FORMAL FUNCTION OCCURS SATURDAY

DORM AND COTTAGE GIRLS ENTERTAIN

It is the custom each year for the senior girls residing in Nelson Hall and the Sims Cottages, to invite the faculty members with their wives to a dinner and evening's entertainment in the dormitory. The event is to take place this Saturday evening. The dinner will begin at six o'clock.

CLEVER ENTERTAINMENT ARRANGED

The dinner is a formal affair. The underclassmen are to serve and arrange the furniture in living room while their more privileged friends enjoy the banquet. The company will then adjourn to the living room which has in the meantime become an auditorium. Several of the girls will present an amusing program, consisting of two one-act comedies and several other numbers which are being kept more or less of a secret. The entire company will participate in the next part of the program. When it is over, the girls and faculty members will go to the recreation room for dancing.

Program Broadcast By Harmonica Band

The Harmonica Band, sponsored by Mr. Percival, of the Roosevelt school at Plover, broadcast from Chicago last Friday, Nov. 29. They were accompanied by Miss Bannoch, the county superintendent, Mr. Olsen, the principal of the school, and Miss Doyal, the supervisor. The band chartered a bus Friday morning and arrived in Chicago in the afternoon. At 5 o'clock they broadcast from station WENR and Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from station WMAQ at the Fair Store. The program consisted of four-part work, solos and duets.

After the band had completed its program it was taken on a sight-seeing tour before returning home.

Meeting Called For Improvement

The students of the college have felt a growing dissatisfaction with the school parties. In order to take measures to improve the social gatherings, a meeting of the presidents of classes and organizations with their faculty advisors was called Monday, November 25. The general principles formed the basis of discussion.

GENERAL PRINCIPLE 1. To build up the spirit of comradeship among the students in the school and to make student democracy a reality.

To attain this objective it is essential that those things which contribute most to building a spirit of comradeship and democracy among all students should be emphasized; those things which work against such a spirit should be avoided.

The conception on the part of each student that he or she is host or hostess to all other students will build this spirit of comradeship and student democracy. The presence of those not immediately or intimately connected with all regular student activities will work against such a spirit.

Hence, in order to insure the building up of the spirit of comradeship and democracy among the students it will be necessary that each student conceive himself or herself as host or hostess to all other students, and that those not regular members of the student body be not present, except by invitation.

GENERAL PRINCIPLE 2. To promote a maximum development of social personality.

The maximum development of the personality of the individual for the institution will be best served, among other things, by a prevailing spirit of courtesy.

Courtesy involves the maximum consideration, not only of students, but also of those who give up their time and energy to assist students as chaperons, patrons and patronesses.

Hence, the maximum development of the personality of the individual or the institution will be best served by the maximum consideration, not only of the students, but also of those who give their time and energy to assist students as chaperons, patrons and patronesses.

GENERAL PRINCIPLE 3. To have a wholesome, good time.

The accomplishment of this third general principle, or perhaps of our social program, namely, to have a wholesome, good time, will be proportional to the degree in which a spirit of comradeship, democracy and courtesy prevails.

Many points were brought up during the discussion. The viewpoints of several types of students were presented. Faculty and students alike contributed valuable suggestion in regard to invitations, participation of all students and general policy to be followed hereafter.

NOTICE!

As a matter of cooperation in keeping within our budget, the request has been made that students and faculty members endeavor to see that all lights are out when they are serving no particular necessary purpose. The light bill was higher this month than ever before. It is obvious, therefore, that either the buildings must be locked or economy must be practiced.

SIGMA ZETA FRATERNITY IS NOW COMPLETELY ORGANIZED

Kermit Frater To Head Juniors

The election of class officers was completed when the Juniors chose their officers at their class meeting a week ago. The members of the class showed fine judgment in their choice of a dependable set of officials.

Kermit Frater, football star, was chosen to act as head of the class. The vice-presidency was awarded to Esther Hawkes, a member of Sigma Zeta. Josephine Terrill was selected to act in the capacity of both secretary and treasurer. A new office was filled at this time also, the position of class reporter. Alice Falk, associate editor of the Iris, was given this office.

After the election, the remainder of the time was spent in discussing the Junior Prom. The Juniors feel confident that the second prom will be even a greater success than the first.

