Place New Pictures
In School Corridor

Two new pictures—"We" and "Old Ironsides" have recently been hung in the Junior High School corridor. "We" was given to the Junior High School by the College Library. "Old Ironsides" was obtained from Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, chairman of the "Save Old Ironsides" committee, Boston, Mass.

Joint Concert To Be Given Mar. 11

Due to the fact that it was necessary to cancel the Joint Concert which was scheduled for February 28, Oshkosh Stevens Point game, the Joint Concert which was scheduled for March 11 has been postponed until Monday, March 11 to make way for the delayed Oshkosh game.

The program for the joint concert of the Public Speaking and Music department is to be put on by a very interesting cast and promises to be one of the best entertainments given this year. The concert will be given for the benefit of both departments to aid in sending a delegation to La Crosse, March 15. It is not likely that enough money would result if a silver offering were taken so an edition of twenty-five cents will be charged.

The Public Speaking department will be a twenty-minute play, "The Fatal Pill" by Granville Sturges. Time: the present. The cast is to include twenty-four members. The cast consists of: Miss Bernice Diltz, Lela Buttgen; Marion Card; Dorothy Caley; H. C. Chaffee; Irene Chwey; Margaret Coughran; F. Rogers Constance; Vivian Culver; Woodrow Duganne; Irene Dushek; Clara Eder; Alice Ehlers; Herty Eliot (Continued on page 4 col. 2.)

Oshkosh Debates
Locals On Mar. 4

Members of the negative debate team met the St. Norbert opponents in their annual Friday, February 28. It was a non-decision debate and proved to be a good contest.

The triangular debate which was scheduled has now become a dual one, as Milwaukee has withdrawn, leaving La Crosse and Stevens Point to carry on. The debate is scheduled for March 4—Oshkosh negative coming here and Point negative going to La Crosse.

Both Point teams traveled to Arbuckle Thursday night and spent the night at the Marshfield in the afternoon which preceded the Senior High School play. The Marshfield public at Marshfield that evening. All debates will be non-decision except the one with Oshkosh.

Iris Staff Requests
Snaps For Yearbook

The Iris snapshot section has been enlarged to fifteen pages. Due to the fact that this is usually regarded as the most interesting part of the book, all students are requested to hand in snaps. A box has been repossessed on the Playivism, 103, in the Playman's. The iris slogan for the campaign was: "LIKE YOURSELF AS OTHERS SEE YOU!".

The iris staff wishes to remind the students who will graduate at the end of this semester, that they must sign up for announcements immediately. Orders will be taken at the counter, together with a fifty cent deposit.

MOMENTOUS GAME
WITH BUGTOWNERS
IS SEASON CLIMAX

(TRY CARLTON LINTNER)

STOUT VICTORY TONES OF QUAD MORALE

Whew! What a close call at Menominee's. Anyway, the boys brought home the bacon and are in very good shape, both mentally and physically with the Oshkosh struggle. Doubtless the game will be the "hottest" that has happened on the River Front for some time. Reports have it that the Oshkosh squad has been weakened slightly by ineligibilities, nevertheless that squad will be made up fully by the fighting spirit which the "Bugtowners" will be imbued.

Every member of the Point squad is sure to go. A capacity crowd and 100% student attendance is anticipated.

Student Librarian
To Arrange For Practice

Miss Bernice Cox of Madison will arrive March 5 for library practice work. Miss Lois Zwinger leaves soon for practice work in the Janesville High School, and Betty Bril, wishes of the student corps and faculty of our college go with her.
ANNOUNCEMENTS

Little things are usually the disturbing elements in an otherwise serene existence. Here are a few of the disagreeable and disturbing things.

In the hall: groups of students talking loudly, some whispering, some laughing, or better—guffawing while the classes are in session.

In the basement: no lights in the men's locker room at the west end of the hall; the locker room looked at 6:15 every night—not a second later—and at noon on Saturdays. Either keep your books at home or drag a little tea-cart behind you to carry them for fear you might forget a student note you will forget a needed book in the sanctuary of your private locker.

In the library: a temperature of about eighty, conducive to brilliant thinking combined with a feeling of peaceful drowsiness—quietness inclusive of the room's gallon's worth of drunks, forty, etc.; the typewriter clicking away through the open door of the private office; brazen, discourteous individuals who act privileged by continuously whispering or even talking out-loud.

Instructors who insist on keeping students two, three, and more minutes after the hour, apparently just to make it uncomfortable for the student or else to hear themselves orate.

Those physical education classes which everyone desires so intensely.

And the last, but not least, the instructors who give such low grades when you know positively that you deserve at least 95. U. Z.

DEFEATISM

COLLEGIANS at Stout Institute are apparently in an athletic quiescence. The "Stoutonia," student weekly, has shocked the scholarly public by summarily stating in its February 22nd edition that a Stout defeat was unavoidable; according to their calculations, a victory over the Pointers could never be conceded.

Headlines sent forth the message that "THE FAST POINT OUTFIT ARRIVES AT DURHAM WITHOUT DEFEAT!"

