SKATING RINK PROMISED IF
$50 IS RAISED

Opportunity For Winter Sport
Needs Contributions For Reality

Now that the clappers, red flannels, camel, cow and bear hide coats have been displayed in the halls for the past two weeks we have reasons to believe that winter has blown in—
and how about that "hockey team" and college skating rink?

Coaches Kotal and Mr. Schme-ecke have promised their support
in pushing a hockey team and arranging a drive for the construction of a hockey rink on the new athletic field. It would cost approximately $50 to build a hockey rink. Only college students would be allowed the use of the rink and hockey, crack the whip
in pushing a hockey team and arranging the rink. Only college students would be allowed the use of the rink. President Hyer has pleased

Christmas Vacation

With the holidays rapidly drawing nigh, students have found a source of conversation, which never fails.

Christmas vacation begins Saturday, December 19, 1931, and reaches completion Monday, January 4, 1932, inclusive. For the benefit of those who have a burning desire to skip classes dearly before and after vacation, it might be well to remember that the penalty for such procedure means a condition in that course, unusual previously by the President.

Fewer presents and more Christmas cards perhaps will be prevailing this year. Nevertheless, the Christmas spirit will be there,
and President Hyer has pleased

MERRY CHRISTMAS
After Christmas The Pointer plans to investigate student and faculty opinion of the present title of the school. Do you prefer Central State Teachers College to Stevens Point Teachers College? Shall it be C. S. T. C. or just Stevens Point?

Keep It Up!
The match with St. Norberts at De Pere tonight will be important, but we are waiting for the Lawrence game at Appleton January 8 before we say very much about what we have here.

MERRY CHRISTMAS
Student opinion should be brought to bear on the individuals who walk out of the library stacks with choice reserved books minus the orthodox checking-out system required. The privilege of access to the library stacks is too much of an asset to have jeopardized by these selfish students who are rebels to our plan of college society. The pressure of adverse student opinion will curb this unfair practice.

Mr. Evans: "Yes I do. My wife first one in my pocket once and thought it was a mouse."

HOME EC PARTY

Two prettily decorated Christmas tree stands were a part of the display and the blue ribbons and a brightly burning fire in the fireplace laid the scene for all the joy of a typical German Christmas celebration which was enjoyed by the seventy-five members of the Home Economics Club on Monday evening. The party was held at the John Francis Sims cottages, and was under the direction of the freshmen, Miss Loretta Rabil and her committee are to be complimented for the way in which everyone was made to have an enjoyable time.

After playing several games taxing one's knowledge of the possibilities of the alphabet, the Home Ecs settled down stringing popcorn and cranberries which will become icicles and surmounted with a red wreath. The stage front below the footlights was festooned with red and green streamers, tied with a large bow in the center, and red and green festoons and bells were draped over the doors in the parlors. The formal evening gowns of the girls mostly of shimmering satin, were set off by the brilliant background.

Pearl Merrill was general chairman of the party assisted by Frances Van Hecke, Frances Kehr and Catherine Krembs. Croquet for the evening were Mrs. and Mrs. Thomas A. Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Kotal.

ALL SCHOOL PARTY

The all school dance given last Saturday evening by the Grammar Department was a huge success and evidently a good time was had by all. The new gym was decorated to carry out the idea of Christmas.

Dancing, which was played for by the bell ringer, was held from 8:30 to 11:30, and during the intermission Catherine Ritchay, accompanied by Eileen Hanson, gave a special number consisting of a song and a tap dance. Both girls are sophomores in the local high school.

Dorothy McElain was general chairman of the affair.

SPORT SHOPS Trim Ped "B" Team

Local basketball fans had their first opportunity to witness the Point "B" team in action Friday night, when they were defeated by the local Sport Shops 12 to 10 in a preliminary game.

Coach Vic Vrobel used ten players in an effort to find a clique in combination, but was seriously handicapped by the short practice period allowed before the final game.

Alumnus Stars

Ollie Neuberger proved to be a serious menace under the basket for the Sport Shops, while the diminutive Shreyer showed up as a real forward, when he dropped two field baskets to lead the Teachers' "B" team in scoring.

The "B" team should show decided improvement in the next week since another cut on the first squad will give Coach Vrobel more working material and experienced players.

Schedule Arranged

A full schedule is rapidly being arranged, with numerous state High Schools and other "B" teams.

SPORT SHOTS

Impressions

Quite a few spectators watched "Eddie" pull the Big Parade. The horn blew more often than the whistle, it seemed. There ought to be a rule against putting in more than four men at a time. Will the brunt from Gillette please respond. Young Gregory makes more noise than the cheer leaders when he goes down the floor. Some dizzhy Phi Sigs whistling in a corner. Proud fathers watching some perform. Coach Kotal twisting his hands.

