy. Ritchay has saved the day for us on many occasions.

EDDIE McCARR
"Irish"

Known as the smiling Irishman, was a first-class player and no enemy could gain advantage of Eddie by causing him to lose his temper.

DAN HORNE
"Dan-l"

"Dan-l's" graduation will lose for Stevens Point one of the most effective ends that the conference has known in years. We are sorry to see you go Dan, but we know that you will make a record in college that will reflect credit to Stevens Point.

BILL METZGER

Bill, known as "Stone-Wall Bill" on the gridiron, certainly lived up to his name. Throughout the season "Bill" was never known to fail to pass and get his man.

ELMER ELLIS
"Elly"

We regret that this is "Elly's" last year. The team next season will be without the services of this experienced, versatile player. Ellis has played on the best teams that have ever represented Stevens Point, and he had no difficulty in measuring up to the demand of the situation.

SIDNEY EAGLEBURGER
"Sid"

A quick thinker and a man who could see the weakness of the opposing teams, was "Sid." His ability as an open field runner was resorted to a great deal, also.

The 1920 Iris

CARL ANSCHUETZ

"Stiff"

Was one of the most valuable men in the line for his hard playing. His influence on the others was always fine. The team would have lacked a great deal without the pep and fight that "Stiff" instilled in them. His field orations were the kind that inspired the fighting spirit for which Stevens Point is always famous.

LYLE PLAYMAN

"Plink"

A man whose ability was never questioned, and always ready to give all he had for the betterment of the team.

RUDOLPH WILSON

"Swede"

A former high school star from Illinois. His work was always a factor which made for success for the team. Never resorting to "gallery play," "Swede" won a place in the hearts of the fans by his steady, consistent line hitting.

MYRON BIDWELL

"Crud"

Bidwell was a hard worker and a very important member of the line. The success of the team was due in a large measure to the fine offensive and defensive playing of the line. To this success much credit is due Bidwell.

ROBERT ANDREWS

"Gump"

"Gump" was a strong consistent line man, one to be depended on all the time. We were always sure of a fight when he was in the game.

RHODY RICE

"Dode"

"Dode," famed as a H. S. star, has made good on the S. P. N. football field. We are proud of you, Rhody.

FERDINAND HIRZY

"Pretzels"

"Pretzels" won an enviable record "over there" and came back with that push and energy that has given him the name of the "rushing football man."

Stevens Point opened the season at Oshkosh, where, on a field of mud, we were defeated 7-0. The next week, in the first conference game of the season, we defeated Stout 12-0. Eau Claire was next in turn and again in a sea of mud we were defeated 6-0. The next week we journeyed to Appleton and with a greatly crippled team we lost 10-0. We next defeated Superior 3-0 in the last thirty seconds of the game. Our old and bitterest rival was next in order and the last game of the season. Although we gained three yards to their one, we were unable to cross their goal line, and the greatest game of the season ended 0-0.

