POINT GRIDDERS BOW IN 7-0 GAME, MARQUETTE

COACHES LINDSEMDH AND STOCKDALE, WITH POINT'S FIRST-GRADE, JOURNEOED TO MARQUETTE, MICHIGAN SATURDAY, AND FELL TO THE DEFECTED OF 7 TO 0 IN A VERY HARD FIGHTOT FROM START TO FINISH.

A BUS Loaded WITH 27 WARRIORS STARTED OUT FROM CENTRAL STATE COLLEGE FRIDAY AT 10:30 AND DROVE TO ROCESOKA, MICHIGAN, AND STAYED THERE UNTIL SATURDAY MORNING. FRIDAY NIGHT THE BOYS GOT A LITTLE WORK OUT, AND THEN WENT TO THEIR ROOMS FOR A GOOD NIGHT'S REST.

SECOND QUARTER EXCITING

The game was called at 2:30. The Pointers kicked off to Marquette, Gundy returned the kick to the Pointers' 40-yard line. Marquette's team carried the ball on this run to their 1-yard line. They tried a forward pass over the goal line, but Schroeder knocked it down. The ball was on the 3-yard line. Marquette's twenty-yard line with the Pointers' turn tryout luck. All attempts to the Pointers' forty-yard line and Gundy, Marquette's safety, fumbled. Kennedy, on a surprise punt, recovered the ball. It was lost on downs. The quarter ended.

FREE OUTSTANDING

The last half was just returning knock, kicks, and free words among themselves. Alberts and Schroeder made some very good runs and Kennedy, the Pointers' left end, was injured during the fourth quarter. Kennedy did some real tackling and blocking for the boys. De Cooke was the star for Marquette.

Much credit can be given to the home boys, as they were out weighted about 10 pounds to a man, and Marquette was out numbered at least 13 to 8. The boys played against last year. With a concert of about 1300, practice on the field 90 times are sure to make any team dig to get ahead of her.

Pointers Have Scoring Experience

Feature of the Pointers' line-up are the players who have gained experience. Alberts, Schroeder, and Miller, with Gundy on the board, have been with the team a year. It is because of their playing that the Pointers are able to put up a good defense.

LOCALS ATTEND MEET OF SUPERINTENDENTS

Dr. Baldwin and Mr. Herrick attended the School Superintendents' Conference at Madison on Thursday and Friday of last week. The meeting, according to Mr. Herrick, was one of the best of its kind that has been held in Wisconsin. It was very well attended. There were a number of people from out of the state, as well as all the prominent educators of Wisconsin.

Among the speakers were Superintendent Callahan of Chicago, President Franklin of University of Wisconsin, Secretary E. G. Doubins of the Board of Normal School-Residents. Mr. Doubins, according to Mr. Herrick, gave a most effective presentation of the services of the state teachers' college to Wisconsin. In his talk, he neither lauded nor advertised the colleges, but clearly stated their air and work.

Central State Teachers' College is celebrating its first year in the new building. The building is being completed, and will be built for the Buffalo meeting of the state association. The new building is an excellent one. The structure is three stories high, up to doors, and well adapted to the work for which it is intended. It is built of Michigan clay brick in seven shades, which gives the building a tapestry-like effect.

Central State is proud of the new teaching laboratory.

Cameron Beek To Speak Here Soon

Mr. Cameron Beek, personal director of the new teaching laboratory, is going to speak in the college auditorium during the regular assembly hour on the morning of October tenth. Any one who has ever heard Mr. Beek will appreciate the opportunity to do so again, and those who have never heard him have a treat in store.

Mr. Beek is known from coast to coast as a man who has worked out some new ideas along the line of developing the young man to fit him into a life of usefulness and responsible capacities. He has spoken before hundreds of Rotary, Kiwanis, Exchange, Young Men's Christian Association, and other Fraternal groups throughout the United States.

