

Y.W.C.A. CONFERENCE HERE TOMORROW

COEDS FROM ALL OVER STATE TO CONVENE HERE

College Y. W. C. A. To Be Host
To Teachers Colleges This Week-End

Tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday Central State will be the scene of the annual convention of the Young Women's Christian Association of the Northern district. About 50 delegates from the various teachers colleges of Wisconsin are expected to register on Friday.

A varied program of conferences and entertainments has been arranged by the local chapter for the entertainment of the guests during their stay in Stevens Point. Delegates will be lodged at Nelson Hall until Sunday, at which time the convention ends.

Dr. Peabody To Speak

Two excellent speakers have been engaged for the conference. Dr. Peabody, a professor at Ripon College, who is a retired missionary from China, will relate some of his experiences in the Orient and will present a brief outline of existing conditions in that country. Dr. Peabody has an excellent store of information and is reputed to be an excellent speaker.

Miss Susan Chang, a foreign student from one of our American universities, will be the speaker at a banquet at Nelson Hall Saturday evening. It should prove interesting to obtain a view of America from the standpoint of an Oriental.

Varied Programs

The program for Friday includes registration from 1 to 3 o'clock; Informal hour in the recreation room of Nelson Hall, 3-4; Afternoon tea in the Home Economics rooms to which the women of the school are invited, 4-5; dinner, 6; Dancing at Nelson Hall, 6:30-7:30; Opening meeting in the college auditorium, 7:45; Corridor spreads and party, 9:30; and So to bed, at 10:30.

Saturday morning will be free until 9:00 o'clock at which time a cabinet training conference will be held in the rooms of the college. Afternoon features will include a sight-seeing tour of the paper mills from 2-4, Appreciation hour at Nelson Hall, 4:30-5:30; and Banquet at 6:30.

Sunday's program will include a course in council training and closing worship from 8:30 until 10.

'Tarzan' Takes To Tall Trees; But Brunette Breaks Branches

'Twas a beautiful spring day, and a socially prominent member of the younger set, with his heart's delight in tow, was wending his peaceful way on the banks of old Wisconsin.

Because the Equinoctial storms had recently passed and the summer Solstice had not as yet set in, the couple eventually found themselves in a spot where some form of navigation was much to be preferred to the more staid manner of locomotion known as walking.

It Worked The First Time

After pondering this impasse for a while, our resourceful young Lothario reached up and seized upon the branch of a tree, and with a single Tarzan-like leap, swung himself triumphantly across the watery barrier. Not to be outdone, his fair maid decided that she must resort to the same manner of locomotion. But alas and alack, the trusty branch, which held up so nobly during the first flight, apparently had been weakened, and gave way in mid-voyage, and Jill came tumbling after.

Mud Bath Tests True Love

Covered all over from head to foot, covered all over with mud, the fair one made her bedraggled way homeward. However, the situation was not without consolation, for by doing right by our Nell, Tarzan proved that his heart, though sorely tried, rang true. 'Twas remarked that if he could love her then, he would love her forever.

Moral: A bush in the air is worth two in the hand.

SUBMIT IT TO A STUDENT VOTE

An article worthy of careful consideration by every college student appears in the Student Broadcast column today. The article advocates the new "Iris" plan of purchasing the yearbook.

Responses secured from various students by the Pointer Inquiring Reporter several months ago favored the tuition plan unanimously. The new plan would enable the Iris staff to sell the books to the students for $2 instead of $3. More than this, it would give the staff a guaranteed subscription sale each year. The staff would know, almost to the penny, in advance just what budget it would have to work with. It would abolish those difficult and laborious subscription drives. It would enable a bigger and better annual at a smaller price.

Naturally the only objection to the plan is the $1 increase per semester in tuition. But if there is any truth in what Guy Krumm says, "if you don't spend it one way it goes in another", the students who would invest their $1 toward an annual would find more entertainment in paging through that investment in years to come than any dance at the Capital or 20 glasses of Hamm's special could possibly afford.

Disregarding the pro and con opinions on the matter the logical action would be to submit the new plan to the student body for a popular vote. Student balloting would soon determine whether the plan is worthy of further consideration.

BROADCAST

Something Worth Reading

Dear Editor:

The past Easter vacation I met several of the alumni of this college. They, of course, spoke about the many pleasant experiences they had while attending C. S. T. C. One of them mentioned about the Irises she had. She said, "Many of my pleasant memories are rejuvenated when I look at the annuals. My only regret is that I failed to buy an Iris my first year at College."

