

FOUR ENTERTAINMENTS COMING

MISS FLINTOM IN ASSEMBLY AT TEN TODAY

Walton Pyre, Pollard Players,
And Fred M. Snyder To Appear Here

At ten o'clock this morning in the assembly hall, Miss Nedra Flintom, world traveler and lecturer, will present to the student body some of her experiences while journeying in foreign lands.

Miss Flintom will give her widely acclaimed lecture, 'War Lords, Bandits, and Boycotts', concerning her experiences in China, Japan, and Manchuria. At the conclusion of this theme, she will answer the question, 'Where is Russia Going?' In discussing this question, she will explain as far as possible the inner workings of the Soviet government.

Interpreter Of Note

Walton Pyre, nationally known interpreter, and director of the school of dramatics bearing his name, will be presented to the students and townspeople on January 24, at eight P. M. This program is one of the features of the Citizens' Course.

Pyre will present his own interpretation of 'Francesca da Rimini', a play of the 13th century by George Henry Boker. The composition includes seven scenes with eight characters, all of whom will be portrayed by Mr. Pyre. Excellent press comments have come to our attention concerning the interpretation and we can assure a good performance.

Dance In New Gym After Game Friday

A dance will be held in the new gym tomorrow evening following the game with Platteville. The hop is being sponsored by the Iris, and they're showing us that we can't call them 'cheap-skates', for they have engaged the college orchestra of ten pieces to furnish the rhythm, and no doubt these ten masters can do it, according to the way they performed in the student assembly last Thursday.

College and High School students as well as townspeople are invited. Admission price will be 25 cents to everyone.

Will Appear In New Togs Friday Nite

In the event that you haven't been planning to attend the Platteville game tomorrow. (Friday) night, you'd better change your mind right now. For it you don't, you're going to miss the uniformed debut of Professor Peter J. Michelsen and his highly touted college band.

It is expected that the boys will march around the gym giving the student body and townspeople an opportunity to get a good view of them in their new elaborate "show off" clothes.

As this is written the uniforms have not as yet arrived. However, they were to have been shipped from Kansas City last Friday, and President Hyer and Professor Michelsen are expecting them on every train.

Ruth Knaack Joins Secretarial Staff

Miss Ruth Knaack of Princeton, Wis. joined the college secretarial staff last Monday as secretary to the registrar, succeeding Miss Rachel Cuff of Portage, Wis., who resigned recently.

Miss Knaack is a graduate of Princeton High School, and has done advanced work through the University of Wisconsin extension division. Since her graduation she has been employed in the law offices of Lehner and Lehner located in Princeton.

She was selected for the position which she now holds through civil service examinations.

Unique Score Board Built By Chi Deltas

For quite some time the school has been in need of some device that might serve much more efficiently the purpose our old basketball score board did, which was situated above the balcony on the east side of the gym. This new score board will be presented to the school this morning at the regular assembly session and will take the place of the old board.

Card System

The board is eight and one half feet long and six and a third feet wide. It is coated with white enamel. The arrangement of the board includes the names of the two teams in large black lettering at the very top. These names are changed by means of a card system. In the same systematic way the players names are arranged in two vertical columns beneath their respective school card. With each of these names are slots that give the data as to the position of player, number on jersey, field goals, free throws, and personal fouls which the player has made.

Extra Features

Between the vertical columns and the card index of the two teams are slots giving score, time left to play and a signal indicating the half of the game. This data is controlled electrically by lights operated from the timer's bench with a hand rheostat.

This project has been undertaken and solely designed and built by members of Chi Delta Rho Fraternity as a contribution to the

NEW QUARTERS FOR LIBRARY; READING ROOM

Books Moved To Large Suite
South End Of Training School Building

One of the important projects being carried on in the school as a result of the labor provided by the CWA is the moving of the training school library from its present quarters, a class room on the west side of the third floor to the suite of rooms at the south end of that floor.

