CENTRAL STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE
Stevens Point, Wisconsin

VOL. XXIV

DEDICATION

*T*O THE SPIRIT OF PROGRESS—the spirit that has converted a wilderness into a great state; that has realized the fondest dreams of George Stevens who here established a mere trading post; that founded a normal school, and now fosters a teachers college—to this spirit we reverently dedicate the Iris of 1930.

Foreword

To present a faithful record of the events of the past year at Central State Teachers College, to paint an accurate picture of the achievements of our school, and to portray a bit of that undying "forward" spirit of the people of our glorious state—such is the aim and purpose of the 1930 Iris.

*T*HE IRIS STAFF has endeavored, in this volume of the Iris, to depict some of the progress and achievements of our school by drawing comparisons, wherever possible, between the past and the present.

We have chosen, as our theme, Wisconsin's motto "Forward," and have selected as the motifs to carry out this theme, the idealistic "Spirit of Progress" and the more materialistic airplane, believing that these are typically symbolic of the "Forward" idea.

To the Students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College:

No institution, whether school, city, state or nation, ever accomplished the desired results or achieved success except through the personnel of its members or citizenship. You, the students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers College, hold the destiny of this school in your hands: through your actions and activities you will grow and increase in number and in accomplishment, or fail to attain the desired end.

Co-operation is a word that has been much used and greatly abused in recent years. To some, co-operation means simply doing the thing that is desired, expected or required—to others, it means the giving of every effort, the exhausting of every resource, and the doing of the utmost at all times. There is a vast difference between ordinary co-operation and enthusiastic co-operation.

Let us appreciate our opportunity; bear in mind our obligations; and join in a whole-hearted, enthusiastic co-operative effort for a better and more successful school.

Resident Regent.

The Class of 1930

Counted timewise, your graduation from high school and your entrance to college are matters of but yesterday. Growthwise, however, your life has infinitely changed. For college makes a difference, doesn't it? Even your professors, who, because they have steadily followed you so closely and interestedly, would be less likely to note marked changes, are well aware that something has happened to that "September Freshman." Perhaps that "something" cannot be analyzed or defined. But there it is, clear in its unconscious power, unfathomed in its social implications, irresistible in its eventual impact upon life. In each of you it is different; yet its likenesses exceed its differences.

In a sense your personality is a gift. From centuries back your ancestors have passed it on to you. Again, each classmate, friend, or teacher, to a greater or less degree, has shaped it by his touch. The sun of the heaven, the wind, the rain have marked it thus and so. But in a larger sense still, you have bought and paid for it. For after all, your own use of inherited capacity, your own appropriation of the qualities of classmate, friend, or teacher, your own response to sun and wind and rain—these have made you what you are. Your own ambitions, longings, ideals, purposes, quietly or boldly assertive, have carved and will always carve the facets of your soul.

In such of these as She has had a share in shaping—and who will say that they are few?—Alma Mater takes happy pride. She hopes to be permitted to exert a continuing, beneficent, and challenging influence as She strives to contribute to your professional growth and progress. This is a joyous privilege She would never willingly forego. Confident is She that your thoughts in gratitude will often

*"turn again, and fondly,
To thy best traditions true,
Central, Queen of all Wisconsin,
Alma Mater, back to you!"*

Robert Hodge Baldwin

Dean of Women

In seeking the worthwhile life,—the life of satisfaction, let us consider a statement given us by an aged Hebrew prophet as an inspired message from the Lord God Jehovah: "Them that honor me, I will honor."

"Honoring Jehovah" meant to the ancient prophet inward peace and abundant service to his fellow men. It can mean the same to us.

This big challenge "to honor Jehovah"—if heeded—will make us patriotic citizens of a greater and better America, and at the same time true teachers after the type of the Master Teacher.

Bertha Hussey

Dean of Men

We who have faith in education believe that no one who sincerely applies himself to the work assigned or chosen can fail to be benefited by such experiences as are possible in college. At no time does individuality assert itself more than during this post-high school period. The student is engaged in the all absorbing task of finding himself. He is preparing himself mentally, morally and physically to enjoy the good the world has to offer and to make the world better for his having lived.

The Class of 1930

With the presentation of this Iris the class of 1930 has written the last chapter in the book of its activities. With the passing of commencement ceremonies, our stay here will be terminated, and we shall join with a new group, the alumni of Central State Teachers College.

Through the course of our stay here Progress has been the watchword. We have seen this school enter the college status, granting degrees in all of its courses. We have seen the erection of the new training school building, an addition to which all may point with pride. Our development has not been confined to the physical only, for our outstanding science and literary students have found recognition in national honorary fraternities.

We, of 1930, leave to the classes which will follow the privileges of enjoying and carrying on the activities which have been inaugurated in our stay here to their highest stage of development.

The Class of 1931

The class of 1931 enters upon its last year at Central State Teachers College with the sincere self-assurance that it has partaken of its share in the activities and life of the school, and has profited to the extent that it has served.

Its members, with their widely diversified personalities and interests, have contributed whole-heartedly to the advancement of ideas. Their loyal co-operation and united effort have been rewarded by the achievement of success in the numerous activities they have undertaken. Co-operation among the individual members and the school as a whole has resulted in accomplishments that will long be remembered.

The various social activities have developed a spirit of loyalty and friendship within the class that we hope will be carried on.

The Sophomore Class

The sophomore class, the second largest in college, is composed of one hundred and thirty-five live wires. Its members include sophomores in two, three and four year courses.

This organization is among the most active in school—every special activity which can be named includes some sophomores.

The Annual "Soph" Party was held in January in the old gym. It was a tremendous success despite the fact that it was the first college affair to be limited to C. S. T. C. students and especially invited guests.

Class spirit runs high, and it is a well known fact that whenever the "sophs" attempt any task it goes over with a "bang!"

In Memoriam

CHESTER SMITH

Born: May 1, 1910

Died: October 30, 1929

*"And thou, sad Hour, selected from all years
To mourn our loss, rouse thy obscure compeers,
And teach them thine own sorrow, say:
'Forget the Past, his fate and fame shall be An echo and a light unto eternity.'"*

—SHELLEY: Adonais

In Memoriam

LEIGHTON WEBER

Born: December 22, 1911

Died: February 9, 1930

*"Forgive our grief for one removed,
Thy creature, whom we found so fair.*

*We have but faith: we cannot know;
For knowledge is of things we see."*

Achievement

HORACE, BOOK 1, ODE 3

By EDWARD W. HAWLEY

*"Borne by wings, which mankind never was meant to use,
Daedalus conquered the vault of Heaven.
Hercules in his might burst through the gates of Hell.
Naught, for man, is too difficult."*

President . . . . .	RICHARD MARSHALL
Vice-President . . . . .	MARIE MOLLEN
Secretary . . . . .	FLOYD HIGGINS
Treasurer . . . . .	MARY AGNES BOYLE

Since C. S. T. C. has added the degree course to the high school curriculum the number of students taking that course has more than doubled. The Forum is an organization consisting of members of this department. They have as their leaders Miss Jones and Mr. Smith who are always ready to give their assistance whenever it is needed and wherever possible.

The Forum holds regular meetings both social and educational, and has as its motto "Naught our loyalty can alter, nor our spirit of 'I will.'"

