Committees Plan Mardi Gras Work

Mardi Gras, MARDI GRAS! Exactly one week from Saturday. Are you ready? Is your costume thought up? Frank Lasecki and Frank Joswick are in charge of the COSTUME DANCE and they announce that prizes will be offered the FUNNIEST man's costume and BEST man's costume. Likewise the women will have a chance to compete for prizes for the FUNNIEST and BEST costumes. Leonard Sprague is managing the Union Vaudeville. Prizes will be offered for the best stunt in this event.

The G. A. A., under the direction of Elizabeth Kelly, plans to offer a stunt for the side-show. The Lovola Stunt is being directed by Frank Joswick; the Margaret Ashmun, by Allen McVey; Y. M. by Wallace Rosengren. The luncheon will be in charge of He'en Lohr, and Walter Wasrud will direct the Confectionery Booth.

The POPULARITY CONTEST will start at once. Keith Berens and Melvin Donner are in charge of this affair. As is customary the various departments will select their candidates. It is expected that the voting will be fast and furious.

The General Manager of The Mardi Gras is Lawrence Beaudin, and Allen McVey is acting as Supervisor.

Select Joswick To Represent College

Frank Joswick was chosen for College orator after the annual oratorical contest in Assembly a week ago. His opponent, Leonard Sprague, was selected as alternate. Professors Smith and Rogers, and Miss Bertha Hussey were the judges. Mr. Joswick will represent Point College at Oshkosh the third week in March at the State Oratorical Contest. His subject will be "Crime; a Challenge to Youth." Mr. Sprague's topic was "The Character of the Ages."

The judges had great difficulty in reaching a decision, and it was only after almost an hour of deliberation that any agreement could be reached. Mr. Smith, in making the announcement, said that the delay was not caused by disagreement of the judges, but by the fact that they just couldn't decide who was the better.

The winner of the Extemporaneous Contest which took place this morning has not yet been announced. The contestants were Pauline Buhlman and Clarence Teske. The general topic for the speeches was, "The foreign policy of the United States since the World War, with special reference to Latin America." It is expected that the judges will announce the winner's name at noon.

ENROLLMENT IS SMALLER

Up to the present time there are only 326 students enrolled for this semester. This is a decrease of thirty six from the enrollment for the first semester. Twenty-two new students, who were not here for the first half, have entered.

Printers To Receive Copy For Iris Soon

The Iris is well on the way toward being in the hands of the students early in the spring. The printers who were selected are the Badger Printing Company of Appleton, Wisconsin. The report comes that the engraving is approximately half done, and by February 15th it is hoped that one half of copy will be in the printer's hands.

GRAMMARS TO GIVE ANNUAL VALENTINE PARTY SATURDAY

Fourteen Gridders Receive Sweaters

Last Monday evening, Feb. 6th, the Purple gridders together with their prep school brethren, were the special guests of the Stevens Point business men at the annual Father and Son's banquet held in the Methodist church parlors.

Two tables were reserved specially for each squad and the teachers sure looked nifty in their new "S" sweaters given out earlier in the day. The following received sweaters: Pankert, Pile, McDonald, Baillarger, H. Holmes, Weronke, Charlesworth, Flolid, Chesrown, Bannach, Smith, Baruth, Fern, L. Holmes.

Needless to say the meal was tackled for a big loss by all concerned, particularly Coach Carl Eggebrecht, who, having a mammoth craving for marmalade, dumped a whole bowl full on the table cloth in front of his plate. This must be the way they devour such delicacies in Minneapolis. Ben and Tiny, the twin sixes, started to cry when some one swiped the ice cream off their pie, so PeeWee Chesrown and Lyle Holmes, having guilty feelings, generously gave up their portions to the unfortunates, which immediately brought angelic smiles to the cheeks of their large brothers.

Glenn Thistlewaite, head football coach at Wisconsin, gave a splendid talk in which he emphasized the need of being a "man" in all forms of activities, whether on the field or pushing a pen. He exploded the traditional theory that coaches are character builders, holding that this is merely an alibi for bad seasons.

The banquet broke up at nine o'clock and all the men and boys present departed with the feeling that they had a valuable experience in listening to the inspiring words of the football coach of "On Wisconsin".

Teaching Positions Accepted By Rurals

The rural Department is very proud of two of their graduates, Rhoda Solterman, whose home is in Monticello and who has just completed the Two Year Course for Principals of State Graded Schools, has accepted a position at Lubia, Wisconsin, where she will teach third and fourth grades for the remainder of the year. Her work began on February 6th.

