Chvala, Forward On Third Team

C. S. T. C. will be represented in the Wisconsin Teacher's College conference basket-ball selection, placing Capt. Neuberger pairing with Novak, of La Crosse, at the position as forward. Miller, of River Falls, center and Juel and Stori, of Stout will play guards.

Many Guards, Few Centers

"Ted" Chvala, also a member of the Purple and Gold basket-ball squad was named on the third team at the position of forward. There were many good guards in the conference but a very few centers.

Honorable Mention

Vrobel and Alberts received honorable mention.

Big Eight Winners To Play Monday

The big eight team basket-ball tournament was to be drawn to a close last Wednesday night with Capt. Neuberger's team meeting Alberts' "Wild Cats" for the championship.

Due to the fact that the gym was being decorated for the dance last night, however, this game was postponed to next Monday night at the same time.

Coach Kotal staged a basket-ball tournament the past two weeks to bring out the boys who like to play the game and also give him a chance to see what ma-

Rurals Entertain With Annual Party

The annual Rural Life party was given by the Club in the old gym on Saturday evening, March 14. It proved to be a very pleasant affair, with a good sized crowd present to enjoy the music furnished by Ray Jacobs Orchestra. The decorations were typical of the season with a ceiling of alternating white and green streams, white lattice work effects at the windows and green crepe paper shades over the lights. Dancing was enjoyed from eight-thirty to eleven-thirty.

The next meeting of Rural Life Club will be on Monday evening, March 30. The club will sponsor an Easter Cantata directed by Alex Peterson. Faculty and students are invited to this meeting on March 30 in the College Assembly.

Annual Short Story Contest Under Way

The Margaret Ashmun Club has announced its annual short story contest. The contest is open to any student of Central State Teachers' College.

The conditions governing the contest are as follows:

1. The story must be in manuscript form: typewritten, double spaced, margins of an inch on each side and the bottom, and two inches at the top, title page with title of story, name of writer, and number of words.

2. The story cannot be less than 1500 or more than 2500 words in length.

3. The story must be in the hands of Mr. Burroughs, Miss Davis, Miss Hussey, or Allan Hodell by April twenty-eighth.

4. Valuable prizes will be awarded to the winner of first, second, and third places. The winners will be announced at the annual banquet.

5. The winner automatically becomes a member of the Margaret Ashmun Club.

6. The judges have not been chosen thus far but will be people outside the college. Their names will be announced at a later date.

The story winning first place is sent to Margaret Ashmun, nationally known author, formerly of Stevens Point and now of New York, who writes a personal criticism of the same for the author. Such a criticism is a decided help for any who aspire to journalistic honors.

In the past few years stories reflecting local color and school experience have been the winning ones. Heave ho, students! Here's a hint for girls only. — Last year the first prize was won by a dorm girl who wove a story about some of her unique experiences there.

Don't forget! Take thou thy pen in hand — before April 28th.

WELCOME, VISITORS

THE students and faculty of Central State Teachers College extend a hearty welcome to the delegations attending the State forensics meet.

We are proud to be host to the many people who have shown such great interest in this state-wide affair and assure them that we shall do our best to make it an event to be associated afterwards with many pleasant memories.

This contest presents another, and very important, opportunity for students of Wisconsin Teachers Colleges to become acquainted and form friendships. We all need these contacts. Such associations lead to understandings of different points of view and tend to make students cognizant of a real need of cooperation in forwarding the profession of teaching as a profession.

Of course, we're all rooting for our own representatives, and we know that it will be a close contest. May the best speaker win!

CHILDREN FIRST

IN the face of danger or disaster on a sinking ship we would strike down anyone who attempted to save himself at the expense of a child. Children come first not only on sinking ships but in our hearts, our homes, our schools, and our churches. They are first. The race can save itself — can lift itself higher — only as children are lifted up. In this unique period of depression with its extreme want on the one side and its extreme fortunes on the other, many schools are carried down to disaster — their doors closed — their funds cut off. Boards of education and other public officials are often hard pressed financially but they cannot afford to give up the idea of children first. To do justice by the child it is necessary to do justice by the child's teacher. Teachers have never had full justice. Their salaries have always been low when compared with their training and their heavy responsibilities. They have never been able to maintain the standard of living which the character of their work calls for. We have never given to our American rural communities the leadership of a stable, wellpaid, welltrained teaching profession. To reduce teachers' salaries now would be to weaken our first and last line of defense and to cripple the very institution — the common school — to which we must look for the training in skill and in character to enable us to rise above present conditions. Teachers know this but they do not always make it plain to other citizens of the community. This is the time when the schools need to keep close to the homes; when every teacher needs to realize that he must interpret his service in terms of its human significance and values if he is to save the schools and protect the rights of the children. Copy this editorial and take it to members of the school board, the editor, and other leading citizens. Tell them about your own work — the fascinating story of what you are doing to help young people to become masters of themselves. Let's keep the children first.—J. E. M.

