THE IRIS

PUBLISHED BY

THE CLASS OF 1932

CENTRAL STATE
TEACHERS COLLEGE

STEVENS POINT WISCONSIN

Foreword

THE IRIS is the special endeavor of the Senior Class of Central State Teachers College. In it are recorded the events, changes, and achievements of the year: it is the purpose of this book to recall pleasant memories as well and to attempt to do this as originally as possible. "Originality" has been our basic idea, our "keynote." The time and effort spent in preparing THE IRIS and the thought given it can only be realized by those who have worked with the Editor and the Business Manager in its production. The dedication to an ideal is especially fitting this year because the aim has been to make the book as nearly ideal as possible. We present the result to you with no little pride and satisfaction.

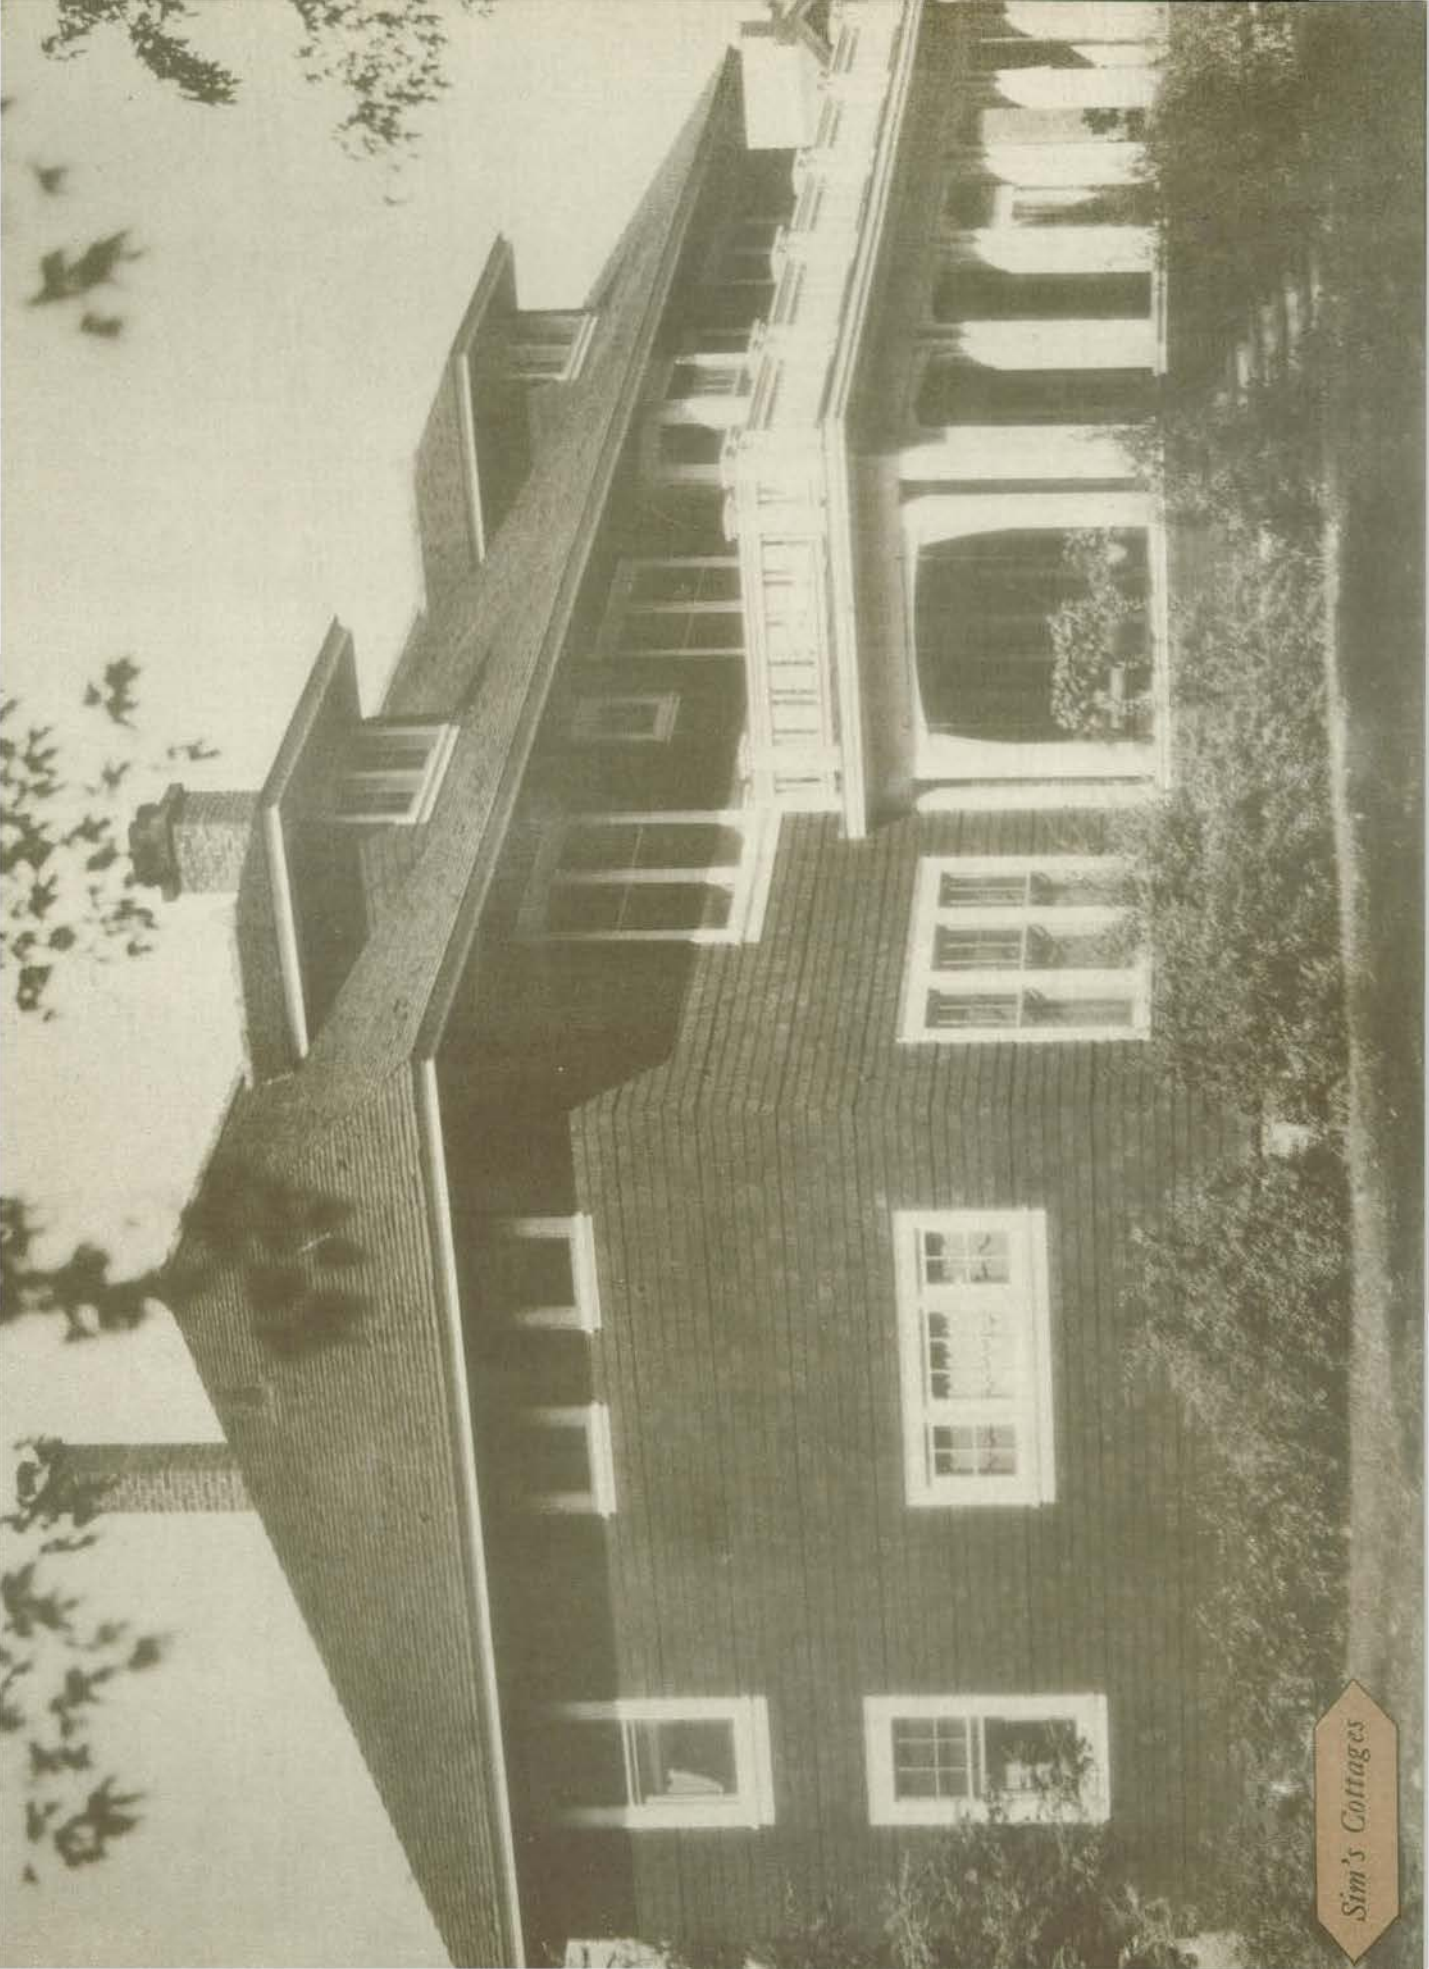

Dedication

AN IDEAL, that faultless standard of excellence existing in the imagination only, plays an important part in our lives. Life would be drab and worthless if we no longer had an ideal or no longer strove to attain perfection in our intellectual and material undertakings. This desire gives worthiness and pleasure to our existence. It is an incentive for life itself. The wish for the ideal has been the force underlying all changes in the world. It will carry us on toward a perfection now inconceivable to even the most imaginative mind. Since this archetype is so strongly influential, especially for those connected with educational institutions, the Senior Class of 1932 dedicates THE IRIS to that ideal.

I WISH to take this opportunity to extend my appreciation to you, the students of the Central State Teachers College, for the spirit of co-operation you have manifested, and the excellent work you have performed during the last year. I know of no school where there is a better feeling between the faculty and the students and no school where the accomplishments, as a whole, have equaled those made by you during the past year. No success is possible for any institution except through the personnel of its members. You, the students of this College, hold the destiny of the school in your hands; through your actions and activities you will grow and increase in number and accomplishments, or fail to attain the desired end.

Later, in the practice of your chosen profession, you face a serious responsibility and a wonderful opportunity. There is nothing of greater value than the youth of America. You, as teachers, have the opportunity to build and mold the character of the coming generation. I know of no more important task; I wish you every possible success in this undertaking.