PROF. H. R. STEINER

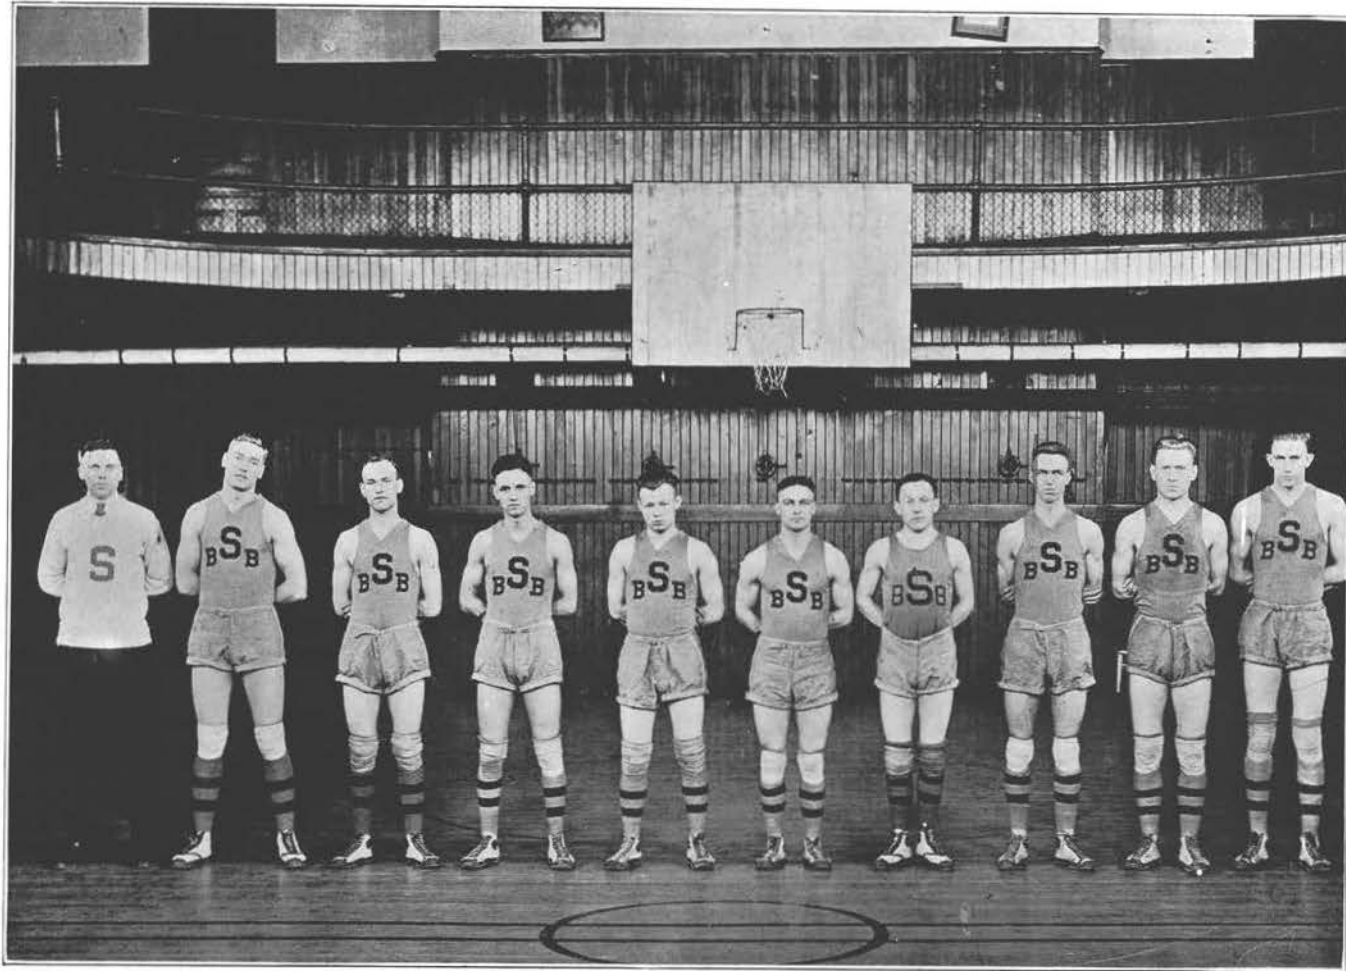

Dean of Men

Professor Steiner, our dean of men, has been with us for two years. In the school year of 1918-19, during the absence of Professor Fairchild, Mr. Steiner was appointed to act as dean of men for the remainder of the year. He proved himself most able. As a dean he was so well liked that when Professor Fairchild resigned in January, 1920, to go to Fond du Lac as superintendent of schools, a petition signed by every boy of the school was presented to President Sims, requesting him to make Mr. Steiner dean of men.

Our petition accomplished its purpose. Mr. Steiner, through his warm smile, his keen sense of humor, his strong personality, and his sterling character has won the hearts of all who know him. Whenever any of the boys are in trouble, or in need of help or advice, they go to Mr. Steiner.

He was once a student of S. P. N. himself, and he still carries with him the school spirit he had while a student here. He is an enthusiast for all school activities. In a mass meeting, or anywhere else where life and pep are needed, you will always find Mr. Steiner on the job. He is the friend of every boy at S. P. N. and is honored and respected by all. Mr. Steiner, we are glad to have you as our dean.

Basketball Group

Coach Tennison, Horne, Bourn, Elliott, Andrews, Ritchay (Capt.), Hirzy, Colby, Zorn, McBride.

The 1920 Iris

AARON RITCHAY, L.F. (Capt.)

Ritchay's speed and cleverness was one of the causes for the large number of points he scored. In the graduation of Ritchay this June, S. P. N. will lose a great athlete.

WILLIS ZORN, Guard

A man who never gave up until the final whistle, was Willis. He played his worth throughout the season. This man will be fighting for S. P. N. again next year.

DANIEL HORNE, Guard

Horne, playing on the team his third year, lived up to all previous reputation. Fast and rangy. It was almost impossible for an opposing forward to score on him. We will miss you next year, Daniel.

BERTWITH ELLIOTT, Forward

Coming out of high school with a marvelous record, he was not to be outdone at Normal. Elliott's cleverness and scoring ability were reasons for the winning of many games for S. P. N.