The above editorial appears in the Journal of the National Education Assn. It deserves to be read, and should provoke much thought. There is another view of the reductions of teachers' salaries, however, which should be mentioned. That is the all too frequent instance of teachers lowering their own salaries. Cases have come to light even this early in the year of good salaried positions being put on the auction block by underbidding on the part of people who consider their own welfare (?) before that of the profession. But are they forwarding themselves? It may have taken ten years of slow advances to raise that position to a place where the salary began to show a favorable ratio to the training and responsibilities involved. If this is all torn down in a reckless rush of unwise, destructive, and unethical bidding other positions will suffer as a psychological reaction. Where, then, will there be a chance for this individual to better himself? At the same time, What will have been the reaction on the profession of teaching? Think it over for yourself.

HUMOR
MORE OR LESS

STEVENS POINT

Another way to keep that school-girl complexion is to hide it so the kid sister can't find it.

New comer — "Does skating require any particular application?"

Coed — "No, arnica or horse liniment — one's just as good as the other."

Co-ed — "Tell me, Oscar, if it's not too personal — what is an atom?"

The more they spoon the less they stir.

THE REASON

Another thing that seems to be trying to avoid that future shadow is the Pie Shop sandwich.

FROM THE COTTAGE

We hear that Marian went shopping for a sport model kitchen stove.

Instructor: "Don't you wish you were a Freshman again?"

Alumnus: "Yes, those were the happiest years of my life."

Work hard and save your money and when you are old you can have the things that young folks enjoy.

HELP!!

Firp — "Those good old days of the stage robbers are gone forever."

Joe — "The heck they are. Did you see the girl I had out last night?"

"Stop me if you've heard this one," said Dick as he started in to explain for the seventeenth time.

When a man wants a handkerchief he pulls it out of his hip pocket, but when a girl wants one she shakes herself and then picks it up.

Saleswoman — "Have you a mother my little man?"

Little boy — "Lady, does it look like I'd been hatched from an egg?"

The Oratorical Contest

It only comes to Stevens Point once in nine years, treat it gentle — and often. It started in 1896 and is still going strong. C. S. T. C. has copped it five times and this will be the sixth, if Nuesse will be nice.

"Mac" will be at Nelson Hall in disguise at 11:30 and 5:30 Friday (See program).

By the by, have you noticed "Mac's" broad grin, also Lampe's, Herschleb's, Murgatroyd's, Little Joe Smart's, Anderson's, and others? We can't figure it out, but isn't there some connection between the grins and a yellow Austin and an egg-stained window?

The Hit of the Week

(a la C. S. T. C.)

"The Wearing of the Green"

The checker tournament is off! After weeks of practice Smith is off to a flying start, Klimowitz approaches from the east to land a low blow knocking Andre off the boards! Andre dashes to the pie shop for a coke and retaliates with a north by south hook! Turrish is barred because of his professional standing! Yours truly trounces Rothman with the aid of Neville's paddle! The announcer runs out of wind — — — — —

Guess we'll see if "Wolf" and I can't rate some food from the party downstairs.

Auf Wiedersehen.

"THOSE LITTLE WHITE LIES"

The lies I told

Now do me haunt —

For of each gift I said:

"Just what I want!"

—Pathfinder.

"It's Your Move"

Checkers to right of you, checkers to left of you, in fact all around you when you enter the boy's club room. It is one of the largest tournaments ever staged in old C. S. T. C. Forty-eight young men are playing to see who will win the honor of being not only the champion loafer but the best checker player. "Marsh" is now one of the leading contestants and Neuberger is playing a close second.

Tennis Classes To Be Organized Soon

Tennis, in Wisconsin, is said to be rated as one of the major sports. Interest in the past four or five years at C. S. T. C. has only been in a minor stage.