Librarians' Office

The new library will have a large and spacious reading room, a study room for student teachers and training school faculty, a large conference room capable of holding a full class, a special room for all primary books, and a librarians' office with a house phone.

Not only will the new library provide the very much needed shelving space, but will provide the facilities for a real use of the training school library as a method in education. The value of supervised reading and study by classes in the library has for sometime been recognized and advocated by leading educators throughout the country. Unfortunately most educational institutions in the country do not have the physical equipment to make such a program possible.

Among The Best

According to Mr. Allez, the new lay-out for the training school library could not be better adapted to such a program if it had been designed for it.

The new location promises to be not only a practical working laboratory, but a very attractive show place rivaling the best training school libraries in the country in institutions of a size comparable to our College.

school. Donald Blood in charge of the project deserves much credit for the success of this achievement.

STUDENT PROGRAMS

Judging from the volume of applause, and the requested encores, we surmised that the college thoroughly enjoyed the student program presented in the auditorium last Thursday. Considerable credit should be given those people who willingly offered their time and services, and especially to George Maurer, who was the instigator, and promoter of the entertainment.

These programs appeal to the majority of the student body, (and we feel safe in saying majority) for almost everyone was present. Why not have more of them? It would save the cost of putting on outside entertainment and at the same time give our talented students an opportunity to develop that talent.

As for variety, last Thursday's program proved that we have plenty of it here. Certainly there are other able persons in this college. There are those who are too shy to force themselves into the limelight. A few failed to appear last time because of insufficient time for preparation. The whole thing was a rush order, some did not know they were to appear until the day before presentation.

Why not have three or four of these programs each semester? We suggest that at some future meeting of the student body a committee be elected to find open dates and prepare programs of this type.

Then too, it might be organized on a sort of a competitive basis, having certain groups, organizations, etc. sponsor an entertainment. Perhaps we could not go so far as to restrict the performance to members of the sponsoring organization. However, the group presenting it could be held responsible for having a good entertainment.

Looking over the results the inquiring reporter received this week, we think it is a "big favorite". If you have any points, pro or con, let the college know about them by means of a letter to the Student Broadcast.

MISS MAY ROACH

May M. Roach was born in Eau Claire County, Wisconsin, on a farm which joins the city of Eau Claire on the west and is bounded on one side by the Chippewa River. The farm is a portion of a tract of land which Miss Roach's grandfather, who came to this country from Ireland in 1851 during one of the great emigrations, bought from the government, the original deed to which is signed by President Buchanan and is now held by her father.

Miss Roach received her elementary and high school education in the city of Eau Claire, completing her high school course during the principalship of M. S. Frawley, a pioneer educator in Eau Claire and one of the outstanding educational leaders in Wisconsin.

During her junior year, she took the county examination for a teaching license, the securing of which was the only legal requirement to enter the teaching profession at that time. Probably as much by accident as through ability, she won the license. The County superintendent who held the examination was Miss Lura Burce who later became a member of the faculty at S. P. N.

Miss Roach was graduated from the Eau Claire High School on January 23-rd and was given a teaching position in a rural school in Eau Claire County in less than two weeks afterwards, because a teacher had secured a promotion and she held that certificate. She began her teaching career on Thursday at eleven o'clock.

The enrollment in the school was fifty-five, the term was seven months, the salary was thirty-five dollars, board, room and laundry was eight dollars a month, and Miss Roach says she saved money.

After remaining in that school the following year, Miss Roach made plans to enter the State Normal at Superior, but changed them to come to S. P. N. after attending a teacher's institute conducted by John F. Sims, who was president here. After completing one year, she accepted a position in a rural school in Rusk County and returned later to complete the Classical Course at S. P. N. in June 1910.