Now then, think of all the students at school who are missing the opportunity of subscribing to the Iris. The Iris is something permanent. Its value is not measured in a material way after one is out of College, because it is then that one realizes the many merits an annual possesses. It is about the only means of refreshing our college days. If we would subscribe for our Irises like we do the Pointer, paying $1 at the beginning of each semester in our activity fee, everyone would have an Iris.

Then too, we would be able to buy the annual for $2 whereas the present method costs us $3.

Is not this a worthwhile project?

Let's all get back of this movement and put it across. Talk it up!

"A JUNIOR"

$6.85 excursion ticket — maybe he'll be telling ya' how he had to pay an Illinois tax on a nickel "hot dog" — perhaps he'll be chalk talking to his home-town fans and proving that the "Chicago Loop", after all, isn't a thrilling ride or circular in design.

Jolly Train Ride

A long train ride filled with fun and action, and lack of sleep didn't retard the enthusiasm of the "pop-eyed" frolic seekers in the least. One glance at that famous sky-ride, the replica of Fort Dearborn, or the hall of science, and pep, eagerness and interest again had the excursionists on their toes.

Taverns There Too

The travel and transportation buildings, the various Japanese, Chinese, Italian, German, French and what have you concessions and buildings are only part of the millions of dollars of investment that are sprawled along three and one-half miles of Lake Michigan's shore line — not to mention the taverns.

Spice To Tour

A special tour around the "high spots" of Chicago in chartered busses and visits to the Shedd Aquarium and Field Museum added spice to the venture.

Mr. Raymond M. Rightsell was in charge of the college excursion.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

The Question: Do you think that regular four year senior students should be admitted to the Junior Prom free?

Fritz Cochran: Sure they should. They should be the guests of the Junior class. That's what Proms are for.

Marlowe Boyle: I don't know. I don't think it's a good year for an experiment. It might work well in view of the purpose of the Junior Prom.

Art Thompson: It is tradition that the Juniors give a farewell party for the Seniors. This is usually called the Junior Prom. When you sling a party for someone, you don't usually charge the person in whose honor the party is given. Therefore we spell it "gratis".

Eddie Leuthold: No. The financial condition of the Junior class does not warrant this.

Celestine Nuesse: No. I just don't think they should. We're paying a good deal for the orchestra, and the financial condition of the class does not give much opportunity for experiments such as this.

Cletus Collins: I think it's a good idea, but not in these times of depression.

Bob Siegler: I think that the Senior men and their girls should. Otherwise no.

Bill Herrick: No, I don't think they should be admitted free. Because of the depression I don't think we'd clear anything on the Prom.

Viola Hotvedt: No, they should not get in free any more than the rest of them.

Jim Turrish: I'm a Junior. I think they ought to pay.

Vera Kramer: Sure. Give them a treat.

Mary Louise Bowers: The Junior Prom is for the Seniors, isn't it? Then they ought to get in free.

Alta Stauffer: I think the Junior class should make the decision. Free admission for Seniors had been the precedent until last year when a change was made because of the financial situation. There are arguments pro and con. The Juniors are responsible and they have to do the work. Let them do as they think best.

Senior Class Play Nets $74.88

Total cash receipts from the Senior Class Play, "It's The Girl", which was presented in the auditorium last week Tuesday and Wednesday amounted to $241.46. The Senior class net profit totaled $74.88.

General expenses amounted to $72.70. The producers' share of profits took $84.38. Rental of tuxedos cost the class $9.50.

CLASS TRACK MEET SATURDAY

KOTAL VIEWS MATERIAL IN CLASS EVENT

Freshmen And Sophomores Chief Contenders For Inter-Class Crown; All Events To Be Featured

The Annual inter-class track and field meet, sponsored by Coach Kotal, will be held on the new Schmeckle Field track this Saturday afternoon.

Class Rivalry

Ancient rivalries will be revived on the cinder path when representatives of the Freshmen and Sophomore class clash. These two classes are expected to fight it out for victory, with the Juniors and Seniors far behind.

The meet will give Coach Kotal an opportunity to see just what track talent he has in school. Quite a bit of new material is expected to be uncovered in these inter-class events.

