

VACATION TO START WEDNESDAY NOON

THANKSGIVING VACATION NEXT WEEK

Thanksgiving Vacation will start next Wednesday noon at twelve o'clock when the doors of Central State will close, not to re-open again until the next Monday morning.

Enough extra work has been provided by instructors so that a sober tinge permeates the festive season at hand. If someone should be unfortunate enough to get a wishbone stuck halfway down, we wouldn't be mean enough to wish that it was....? Now, wouldn't we though?

BAND - GLEE CLUB REHEARSE "TUNE IN", TO OCCUR DEC. 3RD.

DON WILSON'S OPERETTA
SPLENDID EVENING'S

Annual Play Yearly Feature
Of Two Groups

Entering upon the last two weeks of intensive practicing for the operetta "Tune In", the Men's Glee Club, an important part of the musical organizations putting on this brilliant production, is rapidly taking its final polish for chorus, quartette and solo performances.

Among the soloists in the operetta who are regular Glee Club men are Bill Thiesen, bass, George Cartmill and Joe Pfiffner, baritone, and Kirkwood Likes and Gerald Doherty, tenors. The rest of the Chorus will sing the male parts in the chorus and various quartettes.

Mr. Knutzen director of the College Men's Glee Club, is in charge of chorus and solo work for the opera; Mr. Allez directs the speaking parts; Mr. Jenkins will arrange the stage, and Mr. Michelsen will be general director.

Don Wilson, announcer on the N. B. C. Network (Jack Benny's program) wrote the play, so the radio set-up ought to be genuine in every respect.

Borgny-Hammer Enjoyed

Borgny-Hammer and her distinguished company presented "Ghosts" by the famous Norwegian author, Henrik Ibsen, in the College auditorium last Monday evening. A large and interested audience viewed the production which some termed the finest performance by a professional company to be seen here in years.

THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving brings mingled feelings to the world as a whole. Those who have charge of governmental affairs are thankful for whatever degree of progress, permanent or otherwise, the country has made out of the depression. Many who view the world situation see with alarm the increasing tendency to war and give thanks that we are seemingly secure from becoming embroiled in world conflict, a feeling similar to that existing in the United States during the start of the last war. If we are to keep on being thankful, it is to be supposed that we will keep on taking precautions to insure this by a staunch support of peace.

Senior Ball On
Fri. The 13th
(Who's Afraid?)

The first semester's most elaborate social affair is now but a few weeks away. Committee heads are busily engaged at the present time making plans for the affair to be held Friday, December 13.

William Bretzke, Senior class president, and member of Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity and Bloc, has appointed Francis Bremmer as general chairman. Together they have chosen various committee heads from the graduating class to take charge of preparations.

A formal dance always takes an immense amount of work. The chairmen who will head the willing workers are as follows:

Decorations: Russell Way

Music: Millicent Wilson

Invitations: Barbara Joy

Publicity and tickets: Wilfred McGillavray

Refreshments: Barbara Fulton

The theme of the decorations has not been divulged, but all indications point to a winter scene. Contact has been made with several orchestras and one will be contracted very soon.

Tariff for the affair will be $1.50 per couple. However, for those who wish to save some money, tickets will be placed on special advance sale. Starting Friday November 29 and continuing until Friday December 6, tickets may be secured for $1.25.

Notice Seniors!

Get your slip from Mr. Rogers and have your pictures taken before Nov. 23 at Noah's Ark Studio.

These pictures appear on your credentials and in the Iris year book.

STATE ORATORICAL

INVITED HERE

Invitations have been sent to fourteen teachers colleges and colleges of liberal art within the state to attend the State Oratorical Contest to be held in Stevens Point, Saturday, March 21, 1936. The colleges invited are Lawrence, Ripon, Carrol, and Beloit. The teachers colleges were Platteville, Milwaukee, Whitewater, Oshkosh, La Crosse, and Stevens Point; and in the north, Eau Claire, Superior, River Falls, and Marquette university.

Each school was sent a tentative constitution and a program of events for the contest.

The contest for oratory, extemporaneous speaking and humorous and serious declamations will be judged by the coaches and the winner of the oratorical contest will represent the state of Wisconsin in the Inner-State Oratorical Contest to be held at Northwestern University sometime in the spring.

