ALUMNI NEWS BULLETIN

HOLIDAY EDITION

This issue of the News Bulletin is dedicated to the team of Rolfsen and Swallow, two loyal, conscientious and dedicated servants of the college for a total of nearly four score years.

1962 marks the retirement of two of the College's most devoted and well-known personalities, Miss Caroline Rolfsen and Miss Marie Swallow.

Graduates of the college since 1919 have known Carolyn Rolfsen who served for a brief period of time as secretary of the training school (as it was then known) and since 1924 as financial secretary in the accounting office of the college. She holds the distinction of providing more years of service than any other employee in the history of the college - a total of 43 years. She has seen the enrollment increase from 400 to 2400 and experienced the disturbances which resulted on the college campus from three wars. At one time her duties included registering students, collecting fees, ordering supplies, textbooks and equipment as well as the accounting duties of her office. In 1955 the number of her duties had been reduced so that she became a full-time business manager.

Marie Swallow, with whom Miss Rolfsen lived and traveled for many years, became secretary in the Campus School in 1925. She had previously taught school in Wisconsin and Oregon. She, too, became associated with the college when it was known as a normal school which later became Stevens Point State Teachers College and then Wisconsin State College at Stevens Point. Her duties in the Campus School were likewise numerous and demanding. As the number of graduates interested in teaching increased with the additional number from the school of Letters and Science and Applied Arts and Science, the volume of credentials became overwhelming. Added in this was the tremendous increase in the number of alumni who had their credentials brought up to date and available for promotional opportunities. This, however, was only a part of her duties. She kept all records of the Campus School, ordered all the supplies and took care of the many duties and details of the office.

Both served many students as well as visitors to the college campus and built up a long list of friends, many who are alumni of the college.

In answer to the question as to their retirement plans, their first delight is in realizing that they no longer have to respond to the alarm clock to be on duty each day. They have many places they wish to visit although there are few who have traveled as extensively as have these two. Both are looking forward to a trip to Europe which is scheduled for April and includes the continent of Europe, the Scandinavian countries, the British Isles, and Ireland. This trip is to extend over nearly a six-month period which should assure them of a thorough tour.

Their active participation in several professional and service organizations will not be discontinued with their retirement. They will continue their services with the Red Cross, the Rebecca Lodge, the Wisconsin Historical Society, the Community Chest and the Business and Professional Women's Club. Those interested in their address will find them at 1019 1/2 Ellis Street, Stevens Point, Wisconsin. The alumni office wishes them many years of continued pleasure in their well-deserved retirement.

From our president emeritus

At the request of Dr. Gotham I am writing a short note for the Alumni Bulletin, now as a fellow alumnus not as president of the college. I can report that the change of status is not disturbing me. I am busier than I need to be for comfort. I suspect the Bulletin has few readers of my college generation. In the fall of 1909 when I enrolled at old S.P.N. the University of Wisconsin enrolled one thousand freshmen for the first time. This fall, 1962, our college enrolled just about a thousand freshmen. There were probably close to three hundred students in S.P.N. in 1909, but quite a few were not high school graduates. So you can appreciate what has happened in higher education in the intervening half century, and the end is not yet.

There are big problems ahead in the next few years if formal education beyond the high school is to be made available to the many young folks who will be seeking it. It will require the expansion of buildings and other facilities and teaching staff at an unprecedented rate. Our college is continuing to build both classroom and residence buildings in an effort to meet the challenge.

I'll try to be present at some of the alumni gatherings from time to time and will enjoy seeing you there. May you be happy and successful in your work.

Valuable School Public Relations Understandings

The Association of State University and Land-grant Colleges, the National Council for the Social Studies and the National School Public Relations Associations combined in a joint project to prepare a publication entitled "The Story of the Schools: A Short History of Public Education in the United States."

This publication has been prepared to meet an observed lack of understanding on the part of many in education as well as the general public as to the progress of public education in the country. It has found to serve as helpful resource information with teachers and with segments of the public like. Single copies are available at sixty-five cents or in sets of 15 copies at $4.80 from the National Council for the Social Studies, 1201 Sixteenth Street, NW, Washington 6, D. C.

Mr. Robert Munger, regional vice -resident of the National School Public Relations Association and who is field and public relations consultant for the WEA, will be happy to receive your reaction to the publication and any suggestions you may have for its use in helping to create broader and deeper understanding of the role of public education in America. A copy of this booklet would be appropriate for any graduate of this college to provide resource material in the effort of each one to better promote the cost of public education from the kindergarten through college. We are pleased to encourage your obtaining a copy and to encourage others to avail themselves of this fine publication.

