Annual Christmas Program To Be Presented

Junior Police Patrol
Stationed At Corners

Have you noticed the lads stationed at the intersections near school at dismissal time? They are the Junior Police Patrol. There has been a state wide movement this year to organize youth in a safety drive. Police officers devote time to training these young assistants. The jaunty white belts and shining star give the members of the Junior Police Patrol a distinctly professional air.

The following is a word from the Mary D. Bradford Junior High Police Patrol:

ATTENTION COLLEGE STUDENTS AND FACULTY

We have established a Junior Police Patrol and in order to make it a success you must have our cooperation. Please do not jay walk at street intersections. Walk a few extra steps and help us and yourself.

Signed: Floyd Hanna,
Captain: Jr. Police.

Non-Decision Debates
Held With Eau Claire

Eight Debate Teams, Four Judges, Attend

Coach Leland M. Burroughs, and his debate squad were hosts to Eau Claire Saturday in a preliminary debate meet. The debates were non-decision, serving for practice and aiding Coach Burroughs and Coach Donaldson in selection of school team.

First Round of Debate

Eight debate teams and four judges arrived here shortly after ten o'clock Saturday morning. The first round of debate began at ten thirty o'clock. There were four rounds of debate, with eight Stevens Point debaters participating.

Tentative Squad Chosen

Judges included the following: Mr. Donaldson, Mr. Davenport, Mr. Judd, Mr. Schneider of Eau Claire; Dr. Lymph, Dr. Reppen, Dr. Tolo, Dean Steiner.

Leland M. Burroughs, Director of Debate at C.S.T.C. announces the tentative squad for 1937:

Kathryn Beck, Margaret Becher, Jean Redman, Rosalie Timm, Eileen Rose, Gordon Haferbecker, Ben Laich, Charles Vitt, Joe Ophoven, John Verrill, Vernon Hendrick.

R.U.R. Stages Dress Rehearsal Sunday

"Stage clear," "curtain," and the play was on. It was dress rehearsal last Sunday for R. U. R., College Theater's coming production.

Ethel McDonald, make-up artist, added a line here, powdered a wig there, adding or subtracting years at will. At the switchboard Don Colby threw light upon the scene. From the audience Directors Runkel, Steiner, and Gicking viewed the work of the cast through the three acts and epilogue of Kafka's drama.

Helen Jackson and her staff of costume assistants have evidently solved the problem "What does the well dressed robot of 1949 wear?"

R.U.R. Scheduled for Jan. 6

The cast had great difficulty in remembering lines in the third act and at times the resulting con-

Gothic Window

Done By Art Dept.

This year's annual Christmas program to be held Thursday evening promises to be one of the most beautiful and colorful held in the auditorium of this college for many years. Not a small part of the exciting pageantry will be a huge Gothic stained window effect which will form a background of color and light for the stage. Most of the work has been done by Marvin Fryer, under the direction of Miss Carlsten. Marvin is a freshman in the High School department. Others who assisted in the painting are Eileen Coey, Evelyn Sonnenberg, June Kreuger, and Kathrine Mozuck.

Processional Will File In With Candles

This year the program which will be presented by the Music Department of Central State Teachers Thursday night will be a thing of beauty and color. The Girls Glee Club, and the Men's Glee Club will march in with brightly gleaming candles, to the strains of "O, Come, All Ye Faithful," by Reading. Preceding the Processional, while the audience is mortifying, Christmas carols will be played on the marimba and chimes by Evelyn Schwingel and Margaret Miller.

The program will be as follows:

Prelude from "Lohengrin"

Richard Wagner

"O, Come, All Ye Faithful"

Senior Ball As Seen From Beyond The Punch-Bowl

Ball goers were greeted with a scene of winter ice and snow Saturday night. Christmas trees, adorned with icicles and lights, gave a realistic touch in keeping with the holiday season. The programs bore a Christmas tree design. Never has the training school gymnasium looked less like a gym, all credit to Ethel McDonald and her staff of decorators.