Last year this state contest was won by Jack Burroughs and he represented the state of Wisconsin in the Inner-State at Evanston, Ill.

NUESSE WRITES ON

TEACHINGFAST MOVING GOVERNMENT
APATHETIC CITIZENRY—
A MODERN PARADOXTeacher Cooperation
A Solution?

The Journal of the National Council for the Social Studies, Social Studies contains an interesting article by Celestine Nuesse in the November issue entitled, "Procedures in the Teaching of Current Events."

Mr. Nuesse is a '34 graduate of Central State, majoring in Social Science. He was very active here in forensic work. Mr. Nuesse's article starts out with the paradox that while "innumerable events of far-reaching importance are constantly taking place, very few people are really interested in them." Mr. Nuesse further discusses the necessity for overcoming this indifference by interesting students in the interpretation of current affairs, and sets forth methods which he has used successfully, submitted, "not as the most effective ones available... but with the hope of inviting criticism and suggestions."

Mr. Nuesse closes by saying, "Co-operation within the teaching profession will go a long way in removing the paradox of a fast-moving government for an apathetic citizenry."

Sigma Tau Delta
Initiates Twelve

The Psi Beta chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary National English fraternity, held its formal initiation Thursday evening, November 14. Following the initiation a banquet was held at the Gingham Tea Room.

As is customary with the organization, short speeches were given by the new members who are: Jack Burroughs, Doris George, Earl May, Alicia Jones, Margery McCulloch, Margaret Miller, Maxine Miner, Greta Tetzler, Millicent Wilson, Elaine Cooper, Genevieve Eastling, and Helen Wind. Members in the faculty, Miss Davis, Mr. Burroughs, and Mr. Allez also gave short and interesting talks.

George Simonson assured the cooperation of the Pointer in the consideration of any original material written by members of the society for publication.

POINTER CONTRIBUTORS...

A large number of contributions of all kinds, and which are increasing each week, find their way to the Pointer office. This article is not to discourage the practice. It is necessary to call attention to the fact that this is a six page weekly paper, most of the time.

An attempt is being made to put out a balanced paper. The staff tries to put in a fair proportion of all types of articles of local college interest, and not any one issue devoted to material of wholly one kind. We hope that more and more contributors join in swelling the Pointer mail, but we cannot guarantee immediate publication of all articles.

Because the college has no publicity bureau it falls to some extent to the Pointer to try to help out here, and the Pointer is glad to do so, but it has to reserve the right to edit material so that some balance is secured.

May we again reiterate that our readers are invited to continue to submit material of college interest. We hope that this will clear up questions that some contributors have asked of the staff.

GOURMAND WARNS OF OVER-EATING

Before another issue of this publication is released everyone will have probably had a nice dose of indigestion. Humanitarian as we are we would like to hand out a friendly bit of usual advice preceeding such culinary debaucheries. Just clip this little article out, glue it on your napkin, and then, when the turkey is passed the fourth time, or when you reach for the sixth helping of cranberry sauce, just glance down, read this, and resist the temptation to stretch your stomach the last two inches toward the table edge.

Or if you are like me, just forget all about this and, afterward, when you are stretched out exhausted on the sofa, think of the rest of the Pointer staff in just such a position.

ARE WE THANKFUL?

At Thanksgiving time it is customary for everyone to place the accent on whatever blessing one may have accrued during the past year, and to discount the troubles that we may have encountered.

During the recent Matanuska colonizations by people from the states, such a cry of discontent arose from some of the new arrivals at the Alaska project, that investigators were moved to actually examine living conditions in the new land. Unbiased examinations disclosed that the few who wailed long and strenuously, did so because their new homes were not exact counterparts of homes in the United States.

That the spirit of the Pioneer was not dead in some of the rest of these settlers show that, after all, the frontiers of our country will continue to go forward, and people with vision will seek a new start in a strange land, unawed by initial hardships, and, that, like the Pilgrims, they will face the future with their families, with Thanksgiving in their hearts for the blessings of a fresh opportunity, a strong heart and hand.... and an unwavering faith in what the future may provide.... wonder whether all of us can say as much?

