Tennis Association Organized
After a number of years with limited tennis court accommodation, the Student Body has set aside funds to construct four new courts. The Athletic Association and the newly formed Physical Education Department have combined their efforts on the project and work has been begun. The tennis court is to be built behind the new Orthman School. Up to the year 1916, there were three clay courts in use. There was much enthusiasm and the rivalry in the tournaments was keen. Then came the war. Interest then turned to more vital things and the tennis courts fell into disuse.
There were only two courts in Stevens Point before the new movement took place. The Fair Grounds court was built by an association of business men, and was for their use only. Several years later, the Dormitory court was built. Both of these courts are crowded continually. There is a long list of families who will play when the new courts are completed.

STIMULUS INCREASING

With the number of tennis enthusiasts increasing each spring, the new courts will not be too soon. Mr. Schmeckle realizing this need, organized the Tennis Club, which is the largest organization of its kind in school. Graal Herrick was elected President, Margaret-Larson, secretary-treasurer, and Bernard Labbs secretary-treasurer. Only one hundred dollars of the necessary one thousand dollars of the new courts forty dollars remain to be secured and the Tennis Club has given one thousand dollars to purchase equipment. Mr. J. W. Moxon, a local ex-mentor, has been a valuable contributor and has promised to have the first two courts finished by May 1.

Now that the number of courts has increased, a tournament is being planned. There will be singles for girls and boys, and doubles for both. Medals will be awarded to the winners.

MUSIC CONTEST HELD

The District High School Music contest was held in the Normal auditorium last Friday. It was said to be of greater interest and keen competition than in former years. Over two hundred contestants took part, representing all of the various schools of this district. The contesting cities were divided into two classification A and B. The most artistic rivalry was between Wausau and Stevens Point, the only schools which entered competition in Class A Group. This group was confined to cities of over 10,000 population. Although Wausau scored 18 points to Stevens Points' 16, the two cities divided major honors, each school winning first three places.

Play To Full House

The faculty held its second annual banquet in the auditorium in the midst of securing funds for publicity Monday night April 19th. The program included a speech in appreciation of students and townsfolk. It was a decided success and the faculty has pleasure in seeing the proofs in ancient styles and outlandish garb.

President Sims opened with a few words of welcome. The program consisted of several numbers and it did both of these admirably. From Mr. J. W. Moxon, a local ex-mentor, has been a valuable contributor and has promised to have the first two courts finished by May 1.

PROGRAM MEETS

"Fits and Mists" an all-star production in three scenes by the ladies of the faculty was the first act. This act had a delightful portrayal of the styles of yesterday, today and tomorrow. Scene I was an old-fashioned garden, much flowery, and Miss Hardy dandled the dainty minuet of the girlhood days of long ago. Scene II centered around a Ten, wherein modern styles and manners were burned. Scene III was entitled "Any Place — Any Time". As the curtain fell, the title was fitting.

The second part of the program was "Samples from a Traveling Bag" and a varied collection of readings and songs which had the faculty and the music facultyWide!...

NEW TENNIS COURTS SOON COMPLETED

The new tennis courts will be completed in the near future. They will provide much needed space for the students of the school and will be a great asset to the school in the future. The tennis courts are being built behind the new Orthman School and work has begun. The tennis court is to be completed by May 1. The new courts will be open to the public and will be a benefit to the town. The tennis court will be used for tournaments and other events.

TO A WILD ROSE

Little one, pretty one, Summer breezes call you,
In the warm summer sun, Dreaming in the sunshine.
All the earth hills thine birth
On the sun-browned hillside, Robin's song, filled with mirth, is a song of cheer.
Fairest flower of sun filled days,
Rains of Spring to Autumn haze,
All the warm sun's children fair
Thought to their own self to compare.
All the warring summer air
Tells me, dear, of you.

Now the warm summer's done,
Autumn breezes call you;
When the warm summer sun
Comes, return to me.

L. G. Smith.

SEASONS

Summer

The sunlit river drifts along,
The wind in the pine-trees sings its song.
The warm sun shines on the shadowy bank,
With the glittering starspots, steely bright.

Winter

The wolves steel out in the earing
At night,
And watch the light from the moon's clear light;
Their white teeth bathe in the young man's hand;
The Red Gods chuckle and yell for more.