Many Seniors Missing

In the receiving line were Regent and Mrs. Martens; President and Mrs. Hyer, Dean and Mrs. Steiner; Mr. Evans; King Christensen, and Queen Eva Rae Hanson; Charles Borbenson, general chairman, and Jean Redeman.

Music was by Harold Kraemer and his orchestra, featuring Alice Sooper, soloist. King Christensen and Queen Eva Rae enjoyed being royalty for the evening and carried their roles with becoming dignity.

Miss Nancy Steiner presided over the punch, which by the way, was prepared by her. Many alumni were among the dancers. Many seniors were missing.

The clock struck twelve all too soon, and another Senior Ball was C.S.T.C. History.
HERE'S YOUR CHANCE—TAKE IT!

One of the joys and recompenses of our school life is the long (1) vacations which occur once or twice a year. Perhaps the most prominent of these is our coming Christmas vacation. And what a long-looked for vacation it is! Most of us have been studying desperately on term papers, extra reading and numerous other teacher-imposed duties and it is surely a pleasure to look forward to a time, however short it may seem, when our numerous school duties cease and we can live a fairly unhurried and normal life for a whole week. It is not merely a cessation of work and a chance to get a new lease on life, but an actual necessity. Teachers may quarrel at our "lazy" student pastimes and may curl their lips in angry sarcasm when we say that we haven't had eight hours sleep in one night since we started school, but it is an actuality. We are over-worked and over-played and one who says we are not just hasn't been around. Therefore it is with absolute conviction that we say that these vacations are a life-saver, a life-prolonger and a joy forever.

Have Yourself A Good Time!!

We hope that you will take advantage of this coming vacation, run around, let yourselves go and let down your hair, but remember that vacations can be most excellently used to bring shopped over nerves and tired bodies back to a normal state of well-being. Eat heartily, drink a little, and sleep at least some. We guarantee that if you follow a fairly reasonable schedule of fun and rest you will come back to college with a new lift in your feet and a knock-em-down look in your eye. To end, we say, "Here's to a most happy and well-spent Christmas vacation, well packed with fun and laughter, and threaded together with the healing bond of rest."

Student Opinion

"Peace on earth to men of good will." Every year we are reminded of this song which was sung on the night that our Lord Christ the King was born. It seems that too many of us remember these words in connection with Christmas, and forget them the rest of the year. Why is it that we forget? Why is it that nations forget? Why is it that the rulers of nations and states forget? Is not the Christian culture suffering in just such, why do we not practice it and make the Christian ideals stand out and live in our lives? These words should live with us all the year through, not part of it.

The elements are harsh, but man's inhumanity to man is harsher. Our worries and troubles disturb us, but they are of our own making. Nations are blessed with the fruits of the earth, but few so enjoy them. We are blessed here in America with just about everything, but our people are sometimes hungry and cold. These things are of our own making, but did not come from heaven. To know this, nations can be cured if we apply the torch of charity to the truth of wrong. Why are we going to settle down and act like human beings? Only by returning to the lessons taught at Christmas can we hope to solve our ill and have peace of mind, of body, in our states, in our nation and between nations if we but remember the words of the angels to the shepherds which they sang over 1900 years ago; "Peace on earth to men of good will."

PRESSING NATIONAL SUBJECT DISCUSSED BY PROGRESSIVES

The second December meeting of the Young Progressive Club was held Wednesday night, December 15, in Mr. Steiner's room. At that time the anti-war bill, the new and a bill's sponsors at Washington, Senator La Follette and Representative Ludlow, A report of the formal committee from the Board and the Y. P. C. was taken up. After the meeting a talk was given by Mr. Steiner on the constitution, this being followed by an open forum of questions. All students were invited to be present.