The following September she became a member of the high school faculty at Alma, Wisconsin, which position she left after one year to become principal of the state graded school at Cable, Wisconsin. That school was then offering ninth grade work. Miss Roach remained there for three years. During that time a union free high school was

The Royal Purple Whitewater Teachers College

Down at Whitewater they are looking forward to many "straighter backs and better postures in the classrooms, halls, and on the campus". The instructors of the co-ed physical education program recently instituted there are Miss Goodhue and Miss Thompson. They report "that the new physical education program... is being received very enthusiastically. More than 60 have reported for basketball. Tap and interpretive dancing are very popular too".

The Peptomist Superior Teachers College

Superior seems to have found the way to stage a really successful Mardi Gras. We like their idea. Here it is.

"President Jim D. Hill announced... that he will appoint the manager of the candidate who secures the greatest number of votes for his or her candidate (for king or queen) president of the college for a day. He will also recommend to Dean Ellen Clark and Dean Omar Loop that the Mardi Gras Queen and King be acting Deans of the college on Monday, January 15. Fred A. Baxter, mayor, announced through the local press last week that the rights to his office as mayor of Superior will be relinquished to Mike Barr, Mardi Gras manager, and that the assisting manager, Marvin McQueen will be acting chief of police."

The Teachers College Advance Oshkosh Teachers College

"At a meeting of the men, final plans were evolved for the furnishing and supervision of the men's recreational room, which is expected to be ready for occupation early in January. Approximately half the men in College, were in attendance (at the meeting) all of whom unanimously agreed to the proposed men's room."

established and the first class graduated.

In 1914 Miss Roach returned to S. P. N. to fill the position of teacher in the rural demonstration school which was the Town House School in the Town of Stockton but was changed to the Nugent School in the Town of Hull the following year.

One of the strongest reasons for the invitation to return to her Alma Mater was probably an article which was published by a member of the Department of Education concerning some community organization and projects which at that time he considered unique, but which would now be very commonplace.

After remaining in the demonstration school for three years, Miss Roach came into the College as a member of the Department of Rural Education.

Miss Roach studied one summer at Columbia and has completed her undergraduate work at the University of Minnesota where she specialized in School Administration and Supervision and received her Bachelor of Science in 1928. She is continuing her graduate study there where she hopes to receive her Masters Degree after another quarter's attendance.

Miss Roach is a member of the Stevens Point Catholic Women's Club and served as president for three years. She is also a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club and served as its first president, acting in that capacity for two years.

AN INVITATION TO ALL

We begin this week a series of invitations from the Stevens Point Church Publicity Committee, containing an earnest reminder of the importance of regular church attendance for College Students. We are pleased to cooperate with the churches in thus giving emphasis to this essential habit of present day culture. Our city is supplied with an efficient and representative variety of religious organizations. The committee is urging attendance upon the broad principle that every well balanced personality needs the discipline of regular religious thinking in the company of mature minds.

Abroad With Our Graduates

Leaving the coast of the state of Washington we will stop first at Pail Maui, Hawaii and see Pearl. W. Brooks — class of 1914. She is a teacher there in the Junior High School. Pearl is a Granton girl and well known to faculty members here.

Next we jump to Cebu, Cebu Philippine Islands where we find Maude E. Rice — class of 1922. Maude was Superintendent of English for Private Schools for the whole of the island until 1928 when she married Mr. Myron E. Brink, who is connected with the Philippine Refining Company. Maude was a former Stevens Point girl.

From Cebu let us push on to Tientsin, China and see Edna Warner — class of 1914. Edna was in business in Billings, Montana for years, but in 1933 married Mr. D. B. Orton, a wealthy American rice grower, and is now living at 34 Rue L'Nordio — Tientsien, China. Edna is a cousin of Mrs. Herbert Steiner.

Petula Dumez — class of 1909 — has until last year been Superintendent of the Methodist Boys School at Kuala Lumpur, Federated Malay States. But just at present she is on leave and is teaching in the Anglo — Chinese Primary School for boys in Washington, D. C.