Spring

The oak trees bloom. The North wind blows; the snowdrifts fade.
With the bark of the fox and the howl of the owl.
A slamming shock lopes through the fields.
Red eyed and shaggy, hollow eyed and gaunt.
Deep in the slashing the wildcats.
Where the dead white birch on the Comes the savage music of the North gate.
The lion bear thrills to the lone wolf's wolf.

Fall

Sifted breath of Spring and the
And the true of the sun's heat
When the pine-trees turn.

L. G. Smith.

TO AN EIGHT O'CLOCK CLASS

Faithful old Ben, you never miss A good joke, and I suspect blues. Do you? Only today I lay abed, Far away dreams thinking filled With blithe anticipations.
When suddenly your merry whirr Caused me to yawn, to stretch, to stir,
I pulled the covers up round my ears.

Try to hide from your laughing peers
To no avail, and finally with a bad grace I winced.
Not by your absence, or your Jest, but a violence to the floor.
And thought, "You'll bother me no more!"

But alas! No peace was mine as yet.

My roommate entered—do you know she'd let Me sleep? Well I guess No.
Up she came, and with a sudden
Left me, covered over, freeze.
Hearing not my plaintive

Nothing, do nothing but hastily dress,
Leaving the room in a terrible mess;
Face not washed, "Oh I guess it will pass."

And away I go, to my eight o'clock class.

Grace Gerton.

SPRING FEVER

We had paused to watch the Bethel Ambition for the count of nine.
Full moonbeams on the river
By the gate, the lighted windows were blinking And the moon hung round a winking
But alas! we wait.
For the "nites" are getting hazy Spring is here, we feel so lazy
It is true, Spring has come, we hear her calling
And in love we're surely falling Just like you.
It is not doubt waiting out in all this chilly
Evening mist, Still is listening for her For her lips are plainly waiting To be kissed.
She looks so very pretty It would surely be a pity Just to stop, Still maybe she was joking And that Spring fever.

Without sussness or without All saints day, All saints day, All saints' day, All saints day
"Tell me why?"
quickly came an answer And I said "Tell me why?"
"Tis the Spring" With one look she sent me reeling As she said with a very feeling "Mean old thing".

Claire McCollan.

SCIENCE CLUB

The April Meeting of the Science Club was held Wednesday, April 28. Miss Nicholes gave an interesting talk. The Science Club is composed of students who have carried two courses in science under different professors. It is open to seniors above ninety in each course. The student membership cannot exceed fifteen. Those interested are invited by the faculty members of the club at the end of each semester.

The greatest project this club has undertaken is the Culler Me- morial scholarship which is in its third year. The aim of the club is to raise one thousand dollars, the income from which will be used to purchase science books for the library. This project is most worth while, for in the school through the medium of the Science club is expressing its love and admiration for Mr. Galbreath, who in his thirty years of association with the Stevens Point Normal School has given us almost a lifetime of service and inspiration.

RURAL LIFE CLUB

The last meeting of the Rural Life Club was held Monday evening, April 12, in the Assembly Room. The following program was given:

Reading—Goldilocks and the three bears

The rest of the evening was spent socially. The Club plans to give the students an opportunity to learn proper methods of arranging and conducting club affairs, to sponsor programs and to furnish an opportunity for social life among members of the club.

All members of the Rural department automatically become members of the club. Meetings are held every second Monday at seven-thirty in the evening. The Club fee is twenty-five cents per semester.

CAMPFIRE

The Campfire classes were organized for the first time this year, but they already have a membership of over forty, nearly all of them girls.

The purpose of the course is to instruct the girls how to be good Campfire leaders, to convince them that there is a call for an organization of this nature in a High School, but none who has the requisites of a good guardian.

The work is divided into three groups—the Homee, where the knowledge of the direction lore and Physical Education phase; and the Handcraft or Art work group. In this it is given to the members of the group to tell to the attention of others what we are really doing is quite aptly called "Rural Campfire." The next meeting of the Forum will be announced later and we hope arrangements for our program of events will be made at that time.

BIOLOGY BANETER

Diaphylo/pathies, Menemeritha, are not awfully merely a biology class going through a period of grief. The members of this class should be heard. But when you have been suffering a bit for a long time you have an arrow to the foot. When you have been receiving a series of scabs it will be that we said. We never proved it.