Comments

The above is an approximate estimate of the expenditures and receipts for the 1930 Iris. The staff has made every possible reduction in cost without the sacrificing of quality, but the staff can only succeed in the producing of a good book with the combined efforts of the entire student body. It is only through the utmost economy that they are able to furnish the Iris at such a low figure. In order to secure these low figures they have planned their work in such a way that it will be possible for them to secure the largest possible discounts by having the work done early in the season. In order to do this, all work must be in the hands of the engravers at once.

Will you please take care of your part at once.

The business manager therefore urges presidents of organizations to see that the photographs of their groups are taken. Individuals whose pictures are to appear must see to it that the photographs are taken by the date specified by the editor.

CHOOSE OFFICERS AND COMMITTEES

The organization meeting of the Sigma Zeta Fraternity was held November 20, at the college. The officers were elected, the constitution read and discussed, rules were enacted, and committees appointed.

This organization was originally known as the Science Club, but in the spring of 1929 was affiliated with the national fraternity Sigma Zeta. The charter was issued but no complete organizing was done until this fall.

Officers elected for the year were:
Master Scientist — Marie Mollen.
Vice Master Scientist — Fred Schmeckle.

Recorder — Emily Wilson.

Treasurer — Fred Hebal.

Committees appointed were as follows:

Membership — Raymond M. Rightsell — Chairman.
Jesse E. Jones
Esther Hawkes.
Initiation — Charles C. Evans — Chairman.

Fred A. Hebal
Fern Pugh.
Program — Bessie May Allen — Chairman.

Charles F. Watson
Helen Meston.

HIGH STANDARDS UPHELD

The fraternity upholds certain high standards of scholarship in the sciences. Pledges are chosen from those interested in this field and whose average is high.

Members are of three classes; active, associate, and honorary.

Any junior or senior of the college who is of good moral character, who has a minor in science or mathematics, who has shown an interest in scientific work and has maintained a high average shall be eligible to election as an active member.

Any freshman or sophomore in college who has had at least one semester of science or mathematics, who intends to major or minor in scientific work and who has maintained an average scholarship, shall be eligible to election as an associate member.

Honorary members of the society consist of its alumni and such other persons as the society may elect.

PLEDGES BEING CONSIDERED

All faculty members of the science may be active members. Pledges are now being considered by the membership committee and the list will be published upon election.

Musical Department Gives Three Events

Looking forward — there are three events of interest which have been arranged by the musical department.

The first is a musical play which will be presented by the Primary Music class. The exact date has not yet been arranged.

The next event in which both the College and training schools are interested — the Christmas Festival is to be given December the nineteenth.

After the Christmas recess an assembly, sponsored by the Young Women's Chorus, is being arranged. It will be made up of various musical numbers by members of the Chorus.

NEW PRINCIPLES OUTLINED FOR SOCIAL PROGRAM

WHAT seems to be a new era of student democracy has opened within a comparatively short time — somewhat like the dawn of a new day — and in our opinion, the present marks the beginning of a profound constructive remedy for the present social status of the institution.

A meeting was held recently, composed of representatives of both the student body and faculty to discuss various general principles which were set forth in regard to the social activities of Central State Teachers' College. The aims underlying these principles are to build up the spirit of comradeship among the students in the school and to make student democracy a reality; to promote maximum development of social personality and to have a wholesome good time.

The informal discussion regarding these tentative principles proved extremely interesting and highly beneficial. The fact that particular stress was given to student voice makes evident the fact that more importance is being attached to the matter of student democracy. No more safe and sane method could have been chosen for the reconstruction of a social program. Who can express more efficiently the sentiment of a student body than the student himself? If need of restitution lies on the part of the student himself, the plausible plan is for him to realize his own need and meet it broadmindedly. On the other hand, if fault lies with the executives, who would be more prompt to recognize it than the student?

At any rate a need has been recognized and it is certain that both student and faculty representatives met the situation with none other than open minds.

The present condition, it seems, presents a decided need for a change in the type of social program being sponsored, that is, in the manner in which it is being sponsored. At least a partial change is desired which will place such activities on a more desirable basis and as a result, will promote a greater spirit of comradeship among students.

In order to insure the building up of the first aim, it was agreed to be essential that each student conceive himself or herself as host or hostess to all other students, and that those not regular members of the student body be not present except by invitation. It is the privilege of any student to present to the committee in charge of any function, the name of persons whom he wishes invited.