Faust Praises Alpha Kappa Rho Concert

Editor, The Pointer:

The members of Alpha Kappa Rho deserve special praise and commendation for the excellent concert they presented last Tuesday evening. They have justified both the continued existence of their fraternity. The high quality of the program was noticed at the beginning, and was maintained throughout.

The Women's Glee Club sang better than I have ever heard them sing; the soloists added no small part in the creation of the Handel number.

STORANDT-PARFFEE DEUL

Displaying not only virtuosity, but also a high degree of musicianship, Studant and Parfrey gave a most delightful rendition of "The Swiss Boy and His Love." Even without much imagination, one could hear the Swiss yodelling to his Miss. This alone connected with Miss Miller's reading of the "Capture," was the high spot in the program. Miss Miller's performance was top notch; she exhibited almost flawless skill that music is. Studentship went along with virtuosity. Her performance is even more remarkable when one considers that she is not the usual music student. Perhaps the "Wow" crowd on which she had to play. Why didn't Alpha Kappa Rho have the piano to help her?

Prof. Jenkins Honored At Christmas Party

College Theater celebrated Christmas in theatrical fashion at the Gingham Tea Room Wednesday evening. The party was a double one honoring the onlooking visitors, Professor W. G. Jenkins. The following guests were invited for the evening: Mrs. Jenkins, Miss Colman, Professor Leland B. Burroughs, Mr. G. C. Allez, and Mr. P. J. Michelsen.

Cards and games were enjoyed. At the close of the evening Mr. Jenkins was presented a set of booklets, from the Theater members. President Parfrey and William Koehl were in general charge of the party arrangements.

Y. W. C. A.

The regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held at the Sims Cottages. The girls brought their work and settled down to a cozy evening near the fireplace.

Popcorn balls trimmed with raisins were made to represent all sorts of things.

Omega Mu Chi
About thirty-five members and guests of the Omega Mu Chi sorority enjoyed a Christmas party at Nelson Hall on Tuesday evening.

The Christmas atmosphere was supplied by lighted Christmas trees, with a present for each guest placed under one of them. Cards were placed after which a little punch was served. During the punch the tables were decorated with little candles in the form of Christmas trees.

Tau Gamma Beta
The home of Ula Mae Knutson was the scene of the annual Christmas party of Tau Gamma Beta sorority Tuesday evening.

After an entertaining evening of Christmas games and singing, the girls exchanged gifts and enjoyed a lunch.

Chi Delta Rho
Chi Delta Rho fraternity's "strictly stag" Christmas party, in the proper setting of trees, weather, and lights, took place Tuesday at the fraternity house. After an evening of fun, Santa Claus made a visit and refreshments were served.

Phi Sigma Epsilon
Last Sunday evening Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity entertained with their annual Christmas party. The fraternity house was decorated with holly and Christmas trees.

Games, songs, and dancing furnished the entertainment. To top it off, Santa Claus arrived with gifts and refreshments.

Nelson Hall Notes

The Annual Christmas Party for Dorm girls will be held Thursday evening at 10:30 in the parlors of Nelson Hall. A big tree is placed in each room and this evening will be heaped with gifts which the girls are exchanging. Christmas songs will be sung and refreshments will be served later in the evening.

Doris Duecker visited Miss Roberta McWilliams at her home in Westfield last week end.

"Anybody got number 756?" is the call heard down the halls these nights. It's skating time and "a crowd" goes out nearly every evening.

The girls of Nelson Hall wish to thank the Faculty Wives for the decorations which they enjoyed in the Living Room last week. Won't you meet at our home again soon?

Chi Delta Rho's "Mill" is gone. Right, Bob?... Santa's received lots of letters this season. Want to read some of the most interesting ones? Here goes:

Noah's Ark Unable To Meet Demands

Senior Pictures Must Be Taken After Christmas

Swamped by the last minute requests for pictures by members of the Senior Class, Mr. Mueller, commonly known as Noah of Noah's Ark, today, in an interview with a member of the Pointer Staff, made this statement: "Because of the large demand for portraits at this time of the year, I find myself with almost more work than I can do until Christmas. Because of this fact, I am accepting no further business until what I have is done".