Our next stop will be at Fort Dauphin, Madagascar, where we will visit Clara A. Dysland, class of 1911, who is Principal of the American School there. She was always a fine student and a most earnest worker.

Let us push on now to Berlin, Germany where we find Frances Mr. McIntosh — class of 1904. Some of us remember Frances as a brilliant student, of the fair haired, blue-eyed Scotch type. She went to Germany in 1914 and lived through the dark days of the war. In 1917 she married Herr E. Schwandt and lives now in Berlin, Charlottenburg, Waldschulallug 9, Germany. She speaks German now like a native, and is quite Germanized.

We now take a long leap to Caracas, Venezuela, and here we find Verna A. Phillips, class of 1908, who is Principal there of the Mission School. Verna is well known here.

One of the old gymnasiums is to be turned into the lounge. The school administration proposes to advance a sum not to exceed $100.00 which is to be used in redecoration and for other incidental expenses connected with the preparations.

SPLIT IN CONFERENCE OPENERS

QUAKERS HAND POINTERS FIRST DEFEAT OF YEAR

Winning Streak Of Over a Year Stopped By Whitewater

Probably the biggest upset of the conference Saturday was the defeat of the Pointers, 29 and 20, at the hands of Whitewater. The Kotalmen seemed tired and unable to click together, being called frequently for fouling. Unferth went out of the game and Gregory and Tardiff were charged with three fouls.

Krueger High Scorer

Taking a safe lead of 15 and 7 the first half, the Quakers outplayed the Pointers with Red Krueger leading the scoring. He marked up 12 points on 3 baskets and 6 free throws. Marsh led the scoring for the Kotalmen with 3 buckets.

Tough Luck

The first conference defeat of a C. S. T. C. athletic team in over a year was a bitter enough pill. What made matters worse was the fact that Abel suffered a badly sprained ankle and Gregory ended up with a nice charley-horse. That climaxes the bad luck which began when Co-captain Guy Krumm injured his knee. If Coach Eddie Kotal can bring his squad through the season with a fair share of victories, and we know he will, the school shall have nothing to complain about and our coach can truly be called a builder of alert, fighting teams.

BILL'S BULL

When the Green Bay Packers professional cagers came to town last Sunday to play the Tydols, they went home a very surprised bunch because the Grasmee Tydols were on the long end of a 33-26 score. This team is composed of Stevens Point boys who, by the way are all C. S. T. C. boys or were at one time except Razner. Reggs Hanson, Frank Gordon, and Guy Krumm are now attending school under the Purple and Gold. Art Thompson, Ralph Bader, Larry Bishop, and Earl Eckerson, played on the C. S. T. C. state-champs last year.

Some of the students wonder why Hanson and Gordon aren't playing for the Pointers. Reggs played his three years of college ball for Oshkosh Teachers and Gordon had his competition at Denison University.

Thompson, Bishop, and Hanson starred in the Packer game. Reggs and Art played swell floor games and Bishop dropped in the baskets. Larry was high-scorer with five baskets and three free throws. For the Green Bay team the husky Michigan State boy, Grove, was outstanding. When any man gets three baskets off Tommy in one half, he's good.

Coach Edward L. Kotal of Central State refereed the game with Sergeant Ignatious Loyola Petruccio Mish as scorekeeper.

In an effort to find a scoring combination Eddie shifted Abel to center and Gregory to forward in the Whitewater game. Marsh played at guard where he seems best. The forward wall didn't get a basket with the exception of John Collins who dropped in two and one free toss.

Play Return Games Friday And Feb. 2nd

Tomorrow the Platteville Pioneers will be down here trying to avenge the defeat handed them by the Kotalmen last week-end. The Pioneers are still seeking their first conference win, having lost games to Milwaukee and Stevens Point.

Coach L. J. Leidl will probably bring a stronger team than he had last time the two teams met, since Rheel, injured star, is likely to be in shape.