Grammar Round Table

OFFICERS

President . . . . . EDITH SANSOM
Vice-President . . . . . LELA BUTTGEN
Secretary-Treasurer . . . . . SADIE ESPESETH

The Grammar Round Table includes all members of the Grammar Department. The purpose of this association is to introduce a co-operative spirit among its members. This organization has a "get-together" each month, at which they have a business meeting and an entertainment—amusing, instructive or both. This group is very active and takes part in all school affairs.

C. F. Watson

Primary Council

OFFICERS

President	MAURINE TAVIS
Vice-President	HILDEGARD PETERSON
Secretary-Treasurer	VEDA CARSWELL

The Primary Department also has added the degree course to its curriculum. The number of students taking the degree course is relatively small, as this is the first year that it has been offered.

The Primary Council consists of the members of this department. They take an active part in sports and social affairs, and are especially interested in music.

They have as their adviser, Mr. Delzell, a very capable and understanding leader.

First Row: Smiley, Mills, Peterson, Scott, Clarke, Berg, Atwood, Chvala, Harter, Burmeister, Kuhl, Dewar, Roohr.
Second Row: Lutz, Robertson, Barnett, Smith, Wright, Tavis, Wright, Helsten, Weyhmler, Oldenberg, Helsten.

Rural Life Club

OFFICERS

President	ELIZABETH BROCKBANK
Vice-President	VERNA SMERLING
Secretary	EDWARD GIESE
Treasurer	MARGARET RONDEAU

The Rural Life Club, the largest organization in C. S. T. C., is composed of students and faculty of the department of Rural Education. Its purpose is the fostering and promoting of a lively interest in rural life and education. It also gives students an opportunity to work in groups, to carry on meetings in a business-like manner, and to furnish the social life for the department.

O. W. Neale
Director Rural Department

First Row: Treder, Joosten, Mozuch, Stoltenberg, Leach, Marks, Ropella, Holubetz, Anderson, Giese, See, Rickman.

Y. W. C. A.

OFFICERS

President	. . . . .	DOROTHY OLESON
Vice-President	. . . . .	HAZEL SCHROEDER
Secretary	. . . . .	HELEN JORDAN

The aim of the Y. W. C. A. is "To Grow Girls," and it is composed of a group of girls who unite to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God.

The District "Y" Conference, held in River Falls in April, was attended by Miss Hussey and four student delegates—Marion Kowitz, Helen Jordan, Ellamae Newberry and Ruby Hand. They returned from their trip enthusiastic and "bubbling over" with new ideas and plans for further improvement of our Y. W. Two of our members represented the local organization at the National Conference in Detroit, April 25—May 2, 1930.

The meetings, both recreational and devotional, are held each Thursday evening in Nelson Hall.

Sigma Tau Delta

The Psi Beta chapter, the forty-seventh chapter of the Sigma Tau Delta Fraternity, a national honorary fraternity for English students, was organized at Central State Teachers College on the evening of April 2, 1930.

After a delicious dinner served by Miss Rowe in the recreation room of Nelson Hall, the following were initiated as charter members: Dr. R. D. Baldwin, Mr. Leland Burroughs, Miss Mary Ellen Hanna, Miss Bertha Hussey, Miss Mildred Davis, Miss Eleanor Goerbing, Mr. George Allez, Mr. Theodore Rozelle, Mr. Clarence Teske, Mrs. Elizabeth Clapp, Miss Mary Agnes Boyle, Miss Margaret Reading, and Miss Victoria Mason.

This is the second honorary fraternity to be organized in our college. It is sponsored by the Margaret Ashmun Club, but is in no way connected with the activities of the Margaret Ashmun Club.

The organization originally known as the Science Club was granted a petition to organize a local chapter of Sigma Zeta, undergraduate honor science society, by the Grand Council at Shurtleff College, Alton, Illinois, in the spring of 1929. The local chapter is known as the Zeta chapter.

The purposes of the society are to enlarge and enrich the fund of the scientific information of the individual members, and to encourage high scholarship in scientific studies by honoring outstanding students by election to membership.

In April, the local chapter sent one of its active members, Fred Hebal, as a delegate to the National Sigma Zeta Conclave held at Westerville, Ohio. The 1931 National Conclave is to be held here at Central State Teachers College. The time for the convention will be decided by the Grand Chapter.

The Margaret Ashmun Club is a literary society named in honor of a C. S. T. C. alumna, Margaret Ashmun, an authoress of some fame.

Students are elected to this organization through their scholastic ability in literature, public speaking, English or drama. Meetings are held each month at which time very excellent and instructive literary programs are presented by members of the club.

Each year the society conducts a short story contest. The winners are awarded prizes which are donated by Miss Ashmun, and if not already members of the club, they automatically become members as an additional award for the merit of the stories. The winners in the 1929 contest were Germaine Sinkular and Pearl Staples.

An elaborate banquet, the last function of the year, is held in May. At this banquet a very fine program is presented, and the officers for the following year are elected.

The Loyola Club is an organization for the Catholic students enrolled in Central State Teachers College. It is a large, active society vitally interested in the problems of its members and of the entire school. Meetings are held every two weeks, and an exceptionally fine program is a part of each meeting.

The purpose of the club is to honor the name of God and of Christ in intellect, in speech, and in action.

The Women's Athletic Association was organized five years ago as a Girls' Athletic Association. It was re-organized under a new constitution, as the Women's Athletic Association, in 1929. It is one of the most active organizations in school, sponsoring hikes, picnics, and various athletic events.

It is necessary for girls to earn the letter "S" before they are admitted to the association. This year the membership has increased greatly and W. A. A. enthusiasm is high.

The purpose of the organization is to introduce a more enthusiastic and co-operative spirit in all sports.

The Pointer

During the past year the staff of The Pointer, the college weekly paper, has attempted to make the publication more newsy, and to include pictures whenever possible. They have rigidly maintained a high standard of journalism in the composition of the paper.

Several large editions were issued during the year. These special numbers served the purpose of advertising the school. They contained pictures of the campus and typical activities, and writeups of all phases of Central life.

The Pointer office, a curious room with walls much autographed and cartooned, is a busy place every Monday afternoon from four o'clock until late in the evening.

At that time gather there worried looking young men and women who scratch their heads pensively in search of "just the right word," or who pause to laugh at the humor of the week.

It is then that the busy hum of the typewriters may be heard as article after article is click-clicked off on yellow half-sheets to be sent to press.

Much work is entailed in the production of such a publication—but also much joy and satisfaction.

Student Press Association

The Press Association was organized in 1926 for the purpose of carrying news of our students and activities into the public press of the territory adjacent to C. S. T. C.

Through the medium of the "home town" newspapers, the association keeps the "home folks" informed of achievements of their sons and daughters in Central State.

The members of the Press Association work quietly. In fact, we are almost unaware of its operations until we find an article about ourselves in The Weekly Gazette, or whatever the newspaper may be.

In this volume of The Iris we have endeavored, as explained elsewhere in the book, to portray the progress of our school. We have based our idea on Wisconsin's motto "Forward," and have, through illustration, comparison and explanation, tried to develop this idea from beginning to end.