Isabel Aldrich of Fall River, Wisconsin, who will complete her work for a degree in Rural Education during the summer session, has withdrawn from school for the present semester to accept a position in supervision in Oneida County at a salary of $180 a month.

Diplomas Presented To Nine Collegians

Up to date the following people have met and satisfied all requirements of the school, and obtained their diplomas: Marcella Glennon, 4Yr. Home Ec., B. E.; Margaret Lord, 3 Yr. Home Ec.; Dorothy Newell, 3 Yr. Home Ec.; Henry Bannach, 2 Yr. State Graded; Kenneth Franz, 2 Yr. State Graded; Jerome Ware, 2 Yr. State Graded; Ardale Gurholt, 2 Yr. Intermediate; Louise Middendorf, 2 Yr. Intermediate; Jean Mainland, 2 Yr. Grammar.

The Grammar Round Table members will be hosts at their annual Valentine Party Saturday evening in the College gymnasium. The party is an invitational affair, each member being allowed to invite three guests. The committee in charge of invitations is composed of Helen Gherke, Marjory Crawford, and Florence Donemeyer.

The gymnasium will be made into a paradise of Valentine decorations. Under the direction of Faith Herriek the following people will act as the decoration committee: Gladys Cutler, Evelyn Elliott, Mildred Foss, Ardale Gurholt, Fred Hebal, Ethel Madsen, Ethel Maes, Beatrice Polley, Isabel Rayome, Leonard Sprague, Irene Weber. The faculty advisor for decorations will be Miss Eva M. Seen. Frank Joswick is in charge of planning the program. Walter Jonas will render a violin solo, and Leonard Sprague will give a vocal solo. Marjory Strike will give a solo spot-dance. The orchestra will also present a special musical number. The refreshments are being taken care of by Marjory Foote and Grace Flowers. Keith Berens will be the electrician for the various lighting effects which will be used during the course of the evening.

Especially good music has been procured. Irv Lutz' six piece orchestra will undertake to satisfy the musical cravings of the eds and co-eds. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Watson will be the chaperones for the evening.

To Distribute Data For Central College

This year it has been the policy of Point College to try and attain recognition for its merits in the eyes of not only the surrounding country side but also in every quarter of the nation. One of the biggest steps made was begun Tuesday February 7th, when the Official State of Wisconsin Southern Tour left on its itinerary. On this tour the local assemblyman, Mr. Mersch, is making every effort to promote the interests of Point College. He will distribute pamphlets containing data for the coming Summer Session. It is hoped that these Booster Folders will reach many prospective students and greatly enlarge our ranks.

Oratorical Finance Statement Presented

In coordination with the newly announced policy of printing all financial statements in regard to school affairs, the following report of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers' College Oratorical Association for the semester ending Feb. 3, 1928 is presented here.

THREE GUESSES

Ladies and gentlemen, witness the melancholy critic; (This is not to be construed as having reference to the critics of the training school). With a sad countenance and hesitating step he moves about our halls in this temple of learning, and rests his weary bones in the classrooms. With languor, and tired eye he witnesses the remarkably strange actions of his brethren. Brethren they are — and how sad he is to realize it.

Like Socrates of old he harangues any tolerant listener, and passes his worthy opinion on all subjects. He likes to consider himself well read, and therefore, above the rabble — and of course well qualified to render judgement. No matter what another person likes, he doesn't like it. He is loud for reform, when his listener is satisfied with the world, but still refuses to suggest remedies or help in any reform movement. He can throw cold water at anything, and belittle the efforts of anyone. If the people around him have but little use for him, it is jealousy, of course, that actuates these inferiors — and he secretly loves himself for being unmoved by the thoughts and actions of others.

In recent months there has been a growing movement on the part of some interested students for greater participation of students in management of this, their school. This movement seems to be gaining in proportions. It has been discussed with the President. Students have talked about it with faculty members. Students, of course, have discussed it among themselves. EVERYONE has agreed that the movement is for the betterment of the school; everyone would like to see the students take a greater part in school matters which are so important, so vital to the students themselves. EVERYONE — except, of course, Messrs. Critic. Messrs. Critic can't see anything in it! It seems to them that such an idea must be wrong somewhere. They don't know just where, but give them a few weeks to think about it — and then they will show just where the trouble is.

In the very near future some energetic students are going to attempt to organize some sort of a student organization (the exact type will have to be decided) to better this school. They are not actuated by desires for power, offices, or recognition as leaders. They know, as everyone else knows, that by bettering Central State Teachers' College they will benefit themselves.

