Year Book Heads Plan
Annual Colorful Carnival Of Gaiety

DANCERS WILL GO 'ROUND AND 'ROUND TO MUSIC OF NOTED DANCE BAND

Shrove Tuesday, popularly known as Mardi Gras, is the end of carnival time. Each year the business staff of the Iris, the college yearbook, takes advantage of this event to stage its famous masquerade, the proceeds of which are used to help in financing the publication of the yearbook. The date this year is February 25.

Frank Menzel, chairman of the arrangements committee, said that, for Mardi Gras the Iris will arrange for Mardi Gras costumes to be absolutely compulsory and so costly that few people other than Mardi Gras committee members will be able to afford them.

The last Mardi Gras featured the election of a king and queen and the giving of prizes to the best dressed couples, the worst dressed couples, the best groups, the best individuals, etc. Frank Menzel urges everyone to start planning their costumes.

'37 IRIS TO BE JUNIOR PUBLICATION

The Iris will be published by the Junior Class for the first time next year. This is the plan followed by most of the other major colleges and it is felt that it is a step forward for Central State. It offers many advantages: first, people who are really interested in this type of work may now apply for the position; second, the new editor will have the previous one's experience to guide him and to keep him from making costly mistakes.

February 15 Is Deadline

In view of this plan all Sophomores interested in the editorship or the business management of next year's Iris is requested to make application. Mr. T. A. Bogem. Upon the receipt of the applications, the candidates will be investigated as to scholarship, fitness, personality, and other qualifications, and the appointments will be made. All applications must be in by February 15th.

The new plan of Iris editorship is in line with the policy advocated in the Pointer several weeks ago by Arba Shorey, '36 editor of the Iris.

MARDI GRAS TO FEATURE MONTH LINCOLN

There are always two conceptions of any great public figure. One exists when he is alive; the other exists when he has passed on. We have the record of Lincoln, reviled and abused by many of the great contemporary characters of his time. This would not be a fair lasting portrait of the great emancipator. Neither are the sickening portrayals that others insisted on painting years after his death a true remembrance of the former rail-splitter. Lincoln was not a great constitutionalist. He insisted upon governmental elasticity at all times to conform to the will of the people whose government it was, but he also insisted on the national authority and the indestructibility of the union of states. Lincoln was a plain, unassuming man, gifted by an uncommon amount of common sense, which would not be stamped by the passions of his time. His record best lives in the study of his works. We are giving you Lincoln's letter to Mrs. Bixby, who had lost five sons in the war between the states. There is no greater letter written in all history.

Dear Madam: I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the Adjutant General of Massachusetts that you are a mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from a grief too overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our heavenly father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice on the altar of your country.

Yours very sincerely and respectfully,

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Band Directors Gather For Music Session; Band To Demonstrate MUSIC TO 'GO ROUND AND ROUND' COLLEGE HALLS NEXT WEDNESDAY

Central State's band clinic will be held on next Wednesday, February 12, in the college auditorium. Fifty bands from the high schools of Wisconsin have promised to attend both the clinic and the banquet which will precede it.

Playing Begins At 7:00

The clinic will open at 6:00 in the evening with a banquet which will be served in the dining rooms of Nelson Hall by the ladies of the English Lutheran Church. Before the bandmasters, all college band members will be present at this affair.

Immediately following the banquet, musical leaders of the convention will begin. The program will last from two to two and one half hours. No admission will be charged.

Kraushaar To Assist Michelsen

Mr. Otro Kraushaar, will help Professor Michelsen during the clinic by directing part of the number. Mr. Kraushaar is K. Director of Music at Waupun and Secretary of the National Orchestra Association. Mr. H. C. Wagner, another prominent of this state will also be present. Mr. Wagner is Superintendent of Schools in Waupun and Secretary of the Wisconsin Orchestra and Band Association.

"MAKING MEDICINE"—EAGLE PLUME

A large crowd of students and townspeople was to enjoy "Eagle Plume"'s presentation, "Making Medicine," which was to be given last evening in the college auditorium.

Member Of Blackfeet Tribe

"Making Medicine" is mainly a lecture demonstration of Indian legend lore, and dances. The beauty and authentic interpretation of the presentation appeals to both old and young and keeps them wrapped in enthusiasm until the very end.