HOME ECONOMICS COURSE REVIEWED

I do not think that the importance of Home Economics as taught in the public schools has been stressed as much as it could be. Many people seem to think that the study pertains only to the art and science of homemaking, whereas that is only one phase of it. True, Home Economics makes its greatest contribution to the home and worthy home membership, but that is not, by any means, all that it accomplishes. (By worthy home membership, I mean family relationships, care of the sick, elementary nutrition, home furnishing and economics of buying.)

Worthy Home Membership

Next in importance to worthy home membership, Home Economics offers a start in a great many vocations, such as work in a hospital as a dietician, interior decorating, teaching, demonstrating, work in a tea room, dress designing, and numerous others, besides the most important one of all... that of homemaker.

There are also some phases of health toward which home economics does much in the way of important contributions. Usually the home economics teacher knows more about the kinds and right amounts of food needed and the right sort of food combinations than does any other teacher in the school. This knowledge is of great importance to everyone. Health is also considered in its relation to clothing. In the clothing classes certain hygienic requirements, such as the right kind and amount of clothes and the type of shoes that should be worn, are discussed.

School And Community Activities

The very nature of home economics work presents many opportunities for cooperating in other school activities, such as banquets and class parties, pageants, and dramatic performances.

The Home Economics clubs offer pupils unlimited opportunities for participation in school and community activities.

Home Economics also opens up many possibilities for the use of leisure time. For example, the student may learn to make or sew something in which she is particularly interested and in this way will spend her leisure time to better advantage than she might otherwise.—Genevieve Eastling.

Stevens Point Alumnus Writes In Quake Area

The Pointer Received The Following Letter From a Former Alumnus—Mr. I. J. Osterbrink '08

Billings, Mont., 11—11—1935
Mr. George Simonson
Stevens Point Wis.

Dear Mr. Simonson:

True to my promise, and if you'll pardon pencil, I'll live up to your request relative to earth quake news. Only a few tremors have been felt here and these were of no serious nature. We are some two hundred miles east of the quake's center.

However, a few of Billings' population were caught in the quake. One young man was crushed to death by a falling wall, and buried under it. A certain young girl from here was attending a girl's academy at the time of the quake. Some nine severe shocks at midnight occurred in rapid succession. The walls of the buildings were crashing and tumbling which, of course, brought on something like a panic among the students. They all prayed and at each shock the young girls prayed in a higher pitched voice as though the Lord would or could hear them better.

Deep fissures were torn into the ground and report has it that hot water gushed out, in fact that there is now, or seems to be a permanent hot spring. The radio just now announced nine more shocks which makes a total of about 954 in all. Of course a vast amount of property damage has been done, but plans are already under way for rebuilding.

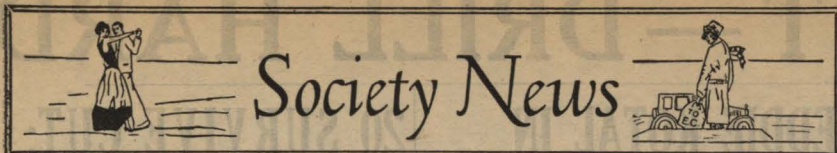

If only time will permit I'll call on you to revisit the scenes of my former home—to greet once more my dear old Alma Mater.

I arrived here in a blinding snow storm, Saturday, 12:10 A. M. Sunday it was about three below zero. Felt the cold very much. Have heard several times that the high and dry air of Montana causes one not to feel the cold so severely as in more Humid Wisconsin. Now to my mind that is all bunk of the purest variety. Felt the cold very acutely Sunday morning. To-day, Monday, it's warm and the four inches of snow will soon be a thing of the past. This is an irrigation valley, very fertile and surrounded by picturesque low timber covered mountains on both sides.

Will return to-night, so must stop now to pack up for the homeward journey. Wishing you the best of success in all your efforts and undertakings, I remain,

Very sincerely yours,
I. J. Osterbrink.

into raving, tearing maniacs. Now, I don't profess to be a paragon of intellectual ability, nor do I believe that school is just one big play time, but I wish some of you profs would realize that yours isn't the only class your pupils are enrolled in.

CAGE SQUAD CUT—DRILL HARD

Some Real Spirit

Bronko Nagurski came back last Sunday at Wrigley Field. The star fullback had to wait until the fading stages of the grid season before he was able to play. But play he did, and real drama was enacted when Nagurski saw action for the first time this year.