W. E. Atwell

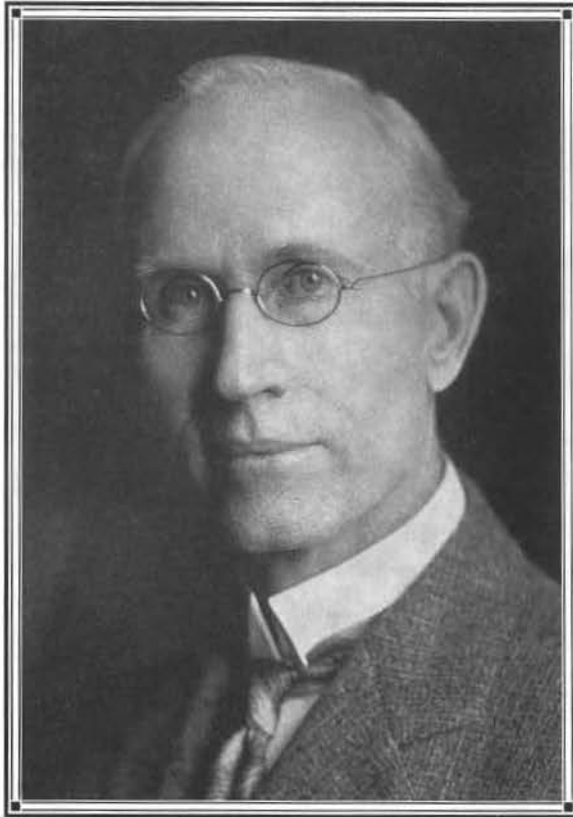

President

IF WASHINGTON could look back upon this nation, which he fathered, how would he be impressed with the apparent lack of leadership in these trying times? Would he agree with a recent writer that "every year we are turning out of our high schools and colleges a million or more students who are as indifferent to the processes of government as are the adults of today?"

That critical statement is a direct challenge to every one of our educational institutions, but especially to those of higher learning. Our colleges, to justify their existence, must be the training camps for a leadership that shall help direct the energies of the citizens of this great republic into channels that shall change the whole attitude of the American people so that history shall not again see a repetition of the blundering processes which have produced the present industrial and financial chaos. It has been the aim of Central College to bend all her energies toward that type of training for true leadership, to the end that all those who go out from her halls may be imbued with the high ideals and true Americanism of Washington.

J. S. Hyer

Dean of Women

WHAT do you want from life? Some may say, "The very idea asking eighteen year old boys and girls such a question! Why bother?" But the fruit-grower must decide what kind of an orchard he can grow best: apples? cherries? peaches? pears? plums? Next, he must decide what particular variety he wishes to produce. Then he will plant, cultivate, wait, and finally be rewarded by a period of production. As a harvest of fruit depends upon the planting; so successful living depends upon planning and industry. Foresight in planning and industry plus God mean satisfaction in life. May the Godly foresight that brings success come to every student of Central State Teachers College!

Bertha Hussey

Dean of Men

“GET all you can, keep all you get, and some day you’ll be rich.”

If the rewards of academic achievement were measured only by the accumulation of material things, the miser’s advice to his son would be most rational. In college, however, emphasis is not placed upon a training which has for its goal any infallible formula for the accumulation of wealth.

The college period is a probationary time when intellect and character are tested and refined. To come under the influence of a college environment where individuals are made ready for the highest type of human service is a privilege worth seeking for those who analyze and develop their potentialities.

The Class of 1932 is deeply appreciative of the four years which it has spent in C. S. T. C. We hope that we have in a small measure succeeded in attaining the end which our instructors have desired for us. Each year we have been here has helped to instill in us a deeper reverence and a desire to make our Alma Mater proud to claim us as we go on our life's journey.

Our activities and classes have brought us in touch with many new friends, and it brings a feeling of sadness to realize that we are at the parting of the ways; the memories of our days spent in this school will be ones which we will zealously guard. As a class we have been particularly active in school affairs and have done much toward carrying on the traditions of the school. Our class roll includes some of the finest athletes in the history of this school; many of the girls have also shown their ability in sports. Our members have shown ability in dramatics; others have been outstanding in oratory and debate. Nor has this group neglected social activities during its four year fellowship with Alma Mater.

Four year's association with each other and with our instructors has given us new points of view, new outlooks on life which will be an inspiration to us in future activities, no matter how diversified they may be. It is with regret that we say "au revoir." We intend to come back often to these familiar scenes in person, and many more times in spirit as we look through this book to live again the four years we have spent so profitably.

For three years the Class of 1933 has been carrying on the time-honored traditions of Central State Teachers College. It is with sincere satisfaction that the class has participated in its share of the activities of the school and has profited in serving. Members of our class have been particularly active in all forms of extra-curricular activities. We have carried our full share of responsibility in all campus projects. This fact is evident not only from the great number of us on the rolls of the organizations, but also by the successful 1932 Prom sponsored by our class.

The class members with their widely diversified personalities and interests have contributed wholeheartedly to the advancement of ideas. Their loyal co-operation and united efforts have been rewarded by the achievement of success in the numerous activities they have undertaken. Co-operation among the individuals and the school long will be remembered.

Two of the representatives of this group will, with the other members of the class, endeavor to hold up the standards of THE IRIS in 1933. We feel that these individuals have been selected with great care, and that they will produce results comparable to those of past years.

Our career as Juniors has been completed. To the coming Juniors we extend our heartiest hopes for a successful year in uplifting the ideals of Alma Mater. We have confidence in their abilities and present them with the standards of the Junior Class.

The members of the class of 1934 are sponsors of good will and friendship. We are justly proud of our number since we are the largest class of sophomores in the history of Central State. Through our wide range of contact we are the natural surveyors of good-will, being active in all school events from the first day of school until its close.

We have helped bring honor to the school, not only in athletics, but also in forensics since the school orator has been chosen from our group for two successive years. This year he had the honor of being chosen first in the state.

The class has been prominent in the social affairs of the school, with some members assisting in each function of the year. Because of such worthy co-operation shown by our members, the "Soph" party proved to the other classes that we have the initiative and responsibility necessary to promote one of the successful parties of the year of 1931 and 1932.

As a class we boast of no one man who has been an outstanding athletic "star," but we point to many whose earnest efforts led them to recognition in that field. The Sophomore girls, too, have been active in campus sports and have carried off more than one honor.

After reviewing the successful year of the class, the major thought in the mind of all of us is: "May our class keep its shoulder to the wheel for its remaining years, and continue on the high level upon which it has met the fields of activities on this campus."

We, the Class of 1935, entered the portals of Central State Teachers College, over three hundred strong, the largest freshman class in the history of the school. The class was not only large but also versatile in activities and interests as excelling in scholarship and athletic ability.

In scholarship the freshman class has maintained a splendid record, having the minimum of failures and a number of honor students. In athletics the class ability was especially evident in football and in basketball. In football, no less than six members held up the freshman laurels with their excellent co-operation on the squad. In basketball some of these same people were instrumental in bringing about a winning college team.

Participation has extended in all the other fields of extra-curricular activities, such as forensics, dramatics, journalism, and music. One of our members served on the debate squad and also represented the school in extemporaneous speaking.

The annual freshman party, a huge success, proved to the upper classmen that the freshmen possessed a high degree of loyalty and co-operation. This fine spirit of co-operation, which has been such an integral part of the class, indicates that its members wish to receive the greatest possible benefits from the many advantages that are to be found in the college life at Central State.

We hope in the three years ahead of us to even more nobly uphold the fine traditions of Central College. Miss Hussey and Mr. Schmeackle have done much to help us through our first successful year.

Every person in the Home Economics Department is automatically a member of the Home Economics Club, which meets twice each month.

Our club was represented at the National Home Economics Convention at Detroit, Michigan, last summer.

The assistance and advice of Miss Allen, the Director, and of Miss Wilson, the Adviser, have done much to make this club a successful and growing professional organization,

The Forum is the departmental organization for all students enrolled in the course for training high school teachers. The members are all candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Education.

The department for high school teachers was started here in 1914 with Mr. H. S. Hippensteel as director. Sixteen students enrolled in the course the first year. In 1916 Mr. A. J. Herrick succeeded Mr. Hippensteel as director; the student enrollment had increased to four times the original number. By 1920, there were one hundred forty-two students enrolled in the High School Department, which included a regular two year course. In this year Mr. E. T. Smith accepted the position of director, left vacant by Mr. Herrick when he became Principal of the Training School. Since that time the enrollment has been growing steadily until at present the Forum is the largest organization in C. S. T. C., having two hundred eighteen members.

The meetings of the Forum are held at the period assigned for them. This gives the students an opportunity to work as a group in solving the problems which arise in connection with their work and to hear special lectures and programs of interest to them. Since the organization is purely professional, it devotes the greater part of its time to the personal direction of its members in the advancement of scholarship.

The students of the High School Department show a splendid spirit of co-operation, good fellowship, and enthusiasm. They take advantage of the many opportunities offered in extra-curricular work to develop their abilities. They prove themselves capable leaders and worthy of holding positions as teachers in the high schools of our state. These students do much to attract others to this college; thus they perform a worthy service long after leaving Central State.

Much of the success of the department is due to the leadership of Mr. E. T. Smith and his assistants, Miss Jones and Mr. Rightsell. They have proved to be real friends, patiently helping students through their difficulties and increasing their chances for success.

The Rural Life Club was started in 1915 and has continued since then as one of the active organizations of C. S. T. C. Its membership consists of students enrolled in all rural courses, including the four year course leading to a degree of Bachelor of Education. The club enrolls over one hundred fifty members this year.

Meetings are held on the first and third Mondays of each month and on the regular Tuesday morning periods set aside for this purpose. The programs consist of numbers given by club members and others who are interested in rural education. A regular feature of each program is community singing. The average attendance is almost one hundred per cent with many visitors present.

Several evenings throughout the year are devoted to social activities. In the fall a "mixer" is given. The St. Patrick's Day dancing party given for the school has become traditional. This year it was held on Saturday, March 19, in the old gymnasium, which was decorated in green and white for the occasion. In the spring the club enjoys a picnic at one of the favorite nearby haunts.

The Rural Life Club presents a three-act drama each spring. The members of the cast are chosen from the Rural Department; the produc-

Mr. O. W. Neale, director, and his assistants, Miss Roach, Miss Hanna, and Miss La Vigne, have been exceptionally helpful and deserve a large share of the credit for the department's accomplishments. Their genial personalities and kindly interest have endeared them to hundreds of students who have come under their guidance.

Secretary Treasurer	Magdalen Knapstein

The Round Table includes all students who are enrolled in two, three, and four year courses in the Intermediate and Upper Grade Departments, and the four year course in the Junior High School Department. Degrees are granted to those completing the four year courses. Mr. Charles F. Watson, director of this department, is very helpful in encouraging the students under his leadership to develop along professional and social lines. By his guidance such students are better able to participate in and direct extra-curricular activities, both here at Central State and later in teaching.

Students of the Round Table are leaders in many of these activities. The '31 football captain, one of the '31 Athletic Co-managers, and THE '32 IRIS Editor-in-Chief are representative. Outstanding scholars also have their places in this group.

Meetings of the Round Table are held during the regular ten o'clock period on the second Tuesday of each month. Interesting programs are presented by the members; lectures of especial value are heard; and the business interests are taken care of. At one of the meetings this year, President Hyer favored the group with a discussion on "Reading." At another meeting, Mr. Steiner sketched some of his experiences in the east during the summer of 1931.

Several evening meetings are held during the year for social enjoyment. The all-school party given by the Grammar Department was one of the outstanding events of the school-year. Since the party was held dur-

In addition to participating in the many activities of our school, it is a custom of the group to hold a picnic each spring at a park nearby. This year the outing was held at Robertson's Park where our students succeeded in demonstrating that they can wholeheartedly indulge in play as well as in work.

The members are congenial although varied in interests. Through their acquaintance and exchange of ideas, they have come to a greater realization of the worth of true individuality and personality.

The Zeta Chapter of Sigma Zeta Fraternity, a national honorary society for science students, was organized in 1929.

The purpose of this organization is two-fold in its nature: to develop an appreciation of the depths of scientific knowledge, and to foster high scholarship in scientific studies. Students majoring or minoring in science and who hold a high average in these studies are eligible for membership.

On April 10 and 11, 1931, the Zeta Chapter was host to the delegates of the other chapters of the fraternity, for the annual national conclave.