Charles Eagle Plume, of Indian-German descent, is a member of the Blackfeet tribe and was born and raised in Indian county, Montana. After years of lecturing he has gained the distinction of being America's foremost interpreter of Indian lore, life and culture.
TEACHER PLACEMENT By A. J. Herrick

Much study has been made during recent depression years of the question of proper placement of graduates of training institutions in the United States. During the twenty-five year period preceding 1930 there were too serious handicaps in finding jobs for the graduates of normal schools and other teacher training institutions. Usually all the graduate could get was a position. In general, the alumni were left to shift for themselves after graduation and many of the schools were never able to place graduates to their satisfaction.

This informal, unorganized, and otherwise haphazard procedure of the past is rapidly being replaced by carefully organized, businesslike bureaus of placement service in practically all of the professional schools and colleges. These agencies greatly aid graduates and alumni in securing their first positions and advancing them to better ones from year to year.

To this end the National Institutional Teacher Placement Association was organized in 1934. The officers of this association has made and continues to make great strides in the direction of placing newly graduated students and veterans of the profession of education. The chief purpose of the association was organized in 1934. The officers of this association has made and continues to make great strides in the direction of placing newly graduated students and veterans of the profession of education. The chief purpose of the association was to improve the methods of placing teachers, both in the schools and in the colleges. To this end the National Institutional Teacher Placement Association was organized in 1934. The officers of this association has made and continues to make great strides in the direction of placing newly graduated students and veterans of the profession of education.

A study was made by the National Association of placement by 374 institutions of their graduates for the year 1933-34 including all placed before January 1st, 1935. For each group 40% of the major training institutions in the country. A brief summary of the findings follow.

1. Placements were more numerous in the grades below the high school than in the special fields like music, home economics, etc.

2. There are a number of other things to be said about the college, but this letter is now too long. The college as a whole, its program, the new marking system, the slow student and general progress, and the records and credits are all worth of your study. Above all, I commend the fine spirit and energy of the faculty.

Debaters Argue Supreme Court

DEBATERS 'GET AROUND': CHICAGO-EAU CLAIRE TRIPS FEATURE

On January 22, the two men’s debate teams (Arba Shorey, George Hyer, Michael Zyka, and Jack Burroughs) left to attend the inter-state debate tournament held at Normal, Ill.

January 23rd was spent in Chicago where non-decision debates were held with Loyola University, Mundelein College, Wheaton University and Elmhurst.

Bloomington Tournament

The morning of the 24th was spent enroute to Bloomington, Ill. (Normal is a suburb of Bloomington). They arrived about noon of the same day. The tournament began Friday afternoon at 3:00 and continued through until Saturday evening. Schools represented were: Manchester, Wheaton, Normal, Eastern, Olivet, River Falls, Revueys Point, Iowa Teachers College, Southern 1. S. N. U., De Kalb Teachers, Wesleyan, Platteville, Franklin, Eureka, Loyola, and Greenville.

Some 125 debaters took part in this contest and all attended a lovely banquet held in one of the college dormitories on the Normal University campus.

Central State made a splendid showing at this tournament, winning ten debates and losing three.

Girls Leave For Ripon

The girls debate squad leaves for Ripon University to attend a tournament today. The team of Burroughs and Zyka are to attend the tournament at Whitewater, while the team of Hyer and Shorey are to participate in debates in Chicago later this month.

Over 100 men’s teams and 60 women’s teams are expected on the 2nd and 4th of March, at the college of St. Thomas in Minneapolis, Minn. Sixty-six men’s teams have registered in this tournament at this early date. This is the largest and finest tournament of the season and one to which to look forward.

Campbell’s

From the commercial perspective, the sale of shoes to women and men is significant because it represents a substantial portion of the market. The variety of styles and designs available cater to different preferences and occasions. The promotion of new styles through advertisements aims to attract customers by highlighting unique designs and offering a range of choices, which can be particularly appealing during seasonal transitions. The visual representation of the shoes in the advertisements is crucial as it allows customers to envision how the shoes would look and feel when worn, thereby enhancing their decision-making process. Sales promotions, such as discounts or special offers, also play a role in increasing interest and purchasing intent. By offering appealing deals, stores can entice customers to make a purchase, thereby increasing sales and reinforcing brand preference among consumers.