Let us, in fancy, travel back to the Minnesota campus, several years ago. The Gophers are the proud possessor of the nation's greatest battering ram, its All-American fullback, Bronko Nagurski. A year passes. Nagurski is shifted to the line to strengthen a faltering forward wall. And Bronko is again an all-American selection, this time as a tackle.

The scene changes. Nagurski is a member of the Chicago Bears, a strong club in the National Professional Football League. In 1932 and '33 Nagurski leads the Bears to the world championship. In 1934 the Bears, with Bronko proving himself one of the greatest fullbacks of all time, again reach the title playoff series, only to lose to New York. Nagurski's superb blocking enables Beattie Feathers, fleet Bear halfback, to set a new record for yardage gained.

Again we shift the scene. It is the early fall of 1935. Nagurski suffers a severe hip injury and also becomes seriously stricken with illness. At last Bronko has met a foe he can't bowl of his path. The spirit of the Bears drops to a low ebb. They battle gamely, week after week, with the big "Nag" sitting helplessly on the sidelines. However Bronko never gives up hope of playing again. Gradually he regains strength, slowly his injury responds to treatment.

It is a cold rainy mid-November Sunday. 20,000 fans are shivering in the Wrigley Field grandstand watching the Giant-Bear football game. Suddenly all eyes turn toward the Chicago bench where a huge fellow is warming up. The crowd cheers wildly as the player reports to the referee. It is Bronko Nagurski, greatest of all

ST. NORBERTS LOSE ONLY TO POINT

The following is taken from the St. Norberts Times. "Three victories, four ties, and only one defeat... the record of the 1935 gridders... stands as the best any St. Norberts team of the last ten years has accomplished. Wins over Carroll, Milwaukee, and Michigan Tech were from two of the strongest state squads and a top-notch in the Upper Peninsula, Stevens Point, the one team to defeat the Knights, gained only 32 yards from scrimmage and had to take to the air to score."

MILWAUKEE CAGE PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Guy Penwell, Milwaukee State Teachers' basketball coach, was putting it mild when he predicted a good team for the 1935-36 season. The Green Gulls look like the team to beat if one is to win the championship. Coach Penwell has been sending his team through daily workouts for the past month and they are rapidly rounding into title contenders. Milwaukee opens its cage season December 3 at Baker field house, with Marquette University furnishing the opposition.

Many Veterans Return

It is true that Paul Humke, star forward for the past three seasons, has graduated. However, it looks as though the former Indiana high school star will scarcely be missed this year. Big Willie Dassow is back at his post at center. Willard Rudiger, Walter Sprangers, and Carl Eckenrod, all veterans, are the leading candidates for the forward positions. The guard berths are being taken care of by Roman Kleinman, a star for the past two seasons, Vince Cibik, freshman football star, Harry Kolmes, and several other likely prospects.

Broke Even Last Year

Milwaukee finished second in the league race last year, two games back of the championship Stevens Point team. Penwell's cagers were the only team to gain an even break with the Pointers last season. The Green Gulls defeated Kotal's team 42 to 33 at Baker fieldhouse after the Pointers had won at Stevens Point, 38 to 25.

line crashers. Many a person thrilled at the sight of the big "Nag" making his comeback. The stands rocked in tribute for fully a minute. Nagurski did valiant work and only a fumble by a team mate prevented the Bears from rallying for victory.

However, the result of the game is only incidental. Many people tell of the lack of spirit at professional games. Well, believe us, no college game ever made our blood tingle as it did Sunday when good old Bronko Nagurski returned to action.

A Few More Forecasts

Our season's record to date is 74 right, 26 wrong, and 6 ties for a percentage of .740. Here is this week's outlook.

EDDIE KOTAL IN THE LION'S DEN

The State Teachers Colleges will hold their Fall Meeting at River Falls Friday. All Conference teams will be selected, schedules drawn up, and other matters of importance discussed. No doubt Coach Kotal will have a merry time amongst his friendly rivals who so gracefully booted the Pointers out of the conference.

READ THE RULES BEFORE YOU BOO

The rule makers certainly amused themselves with the basketball regulations for this season. Four major changes have been made in an effort to speed up the game.