Add indoor sports; Byrne Neville dropping nickels in phonographs. Basket shooting every noon by fellows in street shoes. Tattle-tale, tattle-tale. Seeing the Monday matinee. (Not an advertisement.) Standing in the doorway to watch the girls go by — and vice-versa. Thumping the piano in the Rural room all hours of the day. Know any more?

No lady, this is not the society column. Local sports about the same thing as it were. The fact that the Luthers beat Stout and lost to Eau Claire means — what? Make your own guess. Marquette took Milwaukee easily, but that doesn’t mean that Penwell’s bunch won’t do things in the Conference. And umpire looked as strong as ever in defeating D a u n t Teachers. How are ya, Joe?

Ungszy is the head of a football coach, to paraphrase the old expression. With Little of Wisconsin resigning, and the Thistlewaite ready for the bounce any time now, and Ingerson of Iowa resigning, it definitely proves that a coach has to have a winning team to hold his job. What wonder athletes are subsidized — the coaches have to insure success.

College Man Earns Victory In Ring Scrap

Central State’s outstanding batter outfought Johnny Tapp of Marshfield to take the decision in one of the preliminaries of the best fight card presented here yet. They call him “Duke” in the ring, and teachers call him Kazmier at school, but the boy can fight in any language. Duke has learned to keep his chin on the other fellow’s glove, and has found out that taking two blows to putting in one doesn’t pay.

Fights For Living

Your scribe happened to be sitting next to Duke’s brother at the fights, and found that Kazmier is literally fighting his way through school. Instead of earning his way shoveling hash he earns it with his fists inside the roped arena. We believe that this is both an unusual and an original way of procuring an education. Another factor is that “Duke,” with an abecedian nod, fought, even though it was against doctor’s orders.

Interesting Bouts

Yes, some other fellows fought too. Irish Kennedy saved all his marbles for the last round and lost the nod over Ernie Keth in the main embroglio. Nate Tillman, the Marshfield butcher boy, got a bit doped up again — he’s a sensitive boy. A cute little blond, girls, won his fight — and did he ever look nice in his chiffon shorts.

A few interesting side-light: Art Thompson very bravely deciding who won each round; Ernie Keth wearing his modernistic bathrobe; the fellows who fogled Tillman’s girl and then faded away when he showed up; the kids at all the windows; the large number of fellows present.

THE POINTER
This depression may be a state of mind, but prosperity seems to be a state of the pocketbook.

It is a good thing for women that they do not have a sense of humor, for if they did, they would laugh themselves to death over the foolishness of men.

In the opinion of many, a college professor is a man who is absent when his mind is working.

Numbers are purely mental abstractions foisted by man on to the external world. If the world is made up of numbers then it is a purely subjective mental abstraction.

Orchestra Is Organized By College Boys

Robert Krembs pokes the irories; Bill Nason of the high school handles the drums; M. Skinner controls the sliding trombone; Francis White and Ben Monastery, trumpet; Virgil Pizer, the bass; Harry Somers, alto saxophone; Arthur Kussman, tenor sax, and Ward Foustad, third sax. The orchestra specializes in modern “jazz” music, waltzes and classical numbers.

Skating Ring Promised If $50 Is Raised

About at $50, each and allow only those students purchasing the tickets the use of the rink. Let’s think the matter over and don’t forget to include a 10 or 50-cent appropriation for a hockey rink in your Santa Claus letter.

NELSON NOTES
BY NAT

First of All—
The Nelson Hall family extends to everybody the brightest and happiest wishes for the holidays and for the New Year.

Madison and Milwaukee claimed Miss Margaret Mortenson and Miss Frances Korbal, respectively, this weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bachman of Valders, Wisconsin, called at Nelson Hall Sunday evening. Mrs. Bachman, formerly Marian Hougem, was a member of the Grammar Department and a Hallite.

President and Mrs. Hyer and George Hyer, Mr. and Mrs. Steiner, Mrs. Seen, and the Sims Cottage girls were guests at the annual Nelson Hall dinner-party Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus and Sally Claus were there in the persons of Roselind Decker, Estelle Buhl, and Thyrza Iverson. Miss Rowe decorated the living room and the dining room with three beautiful Christmas trees and with wreaths and other greens. The sumptuous dinner was eaten in the glow of red candles, and after the last course was served, carols were sung by each table of girls, and the Claus family distributed the gifts. The floor was cleared, and we all enjoyed dancing. This annual affair is something we’ll never forget.

Another night which will live in our minds is Thursday night, the annual Christmas Festival.