NORMAN COLBY, Forward

A good player and a good fellow was he. His genial smile and hearty laugh will be missed next year on the basketball floor, as he graduates in June.

ROBERT ANDREWS, Forward

Andrews was of great value to the basketball team for his ability to get into the game at any time and start with a rush that kept the opposing team "buffaloed." He will be back next year.

DOUGLAS McBRIDE, Center

The man who played a stellar game all season was named as captain for next year. From past history he is predicted to be a great captain.

LESLIE BOURN, Guard

Being injured during the greater part of the football season made Bourn all the more of a fighter on the basketball floor. He should be of great help in the following two years to S. P. N. teams.

The 1920 Iris

FERDINAND HIRZY, Forward

Though the smallest man on the team, Fritz proved a good player. Fast as lightning and possessing a wonderful eye, he will be of great value to the coming S. P. N. teams.

Summary of Our Season

The season's games started with one of the toughest teams in the state—the New London Edisons. Although defeat for S. P. N. was predicted on every side, they reversed the tables and won 29-24. Lawrence College was next in order with a team composed of former all state college men, but it made no difference, as the Point won 29-20. We journeyed to Oshkosh the next week and lost a heart-breaker 15-14. Capt. Ritchay was absent from this game. Eau Claire came to Stevens Point the next week and were defeated easily 20-9. At Superior, the next week, S. P. N. played the greatest game of the season and were rewarded in a 25-9 victory over Superior Normal. Injuries and sickness now started to play havoc with the Normal's chances. Horne was kept out of the following games with a broken wrist, and our first conference defeat was handed us by River Falls a week later. The next week Capt. Ritchay was sick in bed and Eau Claire defeated us there 29-19. In as fast a game as was ever witnessed on the Normal floor, we defeated Superior 23-21 the next week. The final game of the season was played at River Falls, and with luck playing on the River Falls side, we lost 19-16, which the River Falls papers claimed the fastest, cleverest and most exciting game of the season.

The past season saw the return of six veterans and many promising H. S. players. Ritchay and Horne, playing their third year on the team, were to be the main cogs with the other part of the team built around them. Could S. P. N. have gone through the season without the injury of Horne, the result of the conference standings would surely have been different.

Track

Stevens Point Normal has always been represented by a strong track team and this year will be no exception. Paul Paulsen was honored by the letter men in being elected captain, and a very able captain he is and will be. Last year, at the state meet, Paul won the mile run with forty yards to spare. Back in condition this year, he ought to duplicate easily.

* The state meet is to be held at Madison, and, no doubt, our track team will give a good account of themselves. Let's all get out and boost for track as we have for football and basketball.

Milwaukee third with 15 points. Hats off to the following: P. Paulsen, Doloway, Nohr, Getchell, Eagleburger, Precourt, Zorn, Neale, Elliot, and Leinhart. Doloway was individual point winner, scoring 13 points, Nohr was second with 12 points, while Getchell broke the state records in both hurdle events.

S. P. N. also defeated the Lawrence College track team by a score of 74 to 57, and Oshkosh Normal by a score of 99 to 32. Much credit is due Coach Tenison.

The Girls' Athletic Association was organized in 1918. There was not as much interest shown the preceding year as was shown this year in our organization. One of the most interesting events of the Normal Athletics during the year 1919-1920 was the Girls' Basketball Tournament. The girls that played worked exceedingly hard to make the games as interesting as possible for their opponents.

On the fourth of March the tournament games were played. The students were very enthusiastic and turned out in large numbers to root for their choice players. The games played were as follows:

Thursday P. M., 4:15

Primaries	17	High Schools	14
Rurals	0	Home Economics	7

After the games Thursday afternoon, the captains of the winning teams met with Miss Ruth Pierce to draw a "by." This would determine who would play for second place on the following Monday evening. The Home Economics' team were the lucky ones.

Friday P. M., 4:15

Rurals	10	High Schools	2
Grammars	24	Primaries	16

Monday Evening, 7:30

Rurals	4	Primaries	13
Grammars	12	Home Economics	3

The games ended in a victory for the Grammars. The Home Economics' won second place and the Primaries won third place.

In Appreciation

The Editor-in-Chief feels deeply indebted to Prof. F. N. Spindler, Prof. E. T. Smith, and Miss Bertha Hussey, who have so unhesitatingly sacrificed much of their time in helping compile this Chronicle of S. P. N. for 1919-20. Without their experienced assistance and unflinching patience it would have been impossible to publish this book in its present form.