Noah went on further to explain that he believed the quality of his work would fall off if he tried to do any more so refuses to take any more sittings for a while.

"After Christmas", said Noah, "my studio will be open to all you seniors who have not yet had your Iris and application pictures taken. For your convenience I shall be open three evenings a week, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday until nine o'clock. I shall further guarantee that all pictures will be finished before the deadline Mr. Herrick has set. No appointments are necessary, just come down and we will do the rest."

Mr. Mueller further urged your interviewer to express his regret at being unable to do such work but stated that all Seniors and others desiring sittings will be properly taken care of immediately after Christmas.

Orchids to the Senior Class for the fine dance they staged—Niece music, nice crowd, nice decorations and everything. All seemed to have a swell time—The queen was a real queen all right—Congratulations Christy!... We haven't heard of the Iris Editor lately—my bet—he's busy making the Iris another big success.... Did you know? There are 339 girls in school this year. We can see why a girl might be dateless but a boy, never.... Why the extra sparkles, Marge? I bet he's home again. More power to our new cheerleader. We think she's okay and she sure stirs up the old pep.... Didn't see Bob P. at the Senior Ball. Oh, I remember...
Pointers Meet Stout Dec. 17

Stout Institute of Menomonie, Wis., journeys here to encounter the Pointers this Friday night. The game is to be a double-header with the Stevens Point High School playing Antigo High at 8:45 and the College play at 9:00.

Stout suffered defeat last week at the hands of a strong St. Thomas team by a score of 51-17. Stout has a green team but shows promise of developing as the season progresses. They have a game scheduled with an Oshkosh team this week before coming here for their third game of the season.

The high school "preliminary" should prove to be a very close and interesting game as both teams are about on par. Both teams are slated to end up in the second division and will be trying to raise their average. The game also should be interesting to the effect that it will clearly show the difference between high school and college.

The probable starting lineup for the college game is as follows:

POINT
Warner F Noblen spy
Sell F McNair
Nimz C Sprick
Johnston G Murphy
Rinka G Wivel

Known around Central State for his ball handling ability and his eagle eye for the basket, Chet has been a star basketball player since his Junior year in high school when he first gained recognition as a regular forward.
Rinka started his eage career as a sub guard on the eighth grade team at St. Peter's grade school.
Later playing at sub forward on the teams of the Wesleyan and sophomore squads at Stevens Point H. S., in his senior year, Chet ranked second in individual scoring in the Wisconsin Valley Conference as well as being named to the Valley honor team.

SHORTS IN SPORTS

Coach Kotal has a hard row to hoe if he is going to put a championship team on the floor when the conference season opens.

There are so many self-styled "stars" on the squad for any team to click effectively.
Chet Rinka has been definitely off on his long shots for the first two games but is expected to get his eye in the near future. Tony Anderson has improved considerably since he played at Central State last year.
He has a fine push shot and is a good all-around ball handler.
Bill Wivel, co-captain and guard, is the main cog on the Stout Institute team.
He is also the line-man on the football team.
Students will not be able to get in on their activity tickets Friday because the High School is getting the brunt of the receipts.

STATERS LOSE OVERTIME TILT

Central State lost the first game of the season in an overtime thriller to Jordan College of Menominee, Michigan, 33-32, last Monday in a game replete with thrilling action and tense moments. With the score tied 29 to 29, Rinka made a short shot a split second after the horn blew ending the regular period of play.

PASSING BAGGED

In the overtime period, Anderson made a push shot and connected on two free throws for Jordan to put them in front and they were never headed. Al Sell tossed in a left-handed shot with three minutes to go and Fred Nimz dropped in a free throw to make the final score 33 to 32.