Probably the most important of these revisions is the rule which prohibits any man on the offensive team remaining in the free throw zone, with or without the ball, for more than three seconds. This rule will revolutionize the old style which had the center stationed on the free throw line. Tall centers will no longer be able to remain in front of the basket waiting for passes. The penalty for a violation of this rule is the loss of the ball to the opponents.

Fewer Center-Balls

Another important change which will tend to speed up the game is that dealing with free throws. If a team attempts a free throw and makes it, the team scored upon takes the ball out of bounds under the basket at which the free throw was made. This rule will eliminate many center-balls, speed up play, and be quite helpful to small players.

The third important alteration of the rules is that concerning jump balls in either free throw circle. It states that no member of either team, with the exception of the two men jumping, can be in the circle when the jump-ball takes place. This rule revision eliminates crowding about jump-balls such as was so prevalent in other years.

The fourth rule change concerns the half-time period. In previous years ten minutes was the

20 SURVIVE CUT; KOTAL ALMOST SET ON STARTING FIVE

Johnston's Injury Heals Slowly "B" Squad Will Be Formed

Twenty men survived the opening cut as Coach Eddie Kotal started his squad on their third week of basketball practice.

Coach Kotal has been using Chet Rinka and Don Unferth at forwards, Fred Nimz at center, and Don Johnston and Tom Lindow at guards as his first five in the opening scrimmages of the season. This group handles the ball well and can be expected to cause opponents plenty of trouble. The second five has consisted of Berard and Schneider at forwards, Copes at center, and Hitzke and Gordon at guards. The remainder of the squad is made up of ten men.

Don Johnston has been suffering from a foot injury sustained in the Illinois Wesleyan football game. The foot has been slow in responding to treatment and at one time, forced "Johnny" to take a few days rest.

A "B" squad is being organized and will hold practice several evenings each week. Those who were unfortunate enough to be cut from the varsity will be given every opportunity to show their worth on the "B" team.

time allotted for teams between halves. This season the half-time period has been lengthened to fifteen minutes.

Last Week's Answer

The longest run on record ever made in a football game was made by a Lehigh player many seasons ago. He became confused and ran the length of the field to the wrong goal. Then, finding out his error, he ran the length of the field again, thereby making a run of 200 yards. Here is this week's question: What was the largest football score ever made by a major college team?

Nelson Hall Observer Casually Comments

Nelson Hall is a busy place these days.

The electricians and painters are at work on the third floor. Light switches are replacing the inconvenient drop cord. Instead of uniform color of paint for all rooms as heretofore, the newly painted rooms are blossoming out in vari-colored fashion.

And speaking of color, aren't the new colored smocks and combs the girls are wearing these days, cute?

Dorothy Gilbertson fell and hurt her arm the other night, hurrying to answer the phone. Wonder who was calling?

Miss Richardson broke her key when unlocking the door of her room Sunday night. Miss Richardson is the women's gym teacher.

In case you've been wondering — all those people at the dormitory this last week-end were 'nt callers.

The Rural teachers had a dinner at the dormitory Friday noon. The Lutheran Student Association of America, Land o'Lakes Regional Conference, held meetings at Nelson's Hall during the week-end.

Old fashioned girls? Sounds like a theme for Mr. Editor's heart column, doesn't it? Knitting and bicycling are two arts recently revived by Nelson Hall girls. Mrs. Finch is helping ambitious knitters. You should see Norma Truesdale and Jane Reedal ply the knitting needles. Rita Murphy, Marion Marshall, Edna Earle, and Marion Graham are leaders in the bicycle vogue. Somebody baked a delicious pie Sunday in the Hall kitchen. Alice Benz with the assistance of two of her friends is conducting a daily musical practise. They're at the piece "Bide a Wee" now.

Nelson Hall is a colorful place.

Editor's Note—What do the girls at Nelson Hall think of this style of presentation? Let us know!

Miss Richardson is beginning a dancing class after Thanksgiving. It will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays after school. Every girl whose secret ambition is to become a dancer sign up on the bulletin board in the game room some time this week.