To Mary Hazen, Esther Hanson, Frederick Vetter, Sylvia Phelps, Hugh Leonard, and Evelyn Cauley much credit is due for their untiring efforts in assisting the Staff throughout its work.

"OVER THE TUB."

In the laundry, Saturday morning, 10 o'clock.
"Say, how long will it take before you'll be through with the boiler?"
"Oh, I just started boiling my clothes now, and I have a whole slew of things yet. Gosh, I won't be done for a half hour yet."
"Well, I might as well go up and clean my room then until you finish. Will you save my tub and washboard? Don't let anybody take it, 'cause I just have to get my wash done this morning, as I have to go down town this afternoon."
Five minutes later.
"Say, whose tub is this with the bunch of clothes in?"
"Ah, it belongs to one of the girls on the third floor. She'll be down in about a half an hour to use it."
"For heaven's sake, it's a wonder some people don't want the whole laundry to themselves. I could do up my wash in fifteen minutes."
"Mary are you making starch now?"
"Yes!"
"Well, can I use it when you get through, because I've only one waist to starch, and I hate to make starch for just one thing."
"Sure, you can use it, if you'll be sure to return that pan to the kitchen."
"Well, who in Sam Hill took my starch? I put it under that tub over there by the pump and now it's gone. That's the second package I've lost. That gets my goat when kids are so long-fingered."
"Gee, isn't the water brown today?"
"Yes. I wouldn't boil my clothes in it if I were you. Use some of the water from the pump. I'll help you carry the boiler."
"I wonder if my clothes will be dry enough to iron by this afternoon, if I hang them down here. All the lines are full."
"Yes, and half the things are dry. I've a good notion to take them down."
"Well, did you save my tub?"
"Yes, I did, but I had a hard time doing it. You won't catch me saving tubs for anyone again."
"Say, who's got the right time?"
"I have. It's ten to twelve."
"Oh, golly, I'll have to hurry if I want any lunch. Suppose we'll have soup and hash."
"There, I'm done. Don't forget to return that pan to the kitchen."

150 GIRLS DRIVEN INTO HYSTERICS
BY FALSE FIRE ALARM

Many Serious Injuries—None Prove Fatal

(Special from an Eye Witness)

Nov. 2—Sunday night one of the greatest catastrophies of Stevens Point was staged at Nelson Hall.

Young adventurers, who had long been waiting for an opportunity to show their ability, now came into full bloom.

At about 1:00 A. M. they stealthily entered the dormitory dressed in long night gowns and flowing hair. In about five minutes bright sulphur fuses were flaming in every conceivable place in the building. Immediately, dense volumes of smoke began to rise. In about an instant these young practical jokers ran through corridors with cries of Fire! Fire! which broke the stillness of the midnight hour and echoed through the spacious halls of this "No Man's Land." In another instant it was as though the entire building had been converted into an insane asylum. From every room came the hysterical cries: "O dear, O dear, what shall I

PROFS. COLLINS AND CULVER ARE GREATLY IMPRESSED

One of the big annual events of S. P. N. is its mock faculty. Thursday several students of the school blossomed out into full-fledged "profs," and took over the management of the school for the day. Not only did the students take charge during general exercise, but they also took up the class instruction, teaching all of the classes, with the exception of Prof. Spindler, Mr. Morrill being unable to convince Prof. Spindler that he was capable of teaching psychology.

At nine-forty the auditorium was packed to its utmost capacity with students of Normal and the Training School. A hush settled over the enthusiastic audience when the newly acquired faculty, led by their notable president, filed down the aisles to take their seats on the rostrum. Never was a more sterling, dignified, energetic, self-conscious, ambitious and intellectual faculty seen on the rostrum.

The president called the assembly to order.

RESULT OF A BROKEN HEART

On Nov. 2, 1919, occurred one of the most tragic events that Stevens Point ever witnessed. Ray Decker, who was then unknown in this city, became a regular visitor at Nelson Hall, his attentions being concentrated on the young and fair Lady Ploeger.

Seized by S. P. N. Bolsheviks

It was shortly after 10:30 on this dark, dismal and cold night that Mr. Decker was hastening along the street, when suddenly he was confronted by five masked ruffians who silently seized, blindfolded, gagged and abducted him to the purring automobile, which immediately leaped off at a terrific speed to the little old Plover Creek, where the party halted, took their victim, and, judging from the biblical language that ensued, Ray expected that a baptism was the next number on the program. His anticipation was fully realized when he was grasped and recklessly thrown into the seething waters, which immediately engulfed him. However, Mr. Decker finally succeeded in getting to the shore and at once began to plod his weary way homeward.