This year, as in the past several years, the editor and business manager for the following year were elected to the positions of associate editor and associate business manager. These two people work with the staff, so that they will know how to carry on the work of the annual when they are in complete charge. Alice Falk and Elizabeth Rogers were elected to the positions of editor-in-chief and business manager respectively for The 1931 Iris. We wish them the greatest possible success.

Mr. C. C. Evans, our faculty adviser, who was appointed to succeed Mr. Rogers in this capacity, has given us much valuable advice, supervision and help. We are especially grateful to him and to the following people: Mr. Davidson who spent much time and effort in taking pictures for our book; the Pointer staff for the publicity they have given us which served to motivate our book in the minds of of the student body; Mr. D. T. Sutte of the Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company, and Mr. E. A. Boettcher of the Badger Printing Company for their advice and suggestions; Burton Hotvedt for his aid in securing the cartoons for our book; and Reinhard Latzig, Edith Sansom, Dolores Chilsen, Ruth Seymour and Loraine Rouhan for their assistance with the art work.

The editor wishes to express her appreciation for the co-operation from the faculty and students in every matter pertaining to the publication of The Iris. Without such co-operation, we assure you, we should have been unable to publish our book.

Mr. Frank Percival

Music

Central State Teachers College has a competent man for a director of music. Mr. Percival is a member of the Music Supervisors National Conference. The music department under his leadership took charge of the program during the National Music Week.

Mr. Percival is one of a committee in charge of the program in Rural School Music in Central Wisconsin. He is also a member of the committee in charge of the Artists' Recital Course for entertainment in C. S. T. C. He wrote an article on Public School Music for The Musical Observer and a two-part march for the harmonica band which has been accepted for publication and will come out this summer.

Our director takes care of all music methods for all departments, and he gives much time to music in the training school. Besides all this he has various organizations in the college such as the Girls' Glee Club, Girls' Trio, Men's Chorus, and orchestra.

Mr. Percival was called upon to judge the District Music Contest at Iron Mountain, Michigan, on May 9, 1930, and the State High School Music Contest at Ann Arbor, Michigan, on May 16, 1930. He also judged the music contests in Portage County.

Last summer he attended the Graduate School of Education at Northwestern University, and this summer he will teach School Music Methods in Cornell University, Ithaca, New York.

Girls' Trio

The Girls' Trio, composed of Fern Pugh, Frances Anderson, and Lela Buttgen, did some splendid work in harmony this year. They appeared on an assembly program given by the Margaret Ashmun Club March 13, and have appeared in various other college programs during the year.

The trio accompanied our speakers to the State Oratorical Contest held in Platteville, and here they appeared in stunt work at the morning session. Dressed in striking Japanese costumes which greatly enhanced their stunt, they sang "Three Little Maids from School" from Sullivan's "The Mikado." In the afternoon they did trio work, singing, "May Morning" by Denza. Alexander Peterson is the accompanist for the trio.

Thurber                  Kuhl                  Peterson                  Frater                  Enerson

Male Quartette

The Men's Quartette is composed of C. S. T. C. students who have distinguished themselves as very able part singers. The group meets regularly for practice, and appears on various programs of the college. The members are: Irl Thurber, first tenor; Fred Kuhl, second tenor; Kermit Frater, baritone; Orin Enerson, bass; and Alex Peterson, accompanist.

Male Chorus

The Men's Chorus is an organization that has grown out of the Men's Sextette which was organized last year. The chorus consists of Lawrence Margraf, John Stephenson, Irl Thurber, Orval Anderson, tenors; Reinhard Latzig, John Ball, Eli Scribner, Kermit Frater, baritones; Arthur Prochnow and Orin Enerson, basses.

These people have studied chorus work for the sake of learning to teach singing in the public schools. This is a very practical thing to aid one in securing a position in a school system.

First Row: Davies, Ellis, Grosse, Turrish, Altenberg, Larson, Weyhmiller, Atwood, Anderson, Owen, Hunt, Hand, Burns.
Second Row: Oldenberg, Schroeder, Gorski, Schaal, Hammes, Tisserand, Neuschwander, Schulze, Twetan, Wiprud, Brockbank, Rouhan.

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee Club is an interesting organization that has been well known in C. S. T. C. for a number of years. Meetings are held regularly every week for the purpose of training in part singing. Class work also includes exercises in breathing, tone production, sight reading, study in appreciation, and some music memory work. This club gave a program during the assembly Thursday, January 30, 1930, which was very pleasing and much enjoyed by the student body. The Ladies' Chorus in the Christmas Festival consisted of members of this club.

It has been the custom every year for the Girls' Glee Club to sing at the baccalaureate services. This year their special number will be "How Calmly the Evening" by Elgar. Under the excellent direction of Mr. Percival, the Glee Club has grown in ability and accomplishment.

Orchestra

The C. S. T. C. Orchestra is an organization under the competent direction of Mr. Percival who has developed and directed music for several years in our college. This year the orchestra furnished the music between the acts of "The Family Upstairs." They will play during commencement week for the senior class play, and the Commencement Day Exercises.

The orchestra embodies in its philosophy the dominating thought of service—both in school and in civic affairs, and is willing to appear in any capacity and at any time requested.

Christmas Festival

It has been a traditional custom each year for the faculty and students of C. S. T. C. to give a Christmas Festival the Thursday before vacation. The pageant and several group parties comprised this year's Yuletide festivities. Mr. Percival coached the Glee Club and several college students who sang many numbers on the program. He also directed the training school children in the singing of Christmas hymns. Mr. Burroughs trained those who had speaking parts.

Forensics

Central State Teachers College has been prominent in forensic activities of the state teachers colleges. In the last nine years we have secured places in oratory and extemporaneous contests with few exceptions.

We have secured three first places in the State Oratorical Contests, and received one first and tied for one first place in the Inter-State Contest. In the field of extemporaneous speaking we won one first place in the State Contest, and tied for a first place in the Inter-State Contest.

Mr. Burroughs, the director of the speech department for the last nine years, has helped to bring these honors to C. S. T. C.

Debate holds an important place in the public speech department. Our teams this year were quite successful in bringing credit to the coach and to their school

Leland M. Burroughs
Director Public Speaking Department

Oratory

The annual State Oratorical Contest was held at Platteville this year, and proved to be one of the best contests in the history of inter-collegiate forensics. Although Marie Mollen, the representative of C. S. T. C. did not place among the first four, she made a most creditable showing.

Miss Mollen's oration, entitled "American Idealism," defended the ideals of America against the attacks of foreign critics. In a manuscript of worth she maintained that comfort and pleasures for the masses are far more idealistic than is intensified culture for the few as has been the case in Europe in the past.

While we are all selfish to a certain degree we cannot help but feel sorry that Marie did not place at the contest. Yet we can say with pride that the honor of C. S. T. C. was upheld in a contest where outstanding merit was predominant.

Miss Mollen is one of the outstanding students of the school; she is a member of the Margaret Ashmun Club, Sigma Tau Delta, professional English fraternity, and Sigma Zeta, professional science fraternity.

Extempore Speaking

Each year an extemporaneous contest is held in connection with the State Oratorical Contest.

This year Clarence Teske was awarded the honor of representing our college in the State Contest at Platteville. In this contest Mr. Teske tied for third place with River Falls and LaCrosse. According to the rules a tie must be broken by re-ranking the speakers on a percentage average. When this was done, Mr. Teske dropped to fifth place by five-tenths of one per cent.