The play of both teams was ragged and the Pointers were guilty of numerous mental slips which kept them in hot water in the early part of the game. The Jordan College boys led the Pointers 6 to 0 at the beginning of the game and looked like real champions with their fast-breaking offense.

The game was played all the way during the entire game but the Jordan men were in there fighting all the time.

Not until the closing minutes of the game did the Pointers really get down to business and then it was too late for them to catch their inspired opponents.

Anton Anderson, the former Pointer star, and Homm were the individual heroes for Jordan but the entire team deserved a world of credit for their fine showing.

Hindenburg, critics say, is Ludwig's greatest book. In it he reveals a tragedy of a character that loved the German people. History and biography are combined to give us an excellent picture of the German Republic.

The secret sciences held a large place in the social life of times past. In Witchcraft, Magic, and Alchemy by Grellot de Givry are 350 pictures illustrating works of sorcery, magic, astrology, and alchemy that were of common practice in the past. This book may clear up many vague ideas we have concerning the period from the Middle Ages to the eve of the 19th century.

Outline of Great Books by J. A. Hammer gives a condensed version of two hundred and fifty famous books of History, Philosophy, Science, Religion, Poetry, Biography, Travel, and Criticism. The books are explained in the author's own words and are presented so as to give the reader a clear comprehension of the great classics.

F. H. Kilpatrick in How to Speak in Public recognizes the public speaking problems as identified by the people who face them; the formal public speaker; the average adult who wishes to speak wisely and well on certain occasions. He presents a hand-book plus a private series of lessons to individuals interested in improving their speech.

Organic Chemistry Most Difficult Study

What is the most difficult college subject?

Organic chemistry.

This is revealed in a study made by the Bureau of Educational Surveys, New York City.

The Bureau found that the use of college outlines and other supplementary aids to study was in direct proportion to difficulty in the subject experienced by the student, and that the number of students in organic chemistry using college outlines far exceeded that of any other course.

According to the study, science courses as a group are a major source of difficulty, with history, particularly ancient, medieval and European not far behind. Study of Shakespeare's plays rates "hardest" of English literature courses.

The subjects most baffling to students, in order of their difficulty as revealed by the survey, are: Organic chemistry, statistics, physics, general psychology, inorganic chemistry principles of economics, political science, general biology, history of the middle ages, history of Europe, American government and English literature.

Students questioned during the study stated that the college outlines simplified their work by giving them a picture of the course as a whole in the field to be covered and were especially valuable for review purposes. Faculty members, while generally opposed to their use in cramming for exams, found them useful as manuals around which to build lectures and class discussions and in encouraging students to do supplementary reading.

Annual Christmas Program
Sponsored By Junior H.S.

The annual Junior High School Christmas program was held Wednesday evening December 15th in the training school gymnasium at seven thirty o’clock.

Mr. Pierce, principal of the Junior High School was assisted by the following student teachers in arranging the program:

Directors: Mr. Hugh Brady, Miss Janet Joosten.

Music: Miss Dorothy Richards, Miss Margaret Miller.

Stage and Lighting: Mr. Clifford Malehow, Mr. Glen Harris, Mr. Kenneth Bartels.

Costumes: Miss Mae Micheals, Miss Vivian Schnick, Miss Margaret Torkelson, Mr. Edward Olson, Mr. Charles Torbenson.

Hosts and Hostesses: Miss Emily Peterson, Mr. Bjorn Christenson.

Christmas carols and the Christmas play did justice to the Christmas spirit:

1. Junior High School Choir
2. Violin Trio
3. Play—“That Starlit Night”.

It’s simple arithmetic that the more cars General Motors sells the greater this organization grows. And the solid fact back of that growth is this: General Motors cars must continually offer more in terms of extra value to win those sales. It is only because General Motors is great that it can maintain the research and improvement program responsible for such modern betterments as the Turret Top, the Unisteel Body, No Draft Ventilation, Knee-Action and advanced Hydraulic Brakes.