The next morning Mr. Horne and his party were quite surprised to learn that their victim had enrolled in S. P. N., and they lost no time in making apologies.

do?" The electric buttons were pushed, but with no result. However, the young ladies must be congratulated for retaining enough presence of mind to dash for the fire escapes. This was the final fulfillment of the conspirators' well-laid plans. For they beheld a sight which caused their optical nerves to register strange things as the maidens filed down the fire escape.

The array of "robe de nuits" was more gorgeous than any rainbow ever seen. It was not long, however, until the flames extinguished themselves and whereupon the shrieking and weeping of our fair damsels terminated in words which dare not be published without effecting the character of our young ladies. They had discovered that they were the victims of a rude sort of by-play. As usual, Miss Hussey was able to exert her tender influence in caressing those who were so greatly horrified by the episode.

It is useless to say that no one slept the remainder of the morning.

Hawkshaws Get Busy

The following day Mr. Fairchild was given complete detective powers and immediately got busy to unravel this mystery. Chief of Police Hofsoos was summoned to make minute examination for finger prints, while Prof. Fairchild measured footprints near the dormitory and suspected Nujol Vetter.

The young man who played the part wore a necktie that hung well below his belt, in fact dangled at his knees, and a wine colored carnation conspicuously adorned his left lapel. He called the meeting to order and proceeded to read the announcement of the day. After so doing, Mr. Dyer was asked to lead the school in song. Miss Pierce took her regular place at the piano, but was unable to provide the accompaniment, as it was discovered that the piano had been stuffed with a roll of white paper that is purchased on spools. However, no serious damages resulted, and the paper was soon being rapidly removed. Our new president showed his disapproval and stated that "it took brains to do that."

Upon the completion of the singing, the student body was introduced to Mac Sennett's Bathing Beauties, whom our worthy president said he was able personally to recommend most highly. Their beauty was the subject of great comment by all admirers of a perfect physique. Miss "Abie" took the leading role with grace and ease. Following the appearance of these beauties each member of the faculty gave a short talk in order to stimulate interest in such unique exhibitions. Professors Collins and Culver were so greatly impressed that they found it necessary to use opera glasses in order to obtain a better view. The period was closed by the singing of our popular and well-known school song, "Boom Boomdea Boom Boom dee a," which was strenuously objected to by the real Prof. Spindler. From this time on classes were taken over by the new faculty members and the new president gave all dormitory girls a special privilege to stay out all night if necessary. This act was greatly approved by all concerned, the only disappointment being that these mock faculties occur but once a year.

RESURRECTION OF LIZZIE

THE DEAD BEGINS TO WALK

(Special by Andy Gump)

Monday morning, March 15, Prof. Evans, of the Normal School faculty, while entering his class room, was astounded beyond expression upon discovering the absence of one of his most attentive scholars—Lizzie—the skeleton that has been such a diligent helper for the past ten years to students who have been interested in the study of human anatomy.

Prof. Evans Informs Authorities

Mr. Evans immediately called for volunteers to go in quest of his faithful Lizzie, who had deserted him, without notification, so thoughtlessly.

The search resulted in the finding of Lizzie, who was peacefully resting in the dining room of the Home Economics Department.

Inquest Held

Bernard Precourt was instructed to hold an inquest to determine whether Lizzie had been animated by spirits so as to take life and walk, or whether she had become hungry and consequently desired to visit the Home Ec. Department. Mr. Precourt was also instructed to ascertain as to the probability of any of our young men desiring to take Lizzie on a courting expedition. Mr. Precourt's decision petent advisors. When Mr. Fairchild was asked what evidence he could produce, he answered, "Well, Mr. Sims, I have many clues, and I feel certain that they came in from the outside."

Investigation Continues

The following day, after which some more clues had been secured, "Detective" Fairchild called a few of our Puritanic young men into the office and proceeded to attempt to incriminate them. The cross examination that he gave them would even stagger the wits of a fifth grader.

District Attorney Pflfner to Take Action

On Thursday morning a meeting of all the men of the school was called, and the seriousness of this supposed prank was fully explained to them by our dean of men. He also took delight in informing them that HE knew the culprits and they might as well come in the office and confess.

He further informed them that in the event they should fail to appear before him in the office, that on the following Monday six of their names would be sent to the District Attorney and action would be taken by the State, and as a result these six men would be required to spend from one to fourteen years at Waupun.