Mr. Fiedler from Superior won the contest; but when we realize that Mr. Fiedler won first place in the State Oratorical Contest and second place in the Inter-State Contest last year, we must admit that Clarence had strong opposition.

Mr. Teske is a member of the Margaret Ashmun Club, Sigma Tau Delta, professional English fraternity, and is a senior in the Rural Department.

Debate

Many students have the opportunity of participating in forensics through debate work.

The question for debate this year was: Resolved, that the United States should totally disarm with the corollary agreement that we may keep enough armament for police protection.

The teams were composed of members new in the field of debate—the affirmative team consisted of Alta Stauffer, Richard Kulasavage, and Lawrence Margraf, and the negative team consisted of Burton Hotvedt, Esther Hawkes, and Floyd Higgins. The latter team called themselves the “3-H Club.”

Before the conference debates took place, our teams, with Mr. Burroughs, journeyed to Milwaukee and Waukesha where they engaged in four non-decision debates with Marquette University and Carroll College. On Friday, February 28,

THE NEGATIVE TEAM
B. Hotvedt                      E. Hawkes                      F. Higgins

the Lawrence College affirmative squad from Appleton came here to debate our negative team in a non-decision contest. We have enjoyed forensic relations in this type of non-decision debates with Lawrence College and Marquette University for a number of years.

Friday, March 7, the negative squad from River Falls Teachers College came over here to engage in a decision tilt with our affirmative team. River Falls was awarded the tourney by a score of 94-100. Professor Albert Franzke of Lawrence College judged the debate. The same day, our negative team, the "3-H Club," travelled to Superior where they fought with Superior's affirmative team for the laurels. Our debaters won the wreath of victory by a score of 100-96. The judge of this debate was Professor Rarick of the University of Minnesota. These contests closed the debate season of C. S. T. C. for 1930.

Louise, however, is secretly engaged to young Charles Grant, who has won the hearts of the family. All the efforts of Mrs. Heller to bring about the engagement, tend only to break it. It is only through "Paw's" careful planning that the usual happy ending is brought about.

From the rising of the curtain to its close, the play was a success. Loretta Farrell, the student coach of the play, was assisted by Mr. Burroughs, the director of the Public Speaking Department.

The Football Season

Alfred Lindesmith
Head Football Coach

The 1929 football season at Central State began under the direction of two new coaches, Alfred Lindesmith and Carl Stockdale.

Coach Lindesmith came to us from Carlton College. He played guard position on the Carlton eleven for three years. Lindesmith knew his football, and with most of his material back next season we expect great results. We wish him loads of good luck.

"Stocky" has had much experience in both football and basketball. He was the captain of Ohio State's basketball team one year, and he was also the captain of the baseball squad there. He can handle a group of fellows in a very competent manner; already he has helped much to put C. S. T. C. on a strong athletic basis.

Central State football fans did not get a chance to see the boys in action this year. Due to financial reasons the team played an entirely out-of-town schedule. There were six heart breaking games played—all of which C. S. T. C. lost!

The first game of the season was played at Marquette, Michigan. The boys played exceptionally well. However, the Michigan squad scored a lonely touchdown, and added its extra point to win the game 7-0.

The following week-end the gang traveled to Madison to play against the Wisconsin B team. The team put up a good fight, but the university boys proved too strong for them, and the game ended with a score of 33-0 in favor of Wisconsin.

Captain "Mike" Smith

The next battle was fought at Eau Claire. There was no doubt in anyone's mind that Stevens Point would win. However, our "jinx" got to working, and gave the Eau Claire team the "breaks." We lost by a score of 19-0.

The Pointers journeyed to Oshkosh October 26 with half of the school following them. The game there was slow but interesting. It was here Art Schroeder ended his football season by dislocating his shoulder. There was a decided weakening of the team both in spirit and strength when this occurred, and the game ended 13-0 in favor of our ancient rivals.

November 2, the team, a very much crippled and sorry-looking crew went to Platteville. There is not a great deal to say about this game. It was a one-sided affair ending in a decided 40-0 victory for Platteville. Our lack of reserve material showed up plainly—you can't have a football team with only eleven men!

On November 9, the "Faithful Fifteen" went down to Whitewater for their final game of the season. It was very similar to the Platteville game, ending in a decided victory for the down-staters. The score was 44-0.

Captain-elect Kennedy

Carl Stockdale
Director of Athletics

Perhaps our season was not so successful as we may have wished for. We are not to let this discourage us, however. Other years are coming. The next football season will soon be here, and with all of the material we shall have back, there is no reason why C. S. T. C. cannot have a 1000 % team. Keep up the fight you have shown, fellows, and you will finish in a place where your fight deserves.

The Line-Up

The gang was led by "Mike" Smith, the stellar tackle of the outfit. "Mike" was always on the bottom of every play, giving all he had. He ripped up the opposing line faster than it could be formed.

Our little fat center, Sam Bloch, deserves a lot of credit. Sam gave the opposition lots of trouble for a small fellow. The old grin was always there—and so was the fight.

Chvala, last year's back-field man, was shifted up to the forward wall. "Ted" certainly handles a guard job in the right manner.

Chvala's teammate at guard was none other than "Doug" Mainland. "Doug" showed the boys how to slap down the opposing forces.

Kolka, a big husky boy from Merrill, took no sarcasm from anyone. He held down a tackle position in an excellent manner.

"Tiny" Aldrich was shifted from one place in the line to another, at last settling at end. He is another husky brute who spilled many of the opponents' ball carriers.

Captain-elect Bob Kennedy, end, played his position very well for a small man. Bob turned in the enemy's plays for a loss a good share of the time. We expect great things of Bob next year.

Trebatowski, end, gave the opponents plenty of trouble in the line. His lanky form covered much territory, and did a lot of damage to his opponents.

The Line-Up

Kitowski, tackle, was in every play. He mowed down ball carriers like "nobody's business." Ask some of the alumni who practiced against him!

Frater, another tackle, always seemed to be filled with fight. He was always in the opponents' way when on his side of the line.

Riekman, end, was a new man, too. Good for Harry! Grabbed passes like a regular veteran.

E. Scribner, center, was always "there" when called upon to do his stuff.

Liebzeit, tackle, a long, lanky boy from up North shows promise of being a fine football player.

Our backfield material was not so plentiful as the line, but what was there was pure gold.

"Dick" Marshall, last year's tackle was shifted to fullback. Dick filled his position to a "T," gave plenty of punishment, and took plenty of it. Those hard drives through center gave his opponents much worry.

Alberts, halfback, did some pretty running this year. He can travel plenty fast and take a lot of punishment. His specialty was breaking through guard and center for neat little gains. Alberts punted the "Point" out of danger many times.

"Li'l Athah" from Shawano, was the brain of C. S. T. C.'s machine. Schroeder held down his position as Art always does things. He is a good ball carrier and passer, and can use his head. We lost him in the Oshkosh game when he dislocated his shoulder.

Fritsch was a new man in the art of playing football. He looked like a promising backfield man, but Lady Luck was against him. He broke a leg in a practice tilt against some of last year's players.