Debates Duo-Teams To Contest For Places

Dr. Glover will lead in a discussion of debate this Thursday at 4:00 P. M. in room 221. "It is imperative," says Professor Burroughs, "that each student in the contest attend this meeting." The first debate will be a preseason tournament, December 7th, at La Crosse Teachers College.

The prospects for this year's debating season look very favorable, if one can judge so early in the season. About thirty people, with experience either in College or High School, are being organized into two man and two woman teams in preparation for a local tournament to be held Monday and Tuesday after the "Thanksgiving" recess. Each debate will be ten minutes; the rebuttals five minutes. All rounds in this tournament will be decision debates and the varsity squads (men and women) will be chosen from this contest.

Mr. Faust is acting as laboratory assistant in the Chemistry department of C. S. T. C. He has charge of three laboratory sections in General Chemistry and is helping with one Organic Chemistry section.

Mr. Faust has taught at Baraboo High School. His interests besides teaching are mainly in the field of music. He says he intends to join the band as soon as possible.

Smart Shop Opens

The building formerly occupied by the Ceary Hat shop at 424 Main Street, is now occupied by the Smart Shop, under the management of L. S. Karan.

Modernistic decorations are the setting for a comprehensive array of women's clothing and accessories. The quarters have been re-arranged to provide for four large dressing rooms. "We invite all of the college co-eds to make us a personal visit," is the greeting extended by Mr. Karan, who has previous experience in Chicago and New York style centers.

Dear Mr. Editor:

As I read the bulletin board notices this morning, I could but wonder about the number of articles lost. Where do they go? To the land of nowhere?

It seems a pity that the number of articles advertised as "Lost" so far exceeds those "Found." I know that perhaps there are some skeptics among the student body who hold that any one who is negligent enough to lose anything, receives his just deserts in not finding it. But, skeptics, did you never lose even a pocket handkerchief? Ah, every one of us, doubtless at one time or another has lost something. Every one of us rejoices at the return of lost articles. Even apparently insignificant trifles such as fountain pens, may be invaluable to their owners because of association.

I do not believe that there are any college students who believe "Finders, keepers; Losers, weepers." Let's make a real effort to return found articles to the Main Office. By so doing you will make some "Loser" glad. John

SCHEEL, BASSLER HONORED BY STATE FRAT.

Chi Delta Rho Fraternity held its annual conclave at the Hotel Lorraine last Saturday afternoon, November 16. The meeting was held in the impressive senatorial rooms of the hotel.

After a formal opening, the session was called to order at one o'clock. First on the program was election of officers. In the absence of Robert Emery, previous Grand Master, Leonard Scheel was elected temporary chairman. The results of the election were as follows: Leonard Scheel, Alpha, Grand Master; Donald Snyder, Beta, Deputy Master; George Winsor, Beta, Bursar; Frost Bassler, Alpha, Recorder; and Charles Reese, Beta, Marshall.

Elected State President
Chi Delta Rho Fraternity

Following the election of new officers, the main business of the day was brought up. This concerned problems of expansion. After much discussion, during which several very promising opportunities for new chapters were mentioned, it was finally decided to restrict membership in Chi Delta Rho to this state, at least for the present. Arrangements were made to send delegates in the near future to look over petitioning chapters.

The meeting was adjourned late in the afternoon until six o'clock, at which time the group again assembled for a banquet. Following the banquet, each of the delegates said a few words. Mr. Scheel acted as toastmaster for the affair.

The delegates who attended the conclave from the local chapter were Len Scheel, Frost Bassler, Webb Berard, Bill Theisen, and Ron Murray. The Whitewater delegation, from Beta chapter of Chi Delta Rho, consisted of Donald Snyder, Robert Bielkey, Charles Reese, George Winsor, and Robert Davidson; John Delene, Beta, an alumnus, was also present.

Francis White's Orchestra Does Yeomen Work

Last Monday's "College Radio Hour" was again greeted by an appreciative audience in the college auditorium. The feature of this program (other than "hilarious Franswa" and his orchestra) was the "Play of the Week." This play was humorously presented with members of the speech class taking the characters of "Michel McLooney."

Next week's program will take on the form of a big "Thanksgiving Party" and invitations are extended to everyone. A special stage show is being planned and surely "promises to be good."

An invitation is extended to all students to be present in the college auditorium for the next radio show.