The Fatal Monday

However, as Monday appears the detective waits for confessions, but in vain. Many farewell speeches were prepared by Zorn, Colby, Vetter, Ritchay, Horne, J. Whitner, and Bourn, but after their second examina-

Evangelist Toper Gensman Converts Large Number

(Special Cable)

Mr. Toper Gensman, of White Elephant fame, delivered an eloquent address last evening at the Old Maids' Convention. The noted Evangelist spoke in behalf of Prohibition. His oration was so well given that it held his audience spellbound, and consequently the result was that the entire assemblage were converted. This included one of our hen-pecked husbands, who happened to be present. This man proved to be no other than our renowned Mr. Stub Morrill. Stub, ever since the time he debated at Marshfield, is a strong believer of the "Keeley Cure."

So we see, the work accomplished by our fiery orator, Toper, is wonderful. His creed is the result of years of abstinence.

Evangelist Gensman is a fine, polished speaker, famous throughout the country for his convincing tones in G. flat. The Editor of the "Old Maids' Informer" wishes him success on his tour, which includes Plover, Mee-tion, which was given by the Supreme Council, they were found to be innocent of all the alleged charges.

Our Solution of Mystery

We advise Detective Fairchild to get in direct communication with the all Omnipotent, because, being of Christian faith, we actually believe that God only knows who these criminals are.

han Station, Custer, McDill, and finally ending in the grand address, which will be given at Jack Roe's Lunch Room, thereby giving his friends a chance to hear his wonderful address.

MYSTERY OF THE MISSING RECORD BOOKS

The end of the first quarter again gave School Detectives Fairchild and Tenison another mystery to unravel. Some mere man, (at least the trouble here is laid to the male sex), conceived the brilliant idea of eloping with the record books of the faculty members. Undoubtedly, these were purloined with the idea that, with no marks to go by, each student would receive a passing grade whether his work warranted it or not, but when the General assured us that the marks were indelibly fixed in the teachers' minds, and that funks would be handed out the same as usual, the books were replaced as mysteriously as they had disappeared. This affair was also dropped before the detectives were assured a complete workout.

Why do the boys buy "Milo Violets?" This question, long unanswered, has been eradicated from the minds of many by the discovery of the Demon Chaperone, that a faint odor of smoke was prevalent on the second deck of the Hennery. The fair maiden accused of this misdemeanor had presence of mind enough to set fire to the lamp shade in her room so all suspicions were immediately without foundation. Within the next year it is expected that the girls of the Varsity will also go in for African Golf, Coca Cola Hiballs and all the rest of the masculine sports.

AN ESSAY ON MEN

By Jennie Topping.

"Men are what women marry. They drink and smoke and swear, but don't go to church. Perhaps if they wore bonnets they would. They are more logical than women and also more zoological. Both men and women sprung from monkeys, but the women sprung farther than the men."

The Trip to La Crosse

The little Green Bay station was packed up to the brim
With laughing, joyous students, chuck full of pep and vim;
Just who they were, most certainly a stranger could have told,
Throughout the crowd was fluttering the Purple and the Gold.
The train pulled in—when suddenly we noticed, down the street,
A cloud of dust approaching and two hard-working feet;
It proved to be "Our Mountain"—he got there just in time—
The way he hooked that coach—Oh, Boy! that sure was worth a dime.
Dyer, at Plover, stretched his neck, the Plover "High" to study,
Excited walked the platform off, and got his shoes all muddy.
And 'ere we reached Grand Rapids, a Baby, Janet found,
And all the girls made love to it, as it was carried around;
And then a "5-foot" baby, whose name was Helen Van,
Was carried lengthwise through the coach, "Oh deared" by girl and man.
We stopped off at Grand Rapids, and at New Lisbon, too,
To show the wide-eyed natives what S. P. N. can do.
We reached our destination, La Crosse, and hurried out;
The band played, and the air was filled with many a vigorous shout.
In less than 15 minutes the crowd was scattered wide,
And better hospitality no place could e'er provide.
That first night in the city, Vetter and Rellahan
Picked up two lovely maidens, pleasing to any man—
Ah, yes! two lovely maidens, like Easter eggs they were,
All painted and hard-boiled, and so forth, as it were.
A rally in the morning—there S. P. N. did shine;
A stunts program at 2:00 o'clock by all was classed as fine;
From 3:00 to 4:00 a matinee was given in the gym.
"Stiff" Anschuetz managed someway so the girls all danced with him.
Earl was getting jealous, when he noticed on "Stiff's" coat,
"Introducing Committee"—elected by Anschuetz's vote.
Winifred loves a coronet—Doris a small moustache;
Miss Pierce, our "chap," deserted us (why?), but we did nothing rash.
The contest lasted pretty late—Wilson got in at 3:00;
(He crawled through the Y. M. window—I wonder why?—Te he.)
Eddie and Mike were boasting their lodging place about;
Out on the porch they found their bags, and they, at 3:00—locked out!
Zorn put up at the Stoddard, but to save the price he ate
Down at the cafeteria—the saving sure was great!
He came to pay his bill and—Jimminy Whiskers! What?
"The American plan you pay for meals, whether you eat or not."
Early next morn we gathered down where the station should be;
We bade La Crosse a sad farewell and homeward bound were we.
The sextette entertained us, exhibiting fine distress;
We sang to keep from crying, led by our honorable Bess.
They opened the door of the smoker and, flattered, we louder sang.
But 'ere we had sung four measures, the door was shut with a bang!!
Soon we the Point were nearing—Yes, we were home at last,
And everyone in that great crowd was sorry all was past.