It does seem that more of the courtesy essential to a successful social affair could be shown the chaperones who so kindly give up their time and energy to assist the students. Ought it to be too much to furnish them with a comfortable corner, offer to reserve them a dance on your program or to at least exchange a few minutes of friendly conversation sometime during the course of an evening? Each student should feel a personal responsibility in seeing that this is done. Do not leave it for George to do. They are deserving of the best respect and attention from everyone and every care should be taken to make the evening enjoyable for them.

These fundamentals as outlined in another article in this paper will ultimately lead to a good time for all and will help to develop a prevailing spirit of comradeship, democracy and courtesy.

WATCH THE BULLETIN BOARDS

HAVE you acquired the bulletin board habit? Particularly at this time of year such a habit is extremely necessary. Iris announcements need your specific attention in order to get cooperation in putting out the year book. Organizations of every type depend upon this means of conveying information to members. It is the only way in which activities concerning debate, music, sports and speech can be announced.

Get in step and keep to produce rhythm.

HUMOR
MORE OR LESS

We learned in Miss Davis' French class about the French executioner who had to brush up on his necking.

The Youth bent closer —
Her warm breath made him dizzy,
For he was putting on a tire
Near the exhaust of his Lizzie.

FOR MEN ONLY

(Read backwards)

Ew wenk uoy dluow daer siht. Uoy t'ndluow eb a lrig fi uoy t'ndid.

You usually can't ask a girl today if you can have the last dance with her. She will usually tell you that you've had it.

The other day, while riding on a bus, we heard the driver say to a lady passenger, "I'm sorry, lady, but you'll have to put the cigarette out. There is a man on this bus."

Have you heard about the girl whose Scotch friend gave her some lipstick for her birthday so that he could get it all back.

All the world is a stage and the women are leading men.

MORE LAST WORDS

I could drive this road with my eyes shut.

A college boy gave a quart of blood the other day for a transfusion, but the doctor couldn't use it because it was 90% alcohol.

"Father", announced the young man determinedly, "I've long had a secret ambition —"

"Well, son", cut in the grim parent, "if you have you certainly have done a wonderful job keeping it a secret."

HOW CHANNEL SWIMMERS START

"Speaking of yachting parties," said the girl who swam home, "some fellows are too f. o. b."

Plumber to Maid: I've called to see the old geyser.

Maid: Her ladyship is not at home.

Miss Seen hands in the following:

Roses are red,

Violets are blue,

Talk if you must,

But please don't chew.

"You must admit she is a nice little girl, after all," he said.

"She certainly is," gloomily agreed his friend, who had taken her out the night before, — "after all, and then some, the little gold digger."

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT.

They stood beneath the mistletoe,
He knew not what to do;
For she was only five feet tall
While he was six feet two.

"Marine" — She's seen a lot of the world.

"Wheat" — She's easily shocked.

"I want to ask about a tragedy."

"Mae Beth?"

"No, my exam."

First Frosh: "I've changed my mind."

Second Frosh: "Does the new one work any better?"

Karl K: "I've got a new dog."

Harry K: "Oh, you have?"

Karl: "A vehicle dog."

Harry: "A what?"

Karl: "A vehicle dog: It has a buggy body and a waggin' tail."

THEY CALL HER

"Appendix" — It costs so much to take her out.

"Spoon" — She leaves them deeply stirred.

"Almond Bar" — She's sweet but nutty.

"Good Resolution" — "She's easy to forget."

"Roast Pork" — Apple sauce and not much dressing.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

"Sweetie may I hold your hand?"

A bold, bad lover said.

She smote him with a mighty left,

And now the brute is—sorry.

LOVE ME?

I bow to you; I kiss you

You make my life — that's all;

I wouldn't live without you,

Dearest fountain in this hall.

MYSTERY

"Little drops of water

Little grains of sand" —

Why are bathing beauties

Always on dry land?

—Jim Nazium.

THE FRESHMAN'S PRAYER

Lord suffer me to catch a fish

So large that even I

In talking of it afterwards

Shall have no need to lie.

The best things in life are free — not saying much for education.

Did you take your girl home last night?

No I left her at her house.

"Grow or go" might be a good slogan for students, but really it would be awfully hard on the enrollment number — eh what?

She had passed her freshman examinations for the U. of Gold Dipping and was parading her stuff as they sat together on the davenport.

"They say you're very liberal with your women friends," she cooed.

"Sure," the bored and blasé boy friend assured her, "a buddy of mine can always share my women."