Different Set-up

Whitewater comes February 2, to try and administer another defeat against the Pointers. However, things are different. The narrow gym at Whitewater with its shaky baskets is hard on the best of teams. Here, the results will probably be different.

I believe that the Whitewater game will be one of the best affairs this season.

College Boy State Champ Ski Jumper

Lloyd Hayes, freshman student, who has been boy ski-jumping champion of Northern Wisconsin for the past four years, has participated in three major tournaments so far this year.

The meets were at Minocqua, Oconomowoc, and Wausau. At the first tournament held at Minocqua, Hayes took first honors. He outjumped all riders in his class at Oconomowoc and Wausau but fell. It was the first time in four years that Lloyd didn't place at Wausau.

Next Sunday this versatile outdoorsman will ride at Chicago wearing the colors of the Wausau Ski Club which he represents in his class.

POINTERS WIN FROM PIONEERS BY 16-14 SCORE

Offensive Strength Lacking Unferth And Gregory Star For Point

The Pointers started out the conference cage season with an unimpressive victory over Platteville. Although always a hard team to defeat on their own diminutive floor, the Pioneers lost, 16 and 14, Friday night. The Kotalmen showed little offensive strength but were good as usual on the defensive.

Babler, Smith Good

Don Unferth, the scrappy little sophomore forward, was high scorer with two baskets and a like number of free tosses. Gregory annexed five points as did Captain Babler and Smith of the Miners.

Tie At Half

Scoring five points before their opponents could get started, the Pointers looked fine. However, the Pioneers steadied down and knotted the score at nine all as the half ended. At the start of the final period, the crowd went crazy as Platteville took a lead of 14 and 9. Their hilarity was soon dampened as the Kotalmen came back strong to score six points and bring the mark to 15 and 14. Gregory added a free throw to complete the scoring as the rest of the game was defensive with the Pointers controlling the ball most of the time.

BROADCAST

Dear Editor:

The band have their uniforms.

As Orpheus says, we certainly have a fine orchestra. We might add that our band is nothing to be sneezed at either. The members of the band do work hard, as the band booster reminds us. They have to pay a considerable sum of money for their instruments. On the reed instruments the upkeep is considerable. Musicians do have a real investment in lessons before they are able to play presentable music. In addition to that, they have to spend many hours practising besides that done under an instructor. It is perhaps no more than right that those who devote their time to music should get college credit for doing so. I do not know whether such a practise is customary at other colleges or not. My dear friend, Uncle Dudley Judge Whipple, makes the statement that a considerable sum of money is spent on college athletics yearly. That is true, but on the other hand, I dare suggest that athletics are very nearly self supporting at this institution.

My first letter, which was answered by the Judge, was merely a matter of conjecture. Not one word was said directly against the band. Evidently some one felt just a little uneasy, for they construed some of those statements to mean many things.

The second letter was admittedly sarcastic, mean. But, then, perhaps it was correct.

I am a student at this institution. I do not exactly agree with the policy of spending $1,500.00 for the band uniforms at this time. I supported the policy that seemed to me to be the wisest. Hardly another person held the same opinion. That, however, is neither here nor there. It might be well to remember that Jesus Christ was crucified because he was at odds with the society in which he lived. Time has proven him correct in the tenets he held. Copernicus, Galileo, and other scientists, too many to mention, have found themselves literal outcasts from the world about them. Abraham Lincoln was defeated when he ran for the position of United States Senator. Yet today Americans revere the name "Honest" Ab. So after all, is it so bad not to agree with the mob?

I'll tell you why, Mr. Booster, you should play at school functions. Because this school furnishes you with an instructor that you can't beat in the state. This institution buys the music you play. The state allows you to use their shelter to practise under three times per week. The administration gives you credit for the work that you do. That time is well spent. When you go out looking for a job it will be mighty pleasant to be able to say that you are qualified to direct a band, and that you can play in the local orchestra. Now, why don't you fellows get together and hire Mr. Michelsen? Why don't you buy the music you play? Why accept any credit for the hours earned? And why not rent the armory to hold practise sessions in? I think that you will realize that the forces of this argument are logical, and at the same time convincing.