The New York Stock Exchange has more than 1,500 employees, and occupies twenty-three story building. This has been held for many years, but now the training of the employees for increased responsibilities. Mr. Beek supervises the hiring of these people as well as all the work connected with their institutional work. He is, therefore, in a position to speak with authority on business education and opportunities.

It is stated that a large crowd will be present in the assembly hall next Thursday to hear Cameron Beek speak.

OTHER ASSETS

The observation rooms are particularly functional. Each of the observing students are set off from the class by a low wall. Back of this are elevated seats and well adapted to the observation. This section is entered through a separate door, so that the students are not disturbed by the coming and going of college students.

The junior high school department has a large assembly hall with offices for the directors at either end. The room has, in addition to plenty of windows, two skylights, so that the pupils sitting next to the interior wall as well as those seated near the windows, may easily study by natural light. Corresponding to this is the observation gallery which was intended as a senior high school assembly room and is now being used for other purposes.

VOCATIONAL PROVISIONS

The vocational subjects are to be offered in this department. In the home economics department includes kitchen, pantries, a small dining room, Master's dormitory, and the old building is used for the supervising teachers. Manual training rooms are also being built for the in school department.

HUMOR
MORE OR LESS

Silver Threads among the Gold.
The man that claimed that "time is golden" forgot about the hair.

If aviation keeps progressing as it has in the past year, America’s new national speech will be "Nearer My God to Thee."

Margaret Reading: "What’s your name little girl?"
Frosh: "I don’t know. I ain’t married yet."

Early Anchutz: "Got a cigarette?"
Ir Thuer: "Yes, thank you."

Many a man smacks at the nail but ruins the timber.

Stockdale: "Kennedy have you a question?"
Kennedy: "No, I just wanted to ask you something."

Any fellow: "I used to love you, but it’s all over now."
Any Cool: "Oh, is it?"
Any fellow: "Yes, all over school."

Did you hear about the Freshman in Mr. Schmeckle’s agriculture class who, having just found out he was to be sworn in to the military, then refer to Timothy, looked around for the new boy in the class?

MODERN DICTIONARY.
Deter - A place where flowers still grow by the wayside.
Bachelor. Buttons - Safety pins, nails, and matches.
Whirlpool - A bed of bad noise in a hurry.
Parking Place - Where you leave the car to have the fenders dented.
American Tourist - One who looks for a sign on the Rock of Gibraltar.

"Why do you always write your bills on rose paper with perfumed envelope?"
"Because," answered the tailor, "the young fellows imagine it's a love letter and are sure to open it."

GENUINE ANTIQUES.
A certain small restaurant was kept by a man who prided himself on that cooking. He was amazed to hear a young salesman criticize his pie one day.

"Pie, young feller. Why I made those pie were born."
"O.K. But why try to sell them now?"

SAFETY FIRST.
"Yes," said the timid passenger to the airplane pilot. "I understand that I'm to sit still and not be afraid and all that; but tell me, if something happens and we fall, what do I do?"
"Oh, that's easy," said the pilot. "Try to find something that we're passing and hang on."

Tiny A: "Nothing is too hard for me."
Jack J: "Gee, but you’re lucky."

There was a young fellow named Hall Who fell in the spring in the fall Would have been a sad thing Had he died in the spring But he didn’t, he died in the fall.

Lotta Lippe - How did you persuade your old man to send you to college for anything? Abel Sass - I told him if he didn’t I’d get married, and I guess he thought he couldn’t afford that.

Crystal Springer says: "The more I see of men, the more I believe in women."

The girls of the Dorm wish to announce that they have discarded clothing of all kinds.

Six Year Old: "Popp, gimme another answer like you did last night."
The Father: "What do you mean?"
Six Year Old: "Well, when the teacher asked us for our money, I gave him a million dollars was, I said, "Heck of a lot more money than you ever have," and she said, "Jackie, you may go home," "Popp, gimme another for tomorrow."