The organization expressed its appreciation for the typical Central State entertainment by electing Mr. T. A. Rogers, head of the department of chemistry here, to the office of Grand Master Scientist.

The Fraternity Gavel is truly representative of the national organization, since it is composed of historic pieces of wood contributed by each of the chapters of the order. We are proud to be the first chapter to which the gavel was given for safe keeping for the year 1931-1932.

On April 15 and 16, the National Conclave was held at Cape Girardeau, Missouri. Our chapter was represented by Mr. Rogers, Grand Master Scientist; E. Buhl, B. Monastersky, A. Stauffer, G. Stien, E. Wimpe, F. Woboril, active members; L. Richards, R. Reisinger, associates.

We have reason to believe that Sigma Zeta will be a greater influence to students interested in science courses at Central State in the future.

The Psi Beta Chapter of the Sigma Tau Delta, National Honorary Fraternity for English students, was organized at Central State Teachers College on April 2, 1930. The purpose of this fraternity is to advance the study of the chief literary masterpieces, to encourage worthwhile reading, to promote the mastery of written expression, and to foster a spirit of fellowship among students specializing in English.

During the past year Sigma Tau Delta has done these things in living up to the high ideals of the organization. In addition to encouraging original literary productions from its members, it added to the library "The Life of Henrik Ibsen," inaugurating a plan of adding one masterpiece of modern literature to the library each month. With the help of President Hyer the group sponsored the appearance of Lew Sarett, woodsman, poet, and lecturer. It is the plan of Sigma Tau Delta to bring each year before the student body an outstanding character in the field of English.

The year's social activities were manifested at banquets at the beginning of each semester when new members were initiated into the organization. A special banquet was held in honor of Lew Sarett who is National Vice President of the organization. In June the annual banquet in honor of the graduating members was held in connection with Margaret Ashmun Club.

The Margaret Ashmun Club was organized in 1923 for the purpose of enhancing an interest in literature and speech among the students of Central State Teachers College. The club was named in honor of Miss Margaret Ashmun, a nationally known writer of novels, and an alumna of our school.

A subject of interest to the entire club is the theme of each monthly meeting. During the past year Mr. Knutzen was in charge of a program dealing with College Loyalties. Miss Hanna presented an interesting view of American Drama. The annual Christmas program was directed by Miss Hussey. In January Mr. Burroughs and his aides enlightened the club with a Literary Inventory of 1931. Miss Davis presented a program on Patriotism. A delightful evening of forensic accomplishments was in charge of Mr. Mott. Miss Mansur secured Mr. Schmeackle to speak and show slides on nature subjects. At our May meeting we had the honor of having Miss Ashmun speak to us. In June an Annual Banquet was held with President Hyer as speaker.

Each year the club sponsors a short story contest. Any student in college can enter by submitting a story of approximately two thousand words in length. The stories are judged by a committee of outstanding literary authorities. Three prizes are offered; the first a donation from Miss Ashmun, the second and third outstanding literary productions. In addition, the winner automatically becomes a member of the Margaret Ashmun Club of our College.

In the spring of 1931 the Harlequin Club was organized by a group of students interested in amateur dramatics. The policy of the club was to provide extra-curricular dramatics for those who had shown ability in college dramatics in public speaking classes. Due to its late organization the club was not able to give a public production during the school term; however, they produced "Brown's in Town" during the summer session.

This year the organization was more closely organized and was able to produce a play on November nineteenth. This production proved to the student-body that student initiative could obtain results. The play chosen for this first official appearance was "The Mad Honey-moon" by Barry Conners.

The first meeting of the club last fall was held at Sunset Lake, with a business meeting around a camp-fire, after a generous picnic supper. Dancing rounded out the evening.

Meetings are held the first and third Mondays of every month. Reviews of plays and programs are given when production of a three-act play is not underway.

When the Club was organized, Miss Davis, Mr. Burroughs, and Mr. Smith were appointed advisers. This year Mr. Knutzen's name was added to the advisory board.

It is the ambition of the club to some day become affiliated with a National Dramatic Fraternity.

During the twenty-three years of Tau Gamma Beta's existence, it has faithfully lived up to its ideals and standards. The establishment of the society set forth these ideals: To develop the spirit of sisterhood among its members, to encourage excellent scholarship, to engage in democratic principles in Central State Teachers College.

The social functions of the society are many and varied. According to tradition, each fall the sorority gives a tea for the women of Central State. Formal initiation of members is held after the beginning of both the first and the second semesters. Following the banquet and initiation, members and their escorts enjoy a private dancing party.

A new event of the school year was introduced this year when Omega Mu Chi and Tau Gamma Beta Sororities sponsored a Christmas Formal at the Parish House.

The Annual Spring Formal was held at Hotel Whiting, according to custom. Members of Tau Gam, escorts, and guests enjoyed the dancing party which followed—to the strains of Tommie Temple's Orchestra.

Several private parties throughout the year add interest for this group of girls. The members are also active in many school functions.

A great deal of credit for the fine spirit among the girls is due to the attention and help of Mrs. E. H. Rogers, Sorority Mother, to Mrs. Frank S. Hyer and Mrs. Elizabeth Pfiffner, Sorority Patronesses, and to Miss Jessie Jones, Faculty Adviser.

Omega Mu Chi Sorority is one of the leading social organizations of Central State Teachers College. The members are represented in prominent events and organizations, and contribute much to the social and academic life of the school.

The season of '31 officially began with a tea given for the college and faculty women, with the active members of the sorority acting as hostesses. Exciting weeks followed, with a series of gay rushing functions—theater parties, bridge, breakfasts, and other good times. At intervals throughout the year, informal dancing parties were given. A novel feature this year was the intersorority dance sponsored by Tau Gamma Beta and Omega Mu Chi.

Social hours often followed the weekly meeting of Omega Mu Chi.

Many delightful little parties were held by the girls. A very enjoyable one was the bridge party and luncheon given at Hotel Whiting for the sorority by the faculty advisers.

The Annual Spring Formal was held at Hotel Wausau on Saturday evening, April ninth. A six-thirty dinner was served to active members, alumni, and escorts. Invited guests joined the sorority later at a dancing party when Arch Adrian's Orchestra of Fond du Lac furnished the music.

Miss Eva Seen and Miss Florence Brown acted as faculty advisers for the organization this past year, while Mrs. Charles Cashin of Stevens Point was the Sorority Patroness.

Careful guidance has enabled Omega Mu Chi to have a very successful year.

One of the active organizations on the college campus is Phi Sigma Epsilon National Fraternity. Phi Lambda Phi become nationalized in 1931 as the Kappa Chapter of Phi Sigma Epsilon. This group merits the distinction of being the only national social organization on our campus.

To mention a few collegiate achievements won by Phi Sigs, there are the State and the Interstate Oratorical Contests won by Celestine Nuesse; THE POINTER edited by Burton, Hotvedt; and the presidency of the Junior Class filled by Cedric Vig.

In the forensic field the fraternity is represented by Nuesse, Styza, and Vig as members of the debate teams.

Gordon Stien is President of Harlequin Club.

The Central Wisconsin Amateur Basketball Tournament, as well as the city title, was won by the Phi Sigs. Melvin Andre, Melvin Bergerson, Ted Chvala, Sid Keener, Guy Krumm, Pete Peterson, Harry Rickman, and Art Thompson comprised the squad. These men also participated in inter-collegiate basketball.

To arouse and promote scholastic enthusiasm and sportsmanship in the college, the fraternity awards a mounted placque to the most distinguished male student.

Mr. Fred J. Schmeackle and Coach "Eddie" Kotal are faculty advisers.

The Chi Delta Rho Fraternity was organized in 1930 by Stevens Point men students of the college. Its aim is to acknowledge students of promising ability and character.

The group now includes leaders in football, basketball, hockey, band, orchestra, debate, extemporaneous speaking, and Pointer work in its membership. Chi Delta Rho men hold the presidencies of the Freshman and Sophomore classes. More honors were won when the Chi Delta Float took honorable mention in the Homecoming parade. The Chi Delta Rho Student Honor Cup, awarded each year to the student receiving the highest average in his or her classes for the school year, was presented for the first time on Award Day last spring to Ruth Brabant, a senior in the Junior High School Department.

The Chi Delta Rho Formal, held on April first, was one of the highlights in the social life of the college. During the dinner, a new fraternity song was introduced by Mr. Knutzen. The song is truly representative of the fraternity, since the music was written by Ray Boyer and Noel Van Hecke, both of Stevens Point, and the words by Mr. Knutzen.

Advisers for Chi Delta Rho are Mr. Rightsell, head of the Physics Department at Central State, Mr. Allez, on leave of absence, and Mr. Knutzen, new to our College this year.

The "S" Club has been a mythical organization in our school for a long time, but this year has witnessed the official organization of our athletes. Coach Kotal acts as the faculty representative of the group. Only men who have earned at least one "S" at Central State are eligible for membership. The purpose of the club is to further interest in athletics among the athletes themselves.

The charter members of the "S" Club are: Clifford Alberts, Melvin Andre, Edward Baker, Clarence Chvala, Harry Hansen, Harry Klappa, Ignatius Mish, Albert Neuberger, Arthur Schroeder, Arthur Thompson, Frank Trebatoski, and Victor Vrobel.

Thursday has been set aside as the official "S" day when all "S" Club members wear their honor sweaters. Old Central witnesses a brilliant array of athletes in purple and gold on such days.

It is reported to us that the "S" Club initiations are fully as spectacular and exciting as any in school. To non-letter men initiation is a dark and secret affair; however, bulletin board notices often sounded interesting. This is a typical example: "All 'S' men report to meeting tonight. Those to be initiated wear old clothes and bring a blanket."

During the first part of May, this organization sponsored an all-student dance. It is expected that the group will enter into the social spirit of the school with new vim and vigor next year. The activities of this year formed an admirable beginning.

The combined efforts of the Senior class, THE IRIS Staff, and the Faculty Advisers are required to make THE IRIS a success. In order to increase our efficiency in this respect THE 1932 IRIS Staff has been organized more formally than in previous years. On the fourth Monday of each month a general staff meeting was held. At this time plans were made, progress of the work reported, and suggestions given. These meetings were especially helpful in creating a spirit of co-operation and unity by keeping each staff member conscious of the whole as well as of his particular part.

The theme of THE 1932 IRIS, which we have called "modern collegiate," is rather general in character. We have attempted to make THE IRIS typical of our college, a true portrait which will bring memories of some of our happiest days.

Among the many individuals who helped in the construction of THE IRIS, Mr. Davidson is to be especially commended. All the pictures, except those of the Seniors, were taken by him in our IRIS Studio on third floor. THE IRIS Staff is especially proud of the studio part of its equipment, since we are now able to take all our pictures through Mr. Davidson's talent.

By the time THE IRIS is completed it has called upon so many individuals that the list of acknowledgments grow too great to mention.

The faculty advisers, Mr. Rogers, and Mr. Evans, have given us valuable suggestions and advice. We also include Bernard Slowey and Clarence Styza for the verses they contributed, and those who have done the typing, an inconspicuous but vital phase of the work. The Pointer Staff contributed much to the success of THE IRIS through publicity. Burton Hotvedt, introduced an extremely valuable and practical improvement for the business efficiency of the management by his suggestion that THE IRIS be purchased through the student activity fund, as is THE POINTER.

The Mardi Gras was both a financial and a social success. THE IRIS Staff wishes to express its appreciations and thanks to all who took part and "put it across."

THE POINTER is the official weekly newspaper of the College. Each Thursday morning it is distributed to each student after the regular assembly period. It has maintained a circulation of one thousand copies a week and has averaged from six to ten pages an issue.

