MEN'S GLEE CLUB CONCERT SCHEDULED FOR TO-NIGHT

Varied And Interesting Program Planned by Knutsen And Chorus

Have you gotten your ticket yet for the concert this evening? In case you don’t remember, the Men’s Chorus of C. S. T. C. is presenting tonight its annual spring concert. The group, as you undoubtedly know, is under the direction of Prof. Norman Knutsen, of this college; and judging from the results he has obtained in the past, there is some entertainment in store for you.

Many Excellent Numbers

There are some especially good numbers of the program this year. Among them are the “Chorus of Peers” from Iolanthe, by Sullivan; “Land-Sightings” by Grieg, and the “Tinker’s Song” from Robin Hood, by De Koven. The group has a completely new list of numbers which it will use.

In addition to the choral groups, there will be vocal solos by Bob Emery, baritone; Bill Thiesen, Richard Center, basso profundo, and Joe Piifner, another baritone. Phil Kundinger.

Davis Troupe Plays To Capacity House

The program of the Davis Light Opera Company, which was presented here last Thursday evening, was greatly enjoyed by a capacity audience. Among the numbers which were especially well received were the “Habanera” from Carmen, “The Road to Mandalay” by Thomas, the bass soloist, “The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers,” which was an original arrangement by Mr. Davies, and “Slag Again” by the soprano.

Expression of Sympathy

The student body and faculty join in extending their sympathy to Miss Cecelia Falowski, of Pulaski, whose father died recently.

FIND THE INK—MOISTEN THE PEN

Use your spare (writer’s very spare) moments to think of a plot for a short story. Then write it in some more spare moments, hand it in and enter it in the Margaret Ashmun Short Story Contest. It’s as simple as that. The contest starts and ends later this year; the winners will be announced in May, so you won’t be left in suspense very long. The first prize will be membership in Margaret Ashmun Club; the others will be in keeping. Judges are Miss Colman, Mr. Burroughs, and Mr. Jenkins. It’s never too late to turn author, and the best stories begin “Once upon a time.”
WE NEED A PUBLICITY BUREAU

As a school grows, so does its fame. We have been fortunate to add a forensics championship to one on the basketball court and another on the gridiron. We have, we believe, the best band in Wisconsin. The students of this college are familiar with our school's athletes, but shouldn't the taxpayers of Wisconsin be informed what their school is doing?

This can be accomplished through a publicity department. The need of such a bureau is repeatedly brought to our attention when we read the campus' daily's. We find pictures of championship teams of other colleges; we read of the activities of other schools; but we search high and low, and nowhere can we find a news article that tells of the prowess of Central State and the achievements, individual and collective, of its students.

Mats, the cause of newspaper pictures, cost five to ten cents each if bought in quantities. Our proposed publicity department could circulate these mats among selected newspapers. When our band makes its annual tour, its picture in the home town weekly would arouse community spirit and mean a larger attendance at the various concerts, and publicity for Central State that can be surpassed in no other way.

A newspaper man's axiom states that one picture is worth one thousand words.

The proposed publicity department would advertise the school from all angles—mats of the band, of the glee club, of the debaters, of the students and of faculty members who appear in surrounding towns on commencement programs would be sent to the newspapers of nearby towns when our college's representatives-of-good-will are appearing.

This could be done at a nominal cost, and the taxpayers of Wisconsin would become familiar with our school's activities, and prospective students would have more reason to come to Central State.

NIMZ GLAD TO BE AT CENTRAL STATE

“Fritz” Likes Spirit of Teams Here

Fred Nimz, who enrolled here for the second semester, is probably best described by Dave Christianson, sports editor of the Wausau Daily Record-Herald. It follows verbatim: (written by Dave Christianson, sports editor of the Wausau Daily Record-Herald)

“Probably no athlete in Wausau received more credit for his achievements in competition that Fred Nimz, the high school three-letter major sport winner in 1933. For this reason, your correspondent believes that the tall all-rounder can be given the position of Wausau’s all-around athlete of the year.

Certainly in high school circles—in conference, district and state play—he received more recognition than any other local athlete and in at least three major school sports.

For two years he was an all-conference end in football. He played three years on the confer-ence for the local team, an outstanding defensive end. It was rare that any gains by opposing backs were made around his flank.

Track

The same player was a member of the Central State track and field team for three seasons, participating in pole vaulting, discus throwing, hanting and putting. He had high school first place in pole vaulting and the Wausau record of 11 feet 4 inches. His activities were not alone confined to high school sports. Several years ago he appeared on the American Legion baseball small team, and the last summer he was a member of the Sojourners, the team that won the city championship. He played first base, and he was one of the best guards of the intercollegiate league. He is a member of the Freshman team at the “O” during last semester. Also on this team were Johnny Rooney and Archie Van Ryn, erroneously supposed to be the key men for this season. Johnny Rooney and Van Ryn are team mates of Don Johnston on Appleton High School’s first place teams during the last few seasons. The Fox River valley touring teams do not take into the state tournaments.

Future Prospects Great

Last year’s tourney was probably one of the most outstanding ever held at the Central State tourney when a star team was chosen. Bob Wohhunzer (Waukesha),今后 was all-state guard; Fred Nimz was selected all-state center. Don Johnston was all-Fox River Valley forward. Don Unfahr was all-Wisconsin Valley forward in ’32, and is probably still one of the outstanding star backs on the all-star teams this year. “Chet” Rinka, former center on the Purple and Gold din new, was all-Wisconsin Valley in ’32, and is probably the leading team forward. Andrew Lamp, Drivers and Bob Neale are other all-star hopefuls.