A Word of Gratitude and Appreciation

The college is deeply grateful to every alumni who in any way contributes his or her efforts in behalf of the college. It is the combined efforts of all those who are conscious of the importance of their efforts in this respect that has contributed so much to the present development of the college and in its important future. The genuine efforts and many sacrifices of some often go unnoticed and unidentified. Yet we know that the feeling of achievement in having encouraged many capable high school graduates in continuing their education in order to fill many challenging positions of the future serves as an ample reward for these efforts.

It has been necessary for the college to call upon some of our graduates to extend an additional service when conditions make it impossible for a representative of our college to make these heavy schedules. Among these requests is that of representing the college during an evening career or college night.

Three loyal alumni from Janesville have been of real service last year and again this year in this respect. Grant Thayer, principal of the Marshall Junior High School at Janesville, together with Bob Burkman and Eddie Heuer made up an important team to alternate in these assignments. Carl Strassburg, principal of the New Berlin High School has attended several college nights for us this fall which again has been of real service to the college. Others who have served in like manner are William Parks and Diane Schwetz of East High School in Madison; Stanley Kordus, principal of the Franklin Junior High School in Racine; David Schneeberg who is teaching at Iron Mountain, Michigan; Mrs. Lucille Vaughan, guidance director of the junior high school at Waupun; Mrs. Doris Balko, primary grade teacher at Ladysmith; Jack Crook, social studies teacher at the Hamilton High School at Sussex; and Ira Abney, curriculum coordinator at Sauk-Prairie. The unusually heavy demands for representatives of the college to participate in evening programs of this nature will prompt an expansion of this alumni program. We hope that there will be other alumni who will be willing to assist when called upon.

'62 GRADS ESTABLISH HANSEN LOAN FUND

A total of $19,927.79 has been placed in the Hansen Loan Fund at Stevens Point State College.

Myron Sroda, who was president, and Robert West, project chairman, of the senior class which was graduated in June, gave a summary of contributions to the fund. Promotion of the fund, established to honor William C. Hansen, who retired July 1 as president and to provide financial assistance for needy students, was a special project of the seniors as their departing gift to the school.

Contributions to the fund came from the Stevens Point Area Chamber of Commerce, $1,000 from a testimonial dinner for Hansen, and a subsequent donation; Junior Chamber of Commerce, $150; Alumni contributions totaling $667; and the senior class treasury of $180.79.

To the sum collected, the federal government added $9 for each $1 in the fund, to bring the total in the fund to the $19,927.79 mark, Sroda reported. The government contribution is provided for under terms of the National Defense Education Act.

FROM THE COLLEGE PLACEMENT OFFICE

Jobs And Salaries Favorable For Stevens Point College Seniors This Year

Degree graduates from Wisconsin State College's School of Education, Letters and Science and Applied Arts and Sciences found placement opportunities both numerous and financially attractive. A report from Dr. Raymond E. Gotham, director of placement services, states that an urgent demand for teachers continues, with some schools unable to fill vacancies.

"The increase in the number entering the teaching profession has fallen far behind the proportionate increase in college enrollment," said the report. "Continued population increases, added to the earlier population bulge of the late 40s and during the 50s, is compounding the demand for more teachers from the elementary schools on through the college and university levels."

Less than one-third of the 169 elementary graduates from the mid-year, June and August classes were beginning teachers, Gotham pointed out. With few exceptions, the remaining two-thirds were experienced teachers who have attended numerous summer sessions and extensive courses and have finally met degree requirements. Practically all of these teachers returned to their present teaching positions located in or near their home vicinity.

The salary range for elementary school beginning teachers was $4,500 to $4,800.

Allexcept three of the high school teachers among this year's graduates accepted teaching positions for this fall, Gotham reported.

"Demands for high school teachers was greater this year than in any previous years," he declared. "Critical shortage of teachers of chemistry, physics, mathematics, language, English, home economics, business education, girl's physical education, art and music was apparent. Teachers qualified in special areas as speech correction, remedial reading, guidance, curriculum organization, and classroom supervisors were in very short supply. The recent formation of large integrated districts has prompted greater demands for special services."

The salary range for beginning high school teachers was $4,500 to $4,800.