—ORA PHELPS.

Girls Take Notice

It is Dangerous to go out without Chaperones

Carl Vetter (calling at Professor Collins' for Erna Friedel): "I should like to see Miss Friedel."

Prof. Collins: "What are you going to do with her?"

Carl Vetter: "Oh, we're just going for a car ride."

Prof. Collins: "Have you a chaperone?"

C. Vetter: "A-a-a-ah, 'er, yes."

Prof. Collins: "I would like to speak to your chaperone."

(Vetter goes out to his car and brings Paul Paulsen in with him as the chaperone.)

Prof. Collins: "Oh, you're to be the chaperone? Well, now, I don't just know about this; my understanding is that the chaperone must be an elderly person."

Paul: "No, I think you're mistaken about that, Mr. Collins."

Prof. Collins: "Well, I'll admit I don't know who President Sims and Miss Hussey permit to act as chaperones. So we'll just look up the definition of chaperone in the dictionary and abide by its definition. Are you willing?"

Paul: "Yes, indeed, Mr. Collins." (Mr. Collins, unable to read, hands Paul the dictionary. Paul reads to suit the occasion): "A chaperone is any one who accompanies a party for the propriety of the occasion."

Prof. Collins: "Well, I guess that covers it." (Sudden outburst): "Paul, you rascal, I'll bet you didn't read that right."

Mrs. Collins: "No, Joseph, I don't think that we should let Erna go out with Mr. Vetter."

Paul: "Well, now, Mrs. Collins, you know that neither Vetter nor I are desperadoes."

Mrs. Collins: "Well, you can never tell until it's proved."

Paul: "How are we going to prove it if we can't have the opportunity of so doing?"

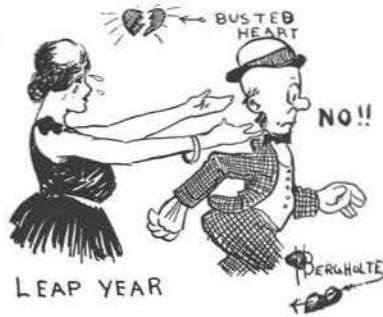

(Erna enters scene.)

Erna: "Come on, Carl, I am ready."

A Recipe for Cooking Husbands

By Girls from Cottages

"A good many husbands are utterly spoiled by mismanagement. Some women keep them constantly in hot water, or freeze them by their carelessness and indifference. Some keep them in a stew by irritating ways and words; others roast them. Some keep them in a pickle all their lives. It can not be supposed that any husband will be tender and good, managed in this way, but they are truly delicious when properly treated. In selecting your husband you should not be guided by the silvery appearance, as in buying a mackerel, nor by the golden tint, as if you wanted a salmon. Be sure to select him yourself, as tastes differ. If he sputters and fizzes, do not be anxious; some husbands do this till they are quite done. Add a little sugar, but no vinegar or pepper on any account. A little spice improves him, but it must be used with judgment. Do not stick any sharp instrument into him to see if he is becoming tender. Stir him gently, lest he lie too flat and close to the kettle, and so become useless. If thus treated, you will find him very relishable, and he will keep as long as you want, unless you become careless and set him in too cold a place."

A Leap Year Plea

When Gregory made the calendar to suit him,
He found he had some time to throw away;
But, instead of wasting it,
He erred by pasting it,
To the year in four when women have their say.

It isn't that we do not love the women;
Nor is it that we think that men should rule;
But, darn it all, it's queer
That the odd day in the year,
Should make some helpless, harmless man seem cruel.

Now, in England, when the kings were in their glory,
And could make their subjects do just as they'd choose,
A maid would ask a lad
If he could be had:
Against his will, he didn't dare refuse.

Those kings could make a common man look foolish;
They could rob him of his home, his land, his life.
So, in preference to the grave,
He would harken like a slave,
To the harsh, relentless dictates of a wife.