May we take up another angle of this subject. One that seemingly has not been considered before. In about three weeks several students will find it necessary to drop from school because of financial difficulties. Some of them will be upper classman, they will have

ARE YOU A LADY?

The styles this year do not leave us much choice — we must be ladylike, whether we are athletically inclined, or deeply studious. The long, flowing lines and smart accents on all our day-time frocks, and the glamorous beauty of our evening gowns, make it necessary for us to live up to the illusion of leisure and poise that they create.

But to live up to the mood of the new clothes, we must look the part. Skin that is chapped and roughened by enthusiastic interest in skating or other outdoor sports; skin that is blemished because of neglect or improper beauty care; skin that is inexpertly made up — all betray the loveliness that should be ours. In addition, these faults in beauty, are not only unbecoming now, they will become harder and harder to correct as you grow older. I cannot imagine a season in which an imperfect skin is in fashion!

Correct beauty care for the college girl is not complicated. A granular wash, such as beauty grains, will cleanse the pores deeply, thus preventing or helping remove blackheads, blemishes and skin cells. The skin is left immaculately clean, the pores are reduced, and the whole skin tone is clarified.

In addition to a wash, every type of skin needs a cream that is enlivening to the tissues, and that will include softening the skin and erasing fatigue lines in its duties. A pasteurized face cream does all this, and is also excellent for cleansing after you have been out-of-doors playing hockey — dashing across a wind swept campus or walking against a brisk winter breeze. You will find that it serves as an excellent powder base, too, if your skin is very dry or sensitive, although of course you will find a foundation cream much more flattering for evening and other formal occasions.

I know you like cosmetics, and certainly the artistic use of make-up is an accepted part of good grooming today. If you are in doubt about the correct cosmetic colors for your type, however, write for my makeup chart. I'll be glad to send you one.

If you have a personal beauty problem on which you need advice write, Woman's Interest Syndicate, 522 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

proved that they are worthwhile men or women. How do you suppose it will effect their philosophy when they stop to think that $1,500.00 is being laid out for uniforms, but not a cent for me to complete an education. $1,500.00 would create a sizeable useful, loan fund.

Personally I would rather contribute for the above helpful purpose, than for uniforms.

We have the suits, let's be proud of them, and hope that we won't experience any difficulty in paying the bill.

Yes, people with such a simple mind as that fellow "Orpheus" will have trouble comprehending why one should not agree with the majority. Well, perhaps Orpheus is one of the persons Alexander Hamilton had in mind when he said: "the public, my dear sir, is a foolish beast".

Unless someone takes it upon themselves to answer this, and call me a "would be journalist" etc., you are receiving my last contribution. That is enough to fill many with a feeling of hilarity.

I am sorry that so much fuss should have come from a few, well meant, satirical remarks. Evidently some got angry.

Yours,
"Scotty"

Tapdancing

Four of the advanced tap dancers performed in the home talent assembly last week. Alice Sorenson and Thyra Iverson did a routine that was improvised by the company. Velma Scribner and Bonita Newby turned and clicked out one of Edith Ballweber's new waltz routines. It looks as though the spring tap revue will take the cake from other years' for with more practice the class is becoming adept at learning and perfecting their dances.

ARE YOU IRISH?

You've got to be an Irishman to get along in the Rural Department.

Mr. Neale, Miss Roach, Miss Hanna, and even one with that good French cognomen, Miss La Vigne, are son and daughters of Erin. They were all hired by an Irishman too, ex-president Sims.

Of course this is more or less of a secret. Not one of that quartette will grant that they hail from the land of the Shamrock. (?)