THIS MIGHT BE WORSE.
Stranger: "How far is it to Newark, Pa.?"
Stohl: "How did you know my name?"
Stranger: "I guessed it!"
Stohl: "This guess how far it is to Newark."
Grace L was conducting a lesson in handwriting.
"Tommy Jones," she said, "what’s there about George Washington who gave his property to all other famous Americans?"
"He didn’t lie," was the prompt answer.

KEEP IT QUIET.
Babe: "Do you use butter knives at your place?"
Babe: "But you don’t tell — you know how those things spread."

THEN I SAYS.
"An’ he says to me, "Say, Bud, was college did ya come from?" And I looks up at him,” says Sam, "Say, I ‘lay’d a guy, do I look like a regular bumb?"

"You’re lookin’ bad, Willie."
"Aye, I’ve been in the hospital an’ the nurses have took away ma appendix."
"These doctors’ll take anything. It’s a pity ye didn’t have it in your wife’s name."

Julius: "How did you learn those steps so quickly?"
Lenny: "My step-sister taught them to me."

THE UNUSUAL REQUEST.
Salesman: (wiping the perspiration from his brow): "I’m afraid madam, we’ve shown you all our stock of ileum, but we could get more from our factory if you like."
Betty C: "Well, perhaps you had better. You see, I want something of a neat little size, something almost just a little square for my bird cage."

SOMETIMES TRUE.
A co-ed just before retiring: ‘’Please, dear Lord, help me to be half as popular as the girl that ran through our lecture room this morning.’’

IS THIS TRUE IN OUR SCHOOL.
Jack: "I want a girl who is good, eh, and beautiful."
Ted: "Say, you don’t want one girl, you want three."

PERSISTENT CALLER.
Office Boy: "But this fellow says he simply must see you."
Bess: "Tell him that I am out and if he doesn’t go, tell him I’ll throw him out."

ENGLISH AS HE IS SPOKE.
"Hello, central, gimf me Anderson’s grocery. Hello Anderson’s — will you please send me out gala garrett of early sugar to make a hen coop for my mouse dog?"

Judge Knott — What possible excuse did poor hurly burly have for acquitying that murderer?
Jury Boy — Insanity, Judge — What, the whole 12 of you?
Boob — What are you doing with an apple on the end of your fishing line?
Knott — Fishing.
Boob — Yes, but what’s the apple for?
Knott — Bait.
Boob — Bait! You should have a worm.
Knott — No, well, there’s a worm inside the apple.

ASSEMBLY SINGING.
One of the important demands of the day is for adequate and skillful rendition of the school song.
There are two things wrong with the usual regime of assembly singing. One is that there is a great amount of indifference to be overcome, and the other is that there is not sufficient time allotted for satisfactory performance.
There is a tendency to indifference when anything ceases to have a positive thrill, and there is an equal tendency to accept the line of least resistance when something is required in which there is no interest.
Assembly singing must not be allowed to become community singing, which is the singing of familiar songs where the leader’s zeal and physical activity must furnish the fervor. Rather, the assembly singing must be educational. The school as a body should be learning to sing songs worth while and learn to sing it well.
Not more than one old familiar song should be used in any assembly period although of course, a new selection should not crowd the regular assembly period although of course, a new selection should not crowd out the group singing of great popular classics.

The Pointer is a student magazine published by the students of the Central Wisconsin State Teachers’ College. It covers a wide range of topics, including music, humor, and news. The page in question discusses the importance of assembly singing and critiques the usual regime of assembly singing, which it sees as lacking in enthusiasm and focus. It suggests that assembly singing should be educational and that more time should be allotted for it. The magazine also includes a dictionary entry, an announcement for a talent show, and a request for contributions. The page ends with a section on persistence, with a story about a man who kept trying to sell an old woman a parrot. The text is formatted in a way that is typical of student publications, with headings and bolded text to emphasize certain points.
New Dormitory Girls Undergo Initiation

Frightened voices issued from the darkness. "Help! Help! Help! Help!"