When this movement comes out into the open, — help it! Give all the criticism and suggestions necessary, but don't just be another critic. Don't let the critics spoil this!

MOVED AND CARRIED

One of the most interesting problems now facing the inmates of the Teachers' College, and which, incidentally, has brought forth an almost unprecedented volume of rancorous comment, has now been before the said teachers so long that we deem it time that something be done about it, if possible. Now this problem, of the Greatest importance in itself, of course, is still more important when thought of in the light of labor saving.

This problem, which has been the subject of constant speculation and doubt, and constant misunderstanding for the past two months at least on the part of good people who mean well but don't know — this problem is, my dear friends and fellow sufferers, "Will the drinking fountain outside the main entrance to the auditorium ever again undertake its duties of dispensing aqua pura?"

Now friends, I do not hesitate to say that I do not believe but that everyone here will undertake to rise and declare that the interests of the students must be looked after. I venture to say that everyone here will agree with me that it is not quite right that everyone be expected to clog down to the West end of the building to imbibe.

So, out with it. Let us have two drinking fountains on the second floor. O. O.

Egotists cannot converse, they talk to themselves only.

HUMOR
MORE OR LESS

GONE UP IN SMOKE

Grad: "What's the big noise over to school?"

Stude: "Probably a professor exploding some popular belief."

I've got an aunt so stingy, I call her penny auntie.

Some men live to a ripe old age, and some try to climb through a barbed wire fence with a loaded shot gun.

Staunch Captain: "Now then my hearties, fight like heroes until your powder's gone; then run. On account of this rheumatism in my legs, I'll have to start now."

Miss Roach: "Is it dangerous to step on that trolley car rail?"

Policeman: "No, madam, it isn't, unless you put your other foot on the overhead wire."

If an untruth is only a day old it is called a lie; if it is year old it is called a false-hood; but if it is a century old it is called a legend.

HEARD AT THE COUNTER

McVey, waxing oratorical: "What would a nation be without women?"

Wasrud: "Stagnation, of course."

"Pipe down," said the theatre manager as he pointed out a "no smoking" sign to a group of college students.

Ruth P. in Math (trying to prove two angles equal). They are equal because all things created are equal.

The meanest man in the world is one who spends his time loitering around a free scale and sneaking his foot upon it whenever a fat lady weighs herself.

"They say there's a fool born every minute."

"Yeah, but automobiles even up things."

An optimist is the fellow who winks at a pugilist's wife.

"Are you a college man?"

"No. But I know where you can get it."

Mr. Percival believes in a sound policy.

"THE COLONEL'S LADY & DINAH McGRADY—"

Mrs. Rogers: "All the rooms of my house are furnished by periods."

Mrs. Jonas: "Yes, we bought our furniture on the installment plan, too."

THIS REASONING OUGHT TO APPEAL TO EINSTEIN

Frank Joswick, in the midst of an argument, said that "We have no right in Nicaragua unless we declare war." He advanced the striking argument in support of this statement that, "The six marines who were killed would have been just as dead if the war had been declared."

But we all make mistakes. If we didn't there would be no cause for the confession magazines sold at French and Campbells.

Mr. Burroughs told the English class about one of the most mortifying moments of his life. It happened while he was attending college. A paper was returned to him, the only comment on it being, "Oh Dear." "This comment," Mr. Burroughs said, "hurt me more than any other comment could have done."

We cannot understand Mr. Burroughs' attitude. A remark like "Failure", or, "We cannot accept this paper," would have hurt us infinitely more. It must be that Mr. Burroughs abhors sentiment.

One thing that can't be preserved in alcohol is a secret.

'Nother one of Nelson Hall's fairest maidens has stepped out and made a name for herself as a dater! Petite Louise Meinke was called out of class (think of that) to meet an old boy friend who dropped into town and turned the dorm upside down looking for his heart's desire. In case some of you don't know it, they went to a show and Louise got in at ten to nine (dear me.) Miss Meinke reports a wonderful time was had by all and she is not unwilling to go to a show again, if you don't keep her out too late. She likes Tiny Bannach, Ben Weronke, Buzz Flowers, or any sizable he-man. Attention fellers. — Adv.

SOCIETY

Mr. Roberts To Talk At Y.W.C.A. Meeting

February 2nd, 1928, the Y. W. C. A. had the pleasure of hearing a fine talk by Mr. Mott. The topic he chose was "Social Instincts." There was a fine attendance and every one went away with a clearer idea of just what is meant by "Social Instincts."

At the meeting this evening Mr. Roberts will speak. This is sure to be a worthwhile speech, and there should be a large attendance.