Pressed close to his heart-ah, how his blood ran like fire thru his veins. He had been miserable the past few days but now, everything would be all right. Already with that pressure on his breast he began to feel soothed and comforted. If only that mustard plaster would cure his cold.

Gym Teacher — "The girls on the inside will turn around in four parts."

Girl (after Modern History quiz) Say do you know who Guy Fawkes is?

Second Girl No. Why? Have you a date with him?

Bed bugs are sneaking — they work under cover.

He: "If you don't marry me I'll go out and drink poison."

She: "Oh, where's the party?"

THE COED'S PRAYER

Oh! Eros, if you are above

Send me a man whom I may love

If you have trouble finding me

I'm at the "Dorm" of C. S. T. C.

I don't care if he's short or tall

Please send me any man at all

And when my wish you have gratified

I promise to be satisfied

Even tho its the one who prays

Down at the lodge of the DeMolays

Then from me will come not another

peep

Thanks Cupid, now I lay me down to sleep.

Program Features Grammar Gathering

The Grammar Round Table met in the junior high observation room Monday evening at seven-thirty. A brief program followed the business meeting.

The male quartette sang a number of songs as the first number on the program. A humorous story, "A Christmas Present for a Lady" was read by Alta Stauffer and Catherine Novitski.

The last number on the program was a concert by the grammar "hoboes orchestra." The members-Alta Stauffer, Hazel Schroeder, Ruth Meifert, Ruth Lippke, Amy Schaal, and Josephine Schroeder-played the "Tiger Rag." Ask any Grammar member what they think of the orchestra.

To the delight of all the members Dixie cups were served at the close of the meeting.

Music and Speeches Enjoyed By Forum

The Forum meeting for this month was held in the college auditorium. After a short business meeting, a program was presented.

Mr. Spindler, a speaker who is always welcomed at any meeting, gave an informational and enjoyable talk. The remainder of the program was devoted to music.

John Kolka and Reinhardt Latzig, expert harmonica players, demonstrated their talent by playing a number of harmonica duets.

The ever popular men's quartette entertained with two selections. Refreshments were served before the meeting was adjourned.

RURAL LIFE NOTES

On Monday night the Rural Life Club was entertained by the pupils from the school in McDill under the direction of Miss Alice Peterson, who is a graduate of the Rural Department.

The program consisted of harmonica selections, vocal numbers, and dialogues. Those taking part were William Gee, Raymond Hager, John Verrill, Steve Nimeth, Dorothy Shannon, Evelyn Minnis, Mae Porter, and Luella Simonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Minnis, Loretta Booth, and Alice and Edna Norton of McDill furnished transportation and Mrs. Elvin Potter of McDill was a guest.

In addition to its being entertaining, the program was most instructive for it suggests what can be done in rural schools in way of community and school entertainment. The members of Rural Life Club are very grateful to Miss Peterson and her school for the fine time they provided.

Before the program during a short business meeting, Mr. See, the Club president, outlined the plans for the next program, which will be the Christmas meeting.

NELSON HALL NOTES

There is a bustle and stir about the Hall now that shows that the girls are preparing for the faculty reception and banquet this coming Saturday.

Did you know that dominoes could be played scientifically? Well, that's all right. I didn't either until the "new girls" entertained the "old girls" at a domino party shortly before Thanksgiving. After the thick headed old girls got the "hang" of the game things progressed very smoothly. Prizes for high scores went to Elizabeth Brockbank, Delores Chilsen, Betty Wilson, Dorothy Dewar, Lauretta Farrell, and Lela Buttgen.

There were thirty guests for Thanksgiving dinner at Nelson Hall. In addition to the nine girls who stayed in town, Dr. Baldwin's family, Reverend Phipps and his family, Dr. and Mrs. Collins and Mr. Paul Collins, and several girls who live outside of the dormitory were guests. Just as all Americans have done since 1621, they ate, ate, and ate until they could scarcely move.

Miss Peg Neale returned from the vacation with a Christmas present, a new portable Remington. She has started working with it already.

Miss Sadie Espeseth was the guest of her roommate Miss Helen Jordan at Miss Jordan's home in La Farge.

Miss Janet Urquhardt entertained Miss Alice Falk at her home in Medford.

Mrs. Roland Scheibe, formerly Marguerite Gumm, class of 1919, called at Nelson Hall on her way home to Plymouth.