The families of many of the girls visited them this week-end. Miss Gertrude Conklin entertained her people from Wausau on Sunday. Miss Margaret Boudreau's mother came from Green Bay Saturday for a short visit.

A party of fourteen were entertained at the Whiting Hotel by Misses Lorraine Schmidt and Marian Kowitz. The party included the families of both of the girls.

Miss Lucile Hyland and Miss Amy Ambro, both of Auburndale, were also guests over the week-end. The graduates can't forget the dorm it seems.

"Guest night" was held at the Hall on Tuesday night. All off-campus students, men and women are invited to the after dinner dancing from 6:45 to 7:15.

Our hero has fallen! Two of our most ardent football fans could not resist going to Green Bay for the Bear-Packer football game. Betty Wilson and "Muggs" Bonden made the trip Sunday visiting Miss Boudreau's home also. Although they had standing room only, they enjoyed the Packers' victory, but they liked Red Grange's brother better than Red. Poor Red!

According to a call from Westfield, Miss Bessee Dewar, who left here several days ago, is suffering from an attack of the flu.

Miss Dolores Chiles entertained her roommate, Miss Sarah Neal, at her home in Merrill this week-end.

Three friends from Appleton were Misses Gladys Groth's guests Sunday. They motored from home to Wausau where they visited Miss Groth's relatives.

Again this week end the dormitory was partially deserted by home-coming girls. Amberast was the haven of Adelyn Stedman and Lorna Quinn. Ruth Lipkis went home in the darkened corridors and stairways of W. A. A. Hall's "family" which was organized last year as a haven of Adelyn Mason of Marshfield, Crystal Robinson of Hilda, Wiprud, Irene Tietzen and Agnes Hinds spent the week-end in Jola, Ruth Nies, daughter of Athena, Crystal Mason, daughter of Marshfield, Crystal Joseph of Elderon, Evelyn Riverton of Auburndale, and Lloyd Ravcy of Unity returned to their respective homes for the week-end. Adeline and Margaret Bellman went to Fort Atkinson and Lola Belle Amidor to Graustal. It seems that all the girls belittle in making practical use of the lovely weather and good roads.

Sunday night Doctor and Mrs. Baldwin, their children and Doctor Baldwin's parents were dinner guests at Nelson Hall.

Nelson Hall parties have begun! There were two parties the first week, perhaps because classes were not yet under way and the midterms in science with books had not started. Monday night the first party was for Freshmen, but plenty of the older students were present. A "get-acquainted" game in the early party of the evening caused much laughter and enjoyment. Later Mr. Frank Perewick kindly consented to teach the school song to all. The guests then danced in the Nelson Hall's famed "tree" room where the player piano still grinds out its melodies. It has been observed that the new "family" sometimes recreate the piano for which the old family worked so hard.

The party on Saturday was impromptu and was therefore not as well attended as the first. Fifty students enjoyed dancing in the recreation room and served ice cream bars.

Some of the "old" girls visited at the dormitory this week-end. Miss Mildred Steinke, last year's Iris editor, who teaches in Menasha and Miss Leih Shanklin, a teacher near Amberast, called on old friends. Miss Lucile Hyland, a last year's graduate who teaches in the Auburndale High School also "to see the old gang."

Misses Margaret and Rosella Peterson were called to their home in Irma last Thursday because of the serious illness of their sister.

W. A. A. Hold Picnic At Old Waterworks

"Such a beautiful sunset! More fun, kids — "Oh, hamburgers 'n coffee and —""

These were just scraps of the conversation. It was clear that we hear of thirty-two girls returned from the W. A. A. picnic at the old waterworks park.

A week ago the "old" girls found that the park was an ideal picnic spot and chose it as the site for their first entertainment for the new co-eds. Prowess, in athletics, was demonstrated by games of horsemanship and baseball.

A few older (1) girls searched for acorns. Capacity for holding capabilities of force was also obviously shown when rolls, hamburgers, coffee and fruit were served.