Basketball

Under the direction of Coach Carl Stockdale, the basketball season got under way the week following Thanksgiving. With all of last year's men back except MacDonald, Weronke and White, prospects for basketball looked quite bright for the Point Club. However, the Pointers were never favored especially by Dame Luck, and as a result of many injuries, team play and teamwork were broken up. The squad had a tough season from start to finish. Perhaps, if we were superstitious we may have accounted for whatever bad luck we had by the fact that we had a thirteen game schedule. We won some games, and lost some; therefore we feel that the season, as a whole, was fairly successful.

DECEMBER 18, 1929

The first game was played at Lawrence College. The Pointers lost by a score of 29-16. The large floor was a source of some trouble to the boys, but it was a pleasure to play on a court like Lawrence's.

JANUARY 16, 1930

Eau Claire was next on the schedule. They came down here, and lost to the tune of 33-26. The Point's offense and defense worked like clockwork. After the game our team left for Superior.

JANUARY 17, 1930

The fellows lost at Superior, 38-20. It was a fast game, but because of the hard game the night before and the long trip, the boys could not keep up the fast pace set by the Northerners.

JANUARY 25, 1930

The Pointers traveled to Oshkosh for their third conference game. This was a very close and freakish battle; first one team would be in the lead, and then the other would go ahead. Oshkosh showed us how to stall. The score ended in favor of Oshkosh—23-17.

FEBRUARY 3, 1930

The team left for Upper Michigan where they met the tall Marquette Club. The game was a fast one although the score does not indicate it. Central 22, Marquette 38.

FEBRUARY 4, 1930

Houghton School of Mines furnished the next opposition. In the last three minutes of play Houghton spurred out to a decisive 41-23 victory.

FEBRUARY 7, 1930

The next game was played here with Whitewater as opponents. They won on free throws, and went home with a score of 31-25.

FEBRUARY 10, 1930

Marquette came down here, and took their second game from the Centrals. Central 23, Marquette 45.

FEBRUARY 14, 1930

The Pointers journeyed to Whitewater, and decidedly avenged their previous defeat by giving the downstaters a much unlooked-for whipping. Central 25, Whitewater 13.

FEBRUARY 21, 1930

In the first game of a two-day trip, we lost to Eau Claire 22-29.

FEBRUARY 22, 1930

The second game was played at Stout Institute. They won 35-23.

MARCH 1, 1930

Our old rivals, Oshkosh, came over to get our scalps—and failed. The gang was fighting mad, and to be beaten was impossible. Marshall and Charlesworth played their last for C. S. T. C. in this game. We won! Oshkosh lost! Score: Central 27, Oshkosh 17.

Next year promises to be very successful in basketball. The Point loses only two of their players—Captain Dick Marshall and Greg Charlesworth.

The Basketball Squad

First Row: Schroeder, Chvala, Marshall, Charlesworth, Baker.
Second Row: Bloch, Klappa, Rickman, Alberts, Neuberger, Johnson, Stockdale.

The Squad

C. S. T. C. was represented on the basketball court by Captain Dick Marshall, center, of Red Granite, Wisconsin. Dick was the main cog in the Point offense, and his good "eye" for the basket saved many a game for the Pointers. Captain Dick made the All-State Conference Team. We're proud of you, boy!

Ollie Neuberger, forward, is one of the best basketeers in the conference. Illness kept him off the court a part of the season.

Schroeder, Neuberger's playmate, is small, but he certainly knows how to use his size. Art kept opposing guards busy trying to keep track of him, and he was among the high scorers of the club.

Baker, guard, was as good a defensive man as could be found in the conference. He knows his basketball. We expect "Big Stuff" from "Moon" next year.

Charlesworth, guard, was Baker's teammate. "Greg" has played his last basketball for C. S. T. C.

Chvala, forward, gave the opponents plenty of trouble. His floor play and good eye for the basket worried the opposition a plenty!

Klappa, center, can spot the basket with remarkable precision. It was Klappa who jumped center when Captain Dick was out with a bum elbow.

Alberts, guard, is a good defensive man. Watch him go next year!

Rickman, forward, was always "there" when called upon.

Johnson, center, our last-minute ball player, was only out for the last two weeks, but he caused plenty of trouble for the opponents while he was out! "Bill" hails from Osseo. You know where that is?

Thompson, forward, shows plenty of promise. He is rangy and good for follow shots.

Kitowski, guard, always shows plenty of fight. Carl was the life of any trip.

The Athletic Board

The Athletic Board, consisting of Mr. Victor Thompson, chairman, Mr. C. F. Watson, and Mr. Raymond M. Rightsell, is a group working together for the advancement of athletic activities in Central State Teachers College. This council arranges the schedule of games which our teams are to play, and it also manages the financial apportionments for athletics.

In April the committee attended a meeting in Madison, and arranged the schedule of football conference games for the 1930 football season.

Women's Athletics

Women's athletics are becoming more prominent in C. S. T. C. every year. This fact is proved by the increasing number of ambitious athletes who stay with sports for their entire college course. A very strenuous program was put before the challengers during the season of 1929-30.

Early in the fall they were given the opportunity to limber up the tightened muscles by dribbling the hockey ball or wielding the tennis racquet. Every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday saw a group of girls on the hockey fields and tennis courts—some just learning the play, and others trying to recall the tricks of previous playing. Only the white blanket succeeded in driving them indoors.

Volleyball, a prerequisite to basketball, followed hockey and tennis. At the close of the volleyball season there were seven strong teams ready for tournament play. More muscles were used in bouncing the ball over the net than were ever used before. Everyone was extremely excited. The Jolly Jugglers won, and were well paid by the "feed" given them by the losers.

Basketball, the "King of Winter Sports," lost its title this year to its rival, volleyball. Only three teams were formed for basketball, making the tournament short and snappy. The title "Champs" was deserved by the coaches' team after defeating the Reds and the Greens.

This year, clogging was given as the between season sport. Many girls answered to the clogging call—the result being that many skilled dancers spent their time trying to improve on their method of shaking their feet.

With archery, which was started here for the first time this spring, baseball and track, the spring season was complete. There was keen competition between classes in the outdoor work this year.

The W. A. A. slogan adopted and carried out by them is:

*"Sports for all
All for sports."*

The Training School

The training school, the new teaching laboratory of which Central State can well be proud, was ready for occupancy January 8, 1930, after being in the process of building for much over a year and in the process of being planned, hoped for, and dreamed of for a much longer time than that. Mr. Herrick, the director of the training school, deserves much of the credit for the realization of these aspirations. To his effort and perseverance is due much of the praise for the fulfillment of the plans for this splendid building.

The day following the Christmas vacation found practice teachers and training school pupils running hither and thither in a wild effort to find the right entrances, the right classrooms, the office, and, yes, even the right floor. But the trials were soon over to give way to the joys of teaching and learning in the new building — for neither here is a trial.

A. J. Herrick
Director of Training School

The training school is a three story, fireproof structure built of seven shades of Michigan brick which gives a pleasing tapestry-like effect. The hall floors are of terrazzo; the classroom floors are of hardwood; the walls are all of white, but are non-glary. An excellent heating and ventilating system is one of the outstanding features of the building. This type, the Univent System, was installed at an additional cost of $28,000. The fresh air is admitted into each room directly from the outside through grated vents in the wall. The air admitted thus is circulated around the radiator where it is warmed before passing into the room.