The best procedure in dealing like this little beast I mean frogs, is to firmly grasp a wicked looking instrument in the right hand and hold it firmly at the frog which usually returns a sarcastic grin. You’ll grin too if you had been in your element as long as it had. Next you prod the frog and firmly and tell the clothlign on your way. I say you should approach the rear of Miss Jones and Mr. M. E. Howard and his son. He may not have this class to the teacher, the various members of the public speaking classes also. Those of the speaking classes are: Goldilocks and the three bears, Miss Stratton, Helen Miller, Bernice Smoote and Alta Price.

BOYS’ WEEK

The Boys’ week of May 1st to 8th is known as International Boys’ week. The purpose of this committee for the purpose of impressing the group with the importance of growing boys.

Sung (with emotion adagio)

Formaldehyde formaldehyde

Pinners, picks and go

Bats and cats and bats and gnats

They’re all the same to you.

Margaret C. Goek Julia, how did you get in all your stories?

Julia: I was reading a theme above automobiles and it was realistic that my fountain pen backfired.

MARGARET ASHUM CLUB

The April meeting of the Margaret Ashum Club was held on the twenty-first of April at Nelson Hall, the home of Modern Drama, and two stories from the Short Story Contest were read. It was the one for which Miss Margaret Ashum is offering a prize for the best story of the year. The business session was devoted to a discussion of the first annual Margaret Ashum contest, which will occur May twelfth at the Hotel Whiting. This is the only Margaret Ashum contest. An attractive program consisting of a short play and snappy reading will be given. Of course there will be a 10 percent per cent award.

The Margaret Ashum Club of the Stevens Point Normal is composed of members of the club whose membership is composed of students who do exceptional work in the English department. They are members of the class of 1925—26. Mr. Smoote and Alta Price.

Mr. E. W. Horn has pledged his self to foster and improve the CAMPFIRE was presented to the club. Homecoming, the Christmas Program, and the River Falls Student. It presented a picture of Mr. Clark to the school attended the day the contest was only a few of the things the Pep Club has done.

Some of the motto of the club is “Pep” and it manages to live up to its motto, in every sense of the word. The word is not ض خ (for further activities of the Pep Club).

PRIMARY COUNCIL

Primary Council is an old organization as old as the primary department itself. Dating back to the time when the Stevens Point School, it find it in prominence. It has, as its members, every student enrolled in the primary course. Being a member of Primary Council, means being active in every phase of school life and business and social. You feel yourself a definite part of the organization; and that is the betterment of your department.

Meetings are held every other Monday night at seven-thirty. These meetings are not purely business meetings; they are provided for each time—readings, vocal and instrumental selections, discussion of other attractions, and the use of the talent of the members. Many good fashioned fellows have been held at different times through the year.

Who is there that does not enjoy a merry feast in the Primary Council? Primary Council has grown in years past and will continue to do so. We are proud of the Primary Council. We are proud of our Department. We have not a right to be.

INQUIRING REPORTER

QUESTION: What is the funniest thing you have seen this year at S. P. N.?

Claire McClearn, Grammar Department

It was my first practice class and I was escorting the pupils to the classroom. Half way down the corridor, the door was flung open and a nervous boy ran to the back of the hall that tragic moment after the last bell had rung. A Turkish khân surveying his court!

Grace A. Riske, Junior High School

The funniest thing I've seen this year at S. P. N., was a funny girl with combs in her hair, cold cream on her face, and her bathrobe flying. She strutted down the hall that tragic moment after the last bell had rung. A Turkish khân surveying his court!

Bernard Laubs - High School

Say, did you ever see Mr. Mott running for the big game with a Piel Piper with twenty-five kids?

Kenneth McCall - High School

Did you ever see Mr. Spindler come in the door and gracefully approach his desk? (Of course he always walks the way a basket doth Diploma.

The usual formalities of roll call, etc., he2 stomachs the position of the words... writing with his left hand, then changing, continuing with his right hand.... Truly a funny procedure.

DORMITORY DROLLERY

Off Gosh (yawn) Spring is here! Just try to dream about "him" these mornings when someone else is trying to "love 15" on the tennis court beneath your window.

Miss Rowe spent several days last week at the Presbyterian Sunday School Convention at Marinette.