It would remind the girls of the college that hockey practice hours are from 4 to 5:30 on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Come out to the field near the tennis courts for practice.

Freshman Home Ec's Entertained At Tea

The freshmen of the Home Economics department were the guests at a tea given by the Sophomore, Junior and Senior members. Tea was served in the Home Economics Room from four to five-thirty. Alice Wallington was the chairman of the reception committee, Mildred Barks, the invitational committee, and Virginia Fish had charge of the menu.

The local regent, Mrs. Elizabeth Malone, entertained two alumnae at lunch at Nelson Hall on Friday. Her guests were Mrs. Edward O'Keefe of Seattle, Washington and Mrs. Archer L. Raymond of Stevens Point, a former teacher in Seattle. Mrs. Raymond was formerly Miss Harriet Long and will be especially remembered as a soprano in the quartets which was organized while she attended the school.
PERSONALS

Institute work is becoming popular among members of the faculty. On Friday and Saturday of last week Mr. S. P. Wilkins conducted the Langlade County Institute at Antigo. His subject was the Boreal Sciences. Miss Nelson will attend the Oneida County Institute at Rhinelander October 4th and 5th. He will conduct the maximum work.

Friends of Miss Grace Stables were shocked to hear of her untimely death while on the way back to the laboratory, an operation at the Chipewa Hospitals. Dinner guests at Nelson Hall Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Schmolk, their little son, Don, and Miss Jones.

Miss Rowe, Matron of Nelson Hall, entertained several faculty members at Pelican Lake this week-end. Her guests were Miss Allen, Miss Sce, Miss Wilson, Miss Brown, Miss Tobias, Miss Bizer and Miss Austerud. As Miss Rowe's cottage is built on an island in the lake, there was plenty of opportunity for abundant fishing. Miss Sce held the record as the best fisherman, she caught three perch. Bumer has it that they drove into the ditch only once.

Miss Church intended to accompany the rest of the teachers to Pelican Lake. However, she was called home because of her mother's illness.

Miss Cecilia Breitenstein is to act as laboratory and preparations assistant to Dr. Carl Lundow of the Chemistry department. Miss Breitenstein is a graduate of the three year home economics course, and has returned this year to complete her work for the degree.

On Saturday, Dr. Baldwin went to Marquette to see the team perform. While there, he visited the Northern State Teachers' College located in that city. Dr. Munson, president of the college, showed a fine spirit of hospitality.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Students are requested to watch for the announcements of the group pictures for the Iris. It is essential to the Iris staff that all groups appear promptly at the photographer's at the scheduled time.

Even in the busy hectic life of a co-ed, sports play an active part. Central is offering every girl splendid opportunities to become an all around sportswoman. Besides the regular gym classes, Miss Incad also present, developing tennis technique, there are the outdoor hockey practices every Tuesday and Thursday at 4 p.m. Again, every girl is urged to show her interest by coming out for hockey.

The "keep out" signs will soon be removed from the new stairway, possibly the middle of next week. The stairway is a great improvement over the steep wooden stairs that have been in use ever since the establishment of the college.

The new stairway was built of terrazo as an approved exit that is in use all weather. It will be entered through steel-framed doorways which make it possible to entirely shut off the exit from the rest of the building in case of fire.

Central State Teachers' College has a new central heating plant which will eventually heat all the buildings on the campus. It is being erected at a cost of $65,000, and has 400 horse-power in-stalled capacity, with provision for installing another 150 horse-power boiler.

The new smoke stack is a landmark that has been seen for miles and is one hundred twenty-five feet tall, and will carry off the smoke which has been such an inconvenience in the past.

Have you any nice young grocers?" inquired a flustered young bride, who had intended to ask for chickens.

"Well, me too," was the reply, after a moment's reflection, "I believe you may send them when my husband is coming home early, and he can wring their necks and the cook and I will dress them."