NELSON HALL

The dormitory has assumed a hospital-like aspect in that two nurses have been engaged to care for several cases of illness during the past week.

Miss Augusta Krueger was treated for a wound she sustained, when she forgot to "Beware of the dog!". Others on the sick list have been LaZett Schmidt, Madge Griffin, Evangeline Johnson, Carol Weldon, and Alta Lupient.

Vaccinations seemed to be quite the thing the past week. Several girls took advantage of the fact that there was a Doctor in the house performing such duties.

The Omega Mu Chi girls of the dormitory were hostesses to their sorority at a slumber (?) party, Friday night. One thing featured was an alarm clock which awakened everybody but themselves the next morning. By the way what was that crackling noise in the wee hours of the morning?

After seeing Dynamite Kotal turned into a stick of candy I staggered out of his office into the basement corridor. Heading east at a half trot, not watching where I was going, a beautiful co-ed freshman ran into me head first. We both backed up a bit, rather startled. As I looked into her eyes, and she looked into mine, we realized that it was love at first sight. For a second we remained motionless, staring at each other. She had snatched my heart, I couldn't resist her. Quickly, in my own slaying way, I slipped my arms around her and pulled her gently to my breast. She couldn't withstand my charm either.

Together, with our arms interlocked, we hop skipped to the men's room. The radio was turned on, and the dial read WGN. As we were sitting on the lounge listening to soft, sweet, gentle music, the announcer butted in and said, "now ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience we again present for your approval that treat of treats. You are about to hear the latest radio sensation, the one and only, Ernie Smith. He will croon a series of popular song hits of the day. Ernie will be accompanied at the piano by that master of the ivories 'Tillie the Toiler' Tilleson." Peg, (that was my girl friends name) and I, jumped to our feet. "Himmel! vot iss!", she exclaimed. (You see, she too was a master of the languages.) "Moj Boze!" said I.

With one thought in mind we ran up to the second floor together. Sure enough, on Mr. Smith's bulletin board was a little sign that said "No history for an indefinite period. Everyone, however, will receive their credits from the main office at the end of the semester." Well, I knew that E. T.'s hearty, boisterous laugh would captivate the radio audience, and that he was sure to be an outstanding success.

For the past forty years whenever anything went wrong around the college the first thing one did was to go talk it over with Dr. Collins. As we opened his door we felt reassured, for there he was standing at the blackboard figuring. He had the board entirely covered with figures, and I could see that he was stumped for once. Being something of a mathematician myself, I thought to untangle the difficulty for him. "What are we trying to solve", I asked con-

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Question: Did you enjoy the student program given last Thursday?

Would you like to have more assembly entertainments given by student talent?

Profesor Michelsen: "I think the students had lots of fun, and so did I. I hope they will come again. Let's have the girls put on the next program and the boys the one after that."

Miss Colman: "I didn't know we had such varied talent here. I'd like to see more of them."

Eleanor Crumney: "I think it was keen. Don't you?"

Ruth Schwahn: "That was the best assembly we've had yet."

Max Miner: "More of them would be a good thing."

Leon Kurz: "Yes, to both questions. It was enjoyed a lot by everyone. It gives those with ability an opportunity to develop."

Arnold Hotvedt: "It's all right. We should have more."

Miss Tilleson: "Well, I'll tell you, kid, I couldn't endure another hour of continuous jazz program. But, if they would break it up a little, I'd love it."

Miss Roach: "I enjoyed it very much indeed. I don't dare to open my mouth for fear someone will repeat it."

Milton Anderson: "I thought it was better than a lot of these high priced speakers we've had."

Alex Perrodin: "You can mark me down for anything you want. The programs are all right, if they aren't too long."

fidently. "Well, John," answered he, "I'm trying to figure out what the cost for fuel will be to distill alcoholic beverages in the new distillery in which I have recently bought the controlling interest."

You could have knocked me down with a feather.