This year tennis is being talked all over the school. Central State, has as good tennis courts as any state teacher's college in the state. A fund of $420 has been given to build a new fence around the courts. New net posts will be installed and many more improvements will be made.

Why shouldn't Central State be one of the outstanding schools in tennis as well as any other sport both for men and women?

A tennis club will be organized within the next two or three weeks. Classes will be held for both men and women who are interested. THE POINTER is going to run four articles on tennis which will appear in the next four issues. These articles will discuss: how to hold a racket, strokes, drives, service, volley, smash, and error of foot faulting. Watch for these articles. They will be found of great value.

NELSON HALL NOTES

Your curiosity should be almost getting the best of you by this time. I nearly bribed the editor into putting out an edition last week in spite of all, but it just could not be done, even for me. I've kept all of the news "under my hat", though, and I promise you it's worth reading.

Do you know that March is almost as popular a birthday month as was February? Miss Hussey, not to be outdone by the girls in Nelson Hall celebrated her birthday by treating all the girls whose birthdays happened to be in March, with a large cake. Were we envious? Oh no! "Mibs" Roberts had a "perfect day" as she expressed it. Her birthday dinner was celebrated with a special table. Large double jonquils decorated the table. Those present were: Crystal Joseph, "Kate" Wiggins, Alice Falk, Vera Hillis, Frances Johnson, Janice Bounsall, Ann Jeselun, "Gen" Pulda, Helen Hammes, Ruby Hand, Irene Miller, ad Marcella Magin. On Friday evening she was surprised with a birthday cake with candles. And then the red wheels came to town. What more could one ask for on one's birthday?

Irene Miller was surprised on her birthday by a group of friends. Not everyone can have cake and ice cream arriving secretly and mysteriously in taxi cabs. The girls who shared the secret were, Mildred Lonsdorf, Marcella Magin, Reinetta Reissinger, Katherine Slowey, Kate Wiggins, Jean Skinner, Velva Funk, Murilla Roberts, Ann Jeselun, Crystal Joseph, and Genevieve Pulda.

Miss Katherine Slowey also had a surprise party on the night of March twelfth, the occasion being her birthday.

Thurza Iverson celebrated her birthday at dinner Saturday. Her brother, David, was the guest of honor. Others who enjoyed the birthday cake were Edna Crocker, Kathryn Sawyer, Josephine Schroeder, Gertrude Conklin, and Vera Hillis.

Perhaps it was the Rural Party or some other cause which brought back many alumni. Whatever the reason, we hope it will bring them again. This past week end, Miss Alice Falk entertained Miss Dorothy Oleson, the home economics teacher at Westfield and Miss Lucille Hyland, who is now teaching English at Auburndale. Last week end, Isabelle Sanderson, Ann McWilliams and Eleanor Baker visited their respective friends at the dorm. It seemed like old times to hear "Allie", Hyland and Oleson giggling together again. Genevieve Leahy was entertained by her sister, Eileen Leahy, Sunday.

Miss Marjorie Rymer entertained guests from Green Bay Sunday. Her guests were Miss Marion Volk, Mr. Milton Volk, and Mr. Leroy Haskins. The last time the Rymer family visited their daughter, they also brought

At St. Patrick's Tea

The Y. W. C. A. members were entertained at a St. Patrick's tea in the Nelson Hall Parlors last Thursday afternoon. The spirit of the holiday prevailed. Alta Atwood told an Irish story, Lucille Smith told some Irish jokes, then Dolores Chilsen sang two Irish songs.

Even the tiny green ribbons which were tied about the sandwiches suggested this Irish holiday. Much of the success of the tea was due to the efforts of the hostess, Blanche Tyler.

Home Ec's Staging Sewing Contest

The Home Economics Club is conducting a contest by which many Senior high school girls will benefit by enabling them to receive valuable prizes. The Club desires to assist girls who are interested to further their education in the Home Economics field.

The problem of the contest is the making of six different articles using flour or sugar sacks as material. The work will be judged on the basis of originality and workmanship.

The following three prizes will be awarded provided the girls enroll in the Home Economics Department of the college in September, 1931.

First — $25.00 in cash.

Second — $15.00 in cash.

Third — Payment in full of Home Economics dues for the four years of the course, which is the equivalent of $4.00 in cash.