The third floor of the building is devoted entirely to the junior high school training department. There are two large assembly rooms—one at each end of the long hall. At the present time one is in use by the junior high school; the other will be used as a senior high school assembly when such a department is added to the training school.

The first and second floors are used by the primary and intermediate departments. The training school office, supply rooms, and book rooms are also located on the second floor.

The vocational subjects are to be taught in specially equipped rooms. The home economics department consists of kitchen, pantry, dining room, sewing rooms and offices. Manual training rooms are provided for; auto mechanics is to be taught in a special room having an auto camp leading outdoors.

The gym is one of the exceptional features of the building. It is about eighty feet long and sixty feet wide, and has a concrete stage at one end of the room for programs. The gym is for the use of the college as well as the training school students, and already has it been initiated by parties, games, the prom, and the Mardi Gras.

The construction of this new building is but another evidence of our progress! Easily can we say that C. S. T. C. carries out Wisconsin's ideal of "Forward!"

Nelson Hall

Not many schools or colleges in the state can boast of such an excellent dormitory as our Nelson Hall. It is not only the fact that the hall is so convenient and so comfortable a place, but rather that it possesses that indefinable "something" that makes it home.

One hears interesting and enchanting stories of mysterious "spreads" that occur long after lessons are learned, and sometimes far into the night delicious odors permeate the corridors—odors of cooking fudge, buttery popcorn, toast, and (horrors), yes, even hamburgers and onions! Can you imagine! It isn't that the girls are hungry, you know, readers, for the dorm meals are excellent. It's just the glorious good time that goes with dormitory life.

One who has watched the old dorm girls come back joyously eager to meet the old friends, needs no further proof of the lasting memories, the fast friends, the pleasant associations that Nelson Hall builds in the "dorm" girls' hearts.

PATRICIA COWAN

The Junior Prom

The setting is that of an old time garden. Everywhere are masses of glowing wistaria blossoms in all shades of lavender, clambering over garden fences, clinging to walls, and dropping flower petals from above. Softly shaded lights are interspersed among the blossoms to cast a glamour over the scene. From somewhere, music is heard, and only the tinkling of a fountain is needed to make the illusion complete. But who would want a garden, when there is a polished floor awaiting the touch of slippered feet, and an atmosphere electric with excitement?

The long awaited evening has come at last. Little co-eds in rainbow tinted gowns add final touches of powder to glowing faces, and then descend to meet their escorts. Motors hum, and then are silent as cars are parked, and couples flock to the doors of the magic garden.

KERMIT FRATER

The Junior Prom

Within are lights and laughter. Long gowns trail the floor, and add a touch of formality as couples assemble for the Grand March. At the head of the long column are Patricia Cowan and Kermit Frater, the reigning queen and king of the ball. The pale green gown of the prom queen shimmers under glowing lights, as do the other lovely colored dresses reflected in that vast bouquet of girls.

The music is soft and dreamlike, and it is very pleasant dancing in that garden. But the hours do not last forever. Too soon the last faint echoes of the orchestra die away, and the last dancer departs leaving our old fashioned garden to grow darker and darker until another year has passed. Voices, and laughter, and then all is still. The prom of 1930 has become a happy memory.

ELIZABETH ROGERS

Mardi Gras

"Step right this way, ladies and gentlemen, right this way. You are now about to see three little ladies in an original dance and song act. This little girl, ladies and gentlemen, is Scarletina; her two sisters are Concertina and Gelatina. And now let me direct your attention to the one and original Wuzzy, who will entertain you in his role of ship's crew. Next you will see the captain of this pirate ship, and let me direct your attention in particular, ladies and gentlemen, to his mustachio and his striped pantaloons. Let's give the old boy a hand!"

A motley crew of pirates cheer vociferously. Vivid patches of red and orange and yellow make a moving kaleidoscope of color against a deep sea background, as buccaneers and freebooters rove about.

The captain is singing:

*"A capital ship for an ocean trip,
Is the walloping Window Blind.
No wind that blew dismayed her crew,
Or troubled——"*

ORLANDO JOHNSON

Mardi Gras

But hush! The climax has arrived. The king and queen of Mardi Gras have at last been chosen. As the crowns are placed upon the heads of Elizabeth Rogers and Orlando Johnson the air is rent with the shouts from a hundred lusty pirate throats. All is dark! A flash! A bang! Smoke! The coronation has been photographed!

Swaggering freebooters dance with sailor lasses, and are thrown into the brig. Cutlasses are flourished as pirates swarm to "Ye Bucket o' Blood" for soul satisfying pink lemonade or more sturdy ice cream cones for the lustier of the buccaneers.

*"A bottle of rum
On a dead man's chest.
Yo-ho! Me hearties
Yo-ho! Yo-ho!"*

Did we have a good time at the Pirates' Ball? I'll say we did! Three cheers for the Mardi Gras of 1930—the never-to-be-forgotten Revel of the Pirates.

- October 6: First Nelson Hall hop of the year. Lotsa fun! The old player pianner still grinds away.
- October 7: Department organizations hold first meetings. They're rarin' to go!
- October 10: Grow, or go!—This message left to us by Cameron Beck, an inspiring speaker and Wall Street magnate.
- October 11: No school. Building flooded with tears of departing students. Central Wisconsin teachers' convention. A lot of us went, 'coz Miss Roach said we'd get a job next year if we did.
Governor Kohler visited college. He spoke to one of the Home Ecs. She didn't sleep that night.
- October 14: Home Ecs meet in cottages to get acquainted.
- October 16: Girl athletes have candy pull. They're all stuck up now. J. H. S. marshmallow roast. Fun for practice teachers!
- October 17: Loyola Club meeting—Emery Fritsch elected president.
- October 21: Dr. Edith H. Swift lectures in college auditorium. Learned about puppy love and its evils.
- October 25: Bus-load of students going to Oshkosh—breaks down—but they got there just the same. School dismissed—so we all enjoyed the game even if we weren't victorious.
- October 26: First all-school party. Sponsored by seniors. Visitors at dorm think it is the insane asylum. Girls walk around with pumpkin heads on—but it was just a program!
- October 30: Students and faculty mourn death of Chester Smith who was one of our football boys.
- October 31: Noted tenor, Mr. Pease, sings at assembly.
Spooks appear at Nelson Hall Hallowe'en party. "Dormites" enjoy the dinner—served with Hallowe'en trimmin's.
- November 5: W. A. A. initiation. Poor girls reported not far from death.

Class Prophecy

(Sometime in 1950)

Soaring away in the milky clouds goes a Fordson monoplane,
Carefully steered and guided by a driver, Swan, by name,
Now a grim pilot, who by love's tragedies in past years,
Had long ago ceased to ever have any fears.
Within the cozy cabin, looking happily out
Are a couple celebrating a year of their marriage bout.
The wife, Isabel, charming, young and fair,
And the handsome hubby, Allan, make up the happy pair.

The pilot, Swan, to attract their attention gives the window a rap,
And points to a place below them on the living map,
"We're over Switzerland," Isabel yells into Allan's ear,
"Get out those binoculars, and please hurry, dear."
Then fondly they gaze at the wintry scene below,
And note the merry frolickers playing round in the snow.
"Look!" said Allan pointing, "On the smaller of those two hills,
If those three girls aren't Marion Nelson, Lutz, and Mills."