A ready market was available for the services of graduates of the Stevens Point School of Letters and Science in practically all fields of study, the report states. These jobs, with good pay, were found in business, industry and in state and federal services. A college degree with a sound recommendation and completion of military service are the prime prerequisites for employment.

The number of jobs available far exceed the number of candidates, Gotham commented. Military service, marriage, enrollment in graduate school, and college teaching assignments reduced the number available for positions by nearly one-fourth.

Salaries in the $4,500 to $5,000 range were being offered for the 12-month positions.

Until this year, graduates from the School of Applied Arts and Science were classified with Letters and Science graduates. This special classification includes majors in conservation (19), home economics (3), medical technology (5), and music (2).

Salaries for these positions range from $4,500 to $5,000.

Pointer Alumni

We have received a most interesting and informative letter from Judith Ryan '62, who is with the Peace Corps in West Pakistan. She writes as follows: "I arrived in Pakistan, September 27. I stayed at the Karachi airport only a few hours for photographs, customs, etc., then I flew to Lahore where there was a formal reception for all the Peace Corps People in that area. The next morning I came to Sialkot where I am now working. After three weeks here I am now working. After three weeks here I went to Peshawar for a short period of in country training. There is a U.S.A.F. base there (the U-2 incident). A boy from Randolph was stationed there which convinced me what a small world this is. While in Peshawar, I had a tour of Khyber Pass and went to the Afgan-istan border which was very well guarded. After 2 weeks I returned to Sialkot. Sialkot is a city of 150,000 people and a history of 5000 years, much of it violent. It is located 7 miles from the Kasmir boarder. The city itself is dirty and crowded, but the Sialkot cantonment (Pak Army Base) is very beautiful with long straight streets. There are 4 hospitals, 3 colleges, 2 Catholic churches and 3 or more Protestant churches. The city streets are narrow, crooked, paved, and full of traffic including horse-drawn tongas, bullock carts, water buffalo, bicycles, cars, busses, trucks and people. There are no traffic laws or signs. I will never complain about American traffic again. I am working at the Civil Hospital, small and government sponsored. It has a good staff of doctors. It is very poorly equipped but the operating room is excellent. I work in the lab which does very limited work. I spend a great deal of time sitting around. It is very cold here now. The days are very nice like September outside, but the temperature goes way down at night. It never warms up inside the buildings so the people really dress warm. I spend a lot of time visiting people, mostly Pakistan. There are quite a few Europeans here but only one American. There are 7 other P.C.V's here. Most of the Pakistanis I know speak English quite well. However, I am learning to speak Panjabi and read Urdu. I spent some time in Lahorid, saw Shalimar gardens, Badshahi mosque and other famous places. I am having a rather difficult time with food. Cooking facilities are very different here. Fire place style, but I'm enjoying everything and having a wonderful time." Judith Ryan, c/o Dr. Zahida, Civil Hospital - Sialkot, West Pakistan.

The following communication reached us from the Near East Foundation, P. O. Box 850, Tehran, Iran:

"I am at present with the Peace Corps in Iran. The Near East Foundation administers this project in Iran by a contract arrangement with the Peace Corps in Washington.

For preparation to come to Iran I completed an intensive eleven week training period this past summer at Utah State University at Logan, Utah. Training consisted of a complete course in the Persian language (which I teach now) and the culture of Iran, along with several other subjects including my specialty — horticulture. At present I am teaching horticulture at an agriculture normal school in Nezaiyeh, Iran which is equivalent to an American high school. I am also teaching English as a foreign language, community development programs and adult education classes. The length of my term is two years in Iran." MARTIN JOHNSON, '62

TOM LUND, '53, graduate of Point and former radio announcer for WSPT, Stevens Point, sent the Alumni Office this very interesting letter:

"Instead of all these multi-colored missives, I'd enjoy a letter from someone back there - Sidone, Miss Glennon, Mr. Knutzen, Dr. Gothattm, etc. I realize by not writing I've forfeited my right to expect letters, but I would like to hear from you. My best regards to everyone in that rickety old building. Jo (JoAnn Cerney) and I have four children now with another deduction due this December. We are hopeful that it will be a boy. (We have only one now - Timothy - and he doesn't care for girls. He takes after his mother.) Salaries down here are higher than up-state, as you know, but they still do not allow one to keep up with inflation. My net salary has been about the same for three years now. There is always too much month left at the end of my money. I'm still writing (in this respect I am a nut) and the publishers are still sending my stuff back. Presently, I'm in the midst of a novel on education - my first try at fiction. I don't expect it to be published either, but I'm enjoying the experience. We have a fine faculty here at Longfellow Jr. High, Wauwatosa, and a fine principal, Burton J. Stallard. I have never had a finer boss. To me there is no greater challenge than teaching and it would be an extremely desirable occupation if the financial rewards were what they should be. My program is straight 8th grade English now and I enjoy it immensely. As you can guess, my students do a great deal of creative writing. We have a ball! It is remarkable what this age group can do along these lines. They don't want to write, really, but they would like to be good writers, so all that is needed then, is a taskmaster like me to make them write. By mid-semester most of them have come to like the idea. I was out of school from September 18th to October 9th this fall because of surgery, but each day finds me moving about more, shouting louder and scowling more ferociously at my students and family. Jo is a wonderful nurse, by the way, and as good looking as ever. Looking back over this letter I feel obliged to apologize for its first-person-singular-pronounishness. Yours in the hope that Cuba will be our 51st state - Tom Lund and family, residing at 1946 N. 74th St., Wauwatosa 13, Wisconsin.

Alumni Directory to be Published Early in '63

The alumni office has endeavored over the past several years to locate the names and address of every graduate whose whereabouts is known in order to build up an active and up-to-date alumni file and membership. Several letters have been sent to some addresses in the hope that it would eventually reach the "lost Pointer." Too often the letter returned with the notice stamped on the envelope, "Moved without leaving a forwarding address." The next letter was addressed to the individual's home address, requesting that the parents forward the letter. This helped in a number of instances, but many others came back.

Those loyal alumni who sent us names and addresses of "pointers" they knew has helped a great deal in this difficult task of building up our alumni files. To these we extend our sincere appreciation. Perhaps others will lend a helping hand in this effort.

The alumni office has delayed the preparation of the directory until the number of members could be substantially increased. There will be those we will be unable to locate for the first directory. Those Pointers who will be located after the directory is prepared will be included in the following issues which are to be published. Only active members can be included since there is considerable expense involved in the preparation and printing of the directory. The cost will be drawn from the regular membership dues.

Kindly fill in the Directory Questionnaire in full and mail it in to the Alumni Association, Wisconsin State College, Stevens Point, Wisconsin. If you are not an active member with a 1962-63 membership card, include your check for one dollar. You will be sent your membership card, a copy of the directory, and the current issues of the Alumni News Letter. We are counting on your cooperation and support.

DONALD GUZMAN, '50, and his wife PATRICIA HARRISON GUZMAN '51, are living in Cornell, Wisconsin where he is a chemist at Cornell Paper-board Products. Pat has returned to teaching this fall after a nine year absence. "A truly new experience teaching grades 1 to 4 in a rural school outside of Bloomer, 15 miles from Cornell." Their family consists of: Karen, 9 years; Ronald, 7 1/2 years; Robert 6 1/2 and Debra, 3.

Mrs. Ove Rasmusen, formerly ETHEL MADSEN BERGSTROM, '46, writes to tell us that she is still teaching fourth grade at Central School, Menomonie, Wis. This is her twenty-sixth year of teaching in Menomonie. In 1960 she took an interesting trip to the eastern part of the United States and Canada. Her husband is a registered pharmacist at Jones Menomonie Pharmacy and they live at 115 12th Avenue, W. Menomonie, Wis.

RONALD R. SPRISE, '50, is principal and fourth grade teacher at the Washington School, Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin. His wife, MARGARET (JOHNSON) SPRISE, '50, is a seventh grade teacher at the Children's Choice School, Biron. Their home address is 111 Seventh Street, South, Wisconsin Rapids.

ROBERTA (BOBBIE) BROEREN, '53, has sent us the following greetings and news of her "happenings" during the past year:

"Christmas, 1961, Istanbul, Turkey, a city of bazaars and mosques, weird sounds and strange dress, bargaining and praying. Athens, Greece - history and culture, the rich and the very poor! Four day tour through the countryside showed us the poverty of the "country-folk", famous ruins, snow-covered mountains and fruit-growing valleys. Enjoyed going in to see a Greek Orthodox Christmas service in Athens.

"Winter, 1962. Took up the sport of skiing - cautiously! Do enjoy the sport and after one bad spill I've learned that one doesn't start at the top of the ladder. Good Alps skiing is but a couple hours drive from Munich.