Leadership, service and the promotion of interest in the school have been the purposes of THE POINTER. It has been more than a calendar of events during the past year. On several occasions THE POINTER carried detailed accounts of important occurrences which terminated but the evening before. Its appearance the following morning "scooped" the daily newspapers.

Due to constant association we lose our power of observation and appreciation of what is common and current. It is natural that we fail to realize the full significance and importance of honors reaped by the college, faculty, and students. Considering this, THE POINTER has attempted to pay full tribute to every feature meriting recognition for achievement. Care has been taken to balance news to allow each department, activity, and club a fair representation in the publication.

In each issue, separate from its news articles, THE POINTER has featured some department, activity, or policy in the school. The paper thus serves as a publicity medium for our school. The Greek Council as well as the promotion of a new plan for payment of THE IRIS by means of the tuition fee are distinct accomplishments that may be attributed to THE POINTER.

This year, for the first time, gold keys bearing the insignia, "S", were awarded to all staff members. The insignia is symbolic of the untiring efforts and the talent required to maintain a position on the weekly college paper.

L. M. Burroughs

Central State Teachers College has won a place of respect in the forensic activities of our Wisconsin Teachers Colleges. Repeatedly honors have been brought to Central State under the guidance of Mr. Leland M. Burroughs, head of the Speech Department.

Play production is another important phase of our speech work. The speech classes have specialized in producing one-act plays and full-length productions which have been given in public and before private audiences.

Last year the college introduced a "Purple and Gold" radio hour under the general direction of Mr. Burroughs. Outstanding programs of educational value have been presented with much success.

The League

Joseph Mott, Professor of Education at Central State, has serve as Secretary of the Inter-Normal Forensic League of Wisconsin for the past eight years. This office of responsibility shows the regard and esteem among the other Teachers College of the State, as well as in our own, for the ability and co-operation of Mr. Mott.

Great responsibility is placed on the shoulders of this secretary. He must select the question for the conference debate and submit it for approval. He prepares the constitution and the ballots. After the debates Mr. Mott receives the results, tabulates them and notifies each school. The duties connected with Oratory are somewhat similar but even more numerous.

Oratory

Celestine Nuesse, a Sophomore from Door County, Wisconsin, for the second time was chosen to represent Central State Teachers College in the State Oratorical Contest held in Milwaukee on March 18, 1932. With his delivery of THE BOURNE OF YOUTH, the "Boy Orator" won first place in the contest.

By virtue of honors won, the Interstate Contest was held at Stevens Point on May 2. Speaking to a large, appreciative audience, Nuesse was the most outstanding speaker in the contest. Again he placed first. With all credit due to our Orator and our Coach, Central State is exceedingly proud of its leading place in oratory.

Celestine Nuesse

This victory placed Wisconsin at the top in the Conference of the Mid-Western States.

Extempore Speaking

The Wisconsin Extempore Contest was held in connection with the Oratorical Contest in Milwaukee on Friday, March 18, 1932.

Marlowe Boyle won the honor of representing our college by winning a local contest, judged by Dr. A. T. Weaver of the University of Wisconsin. Clarence Styza was chosen as alternate. Mr. Boyle made a creditable record in spite of strong competition from more experienced speakers. He drew an exceptionally difficult topic in the "Prohibition Question."

Boyle is a Freshman in the High School Department; therefore he will be available for forensic work for several years. We expect that he will do even better next year after having had the valuable experience of this year's competition.

Debate Affirmative

C. Styza

The question for debate this year was: "Resolved, that Congress enact legislation embodying the essential features of the Stewart-Chase Plan for the stabilization of business." A large number of students took advantage of the opportunities afforded for debate work at Central State Teachers College.

From the group, Marlowe Boyle, Clarence Styza, and Laurin Gordon, with Donald Crocker as alternate, were selected to argue the affirmative side of this question. The debate squads at Central State are selected by a process of elimination during a long series of trial debates. After the varsity squads are selected there begins a round of practice debates between the two squads. This year, as early as December, the Lawrence College debaters came here to engage in a friendly exchange of words. After the Christmas holidays our debaters specialized in arguing before the near-by high schools. Members of both teams, accompanied by Coach Leland M. Burroughs and Mr. Norman E. Knutzen, went to Wittenberg, Marion, Wausau, and Tigerton where they entertained members of the respective high schools with their pro's and con's.

The debate teams had a very unusual experience the past season in taking part in a Round-Robin tournament at St. Thomas College. Creighton College, Cedar Falls, River Falls, and Eau Claire State Teachers Colleges participated. The teams were limited to two men each; the debaters had to be prepared to talk on either side of the question, a difficult task. Although our teams did not bring home the silver loving cup, they brought back a wealth of ability and experience.

From reports made by various team members, the depression was acute in Minneapolis and St. Paul. At any rate, Nuesse was stopped many times and asked for money. Perhaps Celestine looked too prosperous. Other reports give the impression that Tom Smith was the victim of an obsolete newspaper racket. From the price he paid, we would judge that old newspapers are valuable in St. Paul.

Debate Negative

The Conference Debate between the Oshkosh Negative and the Stevens Point Affirmative teams was held in our auditorium on Friday, March 4. Dr. Lammers of Marquette University awarded the decision to Oshkosh by the very narrow margin of 100 to 99.

Celestine Nuesse, Cedric Vig, and Tom Smith were selected to uphold the negative side of the question, with Richard Gaffney as alternate. On March 4 also, this team met Eau Claire. Professor Cochrane of Carlton College gave the decision to the opponents by a score of 100 to 97.

The debating spirit of our teams did not lag even after the entire season had officially closed. Non-decision debates were held here with St. Thomas College on March 7 and with Hibbing Junior College on March 19, 1932.

The end of the season left a feeling of satisfaction with those who took part. The ability to stand before an audience and express one's views clearly and well is indeed a worthwhile accomplishment.

Debate prospects look exceedingly bright for our '33-'34 forensic season. A new feature will be introduced in conference debating next year wherein two instead of three-men teams will be used; this decision was adopted at the League meeting in Milwaukee. The contest for these four places will be intense with all of this year's regulars back and possibility of having Burton Hotvedt and Alta Stauffer, each two lettermen, Editors of THE 1932 POINTER and THE 1932 IRIS, respectively, in the line-up. The added incentive of a probability of having the Conference Debates in the form of a Round-Robin Tournament should bring out championship teams. We are expecting just that.

Music

The music department under the direction of Mr. Michelsen has proved itself a very important part of college life. This instructor came here from Richland Center, Wisconsin, where he was a successful and well known leader of state championship high school bands.

Mr. Michelsen has been very resourceful in using his musical ability in organizing a splendid College Band. In addition to this, the music department has fostered new enthusiasm in organizing a conductors' class, a fine Orchestra, a mixed Chorus, a Girls' Glee Club; it has also trained members to lead such activities as well as to appear at school and community functions concerned with the college.

The courses do not attempt to prepare students for an artistic career, for the great majority of those who take the courses do not desire such. The main purpose of the department is to make classes in methods function so that those who go out as teachers will be efficiently prepared to teach public school music. The department offers methods courses for the Primary Department, the Intermediate and Grammar Department, the Rural and State Graded Courses, and the High School Department.

Mr. Michelsen has been very successful in employing talent from the student body and therefore has provided many worth while community entertainments. The department has sponsored the music hour of the Purple and Gold weekly radio program broadcast from the WLBL radio station. In these programs the services of the musically talented in the college, those not registered in music classes as well as the regular music students, were utilized.

Student initiative has brought about a fine group of dance musicians under the name of the "Collegians." Ben Monastersky is the leader of this lively orchestra which has played at many school parties, club meetings, and college entertainments. This is the first time that there has been such an orchestra in our school. The venture has proved highly successful; in the nine months that the group has played, it has reached, and even surpassed, the standards of many commercial dance orchestras.

The entire college has been greatly benefited by all the organizations of the music department and by the enthusiasm and spirit in which the work has been carried on under the direction of Mr. Michelsen.

Some congratulations certainly are due the band for the commendable work it has done this year. Although the organization of the Central State Band was started in "28", it was not until this year that remarkable progress became evident. It is true that our band is not the largest of its kind, but it is one that is very well balanced. This feature is more than evident in the fine quality of the music we have heard from them.

Several programs were offered to the student body during the regular assembly hour. And our Band has played at almost every one of the football games, lending spirit and pep and backing the team in a very effective manner. Oshkosh certainly missed an opportunity when the weather man prevented the appearance of the music-makers at the annual Point-Oshkosh game. Again, at the State Oratorical Contest which was held in Milwaukee during the early part of March, the Band had a chance to show its skill and add to the glory of C. S. T. C.

Naturally, behind every great movement is some power that is responsible for the success of the organization. In this case a great deal of credit must go to Peter J. Michelsen, the director and instructor. Mr. Michelsen came to us from Richland Center, where he had added to his former fame by training state championship bands.

It is impossible to give Mr. Michelsen the credit that he justly deserves for his leadership of the work of the Band. He was the real power behind the "throne." It was he who secured the new cabinets for musical instruments in addition to his other numerous aids to the Music Department. Mr. Michelsen enjoys the reputation of being a nationally known band contest judge.

The Orchestra of Central State Teachers College has been very successful in all the work attempted during the past year. Many new selections have been added to the repertoire of the organization. The number of members totaled over twenty—considerably more than in past years. Upon many occasions, this group offered entertainments, all of which were thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by the audiences.

The members of the Orchestra were always ready to play, to offer new and varied programs. It was not only the music played, but also the clever way in which it was handled which brought favorable comment. The programs were successful from another viewpoint: they instilled new spirit in the student-body. Each year this organization has proved to be of greater worth to our school.

We were fortunate in having Mr. Peter J. Michelsen come to us from Richland Center, Wisconsin, where he had trained championship bands for several years. It was due to his careful and thoughtful direction that this musical organization, as well as all the others, was so successful. Each presentation told a real story, which when interpreted by Mr. Michelsen and his aides, assumed greater significance.

By utilizing the valuable training gained from this year's experience, we can have even a finer Orchestra at Central State next year. Mr. Michelsen encourages and helps the participants of the group so that this activity may become for some a vocation; for others, an avocation. In addition to being artistic, the training gained is that which will enable the members to direct a similar group if they so desire. In this way the Central State Orchestra serves several purposes simultaneously, each one as important as the other.

The Chorus of Central State Teachers College is composed of students who are especially interested in choral work. These students make use of a general practice period at three o'clock each Friday afternoon. The Chorus forms a nucleus for the vocal work during the Christmas Festival Season and at graduation time. In addition, the group furnishes music for outside activities when called upon. Interesting programs have been presented during our general assembly periods.

Besides receiving training in voice, the members of the Chorus have learned to conduct related activities, useful both here and in the teaching field. The spirit of co-operation shown by the group is another evidence of the talent and ability at Central State.

ATHLETICS

Athletics

E. L. Kotal

G. W. St. Mitchell

Central State Teachers College was fortunate to secure such an able Athletic Director as Edward L. Kotal. "Eddie" came to us after the resignation of Coach Stockdale in 1930 and has been the leader who ushered in a new era of athletic history. Eddie Kotal has won all our hearts.

After the beginning of the football season, it was soon evident that one man could not handle the large group of candidates that responded to the call of the coach. The only solution was an assistant coach; Gilbert St. Mitchell was promptly engaged to fill that post. "Mitch," also a product of Lawrence College, is well versed in the style of play used by Kotal.

The Athletic Committee, the power behind every athletic move—is composed of Mr. F. J. Schmeckle, Chairman, Mr. R. M. Rightsell, Mr. H. R. Steiner, and Mr. C. F. Watson. This group of faculty members governs the entire athletic program of the school from September to June.