Other typical statements follow:

&...We think it would be rather a shame to spoil a perfect record by winning.

&...I wish we could be likeable so the Pointers didn't think we were 'too tough'...

&...So we welcome Stevens Point to our midst and herewith present them with another win. The shock of a victory might be too hard on the campus, some say.

It seems that Stout really has been beset with ill-fortune during the present eagency season—having lost every conference game. (This is the perfect record alluded to.) Nevertheless, their psychological application is as strange as it is unfathomable; but their experiment almost succeeded—the Pointers were badly scared and fled by the enameled of their teeth, so to speak.

All during the year the "Stoutonia" sports writer had both begging and cajolled; past defeats were reconciled and just one future victory was the bright line in this stormy sky. It seems that the limit of endurance was reached and the barometer fell—to the prediction of an ignominious defeat.

On the other hand, Stoutonians are always very much keyed up about their athletic struggles with Eau Claire, their traditional rivals. The entire student body sincerely feels that a win over Eau Claire is imperative. They would be willing to die after such an occurrence. The situation proves that the Institute boys and girls still take their athletics very seriously.

The Stout student body, according to reports of our boys, is the peppest and most loyal of any amongst the teachers' colleges of the state. Other schools could profit by learning the why and the whereof of this condition. It would be worth its while in any institution.

We must be more careful in the case of the football writers. We must remember that a school paper must never wave from a well-defined stand of undying support to athletic representatives.

Pride and optimism should always obtain, regardless of whether the athletes are uniformly successful or not. The school organ must be driven on to the attainment of a theoretical ideal by the same indomitable spirit which characterized the hero in Bunyan's 'Pilgrim's Progress' and which characterizes a more modern hero, Charles Lindbergh.

LETTER*

(Editor's note: Below are excerpts from the previous issue's letter to William Albrecht from Harold H. Jackson concerning the former's stand on the subject of basketball players aiding each other in the game.)

"...there is no way to believe the story..."

"Dead or alive, if not, why not?"

"...that saxophone player is practical. "I'd take his sax away and fill it with concrete before I'd see that his own shadow is afraid to follow him."

Glenn Roberts: "I feel like a million dollars today."

Greg Charlesworth: "Well, I wish you'd get a little more gratitude, and give me that 6 bits you owe me.

Clement Shuyer argues that a husband is a fellow who concentrates his attention on you, and a bachelor is a fellow who hasn't learned to concentrate.

HALL OF FAME

VICTOR VEBOLE

Bertillon: Has heavy, black beard—rather pointed proboscis, easily smiled, easy to look at (except when he is talking) lid, wears size 10, 11, 12 hat, glasses, and, shoe respectively. Good 5 feet.

Has recently completed work (by Dr. McDonald) and has to date published a study that the HALL OF FAME committee (consisting of Sun, Pete, and Vin) has been considering, his membership for membership. Is conducting an elaborate, first-hand investigation of certain phenomena after which he will present his M. D. (Doctor of Medicine) thesis on the subject—"Why college girls run around with college boys but marry college professors and a bachelor is a fellow who hasn't learned to concentrate."

P. S. All reliable data pertaining to his chosen field of research will be appreciated.
Last Game of Season

By beating the Crazy City College, the local Purple have a chance to esp second place undisputed.

This is the local's last contest of the season, and on the home floor should have a distinct advantage over the speedy Easterners.

Obliterate Oshkosh

The Point Cracker-box has always been a jinx to Oshkosh, so its going to be some hot tussle. The Fighting Pointers are going to obliterate Oshkosh for the fans here-a-bouts.

Coach Moll is working hard to remove the missing offense which seems to have taken French leave a few weeks ago. Come on students, let's boost the Point to second place. Lets go!

Mcdonald, Hanson Star

Central State again beat the collar Stout quintet in a tough game. The Indians in the last few minutes of play killed Captain McDonald's long scoring to win 19 to 10 on the foreign floor last Friday night. Hanson starred for Stout; McDonald gave the Pointers nine points. Good for a Schotchman, eh?

OFF-Side OFF

It was the superior shooting of Moll's outfit that decided the day, as the Pointer's defense did not sparkle at any time as it had in earlier engagements.

At that, Stout played a dandy game and had three times as many tries as the Purple, but the leather wouldn't drop for them.

Mcdonald on

Missing basket after basket, Stout managed to emerge ahead at half time 11 to 10.

The fighting Pointers forged past in the next frame, managing to keep a few point margin. Then came Scotty, who opened up his field artillery to clinch the Pointer's victory by a bare three point lead as the revolver shattered the old scores.

We stopped Stout — Now it's OBLITERATE OSHKOSH!

Point in Third Place

The Point Collegians' victory over Stout leaves them in undisputed third place, with 20 to 26, as the Point just blasted their way to second place.

La Crosse raised a notch above Platteville by taking a hard fought game from the Miners, 26 to 22. La Crosse's sharp-shooting guards turned the trick. La Crosse is now tied with Oshkosh for 4th position with 22.5 percent.
