ALL SET FOR MARDI GRAS FEB. 9

"Politics And The Undergraduate" Wins

CELESTINE NUESSE IS AGAIN CHOSEN SCHOOL ORATOR

Doctor Weaver, Head of University Speech Departments, Makes Decision

Celestine Nuesse of Sturgeon Bay repeated his victory of last year when he won first place in the 1932 oratorical contest, which was held, Thursday, January 21, in the auditorium. Mr. Nuesse's oration was entitled "Politics and the Undergraduate." Second place went to Cletus Collins, who spoke on "Troubled Nicaragua". Other contestants were Laurin Gordon, Cedrie Vig, Tom Smith, and Robert Krembs.

Extemporaneous Contest

Marlowe Boyle, speaking on "Farm Relief", won the extempora- nous speaking contest which was held the same evening. Clarence Styza placed second, speaking on "The Manchurian Situation". The winners will compete in the state contest which is to be held at the Milwaukee Teachers College, Friday, March 12.

Faculty Member To Judge Two Debates

Norman E. Knutzen, of the English department, will give the official decision in two high school debates this week. He will be at Marion today and Waupaca tomorrow.

No Iris Orders To Be Accepted After Feb. 8th

Students desiring copies of the 1932 Iris are reminded that February 8 is the deadline for orders. The Iris staff wishes to emphasize that no extra copies of the yearbook will be ordered. Only those students who have subscribed will receive annuals. The yearbook will sell for $1. A deposit of $1 is required with each order and the balance due upon delivery, which will be the latter part of May. Students can place their orders with any of the following members of the Iris staff:

Murray Dictionary Of Ten Volumes Ordered

Miss Lulu Mansur, head Librarian, announces that the complete set of Murray's ten volume dictionary of the English language has been ordered and will soon be at the service of the students. The dictionary will be imported through Stecker Company, of New York, from the publishers in Edinburgh, Scotland.

The reason for the size of the dictionary is that it contains all the known English words used since 1150 A.D. The book has a different plan and a different purpose from most dictionaries since special endeavor has been placed on the complete history and derivation of each word. Even American slang has its mention.

An article written by Joseph V. Collins, head of the Mathematics department at Central State Teachers College, appears in the Jan. 9th edition of the "School and Society." The title of the educational paper is "Should Arithmetic be a Required Study in Secondary High School?" It traces the history of the various subjects taught and how they found their way into the school curriculum.

"The probability that between four and five hundred men students at the university will be required to drop their studies and return to their homes because of lack of sufficient funds for room and board is enormous. With the first semester ending this week, the university employment office is swarming with young men students begging for any kind of employment that will net them enough money for having necessitated the most cases, according to Miss Alice V. King, in charge of the employment office the boys indicate that unless they do get work that will have to drop from school for the second semester at least.

Miss King stated that there are about six hundred young men at the university who have made application for employment. According to Miss King some will be satisfied if they can make enough for their room rent or meals, but in most cases it is necessary that they earn money for both room and board.

The young men are not alone in attempting to go through school on nothing a year. The same condition is found with the co-eds of the University. We also know that there are many students in our college who count their pennies and appreciate square meals. All for an education.

The College

War And Man

The Sino-Jap affair in the east has made war the chief topic of conversation amongst our young men. Four local young National Guardsmen have already left "on the freight" for enlistment with the Regular Army, in order to be in the thick of things at an early date. The hatred and disillusion associated with war made loyal adherents amongst the new generation, while fathers and mothers, remembering the last conflict, refuse to be engulfed in the desire to become belligerents.

The bronze tablet in the main corridor, commemorating the death of ten of our young college men in 1917 and 1918, is significant of the spirit found amongst students. Our history texts also give ample evidence that our young men are the ones to first conceive and promote the desire for war. Boys are not made any differently today.

It might be well to read a section occasionally of "All Quiet On The Western Front" and subordinate the idea that war is boy's play and all glory. The real movement for world peace and disarmament must find its root in the college student, and we have no place under the red banner of the war-lord Mars.

BONERS OF THE PAST SEMESTER

“Oh Yeah” goes back 1500 years says a Newark teacher speaking before the National Council of Teachers of English. He asserted that the modern youth who uses the term “Oh Yeah!” is only about 1500 years behind time.

Butowulf, about 500 or 600 years after Christ, would have used “Yeah!” and he added that he believed the term “yee” of the Bible is the same word.

The future of the local athletic hopes has been considerably brightened by the enrollment of Leslie Omholt, of Wisconsin Rapids High School athletic fame. Omholt withdrew from Wisconsin at the close of the first semester and plans to remain at Stevens Point for the remaining four years of his college life.

While at Wisconsin Rapids Omholt received conference ratings in both basket ball and football. On the grid-iron he is a quarter-back and plays guard in the winter sport. His purpose here will be to obtain training in Coaching of Athletics, under Kotal. He will undoubtedly be assigned to the "B" team until eligible next fall.

FATHER GETS ALL BLAME

Don Schmeckle, the Younger, was lacing his shoes upon rising the other morning and when through with the laborious process noticed that his right foot was securely bound where his left should be, and vice-versa. In a bit of childish anger he blurted "Gosh, I'm getting to be a regular absent-minded professor's son!"

Senior To Judge Debate Contest
Laurin Gordon, senior at the Stevens Point Teachers College will render his first decision in a conference debate today when he judges a High School debate between the Rosholm and Wittenberg schools at Rosholm. The subject for the debate will be "Unemployment Insurance" the topic which Mr. Gordon became well acquainted with last year while debating with the local varsity affirmative.

Gordon, who returned to school last year after teaching for several years, will receive his degree next spring. He has been one of the most active students in the forensic department in charge of Professor Burroughs. Gordon placed second in the oratorical contest last year, was School Extemporaneous speaker in the state events in the spring, and has been the star of three seasons of debate. He is a close follower of politics and current issues. The Rosholm team is coached by Miss Esther Hawkes, also a former student in Mr. Burroughs' forensic department.

"The Gold Counselor"
NELSON NOTES
BY NAT

In spite of the cold, snowy, slippery weather about half of the Nelson hall girls enjoyed the week end or the 'short post-exam vacation' at their homes and with friends.

Just before "exam week" started the annual birthday party was given at Nelson Hall by Miss Rowe. The table arrangements were made according to the months of the year. March claimed more birthdays than any other month. There were only three "December" and "January." "The Star Spangled Banner" from July, football yells from November and other appropriate "Decembers" and "Januarys;" "The Star Spangled Banner" was decorated to represent the month. The bust of a snow man "December" and "Januarys;" the June people, Christmas and other appropriate words.

The local college has a very good rating and the teachers' credentials furnished by the training school have received comment from many High school principals and superintendents throughout this section of the country.

Local Manuals Popular
Over 16 manuals have been published by the Principal and Teachers of the training school and requests for these guides have come from states as far south as Virginia and from the east coast.

A "Lesson Plan" manual was recently prepared by Principal Alfred J. Herrick. It discusses the plans used by teachers everywhere. "Community Living or the Social Studies for Grades I, II, III and IV" is another manual prepared by Miss Olga M. Bizer of the primary training department and Miss Leah L. Diehl of the intermediate grades.

Another feature being carried out is the activity program. The children characterize and dramatize their readings which make their studies more vivid and interesting.