"Frosh" Threaten

Last year the Freshmen (now the Sophomores) won the event, and are determined to repeat again this year. The Seniors, though out of the running, have three possible first place men in Atwood, Baker, and Thompson, while the Juniors have Peterson, Graney, and Fritsch for point winners.

The Sophomore squad is paced by Lyman Scribner and Reichert, varsity men of last year. The Frosh aggregation is more of an unknown quantity, but looks to be the strongest in all-around point-getting ability.

Official Meet

The meet will be run off in official style, with timers and starters and judges, and all that. All the regular events of a track and field meet will be held. The public is invited.

The entrants so far are: Freshmen: Don Abel, Carl Blom, "Doug" Strobe, Felix Forrest, Gene Fitch, Bill Berard, Ronald Murray, Bob Tardiff, Charles Scribner, R. Beck, and Bremmer.

Sophomores

Sophomores: Nolan Gregory, Bob Seigler, Clarence Schulte, Frank Klement, Lyman Scribner, Harold Reichert, Eino Tutt, Milton Anderson, Leonard Roy, Dick Schwahn, and Winston Thomas.

Juniors: Myles Graney, Myron Fritsch, and Peter Peterson.

Seniors: Art Thompson, Ed Baker, and Russ Atwood.

SAM'S SPORT SHORTS

Best wishes for a successful season to co-captains Gregory and Krumm. They've got some pretty big boots to fill in Art Thompson's — and that goes both ways.

Betting on the interclass bunion derby this Saturday favors the Sophomores, with the Frosh threatening. The Seniors don't need anymore glory, anyway.

Speaking of bunion derbies, the Junior Prom takes place next Friday. Be there early to practise starts, track men!

We suppose kittenball got its name from the fact that the players make so many scratch hits. (Don't throw stones — it makes the baby nervous).

And the poor guy who pushes around the baby carriage with twins must have made a double play.

It's not as though we were getting paid to do this...

Fishing is the order of the sports day, but where are the fish?

Dean Herbert Steiner went out last Monday and caught one. And he said he wouldn't want to be photographed with that.

The bullheads in Plainfield are on a strike. They claim that some of the fishermen aren't baiting their hooks anymore.

Which is a scaly trick.

They say they'll put up with bent pins, but they insist on some worms.

All some of these fishermen can cast is their ballots.

Play Day chairmen will meet in room 150 tonight at 7 o'clock.

Coed Baseball

Spring baseball practice was continued this week on the field. The teams will be selected by next Tuesday, and team practices held during the week. The tournament will start the week of May 14. Some thirty-two women have been practicing regularly.

W. A. A. At Annual High School Field Day

On Saturday, May 13, the college will be host to the girls of the high schools of the vicinity of Stevens Point in the Annual Play Day sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. Invitations have been sent to many schools and a large delegation is expected here for the festivities.

Definite details of the program have not been released for publication, but it is understood that registration of the visitors will take place at 9 A. M. Saturday, with games following. A lunch will be served at Nelson Hall. The athletic games, which are a feature of the event, will continue during the afternoon.

PHI SIGS DOWN CHI DELTS, 5-4, IN INDOOR GAME

Fraternity Rivals Battle For Possession Of "Little Brown Jug" In Five Game Series

Resuming their yearly battle for the "little brown jug", Phi Sigma Epsilon's indoor team took the first game of the series from their Chi Delt rivals, 5 to 4, on the Garfield diamond last Friday afternoon.

Close Game

It was a fast and well-played game, with the lead tilting back and forth between the two teams. The Delt's began the scoring, but fell behind when the Phi Sigs collected three runs in the second inning. They crept up again, and went ahead in the seventh, but two runs for the winners put the game on ice.

George Maurer's south-paw slants were effective for the Phi Sigs and Johnny Murat and Frank Klement twirled for the Chi Delts. Close fielding and solid hitting featured the game.

Real Battles

These games have more real rivalry in them than anything seen on the local diamond in a long time. The boys are playing a three-out-of-five series, and predictions are that it will go the limit. Revisions are expected in both line-ups for the second game.

This Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock the teams will meet again, on the Garfield School diamond. George Maurer is slated to work on the mound for the Phi Sigs, and Frankie Klement for the Chi Delts.

Last week's line-up:
Phi Sigma Epsilon: Harvey Polzin c, George Maurer p, Art Thompson 1b, Art Nygard 2b, Harry Rickman 3b, Asher Shorey ss, Maurice Skinner ss, Cletus Collins lf, Guy Krumm cf, Tom Smith rf. Substitutions — Neal Rothman ss, Pete Peterson c.