"Easter, 1962, Yugoslavia - unfriendly, unclean, under-developed. Drove through Austria to Trieste, (picturesque port city) Italy. Crossed into Yugoslavia (no difficulty getting in but were held up some time when we tried to leave as we had misplaced our declarations form which listed money, cigarettes, cameras, etc. which we had when we entered the country! Thanks to a high-ranking Slavic military man we were allowed to pass on!) Hopped a steamer to Dubrovnik - interesting walled city in the southern most part of the country. Some pleasant memories of this trip - the Sun, the tropical vegetation and the brilliant handicrafts of the natives.

"Summer, 1962, A much needed rest - 2 weeks on the French Riviera. Visits to Cannes and Nice (shook hands with Glen Ford here!) Monte Carlo, visited one of the famous perfume plants at Grasse and just enjoyed the sun and the sea while camping on the blue Mediterranean.

"July and August. 2 travel-packed months. Headed north with tent, stoves, sleeping bags, lantern, fishing poles and food supplies. Destination - GOD'S country, Norway - via Denmark, Sweden, (made good use of Stockholm's shopping mecca) Arctic Circle, Lapland (we had to stop as we were driving along to let reindeer cross the road.) the Midnight Sun. Entered Norway at Narvik (cold!) and worked down the coast to Trondheim and Oslo, often leaving the main roadway (all gravel and dirt-corrugated paper type - averaged 20 m.p.h.) to stop along the beautiful fjords, mountains, streams and lakes. And what trout fishing!!! Butter-fried trout eased the food budget for a week!

"A 36-hour ferry crossing from Oslo, Norway to Newcastle, England was a wonderful change from the tent, considering the spotless ship and the delicious Scandinavian dishes. North to Scotland and marvelous shopping in Edinburgh, heather-covered hills, fairy-tale scenes on the Isle of Skye, winding drives along such lakes as Loch Lomon, clean green campsites with wonderful proprietors (one lady dug several fresh vegetables out of her garden and gave them to us - so friendly!!) the drive along the River Wye, so wooded and green. Shakespeare's Stratford-on-Avon in the Cotswold area, Oxford, Stratford and the many castles along the way - namely Windsor. On to the hustle and bustle of London with Big Ben, Westminster Abbey, Hyde Park, Trafalgar Square, the Palace Guards, Piccadilly Circus and the wonderful entertainment of the theatre. The English Channel crossing from Dover was a rough one. Munich was reached through Normandy, Brussels and Cologne.

"Veterans Day, 1962, Prague, Czechoslovakia - dim, dreary, depressing though not as much as East Berlin. Ever so thankful that I'M AN AMERICAN!!! Impression of Communism - DEATH TO ONE'S SPIRIT!!

Roberta spent Thanksgiving in Vienna and expects a relaxing Christmas season in the Alps. She would like to hear from friends who may reach her at Munich American Elementary School #1, A.P.O. 407, New York, New York.

CLIFFORD BORCHARDT, who attended this college in the mid-thirties, is now a diplomatic courier for the State Department stationed at Frankfurt, Germany. He has traveled to such places as Helsinki, Moscow, Oslo, Vienna, Paris, Tel Aviv, Casablanca, Zanzibar and Timbuktu. And someone else pays the bills. Cliff enjoys this privilege the year round and gets well paid besides. Since 1956 he has traveled almost half a million miles.

His home was Wisconsin Rapids while he attended Point. He entered the services, joining the army air force, and spent five years as a weather observer in Ecuador, Peru, Panama and the Galapagos Islands. For the next ten years following his discharge from the army in 1946 he worked for a hospital insurance company in Milwaukee, becoming district manager. The early death of his wife prompted many changes in his life and eventually brought him to his present association with the State Department. A lengthy article appeared in the October 9 issue of the Milwaukee Journal.

Before returning to his Frankfurt office on November 5, Mr. Borchardt sent an interesting letter to the alumni office. We quote one paragraph: "Yes, fond memories of those pre-war years at Point are very vivid and dear to me. But time, I am sure, has had its effect on the material aspects of campus life. As I recall we had an enrollment of around 700 during my days. And now, with the enrollment of over 2400 many changes certainly must have been made to accommodate this tremendous growth. It would be an exciting experience to visit the campus after all these years. Perhaps at some future date this may be possible. Would certainly be very glad to see the members of the faculty I knew."