The football squad was ably managed by Ignatius Mish and his two assistants, William Herrick and Harris Shafton. Mish was the veteran manager; he resigned at the close of the football season. Herrick and Shafton carried on the work during the basketball season. Cletus Collins was appointed manager of the "B" Team.

In the fall of 1931, we saw one of the most welcome sights at the fairgrounds, when Coach Kotal called for football candidates sixty-two boys readily responded. This was the largest squad that ever answered when the call of the gridiron resounded through Central State.

In 1932, the squad will be aided materially by the addition of experienced veterans from the ranks of other colleges and high schools. We have the highest hopes in looking forward to the season of '32, with the games on our new campus athletic field.

F. Trebatoski H. Klappa V. Vrobel A. Neuberger

Although the scores do not indicate it, our football season was most successful. All the games were lost by comparatively close scores. No team ever succeeded in scoring more than two touchdowns against the Pointers. The boys learned the fundamentals of football and the style of play used by Coach Kotal.

Next year we shall miss familiar faces on the football field, for Klappa, Neuberger, Trebatoski and Vrobel will be lost to us through graduation.

Harry Klappa, Captain, played a steady and consistent game at end.

Albert Neuberger, another end, was one of the best pass receivers on the squad. "Ollie" certainly could break up the opponent's play.

Frank Trebatoski, playing a consistent game at tackle, was a hard and dependable worker, always to be found in the midst of the play.

Victor Vrobel, "Vic," was one of the flashiest fullbacks ever to wear the Purple and the Gold. As veteran of the squad he showed it by his cool and clever playing.

Atwood, John. "Johnnie" played at guard and in the full-back position. He showed up remarkably well.

Atwood, Russell. "Russ" gave us the thrill of our lives in the Milwaukee game when he suddenly reversed his field and ran about forty yards, only to be nailed by two Milwaukee men when a Point touchdown and victory seemed evident.

Baker, Albert. "Poots" was the most outstanding blocker on our squad. When he blocked a man, that person realized he had been hit by something resembling a cannon ball. His position? Oh, yes, he played blocking half-back.

Baker, Edward. "Moon" was the quarterback of the team. He was a steady and consistent player, always cool under fire.

Cashman, Kenneth. "Ken" played at half-back. He was as elusive as an eel and had a punch that always was felt.

Clausen, Raymond, "Ray" played tackle and guard, his two hundred forty pounds surely could plug any hole in that line.

Gregory, Nolan. "Greg" was by far the fastest man on the field. When Greg tucked that pigskin under his arm, and started to pedal, he went places. Quarter-back was his position.

Greene, Austin. "Nuke" was the most versatile man on the squad, for he saw service at center, tackle, and guard.

Hansen, Harry. "Chief" was another one of our outstanding half-backs. He showed us some football.

Klement, Frank. "Leopolis" is only a Frosh, but he gave a fine account of himself in spite of inexperience.

Koehl, Ramon. We always had the idea that centers had to be large in order to be good, but that's an old and forgotten theory now. "Ray" wasn't so big, but our opponents thought otherwise.

Miller, Edmund. "Bucky" was one of our dependable guards who was always ready for action.

Olson, Gerald. "Getta" saw action in the backfield and to be more specific, at half-back.

Riemer, Delbert. "Del" came to us from Wisconsin Rapids and began to appear quite regularly in the tackle position.

Schwahn, Richard. "Dick" earned his letter at end. He was a good pass receiver, but he showed the most skill in breaking up our opponent's plays.

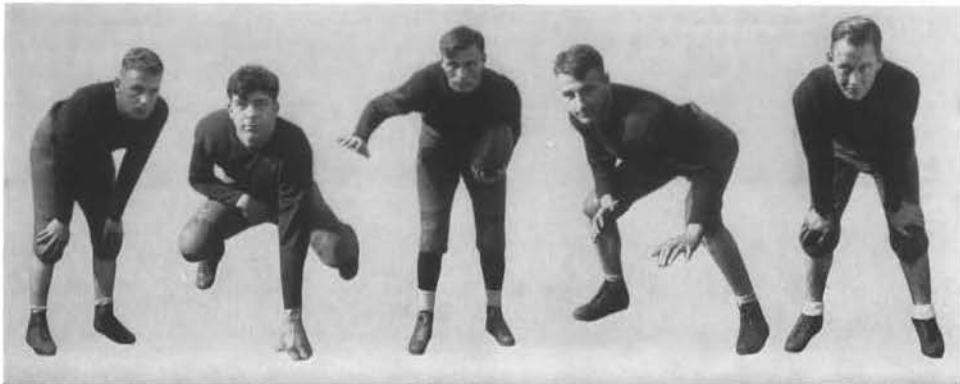

Scribner, William. "Bill" is guard, and what a guard! During the entire season there weren't very many plays pulled on Bill.

Van Roo, John. "Bud" was a center and a guard, who filled his place to a "t".

Roy, Leonard. "Foxy" played in the line where he did consistently well.

Clarence, "Ted," Chvala is the veteran of the Purple and Gold squad. We'll miss Ted's clever playing next season.

Clifford Alberts. "Cliff" showed up consistently well in the guard position. "Cliff" will be lost to us through graduation.

Frank Klement at the beginning was one of the so-called "dark-horses." Before long he began to show us some real basketball.

Arthur Thompson, "Art" the long, lanky pivot man of the team was by far our most outstanding player. Thompson will captain the Purple and Gold in '32.

Kenneth Cashman, guard and forward, with an enviable high school record continued his good work here.

Peter Peterson. "Pete" played good ball during the past season. He'll be back with us next season.

Guy Krumm, another one of the dark-horses, opened our eyes with his spectacular playing. Guy deserves the title of "Dead Eye Dick."

Nolan Gregory, one of last years high school stars was a dependable defenseman. "Greg" saw his share of action this year.

Ronald Winn, "Punk," was relief man for Thompson. Just a Frosh this year, he'll be back for the '32 squad.

The 1932 basketball season was very successful with the Pointers, tying Oshkosh for third place in the Conference race. Whitewater blasted our hopes for a championship team with their two point victory in mid-season.

The cheerleaders, Burton Hotvedt and Wilson Schwahn, are entitled to some of the glory of the success of C. S. T. C.'s Athletic Program. The boys did their bit by pepping up the student body and instilling the fighting spirit into our warriors.

The "B" squad has a record of which it can justly be proud. The team was coached by Vic Vrobel, a senior. This group took third place in the Central Wisconsin Amateur Tournament held in the new gym.

Anderson, Delbert. "Del" was one of the very alert players.

Anderson, Milton. "Andy" filled the center berth on the squad.

Busch, Gilbert. "Gil" was a guard who did his share of teamwork.

Hansen, Harry. "Chief," playing only the latter part of the season, made up for lost time.

Keener, Sidney. "Sid" was not "just another one of the guards."

Kujath, Howard. "Howie" is a promising candidate for next year.

Nygaard, Arthur. "Art," another forward who will no doubt graduate to the varsity squad.

Rickman, Harry. "Rick" showed the fans some clever "poosh shots."

Shorey, Asher. "Son" is small, but that does not stop him.

Collins, Cletus. "Brute" deserves much credit for the services as manager of the "B" squad.

With the coming of Eddie Kotal, a definite Award System was inaugurated at Central State Teachers College. The First Year Award consists of a single stripe gold sweater with a purple "S". After an athlete has earned his first sweater he receives only letters as additional awards until he has earned three in one major sport. After a student has earned the three letters in one major sport, he is entitled to a Senior Award, consisting of a three stripe gold sweater coat bearing a purple "S". A six letter man, that is a man who has earned three letters in each of two major sports, is entitled to his choice of a purple sweater coat with the gold "S" and three gold stripes or a purple blanket with a large gold "S" as his Major award.

The men receiving the Senior Award for this year are Harry Klappa and Frank Trebatowski in football, and Edward Baker in basketball.

The Major Award was presented to Clifford Alberts, Clarence Chvala, Albert Neuberger, Arthur Schroeder, and Victor Vrobel. These boys will be lost to Central State for future competition through graduation.

The Manager Award consists of the single stripe gold "S" sweater. A small "M" on the "S" distinguishes the sweater from the athletes' awards.

The motto, "Sports for All, and All for Sports," represents the purpose of our athletic program for girls, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association.

In the fall, archery took its place. Last October, Philip Rounseville, nationally known archer, instructed fifty students in the use of the bow and arrow. At the same time of year, hockey claimed many of our girls. The season began with many on the field attempting to pass or dribble a ball. Practices were held each Tuesday and Thursday after school. Agility and coordination were not so evident at first practices; but when the last exciting game was played on a snowy November day, we saw some expert playing.

With the snow came indoor sports. Basketball had many enthusiasts in its ranks. Volleyball, the second major indoor sport, called for much alertness. Both sports ended with tournaments.

Women's Athletics

Each Wednesday after school during the colder months we found a group of girls clogging and tap dancing. These girls, before many practices, became quite expert and appeared in public several times. During the same practice periods, the girls who didn't mind the topsy turvy appearance of the world, "tumbled." It was great fun. They too performed for audiences.

Skating and hiking were popular during the winter. The indoor ping pong games attracted girls in their few spare moments.

From indoor sports to the sunny back-lot the girls came running as soon as Old Sol began to let us know that spring was here. "Slide Kelly, Slide"—and they did, with thrills for the onlookers as well as for the players. Dry courts and warmer weather drew tennis fans to the courts. The competition for honors there was keen.

Horseback riding held its place throughout the entire year.

Parties and banquets for the participants at the close of each sport season added zest and pep.

The climax to the year's activities was a Play Day on April 30, 1932, sponsored by W. A. A. Each of twelve of the neighboring high schools was represented by ten senior and junior girls in the sports of the day. Play was for the fun of it, not for honors.

The projects of the entire year were made most successful and delightful by the interest and keen spirit of those peppy girls who entered them.

Tap Dancing and Tumbling

Tap dancing played a real part in our girl's athletic program this year. Instruction in physical education classes gave many girls the opportunity to learn the fundamental steps. From then their interest was keen, and many attended the Wednesday evening practices. These girls, with those of one or two years' experience, made a workable and capable group.

The first public performance of the group was in the Mardi Gras celebration. Later it entertained the Faculty Women and Wives. The Business and Professional Women needed a chorus of dancers for their vaudeville so the tappers filled that bill. Their success was heard throughout school so, by popular demand, they closed the year with an assembly appearance.

Tumbling, as well as being excellent for developing muscular coordination and agility, served to amuse audiences. The Faculty Women and Wives enjoyed a program by this group. In the vaudeville sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club, the girls appeared in vari-colored clown suits, rolling and performing their stunts under colored spotlights. In April the group appeared before the entire school during an assembly hour.

As a fitting close to a season of fun, both the tumblers and tappers joined in a "spread."

A great deal of credit is due to Miss Seen who trains the tap dancers and tumblers. It was she who inaugurated the idea of such sports at Central State. Each year they become more popular and successful.

Volleyball

Girls' volleyball for this year was much more popular than usual. Fifty girls signed up for the sport; thirty-five was the average number attending at each practice period.

The first practice of the season was held March 8, followed by two weeks of drill work. Team playing began April 5 after five teams had been chosen by lot.

A volleyball team consists of eight players, which is arranged on the floor so that each player is responsible for a section—three in the front line, two in the second, and three in the third. The ball is served by the first person in the right side of the last row, followed by a volley of the ball until it touches the floor. A score is obtained only when it touches the floor on the side opposite the one who serves the ball.

In former years volleyball has preceded basketball, but within the past two years it has been found advantageous to play basketball first.

The final tournament was played April 19, 20, and 21. The games were very interesting and exciting with close scores. Teams Four and Five played the final game for first place; Team Five won. The players were Thyrsa Iverson (Captain), Eileen Dearth, Roberta Lindow, Agnes Madsen, Eileen Mueller, Dorothy Redding, Susan Schiess, and Kathryn Slowey.