These men all return next year, as do all others of the present cage squad, with the exception of jug Marsh, Milton Anderson, Asher Shirley and Oren Krum

Kotal’s Cagers Select All-Opponent Team; Nominees Represent Six State Colleges

Stevens Point’s All-Opponent Team is as follows:

- Forward: P. Humke
- Forward: Haugen
- Center: Kotal
- Guard: Hovarth
- Guard: La Cross
- Alternate: Arnao

(Special Correspondent)

Stevens Point met up with several unbeatable forwards in this season’s play; however, the team would be defeated without such a natural ball player if there ever was one. Paul generated two points against each of the teams in this first encounter in the second meeting of the two teams. He played in his final year. Paul Humke was a splendid shot stopper and is probably the best to-day at forward position.

Rheel a Classy Player

Rheel of Platteville gets the call as Humke’s running mate at the other forward position. He is a fine forward player. His record in basketball: He was a member of the Jae-gers and the last legion baseball team, and the last year was probably best field player. He is a really formidable ball club they are urging to watch Mr. Kotal’s bulletin board for further announcements in regard to the exact time.

“The Pointer”

Men’s VolleyBall And Basket Tourney

The men’s intramural athletics will start Thursday or Friday, according to information as we go to press. All men who have signed up for volleyball or basketball are urged to watch Mr. Koid’s bulletin board for further announcements in regard to the exact time.
GLEE CLUB SINGS TO 4500

By this time the boys may have overcome some of their sleepy-ness after the Glee Club tour. However, many of them may yet be heartsick, if the reports of the local postmaster are correct. He owns that nearly a dozen letters a day are leaving this office for points north. To judge from them, we'd say that they must have had a won-deful time while up there. The crowning event of the tour occurred at Scandanavia, where about a half-a-dozen of the fellows inadvertently mistook a ditch covered with thin ice for stable terr firma. Ask "Ernie" Emery what happened!

All joking aside though, the boys did enjoy a real trip, their route having taken them over more than 400 miles of beautiful roads. When one stops to consider that they came into direct contact with between four and five thousand persons in this state and Michigan, the immense advertising value of the project can easily be appreciated.

The Photo Club of this College has been cooperating with the Iris Staff in taking care of much of its printing work for them. In addition, they have taken it upon themselves to see to it that this year's annual is well supplied with a representative group of snapshots of the campus and its in-habitants.

As several members were on the Glee Club trip, they have a complete story of the tour in pictures, which ought to interest everyone, whether a chorus member or not.

The group is now planning a general exhibit of all its work, and if the number of pictures being shot about school indicates anything of the extensiveness of their plans, we are in line for a really interesting and instructive display.

Clifford Malchin is president of the Camera Club.

OH SPRING! WHERE IS THY STING?

Balm breezes
Warm and sunny days
Putting away of winter coats.
A yen to run and jump like a chit-lid.
A lovely, damp spring smell in the air
A general awakening of nature in general, just generally awakening.
Thoughts of love, life, and poetry.

What's it all about? Today, friends, in March 21, the first day of spring, and the above is an attempt to sum up this spring business, you and me. Do you know which is pro and which is con? It depends, I guess on what spring means to you. To some it means walks on moonlight nights and to take off the flannels too soon. So many professors have told us that spring means we can't work that we almost believe it. We would believe it. I suppose, if we had time to realize it is spring. Maybe if we cut 10 minutes off our time doing the dinner dishes and skim our French preparation we'll be able to salvage half an hour tonight to go out and smell the spring smells. Then we'll bet you know how we feel about it. Unless we get spring fever.

Oratory Contest
cond, and Victor Breitenfield of La Crosse won third.
In serious declamation. Miss Vi- renta Baird won with “Within the Law”. Second place went to Norene Lundauf of Eau Claire. Miss Virginia Watson won the humorous reading contest by for­ feit when the Eau Claire contestant failed to appear.

Dick Tuthill Also Wins
Richard Tuthill spoke “Chal­ lenge of Chaos” in oratorial de­ clamation to win first place. Da­ vid Merriam of Eau Claire received second place. In extemporaneous speaking Roman Zern of River Falls whose subject was “YOUTH MOVEMENT - Reality or Illus­ ion?” and William Brunstad, Eau Claire, talking on “Does Modern Youth Have a Future?” tied for first honors. Arba Shorey was the local entrant in this contest. We­ men’s extempore was won by Da­ rolly Drayna, La Crosse, “Econo­ mic Security and Marriage”; se­ cond by Jean Myron, River Falls, “Divorce”. Miss Watson als, spoke in this contest, talking on “Effects of Modern Transpor­ tation Facilities on the Family Unit.”

Nusse Won In ’33
The contest was a rival of the state oratorical contests of the past, brought about largely through the efforts of Mr. Bur­ rowghs. It is the first to be held since 1933. Since Mr. Burrowghs has coached these events, C. S. T. C. has had five state championships in oratory. The last victory was in 1932 when Celestine Nusse won both the state and inter­ state contests with his selection “The Bourn of Youth.”
The College orchestra, under the direction of Peter J. Michelsen, played several selections before the evening contests.