NELSON HALL NOTES

Nelson Hall welcomes its new girls who have moved here from the Home Economics Cottages. They are, namely Helen Field, Barbara Chicago, Florence Roseman, and Esther Mercer. It regrets the loss of Norma Truesdale, Lorraine Guelle, and Mary Oswald, who will enter the cottages.

Mrs. Finch, Advisor to the Dormitory Co-Manager, fell Sunday night, while crossing the road in front of the Dormitory. Her head was cut quite badly. She is now recovering in St. Michael’s Hospital, and is expected to return soon.

Many of the Dorm Mites went home this past week, returning on Sunday. Guess they need a little inspiration after last week!

Renovation of Nelson Hall is progressing rapidly. The living room will be finished this week. Boys—come up and see it!

Local Student Wins National Recognition

Harold Zuege, who wrote one of the three best essays submitted by members of the ninth grade English classes of the Mary P. Bradford Junior High School during American Education Week, November 11-17, 1935, was given honorable mention along with seventeen other high school pupils from other states by the judges for the third nation wide honor. This announcement appears in the January, 1936 number of the Student Leader, which is published in Washington, D. C. The topic assigned to the pupils this year was “Democracy Means Self Discipline.”

SPORTS SHOTS

River Falls Leads Northern Loop
That River Falls ball club is certainly going to town in the northern half of the Teacher's Conference. To date, the Falcons have won four of their six games without losing any. They have averaged 52 points a game, which is an astounding scoring record. Of course, we must admit that the Falcons are not as hot as usual this year. Nevertheless, Coach Cowles' team is certainly doing itself proud. Just listen to this. River Falls swamped Stourby the unheard score of 65-20. Next they overwhelmed Superior, last year's champs, 52-36. Last week the Falcons went to Eau Claire and climbed all over the home town boys, 53-36. Naturally the ring leader of this scoring average, better than 17 points a game in these conference tilts, and this is the same River Falls team that the Pointers defeated two years earlier in the season by scores of 50-22 and 45-33.

Berard Comes Through
Several interesting events took place on the white courts at Platteville, trip. Space permits the mentioning of only a few. For instance, Don Johnston picked up 26 points on the trip to Platteville. Fred Nimz was removed from the lineup last game against Milwaukee's. Nimz leading seven points to lead Stevens Point and Whitewater, where Don Johnston tallied eleven points to lead Stevens Point to a easy win over the Agnewmen, 36-18. At the rest period the Pointers led, 17-5. Andrews was high for Whitewater with five points while 'Pop' Farina played a splendid floor game. Coach Kotal reserved a good share of the title.

Platteville Game
The following night the Pointers invaded Platteville and again brought home the bacon in a rough contest, 40-37. Don Johnston collected 15 points and Fred Nimz 10, while Captain Disrude was the leading point maker for the miners with three baskets and five free throws. The Pointers played a beautiful game in the first half, leading at one time 21-4. Platteville rallied, though, to make the final score 55-49 and the win a mercy mark.

The Pointers barely survived a late second half rally by Milwaukee, emerging victorious, 31-20, in a thrilling contest played before a capacity crowd. The victory marked the second conference win for Stevens Point and placed them in undisputed possession of the first place. It also was the Pointers' eighth straight triumph of the year and Milwaukee's first conference setback.

Stevens Point wins with ease
For the second time Milwaukee employed a zone defence which proved rather ineffective, Stevens Point piling up a lead of 21-14 at half time. The second half was a different story, however. The Green Gulls switched to a man for man defence and this, coupled with the fact that the Pointers tired rapidly near the end, enabled the Milwaukeeans to make a determined bid for victory. It was only some clever slaloming which in the final minute of play enabled the Kotalmen to cling to their two point lead.

Chep Rinka paced the scoring schmooch with ten points. Budiger, Green Gull forward, led the Milwaukeeans with three baskets and ten points, also. For the second time this year, Kotal's starting lineup remained intact throughout the game.

LOCAL PUGS TAKE PART IN GOLDEN GLOVE TOURNAMENT

Two members of the local boxing squad, along with 135 others, took part in the recent Golden Gloves tournament at Wisconsin Rapids last Tuesday. The local 'leather slingers' that participated were Jim Harding and Iman Whipple. Whipple fought out of the straw weight class. At 153 pounds and Harding exchanged punches in the welter-weight open class. Harding closed the scoring with 143 pounds. Coach Warren Jenkins and "Mickey" McGuire accompanied the two boxers to the Rapids. "Mickey" acted as second during the bouts.