After each sport, it is customary to close with a social feature. Following this custom the volleyball season concluded with a picnic at Old Waterworks Park with the members of the winning team as guests of honor.

Basketball

Girls' basketball for the year 1931 and 1932 was entirely successful. Many girls showed their keen interest by regularly attending all practices. Practice was started December 8 while team practice began on February 16. An attempt was made to have at least one team from each class, but the plan did not culminate. The season closed with two Sophomore and two Freshman teams. Some of the Junior and Senior girls helped referee, score, and keep time.

At the first practice there were sixty-five girls on the floor; later some of these dropped out, but just as much enthusiasm prevailed.

The so-called sport-head who takes charge of each of the girls' sports as sponsored by W. A. A. is chosen by the officers and the presiding board of that organization. The sport-head is a W. A. A. girl elected to have complete charge of one particular sport. It is this individual who directs the practices, who arranges tournaments, and who attends to all the other duties connected with a season of work and fun.

Tournament games were played on February 25, March 1, and March 3. The contests were exciting for the on-lookers as well as for the players. Team I of the Sophomores and Team II of the Freshmen were the most outstanding. The Sophomore team, composed of Georgiana Atwell, Edna Crocker, Thyrsa Iverson, Lois Richards, Kathryn Sawyer, and Alice Sorenson, won the tournament.

Punk: "Can you string beans?"

Andy: "No, but I can kid gloves to perfection."

Orthman School

One of the institutions on the campus which plays a very important part in the training of those preparing to teach in rural schools, is the Orthman Demonstration School, constructed in 1924, and named in honor of Carl Orthman, local regent at that time. This is a one teacher school of eight grades. It is under the able direction of Miss Bessie La Vigne, who received her professional training at the Stevens Point Normal and the University of Minnesota. Miss La Vigne has been in charge of the Demonstration School for seven years; her executive ability and personality have made her work outstanding. Thirty-seven children, transported by bus from District Number One, Town of Carson, attend the school.

Each student enrolled in the One Year Rural Course receives two and one-half semester hours of practice teaching at the Orthman Demonstration School. Students enrolled in the Rural Supervision Course do a part of their required work in supervision there. The easy accessibility of the school makes it possible for it to be in use as a training institution every hour of the day, from the beginning Band. Get out your saxes, et cetera. of the school year until the end. Students are able to carry on their work in rural school practice without interfering with any of their regular college classes.

Besides the actual teaching practice, the one year rural students also receive practice in serving hot lunches to the children and in planning and executing community meetings for the people of District Number One. Student teachers assist in the preparation of programs for these occasions and help in other necessary routine matters connected with them. The Wisconsin State Course of study for Rural Schools is followed closely in this school, and conditions are, as far as possible, identical with those the students will encounter when they enter rural teaching.

The attractive school building with its classrooms, library and large play room, is a model which schoolboards of Central Wisconsin often visit.

Training School

Two years ago the doors of the new Training School were opened the first time for the use of the young folk in present and future years. The dignity and simplicity of the building adds much to the appearance of the campus.

The Training School was built at a cost of $220,500. Many people have been unaware of the important services which Principal Alfred J. Herrick and his staff of supervising teachers are rendering both to the community and to the College.

At present, one hundred forty-four senior college students are receiving practical experience in the teaching field in the Training School. In many colleges this practical training has to be gained in the city schools. The decided advantages of training on the Campus under trained supervisors are obvious in the quality of teachers graduated from this College. The equipment for teaching purposes is of the very latest type. Various kinds of playground equipment add to the enjoyment of the youngsters. A large athletic field upon which all the athletic contests of the College will take place is nearing completion at the present time.

The pupil enrollment totals two hundred twenty-three. During the second semester of this year special provisions were made by the staff to provide hot lunch for pupils who live at such a distance from school that it is necessary for them to carry a noon-lunch. Home Economics girls do their share to provide wholesome appetizing lunches.

All basketball games and a majority of the social affairs, including the Mardi Gras and the Junior Prom, are held in the gymnasium of the Training School. A balcony was erected in the gymnasium during the past year, so that the seating capacity was increased by several hundred.

This year we celebrated Mr. Herrick's twentieth anniversary as a member of the college faculty. Mr. Herrick has been in charge of Training Department of C. S. T. C. for the past ten years, and with his co-workers has perfected an organization of which we can justly be proud.

Homecoming

Everything must have a beginning and so it was with Homecoming. Friday evening, October sixteenth, was the time set for the gala opening of the student body's spirits, but the fire of youth made itself known long before that. Handsome, freckled-faced or wiry-haired innocent "Freshies" earnestly gathered boxes for the bonfire.

Friday dawned and somehow the "profs" managed to conceal their tempers to the close of the day. In the evening, however, no amount of chains nor teachers' discipline could hold the multitude. The auditorium became a mass of staunch supporters as Prof Spindler and Alta Stauffer talked.

The two favorite janitors helped to raise the pep created by the stunts of the W. A. A., Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity and the Harlequin Club.

After the bonfire the next event was tangling up the traffic by a snake dance. Lack of exercise could not be blamed for failure to sleep that night.

Saturday morning finally dawned, and the usual hasty finishing touches were given to the floats. Original and beautiful ideas which even made old Fords look like new again, until radiators began to steam, were incorporated and carried out. Omega Mu Chi Sorority Float took first place as it glided majestically by the crowds who bordered the streets and filled the sidewalks. The Float was fairy-like in appearance, being white with a few dashes of color lent by cords of twining paper. One of the sorority members dressed in a long gown resembling one which might have been worn by a princess of long ago sat majestically in her lofty carriage, drawn, not by milk-white steeds, but by a modern automobile. Second place was for the second time given to the W. A. A. Float which carried out a Robin Hood scene. The girls taking the part are expert marksmen—cupid has guided their darts several times. Third place was awarded Chi Delta Rho, whose float in the form of a ship was termed, Miss Victory. It can be well said that this year's representation was the best ever. Do it again, ye who follow in our footsteps!

No Homecoming is complete without the results of a game, whether good or bad. Milwaukee seemed to have a better understanding (or maybe it's big feet)—at any rate we landed on the bottom side of the score.

But what's the odds betwixt the two when a good orchestra arrives and the girls put on brave smiles as they compliment each hero on the afternoon's work? That's enough to send the boys off for another battle—and it did. No depression in that crowd Saturday night, unless it was in the boy's pockets. Eddie, the coach, even celebrated and brought his wife to the dance. A big time was had by all, you know!!

The foregoing incidents are as seen and heard by an unobtrusive observer. For hangovers, accidents, headaches, or other sidelights, apply to some other member of the staff. Maybe, they won't tell either. It might be a secret—. Why shouldn't it be?

Heart-aches and head-aches are really alike. One is caused by another, and one is caused by the other.

Dad: "Where were you last night?"

Art T. "Oh just riding around with some of the guys."

Dad: "Well, please tell them not to leave their hairpins in the car after this."

Scarce is the teacher who believes the tales of a pupil, and scarcer is the student who believes the tales of a teacher.

Conscience is only a small voice, and half the time when it tries to speak it finds the line busy.

Miss Hanna: "Now, I want you all to write a composition. Don't write anything you've ever heard of or seen before. Write just what's in you.

Here's what Myron F. wrote: "Inside of me there's a heart, a liver, two lungs and a stomach. Inside my stomach there's some potatoes, a steak, two pickles, a piece of bread and some strawberry short cake, etc., etc., etc."

October

Mr. Michelsen: "Now we'll play 'The Stars and Stripes Forever.'"

Aaron M.: "Gosh! I just played that."

Mr. Rightsell: "What is the most outstanding contribution that chemistry has given to the world?"

Virgil P.: "Blondes."

Harold M.: "No gentleman ever kisses a girl by surprise."

Wilson S.: "Gosh no! Most of us only think we do."

(How does he know?)

Mr. Rogers: "Name a liquid that won't freeze."

Florence Hubbard: "Hot water."

Miss Jones: "Ignatius, this is the third time that you have looked at Ella's paper."

Mish: "Yes m'am, she doesn't write plainly enough."

Mr. Smith: "What's the matter? Do the questions bother you?"

Bob MacDonald: "No, it's the answers that bother me."

Bill Scribner's Motto:
"Better to have tried and missed,
Than to leave a pretty girl un-kissed."

2. Central State thrilled to the music of the famous Kryl Band in a delightful performance.

Doctor: "Are you ticklish?"

Patient: "No, I'm Swedish."

5. State Teachers' Convention and simultaneously, of course, a college holiday. So much fun to be home again just "Lazin'" around.

7. The Whitewater game. Just when we thought we had 'em, they had to beat us, but not bad, and what a grand fight our fellows put up!

11. Armistice Day and another holiday! The more often they come, the better we like 'em. Drizzly weather — that's why Oshkosh beat us. We can't play in the rain, that's all.

13. The W. A. A.'s entertained us at an All-School Party.

17. Lecture on Manchurian turmoils by Dr. E. LeRoy Dakin of Milwaukee. Dr. Dakin told us his impressions of the Far East, received while on the Upton Close Expedition to China and Japan.

Prof: "If there are any dumbells in the room, please stand up." A long pause and Hank stood up.

Prof. "Do you call yourself a dumbell?"

November

Hank: "Well, not exactly, sir, but I hate to see you stand alone."

19. The Welsh Imperial Singers were with us again. Every year their glorious voices seem even better. And just consider—not any of us could swear our love for Mary in such glowing terms one minute, and then turn to Annie with the next breath.

19. The Harlequin Club presented "Mad Honeymoon." Are they all that way? Sounds thrilling to say the least—

Mr. Steiner: "What was the Era of Good Feeling?"

Vic. (undertone): "The Whiskey Rebellion."

20. Inter-sorority dance sponsored by Tau Gamma Beta and Omega Mu Chi in the new gym. A rainy night but with soft music and shaded lights all was "right with the world" inside.

21. Graduates of Nelson Hall and Sims Cottages were hostesses to the college faculty at the annual Senior-Faculty dinner at Nelson Hall. More glorious than ever before!

25. Noon! Silence! The call of the "turkey in the straw." Then the usual rush for bags and busses, and another Thanksgiving vacation is on its way.

He struck her, but she uttered not a sound. He hitter on the hedd, brav thing that she wuz, she did not even whrimpurr. Butt finelly, she heeved a reluctant sputer and berst inta flame. For she wuz a match.

1. The Juniors make the front page! Cedric Vig leads the Prom this year. Sophs! Watch out for football this fall, your turn comes next. The queen?—sh! It's a secret, but we know.

2. Election of class officers. Mr. Steiner had all he could do to prevent the Seniors from having a fist fight. The girls, however, had the last word, electing Sadie Storzbach as President. Again the Juniors are in the limelight with visions of THE 1933 IRIS. Eileen Mueller and Art Thompson are bound to make things hum.

Current Wise Cracks:

"If you add five q and five q, what's the answer?"

"Why, 10 q."

"You're welcome."

The shortest distance between two points is a straight eight.

3. Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Kalsow speaks on the work of Girl Reserves. (No, not the kind that are kept on a shelf. Those are preserves.)

4. Inter-fraternity dance sponsored by Chi Delta Rho and Phi Sigma Epsilon after the big debate by the locals and the Lawrence team. The question for debate was: Resolved, that the Federal Government enact legislation embodying the essential features of the Stuart Chase Plan for stabilization of business. Prove it to the world and you have the remedy for all future depressions.

11. Tau Gamma Beta Christmas Formal. (Another break for the men!!) All the gay young things in chiffons and laces tripped with their tuxedoed escorts to the strains of Tommy Temple's orchestra.