"I wonder," Allan said, musing, more to himself than his wife,
"Why they divorced their millionaire husbands after three years of married life?"
"Cruelty were the charges, but I guess 'twas the freedom they wanted,"
Isabel lovingly answered, as onwardly they jaunted.
Suddenly the motor's purring stopped, and in its place a chug,
The pilot signalled back that the old gas line was plugged.
Some place in the deserts of Turkey among those huge dunes of sand,
Among a strange race, without protection, they were forced to land.

The plane came to rest near the tents of a tribe, who with sudden cries
Fled quickly to hide themselves from the monster from the skies.
All but one, who cried out in thanksgiving and joy,
He was Herbert Reid, a teacher on the foreign office employ.
Mr. Reid called to his assistant, some old friends to see,
And who should be the bald headed helper but good old Herby See?
The gas line was cleaned by the native mechanics early that very night,
And early next morning the party gladly continued its flight.

Class Prophecy

The plane safely once more 'mong the fluffy clouds northwardly purred,
Going onward as if nothing unusual had ever even occurred,
"What's that movement under the rug?" Allan asked of his wife in a whisper,
"Isabel, it's I, Lela Buttgen," a voice cried out, "A missionary sister."
"Lela, what means this, what are you doing here?" Isabel haltingly asked,
"I'm fleeing from the heathen as Repco and Gunnison did in the past.
Fleeing because a sister's life is lonely and hard to endure,
Because it in no way to me does happiness or safety insure."

The plane's next stop was the circus ground outside of Petersburg,
Where the passengers scampered out with a strangely curious urge.
The strong man just at that moment was doing his muscular stunts,
And to the surprise of all he was Tiny Aldrich, old returner of football punts.
And next to appear was the clown, who surpassed any they'd seen,
And who proved to be Orval Anderson of our old Central College Green.
Here Lela bid them a tearful and rending farewell,
And said she would locate her friend Kit Novitski, a touring, dashing stage belle.

The couple strolled up the streets of the beautiful, historic old town,
And noted how in ten short years things had so strangely grown.
They came to a stop at the edge of a crowd, listening to a lecture.
Delivered by one whose words bore weavings of religious texture.
"Why, it's Rufus Hutmloff!" Isabel whispered to her husband, Allan,
"And who's the piano player?" If it isn't Peterson, better known as Alex!"
"Yes, that's who they are," Allan replied, "But look, who's the reporter?
Why it's Jack Stephenson, getting news for the 'Fox' from way across the border!"

The party returned to the plane and proceeded east toward Japan,
Over the mountains and rivers, all in one great span,
"Look down in the desert at that group of scientists.
I remember reading about them in the paper the night before last.
The group led by Charlesworth and Latzig, in search of egg
Of dinosaurs to replace those stolen by a museum yegg."
"Yes, and remember what the reporter Sansom wrote about the case
After she and Helen Tisserand had snooped about the place?"

Class Prophecy

The plane without further mishap reached the fair isle of Japan,
And outside the city of Tokio, looked for a place to land.
First to greet the "round the world tour" was the foreign minister,
A tall familiar looking man, with a foot or two of whiskers.
His name was Clarence Teske, and he invited them home
Where the housekeeper Marguerite Patten made them wish they'd cease to roam.
The secretary, Winona Roohr, asked them to witness the championship game
Of tennis between Kelly, America's best, and a famous Japanese dame.

They said that they were sorry, they couldn't stay for even an hour,
For they had to reach the Philippines before the night the day devoured.
Just as the mist began to drop they reached the governor's door,
He came out to greet his guests, and he proved to be Irl Thurber.
Isabel stayed with Sebor and Kujawa, American teachers there,
While the men went out to talk and drown their thoughts of care.
The greasy barkeep, who greeted them as they came ambling in,
Was no other than Earl Anschutz, who quickly produced the gin.

Early next morning the plane again took up its flight,
And soon the governor's mansion was completely out of sight.
The next stop was at Buenos Aires the city of perfect health,
Where the labor of countless ages showed up in boundless wealth.
The couple strolling about came to stop by a tall iron fence,
Which proved to be the home of children, homeless and without defence.
The guardian, Alma Hougum, met them and asked them to come in,
While the assistant, Veda Carswell, tried to quiet the rising din.

That night they went to the theater to hear a soprano sing,
And Fern Pugh disappointed none, by the way she let her voice ring.
Then Marguerite Engels presented her dialogue, to them alone it seemed,
Assisted by Frederick Kuhl, till the audience fairly screamed.
Margaret Reading and Mary Ag Boyle were the ones to put on the next act,
Showing the styles of the ages with a strange and appealing tact.
Dorothy Oleson ended the performance with a lovely lecture on "Cooking pastries in warm countries without effort from anyone."
The ship again went up among those fluffly, floating clouds,
And didn't land 'till 'neath the stars and stripes they bowed.
The first they saw was a bum, being chased by a cop.
He proved to be John Kolka; he just waved but did not stop.
The cop was Orin Enerson who quickly forgot the bum.
And came over to offer his services while they with surprises were numb.

Class Prophecy

They walked then arm in arm into a high-class place,
And with the head waitress, Elsbury, they came face to face.
She led them to a chair, and then their order took,
And Frances Bacon brought the order to their quiet nook.
A cub reporter, Espeseth, came for news of their long flight,
And insisted they come to her home to spend a cheerful night.
But Swan then came running, and said they must hurry on
If they expected to reach Chicago before the predicted storm came up.

They landed in busy Chicago before the fierce storm broke.
And found everything lovely and sunny next morning when they woke.
They took an early morning stroll down the very busiest main
And met Rozell and Margaret Peterson coming up this hustling lane.
Victoria Mason, too, they met, leaning on the arm of her man
Who quickly tipped his hat, and said "How's Isabel and Allan?"
They strolled then past a meeting house on which a poster read
"Hear Marie Mollen's lecture on 'Why Young Girls Should Not Wed.'"

Then further up the street they went, and stopped before a door,
Whose glaring sign read, "Music Taught Here—Professor Hazel Schroeder."
They went into the well-kept office, and were met by the secretary
Joe Terrill who kindly told them Hazel'd be back in February.
This ended their stroll, and they repaired to the place where their taxi stood
And started their homeward trip to their cottage in the northwood.

"Well, Isabel, looking all things over, our class was quite a class.
Each one has done some good, completed some unthought of task.
Each today is proud to the whole world at large to say,
'He or she was my classmate, and is still a classmate today.'"

Class Will

Ladies and Gentlemen, Intruders and Friends:—

Upon behalf of the class of 1930 of Central State Teachers College, city of Stevens Point, state of Wisconsin, U. S. A., I have called you together upon this solemn and serious occasion to listen to her last will and testament, and to receive from her dying hand the few gifts she has to bestow in her last moments. Cutting so rapidly loose from life, and finding so many things of gigantic proportions to be attended to before the end should come upon her, realizing at the same time that she had no longer any time left to spend in the cultivation of her own virtues she deemed it best, collectively and individually, to distribute these virtues with her own hands to those friends to whose needs they seem best fitted. She has tried to be just as well as generous and impartial, and to distribute wisely unto those who will make the best of such gifts as she has in her power to bestow—the talents that have served her so faithfully these four years. These are her decisions, as at last definitely arrived at through very deliberate consideration.