Saturday night the Oshkosh Pointers will meet the Milwaukee Sentinels in what promises to be a real ball game. It will be the opening conference t i t l e of the second semester for both clubs. THE SEMESTER CLEARING HOUSE

The Pointer editor, or almost any editor, for that matter, has a number of newspapers, letters, and communications come to the editor’s desk during the school year. The content of these is quite illuminating in a number of ways. There is the usual type of “crack” letter, the writers of which are probably similar in mentality to those who so bewildered the investigators in the Lindbergh case with similar inarticulate, confused and anonymous emanations. What kites these writers got out of writing these is more than one can fathom. There are also the signed communications of individuals concerned with school problems.

Then there are the exchange publications from other colleges within and without the state. These really make interesting reading, and serve as a yardstick, in some measure, for us, your staff, to determine whether we are on the right. It is giving you the type of publication that we do.

The Scarcity Of Editorials

In the Pointer poll of last year the readers expressed an adverse opinion with regard to editorials...so we have not bothered overly much with these, which has been a source of some irritation to us, for, in common with other editors, we believe that we can write pretty good ones. The only trouble with the whole set-up is...the editorials aren’t read anyway, except by some members of the faculty...so why write ‘em?

Grist From The College Mills

To overcome the existing vacuum we determined to try to bring to our readers some “gams” of thought from other colleges, concerning items of mutual collegiate interest...these in both a humorous and serious vein, hoping that the search for humor might lead some through the serious items.

In passing let the writer remark that the burden of many of these editorials in dealing with the aggregations news of all the things that are wrong at the writer’s school. The moral of this is: that if you believe something to be wrong with your own college, read the editorials of the other colleges on your files, and see how many at other schools have the same issues in regard to their own particular schools...there is something radically wrong at all of them, if we are to believe them all. If you are pessimistic, read our exchanges.

If one like thread could be distinguished in all of these editorials, it would be this: that the students are too

SPEAKING OF REGN

Theme song of Ethiopians: “Rain, when it’s gonna rain again, rain!”

Ethiopians are inconsistent these days; first, they wish that someone would end the present reign in Italy; they pray for a long reign for the Italians in Ethiopia and a long reign for Haile Selassie in the same place.

While we’re on the subject, let’s hope that the new king of England will hold onto the reins of state better than he did the ones of horses he used to ride.

BETWEEN THE ROUNDS

THE MUSIC GOES—
The men who are responsible for the 'Music Goes Round and Round', started out in January on a $400 a week salary, which was successively increased to $1000 weekly and weekly commissions. They are now in Hollywood making pictures, and their song continues its march from Christmas vacation to the present time—it is present in as many of the civilized world—it goes round and round the globe.

Chicago

In Chicago, Illinois, pupils at Harri­son Tech high school were threatened with expulsion if they started the song indoors, for the whole school inevitably joined in, breaking up 'shop' for the day.

Paducah, Kentucky

In Paducah, Kentucky, a married man shot himself in a tree outside his home for two nights, recently, munching apples, because his wife insisted on listening to radio crooners singing 'The Music Goes Round and Round'; neighbors sent for the Sanity Board and they arrived and took the woman away.

What the Experts Say

In the Chicago Tribune of Sunday, January 26, a writer devoted four full columns to a full blown attack on the sheet music of popular songs, with a vengeful attack on the music of the popular song. And 'round and round the crazy tune goes—when it'll stop, nobody knows! Speaking of the song—its already has a rival in 'Wahoo'—introduced by Fred Waring's orchestra. These match up pretty well, too:

MORE ROUND AND ROUND

The Pointer of January 16, carried a letter from one of our correspondents inquiring about the disposal of paper clips—shaped in several terms to a structure.

Mr. Smith disclosed during exams that the student clips were re-utilized for the students to clip their exams together; Mr. Smith closeted by saying that, "like the song, the term paper clips go 'round and 'round'."