12. The last school party before we depart for home and Christmas. The Round Table furnished the fun—and plenty of it.

Mr. Collins: "What is a polygon?"

Ray Caskey: "Ah, er, a polygon is a dead parrot."

"Hello, World, I'm on a new rave length," according to Harris Shafton.

Mish: "After my death, the world will realize what I have done."

Miss Jones: "Oh, well, you don't need to worry for you'll be out of danger then."

14. The Cottages, Christmas trees, Santa Claus, cookies, and coffee—In brief, the Home Ec party, a Christmas party that was a CHRISTMAS party with all the necessary Yuletide spirit.

December

15. And then, Nelson Hall had a party with Santa Claus again, more Christmas trees, an' candy, an' candles, and chicken.

Dropping the Christmas theme a moment, an article in THE POINTER told of the splendid criticism given Prof Smith's book by a University of Wisconsin man—which goes to prove, don't wait for history to include you—make some yourself.

17. The Christmas Festival has long been a tradition, but never has it been more brilliantly presented than this year. A blue canopied sky gleaming with silvery stars looked down on a mammoth Christmas tree resplendent with lights, which had been placed in the middle of the gymnasium floor. The combined efforts of Mr. Michelsen, Mr. Giovannini, and Mr. Knutzen made the setting and performance things of beauty. Of course, Santa Claus put in his appearance by coming down the chimney in approved style. He, with his "Isovis," added a final touch of jollity to the evening.

18. All aboard for the home town! —and back to Mother's cooking. "Ain't it a gr-rand and glorious feelin'?"

AN ODE

"My flivver, 'tis of thee
Short road to poverty
Of thee I chant.
I blew a pile of dough
On you three years ago
Now you refuse to go
Or won't, or can't.

"Through town and countryside
You were my joy and pride
O happy day.
I loved thy gaudy hue
The nice white tires new
But you're down and out for true
In every way.

"To thee, old rattle box
Come many bumps and knocks
For thee I grieve.
Badly the top is torn
Frayed are the seats and worn,
The whooping cough affects the horn,
I do believe.

"The perfume swells the breeze
While good folks cough and sneeze
As we pass by.
I paid for thee a price
'Twould buy a mansion twice
Now everybody's yellin' 'Ice'
I wonder why!"

5. Back again once more with the holiday rush just a memory. Conversation need never lag now with all the new topics to "buzz" about. They've done some housecleaning at Nelson Hall while we were away.

7. Once a year the snow gets the best of W. A. A. girls, and they have a sleigh ride. Judging from the hilarity and the amount of chili consumed, it was—oh, well, anyhow, it was FUN.

14. Elimination contest in oratory and extemporaneous speaking. Twelve students were chosen to compete for representation in the local finals. Nuesse won in oratory and Boyle in extemp.

The Tower of Babel was the place where Solomon kept his wives.

"My sister got a pearl from a clam.

"That's nothing, my sister got a diamond from a lobster."

16. Bill Zorn brought his boys from Eau Claire. Mr. Watson presented "Bill" with a trophy since he was a former Central man. Well done! We won, but that was only fair, considering they got the trophy.

20. Julien Hoekstra of golden ballad fame was with us. His name already has so many adjectives attached to it, but to show our appreciation we can say just one thing, his voice makes his ballads golden.

22. Omega Leap Year Dance in the new gym. There's a double decker for you.

26. A middle o' the week game with Oshkosh. Boy, oh boy! how the machinery clicked that night! The Kotalmen beat 'em up, 34-22. Exams, term papers, book reviews, and—"Heavy heavy, hangs over thy head—" The nights that stretched into morn before one dared give up.

MARDI GRAS

February

1. All aboard for another semester! The flurry of enrollment is more or less "old stuff" now. But with an enrollment of 650 we must accomplish things!

4. Berkeley Players in Assembly. A delightful comedy—THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST—"Ernest." But what's in a name?

Debater: "Where do you have the most difficulty in making a speech?"

Unaccustomed: "In my knees."

6. Whitewater game—just a heartbreaker.

10-13. Ouy! Ouy! How could it vass?

Did Noah have an Ark light?

12. Another Jinx! The B'Gosh Boys turned the tables.

14. Valentine's Day. Depression has made the hearts (the box kind) smaller. However, the other kind seems to be thriving nicely—ask the Hall!

Ski Tournament at Peru Hill—thrilling!

15-18. Amateur Basketball Tournament in the new gym. All the good teams from "round 'bout" were entered — including our College "B's".

Harvey was reading about ships. He came to a word he could not pronounce.

"Barque," prompted Mr. Knutzen. Harvey snickered.

"Barque," exclaimed the teacher impatiently.

Harvey, obediently, "Bow-wow!"

February

20. The last home game. Point took Milwaukee into camp, 25-21. Most spectacular!

The letter "e" is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger, and in hell all the time. It is never in war, always in peace; it is the commencing of existence, beginning of ease, and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life and no heaven. It is the center of honesty, and always starts off in error. It ends by making love perfect.

22. Washington's Birthday, and in due commemoration, there were no classes. Have to wait until 2032 for another break like that. . . .

15. "Grumpy" entertained us in Assembly. I say "Grumpy" because he was the whole show, almost. The four-act play was presented by the Bob Hanson Players, not "our Spin."

26. Point closes its conference season, landing in the upper bracket. Brought home the bacon with a triumphant victory over Eau Claire.

Margaret Ashmun, celebrated writer and former graduate of Central State was guest of honor at Nelson Hall.

29. The day that makes Leap Year "leap" year. What a day for the girls! Hope they made the most of it.

Today's great question:
What is a word meaning
—?

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Mardi Gras

"A Trip Around the World," ending with a "hard time" dance was the main feature of the annual Mardi Gras, held February 9, 1932 at Central State.

The hypothetical train for the "Round the World Trip" left the station at the south entrance of C. S. T. C. at 6:30 P. M. Shouting conductors called out points of interest and guided the excited surging crowd. After a long but eventful journey the first stop was Hawaii. As the crowd entered Honolulu, the strumming of guitars was heard. Three natives entertained with Hawaiian music and singing. The travelers emerged with chains of leis as souvenirs from the ever hospitable Hawaiians.

The next stop, with a fine disregard of distance or time, was Germany. Herr Louie of the original German Band appeared in person, as the representative of that illustrious country. The theme song, "Ach Du Lieber Augustine," was rubbed out on the washboard and other utensils by the Home Ecs, transported for the occasion.

The conducted tour was somewhat delayed by the "Boxer's Rebellion" in China, but the audience arrived in time to see the struggle from the very beginning. Believe it or not, the spectators learned that the original fricassee was caused by two women who appeared in a boxer's clog. This was followed by an honest-to-goodness wrestling match between Battling Zippo and Struggling Larry. Zippo won by a haircut—he needed a shave!

Turkey proved to be the chief point of interest. With so many graceful and beautiful girls in the Turk's elaborate Harem—could you expect less? But the Shiek, who very strangely resembled our Mr. Pierce, kept them well under control and they were even forced to make his living for him by selling Turkish sweets to the visitors at the Harem.

As the masses entered Spain, the land of romance, they witnessed a dominating Senor who insisted upon being catered to. However, one strong healthy lad appeared on the scene and convinced the Senor that the latter had nothing to live for because there was "no spinach." A blank shot was the tragic end of the big, black, bold Senor who should have watched his "onions and garlic" more carefully.

In contrast to this bold, bad character of Spain, was the Irish Miss of Ireland. She was a smiling Kathleen if there ever was one; and she could dance the Irish Lilt as well as any of her ancestors. Many of the gentlemen were slightly delayed as the train moved on—in order to get one more glance from those roguish sparkling eyes.

On the homeward journey, the crowd was attracted by a group of Southern Pickaninnies in Georgia. Tap-dancing to the tune of Dixie will be the memories of Southern Plantation Days for those who took the trip.

The journey ended with a stop

February

at Palm Beach, where the Phi-Omega Country Club entertained guests. Wealthy couples wandered in and out from golf, tennis, ping-pong, dancing, and whatnot. Special features were furnished by talented singers and guitarists. Refreshments brought an end to the Country Club program.

Then the tour moved on to the Main Show, which featured the Follies, under the leadership of the well-known Broadway director, Herb Steiner. Faculty "unloosed" for the occasion and gave us a real show. Daisy Davidson proved to be the heroine of the hour.

By this time, as might be expected, the crowd was "dead broke." The spirits, however, were not depressed and so, to call it a good day, everyone danced away the evening in a gym decorated with rainbow effects.

During the evening Hobo King Arthur Thompson and Queen Adeline Bellman, winners of the Popularity Contest, were announced, whereupon they led the Grand March in order to determine the prize costumes. Ruth Reedal and Ethel Florence wore the prettiest costumes. Cletus Collins, with "her" escort, Celestine Nuesse, copped the laurels for the funniest appearing couple. Olga Wolfgram and Alice Curtis received Honorable Mention for their "gunny sack" frocks.

Although the Mardi Gras was built around the theme of the depression, there was no such atmosphere evident in the spirit of the crowd around the festivities.

A near-sighted professor lost his hat in a strong wind. He gave chase. A woman screamed from a nearby farmhouse: "What are you doing there?"

"Getting my hat," he replied.

"Your hat!" exclaimed the woman, "That's our little black hen you are chasing."

Mr. Watson: "Pass your eyes about the room so everyone can see them."

Once a Scotchman didn't go to a banquet because he didn't know what the word "gratis" on the invitation meant. The next day he was found dead before an open dictionary.

"Dearest, I must marry you."

"But have you seen my father?"

"Yes, many times, but I love you just the same."

Lady: "Why don't you go to work if you are hungry?"

Hobo Harry: "I tried that once an' it only made me hungrier."

Man is but a worm of the dust; he wiggles about awhile, and presently some chicken gets him.

"What, dear," called the wife to her husband, who was in the next room, "are you using to open that can?"

"Why," he said, "a tin-can opener—what did you think I was using?"

"Well," replied the wife, "I thought from your remarks you were opening it with a prayer."

HOME

Sims Cottages

For eighteen weeks of her Senior year the Home Economics girl's home life is embodied in the friendly atmosphere of one of the cottages. The John Francis Sims Cottages, named in honor of our late president, are divided into two modern apartments. Here the Senior home-makers practice the science and culinary arts of domesticity as acquired during their four years' work.

Each apartment is divided into five well furnished rooms which give the girls opportunities to perform all the duties of housekeeping. Every Home Ec goes the way of lowly family laundress to that of gracious hostess. Many a morning sees a sleepy-eyed senior shaking up old faithful "Willie," the furnace.

The girls of 1915 anticipated life in the cottage, but were not able to realize their hope as construction was not completed. The 1916 Seniors were the first to have the honor of enjoying the fruits of Mr. Sims' efforts. When these girls came to the cottage, it was for only four weeks, as the cottage can accommodate only eight at a time. The large classes necessitated a change every fourth week, so that all might have this unusual experience. We are more fortunate in having eighteen weeks of good times.

The Seniors of 1915 left with the following as their wish:

"We, as Seniors, now bequeath to you, as Juniors, all conveniences of the cottages, the pleasure of shoveling the walks on nice frosty mornings of building the furnace fire when it goes out due to improper banking, of doing all the work of the household before going to school in the morning, of keeping Stevens Point dust off the furniture, and of raising vegetables for use of the cottages."

Efficient can openers have made it unnecessary for the cottage girls to grow their vegetables, so we the Seniors of 1932 bequeath to our followers the privilege of keeping bituminous soot off the walls. As a special request we desire that the Seniors to come take special care of "Willie" and his brother as they are the only male elements in the house.

Nelson Hall

Nelson Hall—that institution where the “home spirit” makes the new girl forget that she is lonely; where through the “get-acquainted” parties and the friendly atmosphere made possible by Miss Hussey and Miss Rowe, our new friends soon become firmly established in our large family circle.