Two letters have been written to many high schools stating the rules of the contest. Due to the short time before graduation the problems are to be finished before the close of April.

Rural Glee Club In Great Demand

The Rural Glee Club under the direction of Alex Peterson had a busy day on Friday, March 13. At three o'clock they broadcast a group of songs during the College Radio Hour. At 7:30 the organization appeared at Hotel Whitening as a part of the entertainment provided by the Business and Professional Women's Club for the Home Products Show. At 8:30 that evening they put on a concert for the Arnett Community Club. Lucille Smith and Mildred Mack assisted with readings. Frances Anderson and Roland Koyen sang a group of solos. There was a large and appreciative audience.

Omega Pledges Entertain Actives

The pledges of Omega Mu Chi Sorority entertained the actives at a slumber party last Friday night. A stunt was requested of the pledges in the way of entertainment. Refreshments were served in the form of a birthday cake with candles, and orange ice, in honor of Murilla Roberts' birthday. Although not much sleep was indulged in the girls who enjoyed the party were, Murilla Roberts, Ann Jeselun, Crystal Joseph, Ann De Base, Margaret Cochrane, Vera Hillis, Dorothy McLain, Margaret Levi, Irene Miller, Katherine Wiggins, Genevieve Pulda, Alice Falk and Magdaline Knapstein.

Miss Mina Hunt entertained her sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. C. V. Hinkey and their three daughters of Abbotsford.

Miss Mildred Lonsdorf was called to the bedside of her grandfather at Appleton on Monday.

Miss Beryl Sprong was confined to her room on account of her knee.

The Lenten season proves rather long for some of the co-eds. Their appetites cannot be held back by any means. The latest substitute for sweets is hamburger. We must admit that there are some expert makers of this delicacy and they don't happen to be Home-Ecs either. They know how to make people feel hungry about nine-thirty or ten because they use plenty of onions.

Miss Mildred Lonsdorf and Marcella Magin took advantage of the excursion rates to Milwaukee two week ends ago and found themselves snowbound on Sunday. The girls also visited in Racine.

Have you made preparations for the welcome of our visitors from the sister Teachers' Colleges? Don't forget to tell me the names of the girls you entertain for the week end. I'll see you at the oratorical contest. Hope you enjoyed the news.

terial will come from the ranks next year.

Each of the eight letter men had a chance to pick a team from fifty men to enter in the tournament. The following men acted as captains, Neuberger, Alberts, Hansen, Vrobel, Thompson, Schroeder, Chvala and Andre.

In the first round, Alberts' gang won over Thompson's by a score of 17 to 16. Hansen's team eliminated Vrobel's by the score of 19 to 14. Schroeder played Andre and won 5 to 13, while Neuberger won over Chvala 15 to 12.

In the finals Monday night Albert's team was victorious over Hansen's with a score of 20 to 17, and Neuberger's boys did not find it hard to defeat Schroeder's boys. The final score being 23 to 7.

"Where Graftmanship Predominates"

W. A. A.

The girls have a satisfied feeling of another project well done. The W. A. A. girls acted as hostess to the faculty women and wives Monday night for a jolly good time in the gym. The first part of the program consisted of a round of six competitive games, everyone being on one of the six competing teams. With the exception of one tie, each team carried off an honor in base ball, ping pong, golf, shuffle-board, ring toss, or bowling. Nor will the faculty women or wives soon forget how to carry a bean with a straw, or take a pig to market.

The feature of the evening, however, was the representative program of tumbling by eight girls, and clogging by four. They show what practice and fun can do with skillful feet.

A lunch of cakes and coffee was served during the program of tumbling and clogging, and the evening was closed with club songs by the W. A. A. girls. Everyone went home declaring it a very profitable and enjoyable evening.

Oh, yes, Volley Ball is coming along fine. The tournament schedule is made out, as anyone who reads the bulletin board will see.

Hikes are getting popular again, by the looks of the girls on the roads and paths nowadays. Every Saturday and Sunday as well as after school will see someone out enjoying this fine weather.

A girl who's kissed
Against her will
Will tremble, start,
And then sit still.

If thus no girl
You've ever kissed
Migosh you don't know
What you've missed.

Visitors are asked to register at Nelson Hall. Reception rooms for the various delegations will be designated by directions in the halls.