Many unearthly concoctions have been tried by would-be cooks in the secret depths of their rooms of late. Toasted sandwiches, new candies, taffy apples and hamburgers have been tried, and now it's cereals. A few lazy people who don't arise in time for breakfast have been cooking cereals in newer and better ways. Oh, yeah, you might know that they are home ees.

Miss Louise Meinke, who teaches the primary grades in Algoma was a dinner guest at Nelson Hall Sunday. Those of the girls who were at the dormitory then were very glad to see Louise and hear "all about school teaching."

The nine girls who remained to eat their Turkey at Nelson Hall this last vacation were so royally treated that they were almost sorry to see the rest of the crowd come back. Friday evening the girls "messed" around in the kitchen. The result of the "messaging" was delicious taffy, fudge, penouche, and popcorn. All are now experts in taffy-pulling. Saturday noon the girls had luncheon in the living room. The favorite foods of everyone were served and the girls felt more over-stuffed than the furniture when they left.

"What did you bid? What's trump?" In the wee and forbidden hours we can hear these words in muffled (?) tones. Some of our fair co-eds are going bridge mad and it is almost impossible to take them away from the card table. Perhaps soon Doyle will be consulting some of them for "pointers" on the game.

Miss Coon Speaks At Home Ec Meeting

The first December meeting of the Home Economics Club was held in the music room Monday evening.

The main speaker of the evening was Miss Dorothy Coon, daughter of Dr. Coon, manager of the River Pines sanatorium. Miss Coon spoke about her work as a dietitian.

The male quartette, after fulfilling their engagements elsewhere, sang at the Home Economics meeting. Even though their larynxes should have been worn out, their singing certainly didn't show that they were.

Refreshments were served before the meeting adjourned.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Students of C. S. T. C. will be pleased to learn that Mr. Neale who has been seriously ill is recovering slowly. He underwent an operation for appendicitis and adhesions at St. Michael's Hospital on November 20. The student body takes this means to extend best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Miss Carlsen recently received a letter from alumna of the college, Ruth Warren. Miss Warren is teaching a school of five pupils and five grades in Oyegegate Montana. She reports that she is "wild about" the scenery, but not so wild about the desolation.

The presidents of the State Teachers' Colleges held a meeting at Madison on the 20th of November. Committees were appointed to carry on extended investigations looking toward progress in all of the Wisconsin Teachers' Colleges. On the previous day the board of regents convened.

Dr. Baldwin has been writing to all superintendents and high school principals in this area asking them to recommend desirable members of their junior and senior classes for entrance into the teaching profession. There has already been a very gratifying response. The aim of this movement is to bring better students to the teachers' colleges.

Mr. F. Schlusser, principal of the Algoma High School, has written to Mr. Percival requesting him to ask everyone to listen in on the Milwaukee Journal Radio Station WTMJ today from 10:15 to 11:15 P. M. when the Algoma High School Band will broadcast a program.

He also requests letters and cards giving opinions concerning the program as the community which receives the greatest number of responses will win a silver loving cup for its broadcast.

W. A. A.

The meeting of the Women's Athletic Association was held after the Y. W. C. A. meeting on Thursday evening in the Home Economics kitchen. This was primarily a business meeting. Plans were discussed for an all-school party to be sponsored by the W. A. A. sometime before the end of this semester.

After the business meeting, the candy which had been cooking during the meeting was eaten. Before this could be devoured, however, each girl had to join in a hunt for peanuts in the dark corridors. Esther Hawkes entertained the members by giving a highly dramatic and appropriate reading about those insects—men!

Anita Dalton was recently elected as a member of the Women's Athletic Association.

Strenuous basketball practice takes the strength of a girl who participates in no other sport too much. For this reason a ruling has been made to the effect that any girl who wishes to play basketball must play volley ball at least one hour a week. Since volley ball practice nights are after school on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, every girl ought to find time for it.

The W. A. A. of C. S. T. C. has recently become a member of the National Amateur Athletic Federation. Through membership in the federation, news of amateur athletics in all the states of the union is received and much valuable information about women's sports is gained.

Snow and ice cover the tennis courts and hockey field now, but that doesn't mean that we should hibernate. Indoor sports are in order now, — volley ball and basket ball. The wintry weather should not keep us inside either. Skating, tobogganning and hiking will add to your athletic points and you'll have a good time, too.