But, nowadays, the world is vastly different.
There are no kings to tell a man his fate;
Women, worse than these, indeed,
When on your knees you plead,
Say "No" when you ask her for a mate.

Every night throughout the year he asks her,
And waits for her to name the fatal date:
"Any time will do,
I'll leave it all to you."
"In that event, I'm afraid you'll have to wait."

But Leap Year brings a vastly different feeling,
A feeling that will stand for no retort;
In case a man says "No,"
Where does the sweet one go?
Why, she takes her shattered feelings to the court.

The 1920 Iris

When she trains her baby smile upon the jury,
And pleads her case with great tears in her eyes,
 (A lawyer can't compete
 With that stuff. It's hard to beat),
And the outcome never is a great surprise.

One may talk about the rights of the dear ladies;
One may argue for the cause they proudly hail;
 We would gladly grant them all,
 If they only would recall,
The practice of proposing to the male.

—L. MERTON NOHR, '20.

WHEN A GIRL'S IN LOVE

IF her man looks at another girl, she's mad (at the girl);
IF he doesn't, she feels sure of him and treats him like the dickens.
IF he gives her just a "Hammond Special," she thinks he's a cheap-skate;
IF he doesn't and pays a lot, she thinks he's just throwing away his father's money.
IF he asks for dates seven nights a week, she wonders what he takes her for;
IF he only wants one, she wonders what she took him for.
IF the moon affects him, she thinks he's a lunatic;
IF it doesn't affect him, she wonders why he thinks it's there.
IF he pops the question the first week, she usually thinks he's worthless and refuses;
IF he waits for a year, she still thinks he's worthless—but may be reformed—and so accepts.

WHEN A MAN'S IN LOVE

IF his girl looks at another fellow, he's jealous;
IF she doesn't, he thinks he's the only thing and gets conceited.
IF she insists upon nothing but a soda, he thinks she isn't used to good things;
IF she seems to like expensive dishes, he thinks all she wants is his money.
IF she gives him dates five nights a week, he soon longs for a change;
IF she only gives him two nights, he thinks she's a "regular old maid."
IF he thinks she likes to be "fussed," he gets the idea she is easy;
IF she doesn't like fussing, he calls her a stick.
IF she accepts his proposal the first time, he thinks she jumps at the chance;
IF she doesn't accept it—either he or she is in luck.

CLUBS AND OTHERWISE

Prohibition has been the means of organizing several societies for the mutual benefit of mankind, at least for the benefit of the mankind existing at Stevens College. The White Mule association, among the first to unite, has as its president a capable man in William Gensman from Wausau. He is assisted in caring for the numerous applications by Hub Krueger of this city. To become a member of this organization it is necessary merely to state the individual capacity and to pay the dues, which consists of one-half quart of good-natured alcohol. The initiation, which follows soon after the dues have been paid, is attended only by the charter members. The charter members are Gensman and Krueger.

“Shivering Jimmy”

“The Mills College girls like Jell-O. With fruit inside and whipped cream outside, it is one of their favorite dishes and is affectionately known as ‘Shivering Jimmy.’”

Mills College, near San Francisco, is the only woman’s college on the Pacific coast, and the student body is drawn from a field of great extent. It was a Mills College girl who told us about “Shivering Jimmy.”

As a change from fudge and other common things, nobody can be more appreciative of than girls who must provide their own dainties and do it without devoting much time and effort to it.

There are six pure fruit flavors of Jell-O: Strawberry, Raspberry, Lemon, Orange, Cherry, Chocolate.

Little folders in Jell-O packages contain all the instructions anyone needs in making the “made-in-a-minute” Jell-O dainties.

You will say it, too, when you see the work you ask us to do for you.

We remove the dirt—every spot—and restore to your garments their original freshness. Then we press them.

Advice on Buying Mining Stock

Mr. Irving T. Bush of New York, President of the Bush Terminal Co., offers practical and sound advice to those having a small amount of money to invest. "In the first place," he says, "they should not ask too much. A real dividend of 5% is far better than a German dividend of 10%. To those who feel the desire to buy stock offered with great promises, I would say, base your judgment on past earnings, not on future hopes. I would recommend for them the experience of an old friend of mine.

"This man, the son of a country doctor, tells of how, when he reached man's estate and was about to go into business, his father took him into the little back office and swung open the door of the rusty old safe and took out a formidable bundle of stock certificates. 'My son,' said he, 'you are going into business and, I hope, will make some money and will want to save it. When the time comes you will wish to buy some mining stock. Every man does. When the time arrives, come and see me. I will sell you some of mine. They are just as good, and will keep the money in the family.'"