Miss Marie Fritz was called home because of the illness of her father.

Anyone desiring information on the New Testament inquire of Jo Porath or Ev Korvet. Tis said that they know their oil.

Miss Irene Hart, who has been substituting at Hancocko, returned last Tuesday night. Report has it that she said it was "fun."

Miss Lorena Johannes spent the week-end here on her way to complete the term in the mathematics department of the Dorchester High School.

We advise Irma Hetzel to make a permanent acquisition of her car by turning it into a Nelson Hall Jitney. Or, she might fire it out to "careless" young men whose "fancies" have returned.

The Dorm may be full of broken hearts, twisted thoughts and shattered ideals, but we think it's the great spirit that's missing. Throwing its label, the office girl sits.... Just ask Claims what time should she have found during the last three months? She was wasted hunting for sister Agnes, to deliver that air pillow to her supposed brother brought for her — and then racing after the "brother" to enlighten him of his mistake.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO S. P. N.

Stevens Point Normal is fortunately very accessible. The City of Stevens Point is situated on three State Trunk Highways, two Railways and has four bus lines entering:

State Trunk Highway No. 10 is one of the most traveled in the whole State. No. 68 is a very beautiful drive and well kept. No. 18 is a cross state highway that is part of the National Yellow Stone Trail.

The "Motor Coach" lines bring all the surrounding cities close to Stevens Point, and you can travel to nearly all parts of the State by bus from here. The Northern Transportation Co., operates between Stevens Point and New London, connecting with other lines at Wausau, Appleton, Green Bay and Clintonville.

The Wisconsin Power and Light Company gives you direct service to Madison and from there to all cities in Central and Southern Wisconsin. The Buick Bus line gives service between Stevens Point, Wisconsin Rapids, and Marshfield. The Wisconsin River Valley Transportation Co. gives service between here and Wausau at 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Drive your own car, come by bus or come by railway and you will find a hearty "Welcome" at Stevens Point Normal.

with the car.
Mrs. Miller: Daughter, do you ever let the boys kiss you good-night?
Daughter: "N-o-o-o, Mother.
Mrs. M.: "Well, don't let them do it any more."
Noreen Weldon: Since I inherited that property I've had three proposals.
Ralph C: Oh, for bank's sake!
WHY STUDY?
The more you study, the more you
know.
The more you know, the more you are able to forget.
The more you forget, the less you
know.
The less you know, the less you forget.
The less you forget, the more you
know.
So why study?
Marvin G. Were you raised in a barn?
Chet: No, the elevator boy brought me up.
Marry: Ever been in Port Edwards?
Bob E.: Have I? Spent three weeks
there last Sunday.
Why is Herbert going so earnestly at that mirror?
Don't you see? He's combing his mustache.
Robertson: Where is that young aristocrat who is scheduled to be degraded?
Danton: Unfortunately, he yelled
his head off this morning.
The Boy grows Older.
Freshman: I don't know Sophomore—
I am not prepared.
Junior: I do remember Senior—I don't believe I can add anything to what has been said.
Mr. Hiram: How long has your son been in college?
Mr. Zager (of the Rapid's) About four cows, two horses, forty hales of hay and a couple of loads of peaches.
Bill: Will you all answer me a question, sub?
Yes, ma'am boy.
"Hoooman!"
Florence R. (pointing) Don't you ever speak to me?
Norman R. (tartfully) Er-yes.
Lovely weather, isn't it?

EPITAPH OF AN ARMY COOK
Just lay him to rest by the meshall door.
Where his comrades may see and weep
That the friend they loved best
Is no more.
But is laid in his last long sleep.
Emulsion him in Army coffee;
It sure ought to do the trick,
And he'll never again rise so early
Though the bugler may blow
himsel sick.
And over his head place a loaf of bread
That he backed in the old Dutch oven,
Endurance he had
That should lead him from kitchen to heaven.
And tack on its surface in letters
of tin,
This epitaph, simple but fitting;
A rip-snortin' soldier he always has been;
He cooked all our grub out of bright cans of tin.
Smugglum and puddin' with sour a raisin,
And dishwater coffee—like rattlesnake poison.
But he did his best, spite of his old enemy.
The red tape and rant about economy.
So open the gates when he gets
to the sky,
Or we'll sure be a-teachin' artillery to Ry.