Mr. Borchardt may be reached at the American Consulate General, A.P.O. 757, New York, New York.

The following letter has been received from Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM FRIZZELL who are in Perigueux, France:

"Lest you are unaware of our present environment, we are residing at Rue Alfred de Musset, Perigueux, (pair'oh gu) which is located in south central France. We live in a third floor apartment with typical French furnishings. The house as most French houses is stucco with a tile roof. The windows open vertically each one has a shutter also. The apartment has indoor plumbing, two fireplaces, and a separate water closet.

We are both teaching at the two room school for children of Army personnel. The enrollment is usually between twenty-three and thirty with changes in personnel occurring monthly. Madame Delteil, a resident of Perigueux, is the remaining member of the teaching staff. She teaches French, manages the library, and handles the paper work. And in an Army school there are NUMEROUS forms to be filled weekly. Traveling teachers for music, art and physical education visit the school monthly. The France district consists of twenty schools headed by a superintendent whose headquarters are at Orleans. The closest school from us is over an hours' drive. The studies for the children are about the same as at home, but in addition, one period a day is spent learning French. There are about one hundred fifty American Army schools in Europe. They range in size from one one-room school to several having over one hundred teachers.

The Perigueux Army post is small but does have a library, theater, bowling alley, paper, snack-bar and PX. A Chaplain from another post has church services every Sunday evening. An Army bus takes the dependents twice a week to the nearest food commissary run by the Army for groceries. Ida visits a French coiffeur downtown for her hair appointments. Numerous families helped transport us before our car arrived. In fact, an Army sedan would come to take us to school each morning.

The Perigueux area has many sights which a traveler enjoys. Remains of an old Roman Arena may be seen. A large old cathedral has Byzantine architecture. Market day every Saturday is exceedingly interesting. People bring all types of goods to market ranging from crabs to yard goods. Streets in the old part of town are extremely narrow, suitable for only bicycles, which are numerous on all European roads. Another interesting spectacle is seeing the French taking their narrow loaves of bread home strapped onto the back of their bicycle.

The countryside contains many chateaux that may be visited. Near the city the world famous Lascaux caves with pre-historic drawings are visited by many tourists. Truffles, a fungus growth used similarly to mushrooms, are grown in this area. The harvesting of grapes has just been completed. The entire process is very educational.

Eating at a French restaurant is different. Usually there are seven courses, cheese and fruit followed by extremely strong chico coffee is the typical ending to all French meals. Wine and French bread are served with all meals.

Thus far we've made two extended trips. First we traveled to Saint Nazaire to get our auto. We traveled through Nantes, LaRochelle, and Royal on the return trip. All are situated on the ocean and have interesting ports. Royal, badly damaged during the war, has so many modern buildings.

In early October, Bill had the opportunity to go to Berchtesgaden, Germany to a conference with another principal. We traveled through France, Germany, Austria, Liechtenstein, and Switzerland. Ida met us in Geneva, Switzerland so we spent a day nibbling their famous chocolate and viewing the beautiful sights.

In conclusion, we wish to extend a joyous holiday season to all of you west of the puddle."

EDITOR'S NOTE:

FROM ALPHA BETA RHO CAMPUS FRATERNITY — 1962 . . .

Alpha Beta Rho has been very active internally during the past year. Under the leadership of President Victor Thalacker, Vice President Tom Dlugos, Secretary Craig Schwartz, Treasurer Walt Prah, and Historian Jim Kuehn great strides are being made to make our group strong and successful. We are 38 men strong this fall and have 12 pledges who will become actives the 2nd week in December.

Some of the things we have done include revising the constitution, formed a non-stock corporation, and are in the process of drawing up a written pledge manual for use in future years. Our Historian Jim Kuehn has completely reorganized our history and set it down in writing. We also are in the process of discussing the housing situation here on campus and are looking forward to the date when the alumni of Alpha Beta Rho can come back and see the many improvements that are being made in our fraternity and on our campus. We are anxious to hear from our alumni via letters or visits. Anytime that you are in the Stevens Point area stop in at the school and meet some of us. We are also discussing setting up some kind of alumni organization or newsletter of ABP. If any of you would like to express your views or opinions on this they would be greatly appreciated by the members.

Happy New Year to all the alumni and we hope to visit with you on campus some time in the future.

Victor Thalacker, President