Listen then, one and all, while I read the document as duly drawn up and sworn to:

We, the class of 1930, in twelve individual and distinct parts, being about to pass out of this sphere of education, in full possession of a crammed mind, well-trained memory, and an almost superhuman understanding, do make and publish this, our last will and testament, hereby remaking and making void all former wills or promises by us at any time heretofore made, or mayhap, carelessly spoken one to the other as the thoughtless wish of an idle hour.

We give and bequeath to the dear faculty, who have been our instructors in all the wisdom of the ages, a sweet and unbroken succession of restful nights and peaceful dreams. It has been a hard strain on them, for seniors are said to be at all times and under all conditions difficult to manage. Also, we give to them all the amazing knowledge and startling information that we have furnished them from time to time in our various examinations. If the faculty see fit they are hereby authorized to give out such information to the world as they may feel the world is ready to receive. We trust they will also feel at perfect liberty to make use of all such bits of wisdom and enlightenments for the education of all the classes to come after us.

We give and bequeath to the junior class our knowledge of all subjects—art, science, philosophy and the universe in whole or in part.

Class Will

The bequests following may seem but trifling, but we hope that they may be accepted as valuable assets to those who may receive them, and a continual reminder of the generosity of heart displayed in our free and full bestowal:

First—To Mike Smith, a set of Ten Library Commandments that have been made out by some of our illustrious classmates.

Second—To some benighted freshman—anyone who will accept it—Clarence Teske's trouble as class president.

Third—To the freshman class that is to be, our musical gifts. We are sure Mr. Percival will appreciate them.

The subjoined list we declare to the class of 1931, the real and rightful successors:

First—Our seats in assembly hall may be taken by whosoever is able to grab them first.

Second—Our senior dignity—may they uphold it forever!—in spite of their natural light-mindedness and irresponsibility.

Third—Any stubs of pencils, scraps of paper, or anything else that we may leave behind us in the excitement and haste of gathering up our cherished treasures. Maybe in some mystic way, some of our knowledge might be imparted to them.

Besides these gifts, those left behind have our blessing, tender memories of our pleasant associations together, our forgiveness for anything that we may not have exactly appreciated in the demonstrations of the past, and a pledge of friendship from henceforth and forever.

All the rest and residue of our property (after our debts and funeral expenses have been paid) we give and bequeath to our president for his use and benefit absolutely, and to be disposed of for the good of the coming classes as he may see fit.

In witness whereof, we, the class of 1930, the testators, have to this, our will, written on one sheet of parchment, set our hands and seal this first day of April, Anno Domini, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Thirty.

WHO CAN TELL?

What would happen if Smitty ever got serious?
What would happen if Mr. Mott stopped his daily walks?
Why the benches in the halls are so popular?
Why the boys of C. S. T. C. select a biology course?
What Greg's attraction is over at the dorm?
When "Izzy" and "Allen" will fight?
Why Home Ec.'s dress in white?
Why the "dorm" co-eds make dates for 6:45?
Why we get spring fever?
What Tiny Aldrich does in the evening?
What would happen if no one appeared at assembly?
If some of the male sex intend to become teachers?
When the lights go out be nonchalant—light a candle!

CURRENT ADVICE FOR DATE-MAKING YOUNG MEN

If she gets mad—controller.
If she goes up in the air—condenser.
If she is a poor cook—discharger.
If she won't talk—exciter.
If she wants to come half way—meter.
If she can't sing—tuner.
If you think she's unfaithful—detector.
If she is unfaithful—lever.
If you've made a mistake—compensator.
If you can't stick to one girl—alternator.

COLLEGE HOURS

Between the dark and the daylight,
When the night is beginning to lower,
Comes a pause in the day's occupation,
That is known as the co-ed's hour.

We hear in the rooming house parlors
The occasional click of a seat,
The sound of a much practiced chatter
From voices so mellow and sweet.

From the hall doors we see in the distance
Pretending to study some book
Tiny Aldrich and Gregory Charlesworth
For Laura and Lucille they look.

Of course, there are Ted and Rosella,
And Alex and Gertrude forsooth.
And Scotty would like to have Eddie there
If that wistful smile tells the truth.

COLLEGE HOURS

Then we notice Ralph and Victoria,
Who gaze in each other's eyes,
And Bob Davis and Mary Agnes
Cooing those sweet little lies.

In the front row are Jo and John Kolka,
And possibly two or three more,
Then we have co-eds together—
'Cause their men have gone out before.

Do you think that this hour is wasted?
Well not if you know college life,
For the greatest of all a boy's problems
Is selecting for his future—a wife!

Mr. Evans (with authority): "Freshmen! Hand in your anatomies."

* * * *

Mr. Percival (to a primary girl in music class): "Get 'me' firmly fixed in your mind."

* * * *

Miss Jones (in nature study class): "I'm going to jump over the trees today."

* * * *

Mr. Spindler: "All those who don't understand this theory, watch the board and I'll run through it."

Dr. Lindow (in chemistry): "If anything should go wrong in this experiment we and the laboratory would be blown sky high. Come nearer, class, so that you may be better able to follow me."

* * * *

One bright day in the middle of the night,
Two dead boys got up to fight;
A deaf policeman heard the noise,
And knocked the life out of the two dead boys.

We've been working on the Iris,
All the live-long night,
We've been working on the Iris,
And—gee—but it's a fright.
Can't you hear the readers laughing,
When they strike our jokes?
Can't you hear the fussers raving?
We hope it suits you folks!

*A Yearbook Service that inspires a staff
to creative effort*

A SCHOOL annual is at its best when student interest is keyed to a high pitch by the fascinating development of niceties that will make the book distinctive. This is the key idea back of Badger Yearbook Service. Close contacts and personal assistance offer students an insight into the fundamentals of school annual building. The work is accordingly given impetus through a better understanding of the purpose and aim in every move. Thus, a staff knows at all times what it desires to accomplish. When this is achieved, the task becomes a pleasure.

The success of the Badger plan is evidenced each year in the high ratings received by an unusually large percentage of books produced by us, and by the fact that many schools insist on Badger quality year after year.

student interested in annuals, write

Now sometimes folks—we go to classes
And hark to profs with horn-
rimmed glasses.
They spiel out lectures in great
wads of prehistoric gastropods.
A guy sure has to be quite brave
To listen to some of the profs rave.
We're not so hot for books and things—
Who cares if reptiles once had wings?
So if the lecture gets too boring,
We drown the prof out with our snoring.

Can't Float Upstream

What is will power? Well, it is persistency of effort to surrender—dogged determination to carry on. These things decide human destiny.

It is always easy to follow the lines of least resistance. But one can't very well float UP STREAM. It takes effort. Many who have achieved greatness in life, financially and otherwise, developed WILL POWER early in life. You can do what you want to if you really WANT to.

The Best Papers are Made from Rags

If you want your letter to look its best, to withstand handling and the attacks of time, write it on a Rag Content Bond Paper.

The more rags, and the better rags, there are in a sheet of paper, the better the paper.

If you are interested to know why rags make better papers, we will be glad to mail a booklet explaining in more detail.

ARTESIAN BOND is a good-looking, well-built representative of the class of "Rag" Bond Papers.