Is it correct to state that only the 'clipped' go 'round and 'round'? The CLOSE OF A PERFECT LIFE

A very fine tribute was recently paid to Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond, on the occasion of her recent visit to New York—that in many years she (is very advanced in age), the National Broad­casting Company put on a special show in her honor, and the Body Value program featured all of Miss Bond's songs, which are now enjoying rejuvenation all over the country. The author of 'The End of a Perfect Day', 'I Love You, Truly', and many others, thinks that young folks of today are no worse than those of yesteryear, and in some particulars, freedom-from-shyness, particularly, they excel those of past genera­tions.

THE REPUBLICANS AND THE CONSTITUTION

Will Rogers' last bit of humor will linger long with our Republican friends. It was made on the occasion of the dedication of the Matanuska Valley, by Rogers and Post. In describing the mos­quitoes Will said: 'The Mosquitoes here are thicker than Republicans at a 'Save the Constitution Convention'!

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

And now we have all those stories re­lated again about the time that Miss Mis­rie Jones danced with the Prince of Wales. In Chicago (Chi. Trib.) a certain lady boasts a salad fork that the Prince tipped with a visit to the Midwest.

A lady in Milwaukee comes back with a napkin once used by Emperor Franz Josef.

Reminds one of the old story concern­ing the Iceland clipper, Mrs. Jones: 'We have a chair that goes back to Louis XIV.'

—Mrs. Finklestein—"Oh, that's no­thing. We have a davenport that goes to Bears Roebuck the twenty-third.

SCRAMBLED PRESIDENTIAL SAYINGS

'1 do not choose to run."
—Al Smith. (New York, January 25.)

'1 it up to the Democrats today who don't intend to agree with present and future administration policies.

Would it be true to state that former presidential candidate, Al Smith, is going to 'take a walk' because he isn't 'chosen to run' anymore?

MOON OVER MAIN STREET

... A True Story

The new moon above glows nicely along the polished and icy ribbon of thorough­fare... the icy wind moaned eerily around the giant reaches of Nelson Hall housing gusty spumes of powdered snow high into the air.

From behind my cozy escanconed re­staurant position and through the inter­laced and frozen statuette fingers of icy fretwork upon the windrows I first sighted her, rounding the highly piled snow at the far corner of Nelson Hall, making her way bravely against the fury of the elements... poised here and there as if uncertain to go on... what mission called her forth on a night like this? Some call for medical aid? What urgent summons had sent out her signal of alarm?

She made her way slowly to the curb... passed for the final flight to the sanctuary of the Eat Shop... just across the way.

A quick dash and the fluttering bird was at our door, where I sprang to open the latch, and she half fell within our grasp, for all of Miss Bond's songs, which are now enjoying rejuvenation all over the country. The author of 'The End of a Perfect Day', 'I Love You, Truly', and many others, thinks that young folks of today are no worse than those of yesteryear, and in some particulars, freedom-from-shyness, particularly, they excel those of past genera­tions.

THE GHOST OF THE AUDITORIUM

"'Tis Of the still night
Ere shumbers chain has bound me,
Fond memory brings the light
Of other days around me."

—Thomas Moore

Thus, amid the rows and rows of empty seats in ghostly twilight, in the slow and sable descending mantle of the night, comes forth the music of the masters from behind the prosenium arch, and from where hang the curtains down... are ushered forth the somber tones of the concert grand. As the fingers of the unknown artist play dreamily over the keyboard "building a bridge to dreamland for his lay"...

Beethoven, Bach, Schubert... who is the twilight ghost of the auditorium?

AT HOME ABDREAD

'At Home Abroad', a free play, is having a sensational run on Broadway just now. The part that puts the audi­ence in stitches and lays the fat people in the aisles, is quite simple in construc­tion, but you should hear him put on an English accent! Mrs. and Mr. (this is the proper order) Blagden Blog, new­ly rich, go to England among the Haute Tons.

The most hysterical scene in the play deals with Mrs. Blagden Blog, in a de­partment store, with one, and then two English floorwalkers, with a most ad­mirable Oxonian accent. Their motto seems to be: 'The Customer is Always Wrong!'

Mrs. Blagden Blog asks for two dozen double damask dinner napkins (try to say that in a hurry): it is then that the fun starts, with such specimens as this: Did you say two damasg double dipped dip­per dictionaries; two dam double dip­py dimples dam?
and so on, far into the night.

Hear that one about the party on the 8th floor at the Hotel the other night?

It seems that fifty couples started to do a stomp rumba on the 8th floor. The police were called and arrested some peo­ple on the 7th floor for being plattered.