It is expected to have many more enjoyable meetings in the future, at one of which the Y. W. C. A. advisors will speak. There has been no date set for this as yet.

CLASS GIVES SUPPER

The Junior Home Economics Foods Class recently was hostess to the faculty women and faculty wives at two buffet suppers. Miss Merle Quarne acted as chairman for the first supper and Leota Andrew was chairman of the second.

Both the suppers were very successful and a credit to the Home Economics department.

STUDENTS ENTERTAINED

On Friday evening, February 2nd, the Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist Churches, and the Knights of Columbus entertained the students of Point College at a social evening.

The members of the Loyola Club attended the Holy Hour Devotions at St. Stephens Church on Friday night at 7:30 and went from there to the Knights of Columbus Club rooms on Strongs Avenue.

Appropriation Bill Adopted By Regents

At a recent Board Meeting of the Regents of Wisconsin Teachers' Colleges, it was decided to accept the Bill of Appropriations as it was prepared for the State Legislature. It was determined to add a request of $15,000 to what the Bill already carries. This money will be used, if granted, for the defraying of such expenses as electric light and telephone bills, water rent, and other miscellaneous items.

The Bill of Appropriations, which was quoted more completely in the last issue of the Pointer, owes many of its benefits for Point College to the efforts of Mrs. Maloney, the local Regent and Mr. Mersch, the local assemblyman. Mrs. Maloney and Mr. Mersch were members of the committee who investigated conditions and made the report which resulted in the present bill.

Debators Scheduled To Meet Eau Claire

Thursday February First, Stevens Point debators journeyed to Eau Claire to meet the Eau Claire Affirmative team. The Point negative team was composed of Clarence Theis, Captain, Solomon Welantzik, and Clarence Teske. The debate was a no-decision debate.

At the time the Pointer goes to press the Negative debate team from Eau Claire is scheduled to appear here against the Affirmative team. This debate will also be a no-decision and Open Forum will be held. The students are urged to attend the debate and support the team.

POINTERS PRIMED FOR WIN IN DOWN STATE CAGE TILT

One Win — Three Losses To Date

Murder Milwaukee! Tomorrow evening our basketballers match shooting ability with the cream city outfit in the down state town, hoping to turn out a victory. Although having lost three conference contests to date and winning one, Eggebrecht is confident that his Teachers are capable of a much better brand of basketball than they have been displaying of late.

Whitewater Whipped

Playing fast breaking style of ball, the Pointers, with McDonald directing the offense, shot their way to a clean cut victory over the Whitewater quint. The Purple had a hard fight, but were on, and sank ringers from all corners of the court. Bannach did a good job at the pivot post, while Captain Frank and Dick Marshall shone at the forward posts. Scotty was a hero at his usual guard, while Bennie did splendid work as his running mate. The rather pleasing finish occurred while the score was 30-26 in our direction.

Claire's Cop Second

February 3rd, the gang travelled to Eau Claire where they bowed to those Teachers a second time this year, 26-37. This was the first win on the home floor for the Blue and Golders while it was our third defeat.

Our own Scotty McDonald sparked with his usual brilliance and shared honors with Waldall, Eau Claire center, in being the most conspicuous characters.

Tiny Bannach also played a big game. The Pointers were unable to find the loop, most of the two stanzas, while the Claires dropped long heaves with consistent regularity, keeping the lead after the first quarter.

Murder Milwaukee

C'mon fellows, although we can't be with you in body we will be in spirit. Sink Milwaukee and give us something to be proud of; just keep on fighting hard and you'll bring home the scalps.

I guess you co-eds have more influence over most of the players than anybody else, so use that influence to good advantage. Tell Frank or Dick or Tiny or Benny that he must win! And they will.

See you in 30 days if we lose.
MURDER MILWAUKEE!

There's a lot of sparking going on in our college, not in the older sense of the word when dad took his best gal out on one of those awful buggy rides, but in a scientific way. Here's how to get an illuminating thrill. Start at the assembly west door, proceed slowly down the drag; scrape the dogs along the carpet till you reach Miss Jones' butcher shop and (take a huge drink from the fountain there, — if you can. (Jump ten paces, down ditto) It's got kissing bent all hollow at keeping the lips in first class condition, besides giving you a mild taste of the electric chair. Who said we were not bright when we are all filled up with electricity. Huh?

Oscar Ziegel has about decided to quit school and peddle S and R bonds for Mr. Mott, also bootlegging I Q's on the side. Only Harvard grads are supposed to sell bonds out in the cruel world, according to popular fiction so Oscar will have competition plus, but we know that he will bring home the synapses.