Who has not heard the enticing bits of gossip concerning the boxes from home; the “spreads” conducted in subdued lights, delicious fudge parties, and enviable chicken fries, which form so important a part of every girl’s college life? Of course these dainty tidbits add to the calories of the fair coeds, beyond the calculated number planned by Miss Rowe, the dietitian, but who cares about a few calories more or less if they interfere with the glorious times which accompany dormitory life? Let us not forget about the Hallowe’en, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and birthday parties which have won so much favor among the members of our family.

While relating the social activities, we must remember Tuesday night, which is guest night, when after a delicious dinner, “topped off” with pie, the girls entertain their friends to the tunes of a player-piano in the recreation room.

Six years ago our administration body, composed of a proctor from each corridor, was introduced as a new form of student self-government, which assisted Miss Hussey in taking the responsibility for the problems of dormitory life. This form of government, still in existence, has been found to be easily adaptable to the life of Nelson Hall.

The new dial telephone system, installed this year, saves Miss Rowe and the office girls “many a weary step.” The “come together” drapes eliminate the problem of “pulling the shades.”

The fine opportunity for social experiences, and the making of a vast number of friends reflects itself in the members of our family who have graduated, who have left us with regret, and who find our Hall a welcome place to return to renew their acquaintances and memories of college days.

2. The Scot of Scots, George Morton Dalziel, pleasingly entertained during the Assembly hour.

3. Girls' Basketball Tournament. Some hotly contested games were staged between the Alley Cats, the Muckleheads, the Shiners, and the Jugglers. The Alley Cats came out on top of the fence, incidently. Shouldn't they?

Did you meet our inventor?—Mr. Ed. OKray. He invents new excuses for absences.

Debate varsity returned from a round robin tournament in St. Paul with a group of western colleges. We understand the trip was valuable as a source of experience. What kind?

4. Green Bay Packers defeat Pointers. But, that was the Coach's fault—on the basketball floor he's as slippery as the proverbial eel.

5. Sigma Tau Delta dancing party in the New Gym. These Englishers can give us some pretty fine entertainment in more ways than one.

7. W. A. A. initiation. A treasure hunt that led a devious trail through all the secluded corners and dark and gloomy halls was the big feature of the evening. We showed the frosh where "bats in the belfry" thrive.

10. Football Banquet at Nelson Hall Rec Room. Now all the athletes are resplendent in their brilliant "gold" sweaters—or in the envied purple ones!

First Hobo: "Do you want an apple?"

Second Hobo: "Thanks, I never lunch between meals."

17. St. Patrick's Day "Wearin' of the Green." Wished Nuesse and Boyle "bon voyage" and best luck.

18. State Oratorical Contest at Milwaukee. Nuesse captured highest honors. Long live the Champ!

19. Rural Life Party. The club's annual party is always successful, but never has it been more beautiful than this year with its silvery harps and bright shamrocks.

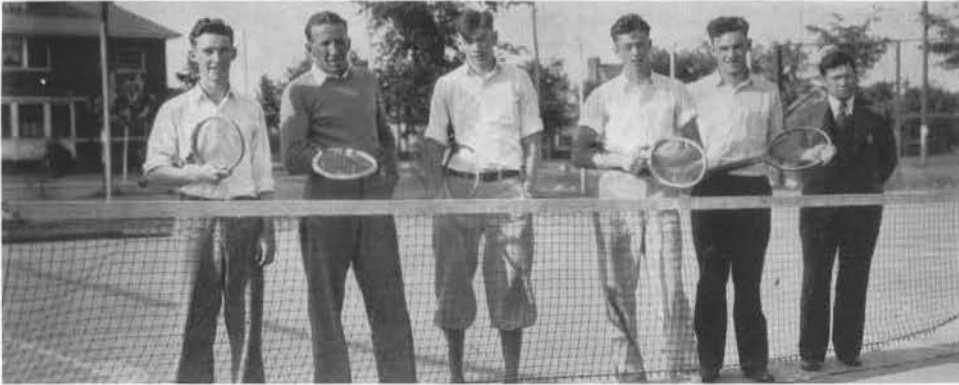

"Money talks."

"Yes, but it never gives itself away."

21. First day of Spring. Believe it or not!

25. Easter vacation—March 25 to 30. Campus was lonesome.

C. Collins, J. Pralgsuke, A. Thompson, R. Rothman, R. Marshall, F. J. Schmееckle

1. April Fool's Day. Peppered chocolates and pocket books nailed to walks seem a lost art. 'Stoo bad! All foolin' aside, the day ushered in the spring social season with the Chi Delt Formal. It proved to be a delightful party, with a gay harbinger of events to follow.

5. Lew Sarett, celebrated poet, gave his lecture, "Wings Against the Moon," but "lecture" is too staid a term to describe so entertaining a performance. His keen philosophy and insight made us realize much of the hidden beauty always about us.

Thomas Edison is responsible for most of the world's big lights. Volstead is a close second, but most of his are just half-lit, according to Judge Bale.

9. The merry whirl goes on with the Omega Spring Party at Hotel Wausau. A night to remember and stow away in rose leaves.

Baker: "Well, I'm back, Prexy, just as you told me to be."

Prexy: "But you were expelled permanently."

Baker: "But the letter said, 'After five days return to Central State.'"

13. Margaret Ashmun Club. Mr. F. J. Schmееckle presented an illustrated talk on Nature Subjects.

15. Junior Prom. Best ever! We were transported far down south for the occasion—with Eli Rice and his Cotton Pickers strummin'.

22. Phi Sig Formal. Bigger and better than ever! The Knights of the Night gave the dancers all the inspiration they needed in order to have a good time.

28. As a fitting close to the season of formals the Tau Gams entertained with the help of the inimitable Tommy Temple. And so, the days of tense excitement and speculation, the nights of favors, programs, and corsages are over once more. We heave a sigh of regret—deep regret, and a small one of relief.

30. Play Day sponsored by the W. A. A. for all the High School Juniors and Seniors round about. We bow to the preps for their splendid show of good sportsmanship.

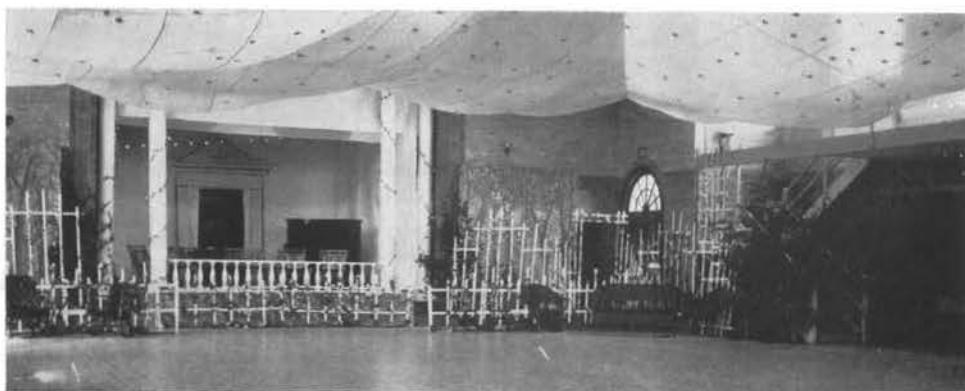

Junior Promenade

"Come Smiling to Cotton Town" was the invitation which brought many curious couples to the unusual 1932 Junior Prom.

A glimpse into the "Sunny South" revealed a plantation veranda in whose alcoves were found Eli Rice and His Cotton Pickers. Climbing blossoms of all kinds were Nature's contribution to the latticed enclosure of the path into this dreamlike setting. Under a sky of twinkling stars, a large full moon, concealed among tall trees and overhanging branches, brought to light a cabin tucked away among rows of cotton. The owner was discovered peaceably reclining in a chair, smoking a pipe. Quiet contentment reigned as the guests gathered about the old stone well or in the mystic shadows of the trees, reveling in the simple beauty of the setting.

Soon, however, familiar melodies, typical of the South broke the hushed atmosphere, and the couples assembled for the Grand March. Leading the procession were Cedric Vig and Adeline Bellman, the reigning King and Queen of the Promenade. Simple and charming as her personality, was the green lace gown of the Queen. Immediately following were Arthur Thompson and Ruth Reedal, Lord and Lady of the Land. In slight contrast to the Queen, Lady Reedal wore a pale pink satin gown. Lovely colored dresses of every hue were soon intermingled with the dark formal suits of the men as slippered feet "tripped the light fantastic toe" to Eli Rice's perfect rhythm.

All too soon, the "witching hour" brought the pleasant evening to a close. Darkness covered all as the southern fairyland settled back into realms of memory, and the dancers "Went Smiling from Cotton Town."

2. Interstate Oratorical Contest with Iowa, Illinois, and best of all, Wisconsin represented. This is one of the signal honors that the Point has enjoyed.

6. The "S" Club with its retinue of dashing athletes was host at a dancing party in the New Gym. A gay reminder of many crucial moments on the gridiron and hardwood court which meant winning one or another of the coveted "S's" as a decoration.

11. The prize meeting of the Margaret Ashmun Club with Miss Margaret Ashmun appearing on the program. A delightful social hour followed the program in the "Rec" Room at Nelson Hall.

13. The faithful Frosh gave us another All-School Party. Seemed rather like a farewell gesture to the Seniors.

20. W. A. A. entertained the student body at one of the last parties of this year.

June

5. Baccalaureate Sunday. Solemn moments in a solemn day, stirring thoughts too deep for frivolous words. The Rev. A. W. Swan of Madison, Wisconsin, addressed the Seniors and their friends.

6. President and Mrs. Hyer give the annual reception at their Clark Street home.

7. Class Day. Always a momentous occasion when robed Seniors not only receive awards, but also present their gifts to the Alma Mater and its future students.

8. Another traditional and indispensable item of Commencement Week, the Class Play, better than ever, was presented.

10. At the traditional Senior-Alumni Banquet, C. S. T. C. gives the members of preceding classes the opportunity to return once more to close association with the scenes of their own Commencement. Because the banquet was held on a Friday evening, it was possible for more than the usual number of alumni to attend. The Senior Hop, of equal importance, followed.

11. Commencement. Sadness intermingled with gladness comes at this supreme moment when Mr. William Rainey Bennett of Elgin, Illinois, spoke to all the Grads.

"THE COLLEGE THAT TRAINS FOR SERVICE"

Nelson Hall

A steam heated, three story, fire-proof building erected especially for the Dormitory for young women. This building affords a comfortable home for one hundred five women.

Each room is electric lighted, with hot and cold running water and fully furnished except for pillows and bedding. The price is $2.00 per week.

The girls may wash and iron in rooms equipped for laundry work.

The large dining room provides accommodation for 175 men and women. Meals are ample, well balanced, with fresh fruits and vegetables in season. The price is $5.00 per week, subject to change, with reasonable charge for single meals.

The young women in Nelson Hall are under the friendly influence of wholesome companions in an environment of simple beauty and refinement.

*A Yearbook Service that inspires a staff
to creative effort*

A SCHOOL annual is at its best when student interest is keyed to a high pitch by the fascinating development of niceties that will make the book distinctive. This is the key idea back of Badger Yearbook Service. Close contacts and personal assistance offer students an insight into the fundamentals of school annual building. The work is accordingly given impetus through a better understanding of the purpose and aim in every move. Thus, a staff knows at all times what it desires to accomplish. When this is achieved, the task becomes a pleasure.

The success of the Badger plan is evidenced each year in the high ratings received by an unusually large percentage of books produced by us, and by the fact that many schools insist on Badger quality year after year.

(If you are a faculty adviser, or a student interested in annuals, write for full details on the Badger Plan)