DOUDNA TALKS TO RURALS ON SOUL OF POET

Lecture 'A Poet Passed This Way' Well Received By Large Audience

At a meeting of the Rural Life Club held in the Rural assembly Monday evening, May 1, Edgar C. Doudna, Secretary of the Board of Normal Regents, delivered his much-discussed lecture, 'A Poet Passed this Way'.

Mr. Doudna said that the popular conception of a poet is far from what a poet is actually; that instead of being a non-productive and quite useless part of our society, he contributes far more than the average person gives him credit for. "A poet reflects", says Mr. Doudna, "giving us certain insights and understandings that we would otherwise miss." He is our eyes and ears to beauty, trying to make us see the beautiful things that our constant friction with the harsh realities of life hides from us, — he said.

Has Universal Appeal

"Poetry", Mr. Doudna believed, "is literature in its highest form. It reaches through the mind to the heart. It makes us dream, weep, laugh, sigh and thrill. It awakens the imagination and, for a few minutes, it makes us live greatly. Poetry must be prepared for. Teachers must know backgrounds, origins, and unusual use of words. Reading poetry is a fine art. Teaching it, as well, is a fine art. Teachers of poetry rank with great artists."

"A poet gets at the heart of things and makes us understand as no one else can. He moves the world with his songs. But he has to have an audience who recognize in his language their own dimly realized thoughts and feelings. The poet says for them what they have wished to express but for which they have found words inadequate."

Date Of Rural Play To Be May 16th

There will be spreads Friday night and a banquet Saturday evening in addition to regular conference schedule of events.

Say It Isn't So — that an axe does fly off the handle when it loses its temper.

That kiddy ball game the Phi Sigs won from the Chi Delta last Friday afternoon was plenty exciting — even to the Garfield school teachers who had an awful time trying to educate their youngsters and keep tab of the score at the same time.

The frat boys will huddle together again tomorrow afternoon at 3 bells in the second game of the series. We understand the brown jug is up yonder just north of the public square at present being filled.

Even our good natured "Dave" Davidson flew off the handle in Chicago last week-end. Who wouldn't. What's more disagreeable than to chew on a tuff steak and then be forced to pay the state of Illinois a sales tax for finally succeeding in swallowing the bloomin' cow.

No one got much sleep on the way down to Chicago but some of 'em snatched a few winks on the way back.

Only the college boys who went to Chicago can tell you how cute Garnet, Georgia, Bonita, Lois, Jean and Bertha look when they are asleep.

Messrs. Raymond Rightsell and George Allez entertained the Chi Deltas at the Rightsell home last Tuesday night.

It should be a good investment to take your girl to the frat dance tomorrow night because if she understands the law of reciprocation she'll feel obliged (at least she should) to ask you to the Omega sorority hop next week Friday at Wausau.

You can expect "Dave", our photographer, to blossom out with a new suit one of these days. He bought one in Chicago — but per usual he forgot to buy fuel for his briar.

If the gentleman who picked the lock on my locker and appropriated a pair of shoes, a sweat shirt, a supply of towels, and gym clothing will return the combination lock to the registrar he will receive a dollar as per original agreement. (And to pull the old gag, — the afore-said gentleman is known.) — Burt Hotvedt.

Primary Council Picks '3-'4 Heads

At a regular meeting of the Primary Council last Monday evening in Miss Colman's room, Evelyn Stephenson, freshman, was elected president of that body for the school year of 1933-34.

LaZett Schmidt, sophomore, was chosen vice-president, Maude Berg, freshman, secretary, and Winifred McGillivray, freshman, treasurer. Viola Marsh, freshman, was selected to head the program committee.

The officers who are to finish their terms in June are Norma Steinmetz, president; Roberta Lindow, vice-president; Maybelle Peterson, secretary; and Ruth Stange, treasurer.

Orchestra-Chorus In Concert Tonight

The college orchestra and chorus, under the direction of Peter J. Michelson, will present a concert tonight at Plainfield before the high school of that city. It is to be a regular one hour and a half entertainment consisting of vocal and instrumental solos, intermingled with choral and orchestral selections.

This is the first of a series of trips to nearby towns that are being planned by the Music department. Within the next few weeks, the college band and orchestra are to appear in Marshfield, Rosholt and Waupaca during the month of May.