Exceptional pictures coming.

Several picture of special interest will be shown at the Lyric and the Majestic this week within the next few weeks. Some of such included in the Majestic program are: "Wild Horse, aa," "The Barrier," "Seven都可以

Keys to Baldpate," and "Iron Horse.

"Wild Horse Mesa" will be shown days, commencing April 29.
It is a great story of horse thieves, and a tremendous story of wild stallions is one of the many sensations productions. The story is the best work of Zane Grey. Jack Hall, Noah Berry, Billie Dove
and Doug Fairbanks Jr. fill the stellar roles.

Lionel Barrymore and Henry
B. Walthall are brought together in an interesting reunion in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film,
"The Barrier," taken from the famous novel by Rex Beach.

Two men started their screen careers together, coming from the stage to play in the old
D. W. Griffith pictures. Bert Woodruff, one of the few Civil war veterans on the stage or screen also appears in this picture.

Laughs! Giggles! and Thrills! will be your share in Douglas MacLean's picture, "Seven Keys to Baldpate." This comedy is adapted from George M. Cohan's celebrated success. It is built around the effects of a famous MacLean, young and very much love story, to write a novel in twenty-four hours to win the girl of his difficulties within the that has seven keys in the hands of an assortment of villains are rolloffing like water from a mirth.

"Jo! the Iron Horse," claimed Sitting Bull, the famous war chief, when he saw the first white man's engine steaming across the plains. The theme of the "Iron Horse" is the race between the Central Pacific and the Union Pacific railways for mile-Oage building up the first transcontinental railway during and after the Civil War. It is a mighty picture, a fitting story, in its proportion, of the linking of the two great oceans.

See you at the theater!

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES.

Prospects for getting a position are unusually good this year, says Mr. Herrick, who is in charge of the training departments. The employment committee is doing more work than it has ever done before and chances for positions have never been so good since 1922. Many of the experienced teachers have accepted positions in the larger schools, or, are qutt-ing the field of teaching, leaving many desirable vacancies. Several of our graduates have already signed contracts.

A number of others have favorably considered but have not yet signed their contracts. Superintendents from Oak Park, Glenoes and other towns are taking the purpose of hiring teachers. A more complete account will be published in a future issue of the Pointer.

Perhaps if some of those "phenomena" were sent down here by the "Hound-of-Ginger" Pointer. Why do they keep them all up there?

IRIS TO BE OUT SOON.
The 1926 Iris has been dedicated to Mr. Watson. It has all over the press and will be out about the middle of May.

The book will cost only three dollars. Every student in school will want one. Better start put-ing away your dimes.

Two new sections are being featuring in this years annual.
These two new sections help make the book more representative of actual school life than any oth er Iris previously printed.

The snap section is the largest snap section that has ever been featured in an Iris. There is no commercial work in the book.
All art work, on the division pages, and through out the annual is a product of student talent.

The covers are purple crushed leather. They are monogrammed in Old English Gold "Iris.

The staff is now taking a temporary rest. They have been very active, and have worked with such enthusiasm that the work is entirely caught up for the present.
They have put forth their finest efforts to make this annual a success -- you should see our new Iris!

ROUND TABLE

The official organization of the Grammar Department is the "Round Table." All students enrolled in the Intermediate, Grammar and Commercial School courses are members.

The officers are: President: Irma Hofel, Vice-President: Beatrice
Swarcewicz; and Ruth Krumpe.

The purpose of the Round Tabl is two-fold, both cultural and edtative. It promotes activities which enable students of the department to become acquainted.

Our members are encouraged to take part in all of the activities of the school. It is felt that the outside activities are often as valuable in training as are the subjects taken in class.

Because of the Round Table encouragement, our department has been well represented in debate, oratory, music and athletics.

Two members of the Round Table were the debate teams, two fellows on the football and basket ball teams, seven were on the women chorus, nine girls made the basketball team, and several tried out for oratory. The Famous Student Contest was won entirely by our department. This year the Editor of the annual was chosen from our group. Two of our members have been selected as characters in the Senior Class Play "Captain Jack.

It was, then, the Round Table in former years for the Round Table to have a spring picnic and so in these days are all looking forward to this annual affair.