WHILE WE'RE AMONG THE OLD ONES

... 1—And then there's the guy who was so bashful that he wouldn't accompany his girl to the piano.
2—and then there's the one about the absent minded professor who left his watch in the railroad station, and walked back home to get his wife on the dresser.
3.—Did you hear about the professor who poured syrup down his back and scratched the pancake?

WAVERS OF THE FLAG

It would be obviously untrue to state that some present "supporters" of the Constitution have no use for the Flag... a waving object can be used to produce a dust or to fan a fire.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT—

They tell me that that noise we hear every March on the 2nd floor is Dr. Collins (Math. Prof.) trying to figure out just his income tax blank.

WEATHER NOTE

Thermometer theme song—Oh, the mercury goes down and around, below, below, below, where?

EDITOR'S NOTE

If anyone calls at the office for the editor, the staff are requested to inform callers that the editor has left for China.

BOXING NOTE

Opponents of Joe Louis can't sing the round and round song because they are down, but not around anymore by the end of the first round.

AUTOGRAPH HUNTERS

Autograph collectors have a new wrinkle—and they're getting away with it! They send checks of $1.00 to Bruno Richard Hauptmann in his cell. To get the money he indorses them, and the auto­graph collectors have his autograph for one buck.

MID-SEMESTER GRADUATE

"Bill" Herrick, whose name was omitted from another list in this issue, is also a mid-year graduate.

“Radio-Active"

Several Programs On The Air—More To Follow

The first broadcast of the second semester of the “College Radio Hour” was presented Monday in the college auditorium. Because of registration, it was quite difficult to gather the entire personnel of “Francess White and the Orchestra”, so a good old fashioned “jam session” was held.

“Omegs On The Air Next Monday

The “Trio” (which by the way, is to have a broad daytime of their own, beginning this week Friday at 11:15 to 11:30) contributed several selections, and piano solos were played by the given Don Halverson of “Castilian” fame.

“Clean-Winged Hearth” To Day

At three o’clock today the second in the series of “Clean-Winged Hearth” broadcasts will be presented. Next Monday “College Radio Hour” will feature the Omega Mu Chi Soroity.

Music Head Attends Contest At Weyanega

Professor Peter J. Michelsen, director of music at C. S. T. C., has been active recently in giving solo contests. Last Sunday, Feb. 2, he traveled to Weyanega and judged a meet in which seventeen contestants were entered. Yesterday, he returned to the same place to give decisions in another competition of the same type.

Camera Club Spruces Up

Club Members “Brighten The Corner Where They Are”

Members of the Camera Club volunteered their services and brightened up the dark rooms of the Chemistry laboratory with an ultra-modern two-tone combination. The upper walls and ceiling were painted panchronic green and the lower walls a light absorbing black. Both colors are of a special new paint manufactured by the Eastman Kodak Company for rooms of this kind. The crew, consisting of Bill Fisher, Beverley Plank, Bob Vennie, and Harold Sorbye, was led by Cliff Malchow who acted as the can opener, paint stirrer, keeper of the time, and off and on “brush pusher”. Cliff tells us confidentially that Bill Fisher is a regular Michael Angelo.

The Joy Of Being Editor

Getting out this little paper is no picnic. If we print jokes people say we are silly; if we don’t they say we are too serious. If we clip things from other papers we are lazy to write them ourselves;
if we don’t we are too fond of our own stuff.
If we make print contributions, we don’t appreciate true genius;
if we do print them the paper is filled with junk.
If we make a change in the other person’s write-up we are too critical, if we don’t we are asleep.
Now like as not someone will say, We swiped this from some other paper—WE DID.

LAMPE—SOETERBER

Mr. Clark Lampe, formerly a varsity football man here, married Miss Jeannette Eberle on last Saturday afternoon. Both young people are well known here, Mr. Lampe being an alumnus member of the Chi Delta Rho fraternity, members of which tendered Clarke a farewell send-off last Friday evening. Members of the frat also were visitors of the reception at the home of the brides’ parents on Saturday afternoon in that city. The couple will make their new home in Wisconsin Rapids.

The fraternity has seen two of its members join the matrimonial ranks in the past year, and its members are apprehensive of further casualties it is rumored.

We are sure that all members of the student body join with us in wishing the newlyweds the best of all possible future good fortune.
